Now, I know that some plan is necessary, but of what use is the plan if you have not the men to carry it out? I would not give a fig for the difference of system if you will give me the men who will execute the one that may be adopted. The agent is much more important than the system. Machinery is useless without steam or some other force to put it in motion. The body without the spirit is dead. The Stewards are the financial agents of the church, they are the soul of the money system. If they are not the right men in the right place failure will be the result. The best plan that human wisdom can conceive, may be adopted, but with a deficient Stewards the system will be dead machinery. Then we think the most important thing to be done to secure a proper support of the ministry, is to have working Stewards, and if there be any incumbents of that office who are inefficient remove them at once: and no doubt a more frequent change of Stewards would be beneficial. It is also very important that the preacher in charge in his departure from and where the Stewards and the Preacher faithfully perform their duties there is constantly no deficiency in the support of the ministry no matter what is the financial plan adopted. Quarterly collection by the Stewards from every member and from others who would contribute, and as much as each is willing to pay, is as good plan as any. Some theories are perfect: it is only in practice that they are impossible.

Peltea.

March 31, 1874.

Selected.

Letter From Dr Pierce.

Dear Brother Kennedy: This is the morning of my 59th birth day. Let me address this letter, as a heartfelt greeting to my sympathizing friends everywhere, through the columns of our weekly, welcome visitor, the Southern Christian Advocate.

It is a bright and beautiful day. And for aman, just now entering upon his 60th year, I am like the day, bright and calm. There is, however, one drawback upon the sweetest pleasure of an old man's life: at least it is so in my case. Many of my friends think more of me, and better of me, than I can think of myself. And this is a sort of mortification, against which there is no help, so long as a man keeps modest. This experience arises, no doubt, from the fact, that every one that knows his heart at all, knows his own heart troubles best. There is, however, in this dilemma, left to me, one comfort. It is this,—no friend can ever think any better of me than I have tried seventy-one years of my life to deserve. And yet such is my sense of nothingness, that the reward I sought on earth seems to me to be so far overpaid as to make me feel as if I a this respect, I have deceived my friends. But the testimony of my conscience is clear. That I have never sought to win the good opinion of my friends, because of its own glory but because of its own worth.

I have tried to realize in my own life and experience, the truth of Solomon's eulogy upon old age, "that the hoary head is a crown of glory, if it be found in the way of righteousness; and really no where else. Who could look upon me now, without emotions of shame and involuntary contempt, if my hoary head were found in the way of unrighteousness? Not one. It is divinely true, that a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor, than choice gold. Grace, divine grace, early in life both inclined me and enabled me to make choice of these as my riches; and I am inclined to believe I have inherited by it great wealth, in the way of loving favor. There is a promise that a good man shall leave an inheritance to his children's children. In my case they will have to take their dividends out of this wealth of loving favor. I can bequeath little else. But in so far as my children's children are concerned, if they will follow examples, there are many ways in which they will find that even in its family sense, a good name is better than precious ointment. I not only refer to these pleasant memories in reference to my posterity, but also to my race, for even in the morning of the 90th year of my responsible example, it is the joy of my heart, that in my fifteenth year I resolved that I would never contribute a cent to the support of any institution or entertainment, or pleasure party, if upon a careful examination of its effects upon pure religion, it might demoralize what ought to be the girdle of principle and law of moral integrity. Although I feel after all, as if I was going out of the world deeply indebted to it, by reason of having accomplished so little in arrest of its monstrous wickedness, I shall leave it with a consciousness, that all that know me, will say "he never corrupted any one of his race by his example." To abstain from all appearance of evil is not to be regarded as a high up grade of religion, from away below which there is saving godliness. No my dear friends, this is the first and lowest step in practical religion. Without a fixed purpose to abstain from every appearance of evil, the first spring of practical religion is in paralysis. No one was ever converted below this point, and whoever, after conversion, falls below this point, falls from grace. Many of my friends in Georgia wonder why I am never seen at her fair grounds: the reason is, because all her fair grounds are race grounds, and I could not go there without asking myself as sidiculously inconsistent, as I would be, to preach against revelings, and then rent out the basement of the Church for a restaurant in order to enable the Church upstairs to pay expenses, and preach against revelings. This is my application: if fair grounds can not be self supporting, but have to affiliate with gambling alliances, I must abstain. There is not only the appearance of evil, but a fellowship with evil.

But of my birthday dinner. Solomon says: "Better a dinner of herbs with love than a stalled ox, and hatred therewith." We had a dinner better than a stalled ox, and a full flow of love therewith. I had about thirty of my own family circle present, running out far into the fourth generation: and to add to the pleasure of the occasion, Rev. A. W. Burke came in on an unexpected, but most welcome visit, and with his sunny face, increased the social cheer. Nothing was wanting to make it the high day of my life, but the presence of all my progeny. We feasted freely on the finest dinner ever given to me, as a birthday festival: drank nothing but water, enjoyed life, and closed the day, by the baptism of my last born great-grand daughter. I cannot expect ever to see another birthday like it: but I give thanks that this last one was bright without and calm within. Nothing happened through the day, even to the crying of a child, to disturb our peace. Let us say, "bless the Lord, from everlasting to everlasting, and let all the people say amen. Praise ye the Lord!"

Sunshine, March 24, 1874.

—Southern Advocate.

Jonah Versus the Whale.

Unbelievers have often told us that the story of the prophet swallowed by a great fish was an absurdity. They say that so long in the stomach of the monster, the minister would have been digested. We have no difficulty in this matter. Jonah was a most unwilling guest of the whale. He wanted to get out. However much he may have liked fish, he did not want it three times a day and all the time. So he kept up a fidget, and a struggle, and a turning over, and he gave the whale no rest to assimilate him. The man knew that if he was ever to get out he must be in perpetual motion. We know men that are so lethargic they would have given the matter up, and laid down so quietly that in a few hours they would have gone into flukes and fish bone, blow-hole and blubber. Now we see men all around us, who have been swallowed by monstrous misfortunes. Some of them sit down on a piece of whale bone and give up. They say "No us: I will never get back my money, or recover my health." They float out to sea, and are never again heard of. Others, the moment they go down the throat of some great trouble, begin immediately to plan for egress. They make rapid estimate of the length of the vertebrate, and come to the conclusion how far they are in. They dig up enough spermaceti out of the darkness to make a light, and keep turning this way and that, till the first you know they are out. Determination to get well has much to do with recovered invalidism. Firm will to defeat bankruptcy, decides financial deliverance. You can, if you are spry enough, make it as uncomfortable for the whale as the whale can make it for you. There will be some place where you can brace your foot against his ribs, and some long upper tooth around which you may take hold, and he will be as glad to get rid of you for tenant, as you are to get rid of him for landlord. There is a way out, if you are determined to find it. All our sympathies are with the plaintiff, in the suit of Jonah versus Leviathan.—Christian at Work.

Science

It is reported that a shower of hailstones fell recently, on Saint Gothard which were found to be impregnated with salt,

A despatch from Berlin announces the death of Johannes Heinrich Muller the distinguished German astronomer, at the age of seventy-nine years.

The Paris Jardin des Plantes has received ten of those curious chiroptera which are found in the Philippine Islands, and which are commonly called roussettes. These natural vampires are perfectly harmless, although by their size (of a gigantic bat) and their ugliness they may frighten infantine spectators. Their bodies are the size of an ordinary pigeon, but the wings have a span of about three feet. They do not live on blood, as told of their fabled homonyms, but feed on fruit and grain. At the menagerie their fare consists of dates, figs, and boiled sugared rice, of which they are very fond.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 15. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 15, 1874. WHOLE NO. 1,013.

Original Poetry.

For the Advocate.

For What?

BY FATTIE PELHAM.

When years eternal swept o'er boundless space,
And time, unborn—an unfilled secret—a waste,
The self-existent God, who ever is,
Conceived the wondrous plan of human life
Great Spirit! He, with implements of skill—
Eternal goodness—wisdom—power—will,
Wrought out creation—hung the flaming sun—
And marked each circling course that pleases Him.
Yea, moved upon the deep of voiceless earth,
And breathed its teeming millions into birth—
Bright myriads cast upon the selfsame plan,
Subsistent wonder, mirable but two of man.
Essence of bliss—in glory soaring not,
Why then made these? Oh! reason, say for what?

Harmonious music floats around the sun,
And whispers glory to our God begone,
Aspiring trees on hears the solemn lay,
And singing rills burst down and say,
Wh—pers, for what?

The soul's so splendor yet peals the dirge of night,
They move as marked each obscure wrong or right,
Creation's end, God's ever living care,
Whose mercy gave a home in Eden fair,
Oh! to outcast Eden, from the realms of bliss
Admiring angels saw no home like this;
Where sinless happiness well pleased to stray
Mid heavenly peace sang joy's inspiring day;
And reason and sense danced on the air,
Whispered of love in blending flowers there.
Yet Heaven owed its exhibition fitting bliss,
Designing wisdom gave a law to test—
"Of all save one." How ill deception's eye,
At hell's artifice watches from the sky;
But guilt—less man did not own his bonus of bliss,
While serpent stoops to coil a serpent's kiss—
"Ye shall not eat in the day of all
That flow from mortal's evil—partake both great and small
Fair woman yields—man changes to woman's power,
And Eden's beauties vanish in an hour,
Creation's glory—man creation's blot,
Peace yields her empire—spite weeps—for what?
While treason dares defy all-seeing plan—
Angels are shocking—and my soul, for what?

I ask to Heaven—God is responsible,
Christ bids the erring all I have the blood bought child,
Rays of peace fall dark upon my soul;
Bright flowers of love there's many sweets unfold,
And rapture sheds, for what?

The threatening clouds of justice arise,
And mercy's bow hid upon the angry skies—
In the dim future—the day unborn,
It is the solemn resurrection morn;
Oh! thoughtless man, God's reading the old bear,
Thy mercies to a close ending thee
Jesus will leave the mediatorial throne,
On that dread morn, not mercy's banner borne,
Even now can blacked hear the thickened sam,
To hurling spheres resound, the knell dope!
From reading earth the crumbled dead arise,
While shrieking hosts resplendent fill the skies;
And breathless angels rather from afar
Millions on millions to the judgment bar.
The judge descends—earth—Heaven—hell—move not,
The books are opened—right, judge; for what?

Death's solemn dirge sounds over beauties given,
Man looks on life, but sickening smile from Heaven,
Deep tone of woe through shrieking outcasts borne,
And grim despair, with low impetuous moan,
Sobs, guilty soul, for what?

Hope whispered in the ear of grief, for lo!—
The woman's seed shall bruise the guilty foe.
Justice unsaved could not the culprit free,
Then wisdom—mercy—love—stars all with thee,
A crown's for sake in the realms of light,
A morning star's arisen on man's night,
An humble babe in Bethlehem is found,
A shouting band of angels venture down,
The man of sorrows friends forsake and flee—
While weeping mercy leads to calvary—
Stern justice views the Friend of sinners die,
And wipes the falling tear from mercy's eye.
The Son of God clove up within the tomb—
Cleft its dark fetters—rent dispelled its gloom.
A crown's resumed within the realms of light,
The Holy Spirit downward wings its flight.

Communicated.

For the Advocate

You Set Your Colter too Deep.

Traveling the road, I once saw a young farmer plowing. The land was newly cleared and full of stumps and roots. His plow would often hitch a root, at which the farmer would begin to urge his horse forward, by striking him with his lines and scolding and fretting at him. The horse would jerk forward suddenly, and break the roots. At last the plow hitched a root that presented so much resistance it could not be moved. The farmer continued to urge forward his horse, hallooing and fretting and slapping his sides with his plow lines. His horse would jerk and often with such force as to pull himself back, until at last become ing more restive he kicked out of his traces. When put back, I said "Farmer, you set your colter too deep; now lift your plow and he will go forward. Thereupon he raised his plow, his fretted horse finding no longer any resistance, went rapidly off dragging the plow, and the farmer over the rough ground. He had set his colter too deep.

Fifty years ago I attended an annual conference of the M. E. church, which met in a distant city, to be admitted into the Itinerancy, on trial. A young man of my age and experience came for the same purpose. He was then dressed as a Methodist preacher usually dressed fifty years ago. His personal appearance was fine, his voice was sweet and pathetic. His elocution was unusually good for one so young. There was such a pathos in his utterances, even in ordinary conversation, the sympathy of his hearers would be wakened up at the description he might give of any interesting event. Such was the opinion of his Presiding Elder of his many excellences, that though it was quite unusual for one so young in life and in the ministry, his P. E. invited him to go into the pulpit, and give an exhortation after the sermon, which one of the older ministers had been regularly appointed to preach. During his exhortation, he spoke elegantly of the Itinerancy; described the parting of the young missionary from father, and mother, and all the endearments of home-life; followed him over rugged mountains through storms of rain and hail and snow. The picture was almost as dismal, if not so terrific, as that which so pitilessly poured its fury on poor king Lear's naked head. He then followed the itinerant to the sand banks, trudging on foot through the burning sand. All this for what? that he might bear the message of mercy and salvation to those who were far out of the ordinary means of hearing the blessed name of Jesus. In concluding his rhapsody, such seemed to be his idea of the superexcellency of the traveling ministry his soul looked with dread at the thought of ever locating. He assumed the form of prayer and said "I pray God that whenever I fall, my soldier bags may be under my head." At the time, I was sitting between two well known local preachers. As he concluded his prayer one of the two said to the other "Let him go!" Twelve months had passed away: we met at the annual conference again. He had risen to be one of the most popular ministers in the conference. From that conference, he was sent to a city station: I was sent to a small village, greatly to my surprise, as it was only the second year of my ministry. The conference adjourned; we parted at the door of the conference room. He took me affectionately by the hand and said, "Good bye, Brother Blake, keep humble."

Several years had passed away. I had followed him in my regular annual appointments. Honors had crowded thick on him, and presents of various kinds, from dear friends, had poured in upon him: so that when I came after, there was nothing left for me to receive, but a few white handkerchiefs, which I thankfully used instead of my yellow bandana. We met once more for the last time; we were together in a room at the hotel. He told me how he had been honored, not only by the conference, but by other assemblages. I said to him. "You once gave me some good advice, may I now return the favor? Let me say to you in your impressive language to me, 'Keep humble'" He said "you are the most sarcastic man in the conference."

I denied it and remonstrated with him; assuring him I regarded it as my duty to tell him plainly, what was in my mind. "Your rapid elevation may make you giddy; and you are in danger." "So" said he "most of my friends seems to think, and they say to me keep humble!" I said, "I understand you have some thoughts of locating; I had supposed from what I once heard you say, that would be the last thing you would contemplate." He replied, "I have changed my views on three subjects: I once said no Methodist preacher ought to be allowed to preach who did not wear a straight breasted coat; that no slave holder can get to heaven and that no preacher ought ever to locate." Promotion had made his head giddy. He asked for and obtained a location: went South, married a woman who owned many slaves; soon after entered a political life, and here we leave him, not knowing anything of his subsequent history. He had in the beginning set his colter too deep: he soon after lifted his plow too high. This spirited horse run away with him and dragged his plow; he made no more straight furrows in the ecclesiastical field.

An elder brother gave me substantially the following as the history of his early life, viz: 'when I first knew him he was living in the mountains of V. following his trade. Under the labors of the Methodist traveling ministry he was converted, of which fact no one could doubt. It seemed impossible that so great a change could have been wrought without divine agency. He was taken into class. In rough exterior the class leader thought he saw a jewel,—called on him to pray, soon after to exhort. He told the circuit preacher what a promising young man he had in his class. He was soon employed to assist at public meeting by prayer and exhortation. The presiding elder gave him work on a destitute circuit. He improved rapidly, became popular on account of his youth and modest deportment. He laid aside his rough appearance, and put on what has been called a Methodist coat, judged hardly of any preacher who did not wear one; sent the slave holder to keep company with Dives; and extolled the itinerancy as almost the only means of spreading the gospel. He now sleeps in the sunny South. Peace to his ashes! He had his faults, he had many excellencies. No one who ever heard him pray or ever heard him preach, could believe that the language of piety could be so familiar to his tongue had he not verified in his own soul the comforting and sanctifying truths of the gospel. He was no hypocrite. He set his colter too deep: he lifted it too high. The reaction carried him out of the plain and direct way. Let us hope he returned and died in peace.'

Since that time, many have been the occasions, when I would think to myself, "He sets his colter too deep." When I have heard a preacher say, "Surely, you must be an atheist, if you deny the sovereign right of God to make intelligent creatures capable of enjoying or suffering forever, and to fix their unavoidable destiny before they have done good or evil.—ion in the bliss of Heaven, ninety and nine in the pains of hell," I think he has set his colter too deep. He has struck that stubborn root that lies at the bottom of all truth. "God is love" and resting there he soon declares, "and he will save us all." When I have heard a preacher say "to sprinkle water on the sweet babes which Jesus blessed is to profane the ordinance of baptism, and do a sacrilegious act." I would say to him, "Brother you set your colter too deep. You rip up the tender fibres of a mother's love, and cause her to go up to Zion and leave her infant in a heathen land. Unhitch your plow and go ahead."

When the grave and reverend Prelate says, "We alone are apostolic orders, —to us appertain the rights to preach, to use the sacramental grace, to impart the Holy Ghost, and, as planters, to rule the church of God, according to the divine plan of grace and mercy to a perishing world, I dare say as I have said before, "My good sir, you set your colter too deep: you have struck a root that lies deep in the heart of humanity which binds the civil the social and religious commonwealth in peace and unity. You may fret and scold at the Ghost of "dissent," but there you are hitched. In 1780 "dissent" died out in these United States. Not even the shadow of its shade remains. You may yet find it necessary to your peace of mind to bow at the feet of him, whom you have protested against a thousand times as "the man of sin," there with tears confess your rebellion, and bay the token of your submission on St. Peter's tomb.

Plow deep, ye meek, and humble followers of the Lamb! Plow deep, tear up the roots of bitterness that trouble you. Romanists, Presbyterians, Methodists, and their kindred herds. But allow me to quote us my prayer book has taught me for lo these sixty years: "From pride and envy, from hatred and malice, and all uncharitableness, good Lord deliver me!

B. T. BLAKE.

Oaky Grove, March 30th 1874.

For the Advocate.

A letter from the Mountains Volcanoes Earthquakes &c.

Mr. Editor: We are all quiet in this region, except our neighbors around Bald Mountain (about 36 miles West) who are still excited about the continual rumbling sounds under Bald and Stone Mountains, accompanied with the shaking of the earth. This disturbance in the two mountains is regarded by the Scientists as volcanic in its nature, though an eruption is not now supposed to be imminent, yet it may occur at some future time. The most violent concussion occurred on the 23rd of March, and spread a more general and deeper consternation among the people.

The excitement has led me to examine the subject of volcanoes and earthquakes, and as the people in this section are seeking information on this subject, the following article may be read with interest. So I give the result of my investigation:

A volcano is defined to be "an opening in the crust of the earth from which proceed heated gases sometimes in flames, volumes of steam, eruptions of ashes mixed with redhot stones and molten minerals, called lava. The term is derived from Vulcanus, the mythological God of fire. A brief sketch of some of the noted volcanoes of the world will throw some light on the subject. Iceland, an island situated in the Atlantic ocean west of Norway, is full of volcanoes. On this island is the famous volcano, Hecla. It has had 20 eruptions in 803 years. In 1783 occurred one, which made a river of liquid fire 12 miles broad and 60 long. Stromboli near the coast of Italy—is a volcano of perpetual eruption. Its lofty column of ceaseless fire serves the useful purpose of a spontaneous light house to sailors on the Mediterranean seas.—Mount Etna is also a famous volcano in the island of Sicily. This volcanic mountain was observed by the ancients. But in their ignorance of the cause of earthquakes, they supposed that some huge giant had been hurled from the abode of the gods and buried beneath the mountain, whose tremendous struggles to get free shook the earth, and whose wrath filled the sky with the flames of his fury. But this was the poetical dream of ignorance. It was volcanic steam that shook the mountain. Mount Etna is about 20 miles in diameter at the base and two miles from base to summit. At the base are growing clustering vineyards and fields of corn. The Sicilians not fearing the fiery wrath of the burning mountain, build and inhabit towns all around the base, though sulphureous smoke issues from its great center, and occasional eruptions pour down its lava-scarred sides. Vesuvius is perhaps the most celebrated volcano in the world. It is located in Italy, is 10 miles of the city of Naples. It is about 10 miles in diameter at the base, and 3,700 feet in height. Populous towns, blooming gardens, fertile fields smile around the base. Its first recorded eruption occurred in the year 79, when Pompeii and Herculaneum were buried beneath its ashes and cinders. The total number of its great eruptions down to the present time, has been about sixty.—In 1794, occurred the terrible eruption which destroyed the town of Torre del Greco.

The premonitory signs of volcanoes are rumbling sounds, such as heavy carriages rolling under ground, accompanied with earth shakes, more or less violent. These are the usual though not infallible signs preceding volcanoes. In the days of Mr. Wesley the city of Lorden was shaken frequently, though no visible volcanoes occurred. In 1811-12, New Madrid in Missouri on the Mississippi River was taken violently for several months, yet no volcano occurred.—The earthquakes in New Madrid caused when the contemporaneous shock occurred in South America and destroyed in that country the cities of Caracas and La Guyra.—This fact has led scientists to believe that a subterranean ocean of volcanic fire extends connectedly from the Andes of South northward through Mexico on to the volcanic districts of California and Oregon. South America excels all other portions of the globe in volcanoes and earthquakes. The whole chain of the Andes is one mass of volcanoes. In Mexico and Central America are 25 active volcanoes. It is a well known fact that frequent earthquakes occur in California and Oregon. But there are no signs of volcanic action East of the Rocky mountains in North America, except those now present in Bald and Stone mountains. And furthermore that volcanoes rarely ever occur except in connection with deep waters or near the Equator; both of which conditions are absent in the case of Bald Mountain. Yet the premonitory signs of this mountain are pronounced by scientific authority evidently volcanic. So we see that Bald Mountain presents a case in the science of Geology. Scientists must watch and wait.

What is the cause of earthquakes and volcanoes? Sir John Herschel says: "The key of the whole affair is found in the central heat of the earth." Water, in any part of the earth, the fires and forces of this mighty sea find vent through its crust; then we have a volcano. On the other hand, when these tremendous fires and forces struggle to get free, like the buried Titan of the old fable, without finding vent, then the earth shakes from its centre to its circumference.—Volcanic eruptions are generally preceded by earthquakes, by which the beds of rocks, that overlie and keep down the struggling powers beneath are dislocated and cracked, till at last they give way, and the strain is immediately relieved.

This theory proceeds upon the hypothesis, that this solid earth was once a vast globe of liquid fire, self luminous as the sun, and has cooled down with a crust from 12 to 40 miles in thickness, while the centre of the earth is a tremendous sea of liquid fire.

There is another theory known as the chemical hypothesis, proposed by Sir H. Davy, who supposed that certain metallic bases and alkalies might combine with oxygen, and produce great heat and violent combustion by chemical actions.

What are the uses of volcanoes and earthquakes?

In the hand of Providence, an earthquake was used as the instrument to destroy the rebellions, Korah and his company. The earth opened and they were swallowed up alive. An earthquake made the solemn scenes of the crucifixion grandly impressive and terrific. The rocks rent asunder by it remained for ages to preach to travelers the truth of the gospel narrative. It shook all Jerusalem and extorted from the centurion and those with him the confession, "Truly this man is the son of God." An earthquake delivered Paul and Silas from the prison at Philippi, and was the instrumental cause of the conviction and conversion of the jailer and his house.

The natural uses of volcanoes are supposed to be numerous and beneficent in the grand economy of the world. It is alleged, that we owe to the agency of volcanoes and earthquakes all the magnificence of our mountains, the beautiful and fertile islands of the sea, and the continents on which we dwell.

These are the products of volcanic forces.

They have been pushed up from the watery world to be homes of intelligence and christianity. But for these giant agencies "the waters of the deep had still covered the whole earth, and no living thing higher and nobler in the scale of creation, than the fishes of the sea could have existed. We see then the beneficient power and design of God in the earthquakes, no less than in the genial sun shine and refreshing showers." H. T. Hudson.

For the Advocate.

Few there be that find it.

These words may be found in Christ's sermon on the mount, which should be attentively read and studied. That watchfulness and circumspection are essential to christian character, and Divinely enjoined, is a truth all who admit the doctrine of moral responsibility and free agency on the part of man, admit. There may be some whose education and association have somehow or other impressed their minds with the belief that man has nothing to do but to sit down in supineness and indifference, powerless to resist wind some influences, waiting to be driven like machinery into heaven by compulsory power. But many who thus affect to believe are not willing to risk themselves under a high tree when the forked lightnings are dashing across the tempest sky, but exercise their free agency in seeking a more secure place.

We have been taught to regard the plan of salvation, as set forth in the Bible, to be one revealed will of God. Our Saviour not only says "strive to enter in at the straight gate," but he also says, "Seek, and ye shall find." Such authority is certainly worth more than the declarations of man, more assistance to build up and sustain their church in its peculiar notions than to seek to know the will of God concerning erring man. The mission of Christ was not to enable man with hopes and promises of reward never to be realized. When he says, "Ye will not come to me, that ye might have life," we are inclined to think the obstinacy of man's will has something to do in hardening his heart, and shutting out the light of truth from his mind. Nor can we believe a faith that inspires inactivity and indifference in the soul with regard to christian duties, is in accordance with that living, active, and abiding principle, purifying the heart, actuating its possessor to fervency of spirit in the service of the Lord.

Our Saviour calls it the narrow way "which leadeth unto life," requiring a spirit of inquiry and honest and earnest effort on the part of man to find it. The prophet calls it the highway of holiness, and says, "the unclean shall not pass over it;" which impresses our mind with the idea that consistency of christian character is essential to salvation.—That minds wanting in the constituent requisites of moral excellence, throwing their influence, wilfully, in the scale of moral corruption, by pandering to the views and follies of the world, occupy a dangerous position, notwithstanding their names may help to swell the church-roll. Church relationship without christian consideration and circumspection, by no means constitutes one an heir of the brighter inheritance of glory. And while we are told to "judge not," we are told that the ont croppings fruits will indicate the character of the tree.

The Bible does not hold out the idea that men can gather grapes of thorns, nor figs of thistles. The pure in heart have the promise that they shall see God. Hence the importance of "searching the Scriptures," that we may learn the will of Christ concerning us, walking in newness of life as children of light. Men should search the Scriptures because God has commanded them to do so; and the soul of man needs the illuminating influence of divine truth. Darkness is the opposite of light, and the mind of man requires purifying and elevating light to direct its will and desires to the great source of light and love. But, alas! how many live in the constant neglect of this important duty!

The way to heaven is a "highway of holiness," where the few anxious inquirers after light and guidance who have fortunately found it, find the affections and desires of their souls running out in holy aspirations after greater attainments in spiritual wisdom. It is a "highway" in which the brotherhood of kindred spirits, washed and redeemed from their sins, actuated by high and ennobling sentiments of christian duty, "press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Alas! of how many who profess to be followers of Christ—walking the narrow way with singleness of purpose, as the children of light, might it not be truthfully said, "A deceived heart hath turned him aside!" If church folks are found walking in the counsel of the ungodly, or standing in the way of sinners, or sitting in the seat of the scornful, in what are they better than such characters? Are such characters keeping themselves unspotted from the world? While few, comparatively, seek and pursue with steady step the narrow way that leads to life, what myriads of thoughtless slaves of sin press the broad and beaten road that leads to death! The prophet, looking upon the down-trodden altars of his God, felt that he was alone in his fidelity to his king, and that they sought to take his life. But such was not the case. Though God's covenant was forsaken by the wicked multitudes of Israel, seven thousand had not bowed the knee to Baal.

Though wickedness prevails to a most fearful extent, and vile and abominable practices characterize many in this land of gospel privileges. God has in our midst a peculiar people, manifesting their several relationship to the Father of Mercies, by ungodly walk and pious conversation.—And we are assured, by the unerring word of Truth, that the "ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads." How earnestly should we seek to know the truth that we may be free indeed! We have covenant need of light from on high to guide and keep our feet in the high way of holiness, leading to the brighter and of cloudless day.

Reader! shall you or I be among the saved? Shall we unless we "strive to enter in at the straight gate?" In the language of the Master. I will close: "Straight is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it."

OXONIAN.

Oxford, N. C., March 30th.

For the Advocate.

Mr. Editor: I have studied and analyzed Dr. Pritchard's remarks respecting Christ's baptism and can see nothing in them or get any thing out of them but babyism. The Dr. was evidently betrayed into the unwise policy of speaking twice and thinking only once. He is like the famous witness who having unwittingly testified that a certain horse was sixteen feet high, when questioned by the court answered, did I say sixteen feet? if so I stand to it the horse was sixteen feet high." The Dr. in his card complained of being misrepresented, but strange to say, afterward admitted that he said what amounted to the same thing and there declared his purpose to stand to it. Let us examine, impartially the subject a little and see if the Dr's blasphemy does not appear.

The ordinance of baptism was submitted to by Christ either to conform to some antecedent law requiring it, or to establish some new principle in the new kingdom which He was about to set up. The second proposition we reject without discussion as being unscriptural and therefore untenable. The second proposition is clearly established by Christ himself in Matth. 3 and 15 "suffer it to be so now for thus it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness."

Now, if there is any part of the law of prophets that speaks of this subject we have the mode of Christ baptism.

We have already seen that Christ was baptized to fulfill the law and the prophets, or, in other words, to be legally consecrated to the priestly office. In Num. 8 and 17 we are told that water shall be sprinkled upon the subject and he be annointed with oil.

We can but infer therefore, that the water was sprinkled upon Christ: since the ascent of the Holy Ghost upon him at baptism is regarded by Isaiah. Christ himself, and the apostle Paul, as the anointing with oil see Isaiah 6 and 1. Luke 4 and 18. Heb. 1. and 9. In Ezek. 36, ch 25, 26, and 27 verses, we have the same mode given "I will sprinkled clean water upon you and you shall be clean: xxx and I will put my spirit within you. &c. Every one must admit that, at least, a part of this prophesy was fulfilled at the baptism of our savior, viz. the descent of the Holy Spirit. Then both the law and the prophets are plain on this point and how Dr P. or any one else can suppose that, in the violation of the law, which he came to fulfill, and a disregard of the prophets in being baptized, the promised results should be witnessed, is more than I can tell. What is the inevitable result of the Dr's position taken and stood to?

Horrible to tell, it is this; he does not suppose that Christ was foolish enough to keep and fulfill the law and the prophets.

Salisbury April 1 1874.

For the Advocate.

Efficient Stewards.

Mr. Editor: In a late number of the Advocate, Roanoke calls for the discovery of a financial plan that will effectually settle the question of a proper support of the ministry. He then respectfully submits some addenda, which he thinks, if adopted would remove a mighty incubus that has long been hanging over the church; by which incubus I suppose he means the large amounts that the Stewards have from year to year promised to the preachers, but have not paid. Roanoke is not alone in crying out for different plans and systems. Their name is legion and each one has a different one to propose which he thinks would make money and supplies flow into the parsonage as naturally and as easily as water flows from a spring.

Now, I know that some plan is necessary, but of what use is the plan if you have not the men to carry it out? I would not give a fig for the difference of system if you will give me the men who will execute the one that may be adopted. The agent is much more important than the system. Machinery is useless without steam or some other force to put it in motion. The body without the spirit is dead. The Stewards are the financial agents of the church. they are the soul of the money system. If they are not the right men in the right place failure will be the result. The best plan that human wisdom can conceive, may be adopted, but without efficient Stewards the system will be dead machinery. Then we think the most important thing is to be done to secure a proper support of the ministry is to have working Stewards, and if there be any incumbents of that office who are inefficient remove them at once; and no doubt a more frequent change of Stewards would be beneficial. It is also very important that the preacher be a working man in his department too, and where the Stewards and the preacher faithfully perform their duties there is commonly no deficiency in the support of the ministry no matter what is the financial plan adopted. Quarterly collection by the Stewards from every one of a number from others who would contribute, and as much as each is willing to pay, is no good plan as any. Some theories are perfect till is only in practice that they are impracticable.

PETRA

March 31, 1874.

Selected.

Letter From Dr Pierce.

Dear Brother Kennedy: This is the morning of my 90th birthday. Let me address this letter, as a heartfelt greeting to my sympathizing friends everywhere, through the columns of our weekly, welcome visitor, the Southern Christian Advocate.

It is a bright and beautiful day. And for them, just now entering upon his 90th year, I am like the day, bright and calm. There is, however, one drawback upon the sweetest pleasure of an old man's life at least it is so in my case. Many of my friends think more of me, and better of me, than I can think of myself. And this is a sort of mortification, against which there is no help, so long as a man keeps modest. This experience arises, no doubt, from the fact, that every one that knows his heart at all, knows his own heart troubles best. There is, however, in this dilemma, left to me, one comfort. It is this,—no friend can ever think any better of me than I have tried seventy-one years of my life to deserve. And yet such is my sense of nothingness, that the reward I sought on earth seems to me to be so far overpaid as to make me feel as if in this respect I have deceived my friends. But the testimony of my conscience is, that I have never sought to win the good opinion of my friends, because of its own glory but because of its own worth.

I have tried to realize in my own life and experience, the truth of Solomon's eulogy upon old age, that the hoary head is a crown of glory, if it be found in the way of righteousness: and really no other else. Who would look upon me now, without emotions of shame and involuntary contempt, if my hoary head were found in the way of unrighteousness? Not one. It is divinely true, that a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor, than choice gold. Grace, divine grace, early in life both inclined me and enabled me to make choice of these as my riches: and I am inclined to believe I have inherited by it great wealth, in the way of loving favor. There is a promise that a good man shall leave an inheritance to his children's children. In my case they will have to take their dividends out of this wealth of loving favor. I can bequeath little else. But in so far as my children's children are concerned, if they will follow examples, there are many ways in which they will find that even in its family sense, a good name is better than precious ointment. I not only refer to these pleasant memories in reference to my posterity, but also to my race, for even in the morning of the 90th year of my responsible example, it is the joy of my heart, that in my fifteenth year I resolved that I would never contribute a cent to the support of any institution or entertainment, or pleasure party, if upon a careful examination of its effects upon pure religion, it might demoralize what ought to be the girdle of principle and law of moral integrity. Although I feel after all, as if I was going out of the world deeply indebted to it, by reason of having accomplished so little in arrest of its monstrous wickedness, I shall leave it with a consciousness, that all that know me, will say "he never corrupted any one of his race by his example." To abstain from all appearance of evil is not to be regarded as a high up grade of religion, from away below which there is saving godliness. No my dear friends, this is the first and lowest step in practical religion. Without a fixed purpose to abstain from every appearance of evil, the first spring of practical religion is in paralysis. No one was ever converted below this point, and whoever, after conversion, falls below this point, falls from grace. Many of my friends in Georgia wonder why I am never seen at her fair grounds; the reason is, because all her fair grounds are race grounds, and I could not go there without making myself as ridiculously inconsistent, as I would be, to preach against revelings, and then rent out the basement of the Church for a restaurant in order to enable the Church upstairs to pay expenses, and preach against revelings. This is my application: if fair grounds can not be self supporting, but have to affiliate with gambling alliances. I must abstain. There is not only the appearance of evil, but a fellowship with evil.

But of my birthday dinner. Solomon says: "Better a dinner of herbs with love, than a stalled ox, and hatred therewith." We had a dinner better than a stalled ox, and a full flow of love therewith. I had about thirty of my own family circle present, running out far into the fourth generation: and to add to the pleasure of the occasion, Rev. J. W. Burke came in on an unexpected, but most welcome visit, and with his sunny face, increased the social cheer. Nothing was wanting to make it the high day of my life, but the presence of all my progeny. We feasted freely on the finest dinner ever given to me, as a birthday festival; drank nothing but water, enjoyed it, and closed the day, by the baptism of my last born great-grand daughter. I cannot expect ever to see another birthday like it; but I give thanks that this last one was bright without and calm within. Nothing happened through the day, even to the crying of a child, to disturb our peace. Let us say, "bless the Lord, from everlasting to everlasting, and let all the people say amen. Praise ye the Lord!"

Sunshine, March 24, 1874.

—Southern Advocate.

Jonah Versus the Whale.

Unbelievers have often told us that the story of the prophet swallowed by a great fish was an absurdity. They say that so long in the stomach of the monster, the minister would have been digested. We have no difficulty in this matter. Jonah was a most unwilling guest of the whale. He wanted to get out. However much he may have liked fish, he did not want it three times a day and all the time. So he kept up a fidget, and a struggle, and a turning over, and he gave the whale no time to assimilate him. The man knew that if he was ever to get out he must be in perpetual motion. We know men that are so lethargic they would have given the matter up, and lain down so quietly that in a few hours they would have gone into flukes and fish bone, blow-hole and blubber. Now we see men all around us, who have been swallowed by monstrous misfortunes. Some of them sit down on a piece of whale bone and give up. They say: "No use! I will never get back my money, or restore my good name, or recover my health." They float out to sea, and are never again heard of. Others, the moment they go down the throat of some great trouble, begin immediately to plan for egress. They make rapid estimate of the length of the vertebrate, and come to the conclusion how far they are in. They dig up enough spermaciti out of the darkness to make a light, and keep burning this way and that, till the first you know they are out. Determination to get well has much to do with recovered invalidism. Firm will to defeat bankruptcy, decides financial deliverance. You can, if you are spry enough, make it as uncomfortable for the whale as the whale can make it for you. There will be some place where you can brace your foot against his ribs, and some long upper tooth around which you may take hold, and he will be as glad to get rid of you for tenant, as you are to get rid of him for landlord. There is a way out, if you are determined to find it. All our sympathies are with the plaintiff, in the suit of Jonah versus Leviathan.—Christian at Work.

Science

It is reported that a shower of hailstones fell recently, on Saint Gothard which were found to be impregnated with salt,

A despatch from Berlin announces the death of Johannes Heinrich Muller the distinguished German astronomer, at the age of seventy-nine years.

The Paris Jardin des Plantes has received ten of those curious aërial pests which are found in the Philippine Islands, and which are commonly called vousettes. These natural vampires are perfectly harmless, although by their size (of a gigantic bat) and their ugliness they may frighten infantine spectators. Their bodies are the size of an ordinary pigeon, but the wings have a span of about three feet. They do not live on blood, as told of their fabled homonyms, but feed on fruit and grain. At the menagerie their fare consists of dates, figs, and boiled sugared rice, of which they are very fond.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE—Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSORIPTION:

FOR ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE,	$2.00
SIX MONTHS,	1.25
If payment be delayed six months,	2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH N. C. APRIL 15, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

Progressive Power of the Gospel.

The Saviour in his teachings often employed the most striking and comprehensive illustrations, to show the progressive power of His Gospel. Taking its origin from the solitary sufferer on Calvary, it rapidly spreads throughout the known world, affecting all of its inhabitants, and more or less moulding and shaping their character. In looking back from the point which we have attained, history discloses the fact that, for eighteen hundred years, the world has enjoyed the heavenly light of the blessed Jesus, the crucified son of God. The conquests and achievements of the Gospel are compared to the leaven which leaveneth the whole body. The quality of the Gospel is an all permeating—all-pervading principle. It is a thing of life. It bestows life, and the life it bestows begets "more life, and higher." Thus it increases with an ever penetrating energy, and marches onward in its course of triumph, looking to the consummation of its career in bringing all the kingdoms of the earth in subjection to the dominion of the Lord and His Christ.

The parable of the leaven is equally illustrative of the beginning and progress of the religion of Christ in the heart of each believer. Men do not become holy and pious by one sudden effort of the soul. Conversion is the act of the moment—an instantaneous change. For it is a turning back from the course before pursued, a turning away from things before followed—the marching in a way directly opposite to that deserted, and after things the contrary of those before desired. There is no interval of time, no period of suspense between the moments of conversion and non-conversion. The act of change is—must be, the act of a moment. But not so with holiness of heart—with piety of soul. Religion is a character, a life. No one has ever formed a character or lived a life by one efficient effort of the will, by one act, however tremendous and important that may be. Nor has any one ever, by a sudden instantaneous step, sprung from the low depths of sin and wickedness to the radiant heights of holiness. Much struggle has to be undergone—many contests with evil must ensue—much training—much discipline must be experienced—much hardness endured, before the character of the converted sinner is turned into that of a holy man of God. When a man is converted, the truth is then planted in his heart. But it is only a germ.—The leaven is put into the meal, but it is only a small lump. This embryo truth is, however, a living principle.—It grows and developes itself. One by one it meets and overcomes, and defeats the hostile principles inherent in our corrupt natures, and gaining strength with every victory the area of its dominion is continually extending—the number and strength of its offences continually diminishing, until it finally brings every imagination of the heart in captivity to the will of Christ. Then, when every foe is subdued, every enemy of his truth conquered, Christ becomes all and in all, the Sovereign Ruler over the dominion of the soul! This, however, is a work of time—a progressive work.—Jesus, as it has been truthfully said, "is born in every believer's heart, an infant," and as in the flesh in the days of His humiliation, He grew and increased in stature and wisdom every year, so does he grow in power and strength and wisdom in the hearts of His followers until he attains to the perfect measure and fullness of his stature in holiness, righteousness and loving obedience.

A GOOD SUMMER RESORT.—Persons wishing a trip to the West during the summer, will find Lenoir an exceedingly pleasant place to visit. We learn that the College will be opened for a few summer visitors during vacation, which will be in June and July. The price will be only four dollars per week.

BISHOP KEENER, who has just returned from the city of Mexico, brings gratifying Intelligence of the progress of the Methodist mission in that city. They have six churches, in which about two thousands worshippers assemble every Sunday.

An exchange very justly says: "Does any minister doubt his capacity to secure subscribers for a good religious paper? Then let him doubt his fitness for the ministry. The man who has not the determination and vim to secure a few subscribers for his denominational paper, will not likely accomplish much in the work of the ministry."

Local Option.

In pursuance of the law passed at the late session of our Legislature, the voters of many townships in our State will soon have an opportunity of expressing, at the polls, their willingness for, or opposition to, the sale of liquor in their respective neighborhoods. A few weeks before the measure passed the Legislature, we gave, at length, our views upon the subject, and urged upon our Representatives the duty of leaving the question to the people whether or not an evil, so confessedly monstrous as the sale of liquor is, should be permitted to exist. We do not think it out of place, but rather our imperative duty, to add something more to what we have already said in support of the measure.

In the first place, we regret that the secular press, generally, has not, as a true watchman and guardian of society's interests should do, urged upon their readers the importance of the question to be submitted to their decision. Some of the papers have favored, and others with honesty and frankness have opposed the prohibition of the liquor traffic; but the majority have remained silent upon the subject, preferring to be neither for nor against—neither fish nor flesh in the decision of the question. When the destruction of such a crying evil as the sale of liquor is attempted, the effort ought to receive the assistance of all who can exercise an influence. In this matter there can be no neutrals—every one must align himself with one side or the other. It is necessary to advance the right, and at the same time, to give the finishing blow to the upholding of the wrong. To say nothing against an evil is, in a measure, to oppose it—to remain inactive and to united when an enemy attacks one's borders, is to give hope and encouragement and strength to the enemy's cause.

We cannot conceive how it is possible that one can seriously or fairly object to granting the people of a neighborhood the privilege of selling few themselves whether or not liquor shall be sold in their midst. In matters of far less moment, the right for a majority to rule is conceded, even when it but vests with privileges but do not conflict with the interests of society. And to deny the people the right to destroy or restrain an evil that permeates every class of society and affects all of its manifold interests, is to take from them the possession of that liberty which it is the loudest object of Republican institutions to ensure. Every man has the right to pursue any calling that is honest and innocent, but when it becomes hurtful in its influences, the law lays its restraining hand upon it. The occupation of a butcher is useful and necessary, but when a man erects a slaughter house in the midst of a town it becomes a nuisance, which those injured or annoyed by it can remove without waiting for the slow hand of the law. It is, then, no new thing and no invasion of any one's rights to prevent the carrying on of a trade when it becomes a nuisance or an evil. And if the majority of the voters in no way nothing of the majority of other citizens of a community who have no suffrage, think that the use of liquor is a nuisance and an evil, they have a right to prevent it.

Some object that to prohibit the sale would not lessen the use of liquor in a community; but that is untenable. An evil grows according as opportunities for its growth are afforded it, and men sin according as temptations to do so are thrown in their way. The moral influence of a law extends further than to those against whom it is directed. If the law forbids the sale of an article, people rightly consider that it frowns upon the use of the same, and will avoid incurring the displeasure of the law. If the law is violated, it is done in dark corners and secret cellars, and men who would boldly drink at a licensed saloon shrink from the covert and clandestine indulgence of their liquor tastes. It is true that some men will gratify their appetites at any and all hazards, and there will be found those who will violate the law and sell liquors to such unfortunate slaves to strong drink. But they will be few—of the lower and suspicious classes and in continual dread of the vengeance of the law. Zealous advocates of the Temperance reform will keep a wary watch for offenders, and the violation of the law will involve an amount of risk and danger that but few will wish to incur. By thus restraining the sale, the use of intoxicating liquors will be correspondingly lessened, and a curb be placed upon the demon of intemperance which has for so long a time been rushing in unbridled fury over the land, trampling beneath its pitiless hoof the best and noblest supports and brightest ornaments of society.

We sincerely think the measure is practicable and fraught with good.—It is at least worthy of a trial, and should not be condemned until its workings shall have been tested. We hope, therefore, that all who have a right to vote will exercise it in favor of the movement, and bring to its support all the influence they possess. It cannot be wrong to do so, and can work no harm, while a neglect to help on the measure may involve a great mistake, and be followed by painful regrets.

Rev. G. W. Ivy, who sent us the largest number of subscribers to the ADVOCATE the past year, still stands at the head of the list for the present year.

PROFESSOR TYNDALL has recently been making some experiments upon the "acoustic transparency of the atmosphere," or its power of transmitting sound under different conditions, and has been led to some curious and important results. The most remarkable one (and it was entirely unexpected) is this: that a cloud of vapor, uncondensed and, therefore, entirely invisible, obstructs the transmission of sound incomparably more than a visible cloud of droplets formed by the condensation of the vapor. Thus during a fog the air is vastly more transparent to sound than just before its formation or immediately after its clearing up. While the fog lasts the water is in the form of minute drops, which do little mischief. Before and after it is in the form of invisible vapor, and then powerfully obstructs the sonorous vibrations, sometimes, as in one case instanced, reflecting a portion of the sound so strongly as to produce a clear echo, seeming to come from mid air without any perceptible cause. The clearness of the water, therefore, is no indication of the distance to which a sound can be heard. In fact, for various reasons, in cloudy weather sounds are, on the whole, likely to be heard the furthest.

SNAKE.—A correspondent of the Methodist Advocate tells the following good joke on some Tennessee preachers: "This reminds me of another incident, too good to be lost, which we received from the deputy sheriff of Crittenden county. A Baptist divine preached on a long session at night from the text, 'go a fishing.' A brother cleric of the same faith and order followed it with another of similar length from the response, 'We also go with thee.' By an extraordinary stretch of Christian courtesy for that latitude a presiding elder of the Church South, who happened to be present, was invited to conclude. Rising up and in clear and measured tones, he gave an inventory in an amended quotation, of the net result, 'And they cast a right and caught nothing.'"

We All Have Faults.

He who boasts of being perfect is perfect in folly. I have been a good deal up and down in the world, and I never did see either a perfect horse or a perfect man, and I never shall till two Sundays come together. You cannot get white flour out of a coal sack, nor perfection out of human nature; he who looks for it had better look for sugar in the sea. The old saying is, "Lifeless, faultless." Of dead men we should say nothing but good, but as for the living, they are all tarred more or less with the black brush, and half an eye can see it.—Every head has a soft place in it, and every heart has its black drop. Every rose has its prickles, and every day its night. Even the sun shows spots, and the skies are darkened with clouds. Nobody is so wise but he has folly enough to stock a stall at Vanity Fair. When I could not see the foal's cap, I have, nevertheless, heard the bells jingle. As there is no sunshine without some shadows, so is all human good mixed up with more or less of evil: even poor law guardians have their little failings, and parish beadles are not wholly of heavenly nature.—The best wine has its lees. All men's faults are not written on their foreheads, and it's quite as well they are not, or hats would need wide brims: as rare as eggs are eggs, faults of some sort nestle in every man's bosom. There's no telling when a man's sins may show themselves, for hares pop out of a ditch just when you are not looking for them. A horse that is weak in the legs may not stumble for a mile or two, but it is in him, and the rider had better hold him up well. The tabby-cat is not lapping milk just now, but leave the dairy door open, and I we will see if she is as bad a thief as the kitten. There's fire in the flint, and as it looks; wait till the steel gets a knock at it, and you will see. Everybody can read that riddle, but it is not everybody that will remember to keep his gunpowder out of the way of the candle.—John Poughman.

Newbern District Conference.

This body will convene at La Grange, 12 miles below Goldsboro, on the Atlantic Railroad, Wednesday May 20th at 11 o'clock, A. M., including the 4th Sabbath.

Brethren outside of the District are cordially invited to be with us.

☞ It argues a bad state of the church for any pastoral charge to be wholly without lay representation at these conferences.

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort, N. C.

CORRECTION.—The Southern Christian Advocate contradicts the statement found originally in a Lynchburg (Va.) paper, and which has been going the rounds of the press, that Bishop Pierce had appointed Dr. W. E. Munsey to a leading Methodist church in Augusta, Ga., "at a salary of $4,000." The editor says that he has the authority of the Bishop for saying that no such appointment has been made.

We are requested to state that all communications in future for Rev. J. B. Alford and family, should be addressed to Clinton, Sampson co., N. C.

Since our last we have had encouraging lists of subscribers from Rev. W. H. Watkins, Rev. R. M. Brown, Rev. J. F. Smoot, and G. W. Ivy, and others.

Renew your subscription to the ADVOCATE, and secure its weekly visits.

Notes From the Brethren.

Rev. James Mahoney writes: DEAR BRO. BOBBITT: You may say in the ADVOCATE, the first Quarterly Meeting for my circuit, was held at Cokesbury Church, 28th and 29th of March. Bro. W. S. Black our P. E. was with us, in pretty good health, and abundant in good works—preached to large congregation. Saturday and Sunday, making a good impression on the people of my circuit. All who have seen and heard Bro. B. are pleased with him, which, I think, shows good judgment. We had a good meeting. I continued the meeting over Tuesday night, several penitents, two converts, and the church much revived. I think we'll have a good time this year, with the help of the good Lord. I think the prospect for revivals pretty fair at the most of the appointments on the circuit. We had a gracious season last Sunday, at old Bethuay. Our Sunday Schools are coming out of winter quarters now, and reorganizing for spring and summer work. I am increasing the subscription list to the ADVOCATE a little hope to get up to 40 or 50 yet.

Blocker's, N. C. April 6 1874.

From one of the students at Trinity College we have the following interesting facts:

Mr. EDITOR: It seems that the good work of the Lord is making increased advancement, not only in our own part of the country, but almost all over the whole land. Every news paper nearly is telling how the people are being revived, sinners converted, and the "work of the Lord moving forward." A great revival of religion has been going on at High Point for some time, which I think, has come to a close; but besides the good done to the inhabitants in the place, it has reached us. The "Young Man's Class meeting" held on Sunday evening witnessed nearly twice the ordinary number of attendants. Very nearly every member of the church present testified to the truth, that religion was the only source of happiness to us while below, and the only thing that could make us happy after death. It was encouraging to see old uncles Alli Robbins and Jabez Leach present, both of whom have seen their three score and ten years, and both at whom have been in the service of Christ for over half a century, and testifying that their greatest desire is to make their peace, calling, and election sure and to say that, of a truth, they know

"Religion never was designed To make our pleasure less."

By the bright faces of those professing Christ, the interest and anxiety of those not, it was manifest that the spirit of the Lord was present. Almost every one who spake appended desirous that a revival of religion should bless us. When old uncle Jabez Leach arose by the spirit in a way that could not be concealed, said that while over the whole country the people were being revived it seemed very unwise in us to go along content without greater supplies of blessings, and to see our friends perish when there was plenty and to spare, it was then that a feeling observed by all and felt by all, was experienced. The prayer meeting held at night was largely attended, and when the leader expressed his desire to see how many christians there were present who desired a deeper work of grace in their hearts, and desired to attain unto the full stature of men and women in Christ, and who were willing to live within the means suitable for so rising to a greater degree of knowledge, love, and power, over sin, to manifest their desire by rising to their feet, it was pleasant indeed to see a great majority show their zeal, and intentions of doing better, and getting better, by immediately rising. He then requested those who desired to be christians and intended to amend their lives by turning to the Lord to rise, and we were gratified to see ten young men rise upon their feet. We will have a prayer meeting to night when we hope, not only those who manifested a desire to become the servants of the Lord last evening will find him precious to their souls, but that others may be brought into his fold. For the present I must close. In my next I hope to be able to say that the Lord has by his spirit, led many from darkness to light and from the power of Satan unto God.

The New York Methodist says there are three elements at war with each other in the Episcopal Church, "the Lows, the Highs, and the Ritz." Permit us, says the Congregationalist, in view of Bishop Cummins and his fellow come outers, to add, as a fourth class, the "Cu."

A late British Review, speaking of a sermon from a young curate, says: "The sermon was one of those lithographed compositions supplied to the clergy at ten shillings and six pence per dozen. In country parishes these form the chief part of the teaching the clergy give their hearers, and the use of them is rapidly destroying what little life and reality there is in the pulpits of the Establishment."

M. SEMMEDER has presented to the Riga Society of Naturalists a fossil egg, which was found in the Chersonese a few years ago. It was secured for one thousand roubles—about $800. It is 18 cm. length, and 15 cm. short diameter; its capacity is reckoned equal to that of 40 to 44 hen's eggs. It is consequently larger than an ostrich egg, but much smaller than the egg of the Epiornis, which is equal to one hundred and forty-eight hen's eggs.

Revival.

We are glad to learn that an interesting revival is in progress at Person Street church in this city, under the direction of the excellent pastor, Rev. H. P. Cole. There have been several conversions and many others have offered themselves for the prayers of the church.

DEAR BRO. BOBBITT.—We have had a gracious revival at High Point, in which I think between thirty and forty souls professed to find the pearl of great price. There were several things remarkable in connection with the meeting: first, all denominations seemed to forget their differences and to unite in the work and enjoyment of the occasion. Three of the Methodist denominations, the Friends, the Presbyterians were all represented and all worked together as the yoke fellows in the gospel.

Secondly, among the converts there was an unusually large proportion of middle aged men and influential citizens, but that which I wish to mention in particular is the influence of the meeting in bringing about a reconciliation between individuals who were at variance and doing away with that sectarian spirit which too oft prevails where there are several sects in the same community. It was refreshing to see grown men with gray hairs, who had not spoken to each other for months and in some instances for years, grasping each others hands and embracing each other while tears flowed freely.

These things made me think of what the angels sang to the shepherds watching upon the plains of Judea.

I attribute the glorious revival more to the union of the different denominations in the effort to do and get good them to any other particular cause.

To God be all the glory!

C. M. PEPPER.

Thomasville April 8th 1874.

Mr. W. G. Lewis, from the western portion of the State, recently received a letter from his son, in Colorado dated March 15th containing the following account of a protracted meeting of forty two days duration resulting in the conversion of many souls. During the time a strange incident occurred. A gentleman living in the town where the meeting was held, a keeper of a bar and gambling saloon, resolved to take his own life. He told his little son good bye and attempted to perpetrate the horrid deed. He inflicted the wound but lingered some two days. He became concerned about his spiritual condition and sent for the minister. He came and prayed for and talked with him and brought Christ the unfortunate man became a subject of pardoning grace.

Coughing in Church.

There are some of the best Christian people who do not how to carry themselves in religious assemblage. They never laugh. They never applaud.—They never hiss. Yet, notwithstanding, are disturbers of public worship.

There is, for instance, the coughing brigade. If any individual right ought to be maintained at all hazards, it is the right of coughing. There are times when you must cough. There is an irritable tickling in the throat which demands audible demonstration. It is moved, seconded and unanimously carried that those who irritated windpipes be heard. But there are ways with that or handkerchief of breaking the concussion. A smothered cough is decidedly unacceptable if you have nothing better to offer.—But how many audiences have had their peace suddenly broken by a musical explosion of air through the glottis! After a sudden change in the weather, there is a fearful charge by the coughing brigade. They open their mouths wide, and make the arches ring with the racket. They begin with a faint "Ahem!" and gradually rise and fall through all the scale of dissonance, as much as to say: "Hear all ye good people! I have a cold! I have a bad cold! I have an awful bad cold! Hear now it racks me, tears me, torments me. It seemeas if my diaphragm must be split. I took this awful bad cold the other night. I added to it last Sunday. Hear how it goes off! There it is again. O dear me! If I only had Brown's Troches, or the syrup of squills, or a mustard plaster, or a wool on stocking turned wrong side out around my neck!" Brethren and sisters who took cold by sitting in the same draught join the clamor, and it is glottis to glottis, and laryngitis to laryngitis, and a chorous of scrapings and explosions which make the service hideous to a preacher of sensitive nerves. We have seen people, under the pulpit, coughing with their mouth so wide open we have been tempted to jump into it. There are some persons who have a convenient ecclesiastical cough. It does not trouble them ordinarily, but when in church you get them thoroughly covered with some practical truth, they smother the end of the sentences with a favorite paroxysm. There is a man in our church who is apt to be taken with one of these fits just as the contribution box comes to him, and cannot seem to get his breath again till he hears the pennies rattling in the box behind him. Cough by all means, but put on the breaks when you come to the downgrade, or send the racket through at least one fold of your pocket handkerchief.—Christian at work.

SIMMONS playfully remarked to his wife that he had four fools: beautiful, dutiful, youthful and delightful.—"Poor me!" said she, "I have but one."

A good thing is told of the Bishop of Montreal. It seems that the good Bishop has prohibited dancing and two officers, wishing to obtain permission to dance the polka at a military ball, danced it together to show the B shop how it was done. After the exhibiton the Bishop gave his permission in these terms: "You can dance the polka as long as you please—with each other."

Religious Brevities

—Rev. J. F. Smoot, in charge of Smithfield circuit, has recently held a series of meetings at Clayton with good results.

Rev. W. . Black, Presiding Elder of Wilmington District is making a decided impression upon the people as a preacher. The Wilmington Star of last week says: The pulpit efforts of Rev. W. S. Black, at Fifth Street M. E. Church, on Sunday last, are highly spoken of, and the congregations were very large and attentive on both occasions."

An English paper thinks Mr. Spurgeon the Prime Minister of England.

—The Advance says an elegant silver service has been presented to the Wilson Methodist Church by Messrs Young of Petersburg.

—Mrs. Rutherford, of Blackshear, Ga., who died a few weeks ago, made a bequest in her will of $500 to the Methodist E. Church, South, in that place.

—Rev. Dr. Manney has been sick in Chattanooga, but is improving.

—The Southern Advocate says Bishop Pierce and his father spent Friday night, the 3d inst, in Macon. The Bishop was on for the American District Conference at Smithville. He preached at Mulberry Street Church, rendering efficient aid to the pastor, who has been having services every night for some time past. Dr. Pierce continues to improve, and will doubtless stand in his place at the General Conference."

—A. P. Graves, the revivalist, at the conclusion of his labors in this city at the Baptist church, was presented with $2 50 by the congregation.

—An interesting revival is in progress at Company Shops, Conducted by the Pastor, Rev. R. S. Webb, assisted by Rev. J. J. Renn.

—Mr. ADAMS ACTON, the English sculptor, has in hand a large marble memorial of the brothers Wesley which is to be erected in Westminster Ashbey. The upper part of the memorial consists of medallion likenesses of the brothers, and on the back is a bas-relief in which John Wesley is represented preaching on his father's grave. The faces of his listeners are portraits of leading members of the Wesleyan body. The commission was given by Dr. Jobson, ex President of the Conference, who is understood to have combined with other prominent Methodist in raising the necessary money. The work will probably be finished in July. Dean Stanley has consented to its erection near the memorial to Dr. Isaac Watts.

—A CORRESPONDENT of the Jewish Chronicle speaks of the complete dissolution of the Jewish congregation at Rome. Since the members can no longer be compelled by law to discharge their contribution toward the support of the congregational institution, they refuse to pay their taxes, so that the Secretary even has to resign his position, because he can no longer obtain his salary. The synagogues are but little visited, the school house is deserted, parents send their children to Christian schools, and do not ever take the trouble to see that they are dispensed from attendance when religious instruction is given. There are still a few devoted men left, but the apathy of their coreligionists frustrates all their efforts to effectany reorganizallon, and they will finally have to abandon it. The whole Jewish population (nearly 5,000 souls) is strictly orthodox.

— The Baltimore Methodist says REV. WM. WALKER, of Virginia, has been invited to take charge of Trinity M. E. Church, South, of Baltimore, and will soon be at his post.

—Hugh McGinnis, the blind orator of Montreal, is lecturing in Pennsylvania upon religious education.

— Bishop Marvin has returned to St Louis from his Southwestern tour, and has been laboring in the meetings now going on in that city.

—Bishop Wightman is holding District Conferences in Missouri.

— Rev. Abner Jackson, D. D., LL. D., President of Trinity College, is reported very dangerously ill with lung fever.

— There is a book in process of publication, says the Episcopal Methodist, on the relation of children to the Church, written by Dr. Register of the Baltimore Conference. It is heartily endorsed by the editor of that paper.

— Zion's Herald has made the discovery that our Chief-Justice is a lineal descendant of Thomas Wayte, one of the judges who signed the warrant, for the execution of Charles 1.

Miss Wolfe, a daughter of Mr. John David Wolfe, has purchased and presented to the New York Museum of Natural History, the famous collection of shells collected by Mr. J. C. Jay, of Rye, N. Y., together with his superb library on Conchology. The gift is offered and accepted as a memorial of her honored father, who was the first President of the Museum.

Elections for 1874

There will be a thorough overhauling of Congress by the elections which take place in 1874. Eighteen States elect Governors, thirty-five elect Representatives to Congress, and thirty-three Legislatures elect Senators. Of the States to elect Senators the following, now represented by Radicals and Republicans, will probably choose Democrats or Reformers to succeed the Senators whose terms expire next March: Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New York, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia, Indiana, Connecticut, Florida, and Wisconsin. The first election in the series will take place in Connecticut, April 6th. After that follow Rhode Island on the 8th; Oregon June 2nd; Kentucky, Montana and Utah, August 3rd; North Carolina, August 6th; Vermont, September 1st Wyoming and California, Sept. 20th; Maine, Sept. 14th; Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska and Ohio, October. 13th; Georgia, October 14th; West Virginia, Oct 22nd; Louisiana, November 2nd; and the other States Nov. 3rd. All of these elect Congressmen and State officers, and all the States, except Arkansas, Indiana, Florida, Illinois, Louisiana, Maryland, Minnesota, Mississippi Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Wisconsin, California, Georgia, North Carolina, Ohio, and Iowa, elect Governors.—WILMINGTON JOURNAL.

The News

— The Charlotte OBSERVER has changed hands. It will in future be conducted by Charles R. Jones and Frederick H. Pendleton.

— At the recent commencement of the Louisville medical college, Louisville Ky the degree of M. D. was conferred upon the following gentlemen from North Carolina Jno. E. Fearington and E. D. Mann of Chatham and W. S. Herndon of Wake county.

— Plato Durham announces that he has determined to become a candidate for Congress in the Cleaveland district, and withdraws as editor of the Shelby BANNER.

— DEATH OF MR. GAYLE.—Mr. J. B. Gayle, Master Machinist of the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road for a number of years—a worthy and respected citizen, died at his residence in this city, last week.

— The Greensboro PATRIOT announces the fact that our young friend and former associate, Robt T. Gray Esq., has consented to deliver the memorial address at the Confederate Cemetery in Greensboro in May next. This is a good selection and we congratulate the Eclectic Club and the good people of Greensboro upon the selection. Mr. Gray is a graceful speaker and a young gentleman of fine culture.

Mr. J. L. Chambers has been chosen by the club to deliver the Anniversary address.

— Dr. Craven delivered a lecture last Friday night before the Good Templar Lodge, at High Point. There were six been initiations after the lecture.

—Rev. A. K Murchison has purchased the Statesville INTELLIGENCER of Messrs. Jones and Pendleton.

— It is said that Gen. J. M. Leach has no desire to be returned to Congress. He is an ardent supporter of Gen. A. M. Scales.

— A change of postmasters has been made in the Newbern office. Mr. Hubbs, late editor of the Newbern Times, has been appointed to succeed Geo. W. Nason, removed.

— The Senate has adopted the substitute of Mr. Merrimon, of North Carolina for the third section of the committee's bill. The substitute provides for the issue of forty-six millions of dollars of additional bank currency.

— The Democratic Convention held in the County House at Shelby, on the 2nd inst., on the question of "prohibition," or "no prohibition the prohibition ticket carried the day by a large majority.

— A new postoffice has been established in Ashe county called Nathan's Creek.

—The New York SOUTH of last week gives excellent illustrations of the Capitol at Raleigh, "Tryon Palace" at Newbern, the United States Mint at Charlotte and the Atlantic Hotel at Beaufort.

— It is said that 24 white children are apprenticed to negro masters in Charlotte.

— The Cincinnati brewers complain that their business is greatly injured by the women's crusade. They threaten to organize for defence if the war continues.

— A number of persons are suffering in the vicinity of Newberne with a serious form of small pox, which was brought there by a man from New York.

— Gen. Joshua Barnes, of Wilson, returned from his trip to the National Surgical Institute Atlanta, Ga., where he has been under treatment for his health. He is much improved.

— A gold mine has been discovered on the land of Mr. Haynes, near Salisbury.

— The Master of the State Grange has appointed the following additional list of special deputies to organize Granges in the State: Dr. R. K. Smith, Haywood, Chatham county; J. P. Erwin, Newton, Catawba county; W. P. Meares Linwood Davidson county.

— The British Society of Arts offers its gold medal, or $100, for the best "revolution indicator." It must be capable of showing the number of revolutions marine engines are making, at any hour of the day or night, without the necessity of counting or comparing with a watch. The 1st of June is the last day for competition.

— The Greek Government has proposed to the German Government to form a joint archæological commission, to preside over the works of excavation at Olympia, where was found the statue of Jove, the masterpiece of Phidias, afterward unfortunately destroyed by fire.

— The United States Circuit Court will commence its session in Raleigh on the first day of June.

— WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT is at present engaged on a "Popular History of the United States." He will be assisted by Mr. Sydney Howard Gay. The work will begin with the earliest authentic records and come down to the first century of American independence.

— The Rev. Dr. John Hall, in a recent address on the "Claims of the Needy," before the Merchants' Exchange of New York, said he had a man to ask him for fifty cents who candidly told him he could not and would not work for less than $5.00 per day.

— A petition is in circulation to get a postoffice at Boggan's Cut.

— Chatham is becoming a cotton county and lands are enhancing in value.

— The Angus says the small grain crops are promising in Montgomery county.

— The Carolina Central railway will be completed to Shelby at an early day.

— The people of Lenoir, Caldwell county, are greatly encouraged at the prospect of a Rail-Road. The grading has already commenced.

— Col. Wm. Alderman, of Cumberland county, raised 722 bushels of sweet potatoes from one acre of land, at a cost of only $64.

— Whereas in 1866 the population of France was returned at a little over thirty-eight millions, it now shows a diminution of nearly two millions on that number. The exact difference against Dec 1872 is given at 1,964,000, of which 1,600,000 is due to the separation of Alsace-Lorraine, and the remaining 360,000 must be accounted for by the direct action of the war.

— Mr. William S. Browning, uncle of Robert Browning, the poet, and author of the "History of the Huguenots," died recently in London.

— Senator Schurz, it is stated, will resign his seat at the end of the present session of Congress, and return to St. Louis to edit the Westliche Post.

— The ROANOKE NEWS learns that Capt. Ed. Everett, of the Wilmington and Weldon Road, has been offered a Lieutenancy in the Federal Army, and that he will probably accept it.

— It is worthy of note that this year the first colored student will graduate from the theological school of Yale College, and also from the academical department.

— All the bank-note paper issued by the United States government is manufactured on a 62-inch Fourdrinier machine, at the Glen Mills, near Westchester, Pa. Short pieces of red silk are mixed with the pulp in the engine, and the finished stuff is conducted to the wire without passing through any screens, which might retain the silk threads. By an arrangement above the wire cloth, a shower of short pieces of fine blue silk thread is dropped in streaks upon the paper while it is being formed. The upper side on which the blue silk is dropped is the one used for the face of the notes.

— Fayetteville EAGLE: Just now there is an effort and excitement for a rail-road from near Haywood by Pittsboro to Cane Creek, on the Albemarle line. A vote is to be taken on the 21st of May whether the county shall subscribe $70,000 or not.

— Fayetteville EAGLE: A cotton factory has just been started on Haw River, at Bynum's mill, and a few miles above Pittsboro. The mines of iron and copper along Deep River are being worked, but nothing is doing in the coal mines. Country stores are thick and thrifty, and all farming and general business are improving.

Our Merchants.

— The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of W. H. and R. S. Tucker. Owing to the death of their junior partner, Mr. T. McGee, the business of the firm will be closed as speedily as possible, They will sell all the goods belonging to the old firm at greatly reduced prices. We in common with the citizens of Raleigh, should very much regret to see these gentlemen go out of business. For many years their firm has been before the public as the leading dry goods merchants of this city.

— We omitted to call attention in our last to the new advertisement of Rev. L. Branson. He gives us a long list of popular and useful books which he has on sale at his book store. We trust our patrons who are in want of books and stationary will buy of him.

— Our readers are invited to call and examine the new goods of D. S. Waitt. He is now receiving a good supply of Spring and Summer clothings, dry goods, boots and Shoes and &c., He is attentive to business and is deserving of your patronage.

— We invite attention to the advertisement of Isaac Gittinger. Of course the ladies will buy their bonnets and hats where they can obtain the latest styles and upon the best terms. This is the place to go.

— Alex Creech Esq. the popular Dry Goods Merchant of this city, announces in his characteristic style the arrival of spring and summer goods. Mr. Creech has established the reputation of being a straightforward honest man in his business transactions. His stock is large and varied, and buyers will find it to their interest to call at Marble Hall to make their purchases.

— Messrs Petty and Jones, with their attention to business and corps of polite clerks, are winning for themselves favor with the public and are fast establishing a trade equal to any house in the city. See new advertisements.

— It affords us pleasure to call attention to the new advertisement of J. P. Gulley and Bro. For dry goods, and ready made clothing go to Gulley.

We will notice other advertisements in our next.

Letters and Funds.

Rev N M Rev paper sent. J J Edwards. J F Brawley. Mrs R L Hunt. Rev T P Bissell for J S Patterson $2. Thos Moxley 2. E N Freeman. S M Pettigrew & Co. R R Gwyn. Walker Taylor & Co. Miss M G C Holland self 2. Rev A D Betts for P A Doyle 2 — Miss L S Kendall 1. W W Henly 1. other papers sent. Rev J B Martin for Miss Celia Atwater 2. A Hendin for Miss S Hendin 2. D D Holt. J R Bell. Rev W D Call paper sent. G J Kittrell self 2. Rev C W Woodcock 2. Rev for adv and sub 3 50. Rev L W Crawford for Ed Stannard 2. J D Cockrell 2. Rev J C King for John Dewey 1.25. L J Anderson 2. Rev R T N Stephenson for J B Y Mathews 2. Wm A Allen 2. Rev J G Pelham 2. Rev J Tillett for W Maynard 2 W G Lewis. Rev W D Lee. Dr Dr. Craven is getting out the minutes—write to him. Rev J Wheeler. Rev G W Pigott. Rev T V Argent all right. Rev R M Brawn paper continued. Union Rose. E C Fisher. Rev W H Watkins for W G Dre 2. M J Barrier 2. M J Blackwilder 1 other papers sent. John Crain for self 2. Rev G W Lee for Rev G W Lewis 2. Miss M Eagles 2. Mrs R R Wakefield 2. J A Watts 2. Miss A M Dickson 2. Mrs S V Kendall 2. H Arney 2 other papers continued. H J Wetherbee. Wm Taylor for T Stephens 2. Rev J F Smoot for Mrs Vick 2 E S Abell 2. Mrs L Massey 1. J D Adams 2. Rev J H Wheeler for Wm Thompson 2. J P Pigott 2. Rev H T Hudson. Rev Wm Snipes self 2. W G Snipes self. J R Mayfield self 2. W Lyon self 2. Rev J T Brevell self 2. Rev Jas Wilson paper continued. R H Ellis. Rev Rev W M Robey. Grice & Bros. Rev J M Martin for M Barbee 2. Rev S M Davis for J D Satterfield 2. R Bobbitt 2. Rev N G Whittington. Rev P Greenlee for Dr J S Blair 2. Rev Jas Mahoney paper sent. Rev L H Gibbons. R Gibbs self 2. E M Freshman. Mrs B Maynard self 2. J R Griffith. J T Cheatham 2. Os subscribers 31. M & P Mallett to credit of E S. Rev C M Pepper for J Caldwell 2. J W Gray 2. Rev P J Carraway for S O Smith 2. Rev I P Bott 1. Rev W H Bobbitt for J R Brown 2. Mrs J J Brown 2. Rev E A Yates R N Woodson for Mrs M Woodson 2. Rev O J Brent for Mrs C Parmele 2. Miss S E's paper continued—due November 2. Wm Sawyer 2. Mrs Purdie 2. L L Smith Rev D Buckhead on old right. Ed L. sent paper continued A K Pruett 4. M Pettigrew & Co Rev W H Watkins Rev J B Alford Rev W H Moore 2 M W Williams 2. Rev M Owen 2. Rev J R Griffith for A Mangum 2. J Woods 2. other papers continued.—Rev S V Hoyle for Ed Davis 2. J B Williams 2. S Davis 2.

The Christian A

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY
EVERY WEDNESDAY
TERMS $2.00.

Our Agent

All the traveling preachers in North Carolina Conference are authorized. Those who send us ten subscribers will receive the paper free. Those who receive the paper for $1.00. The paper will be charged full price for the

Our Correspon

Communications for publication should be written, and on but one side of the paper, or the office should be addressed.

How to Re

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or draft of registration, or Post Office order. If you send the amount in hand. If any amount less than herein specified it will be

Marri

On the 19th of March 18 of the bride's father, Mr. Columbus county N. C., by Mr. James W. Taylor of B Miss Catharine E. Campbell.

In Tarboro, N. C., on the Rev Joseph Wheeler. The ties Lucy G., daughter of of Tarboro.

On the 2nd of April by at the residence of the bride E. Barnes to Miss S. A. Granville.

Deat

☞ Obituary notices of not exceed without charge. Ty lines of eight words each rate of 10 cents per line. C allow eight words to a li you may always know the Resolutions of respect are rule. ☜

Died, at his home in 20th, 1874 Mr. Abram S the good old age of 84 years days. The promise made a long life was in him was a member of the church For about twenty years he Lutheran church, but when preachers came into this p he heard them, embraced connected himself with the becoming a warm and this branch of the church has for many years been dist preachers, where the plied, and where they re hearty welcome. Many of the N. C. Conference will grateful affection the kind ver and his good wife, ex exercised to them. As in the last days of such a life were eminently peaceful an apple fully ripe, ready this good old "Father in ready, and sank gently in During his last illness he spoke of his readiness to better home. He leaves a companion, together with dren and grand children departure, and yet to rejoice ed the crown. His aged confined to her bed over coothed and sustained by she is calmly waiting her the friends of the deceased him in Heaven!

"Mark the perfect man right, for the end of that Mrs. Elizabeth Reynolds miah Early of Va., was born was married to Micajah 1817. She made a pro soon

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All the traveling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1.00. Those who send us none will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters on the office should be addressed to the Editor

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office or express check. The cost of registration, or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount to hand. If money be sent otherwise than herein specified it will be at the sender's risk.

Marriages.

On the 12th of March 1874 at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Alex Campbell of Columbus county N. C., by Rev. M. H. Hoyle Mr. James W. Taylor of Brunswick county to Miss Catharine E. Campbell.

In Tarboro, N. C., on the 3rd of March by Rev. Joseph Wheeler, Thomas H. Gorham to miss Lucy G., daughter of J. Porter, Esq.; all of Tarboro.

On the 2nd of April by Rev. J. R. Griffith, at the residence of the bride's father Mr. A. Barnes to Miss S. Alice Davis,—all of Granville.

Deaths.

☞Obituary notices of twenty lines or less sent without charge. The excess over that rate of 10 cents per line. Count the size of type and remember words is charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line. Count the words and you may always know the amount to enclose. Resolutions in respect are charged at the same rate.☜

Died, at his home in Rowan co., March 20th, 1874 Mr. Abram Sauers having reached the good old age of 83 years 1 mos. and 5 days. The premise made to the righteous is a long life was in him fully verified. He was a member of the church over fifty years. For about seven years he belonged to the Lutheran church, but when the Methodist preachers came into this part of the country he heard them, embraced their teachings and connected himself with the Methodist Church, becoming a warm and zealous member of this branch of the church of God. His house has for many years been a home for Methodist preachers, where their wants were supplied, and where they received a warm and hearty welcome. Many of the members of the N. C. Conference will remember with grateful affection the kindness of father Sauers and a good wife, sainted soul as they ever existed on earth. As might be expected, the last days of such a holy and useful life were eminently peaceful and happy. Like an apple fully ripe, ready to be gathered, so this good old "Father in Israel" was fully ready, and sank gently into the arms of rest. During his last illness he murmured not, but spoke of his readiness to go to his upper and better home. He leaves an aged and afflicted companion, together with a number of children and grand children to mourn his departure, and yet to rejoice that he has reached the crown. His aged companion has been confined to her bed over seven years, but soothed and sustained by an unfaltering trust, she is calmly waiting her change. May all the friends of the deceased so live as to meet him in Heaven!

"Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace!"

R. M. Brown.

Mrs. Elizabeth Reeves, daughter of Jeremiah Early of Va., was born May 22, 1791 and was married to Micajah Reeves, Feb. 10th 1817. She made a profession of religion soon after her marriage, and joined the Methodist E. Church, of which she remained a devoted and consistent member till her death which occurred March 15th 1871, at her residence at Siloam, N. C.

She was first stricken with paralysis, after which the disease became complicated. Her sufferings were very intense. She spoke calmly of death just as would be expected of her, who had lived a life of holiness. On being asked if all was well with her concerning the future, her reply was "Yes all is peace and joy." Her message to a daughter in a distant State was, "Meet me in Heaven," and to her oldest son, "Meet me in the bright realms of glory."

After she was taken sick, she talked often of the resurrection of Christ and the sacrament of the Lord's supper, of which she partook about three weeks before her death. She truly loved the church and its interests. It was ever her pleasure to entertain the ministers of Christ. For more than half a century they have been welcomed to her hospitable home. Many of the members of the North Carolina Conference will remember her kindness. Truly the poor, as well as the distressed in any circumstances here lost a friend, for she strove to relieve the needy and comfort the distressed.

She was fond of religious reading, being partial to the scriptures and the Advocate. She frequently dwelt on the precious promises of the Bible, which afforded her great consolation. Her long pilgrimage is over; and she has joined her husband and four of her children with many other loved ones, "Over There."

May her example ever live; and may a kind Providence bless her children, kindred, and friends, and bring them all to Heaven, the haven of rest!

"So fades a summer cloud away;
So sinks the gale when storms are o'er;
So gently shuts the eye of day,
So dies a wave along the shore
Life's duty done, so sinks the clay.
Light from its load the spirit flies,
While heaven and earth combine to say,
'How blest the righteous when he dies.'"

L. J. J.

Nashville, St. Louis and Pacific Advocates, and Surry Visitor, please copy.

Appointments.

GREENSBORO' DISTRICT.
2ND ROUND—IN PART.

Madison at Leaksville,	"	11-12
Stokes.	"	13-14
Thomasville & H Point at Fair Grove	"	25-26
Trinity circuit at Ebenezer,	May	9-10

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.
2ND ROUND.

Beaufort, Wednesday,	April	1st.
Wayne, Thompson,	"	4-5
Straits, Summerfield,	"	11 12
Jones, Cypress Creek	"	18-19
Trent, Bethlehem.	"	25-26
Neuse and Swift Creek } Goose Creek.	May	2- 3
Lenoir. } Sharon.	"	9- 10
Newbern cir.	"	16-17
Kinston,	"	23-24
District Conference, La Grange,	"	30-31
Goldsboro,	June	6 7
Snow Hill, Hookerton,	"	13-14
Wilson,	"	20 21
Mount Olive, Providence,	"	27 28
Newbern,

E. A. YATES, P. E
Beaufort, N. C

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.
2ND. ROUND.

Wilmington, Fifth St.	April	4- 5
Magnolia at Providence,	"	11-12
Whiteville at Abbottsburg,	"	18-19
Wilming. on Front St.,	"	25 26
Clinton at Johnson Chapel,	May	2- 3
Kenansville & Baldwille,	"	9-10
Smithville & Bethel,	"	16-17
Topsail,	"	23-24
Elizabeth,	"	30-31
Bladen,	June	6- 7
Onslow,	"	13-14
Cokesbury.	"	20-21

W. S. BLACK, P. E.
Magnolia, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.
2D ROUND.

South Fork Kedesh,	April	11-12
Shelby circuit, Ebenezer,	"	18-19
Shelby Station,	"	25-26
Lincolnton, McKendree	May	2- 3
Rock Spring, Hall's Chapel,	"	9- 10
Dallas Sander's Chapel,	"	1-17
Happy Home & School House,	"	23-24
Morganton, Hillton,	"	30-31
Danube Shoals and South Mt. Mission }	"	30-31
Cherry Mt., Marion and Upper R. River } Capernaum,	June	6- 7
Mission, Newton Concord,	"	13-14
Lenoir, Lenoir,	"	20-21
Ruther ford and C. Mission, }	"	27-28

Rev T. J. Cahill will please attend and assist the preachers on the Lincolnton and Rock Spring circuits. Rev S. B. Trawick, Morganton and 2 man circuits. Rev S. Lentz, Danube Shoals. Rev H T Hall on, Dallas; and Rev P Ackerman, Happy Home.

Dear Brother, may the great Head of the church be with you, to own and bless his word in the salvation of the people.

L. S. BURTRAM, P. E.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.
2ND ROUND.

Hamerton,	April	4- 5
Roanoke at Pierce's,	"	11-12
Roxobel at Shocco Chapel,	"	18-19
Williamston at Mt. Zion,	"	25-26
Plymouth and Jamesville,	May	2- 3
Columbia at Alligator,	"	9 10
Bethel at Bethany,	"	16-17
Smithwick's at Asbury,	"	23-24
Greenville and Washington,	"	30-31
Tarboro at Peppercorne Hall,	June	6- 7

The District Conference will be held at Amity Methodist Episcopal Church commencing May 3d, Rev. R. H. Barton will preach the opening sermon.

WM. GLOVER, P. E.
Granville.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.
2ND ROUND.

Statesville cir. at Hall's Grove,	March	28-29
Mt. Zion cir. at Salem,	April	4- 5
Harrisburg,	"	11-12
Yadkin cir. at Bethesda,	"	18 19
Salisbury,	"	25 26
Salisbury St.	May	2- 3
Mt. Airy Circuit, Mary	"	9 10
Concord, A. S. Station & Sunday	"	16-17
Mocksville at Bethel,	"	23-24
Yadkin cir. at Shiloh Church,	"	30-31
Mt. Gilead cir. at Stony Point	June	6- 7
Richfield at Hopewell,	"	13 14

W. L. WOOD, P. E.
Albemarle.

Died, at his home in Rowan co., March 20th, 1874 Mr. Abram Sauers having reached the good old age of 83 years 1 mos. and 5 days. The promise made to the righteous is a long life was in him fully verified. He was a member of the church over fifty years. For about seven years he belonged to the Lutheran church, but when the Methodist preachers came into this part of the country he heard them, embraced their teachings and connected himself with the Methodist Church, becoming a warm and zealous member of this branch of the church of God. His house has for many years been a home for Methodist preachers, where their wants were supplied, and where they received a warm and hearty welcome. Many of the members of the N. C. Conference will remember with grateful affection the kindness of father Sauers and a good wife, sainted soul as they ever existed on earth. As might be expected, the last days of such a holy and useful life were eminently peaceful and happy. Like an apple fully ripe, ready to be gathered, so this good old "Father in Israel" was fully ready, and sank gently into the arms of rest. During his last illness he murmured not, but spoke of his readiness to go to his upper and better home. He leaves an aged and afflicted companion, together with a number of children and grand children to mourn his departure, and yet to rejoice that he has reached the crown. His aged companion has been confined to her bed over seven years, but soothed and sustained by an unfaltering trust, she is calmly waiting her change. May all the friends of the deceased so live as to meet him in Heaven!

"Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace!"

R. M. Brown.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT
2ND ROUND—QUARTERLY MEETINGS.

Hillsboro at Barbee's	March	28-29
Mt. Tirzah and Eagle Grove,	April	4- 5
Mt. Pleasant Pleasant Green,	"	11 12
Person at Trinity,	"	18-19
Hillsboro at Cedar Grove,	"	25-26
Londonderry at Hebron,	May	2- 3
Yanceyville at Country Shops	"	9-10
Dick's Fork Meeting,	"	16 17
Yanceyville circuit,	"	23-24
Dan River	"	30-31
Pittsboro'	June	6- 7

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Mt. Pleasant, N. C.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT
2ND ROUND.

Union Ch.,	March	27
Pineville,	"	28-29
Providence and Mt. Moriah,	April	4- 5
Pleasant Grove and Mt. Zion,	"	11-12
Concord at Rocky Mount,	"	18-19
Monroe at Mill Grove,	"	25 26
Cheraw and Wadesboro,	May	2- 3
Albemarle and Cedar Grove,	"	9 10
Stanley,	"	16-17
Gastonia at	"	23-24
Wadesboro at	"	30-31
Lilesville, at—	June	6- 7
Yorkville at Mt. Tirzah,	"	13-14
Statesville at	"	20-21
Mt. Pleasant at Mt. Olive,	"	27 28

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
SECOND ROUND—IN PART.

Cumberland, Beaver Creek	March	21-22
Jonesboro', Lillington	"	28-29
Laurinburg, St. John's,	April	4-5
Rockingham, Green Lake,	"	11-12
Carthage, Center,	"	18-19
Johnson Regans	"	25-26

S. D. ADAMS, P. E
Carthage, N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
2ND ROUND—IN PART.

Tar River cir. at Plank Creek	March	14-15
Red Bank cir. at Sandborn,	"	21-22
New cir. at Hallord's,	"	28-29
Allen's cir. at Mt. Pleasant	April	4- 5
Graysville cir. at Mt. Herman	"	11-12
Chesterfield cir. at Henderson	"	18 19

W. H. BOBBITT, P. E.
Cary, N. C.

New Advertisements.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The partnership heretofore existing under the firm of W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO., is dissolved by the decease of our junior partner

THADEUS McGEE.

All parties having claims against the firm will present them for immediate payment, and all who are indebted to the firm, either by note or account, are requested to call and settle by cash.

To Our Old Friends and Customers

We continue to sell. The dissolution of our firm gives us a chance, and I earnestly hope you have kindly patronized us, so, in turn, have endeavored to furnish you with at reasonable prices. Our relationship has been both pleasant and agreeable, and we cannot consent to the dissolution except in the present.

FIRST-CLASS GOODS.

We have heretofore furnished all the accommodations we could, consistent with a proper safety of our funds, and in making the following announcement we do so upon the basis of the

Prices and after this date all Goods of every description belonging to the firm of

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.,

will be sold at

Extremely Low Prices for Cash.

with no room for the dawdling of the business. Partial credit cannot be given. The books are closed.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.

In retiring partners of the late firm of W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.

We take pleasure in calling to the business in Raleigh, have now an opportunity of BUYING OUT a first class business.

DRY GOODS

Merchants who desire purchasing a stock or of rebuilding their stock will never have a better opportunity. As only sell with cash buyers.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER,
Surviving Partners.

april 15 12w

1874. Spring Trade. 1874.

GOODS AT PRICES

To

Compare with the Money Crisis

AT

J. P. GULLEY & BRO'S,

Corner Fayetteville st. and South Exchange Place,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We come again to proclaim the daily arrival of our tenth (10) semi-annual stock of

Foreign and Domestic

DRY GOODS,

Notions, White Goods, Ribbons, &c.

Boots and Shoes

In this Department we can please the public in quality. We keep up our Brand of Ladies' Shoes, war ar ted at $2.50 per pair.

Hats for Gents, Youths, Boys and Children.

Clothing in all grades, from $3.00 to $20.00 per suit

Youths', Boys and Children's clothing a nice variety.

The attention of COUNTRY MERCHANTS is especially called to our Up Stairs Jobbing Department. Call and see our Goods before purchasing.

Very Respectfully,

J. P. GULLEY & BRO.

april 15-tf.

SONGS OF GRACE AND GLORY.

The Very Best Sunday-school Song Book.

By W. F. SHERWIN and S. J. VAIL.

160 Pages.

SPLENDID HYMNS, CHOICE MUSIC, FINE PAPER, SUPERIOR BINDING.

Price in Boards, 35c.; $30 per hundred.

A Specimen copy in Paper cover mailed (if soon as desired) on receipt of Twenty-five Cents.

☞Order filled in the Rotary May 1st.

HORACE WATERS & SON,
481 Broadway, New York.

april 15 6w

FOR REED ORGANS!

THE

ORGAN AT HOME!

This admirable collection of music for Reed Organs should be at home wherever there is a Reed Instrument. Nothing but is not of the very best quality has been allowed in the book, which is more than 300 attractive pieces, compactly printed on large pages. Nothing difficult. Everything nicely fitted to the popular taste.

Price in bds. $2.50. Cl'h. $3.00. Gilt, $4.00

New Method for Reed Organs!

PRICE $2.50. By WM H CLARKE.

A thorough Method containing not only absolute directions and exercises, but a large quantity of the best Reed Organ music, arranged and fitted with Mr. Clarke's well-known exquisite taste and skill. Sells immensely.

Clarke's Dollar Instructor.

FOR REED ORGANS

An excellent and attractive instruction book for those who need a short and easy course.

Sent post paid, on receipt of retail price.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston. C. H. DITSON & CO., 711 B'dway, New York.

NORTH CAROLINA, } In the Superior
CHATHAM COUNTY. } Court.

Petition to sell Lands for Partition

E. P. Herrington in his own right, and as assignee of Jno. Castlebury,

Against

Sims Upchurch and C. W. Lambeth, assignee in Bankruptcy of Sims Upchurch; M. D. Williams and C. L. Harris assignee in Bankruptcy of M. D. Williams; G. J. Williams and Jno. M. Mering, Assignees in Bankruptcy of G. J. Williams; E. D. Counsel, A. G. Council, Theodosia Council, Henry, my Council —— and Council infant heirs at law of P. B. Council; Ada Jernigan, Council infant heir at law of Calvin Council; C. J. Reagan and wife ——; Amelia Council, Jane Council, and Robert Council, heirs at law of Robert Council, dec'd; S. Wynne, Callie Conn, E. Victoria Wynne, M. D. Williams and Alice Ann M. Horton and wife Catherine, Jackson Williams and wife Julia, heirs at law of George Wynne; J. J. Jenkins, W. A. Jenkins, Calvin Jenkins, B. Reid Jenkins, Sandy Williams and wife Mary, Webb, T. C. Sears and wife Tenia, W. H. Mellow and wife Demaris, Jno. Jenkins, Buck Jenkins, heirs at law of Sandford Jenkins; J. R. Stone, G. J. Williams; S. C. Williams, Sandy Williams, M. D. Williams, J. A. Wilson, B. Reid Jenkins and wife Dorothy, Caroline Johnston, Daniel M. Johnston and wife Atelia, Jefferson Sing and wife Matilda Fanny Page, Henry Tyree, Hamilton Tyree, Joseph Tyree, Hookey Tyree and Eliza Tyree, Levi Williams, Nettie Williams, Thomas Williams, Anna Williams, Mollie Williams, Mansfield Williams, Willie L. Williams, heirs at law of Ike or Williams deceased; Caleb Jenkins and Be Reid Jenkins, heirs at law of Sandford Jenkins are not residents of the State of North Carolina but reside out of the State of Mississippi, it is ordered, adjudged and decreed that publication be made by sending by mail to said non-resident defendants on the summons in said cause, and that publication be made in the Raleigh Christian Advocate for six weeks, notifying said parties to appear and answer.

S. T. PETTY, C. S. C.

February 24th 1874.

apl 15 6w

NEW GOODS FOR 1874.

The partnership heretofore existing under the firm of

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.,

is dissolved by the decease of our junior partner

THADEUS McGEE.

All parties having claims against the firm will present them for immediate payment, and all who are indebted to the firm, either by note or account, are requested to call and settle by cash.

To Our Old Friends and Customers

We continue to sell. The dissolution of our firm gives us a chance, and I earnestly hope you have kindly patronized us, so, in turn, have endeavored to furnish you with at reasonable prices. Our relationship has been both pleasant and agreeable, and we cannot consent to the dissolution except in the present.

FIRST-CLASS GOODS.

We have heretofore furnished all the accommodations we could, consistent with a proper safety of our funds, and in making the following announcement we do so upon the basis of the

Prices and after this date all Goods of every description belonging to the firm of

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.,

will be sold at

Extremely Low Prices for Cash.

with no room for the dawdling of the business. Partial credit cannot be given. The books are closed.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.

In retiring partners of the late firm of W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.

We take pleasure in calling to the business in Raleigh, have now an opportunity of BUYING OUT a first class business.

DRY GOODS

Merchants who desire purchasing a stock or of rebuilding their stock will never have a better opportunity. As only sell with cash buyers.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER,
Surviving Partners.

april 15 12w

1874. Spring Trade. 1874.

GOODS AT PRICES

To

Compare with the Money Crisis

AT

J. P. GULLEY & BRO'S,

Corner Fayetteville st. and South Exchange Place,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We come again to proclaim the daily arrival of our tenth (10) semi-annual stock of

Foreign and Domestic

DRY GOODS,

Notions, White Goods, Ribbons, &c.

Boots and Shoes

In this Department we can please the public in quality. We keep up our Brand of Ladies' Shoes, war ar ted at $2.50 per pair.

Hats for Gents, Youths, Boys and Children.

Clothing in all grades, from $3.00 to $20.00 per suit

Youths', Boys and Children's clothing a nice variety.

The attention of COUNTRY MERCHANTS is especially called to our Up Stairs Jobbing Department. Call and see our Goods before purchasing.

Very Respectfully,

J. P. GULLEY & BRO.

april 15-tf.

FLORENCE

The Long-contested Suit of the FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE CO. against the Singer, Wheeler & Wilson, and Grover & Baker Companies, involving over $200,000.

Is finally decided by the Supreme Court of the United States in favor of the FLORENCE, which alone has Broken the Monopoly of High Prices.

THE NEW FLORENCE

Is the ONLY machine that sews backward and forward, or to right and left. Simplest—Cheapest—Best.

SOLD FOR CASH ONLY. SPECIAL TERMS TO CLUBS and DEALERS.

April, 1874. Florence, Mass.

april 15-3t

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS!

Fertilizers—Fertilizers.

SOLUBLE PACIFIC GUANO.

Lister's Standard Super Phosphate of Lime.

We are offering the above standard Guanos, per ton, for a bale of (400 lbs) cotton, payable 1st November 1874, or for $35 cash.

We guarantee all Fertilizers sold by us to be free from adulteration.

Send in your orders early and we will give them prompt attention.

WYATT, BINGHAM & CO., Agents,
Cotton Factors and Commission Merchants,
april 1-tf Raleigh, N. C.

SPRING AND SUMMER

MILLINERY,

1874.

Isaac Ellinger is now in receipt of his fall stock of Millinery, Ladies fancy, furnishing and needle goods, also a full line of real and imitation hair goods, to an inspection of which his friends and customers, are respectfully invited.

april 15-2w

POPULAR AND USEFUL BOOKS

Royal Hatchet, (S. S. Note)	35
Aconcagua " "	35
Bright Jewels, " "	30
Happy Voices, " "	30
The Chart " "	30
The Morning Star " "	30
Pure Gold, " "	30
Songs of Salvation, " "	35
Wesleyan Catechisms No. 1,	40
Wesleyan " No. 2,	75
Wesleyan " No. 3,	1.00
Bibles, (pocket size) from 75 cts. to	2.00
Bibles, Family, from 3.00 to	8.00
Children of the Abbey 12mo cloth,	1.50
Robinson Crusoe, 12mo cloth,	1.50
Shakespeare, 12mo cloth	1.50
Pilgrims Progress, 12mo cloth, pictorial,	1.25
Methodist Hymn and Tune Books, 12mo cloth,	75
Ready Reckoners, from 31 cts to	60
Little Waiters, board covers 50 to	60
Life of Rachel Baxter, 12mo cloth,	1.50
Alice Hathaway, (the best)	1.75
Pictures and Stories (illustrated) from 6cts to	2.00
Methodist Hymn books from 50 cts to	1.00
Baptist Hymn Books, from 75 to	2.50
Presbyterian Hymn Books, from 50 cts	2.50
Episcopal Prayer Books, from 75 cts to	5.00
Photograph Albums, from 75 cts to	6.00
Major Jones Courtship, paper cover,	75
Abbotts Mary Queen of Scotts,	1.20
Abbotts Queen Elizabeth,	1.20
Abbotts Mary Amelia,	1.20
Arnaud's Fables,	1.50
Arthur Keldas Extort, Immort,	1.50

Send 5 cent and add 10 cents on the dollar, and I will send any of the above.

☞Order any other book you want.

L. BRANSON,
Raleigh, N. C.

apr 8 12m

JUST RECEIVED

AT

D. S. WAITT'S,

Ready Made Clothing

FOR

SPRING AND SUMMER.

GO TO D. S. WAITT'S

FOR

BOOTS & SHOES.

A full line just opened

FOR GENTS' FURNISHING

Goods go to

D. S. WAITT'S.

HATS, HATS, HATS.

Full and free throat at

D. S. WAITT'S.

april 8-tf

ZERO.

The Zero Refrigerator

is the best Meat, Fruit, and Ice Cream Preserver in the world.

Send for Illustrated catalogue.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Fisher Building,
Raleigh, N. C.

ARCTIC.

The only ICE CREAM FREEZER warranted to make solid cream in Four Minutes.

Send for illustrated price list.

Hardware House of

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.

april 8-tf

HOUSE FURNISHING HARDWARE

Of every description.

The Largest Stock in the State.

Prices furnished upon application.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Fisher Building,
Raleigh, N. C.

april 8-tf

RECOLLECT.

In reference to the

BRADLEE'S

HANDLED COTTON HOE,

Don't be the only HOE made of Solid Cast Steel—Not Rolled Steel.

We sold in 1873, 500 dozen of these Hoes. We Warrant every HOE perfect in Stock, Temper and Finish.

Hardware House of

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,

april 8-tf

W. M. JONES,

CAREY, N. C.

Contractor, House Builder,

Manufacturer and dealer in dressed Lumber, Sashes, Blinds, Doors, and all other kinds of Building Material.

feb 11-tf

M. T. Norris Late with Len H. Adams.

W. A. Myatt, Jr. Formerly with J. P. Gulley & Bro.

NORRIS & MYATT,

(SUCCESSORS TO LEN H. ADAMS)

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

GROCERS, COTTON FACTORS

—AND—

General Commission Merchants.

No. 1 Exchange Place and No. 5 Martin Street,

They offer to the trade a large and well selected stock of first-class groceries at remarkably low figures to suit the times. They are daily receiving, and have to-day in store, a choice lot of North Carolina Hams.

75 bbls Family Extra Superfine Flour.
50 sacks N 6th Carolina Flour.
300 bushels Corn and Bolted Meal.
51 sacks Salt.
10 bbls Extra A Sugar.
10 bbls Ex. C Sugar.
10 bbls Extra C Yellow Sugar.
10 bbls Orange Syrup.
15 sacks Rio Coffee.
10 kegs Soda.
10 cases Concentrated Lye.
10 cases Cove Oysters.
10 boxes 4 Sanantine Candles.
25 kits Best Leaf Lard
10 4 pounds Pure Assorted Candy
500 pounds Cotton Yarn.
50 kegs Nails.
50 boxes of Durham Tobacco, and a full assortment of goods usually kept in a first class grocery. All needed at very low figures. Our motto: "Quick sales and small profits." A large lot of Boots and Shoes, Hats and Heavy Pants—goods which will be offered at reduced prices. Call and examine our stock before selling elsewhere. Consignments and Country Produce solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

April 1-tf

The Celebrated

"Cotton" Fertilizer.

—GILHAM'S—

S. F. C. PATENTED TRADE MARK

All the work of "HERCHANT'S FERTILIZING COMPANY" is made from the formula of PROF WILLIAM GILHAM is stamped with the above PATENTED TRADE MARK to GUARANTEE it distinct from all others.

Prepared Especially and Solely for the

COTTON CROP,

BY THE SOUTHERN FERTILIZING COMPANY, RICHMOND, VA.

☞Each Species of Plant must have the SPECIFIC FOOD SUITED TO ITS PECULIAR NATURE in order to produce the LARGEST AND MOST REMUNERATIVE RESULTS."

THE HIGHEST TESTIMONIALS received from every direction—from many of the Largest FARMERS—from OPINIONS OF THE PRESS and NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENTS and OTHER DISINTERESTED PARTIES, through the DAILY PAPERS, relative to its splendid action throughout the State.

THIS CELEBRATED

"COTTON" FERTILIZER

has won such a marked and extensive reputation throughout the cotton growing region of North Carolina and Virginia; and has been so extensively used almost annually since it was first introduced that we deem it TOO WELL KNOWN TO REQUIRE ANY PRAISE AT OUR HANDS.

Its Merits Speak for Itself.

By the handsome yield it produces, and the large AVERAGE PROFIT it realizes from its use.

☞Ask your neighbors who have tried it what they think of it. It PAYS A NET PROFIT of

OVER 100 PER CENT

N B—There will be only a certain LIMITED AMOUNT of this Fertilizer manufactured especially for OUR SUPPLY. Our friends, and the trade, will do well to send in their orders at once, to be booked ahead, and then they can order as they may need it.

The "Southern Fertilizing Company" use only the HIGHEST GRADE of suitable materials known to Chemistry, and MAINTAIN AND GUARANTEE a uniform standard.

This Fertilizer is sold by Merchants and Dealers generally, at all the principal Cities, Towns and Stations, throughout North Carolina and Virginia.

SPECIAL AGENTS:

C. W. GRANDY & SONS,

COTTON FACTORS

Norfolk, Va.

We have the exclusive control of the "COTTON" FERTILIZER for North Carolina and southeastern Virginia. This Fertilizer can be had upon the following terms:

Cash Basis.

$60 Per Ton, at our Warehouse. Drayage 50 Cents Per Ton Additional.

Orders for 5 Tons and Upwards 4 Per Cent Discount.
" " 20 " " " 5 " "
" " 30 " " " 6 " "
" " 50 " " " 12 " "

Cash orders must be accompanied by the Cash No discount allowed on Orders under Five Tons.

ON TIME, WITH APPROVED SECURITY

$65 Per Ton at our Warehouse. Drayage 50 Cents Per Ton Additional. Payable 1st November next, without Interest.

Orders for 30 Tons and upwards 10 per cent. Discount.

Orders for 20 Tons and upwards 8 per cent. Discount.

The Discount on time orders to be based on the Cash Value $60 per Ton.

No Discount on Time Orders under 20 tons.

Orders MADE DIRECT or through any Cotton factor, Commission Merchants or Dealers generally will receive prompt attention. Apply or send your orders to any Merchant or Dealer and if they have not got it they will order it for you or the farmers and Planters generally can form CLUBS and send their orders accompanied by the cash for lots of 5, 10, 20, 30 or 50 tons at the above rates of discount, respectively. No discounts allowed except for lots as named above. Allletters of enquiry answered promptly. We do not consider it necessary to ask an order to buy this Fertilizer, but merely to announce HOW AND WHERE it may be had.

ADDRESS

C. W. GRANDY & SONS,
COTTON FACTORS, NORFOLK, VA.

EQUAL AGENTS FOR THE SOUTHERN FERTILIZING COMPANY.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 to 108 East Second St., Cincinnati.

apr 15-12m

DRY GOODS! DRY GOODS!!

D. S. WAITT'S

is the place to get them cheap.

ALF. A. THOMPSON. JAS. D. WHITAKER.

FARMERS' EXCHANGE.

Thompson & Whitaker

Wholesale Grocers and

Commission Merchants.

MARTIN STREET,

GUANOS.

"Soluble Navassa Guano."
"Navassa Tobacco Fertilizer"

AND

Dissolved Phosphate.

Manufactured by Navassa Guano Company at Wilmington, N. C. Guaranteed to meet all the requirements of the late law.

Below are the names of a few who will testify to its merits:

Dr. B. Craven, Trinity College; L. H. Sanders, Johnston county; W. H. McCullough, Johnston county; Dr. David Wood, Johnston county; J. M. Wilson, Wilson's Mills; E. W. Pou, Raleigh; Willis Avera, Johnston county. For sale by

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.

Raleigh, N. C.

Feb 4-12m.

LEACH BROTHERS,

GROCERS AND

Commission Merchants,

Wilmington St., East Side Market Square,

RALEIGH, N. C.

In view of the approaching "Spring season" we have laid in a heavy and well selected stock which we offer to the public at prices corresponding to the scarcity of money, then by giving the retail dealer a good stock for small capital. We offer for cash

11 bbls H. Sugars at 11 1-2c.
10 bbls D. Sugars at 11 1 4.
10 bbls. X. C. Sugars at 11.
10 bbls. extra bright "Fellows," 10 1-2.
10 bbls. extra bright yellow, 10 1-2.
20 bbls prime Rio coffee, 21.
20 bags good Rio coffee, 24.
50 bbls. Super flour at $7.50.
50 bbls Extra Flour, at $8.50.
20 bbls "Snow Flake" Flour," $11.75.
50 boxes "Procter & Gamble's Soap, 60 lbs to box, at 6½ a box.
25 boxes "Leach Bros. Family" soap at 5.25, 80 lbs to box.
20 boxes "Forrasters" lemon crackers 13 1-2.
20 boxes Soda crackers at 10c.
20 bbls "Hose" Potatoes.
20 bbls. "Jackson White" do.
20 bbls "Peach Blow" do.
5 bbls English soda at 7 1-2c.
50 boxes Adamantine candles at 15 1-2.
50 bags "Marshall's Salt" at 2.25.
10 bbls new crop "Cuba Molasses" at 42 1-2.
8,000 lbs bulk sides.
4,000 lbs bulk shoulders.
0 cases Boots and Shoes at cash, 10c freight added.
100 Wilson Cotton Plows the best plow in use.
☞Plows and Castings of every kind.

NOTICE.—We desire to call the attention of our friends to the fact that other merchants in the city are having inferior flour branded "Snowflake" in imitation of our well known brand, for which we are sole agents, and we intend in the genuine unless our brand as Agents is on the head of barrel.

'LOOK FOR THE BRAND."

LEACH BROS.

mar 4-tf.

CANVASSERS and No. of your Lodge wanted to sell the best Organ ever offered. We will convince you of our superior merits. Send Pictures for terms. Odd-Fellows, Knights Templar, Grangers, Soldiers, Mechanics, etc., are making double they could any other way; work pleasanter. J. HALE POWERS & CO., Fraternity & Fine Art Pubs., Cincinnati, O.

Feb 25-12m

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is the Place to Buy

French and Plain Candies,

Foreign and Domestic Fruits,

RAISINS, NUTS, etc.

Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,

Fancy Good. Childrens Toys, Carriages for the Little Folks,

CROQUET SET,

BASE BALLS AND BATS,

Marbles, Tops, and Kites,

All at MOSELEY'S

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN

Genral Commission Merchants

AND

COTTON FACTORS,

Exchange Place (Fisher Building),

P. C. Box 222, RALEIGH, N. C.

Consignments of

COTTON, FLOUR GRAIN, FOREIGN

and other country produce solicited.

General Agents for the sale of James River CEMENT,

every barrel guaranteed equal to the best. Also for the sale of Sheetings and Cotton Yarns from the Deep River Manufacturing Company.

CORN, FLOUR, FORAGE, &c.,

always on hand. Orders for the purchase of cotton solicited.

All business intrusted to us will have strict personal attention and we guarantee promptness and satisfaction.

A. G. LEE,
W. C. McMAKCING.

Sept 16-12m.

GENUINE

PERUVIAN GUANO.

Farmers, Agriculturists and Dealers in Fertilizers have now an opportunity of obtaining this valuable manure in small or large lots, at importers' prices, by applying to the Special Agency just established for the purpose of delivering Genuine Peruvian Guano to consumers at any accessible port or railway station in the country. Full particulars given in Circular mailed free on application to

R. BALCAZAR,
No. 55 Beaver St., New York.

REFERENCES BY PERMISSION.

Messrs. Hobson, Hartado & Co., Financial Agents of the Peruvian Government, 52 Wall St., N. Y.
Moses Taylor, Pres. National City Bank, 52 Wall St., N. Y.
J. C. Tracy, Esq., Peruvian Guano Consul, 36 1-2 Broadway, N. Y.

March 18-3m

Robert T. Gray,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

Raleigh, N. C.

Will give prompt attention to business in the Supreme, Superior, and other Courts of the State.

Refers by permission to

Hon. R. M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.
Hon. Thos. Settle, Associate Justice of

Youth's Department.

The Castle-Builder.

A gentle boy, with soft silken locks,
A dreamy boy, with brown and tender eyes,
A castle-builder with his wooden blocks,
And towers that touch imaginary skies.

A fearless rider on his father's knee,
An eager listener as to stories told
At the Round Table of the nursery,
Of heroes and adventures manifold.

There will be other towers for thee to build,
There will be other steeds for thee to ride,
There will be other legends, and all filled
With greater marvels, and more glorified.

Build on, and make thy castles high and fair,
Rising and reaching upward to the skies:
Listen to voices in the upper air,
Nor lose thy simple faith in mysteries.

For the Little Folks.

BY HATTIECHEN.

"Now, Auntie! we have said our lessons, won't you tell us a story?" asked the sweet voices and bright eyes of Mabel and Edith, while little Pet added her entreaty by laying her curly head on my lap, saying, "Me tory too; nanty."

"You dear little torments! What shall it be?"

'Anything, anything. Oh, look at the snow! we shall have sleighing for our birthday. Please, won't you make us some ice-cream for our little party? you can just let it freeze itself."

"I will see about it."

"I know that means—yes: so let us have the story."

"Not all of you on my lap at once, or you will smother me and the story too.

"When you were talking about ice-cream, it made me think of something I saw in Buffalo last summer—if I tell you about that, will it do well as a story?"

"I guess so;" from complacent Edith, and "Don't know till I hear it," from her more worldly-wise elder sister.

"On a corner of one of the principal streets, a funny little woman had an ice-cream stand. I used to watch her when she brought in her portable warehouse. First, she would dump an old barrel, that held the can, that held the goodies, that were made in the house where the old woman lived—I suppose. Then she would spread out the rest of her arrangements in fine style. There were a grand lot of twist cakes, (not much like grandma's, I think, though I never tasted them, to be sure, and can't tell much about them,) cut and twisted into all sorts of shapes.

"She had her little blue tumblers, saucers and spoons, ranged in an extremely tempting manner. The saucers held the most, and were for the more wealthy and, consequently, aristocratic of her customers. After she had them all nicely fixed, she would step back and view her stock in trade with the same self satisfied look that I have seen a young doctor wear after he had slipped silly across the street to admire the effect of his new sign.

"Fortunately for her, her sweets were more drawing than his plasters and soon morning trade began to open.

"One afternoon there were quite a group of boys around her stand, and the old lady had her hands full attending to them and keeping her eyes open for fear some young rogue would help himself and whisk around the corner. You should have seen the superior air with which one of the boys ate his share. He stood off from the rest, as became a young aristocrat, for he was the fortunate possessor of a saucerful of ice-cream. No fashionable lady would be more oblivious than he, of those that moved in a lower circle. We will not laugh at him, for I have known grown people who base their claim to gentility and position upon just as slight a foundation as his.

"There were some little fellows who were being initiated into the luxuries of life—judging from their wry mouths, they endured it because it was the thing, like 'doing Europe.'

"Skipping the rest of the crowd, my attention was next attracted by a bright eyed little boy. He had found a temporary seat, and was watching the filling and refilling of the little tumblers with great interest.

"There was no envy in his face, only pleasure. I could not help but think from his satisfied look, that he had come honestly by the pennies I saw in his hand, and was proud to use them.—Presently he asked for his ice-cream in a nice, quiet way, and received the answer, 'In a minute.' Instead of saying, as some of the boys did, 'Hurry up, old woman,' it was, 'All right,' in a pleasant voice.

"I was glad to notice that when his turn came, he got as much as the little tumbler could possibly hold, for his politeness.

"Remember, my dears, politeness is never wasted. Just as he was returning to his seat, another boy, smaller than he, came up and said:

"'Halloo, Johnnie! going to have some ice-cream?'

"'Yes, are you? come and sit down here with me and eat it.'

"'No, I can't, haven't got any money, I am dead broke,' said the poor little youngster, looking wistfully at the dish.

"'Never mind, sit here by me and we will go halves,' replied Johnnie with a smile.

"'Oh, no, I won't! think I'd be so mean as to take your ice cream?'

"'Yes, you will; it's awful hot, and 'twill cool us both off,' urged my little friend, 'if you don't, I won't touch a bit.'

This last argument proved too much for him, and he sat down by his friend saying, 'It looks kinder mean.'

"'No it don't; here, open your mouth ain't it good?" and so the little banquet commenced, and was not ended till the last bit was scraped out. The boys went away ever so happy; one because he had pleased another, and the other one because some one had been kind to him. I am sure he said to himself, 'I'll do Johnnie a good turn the first chance I get.'

"Strange that a ragged little child should teach one, who thought herself generous, that the true spirit of unselfishness is sacrifice.

"Another thing I thought strange that people should pass by, unnoticed, such a tableau, where real character and disposition were unconsciously displayed, and crowd to the matinee where they were only mimicked."—Buffalo Advocate.

Rural and Domestic.

The Healthfulness of Lemons.

When people feel the need of an acid if they would let vinegar alone, and use lemons or apples, they would feel just as well satisfied and receive no injury. A suggestion may not come amiss as to a good plan when lemons are cheap in the market. A person should then purchase several dozen at once, and prepare them for use in the warm, weak days of the Spring and Summer when acids, especially citric and malic, or the acid of lemons, are so grateful and useful. Press your hand on the lemon and roll it back and forth briskly on the table to make it squeeze more easily: then press the juice into a bowl or tumbler—never into a tin; strain out all the seeds, as they give a bad taste. Remove all the pulp from the peels, and boil in water—a pint for a dozen pulps—to extract the acid. A few minutes boiling is enough; then strain the water with the juice of the lemons: put a pound of white sugar to a pint of the juice: boil ten minutes, bottle it, and your lemonade is ready. Put a tablespoonful or two of this lemon syrup in a glass of water, and have a cooling healthful drink.

The Age of Horses.

A short time ago we met agent Chaman from Illinois who gave a piece of information in regard to ascertaining the age of horses after they had passed the ninth year, which was new to us, and will be, we are sure to most of our readers. It is this: After the horse is nine years old a wrinkle comes on the upper corner of the lower lid, and every year thereafter he has one well defined wrinkle for every year over nine. If, for instance, he has three wrinkles, he is twelve; if he has four he is thirteen. Add the number of wrinkles to nine, and you will get it. So says the gentleman, and he is sure it will not fail. As a good many people have horses over nine, it is easily tried. If true, the horse dentist must give up his trade.—Field and Fireside.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Sustain the Sinking System.

The flashes of excitement produced by the stimulants in ordinary use, are followed by a reaction that is always more or less injurious. Just as darkness, illuminated for a moment by the lightning's glare, becomes apparently blacker than ever the after the flash is over, so the mental gloom and physical debility that vanish temporarily under the influence of dram, rum with a ten fold intensity when the first transient effect ceases. Yet physical debilitating people the liquors of commerce for gratitude sufferers from bodily weakness and mental depondency. The rare remedy in such cases is a pure tonic and medicated with the finest tonics and alteratives which the vegetable kingdom affords, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the only preparation of general known which thoroughly meets the emergency. The effect of this popular restorative is continuous. Each dose takes invigorates the vital energies and the brain, and its prolonged use will unquestionably cure any case of debility, hypochondria, or mental torpidity that does not arise from organic causes beyond the reach of medicine. It is, in the strictest sense of the word, an invigorating and regulating tonic. If the bowels are torpid or constipated, it relieves them; if the bowels are constipated, it relieves them; if the liver is torpid it promotes activity in that organ; if the mind is gloomy, it clears away the clouds; if the appetite is poor and digestion a slow and painful operation, it creates a relish for food and enables the stomach to convert it into healthful aliment. Moreover, it is a specific for a larger number of ailments, some of which are particularly prevalent in the damp and chilly weather which we so often experience in mid winter. Among these may be mentioned rheumatism, colitis and fever and all the morbid conditions of the digestive and secretive organs superinduced by sudden changes of temperature and the Intermediate or remittent season

April 1–1m.

Our druggist will cost you only 5 cents more with SILVER TIP on that without, and it will add greatly to the cost of the shoe to their wearing value.

April 1 13w

Scientific and Safe Treatment.

When applied with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche and accompanied with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as constitutional treatment, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy produces perfect cures of the worst cases of Catarrh and Ozæna of many years' standing. This thorough course of medication constitutes the only scientific, rational, safe and successful manner of treating this odious disease that has ever appeared to the afflicted. So successful has it proven that the proprietor has long offered a standing reward of $500, for a case of Catarrh which he can not cure.

INDISPUTABLE EVIDENCE.

M. J. Bistor, of South Brooklyn, N. Y., writes that his wife had suffered since a child with Catarrh until it had reached the second stage, when physicians pronounced Consumption; that she has used Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and they have worked wonders with her case

April 14 1 w

ADVERTISEMENTS.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

A Consumptive Cured.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Cannabis Indica. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of consumption that it does not displace—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Hilliteit xpectoration, Sharp Pain in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inertion of the Bowels, and Wasting of the Muscles. Address CHEMICAL & Co., 1852 Race Street, Philadelphia Receiving name of this paper.

Nov. 26 6m.

Mar 22 5 m

DR. T. C. SMITH. A. H. HAMMOND

SMITH & HAMMOND,

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS

CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Just received
10 gallons Kerosene Oil.
10,000 lbs Pure White Lead in Oil.

READ THIS.

I will give any young boy from 10 to 15 years old—living in a town or public place a good opportunity to make from $1 to $3 per day, to work for me. Send stamp for particulars. Address

R. J. POWELL,
April 1-1m Warrenton, N. C.

DR. C. M'LANE'S

CELEBRATED

LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from either of them Pills or Vermifuge will please write their orders distinctly, and take special care to direct as to the place to forward them. The above wishing to give them a trial, we will send one box each, post paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills to each person ordering. Orange or state of Vermifuge for forwarding three cent stamps. All orders from C nada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

Sold by druggists and Country Store keepers generally.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge

Should be kept in every nursery. If your would have your children grow up to be healthy, strong, robust persons Make use of Worms; for them is the direct of

M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE,

TO EXPEL THE WORMS.

Be sure that it is Fleming's

PIANOS, PIANOS, ORGANS.

Nat L. Brown,

DEALER IN

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Agent for HORACE WATERS & SONS' celebrated CONCERTO and ORCHESTRAL ORGANS and PIANOS.

ALSO DEALER IN

Children's Carriages,
Fancy Goods,
Toys,
Baskets,
&c. &c.

BIRDS AND BIRD CAGES.

Confectionaries,
Fruits, Nuts,
Fresh Crackers and Cakes.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to give me a call. Prices suitable to the times.

NAT L. BROWN,
Raleigh, N. C.

Illustrated Catalogue of Pianos and Organs mailed.

jan 14 –tf

THE PATRIOT

PUBLISHED WEEKLY

AT GREENSBORO N C,

BY DEFFY & ALBRIGHT.

WAS ESTABLISHED IN 1821!

Is the oldest and one of the best Newspapers in the State, and an excellent advertising medium.

P. F. DUFFY, } Editors and Proprietors.
JAS. W. ALBRIGHT, }

TERMS—Cash invariably in advance:
One year $2.25 months $1.25
Any person sending five subscribers will receive one copy gratis. Specimen copies free.

ODELL, RAGAN & CO.,

Wholesale Dealers in General Merchandise,

GREENSBORO', N. C.

We call the attention of the merchants of North Carolina to the fact that we have opened our large wholesale house, and that we are prepared to sell them goods as cheap as they can buy in any market. We are the agents for Cocr Falls, Deep River, Randleman and Altamance Manufacturing Co's. Sheeting, Yarns, Plaids and Speckled Ruse. Parties ordering their goods will get them as cheap from us as if they order directly from the factory. We also sell Selen Jeans of factory prices. Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

Feb 4 12m.

R. F. JONES & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C

COMMISSION MERCHANTS, COTTON FACTORS

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Wilmington Street opposite Mercer House,

In the retail sale department they offer to the trade a large stock of first class groceries at prices that have and will continue to attract the trade. They have in store

1,200 Gals. S H Syrup.
150 Sacks Rose Liverpool Salt.
1,200 Pounds cream Cheese.
300 Bushels mixed Nuts.
100 Cases Soaps—all brands—fresh.
1,000 Pounds pure candy, assorted.
25 Barrels Mixed Pickles.
10 Bbls. sun Fresh Peaches.
50 Bbls. Superfine and Family Flour.
3000 Pounds Family Soap.
25 Boxes Adamantine Candles.
10 Bbls. Boxes Axle Grease.
72 Gross Masons Blacking.
50,000 Water Proof Percussion Caps.

Powder, Shot, Snuff, Tobacco, Soda, Spice, Pepper Teas, &c., &c.

Bulk Meat and Breakfast Strips, and a full assortment of other goods generally sold in grocery stores. Call and examine the quality of their goods and price. Consignment of produce solicited.

apl 15-6m

OPIUM EATERS!

We have been cured. If you wish sure and painless relief, address us, (sole Southern Agents for Squire's "Opium Cure") with return stamp, at Selma, Ala.

DR. H. S. PAISLEY.
DR. E. C. DUNKLIN

March 4-6w

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

This world-celebrated Medicine is warranted to contain a single particle of MERCURY, or any injurious mineral substance, but is containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

PURELY VEGETABLE.

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine,

Is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time of doctors' bill.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, all climates and changes of water and food may be faced without fear. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA,

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA.

Price, $1.00. Sold by all Druggists.

Feb 18 12m

FURNITURE.

W. H. Morris & Co.

No. 3 Fayetteville Street,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealer in all kinds of furniture, such as Walnut Chamber Suits, Cottage Chamber Suits, Parlor Suits, Dining Room Suits, Bedsteads, Bureaus, Wardrobes, Washstands, Tables, Chairs, Safes, Looking Glasses, Beds, of various patterns, Cribs and Cradles in great variety of styles, patterns and prices. Wood and Mattress for sale cheap.

Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

Oct 29-6m. W. A. MORRIS & CO.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes

BEFORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Large Opera Glasses rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent statesmen, orators, scholars and divines have had Pinhead sight permanently Restored for life, as I can prove by the following named:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sighted ness, or Inability to see clearly either Near or Far off; 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4 Epiphora, Brushing or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups; cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or Imperfect or Morbid Vision, the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9 Overworked Eyes; 10. Blood-shot—meeting specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight.

Any one can use the IVORY EYE CUPS without the aid of a doctor or medicine, so as to receive immediate beneficial results, or discover what spectacles or if any, he may need to lay them aside forever. We guarantee cures in every case where the directions are followed or will refund the money.

200 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Merchants and Mechanics—and some of them of the most exalted standing professional or business men, and women of culture and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 22 Rev. D. Lore, formerly, of the New York Tribune, writes: "Dr. Ball, during the cures and tests and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof. W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 25th, 1873: "Without any experience I can say your invention, and, using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and find them all I could desire. Two gentlemen of this place purchased of me, and are delighted with them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salvisa Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest relief in all farmhouse, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years."

Mrs. E. Wyeth, M. D., Alchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by your Polished Ivory Eye Cups, restored my eyesight in exactly a three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYE AND EAR, of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No. 21 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worse cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC A TACHMENTS, applied to the Eye Cups. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlet and certificates—free. Wants to make money by selling Ball's Eye Cups. Call and see us and distributing our lists.

AGENTS WANTED.

Employment for All. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 21 LIBERTY STREET,
NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

Foolish speculators may push for chimney cures protected by SILVER TIPS. Two weeks is about the time for a smart, active child to test the value of a shoe. SILVER TIPS the only protection against Wear.

March 25 3w

Established 1810.

E. S. PAYNE. E. N. PAYNE. D. W. PAYNE.

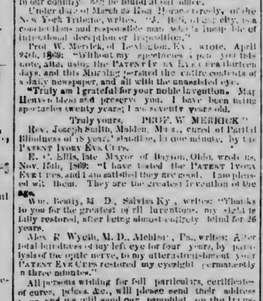
H. W. PAYNE & SONS

Corning Foundry and Machine Shop

CORNING, STEUBEN CO., N. Y.

Manufacturers of

Stationary Engines, Boilers and



Spark-Arresting Portable Engines

For Plantation Use.

Delivered Free on Board Ship in New York City.

Send for Circular.

Feb 25-12m

PARENTS REDUCE YOUR SHOE BILLS TWO THIRDS BY BUYING

Silver Tipped Shoes.

Feb 18-6m

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Thursday, Jan. 11th, 1874

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS
Leave Charlotte.....	4 31 P. M.	8 55 A. M.
" Statesville.....	7 15 "	8 50 "
" Salisbury.....	11 09 "	10 47 "
" Greensboro'.....	5 45 A. M.	1 15 P. M.
" Danville.....	9 28 "	5 37 "
" Burkeville.....	1 49 "	8 06 "
Arrive at Richmond..	3 52 P. M.	9 02 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS
Leave Richmond.....	1 45 P. M.	8 35 A. M.
" Burkeville.....	4 58 "	8 28 "
" Danville.....	9 52 "	1 05 P. M.
" Greensboro'.....	1 18 A. M.	4 06 "
" Salisbury.....	4 56 "	6 23 "
" Air-Line Junc'n.	6 22 "	8 01 "
Arrive at Charlo, &c.,	6 55 A. M.	9 09 "

GOING EAST.	STATIONS.	GOING WEST
Leave Greensboro'.....	7 05 A. M.	Arrive 12 35 A.M.
" Stokes.....	9 55 "	10 05 "
" Raleigh.....	3 30 "	6 40 "
Arrive at Goldsboro'		Leave 8 40 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'..... 4 45 P. M.
Arrive at Salem..... 6 55 P. M.
Leave Salem..... 8 00 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'..... 10 00 A. M.

Mail trains daily, both ways.

Old Dominion Line Steamers leave Richmond at 3 P. M., arrive at Norfolk at 12 30 P. M., leave Norfolk at 4 30 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7 45 A. M.

Pullman Palace cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, (without change.)

Papers Can have consignments to either the Secretaries of this company will please print as above for further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. E. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad will run daily (Sundays excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh..... 9.35 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon..... 3.20 P. M.
Leaves Weldon..... 9.55 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh..... 4.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh..... 4.35 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon..... 9.40 A. M.
Leaves Weldon..... 2.45 P. M.
Arrives at Raleigh..... 7.55 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Southern and Roanoke Railroad and the Seaboard Air Line for all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, and Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad for all points South and Southwest.

Accommodation train connects at Weldon with Roanoke and Petersburg Railroad for Norfolk and all points on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Portsmouth, and with the Seaboard Air Line for Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

Close connections and Freight Trains connect at Weldon with Accommodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad for Portsmouth, Norfolk &c.

And at Raleigh with accommodation and Freight trains on the Seaboard Air Line and Augusta Air-Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen'l Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

[illegible] 1873.

[illegible] P. M.
[illegible] A. M.
[illegible] A. M.
[illegible] P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh..... 3.05 P. M.
Arrives at [illegible]..... 8.20 "
Leaves Sanford..... 10.15 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh..... 3.30 P. M.

Mail Trains make close connection at Raleigh with the Raleigh and [illegible] Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

Accommodation and Freight Trains connect with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c.,

Opposite Tucker Hall,

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N C

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Burnett's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern states, just received at

PESCUD, LEE & CO'S
Drug Store.

jan 14-tf

PIEDMONT & ARLINGTON

LIFE

INSURANCE CO.,

OF VIRGINIA.

POLICIES ISSUED [illegible] - - - - - 20,000
$1,500,000

Expense of management, less than that of any Company in America.

Over $300,000 paid for widows and orphans. Rate low and 32 per cent. dividend of 1873 to be paid in 1874. She is the only Southern Company that has passed the Insurance Department of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, &c., and has established successful agencies in those States.

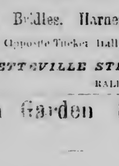
DR. C. D. EL E, General Agent
Raleigh, N.

June 11-12m.

JAMES LEFFLE'S

IMPROVED DOUBLE

Turbine Water Wheel.



POGE & HUNT, Baltimore.

MANUFACTURERS FOR THE SOUTH AND SOUTHWEST.

Nearly 7,000 now in use, working under heads varying from 2 to 210 feet, of 24 sizes, from 5½ to 96 inches.

The most powerful Wheel in the Market,
And most economical in use of water.
Large ILLUSTRATED Pamphlet sent post free.

MANUFACTURERS ALSO, OF

Portable and Stationary Steam Engines and Boilers, Babcock & Wilcox Patent Safe-tubular Boiler, Blanchard's Cranes for Minerals, Saw and Grist Mills, Flouring Mill Machinery, Machinery for White Lead Works and Oil Mills, Shafting Pulleys and Hangers.

SEND FOR CIRCULARS.

Feb 25-6m

Mothers, Mothers, Mothers.

Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for all diseases incident to the period of teething in children. It relieves the child from pain, cures wind colic, regulates the bowels, and by giving relief and health to the child, gives rest to the mother. Be sure and call for

"MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP."

For sale by all druggists

June 25-1y.

W. W. GUTHRIE
R. Cokefield, N. C.

GEO. A. NEWELL
Wilmington, N.

"BLEES"

Link Motion, Lock-Stitch, Shuttle

NOISELESS

Hems, Braids, Gathers, Tucks, Ruffles, Cords, Binds, Frills, Quilts, Gathers, &c., &c.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

Uses the shortest needle, and rocks the greatest range and variety of work of any machine ever before offered to the public.

Challenges the world in perfection of work, strength and beauty of stitch, durability of construction and rapidity of motion.

Reliable agents wanted for every county in the State, to whom liberal terms will be given.

NEWELL & GUTHRIE, General Agents
No. 5 South Front Street,
Wilmington, N. C.

nov 29-1f

ÆTNA FIRE CO.

Assets, $5.782.635.09.

W. H. CROW, Agent,

Raleigh, N. C.

mar 6–12m.

ÆTNA LIFE COMPANY,

JANUARY 1873.

ASSETS, - - - $15,077 34 65

Represented in North Carolina, and Va. South of James River by W. H. CROW, Manager.

Office: Raleigh.

WILLIAM ON, UPCHURCH & THOMAS

WHOLESALE GROCERS

AND

Commission Merchants,

FAYETTEVILLE ST.,

BUILT UP MECHANICSVILLE.

R. F. WILLIAMSON,
W. H. UPCHURCH,
J. J. THOMAS, JR.

RALEIGH, N. C.

oct 1-1y

WATSON'S GALLERY

—OF—

PHOTOGRAPHIC ART,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is one of the most complete and extensive Photographic establishments in the South, where every style of Photographic likeness is executed in the highest style of the art, from the large Portrait, colored in oil, down to the likeness of a deceased relative or friend, you can have it enlarged and colored to nature. Photographic Albums and Picture Frames always on hand, in great variety, at low prices. When you come to Raleigh, do not fail to call at WATSON'S GALLERY 2nd door above Tucker Hall.

J. W. WATSON.

Dec 18-12

THE VICTOR SEWING MACHINE TRIUMPHANT!

It is the very best Machine in the world, and has taken the first premium at every Fair wherever it has been exhibited!

Our New Patent Shuttle is the Simplest and only Perfect one in use.

Its Only Lock-Stitch Machine that has a Self-Setting Needle.

It is a straight and self-setting needle. The finest needle can be used. No breakage of needles. No difficulty in threading the shuttle. No tension required. It has no springs, wires or cogs. The latest improved drop feed. The shuttle produces a reversible, lock stitch, alike on both sides. No other machine if you want the best.

Persons now will find it to their interest to call before buying elsewhere. We guarantee satisfaction in every case or no sale required. Will exchange machines for anything we have for sale. Will refer to over one thousand persons who have purchased machines of us.

Agents now in the field will please report. Don't buy any other Machine.

Address, [illegible] BERNHEIM,
Agents, Greensboro, Randolph Co., N. C.
Agent for Central North Carolina.

oct 1—1y

STAINED GLASS WORKS

[illegible] Fulton St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Specimen Sent on application.

mar 20—12m.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the Patent Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, LOWER DOORS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free,

VANDUZEN & TIFT,

102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati.

apr 16—12m.

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS.

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons selling to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Schipman' Irving Block.

oct 1, 25 6m.

A new work of intense INTEREST and intrinsic VALUE

OCEAN'S STORY.

By the gifted son of the famous "Peter Parley."

A graphic History of Ocean navigation, Adventure and Discovery since the Ark. Replete with startling yet exact, fearful disasters, perilous perils, &c. Above all the WONDERS BENEATH the sea, Diving, Dredging, Pearl fishing, &c., 220 spoiled illustrations. Agents just started report 700 orders in four days. 127 in five days, 75 in two days &c., sells wonderfully fast. 3000 Agents Wanted. Send for full description and circulars, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, 738 Sansom St., Phila.

Sept 15-12m.

FOR SALE.

A fine Carriage, two single Dump Carts, a set of Carriage Harness and Harness for the Carts. Sold together or separately. Apply early to

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN.

Feb 18-tf

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

NO. 141 BROADWAY,

NEW YORK.

Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK, President.
S. P. FACKLER, Actuary.

Wm. M. OOLE, Secretary.
DANIEL AYRES, M.D., LL.D., Med. Director

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES.

In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium

THE BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation FOR JUDGMENT in INVESTMENT, ECONOMY OF MANAGEMENT, AND CARE IN THE SELECTION OF RISKS.—upon which the safety and success of a Life-Insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of the policies, each and every year, and in a certain legal standard of reserve and accumulation must be held by the Companies to meet all their liabilities

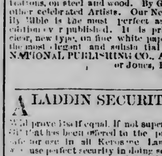
Insurers in looking around for Companies in which to insure, should carefully see for this important safeguard. IT WILL BE FOUND IN THE BROOKLYN LIFE

WM. LITTLE, M.D., MEDICAL EXAMINER

A. W. LAWRENCE,

General Agent for North Carolina,
Office at Raleigh.

may 18–tf



W. S. MOORE
Greensboro', N. C.

Keeps on hand and has had unexpected sales of the CELEBRATED

MASON & HAMLIN

—AND—

PRINCE & CO.,

CHURCH & PARLOR ORGANS.

These are the oldest Makers of America Organ, over since 1291.00 made and in use. Samples kept to wait sale. Prefer to sell only to whom I sold Rev. J. Rumple, Salisbury, A. Green, W. J. Lovelace, Sig Bis, Bowles, Chunes, Madison, Winston Baptist Church, Reidsville, Meth Churches, Pelham, Raleigh and Thomas Ely, Pinel & L. Wright, do. In Guilford, John Wharton, W. D. Wharton, C. W. Andrews, Dr. Coble, Dr. Wm. J. Peebles, Meth. and Presby. S. S. and Guard Temples, each Dress shore. Friendship Church, W. A. Pound, Rev. Blair's, Mr. A. S. Brown, Rev G. W. Rounds Lenoir, Epis. S. S. Lookerville, &c., A. Whitsett. Buy of me. You can save money in freight.

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Successors to Wyatt, Green & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Cotton Factors,

Commission, Shipping

And Forwarding Merchants.

No. 4 Exchange Place and Martin St.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Cotton and satisfaction guaranteed.

Country produce of all kinds of country produce solicited.

All debts for or against the late firm of Wyatt, Green & Co. will be settled and disbursed as my separate one, by us.

WYATT, BINGHAM AND CO.,

dec 6-6m Raleigh, N. C.

Book Agents

WANTED FOR THE

Illustrated Family Bible:

Containing the Old and New Testaments, Apocrypha, Concordance and Psalms in Metre. Also, Dr. Wm. Smith's compact Dictionary of the Bible, a History of the religious Denominations of the World; Ecclesiastical and other valuable Tables; History of the United States; Family Record & Marriage Certificate Family Record, Marginal References etc. etc. Embellished with over 500 fine Scripture Illustrations, on steel and wood. By Gustave Dore, and other celebrated Artists. Our New Illustrated Family Bible is the most perfect and com

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 16. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 22, 1874. WHOLE NO. 1,014.

Selected Poetry.

The Long Ago.

Advertisements.

Our Irish Letter.

Reply to "Examiner."

THE HER EDUCATION.

According to the culture of Harvard and Berlin, "Examiner" has shown bad taste in his manifest attempt to provoke "Senior" to say one thing more of Prof. Blake and Major Bingham. Bad logic in using the "Argumentum ad hominem." an Unpardonable sin in permitting personal dislikes to falsify current history. His reply contains the following items: Second-rate Universality culture; success of University men; many advantages, and Methodist inferiority.

If "Examiner" believes the Faculty at Trinity, man to man, inferior to the Faculty of any other institution, his want of knowledge is equal only to his desire to believe what he himself wishes to be true, and his display of ignorance of the scholars of his own State which was not above criminality. This is a serious charge to make, but it is made, and we prefer to impress the information on the mind, with an exhibition of such fairness and other gentlemanly qualities, as to render them unobjectionable. This is purely a question of capacity, endowment and growth. I give a compliment paid to Dr. Craven, by a distinguished gentleman, and whoever has, in any way, had any intercourse with the Doctor, is prepared to recognize the truth of the description. "For originality, vigor of thought, grasp of intellect, and constructive ability, in any and every field of mental action, I am not of to-day have a reputation equal to Dr. Craven." Prejudice itself can scarcely deny this, and hostility has been and will again be compelled to admit it, either in justice or dread. Examiner ought to know that detraction and personal abuse never crush any real man, and that sometime the Colossus of these base we pass [illegible]

As to [illegible] say nothing else [illegible] me to the [illegible] University partisans would [illegible] The grades of scholarship [illegible] as they ever were at [illegible] The Text book scholarship in general acquaintances with men and things; in Belles Lettres teaching, in grace of manners; in ease in society and everywhere else except in the [illegible] or at the Whist table.

As to university success, let "Examiner" compare the university men with Trinity men in the Church or any other arena, taking men of the same age &c. Then let our Learned and fifty universally adrnit, which is the number Trinity now has, and see which institution has the most utter failures. I prefer, however, and it accords with our "readiness" to argue the merits of Trinity upon principles, not by making odious comparisons. Trinity needs money truly; but I assert and defy contradiction, that the Legislature of Appropriations are practically as good at Trinity as it ever were at the university with the exception of four or five best men. I do not write to praise Trinity, but to head up any possible improvements in classes.

"Examiner" says the Methodist Church has no men competent to conduct a first class Institution. Miserable dictu!! Poor Methodism!! Poor, ignorant Methodists!! Fortunate all others! If "Examiner" is a Methodist, his unparalleled self-depreciation can only be accounted for by consuming envy or blind hate:

"The envy'd one swells with the heart and bites,
Corrupts the soul, and renders it asham'd to it.
While hate's the Demon that enfolds
That still is rivals shall be Cains.

If he is not a Methodist his sectarianism is sublimely impudent. Methodism is equal to any other denomination on the globe in profoundest scholarship, originality, cultivation, polish and every other acquirement or accomplishment as to head, heart, or action, and the North Carolina Conference is equal in quality if not in quantity to any Conference of the Church. The fact is Methodism is better adapted to building, constructing and developing higher Institutions than any other denomination. Others have been at work, much longer, with State Treasuries to help them. Methodism has carved her own name, nurtured her intellect, and polished her powers 'till to day she defies competition and scorns detraction." Ten thousand "Examiners" may calumniate, and maliciously debase her powers, and vilify her intellect, but, like the goat on the neck of the ox, their aspersions are not felt, their criminations not perceived. The Methodist Church has conquered too many theological giants to yield, in the day of her strength, to chattering dwarfs! She has ploughed through the waves of too many tempestuous oceans, to sink in a mud-hole!

The action of the Legislature in reference to our "Institutions of Higher Grade" simply shows the wishes of a few. Whenever the people are asked for money to support it, then the pretence that we have no Institutions of High Grade will receive an emphatic answer. I have only to ask what was the University in a moral view, and what is Trinity? There is no imputation, that has a better moral character than Trinity. There is not at present, a single student, who uses intoxicating drinks—thanks to the "good Templars," and the prospect is, that there never will be any more intoxication at all among us. The young gentlemen themselves have discountenanced all such immoralities, and when students undertake to suppress an evil, it is accomplished sooner and a great deal more satisfactorily than all the college laws that can be published!

"Examiner's" reply is nothing but the mad slogan of opposition. Instead of a clear, scholarly statement, it is an appeal to prejudice it calls for the stabbeth of taste, instead of the tests of merit. It would have done for a theological tract of 1697, to excite passions, and make assertions, without attempting proofs, but for 1871, it will not accomplish his purposes, viz: to injure the Conference Colleges, to underrate Conference men, and to defame Methodism, at the same time that he ridicules college alumni.

Finally he says, "The writer signs himself Senior &c." If by that he means to imply that I am not now a Senior at Trinity or that I utter any sentiment but my own, in the language of Chatham, "I shall treat it as a calumniator and a villain, nor shall any protection shelter him from the treatment, which he deserves."

"A SENIOR."

For the Advocate.
From the West

DEAR BRO. ROBERTS: McDowell Co. lies immediately South and South East of the Blue Ridge, West of Burke and North of Rutherford counties. The surface of the country is hilly and Mountainous interspersed with beautiful plains, vallies, plateaus and coves. The soil is very rich, even the slopes of the hills and mountains, and, when properly cultivated, produce all kinds of grain, grasses, fruits, tobacco, vegetables, and even cotton, with proper culture. There is a large beautiful streams affording ample water powers for extensive manufacturing establishments.

I have never seen any part of the world for which the beneficent Being has done more for the prosperity and happiness of man than for this sub Mountain country. It needs the energetic appliances of the skillful cultivator in the agricultural department, the bold and judicious skill of the mechanist, and of the manufacturer, in order to yield a handsome dividend. The raising of cows, horses, mules sheep, wool, cheese and butter, all may be made lucrative pursuits. Timber and mineral of many useful varieties abound. Land may be purchased at from one to twenty-five dollars per acre.

The water is pure, the climate delightful, and the scenery grand.

No part of the world is better adapted to educational purposes. Living is cheap and health unsurpassed, and in every direction the eye beholds objects to call forth admiration for its Creator.

Now, summarily speaking, no honest man need expect to prosper here without labor. With this judiciously applied he may rightfully expect all that man need wish for on earth. Hundreds are eking out an existance in crowded cities, or sickly, or poor regions of country, who, if they were on a farm in this healthy climate, might be a blessing to themselves and families.

The High School at Marion offers very desirable educational facilities to young ladies. I have given you the above plain facts of the country as I conceive them, because many have asked for them. S. R. TRAWICK.

Marion Apr. 12th.

A preacher down in the Bald Mountain district of North Carolina, used to pray that the Lord would shake the earth, and rouse the people to a sense of their sins. When the ground did actually begin to tremble however, our redoubtable friend was so frightened that he fled in dismay.

Some of us are accustomed to supplicate that the Lord's Kingdom might come. Suppose it should actually come, and our little worldly plans, and seeks and arrangements generally should begin to totter, would we have courage to stand and see it?—Church Union.

PAUL EMANUEL HYACINTHE LOYOLA is the name of Pere Hyacinthe's son. He was recently baptized. Supplemental to the baptism, the forehead and breast of the infant were anointed and signed with the sign of the cross. Salt was put in the mouth, and a bit of saliva on the ears and nostrils. A white robe was placed on the child, and a small lighted candle in his hand. A curious Old Catholic baptism, and one that could scarcely be distinguished from any that might have been administered by a genuine priest of his holiness Pius the Ninth.

Selected.

Cremation.

The papers are discussing whether or not it will be best to burn the bodies of the dead, instead of burying them. Scientific journals contend that our cemeteries are the means of unhealthy exhalations, and that cremation is the only safe way of disposing of the departed. Some have advocated the chemical reduction of the physical system.

We have, as yet, been unable to throw ourselves into a mood sufficiently scientific to appreciate this proposal. It seems to us partly horrible and partly ludicrous. We think that the dead populations of the world are really the most quiet and unharmful. They make no war upon us, and we need make no war upon them. We are very certain that all the damage we shall ever do this world, will be while we are animate. It is not the dead people that are hard to manage, but the living. Some whistle to keep their courage up while going by grave yards; we whistle while moving among the wide awake. Before attempting this barbaric disposal of the human form as a sanitary improvement, it would be better to clear the streets and "commons" of our cities of their pestiferous surroundings. Try your cremation on the dogs and cats with extinct animation. We think Greenwood is healthier than Broadway, and Laurel Hill than Chesnut street, Pere la Chaise than Champs Elysees. Urns, with ashes scientifically prepared, may look very well in Madras or Pekin, but not in a Christian country.

Not having been able to shake off the Bible notions about Christian burial, we adhere to the mode that was observed when the bones of Moses were deposited in Shechem, and devout men carried STEPHEN to his burial. Better not come around there with your chemical apparatus for the reduction of the human body. We give fair warning, that if your philosopher attempts such a process on our bones and we are of the same way of thinking as now, he will be sorry for it!—T. DE WITT TALMAGE, in Christian at Work.

The Sunday School.

BY BISHOP JANES.

The Sunday school furnishes for children the best possible human association. "He that walketh with wise men shall be wise." In the Sunday school of to-day are found the best men and women in the church or in the world. They may not profess so much as others, or talk so much about it, but they are found in the higher life. Their influence upon the children is most blessed. The company in which the children are thus placed should be carefully guarded by each pastor. In the respect the Sunday school is one of the grandest auxiliaries that God has furnished for the elevation of the race. Restraining children from vice and folly is better than recovering them after they have fallen. Here they are taught principles of temperance, industry, and frugality as religious virtues. Here the future nation are taught to keep the Sabbath day holy. There is no safety for the country but in the preservation of this divine institution. It should not be made a burden to the children. They should have the Sabbath employment, and that the Sabbath school furnishes. They should have the best of the day, and the best room in the church. Make the Sabbath a delight to them.

The launching of a child upon its endless career is an event without parallel in interest. The morning stars sang together when the world was created; yet that event was less important than the entrance of one child upon life. The one is inanimate, the other animate; the one is unconscious, the other conscious; one is reasoning, the other unreasoning; one is transient the other eternal. The interest is enhanced by the dangers that are incurred. Every little human being launched forth into life is destined for the life immortal. If there is so much interest in one child, how great is that of the childhood of this nation! More than ten millions in this country are under ten years of age; over five millions under five; more than half the nation under twenty years of age.

Where, then, is the minister that will not preach to children? Hunt him out! Where is the ease-taking Christian that would not give half a day on the Sabbath to the instruction of the children? The Sunday school teachers should go to his house in a body, and hold a prayer meeting for him. There is no more important or grander work for the pastor and for the church—none that will give greater returns for God and his cause. Jesus died for every one of these children, and bids the church seek and save them. Oh, that a baptism of the Holy Ghost may so come upon the church as to make us devote ourselves to this work as it deserves!

Christ Seeking Men.

Then, Christ did not sit to receive men, but went out after them. He was not the man who would sit at the New Haven House and receive callers, but go into the ways and lanes of society to find them. He did not unite himself to the race in a generic sense only, but joined himself to human wants and weaknesses. It is the nature of divinity to join it self to the lowest human imperfections in order to lift it up. If I could have known this years ago, it would have saved me much trouble and anguish. I thought of Christ as standing beyond a line of conditions, and did not hope to enjoy his companionship till I had passed that line. I spent years in endeavors to reach him. Oh, if I had only known it is his nature to come to me, that he was mine already, because I am sinful and need him. Yet this is the nature of Divine Love, to let himself down to us. Oh, take away my Jehovah but don't take away my Jesus! I can behold God and venerate and admire him, but his greatness makes me tremble and shiver. Give me a Jesus that knows my trials and weakness, and will treat me just as my mother did—wait till I have grown out of childhood, helping me all the time.—Beecher.

Christian Life.

DECISION.—Two men may be led by nearly the same path into those soul pangs which accompany conviction of sin, and yet the two men may follow opposite courses in Life, and meet opposite rewards in eternity. It is not how you fall into the pains of conviction that fixes your state, but how you get out of them. How you are healed, is the turning-point of the loss or saving of the soul. Instead of seeking healing in accepting Christ his Savior, Felix sought ease by stifling the preacher's voice—quenching the Spirit who spoke in the preacher.

ARNOT.

An honest desire to know the way of life is the best qualification to learn of Him who spake as never man spake. Become as a little child, conscious of weakness, and willing to be instructed and you will easily learn from the Divine Teacher a higher wisdom than was ever taught in the most renowned schools of human philosophy. Receive the word of Christ as a personal message to your own heart; appropriate to yourself the merits of his death as fully as if you were the only sinner in the world for whom he died, and you will easily learn how to be saved.—Works and Homes of Jesus.

THE CHILD AND THE MAN.—If I did not believe in the power of divine love, I should never want to see another child born into the world. His life is a wonderful thing. We can hear the clanking of the loom as the fabric is woven, but we see not the figures that are wrought in it. We teach the child skill and knowledge, and each faculty receives special education. Thirty or forty tendencies must be held in equilibrium. It is difficult to drive one fiery horse with ease; no one can keep twenty to their paces. Here is a man with fiery passions, even intoxicated at times; all these must be adjusted in rectitude and proportion, right in themselves but wrong by their combinations, by excess or by diminution. What a moral force is necessary to co ordinate each part of such a man, the creature of two worlds, that he shall look across the gulf and so order every act of life as to land safely on the other side! His life is a vast problem, and there is nothing like it. The pressure is immense, and it is difficult to form a life for God and for eternity.—Beecher.

THE NIGHT COMETH.—Is it possible to do too much for Jesus? Is there any danger that Christians will over task themselves in the service of their Master? Ought we to impose any restraint upon ourselves when the Lord calls, lest in our zeal to follow Him we overstep the limits of the strength which He has given us? Some of our modern writers even seem to think that the church needs to be cautioned lest its more active members abound too much in Christian work.

We do not believe that one Christian worker in a hundred breaks down from excess of work for Christ. Christ would have us feel that self sacrifice is the law of Christian living, and that to work while the day lasts, doing all with one's might, should be the burden of every Christ like soul. For the night cometh when no man can work. —Carolina Treasury.

WISDOM OF SILENCE.—A courier of Alexander the Great paid a visit to the studio of Apelles, the celebrated painter, and was received with the consideration due to his rank. This excited his vanity, and unhappily he talked about the art of painting, exposing his ignorance in a variety of questions and criticisms. Apelles interrupted him at length in a low voice: "Do you see those boys that are grinding my colors? While you were silent, they admired you, dazzled with the splendor, of the purple and gold with which your habit glitters; but ever since you began to talk about what you do not understand, they have done nothing but laugh at you."

Dr. Guthrie's Method of Pulpit Preparation.

I used the simplest, plainest terms, avoiding anything vulgar, but always, where possible, employing the Saxon tongue—the mother tongue of my hearers. I studied the style of the addresses which the ancient and inspired prophets delivered to the people of Israel, and saw how, differing from dry dispositions or a naked statement of truths, they abounded in metaphors, figures and illustrations. I turned to the gospel, and found that he who knew what was in man, what could best illuminate a subject, win the attention and move the heart, used parables or illustrations, stories, comparisons, drawn from the scene of nature and familiar life, to a large extent in his teachings, in regard to which a woman type of the masses—said: "The parts of the Bible I like best are the 'likes.'"

Taught by such models, and encouraged in my resolution by such authorities, I resolved to follow, though it should be at a vast distance, these ancient masters of the art of preaching, being all the more ready to do so as it would be in harmony with the natural tune and bias of my own mind. I was careful to observe by the faces of my hearers, and also by the account the more intelligent of my Sunday class gave of my discourses, the style and character of those parts which had made the deepest impression, that I might cultivate it.

After my discourse was written I spent hours in correcting it, latterly always for that purpose keeping a blank page on my manuscript opposite a written one, cutting out dry bits, giving point to dull ones, making clear any obscurity, and narrative parts more graphic, throwing more pathos into appeals, and copying God in his works by adding the ornamental to the useful. The longer I have lived and composed I have acted more and more according to the saying of Sir Joshua Reynolds in his lectures on "Paintings," that God does not give excellence to men but as the reward of labor.—Excerpt from Autobiography of Dr. Guthrie.

Boys, Read This.

A few days ago, says a New York paper, a large drug firm in the city advertised for a boy. Next day the store was thronged with applicants, and among them came a queer looking little fellow, accompanied by his aunt, in lieu of faithless parents, by whom he had been abandoned.

Looking at this little waif, the merchant in the store promptly said: "Can't take him: places all full. Besides, he is too small."

"I know he is small," said the woman, "but he is very willing and faithful."

There was a twinkle in the boy's eye which made the merchant think again. A partner in the firm volunteered to remark that he did not see what they wanted of such a boy: he wasn't bigger than a pint of cider. But, after consultation, the boy was set to work.

A few days latter, a call was made on the boys in the store for some one to stay all night. The prompt response of the little fellow contrasted well with the reluctance of the others. In the middle of the night the merchant looked in to see if all was right in the store, and discovered his youthful protege busy scissoring labels.

"What you doing there? I did not tell you to work at night."

"I know that you did not tell me to, but I thought I might as well be doing something."

In the morning the cashier got orders to "double that boy's wages, for he is willing."

Only a few weeks elapsed before a show of wild beasts passed through the streets, and, very naturally, all hands in the store rushed to witness the spectacle. A thief saw this opportunity, and entered in the rear to seize something, but in a twinkling found himself seized by the diminutive clerk aforesaid, and, after a struggle, he was captured. Not only was a robbery prevented, but valuable articles which had been taken from other stores were recovered.

When questioned by the merchant why he stayed behind to watch when all the others had quit work, the reply was, "You told me never to leave the store when others were absent, and I thought I'd stay." Orders were given once more to "double that boy's salary; he is willing and faithful."

In 1860 that boy was receiving a salary of $2,500, and is now a partner in the establishment.—New York Advocate.

AN INFIDEL'S TESTIMONY TO THE SCRIPTURES.—I must confess to you that the majesty of the Scriptures astonishes me: the holiness of the evangelists speaks to my heart, and has such strong and striking characteristics of truth, and is moreover so perfectly inimitable, that if it were the invention of men, the invention would be greater than the greatest heroes.—J. J. Rousseau.

Scientific Items.

M Monton relates a case of death by the administration of less than thirty grammes of nitrate of potash.

The Signal Corps station on Pike's Peak is 14,216 feet above sea-level, instead of 11,000, as heretofore stated.

The solvent power of petroleum adapts it for use in the cleansing of steel articles. It does not become rancid or gummy, as is the case with other oils.

The proposal for an international memorial to Captain Manry, is to take the shape of a Lighthouse on the Rocos, to the importance of which Manry called attention in his "Sailing Directions."

Putrid blood injected into the veins of a living animal is not mortal unless several drops are used: but the blood of an animal thus poisoned causes death in less than two days in such minute quantities as a trillionth of a drop.

The so called vegetable wax of Japan and China is, in reality, the secretion of an insect about the size of a grain of rice. It receives its name because it is food on trees. After it is gathered it is melted and strained. Nearly 3,000,000 pounds were exported from China in 1870.

In a discussion on the value of meat extracts as food, Max Von Pettenkofer holds that the extracts prepared according to the present plan of Baron Liebig are quite equal to, if not superior, to meat itself. He thinks it bears the same relation to meat as cheese and butter to milk.

Educational Notes.

The University of the South, at Sewanee, Tenn., opened in 1868 with nine students, and now has two hundred and fifty-six.

Professor Perry, of William's College, has organized the freshmen into a mammoth Sunday-school class, which meets in his recitation room Sunday afternoon.

Matthew Arnold, himself once an eminent teacher, in five lines of a recent lecture on teaching, confesses what many parents deeply feel, that there is almost no such thing as a science of teaching.

Once of the greatest and most frequent errors in regard to brain-work is that of taking it for granted that because one child of a certain age can bear a certain amount of it, another child of the same age can undergo the same amount.

By a recent decision of the Boston School Committee, no misses under the age of fifteen years will hereafter be admitted to the high school. This is designed to prevent, to some extent, the great evil of over study by young girls.

SIR WALTER RALEIGH ON WINE.—Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there never was any man that came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transformeth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poisoneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an artificial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptible, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men; hated by thy servants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice; and remember my words, that it were better for a man to be subject to any vice than to it; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he growtheth the more in will he be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as the worm that engendereth in the kernel of the nut.

The Southern Churchman states as absolutely necessary that the following reforms be ordained by the next General Convention: 1. To prohibit the use of altars in the Church; to insist upon their removal where introduced. 2. To prohibit the Confessional in or out of the Church. 3. The prohibition in or out of the Church, of prayers for the dead or to the dead. 4. The prohibition of any picture or statue in the Church. And it may be necessary to look into the matter of images in painted windows. 5. And among lesser matters, the prohibition of wafer bread; of crosses on or about the communion table; of the minister turning his back to the people while consecrating the elements; of consecration in any other than a distinct tone of voice to be heard by all the congregation.

IMPERFECTIONS.—Avoid minutely examining what other people do, or what will become of them; but look on them with an eye good, simple, sweet, affectionate. Do not require in them more perfection than in yourself; and do not be astonished at the diversity of imperfections; for imperfection is not greater imperfection merely because it is unusual. Behave like the bees—suck the honey from all flowers and herbs.—St. Francis de Sales.

The Christian Advocate

OFFICE Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN

OF THE

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE

OF THE

M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

[illegible] $2 00

SIX MONTHS 1 00

If payment be delayed three months 2 50

All letters on business with the Office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH N. C. APRIL 22, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired and that you should renew at once.

Christian Unity.

The [illegible] with few exceptions [illegible] active cause [illegible] Methodist [illegible] consecrated [illegible] on door preaching [illegible] by faith became [illegible] the agent of [illegible] there could [illegible] been spiritual [illegible] ence of Jesus. [illegible] Wesley clearly in [illegible] times, to the [illegible] those [illegible] times as [illegible] distract [illegible] sorrow. [illegible] readiness [illegible] tially answer [illegible] to Method [illegible] stewardship [illegible] Church, amongst [illegible] great body of [illegible] known as the followers of Wesley. The little leaven that was at work in England in the first half of the century as we [illegible] spread [illegible] that now is leavening [illegible] Protestantism [illegible] many kindred and [illegible] way shall [illegible] to unity and [illegible] to edification [illegible] See the [illegible] Christ [illegible] and [illegible] Wesley [illegible] Methodist [illegible] believe on the Lord Jesus Christ [illegible] the faithful and [illegible] minister is stimulated and incited to renewed zeal and profounder consecration by the rich and abundant encouragements of the Master, and the manifold displays of His marvellous grace in gathering into His Kingdom so many of the perishing children of Adam.

Much has indeed been accomplished. The ingathering during the years that thus far make up this century has been signal and unprecedented. The Gospel car has been moving forward with greater celerity and with a more impetuous power. And yet how much there is to be done! Not only are millions to be brought out of darkness into light, of the long perish, cordially, but the children of the church are to be nurtured and trained to holiness and walking before the great victory over Satan must be constantly followed up. The heavenly Manna must be daily dispensed in those who have found peace in believing, or there is leanness of soul and deadness within. They are to be taught and disciplined; to be made active, wide-awake Christians—working, praying, liberal followers of Him who was ever doing the work where unto He was appointed. The times require activity on the part of God's people; activity that they may grow in grace and do their duty to God, the church and themselves; activity that they may not fall away from their steadfastness and slide into the dark and dreadful pools of slothfulness, apathy and despair.

The Sunday School Society of the North Carolina Conference is to meet in this city on the 14th of May. The programme will appear next week. All interested in the Sunday School work of our Church are urgently requested to attend.

All persons due for the renewal of their subscription to the Advocate are earnestly requested to remit without delay. We need the money to meet the weekly expenses of the office.

Editorial Marginalia.

1. It has been announced that William Cullen Bryant, the poet editor of the New York Evening Post, assisted by S. H. Gay, will prepare a Popular History of the United States. Mr. Bryant is a veteran journalist, and has of course the requisite ability, but he is a partisan, and it will be exceedingly difficult for him to so divest himself of the prejudices of education and association as to write a calm, judicial account of the various transactions in which the United States have been engaged during the last hundred years. We should be surprised to find anything like an even and candid statement in a work from his hand of the causes which led to the war of the States, and a fair and truthful history of the events which distinguished that tremendous conflict. The school histories of the North have usually abounded in errors, and have betrayed the section whence they emanated almost on every page. The best school history by all odds than far before the country is by Hon. A. H. Stephens. It is not; fault-less, but it is in the main truthful and reliable. It does justice to the South, and neither maligns our people nor perverts the truth of history.

2. Some three months ago the London Spectator published a very little poem by P. W. Bomhillon, of Oxford University. That poem made him immortal. Since then he has published a few other poems of merit. It is now announced that Roberts Brothers, of Boston, have arranged to publish a small volume of his poetical contributions. We copy the exquisite gem above referred to, which, its length considered, is unsurpassed. We do not know but two or three short poems that can be favorably compared to it. Tennyson's splendid fragment—"The Eagle"—is grander but not more poetical. Here it is:

LIGHT.

P. W. BOMHILLON.

The night has a thousand eyes,
And the day but one,
Yet the light of the bright world dies
With the dying sun.

The mind has a thousand eyes,
And the heart but one;
Yet the light of a whole life dies,
When love is done.

3. Our exchanges, both religious and secular, contain editorial discussions of the ancient custom of "cremation," or burning of the bodies of the dead. Sir Henry Thompson, an eminent English physician, has the honor of advocating this repellant and ghastly custom. Strange to say, he is sustained by writers in England and America. We give elsewhere an article from Dr. Talmage. It is an abominable recommendation, violates the prejudices and associations of every christian nation, is highly charged largely of the infidelitarian of the philosophers of the Poor Richard school. We have no objection, however, to the cremation of Thompson and his followers when they have ceased to live, if they prefer burning to decent and immemorial christian burial.

4. It seems, from intimations we have seen, that Messrs. Appleton & Co., of New York, are prostituting their new Cyclopedia to subserve the cause of Romanism. A Catholic prelate of that city has the revision of the proof sheets, and everything is made to suit his tastes and prejudices. The history of the massacre of the Huguenots of France on the bloody red St. Bartholomew's Day, is so changed and twisted and toned, that the historical student would fail to recognize the story as it has been told by a thousand writers. If Romanists are to write history for Protestants we will cease to read. Let our readers watch the character of the new Cyclopedia before they invest any money in it.

The Wesley Family.

As every thing that concerns the family of John Wesley is of special interest to Methodists, we will presently copy a few paragraphs from an article by an English writer that appears in the last Nashville Advocate. A wonderful change has taken place among the scholars and cultured people of England in regard to the work and influence of the great founder of Methodism. Forty years ago, it was quite the fashion for writers of the Establishment, and, indeed for writers among the Dissenters, to affect to undervalue the force and meaning of John Wesley's great work. But it is now quite different. Since Lord Macaulay and other eminent writers recognized the grandeur and importance of the religious awakening that spread throughout England under the preaching of Wesley and his co-laborers, it has become quite general for writers of less mark to understand the meaning and extent of that movement—the greatest since the Reformation under Luther—by which the church of England was vitalized and a new energy given to Dissenting congregations and organizations generally. Southey's Life of Wesley—so full of error and yet so wonderfully well written and entertaining—has doubtless aided in the work of introducing to certain writers one of the grandest characters of christendom. The work of Tyerman—the latest and best biography of Wesley—is sought after by readers of every faith, and to day John Wesley is better known and more justly appreciated than ever before. Indeed, so interest ing as every thing that concerns him, there is no scrap of history or biography that refers to him remotely that is not read with avidity and gratification. It will be seen in the following extracts that the Iron Duke, Wellington, and the author of the great religious Reformation of the eighteenth century, were of the same original stock—a fact not known even to every grateful admirer of Wesley. Mr. George Jno. Stephenson writing from London to the Nashville Advocate says:

Two branches of the Wesley family still preserve for their own private use a tolerably complete pedigree of their respective ancestry away back as far as the year 1350, which is certainly long enough ago to testify of its antiquity; and, though not traced back to the Norman Conquest, or even to Saxon times, yet, with the pedigree already preserved, it would not be very difficult to carry back the leading names two or three more centuries.

Going back to about the middle of the reign of Queen Elizabeth, we find there living Sir Herbert Wesley, or Wellesley, of Westleigh, county of Devon, who married Elizabeth Wellesley, of Dangan, in Ireland, who was a relative. From this lady's branch of the family sprang Arthur, the famous Duke of Wellington.

Sir Herbert and Elizabeth Wesley had three children—William, Harphan, and Bartholomew.

Bartholomew married the daughter of Sir Henry Colley, of Kildare, Ireland. Their son was John Wesley, of Wintersborne, Whitchurch, who was the father, in his turn, of Samuel Wesley, Rector of Epworth, and, hence, all who are known as the Methodists Wesleys—the Epworth branch.

The Awakening.

In 1858 the great revival of religion ever known took place. It was confined to no Hemisphere. It pervaded the two Continents—Europe and America—and tens of thousands were added to the Church. The present year promises to equal 1858 in the display of God's ability and willingness to save. In our little city we have not been without merciful visitations of the Divine presence. Both the Presbyterian and Baptist Churches have been blessed. Many precious souls have been added to the membership of Edenton Street Methodist Church, brother Mougum preacher in charge. The prayer meetings connected with that Church have been signally favored, and a large number of conversions have followed the fervent prayers and earnest efforts of brethren. The interest still continues, we are glad to note. Brother Cole, pastor of Person Street Church, is now conducting a meeting that promises to be of great importance. Souls have been converted, and many mourners are found sighing seeking favor with God. He is assisted by Rev B. C. Phillips, of Jonesboro, who came to his aid on Tuesday last.

In many sections of the United States revivals of extraordinary interest have already occurred, in which the outpouring of the Holy Spirit was manifested in the regeneration of thousands of rejoicing believers. In Scotland we have news of the most encouraging character. Under the preaching of two American evangelists, Messrs. Moody and Sankey, a wide-spread interest has been awakened, which seems to ramify every condition and class of society. The New York Methodist says:

In London the clergy of the establishment have held during the month of February "missions" in their churches: St Paul's Cathedral and Westminster Abbey have been opened for daily worship. A meeting of ministers of the various branches of Methodism was recently held in that city for conference with each other and two visiting American brethren. In Northern Europe the movement toward religious liberty prepares the way for earnest evangelism in Southern Europe. Protestant Missions are making known the Gospel in its simplicity and its purity as it has never been understood before. Of the successes of Christian Missions in the East, our correspondence has already given ample evidence. Enough appears to create the thought, and to arouse the hope, of a revival throughout the Christian world."

Is there not matter for praise and thanksgiving in all this? The bugle call of salvation is now sounding, and the friends of humanity must rush to the rescue. Full panoplied in the Gospel armor let the ministers of Christ go forth in the strength of their Captain to conflict and victory.

Missionary Drafts.

Persons holding drafts on the Treasurer of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will please not send them to the Treasurer for acceptance before due. It was understood at our May meeting that drafts drawn on our Treasurer were not to be transferred, especially before due, but, properly indorsed, they were to be sent to Nashville for payment. We dislike to protest a draft for non-acceptance, but they can not be accepted till the work is done. This is the rule on which the Board has proceeded. Brethren holding drafts will forward them in due time to the Treasurer or Secretary, and all will be right. J. B. McFERRIN, Sec.

We are requested to state that Rev. V. A. Sharpe is prepared to supply our publications upon terms as reasonable as they can be had from the Publishing House at Nashville. His post office address is Lincolnton, N. C.

BROTHER BOBBITT: As our Local Minister's Conference will convene at High Point on 16th of July next, we desire space in the Advocate to inform the Local brethren as well as the people in general, of what we expect to do at that meeting.

Sermons will be preached upon the following subjects during the meeting: The Christian Ministry; the Missionary Work; Education; Temperance; and the Plan of Salvation; while the Sunday School and kindred subjects of vital importance to the Church will be discussed.

Several of our most prominent members have been appointed to preach upon these subjects, and it is hoped that none of them will refuse to comply. Let those to whom I have written respond as soon as convenient.

We most cordially invite any of our itinerant brethren who may feel an interest or curiosity in our Conference, to meet with us and see and hear for themselves. Efforts will be made to secure the usual return tickets for members.

Our efficient Secretary informs me that the whole souled people at High Point will make ample provisions for the meeting; and we are looking for what has followed us at each of our previous meetings—a glorious revival of religion.

R. L. Abernethy,
Pres. of Conference.

Revival Intelligence.

Bro. L. J. Holden of the date of April 13th, writing to us from Rocky Mount, says:

"Our meeting is still going on. We have had thirteen converts and twenty five accessions to the church, and more will join. God is blessing us abundantly. The interest still keeps up. May God continue his work, and to Him shall be all the praise."

Bro. J. S Nelson writes us on April 13th:

"I have just returned from Rehoboth, Pleasant Grove circuit, where we had a good meeting. The membership were greatly revived, and a goodly number of penitents knelt at their seats asking an interest in the prayers of the church."

Literary Gossip.

The London Athenæum notices with favor a new Dictionary of Sects, Heresies &c. by Blunt. A new work by Dr. Horace Bushnell, entitled For giveness and Law, is announced by Scribner, Armstrong & Co.

The same firm has in press a work by Henry Rogers, an English author, on The Superhuman Origin of the Bible.

Rev. Dr. McCosh, President of Princeton College, is preparing a History of Philosophy, which will cover the entire ground, beginning with the earliest writers and closing with Sir William Hamilton.

Washington Irving's Pleasant Life of Mahomet has been the occasion of recent riots at Bombay. A Parsee published a version and hence the row.

A comic Journal called the Lee Polichinelle has appeared at Constantinople. It is a semi weekly and appears in five languages.

An Editio Minor of Dr Tischendorf's Greek Testament has appeared. It will be of valuable service to Biblical students who have not his larger work. It contains a collation of the two codices and the "received text."

Religious Brevities.

— The Northern Christian Advocate is discussing the probationers, holding that the facts show only about twenty two per cent. hold fast.

— The General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church, will meet at Columbus, Mississippi, in May, and the General Assembly of the Northern church meets at the same time in St. Louis, Missouri.

— It is less than a year since the work of reform began in Geneva, and already the priests are chosen by the church, the forced confession is relieved, the clergy marry, and divine worship is in the language of the people.

— The Nonconformists of England see in the defeat of the Liberal party in the late election an indefinite postponement of their cherished scheme of dis-establishing the National church.

— The First Colored Baptist church in Petersburg, Virginia, recently celebrated its centennial. It was constituted two years before the American Declaration of Independence.

— An organization entitled, "The Evangelical Ministers Association," of Boston and vicinity, has been formed in that city. Its doctrinal basis is "the broad historic evangelical Catholic ground" which has been occupied by all vital Christians from the beginning; a belief in the atoning work of Christ as the only source of salvation and the center of all Christian union and fellowship. Ministers of the Baptist, Methodist, Congregational and Presbyterian denominations are in sympathy with the movement.

— Dr. Talmage's church in New York has received two hundred and seventy new members by conversion.

— The London Mirror says it has had the pleasure, during the past year, of recording the distribution of no less than eighty donations of £1,000 each, and one of £5,000, to London charities, in addition to a multitude of sums of a smaller amount.

— The Protestant Episcopal Mission Board during 1873 sent out fourteen ordained missionaries—one to Africa, one to China, four to Japan and seven to Hayti. A missionary physician was also appointed for Japan, a lady to Africa and two native Chinese as missionaries at Shanghai.

— Tidings continue to be received of the progress of Protestantism in France. Even the political papers are noticing that in Lyons the Roman Catholic populations are sending their children to the Protestant schools until they overflow, and new schools conducted by Protestants are being opened.

— The Baptist Missionary Magazine makes the following comparison between the contributions of leading denominations to the foreign mission cause: "In 1870 the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions received $1,-08 per member, the American Board $1.03, Reformed Church .93, Episcopal .31½, Methodist Episcopal .23½, Baptist .19 4 5."

— An argument for the "Abolition of the Thirty-nine Articles" has been printed by an English Ritualist. The writer shows that their authors were Calvinists; and the fact that Churchmen, High and Low, are agreed in repudiating Calvinism, makes their presence in the Prayer Book a scandal and a reason for getting rid of them.

— At a meeting of sea captains and seamen in New York City a few days since, in the hall of the mercantile library, 3,000 men were present, and of these, it is said, 1,000 stood up to ask the prayers of Christians.

— There are in the Baltimore Conference, 168 traveling preachers; 196 local preachers; 22196 white members; 69 colored members; 299 churches; 33 parsonages; 351 Sabbath-schools; 17,-952 Sabbath school scholars.

— More attention has been paid of late years than formerly in England to the religious instruction of children. In Liverpool, thirty five new children's services were started during 1873. At these there is an average weekly attendance of 10,000.

— Bishop Whitehouse, of Illinois, has now abandoned his war on Dr Cheney, now that the latter has been made a Bishop of the Reformed Episcopal Church, and his congregation of Christ Church have followed him into the new organization.

— Bishop Wiley says that the Methodist Church needs 700 young men for her annual supply, and could not wait for the young men from the schools, but must take the majority from their various avocations.

— Dr. Potteous' new organization is called All Soul's Protestant Episcopal church. It claims to be loyal to the Episcopal body, and will ask for recognition by the bishop. If it cannot get into the diocese, it will make a virtue of necessity and stay out.

— The Church Journal calls for the revival of discipline in the Episcopal Church, and affirms that while the clergy are closely guarded by the canons, and sharply watched by the bishops and the people, the laity are left very much to themselves. Says the editor: "We are like all the rest. We are practically without any line between the Church and the world as a matter of life."

— There has been an interesting revival going on in Emory and Henry College, Edgefield, Tenn., and about 30 of the students have professed conversion.

— "Burleigh" writes to the Boston Journal that a new church for Mr. Beecher has been definitely decided on. It is to cost, with the land, $500,000, and to seat 6,000 people.

— There have been 90 professions of conversion and 65 accessions to the Broad Street church, Knoxville, Tenn., during the past two months. About 200 have been converted in Knoxville since January.

— Dr. Carl Schenck, the new President of Switzerland, was not long ago an obscure pastor, and has lately distinguished himself by writing on political economy.

— The will of the late Benjamin Tyler Reed, of Boston, gives bequests to the amount of $200,000 to his wife for her life, and at her death the principal sum is to go to the Episcopal Theological School at Cambridge. Mr. Reed some years before his death gave $100,000 toward founding the Theological School which he has so generously remembered.

— The Church of Holland, known under the name of the Jansenists Church of Utrecht, quits its isolated position, and joins the Old Catholic organization. It is composed of four or five thousand persons, and is governed by the Archbishop of Utrecht and the Bishops of Haarlem and Deventer.

— Dean Stanley read the burial service and pronounced the benediction at the obsequies of the late Rev. Thomas Binney, after a Dissenting minister had preached the sermon. "And so it came to pass," says the London Standard, "that the last rite was performed over the large-hearted Dissenter by a Churchman as large-hearted as himself."

Additional Contributions to Edenton St. Church.

Warrenton S. School,	$1.50
Miss H——,	2.50
Friend,	10.00
Messrs. B. & Co., materiat.
Friends,	25.00
Rev. E. A. Yates	5.00

Miscellaneous Items.

— The London Saturday Review heads its article on the liquor crusade "Intimidation by Prayer."

— The Brooklyn Argus is of opinion that a kind word "will always go farther than a flat-iron or a potato masher."

— A Western paper announces the death of a lady celebrated for the "purity of her character and complexion."

— Next to the sweetness of having a friend whom you can trust, is the convenience of having a friend who will occasionally trust you.

— There is a Maine clergyman who says from his pulpit that he had "rather possess the pearl of great price than the wealth of all the Rothschildren."

— A Western paper says dealers in butter classify it as cool grease, cart grease, soap grease, variegated, tessellated, cow grease, boarding house breakfast, inferior tub, common tub, medium roll, gilt roll, and gilt edge roll. The terms are strictly technical.

— Some unscrupulous trifler lately copied Walt Whitman's "Prayer of Columbus," and sent it to a Western paper for publication. The editor declined it, with the remark, "If the author will leave whiskey alone he may yet rise to be the chief deck hand of a canal boat."

— The bridge over the Kentucky river on the Southern railroad will be the highest on the continent. It is 275 feet above low water and has a span of 1,236 feet. The towers, erected by John A. Roebling years ago, cost $100,000 and rise 385 feet above low water.

— Index Appendix again: Wonder if Governor Vance, in his great lecture on the "Scattered People," addressed his audience as the "gentlemen of the Jewry?"

— At a recent sale in London of old china the prices paid for some of the articles appear almost fabulous. A cup and saucer in old Sevres was sold for $498; another cup and saucer for $495; a rosewater ewer and basin for $1,000; a pair of vases, richly painted, 7½ inches long, for $9,400, and a second pair of vases, 11½ inches high, for the enormous sum of $34,125!

— The aggregate number of the present standing armies of Europe is 2,963,699, and their annual cost $459,332,781. This is the actual expense in time of peace. If the armies were abolished, and this enormous sum spent in the moral and intellectual elevation of the people, what grand progress the world would make.

North Carolina

— The Jonesville High School is in a flourishing condition this session. Rev. T. S. Whittington, the principal, is a teacher of experience and thoroughly understands teaching, and young men desiring to improve their minds and morals, will do well to consult the principal at Jonesville, before going elsewhere. Jonesville is in the North-western part of Yadkin county, within twelve (12) miles of the Blue Ridge and on the Yadkin River, the people are moral and religious, hence parents need have no fears in sending their children to Jonesville.

— Mr Geo. Quincy, has retired from the editorial staff of the Henderson Times.

— Hugh F. Murray, Esq., has been selected to deliver the address in Wilson, on Memorial Day.

— The Reformed Presbyterians, of Statesville, will soon commence the erection of a brick church building.

— Work on the Chester and Lenoir Narrow Gauge Railway, has begun in good earnest at Lenoir, Caldwell county.

— Shelby has voted the no liquor ticket.

— Plato Durham, the independent candidate for Congress in the mountain district, made a speech in Shelby on Wednesday. He said that the charge of his lack of fealty to the Democratic party was false.

— Donald MacRae has been elected President of the Wilmington Cotton Mills Company, and W. A. French, Vice-President.

— Tuscarora Masonic Lodge at Oxford, will give the Orphans of the Home a picnic in May. A capital idea. Let the dear little children have their enjoyments as well as others.

— There are 431 convicts now in the penitentiary, and the "cry is still they come."

— The order of the Knights of Pythias is growing rapidly in this State.

— Rev. Dr. Pritchard has gone to Baltimore, to participate in a series of religious meetings to be held in the Frauklin Square Baptist Church, of which he was once pastor.

— Bishop Gibbons, of the Roman Catholic Church, preached in Raleigh last Sunday.

— The NEWBERNIAN is to be the name of Mr. Carpenter's new daily, which is announced to appear next week.

— Dr. J. J. Phillips, one of the oldest and most prominent citizens of Edgecombe county, died at his residence near Battleboro, on Friday.

— The Ashville EXPOSITOR says that a young man by the name of David Clark was almost crushed to death the other day in the Hominy neighborhood by a tree falling upon him. His case is thought doubtful.

— Heavy Freshets last week in all our rivers. The Cape Fear rose 45 feet at Fayetteville.

— Green peas, and strawberries abundant in Wilmington. Trees in full foliage and flowers in profusion.

— Gen. W. R. Cox, has been selected to deliver the address in Raleigh at the next Memorial celebration.

— The Masons of Raleigh will celebrate St. John's Day, June 24th next.

— Col. A. A. McKoy, of Sampson, has accepted the invitation to deliver the address in Wilmington on Memorial Day.

— The Rutherford county jail is now occupied by three United States prisoners.

— Some miscreant "rocked" Father Handy; the Catholic priest at Charlotte, in his study last Friday night.

— Ex-Gov. Henry T. Clark died at his residence in Tarboro' N. C., early Tuesday morning, after a long and prostrating illness.

— Gov. Caldwell on Tuesday issued the following in regard to the pardoning of prisoners out the penitentiary: After this date no convict will be pardoned out of the Penitentiary except upon a certificate of the Deputy Warden or Director, that the convict in whose behalf the application is made has bemeaned himself or herself while in the penitentiary in a peaceable and orderly manner, and observed the rules adopted by the directors for the good government of the institution. Signed by the Governor.

— The Stockholders of the North Carolina Railroad have accepted the amendment of their Charter which was passed by the last legislature, and known as the "Consolidation Act."

— Theo. N. Ramsay, of this city, has recently organized lodges of Good Templars at Reidsville, Leaksville, Leasburg, Roxboro, Yanceyville and Pelham. There are now more than one hundred lodges in the State.

— The Railroad Companies within the bounds of Orange Presbytery have kindly consented to pass members and visitors to its next regular meeting in Greensboro on the 22d instant, for half "first class fare."

General News.

— Prince Bismarack lately informed Herr Von Jokal, the eminent Hungarian poet and statesman, that he (Bismarck) is a "Protestant of the strict Calvanistic persuasion."

— Alexander Dumas speaks of a dead actress as that pretty little Parisian soul-born in a peal of laughter, evaporated into a tear.

— The Hygeia Hotel, at Fortress Monroe, which cost originally sixty thousand dollars, has been sold at auction for twenty-seven thousand.

— Mr. Low has resigned his position as Minister to Japan, and Mr. Benjamin P. Avery, an old resident of San Francisco, and one of the prominent editors of that place, has been nominated as his successor.

— Brick Pomeroy's fortune has dwindled from a million to less than thirty thousand dollars.

— Mr. Stephens contemplates returning to Georgia for rest and recuperation.

— The good news reaches us that the provisions sent by the British Government will be more than sufficient to stop the dreadful famine which has prevailed in India for some time.

— The Democrats have carried the city elections in Cincinnati by a majority of about four thousand. In the City Council they will have a majority of fifteen on joint ballot. In other parts of the State the success was divided between Temperance and Democratic tickets.

— COMING SOUTH.—Hundreds of thrifty farmers in New Jersey are getting ready to come South. The tide of emigration will soon set fully.

— The Legislature of Pennsylvania has passed a bill appropriating one million dollars for the Centennial buildings.

Our Book Table.

— THE METHODIST QUARTERLY REVIEW for April, comes freighted with good things. Its table of contents is inviting. We have an elaborate article on "New York State Schools," by Rev. Dr. Curry; a valuable discussion of the merits of Tischendorf's new Testament by Rev. Dr. Hawley; an appreciative and discriminative consideration of the "Fine Arts," in their nature, necessity and offices;" a timely review of Strauss' last work, "The Old Faith and the New," from the pen of Rev. B. P. Browne, of Halle, Germany, and other articles of more or less interest. The "Book Table" is specially rich, entertaining and suggestive. Price $2.50 a year—very cheap.

— THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL MAGAZINE for for May contains the usual amount of useful and pleasing matter for the teacher and the scholar. Published by A. H. Redford for the M. E. Church, South, Nashville, Tenn.

— SUNDAY-SCHOOL VISITOR for May is as usual, beautifully printed and replete with appetizing viands for the children of the church. Published at Nashville, by A. H. Redford.

— OUR LITTLE PEOPLE, another publication of our Church, is just the thing for the little ones.

— THE REVELATION OF JOHN; With Notes, Critical, Explanatory, and Practical, Designed for both Pastors and People. By Rev. Henry Cowles, D. D. New York: D. Appleton & Co., 1873. The author is a Professor in Oberlin College, Ohio, and is known as an able critic and commentator upon the Scriptures. The work before us deals with an obscure and difficult portion of the Bible, and will afford interest to all who are fond of explorations among the unfulfilled prophecies.

— SEVEN YEARS FROM TO-NIGHT. By Mrs. Julia P. Ballard, Boston: Congregationalist Publishing House. A pleasant book for the home circle handsomely printed.

— SERMONS by Rev. H. N. Hudson. Boston: Gina Brothers, 1874. A volume of plain, readable, but not very able sermons by an Episcopal Clergyman. Mr. Hudson is better known as one of the ablest of living Shakespearian scholars and critics.

Our Merchants.

— Messrs. Julius Lewis & Co., whose advertisement will be found in this paper, are large hardware dealers, and are doing a most successful trade. They keep a very complete stock and do the right thing by their customers.

— Messrs. Leach Brothers are among the best business houses of Raleigh. They confine their operations to groceries, a large stock of which is always on hand, which they sell at as accommodating rates as any house in the city.

— Messrs. Wyatt, Bingham & Co., successors to Len H. Adams, are young men of energy and enterprise who deserve and receive a liberal share of patronage in the grocery line.

— Messrs. Norris & Myatt, next door to the last mentioned firm, are active, go-ahead men of business, and are engaged in the grocery business. They treat customers well.

— Nat. L. Brown, on Fayetteville street, deals in musical instruments, toys, confectionaries, cigars &c. He is a clever gentleman and richly merits the confidence of the public.

— W. B. Hutchings & Co., manufacture all kinds of harness, saddles and bridles, which they sell at live and let live prices. They are up to the times, and are well patronized.

Marriages.

On the 15th of April, 1874, by Rev. J. [illegible] Bobbitt, Mr. Marion Johnson, to Miss Rebecca Riggsby, all of this city.

Married, April 8th, near Lake Landing, Hyde Co N. C. at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. Jas. M [illegible], Dr. Joseph A. Mann, and Miss Lizzie [illegible] Murray.

Married, at the residence of Mr. J. A. Gainey, in Fayetteville, on the 8th inst. by Rev. E. W. Thompson, Mr. Abram Gainey to Miss Minnie McNabb, of Bladen Co. N. C.

Married, near Yadkinville, Yadkin county, N. C April 2nd, 1874 by Rev. G. Bowles, Mr. Caleb W. Williams, and Miss Penelope L. Mackie, oldest daughter of Bethuel Mackie, Esq.

Married, on the inst. at the residence of Col. J. C. Van Hook, in Person county, by Rev. H. M. Jordan, Mr. Joseph Howard, of Granville, to Miss Harriet C. Allen, of Person.

At the Simonton House, in Statesville, N. C. on the morning of the 15th inst., by Rev. W. Wheeler, Mr. George W. Scott, to Miss Mary V. Poulson, both of Salisbury N. C.

Deaths.

☞ Obituary notices of twenty lines are inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines of ordinary words is charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line. Count the lines and allow ordinary words to the line. In this way you may always know the amount to be paid. Resolutions of respect are subject to the above rule. ☜

The subject of this partial memoir, Eli Allen, was born Feb. 1785, in Rutherford Co. He connected himself with the Methodist church in 1817, as a seeker of religion, by prayer and faith he became established in the principles and doctrines of the Bible. For many years he was a zealous member of the church at Rocky Springs. Alex. circuit. He was a conductor of Sabbath schools. Was a warm friend and advocate of temperance. The great aim and purpose of life was to do good. He was a warm and cherished friend of the young people, always advising and admonishing, all he had any intercourse with to seek peace and pursue it. Was the father of the Rev. A. C. Allen, of the Missouri Conference, who also has a son a preacher in said Conference. And the grand Father of Rev. R. T. N. Stephenson of the S. C. Conference. His home was the birth place of a preacher, and the home of the preacher. And a home it was, as many of the preachers of our Conference can testify. He was called for many years with a fervent prayer, and a few days before his death he told the writer that he could be able to discharge the duties that pressed on him, that gathered in his throat, at 9 o'clock P. M. of April the 5th, 1874, was without a struggle his spirit took its everlasting flight to the spirit land to meet the happy greeting of the spirits of his sons who had gone before him. The funeral services were held at his home, after which his remains were borne to the family burying ground, and interred, where they will repose in happy quiet until the day of his full redemption.

He has left a large family to mourn his irreparable loss. Father Allen was in the 90th year. Long did he live to serve God on earth. But alas he's gone. 'And life's long warfare closed at last."

N. G WHITTINGTON.

James Thomas, died suddenly at his residence, in Montgomery Co. N. C. Feb. 10th 1874, in the 80 year of his age.

He professed religion and connected himself with the M. E. Church in early life, and remained stead-fast to the day of his death.

He was an official member most of the time.

H. M. SCARBORO.

Died, in Cleaveland county N. C. on the 23rd of October 1873 Mrs. Sarah S. Schenck wife of Henry Schenck, aged 68 years and had been a consistent and faithful member of the church 40 years, during which time she accomplished a great deal of good for the church of God, and those around her. We now cherish her memory who were taught the Sabbath School the things pertaining salvation, and who are now members of the church directing their aspirations heavenward to the sun of time to which their official friend has gone before them.

Her home had long been the home of ministers of the gospel, when they came they received a cordial welcome and the advice one them as God's messengers, engaged in the great work of spreading scriptural truths over all the land. Her memory will long linger in the minds of the ministers who had the privilege it was to share in the hospitalities of her christian home. Especially many of the ministers of the S. C. Conference will remember her acts of kindness. But her work on earth has been finished, and she has been called away from earth to her long sought home. When the Master came and called for her, she said that she was ready.—A short time before she died, she remarked that on the 23d of October would be the anniversary of her mother's death who on that day 50 years ago had passed away to the world of spirits. When the day had come and she was not surprised of the fact, she had her only son, also her grand children called, who a few moments before had left her bedside. And while husband, son, grand children, and friends collected around her, as calmly as one sweetly falling asleep, she closed her eyes upon the brightness of day, and resigned her spirit into the hands of God who gave it. Friends and relatives mourn their irreparable loss. They weep not, however, as those without hope. What earth has lost, heaven has gained. Rest thou aged follower of the Saint in thy Eden home where the beautiful flowers perpetually bloom and amaranthine joys never cloy the mind. A few more intervening years, and those who linger behind will unite with you upon the landscape of glory to bend acclaim to him whose presence there is fulness of joy, and at whose right hand there are pleasures forever more."

"Thou art gone to the grave—but we will not deplore thee,
Whose God was thy ransom, thy guardian and guide;
He gave thee—he took thee; and he will restore thee,
And death has no sting, for the Savior has died."

R. P. S.

— The Richmond DISPATCH, of Saturday says: The public was no doubt much surprised, yesterday, to learn from the statement of Auditor Taylor that the penitentiary, in the last eight years, beyond its income, cost the State $399,037.21. This exceeds the present deficit in the State treasury.

Letters and Funds.

Thos W Kendall self $2. Wm Swink $2. [illegible] Allen. Wm Polston, for J T Pettaway 2. Rev G Round. E Pason. W S T Brewer. Miss C [illegible] self 1. Rev John T Brogden for R A Bynum 2. E W Thompson for J N Smith 2. Rev Ira T [illegible] paper sent. Rev F L Reisel: Right on Books. [illegible] ven has charge of them. Revs S E Tessier for [illegible] Lizzie C Neal and J K Dellinger 2 each. Rev [illegible] Holden for T W Hendricks and W J B Hayes each. Thos C Anderson 2 to April 1st 1875. Rev [illegible] Wolff 50 cts. Rev T A Coon for Jno A Brown for R Cornelius, 2 each. Rev J Tillett for G T Coan and W T Hodges 2 each. Dr A A Scruggs. H T Johnson paper continued. Miss Bobbie Armstrong 2. L G Hopkins paper continued. Rev J F [illegible] paper continued. H M Scarboro. Rev N S N [illegible] self 1 50. Rev J S Ervin for Miss Julia Eggleston. Rev T A Coon papers continued—Dollar received for Mrs P McCauly lost. Rev T P Ross paper continued—send forward. Rev W G Noe for Marina Clemens. J W Smith and Jno E Newsom 2 each. Rev W S Rone for J D Cox. Mrs Mary Kinally and C P Cox 2 each, and for W T Moss & Tilman Bartsel 1.25 each. Rev L L Nash. Rev M Watson. Wm M Credle. Mrs O E Williams 2. Rev J C Hartsell for Miss Elvira Huntley [illegible] Samuel May 2. Rev W M Jordan for M Scarboro. Mrs Jane E Walker, and Mrs Nancy Beasley 2 each. Rev G W Ivy. Rev P Kistler. 2 Griffith. Rev A Sharpe for J A Carpenter. J R Hassel. [illegible] Shipp. W R Rankin and B F Wells 2 each. Rev P Bibb. E L Sherrill for H F Cornelius 2. Rev Burkhead. Grigg & Bowe. J W Reid. Dr [illegible] Pierce. E N Freshwan. Walker Taylor & Co. for R L Abernethy. Rev T W Guthrie papers sent. Rev E A Yates. Rev T J Gatlin will be heard from you. Rev J W Wheeler. W W Sharpe & Co. Mrs S R Banner. Rev J N Somers for E P Walker. W Miller and J L Webb 2 each. G M Foust self 2. Rev W H Watkins for H C Blalock 2. M L Scott self 2. Rev L Snell for Mrs Eliza H Fowler. Nathan Click. Mrs M J Peoples and Thomas T Blalock 2 each. Rev J C Smith. J L Cole. A W Acree self.

The Christian

PUBLISHED IN THE C[illegible]

EVERY WEDNESDA[illegible]

TERMS $2.00.

Our Age[illegible]

All the traveling preachers [illegible] North Carolina Conference are [illegible] Those who send us [illegible] receive the paper free. Those [illegible] receive the paper for $1.00. [illegible] will be charged for price for [illegible]

Our Correspo[illegible]

Communications for [illegible] writer, and on but one side of [illegible] or the office should be addressed [illegible]

How to [illegible]

In sending money, [illegible] of registration, or [illegible] from the amount sent [illegible] than herein specified [illegible]

Contributions [illegible]

Paid $50 each, [illegible] and Mt. Herman Lodges. Paid $44. W G Hill. [illegible] Paid $19. Louisburg [illegible] Paid $20, Hiram Lodge [illegible] Paid $25, Cleaveland [illegible] Paid $22. Ladies Benevolent Salisbury Presbyterian [illegible] Paid 21. Mt Vernon [illegible] Paid 20 a friend in [illegible] Paid 16 Americus Grove [illegible] Paid 15 75 Phoenix Lodge [illegible] Paid 14. Wake Forest [illegible] Paid 12 50. Chestnut Lodge [illegible] Paid 10 50 Chapel Hill [illegible] Paid 10 each. A J Hall [illegible] two travelers. Y Mattox [illegible] No 186, Sandy Creek Lodge, No [illegible] No 15, I O O F. Mem[illegible] F.

Sent from Baltimore [illegible] $10 each. Sanderlin & Co. [illegible] Ogle, Stein & Co. [illegible] held & Co.

Paid [illegible] Bethany Ba[illegible] Paid [illegible] W Bellamy [illegible] Paid $ Wilmington [illegible] Paid 6 50 Another [illegible] Paid [illegible] Goldsboro [illegible] Brown, R H Palmer [illegible] Heather Bell [illegible] Grove Lodge, No [illegible] 265. Dunn [illegible] Bullock & T Pope [illegible] Paid 4 50. Quarterly [illegible] and Franklinton [illegible] Paid 4. R Gregory [illegible] Paid 3 50. Kinston

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---
TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All the traveling preachers in the bounds of the South Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1.00. Those who send us none will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters for the office should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all money should be sent in registered letter, post office order or bank check. The cost of registration is 10 cts. Post offices should take no deduction from remittances, and if money is sent in such a way that a deduction is made, it will be at the sender's risk.

Contribution to the Oxford Asylum, in March, 1874.

In Cash.

Paid $60 each, Lumberton Lodge, No 123, and Mt. Herman Lodge, 118.
Paid $11, W G Hill, Lodge, No. 218.
Paid $10, Laurinburg Lodge, No 305.
Paid $30, Hiram Lodge, No 10.
Paid $25, Cleaveland Lodge, No 202.
Paid $22, Ladies Benevolent Society, of Salisbury Presbyterian church.
Paid 21, Mt Pleasant Lodge, No 157.
Paid 20 a friend in Franklin.
Paid 16 American Grove Lodge, No 17.
Paid 15 75 Phœnix Lodge, No 8.
Paid 11, Wake Forest Lodge, No 87.
Paid 12 35, Charity Lodge, No 3.
Paid 10 15, Clayton church.
Paid 10 10 St Albans Lodge, No 114.
Paid 10 each, W J Yates, S W Witkowski, two trav'lers, V Mauney, Pine Forest Lodge, No 186, Sandy Creek Lodge, No 326, Raleigh Lodge, No 65, I O O F, McKee Encampment, No 15, I O O F, Manteo Lodge, No 8, I O O F.
Sent from Baltimore, by J M Rosenstein $10 each, Samuhoue & Co., Leuchkaemer & Co., Stein & Co., R S Pue & Co., and Wiseman Bell & Co.
Paid 9 20, Bethany Baptist Sunday School.
Paid 9, Mt Lebanon Lodge, No 117.
Paid 8 50, citizens of Washington.
Paid 8 Wilmington Lodge, No 316.
Paid 6 50, Archer Lodge, No 234.
Paid 6, Cardwell L dge, No 180.
Paid 5 each, Rev J Vass, Miss C E Brower, E B Oglesby, C F Pittenger, T L Vail, Walter Brem & P Smith, R H Oates, Centre Grove Lodge, No 155, Farmington Lodge, No 205, Bunn Fraternity, A W Claywood, L F Bullock, J F Poe, W of Hurlbut.
Paid 4 50, Centre Lodge, No 3, R. of P. and Franklin Co tribe.
Paid 4, F F Olive at Zion Lodge, No. 81.
Paid 3 50, Kinston baptist church and Pine Log Lodge, No 31.
Paid 3 25, Elmwood Lodge, No 246.
Paid 3 20 Enterprise Lodge No 76.
Paid 2 50, Mt. Energy Lodge, No. 140.
Paid 2 00, St. Olive Lodge, No 208.
Paid 2 50 each, Jos H Saw & Co.
Paid 2 15, Col E Wilson.
Paid 2 each, Col. W R Anderson, Miss C Wilson, T R Gritfin, Lime River Academy, J Marshall and S C Pemberton, Cary Lodge, No 196.
Paid 1 50, Rosamond Lodge, No 245.
Paid 1 25, Jesse Mizell.
Paid 1 each, W D Hare, C S Alford, H T Odom, J R Terrell, C A Hanner, d o Bagwell, Rev B B Caldwell, Dr W M Crenshaw, Mrs Mary Simmons, A Warren Lady, S W Beck, Rev M J Hurd, S S Barrow, Dr C Winston, H C Kearney, Perry Wiggins, R Oates, J A Winston, P H Thorrington, Robert Hicks, Br E S Anderson, A C Freeman, J A Trotman, J H Hearne, J M Bryan, S S Stone, A J Perdue, J Y Moss, John Jenkins, G H Wiggins, W H P Jenkins, A B Cook, J R Thorrington, W B Deaver, T N Harrell, S P Lowrey.
Paid 50 cents, J C McEwan.
Amounts each, J T Ball, S A Dixon, Mrs E N Grant, J A Wheeler, J W Davis.
Paid 25 cents each, W H Lowe, J W Seamons, W S Willoughby, J M Stallings, J F Pitt.
Paid 20 cents, Benjamin Lanier.

IN KIND.

One valuable box of dry goods, each, Ladies of Laurel Hill, Ladies of Salisbury Presbyterian Church, Citizens of Medlock, Citizens of Lenoir, Citizens of Wilson.
Books, 12 volumes, Alex Williams.
Vegetables, Capt A Iemble, Dr H G Hamden, Nelson Hicks and John Broughton
Box of assorted dry goods, James Read & Co, Norfolk.
Hall and of Pocket Cutlery, Hyman & Dacy, of Norfolk.
Sack of flour, Grandy & Bro.
Tone plows, W G Hill Lodges, No 218.
One bag of dried fruit, Hermon Lodge, No 118.
One lot of medicines, Dr W A J Pollock.
Clothing, Mrs Norwood, Miss Boon, Miss Fanny Wood Mrs R Thomp, Miss Comer, 35 yards cloth and knitting cotton, J H and W E Holt.

Note.—The expense for Wood have been $780 21. Many other needy Orphans will arrive during April, and many Masonic sorrowfully enabled to this report, ought to be mentioned in the next.

J H Mills,
Superintendent

Appointments.

GREENSBORO' DISTRICT.
2ND ROUND—IN PART.

Madison at Leaksville,	" 11-12
Stokes,	" 18-19
Thomasville & H. Point at Fair Grove	" 25-26
Trinity circuit at Ebenezer,	May 2-3

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT
2ND. ROUND.

Wilmington, Fifth St.	April 4-5
Magnolia at Providence,	" 11-12
Waccamaw at Marlesburg,	" 18-19
Wilmington, Front St.,	" 25-26
Clinton at Johnson Chapel,	May 2-3
Kenansville at Hallsville,	" 9-10
Smithville at Bethel,	" 16-17
Topsail,	" 23-24
Elizabeth,	" 30-31
Bladen,	June 6-7
Onslow,	" 13-14
Cokesbury	" 20-21

W. S. BLACK, P. E.
Magnolia, N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
SECOND ROUND—IN PART.

Cumberland, Beaver Creek,	April 21-22
Jamesboro', Lillington,	" 25-26
Laurinburg, St. John's,	April 4-5
Rockingham, Green Lake,	" 11-12
Carthage, Ebenezer,	" 18-19
Robeson Rounds,	" 25-26

S. D. ADAMS, P. E.
Carthage, N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
2ND ROUND—IN PART.

Tar River cir. at Plank Chapel,	March 14-15
Rolesville cir. at Eaglebro,	" 21-22
Cary cir. at Hollyoaks,	" 28-29
Wilson cir. at Mt. Pleasant,	April 4-5
Granville cir. at Moore's	" 11-12
Henderson cir. at Henderson,	" 18-19

W. H. ROBERTS, P. E.
Cary, N. C

SALISBURY DISTRICT.
SECOND ROUND.

Statesville ct. at Providence,	March 28-29
Mt Zion ct at Salem,	April 4-5
Statesville St.	" 11-12
Yadkinville ct. at Macedonia,	" 18-19
Mocksville ct. at Salem,	" 25-26
Salisbury st.	May 2-3
Mt. Airy St. at Mt. Airy,	" 9-10
Surry ct. & S. Hesbon at Siloam	" 16-17
Salisbury ct. at Bethpage,	" 23-24
Wilkes ct & Mt Mission at Charity,	" 30-31
Alexander ct. at Stony Point	June 6-7
Iredell ct. at Hopewell,	" 13-14

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Olin, N. C

HILLSBORO DISTRICT
2ND ROUND—QUARTERLY MEETINGS

Durham at Durham,	March 28-29
Chapel Hill and Cedar Grove,	April 4-5
Haw River	" 11-12
Flat River at Pleasant Green,	" 11-12
Person st Trinity	" 18-19
Hillsboro' at Cedar Grove,	" 25-26
Lewsburg at Hebron,	May 2-3
Alamance at Community Shops,	" 9-10
High Rock Mission,	" 16-17
Yanceyville circuit,	" 23-24
Deep River "	" 30-31
Pittsboro' "	June 6-7

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Mt. Tirzah, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.
2D ROUND.

South Fork, Kadesh,	April 11-12
Shelby circuit, Ebenezer,	" 18-19
Shelby Station,	" 25-26
Lincolnton, McKendree	May 2-3
Rock Spring, Hill's chapel,	" 9-10
Dallas, Sander's Chapel,	" 16-17
Happy Home, C. School House,	" 23-24
Morganton, Gilboa,	" 30-31
Double Shoals and South Mt. Mission,	" 30-31
Cherry Mt., Marion and Upper R. River Mission,	Supernum. June 6-7
Newton Concord,	" 13-14
Lenoir, Lenoir,	" 20-21
Rutherford and C. Mission,	" 27-28

Rev. T. J. Gattis will please attend and assist the preachers on the Lincolnton and Rock Spring circuits. Rev. J. R. Trawick, Morganton and Marion circuits, Rev. S. Leard, Double Shoals, Rev H T Hudson, Dallas, and Rev I L Herman, Happy Home.

Dear Brethren, may the great Head of the church be with you, to own and bless as used to the salvation of the people.

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.
2ND ROUND.

Warrenton,	April 4-5
Roanoke at Pierce's,	" 11-12
Warren at Shiney Chapel,	" 18-19
Williamston at Mt. Zion,	" 25-26
Plymouth and Jamesville,	May 2-3
Columbia at Alligator,	" 9-10
Bath at Bethany,	" 16-17
Matiamuskeet at Amity,	" 23-24
Greenville and Washington,	" 30-31
Parlors at Temperance Hall,	June 6-7

The District Conference will be held at Amity, Matiamuskeet circuit, commencing May 29. Rev. K. O. Burton will preach the opening sermon.

WM. CLOSE, P. E.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT
2ND RUND.

Calvary Miss.	March 27
Tryon street,	" 28-29
Monroe ct. at Gilboa,	April 4-5
Pleasant Grove ct. at Rehoboth.	" 11-12
Monroe st.	" 18-19
South Charlotte ct. at Mill Grove,	" 25-26
Pineville ct. at Harrisons's.	May 2-3
Albermarle and Cedar Grove, Stanley, Concord st. Wade Isbon' st. Lilesville ct. at— Asseville ct. at Harmony, Windesboro' ct. at—	" 9-10
	" 14-17
	" 23-24
	June 6-7
	" 13-14
	" 20-21
	" 27-28

Mt. Pleasant at Mt. Olive's, J. S. STILSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.
2ND ROUND.

Beaufort, Wednesday,	April 15
Wayne, Thompson,	" 16
Straits, Summerfield,	" 11-12
Banes, Express Creek,	" 18-19
Trent Bethlehem,	" 24-26
Neuse and Swift Creek, Goose Creek	May 2-3
Lenoir, Newbern cir. Sharon,	" 9-10
Kinston,	" 16-17
District Conference La Grange,	" 20-21
Goldsboro,	" 23-24
Snow Hill, Hookerton,	June 6-7
Wilson,	" 13-14
Mount Olive, Providence,	" 20-21
Nealsbro,	" 27-28

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort N. C.

New Advertisements.

NEW GOODS! NEW GOODS!!

A Very Important Notice to all Persons Wishing to Buy New Goods at Greatly Reduced Prices.

We are now offering to our customers the only stock of entirely in the city. We are able to sell these much LOWER than they have ever been offered before on account of the exceedingly small stock in the Northern market.

NEW GOODS

All goods bought before the decline very much and our buyer taking advantage of that we shall as

LOW AS ANY HOUSE IN THE CITY.

We say to all that they can

SAVE MONEY

by examining our stock before buying elsewhere.—We will offer you no old goods, our stock is ENTIRELY NEW.

PETTY & JONES.

apr 22 tf

TO THE PUBLIC.

The partnership heretofore existing under the firm of W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO., is dissolved by the decease of our junior partner THADEUS McGEE.

All parties having claims against the firm will present them for immediate payment and all who are indebted to the firm, either by note or account, are requested to call and settle the same.

To Our Old Friends and Customers

We must say a word. The dissolution of our firm gives us gain and regret; for many years you have liberally patronized us, we in turn, have endeavored to furnish you with

FIRST-CLASS GOOD

at reasonable prices. Our relationship has been both pleasant and agreeable, and we cannot consent to the discontinuance except in deep regret.

We have, therefore, determined for accommodation we could, consistent with a proper safety of our business, and in making the following announcement we do so from the requirements of law.

From and after this date, all Goods of every description belonging to the firm of

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.,

will be sold at

Extremely Low Prices for Cash,

with reference to a final closing of the business.

Further credit cannot be given. The books are closed.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.,
surviving partners of the late firm of
W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.

Parties who desire embarking in the business in Raleigh, have now an opportunity of BUYING IN THE FIRST CLASS HOUSE.

DRY GOODS

Merchants who desire purchasing a stock or of replenishing their stock, will never have a better opportunity. Are ready cash or approved buyers.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER,
Surviving Partners.

april 15 12m

1874. Spring Trade. 1874.

GOODS AT PRICES

TO

Compare with the Money Crisis

AT

J. P. GULLEY & BRO.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL STORE,

Corner Fayetteville St. and South Exchange Place,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We come again to proclaim the daily arrival of our (ninth (9th) replenished stock of

Foreign and Domestic

DRY GOODS,

Notions, White Goods, Ribbons, &c.,

Boots and Shoes

In this Department we can please the public in quality. We keep up our Brand of Ladies' Shoes, warranted at $2.50 per pair.

Hats for Men's, Youths, Boys and Children, Clothing in all grades, from $5.00 to $51.00 per suit Youths', Boys and Children Clothing a nice variety. The attention of COUNTRY MERCHANTS is especially called to our Up State Jobbing Department. Call and see our Goods before purchasing.

Very Respectfully,
J. P. GULLY & BRO.

april 15-tf.

FOR REED ORGANS!

THE

ORGAN AT HOME!

This standard collection of sacred Reed Organ music should be at Home wherever one has been used in public assemblies. Nothing that could be added to the copy here given has been allowed in the book, which has more than 200 attractive pieces, compactly printed on large pages. Nothing difficult. Everything nicely fitted to the popular taste.

Price in bds, $2.50. Cth, $3.50. Gilt, $4.00.

New Method for Reed Organs!

PRICE $2.50. By WM. H. CLARKE.

A thorough Method containing not only abundant directions and exercises, but a large quantity of the best Reed Organ Music, arranged and fitted with Mr. Clarke's well known exquisite taste and skill. Sold immensely.

Clarke's Dollar Instructor

FOR REED ORGANS

An excellent and attractive introduction book for those who need a short and cheap course.

Sent by mail, on receipt of price.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.
C. H. DITSON & CO., 711 Broadway, New York.

POPULAR AND USEFUL BOOKS

Carol Garden, (S. S. Note)	35
Jewel Bells, " "	35
Bright Voices, " "	35
Harp Heaven " "	35
Joy Morning Star " "	35
Pet Gold, " "	35
Songs of Salvation, " "	40
Wesleyan Catechisms No. 1,	75
Wesleyan " No. 2,	1.00
Confession " No. 3,	1.00
Illustrated sized from 75 cts. to	5.00
Cheap Edition, from 50 cts to	8.00
Cheap Family, from 3.00 to	1.50
Gilt Edge Bibles, 12mo cloth,	1.50
Gilt Edge Bibles, 12mo cloth, pictorial,	1.50
Gilt Edge Hymn and Tune Books, 12mo cloth,	1.75
Pocket Testaments, from 25 cts to	60
Large Testaments, bound extra	2.00
Gilt Edge Do Do, 12mo cloth,	1.50
Gilt Edge Do Do, Plain cloth,	1.75
Pocket Hymn Books, from 25 cts to	60
Pocket Hymn Books, from 50 cts to	2.00
Pocket Hymn Books, from 75 cts to	2.50
Pocket Hymn Books, from 85 cts to	2.50
Pocket Prayer Books, from 75 cts to	2.00
Pocket Hymn All sizes, from 15 cts to	1.50
Manuscript Music, Paper cover,	75
Alphabets, Plain Blocks of scrolls,	1.50
Alphabets, Fancy	1.00
Alphabets, Ornamental,	1.50
Alphabets, Gothic,	1.50
Alphabets, Italian Entertainment,	1.50

Any book sold by mail at retail price. Orders for 10 cents or more sent by mail prepaid. Any book not kept in stock will be procured to order at short notice.

Address, C. H. DITSON & CO., 711 Broadway, New York.

apr 8 12m

JUST RECEIVED

AT

D. S. WAITT'S,

Ready Made Clothing

FOR

SPRING AND SUMMER.

GO TO D. S. WAITT'S

FOR

BOOTS & SHOES.

A full line just opened.

FOR GENTS' FURNISHING

Goods go to

D. S. WAITT'S.

DRY GOODS! DRY GOODS!!

D. S. WAITT'S

is the place to get them cheap.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS!

Fertilizers Fertilizers.

SOLUBLE PACIFIC GUANO.

Standard Super Phosphate of Lime.

We are offering the above celebrated Guanos, per ton, in small or large quantities to suit, payable 1st November next, or sold for cash.

All Fertilizers sold by us to be free from adulteration.

Pamphlets sent free on application.

Orders promptly and we will give them our personal attention.

WATTS, INGHAM & CO., Agents,
Phosphate Factory at Chemical plant Mc chanic, Raleigh, N. C.

ZERO

REFRIGERATOR,

IS THE BEST

Meats, Fruits & Ice Preserver,

IN THE WORLD.

Has stood at American Institute fair, 1838, 1871 and 1873. Also, New Alexandria, North Carolina, Texas, Louisiana and Illinois, State Fairs.

Send for Catalogue.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Raleigh, N. C.
Manufacturers Agents.

apr 8

Manufactures Represented by us:

Charles Pratt & Co., Manufacturers of Pratt's Astral Oil.
E. C. Ham and Tool Co., Manufacturers of the Robbins Cotton Hoe.
Chas. A. Vogt Chemical Paint Co.
Vogt's Manufacturing Co., Super Phosphates and Ammoniated Bone and Potash Guano Dealers.
A. J. Shepard & Co., Manufacturers of the "All Right" Cotton Seed Planter.
Mast, Foos & Sweet Powder Co., Manufacturer of Orange Grit and Sterling Powders.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Street Building,
Raleigh, N. C.

RECOLLECT.

In reference to the REPUBLIC

HANDLED COTTON BOP.

It is the only HOE made of Cast Steel—Not Rolled Steel.

We sold in 1873, 2,200 dozen of these Hoes.
We Warrant every HOE perfect in Stock, Temper and Finish.

Hardware House of
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Raleigh, N. C.

M. T. Bowen, Late with Jno. H. Adams.

W. A. Hyatt Jr. Formerly with J. P. Gulley & Bro.

NORRIS & MYATT,

(SUCCESSORS TO LEN H ADAMS)

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

GROCERS, COTTON FACTORS

—AND—

General Commission Merchants.

No. 1 Exchange Place and No. 3 Martin Street,

Have now in the trade a large and well selected stock of staple and fancy groceries at remarkably low figures with the times. They are daily receiving, and have now in store, a choice lot of North Carolina Hams.

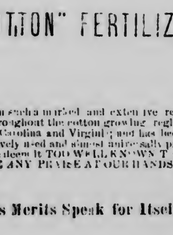
75 bbls Family Extra Superfine Flour,
25 sacks North Carolina Flour,
100 bushels Corn and Bolted Meal,
20 sacks Salt,
30 cubs Extra A Sugar,
10 bbls Extra C Sugar,
10 bbls Extra C Yellow Sugar,
10 bbls Dem Sugar,
10 sacks Rio Coffee,
10 kegs Soda,
10 boxes Candy Pulled Lye,
10 boxes Oyster Crackers,
10 boxes Adamantine Candles,
25 kits Best Leaf Lard,
1000 pounds Pure Assorted Candy
500 bunches Chilton Yarn,
50 kegs Nails,
50 boxes Alligator Tobacco, and a full assortment of goods usually kept in a first class grocery. All bought at very low figures. Our motto: "Quick sales and small profits." A large lot of Boots and Shoes, Hats and Heavy Pants—goods which will be offered at reduced figures. Call and examine our stock before selling elsewhere. Consignments and Country Produce solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

April 1-tf

The Celebrated

"Cotton" Fertilizer.

--GILHAM'S--



All the work of "HERN FERTILIZING COMPANY," made from the formula of PROF WILLIAM GILHAM is stamped with the above PATENTED TRADE MARK to GUARANTEE it distinct from all others.

Prepared Especially and Solely for the

COTTON CROP,

BY THE "SOUTHERN FERTILIZING COMPANY" RICHMOND, VA.

Each Species of Plant must have the SPECIFIC FOOD SUITED TO ITS PECULIAR NATURE in order to produce the LARGEST AND BEST RESULTS."

THE HIGHEST TESTIMONIALS received from every Section—from many of the LARGEST FARMERS—from PLANTERS and NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENTS and OTHERS INTERESTED PARTIES—through the DAILY PRESS, relative to the splendid action throughout the State.

THIS CELEBRATED

"COTTON" FERTILIZER

has won such a marked and extensive reputation throughout the cotton growing region of North Carolina and Virginia; and has been so exclusively used and praised unreservedly praised that we deem it TOO WELL KNOWN TO REQUIRE ANY PUFF AT OUR HANDS

Its Merits Speak for Itself.

By the handsome yield it produces, and the large NET PROFITS realized from it.

Ask your neighbors who have tried it what they think of it. IT PAYS A NET PROFIT of

OVER 100 P. C. IN

NB.—There will be only a certain LIMITED AMOUNT of this Fertilizer manufactured especially for OUR SUPPLY. Our friends, and the trade, will do well to send in their orders at once, to be booked ahead and then I can call for same as they may need it.

The "Southern Fertilizing Company" is only the HIGHEST GRADE of reliable materials known to Chemists, and MAINTAIN AND GUARANTEE a minimum standard.

This Fertilizer is sold in Merchants and Planters generally, at all the principal Cities, Towns and Stations, throughout North Carolina and Virginia.

SPECIAL AGENTS:

C. W. GRANDY & SONS,

COTTON FACTORS

Norfolk, Va.

We have the exclusive control of the "COTTON" FERTILIZER for North Carolina and Southeastern Virginia. This Fertilizer can be had upon the following terms:

Cash Basis.

60 Per Ton at our Wharf or depot. Drayage 50 Cents Per Ton Additional.

Orders for 5 Tons and Upwards 4 Per Cent Discount.
" " 10 " " " 6 " " "
" " 20 " " " 8 " " "
" " 30 " " " 10 " " "
" " 50 " " " 12 " " "

Cash orders must be accompanied by the Cash. No discount allowed on Orders under Five Tons.

ON TIME, WITH APPROVED SECURITY

$45 Per Ton at our Warehouse. Drayage 50 Cents Per Ton Additional. Payable 1st November next, without Interest.

Orders for 5 Tons and upwards 10 per cent. Discount.

Orders for 20 Tons and upwards 8 per cent. Discount.

The discount on time orders to be based on the Cash Value, $40 per Ton.

No Discount on Time orders under 20 Tons.

Orders MADE DIRECT or through any Cotton factor, Commission Merchants or Dealers generally will receive prompt attention. Apply or send your orders to any Merchant or Dealer and if they have not got it they will order it for you or the Farmers and Planters generally conform CLUBS and send their orders accompanied by the Cash for lots of 5, 10, 20, 30 or 50 tons at the above rates of discount, specifically. No discounts allowed except for lots as stated above. All letters of enquiry answered promptly. We do not consider it necessary to ask any one to buy this Fertilizer, but merely to announce HOW AND WHERE it may be had.

ADDRESS

C. W. GRANDY & SONS,

COTTON FACTORS, NORFOLK, VA.

SOLE AGENTS FOR THE SOUTHERN FERTILIZING COMPANY

HATS, HATS, HATS.

Call and see them at

D. S. WAITT'S.

ALF. A. THOMPSON. JOEL D. WHITAKER.

FARMERS' EXCHANGE.

Thompson & Whitaker

Wholesale Grocers and

Commission Merchants,

MARTIN STREET,

GUANOS.

"Soluble Nitrate Guano,"
"Nitrate Tobacco Fertilizer"

AND

Dissolved Phosphate.

Manufactured by Nitrate Guano Company at Wilmington, N. C. Guaranteed to meet all the requirements of the law.

Those are the names of a few who will testify to its worth:

Dr. B. Craven, Trinity College; L. H. Sanders, Johnston county; W. H. Mcallaughlin Johnston county; David Wood, Johnston county; J. M. Wilcox, Wilson; Allen & W. Pou, Raleigh; Wells Avery, Johnston county. For sale by

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.

Raleigh, N. C.

Feb 4 12m.

LEACH BROTHERS,

GROCERS AND

Commission Merchants,

Wilmington St. East Side Market Square

RALEIGH, N. C.

In view of the approaching "Spring season" we have laid in a heavy and well selected stock which we offer to the public at prices corresponding to the scarcity of money. Hereby giving the small dealer a good stock for small capital. We offer for cash

11 hhds H. Sugars at 11c.
20 hhds H. Sugars at 11 1-4
10 hhds X. C. Sugars at 11.
30 hhds. extra bright "Orleans," 10 1-2.
20 hhds. extra bright yellow, 10 1-2.
25 hhds. prime Rio coffee, 37.
20 bags good Rio coffee, 36.
20 bags Java coffee at 37 1-2c.
50 hhds Extra Flour at $8.50.
50 bbls "Super Fine Flour," $11.75.
50 boxes "Brown" & G mond's Soaps, 60 lbs to box, at 4 1-4 box.
25 boxes "Leach Pride Family" Soaps at 5 1-2, 60 lbs to box.
25 bbls "Old Process" loaf crushers 13 1-2.
20 boxes Soda crackers at 10c.
20 bbls "Extra" Patents.
20 bbls "choice family White" 10c.
20 bbls "Seven Rivers" meal.
25 kegs Engl Soda at 7 1-2c.
50 boxes Adamantine candles at 15 1-2.
50 kegs Carolina Lard at 12 1-2c.
10 bbls new crop "Cane Molasses" at 42 1-2.
500 lbs bale rope.
2 bbls Bar shovels, etc.
Hinson Boots and Shoes at cash '73 reduced added.
100 Wilson Cotton Hoes to be kept now in use.
2 Plows and Castings of every kind.

NOTICE—We desire to call the attention of our friends to the fact that both merchants in the city are having letter-heads headed "Sea Island" in imitation of our well known brand for which we are sole agents, and none to be genuine unless our brand as Agents is on the head of barrel.

"LOOK FOR THE BRAND."

LEACH BROS.

mar 4-tf.

CANVASSERS send No. of your Lodge and name this paper. We will convince you that we are paying more for Pictures for Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights Templar, Harbours, Reformers, Mechanics, etc., are making double the profit any other way. Work permanent. J. H. & P. PUTNAM & CO., Printing & Fine Art Pubs., Cincinnati, O.

Feb 25-12m

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is the Place to Buy

Fresh and Plain Candies,

Foreign and Domestic Fruits,

RAISINS, NUTS, &c.

Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco, Fancy Good. Children's Toys, Carriages for the Little Folks,

CROQUET SETS,

BASE BALLS AND BATS,

Marbles, Tops and Kites,

All at MOSELEY'S

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN

Gaural Commission Merchants

AND

COTTON FACTORS,

Exchange Place (Fisher Building),

P. O. Box 22, RALEIGH, N. C.

Consignments of

COTTON, FLOUR, GRAIN, FORGION

and other country produce solicited.

General Agents for the sale of James River CEMENT.

every barrel guaranteed equal to the best. Also for the sale of Sheetings and Cotton Yarns from the Deep River Manufacturing Company.

CORN, FLOUR, FORAGE, &c.,

always on hand. Orders for the purchase of cotton solicited.

All business intrusted to us will have strict personal attention and we guarantee prompt ness and satisfaction.

A. G. LEE,
W. C. McMACKING.

Sept 10-tf.

W. F. KORNEGAY,

Goldsboro', N. C.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC HARDWARE.

COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.

Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.

FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are Western made, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All we ask is a trial of them.

Jan 28-tf

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT.
102 to 108 East Second St., Cincinnati.

apr 15-12m

W. M. JONES,

CAREY, N. C.

Contractor, House Builder,

Manufacturer and dealer in dressed Lumber, Sashes, Blinds, Doors, and all other kinds of Building Material.

feb 4-tf

The Diamond Cotton

CHOPPER AND CULTIVATOR

THE INVENTOR'S ASS'T. U. S. the recent invention of J. B. UNDERWOOD, of Fayetteville, N. C., is unquestionably the GREATEST LABOR SAVER of the age and adds 100 to the value of a Cotton Plant—what the McCormick Reaper and Mower is to the Wheat Farmer. It is a one operation chop, hoes both sides, weeds and thins the cotton more effectually than can be done by the hoe—thinning the work of from SIX men and four to FOUR horses—with but ONE man and ONE horse. After the Chopping, it is converted into a most excellent CULTIVATOR, in the shape of HARROW SWEEP, for use between the rows throughout the season. It has been thoroughly tried upon the crop of 1873, and is the highest recommendation of its perfect success. It took the GOLD MEDAL at the Georgia State Fair, as the most important and latest improvement in Agricultural implements on the Cotton Farm of every where it has been exhibited.

Price of Machine without Attachments, $35 and Freight. Price $15.00 extra.

For circulars and further information address

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN.
Agents for CHOPPER at Raleigh, N. C.

(A Sample Machine is on exhibition at their store. Call and examine CAROLINA COTTON GIN.

M'CALLUM, WYCKOFF & HOPE,

SUCCESSORS TO

SEPARKS, HICKS & CO.,

Engineers, Iron Founders and Machinists,

RALEIGH, N. C.,

We are manufacturing

THE CAROLINA COTTON GIN.

Awarded a premium by the North Carolina Agricultural Society in 1873 for the best Gin on exhibition. TESTED by thirty years superior, the lightest running, strongest and most durable Gin in use. We guarantee every Gin to give entire satisfaction. The premium Gin took premium at Fair of Cotton Growers, held at Raleigh, 1873. Persons owning Gins and other Engine and Boiler in the market.

We also manufacture CANE MILLS, not excelled by any other.

Repairing of Machinery, and all other work of a similar nature, promptly executed.

Correspondence solicited.

april 2-tf.

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

R. H. TRIBBLE, A. M., Principal.
Miss R. H. TRIBBLE, Teacher of Music.

Spring session begins January, 5th, 1874.

Tuition per month, $3.00
For the session of nine months, 25.00 to 30.00
One hundred dollars.

ADVANTAGES.

Low price of board and home-like family arrangement. Sabbath school and religious service every Sunday.

Access.—By rail Road or by conveyance, wherever conveyance will be furnished by the Principal, if informed of arrival.

Address Dr. Tribble,
Greensboro, N. C.

Nov 26-1m

THOMAS H. TYSON. W. T. JONES.

TYSON & JONES,

(Successors to Tyson, Kelly & Co.)

Carriage Builders,

CARTHAGE, N. C.

Having greatly increased our Facilities for Manufacturing, we are prepared to furnish Customers, direct from our Manufactory, or at our Repositories from our Agencies as follows:

Lauriston & Co., Fayetteville, N. C.
Brem & Co., Wilmington, N. C.
Bunnell, Smith & Co., Goldsboro, N. C.
Bunnell, Smith & Co., Kinston, N. C.
Bunnell, Smith & Co., New Berne, N. C.

We feel confident that with the close attention we pay the business, and the facilities we possess, the skill we can employ, and the many conveniences we have for manufacturing HIGH CLASS VEHICLES, that we can offer inducements to purchasers in STYLE, FINISH AND DURABILITY.

And also, to the TRADE in Axles we are selling at very low rates.

For Wheels, Spokes, Hubs, Rims and Saddles inspect the Hubs at Store Room.

May 4-12m

FOR SALE.

A Gold-eye Sewing Machine—new and cheap. Apply at the ADVOCATE Office.

Sept 17-tf

THE PERERLESS STEAM WASHER AND BLEACHER!

The latest, best and cheapest Washer made!

This Steam Washer is the best all. It is generally conceded. That the PERERLESS is best of its kind will be readily admitted as soon as it is seen and tested.

It causes the water to flow up through pipes and distribute through the clothes.

The water is not to go to the centre or either end of the boiler to get back where it started, but goes out at any part of the upper tub, and hence washes all parts of the clothing alike.

It passes the water in sixteen streams, and in all parts of the surface of the clothing.

The water passes through the clothes many times per minute, and causes them to lift to 40 inches!—With this method any lady of ordinary power can do the washing of her family in a very short time, with very little work, without rubbing, or damage to the fabric, with such ease and speed that few husband would hardly know when washday comes!

The cost of the machine soon saved in difference in soap. Soon saved in difference of time required.

A boy split or lame, cripple, old man or coarsest laborer a single phrase or bad relief wanted with equal ease.

The machine can be made for any stove boiler, or for the [illegible] and is [illegible] and for any other purpose.

It sells for new [illegible] and will do work A No thoroughly, and [illegible] time.

Agents wanted [illegible]

Call and see it operated.

PERERLESS AMONG ALL!

Directions for using go with each machine. They are made of best [illegible] and will last for following prices.

For washer and boiler No. 9, $8.00
For " " No. 8, 5.00
For washer and [illegible] 6.50
For " " 6.00

Sent anywhere per express on receipt of price by

J. A. JONES, Proprietor,
Raleigh, N. C.

PIANOS, PIANOS, ORGANS.

Nat L. Brown,

DEALER IN

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Agent for HORACE WATERS & SONS celebrated CONCERTO and OCTAVE ORGANS and PIANOS.

ALSO DEALER IN

Children's Carriages,
Fancy Goods,
Toys,
Baskets,
&c., &c.

BIRDS AND BIRD CAGES.

Confectionaries,
Fruits, Nuts,
Fresh Crackers and Cakes.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

Persons wishing to buy will do well to their advantage to give me a call. Prices as low as the times.

NAT L. BROWN,
Raleigh, N. C.

Illustrated Catalogue of Pianos and Organs mailed.

jan 14—tf

GENUINE

PERUVIAN GUANO.

Farmers, Agriculturists and Dealers in

Youth's Department.

Sweet, so Sweet

To rest my Saviour's head in mine;
To have his face on me to shine,
Till I can say, "Lord, I am thine,"
Is sweet, so sweet.

To sit low at my Saviour's feet,
To drink lessons that are sweet
Until my heart for him I meet—
Is sweet, so sweet.

To walk with Jesus all the while,
In the bright glory of his smile,
And feel his presence, mile by mile,
Is sweet, so sweet.

To have my soul bathed in his love,
Till I am gentle as the dove,
And long for wings to soar above,
Is sweet, so sweet.

To pour my wants into his ear,
To feel assured that he will hear;
To trust him without any fear,
Is sweet, so sweet.

To sleep with his beloved arm
Around me, keeping me from harm;
To hear his voice so full of charm;
Is sweet, so sweet.

To die reposing on his breast,
With vision of eternal rest;
With courage to face me to the blest,
Is sweet, so sweet.

Story of an Oracle.

One bright cold morning in March, a man walked through a ploughed field. From a bag, which he carried, he scattered small skining seed on the fresh red clay. A boy followed, dragging a large withered bush along the ground, in order to cover the seed sown: who could have known that the germ of a power, mighty to sway the fate of kingdoms, lay reposing there!

Three months passed. The field was covered with the slender stems and delicate pale-blue flowers of the flax which had been sown. So tender and fragile the lightest breeze of summer, caused the young plants to bend their maidest heads, and hide their innocent blossoms from the noon-tide glare.

Two months more passed on. Laborers came into the field, uprooted the flax, tied it into bundles and put it to steep in the nearest river.

Then the power it combined, began to be felt; the fish died, and the human beings who were occupied about it, struck by the pestilential vapor it exhaled, became sick, and pined away.

After those bundles of flax passed through as many transmigrations as the Hindoo deity Vishnoo, they became at length, fine white linen. This was formed into garments, winding its delicate folds round fair women, lovely children, and strong men.

Fashions change, and the linen robes were out, until torn into ignominious rags, they were cast aside into corners, or thrown into the streets.

This humiliation was for the flax the thorny road that leads to glory. Hagg ard men came and collected those rags, only a little more tattered than their own clothing, and heaped them in tubs of water—when by maceration, they became a sort of hand. From this was made paper.

It was sold by the ream, and bound up in the form of blank books; but not yet had it become an oracle.

In a manufactory over a blazing fire a caldron boiled; into this men poured poisonous substances stirring them until they produced a liquid blacker than a raven's wing.

The priests of the forthcoming oracle then took the paper, and with the ink traced on it certain characters of a simple form, twenty-six in number; yet each wielded a power of its own. Then the strength of the printing press was invoked to multiply these black impressions: the once white paper being covered with them was folded up and named a Newspaper; and lo! the Oracle complete.

Quietly it glided into the homes of men; swaying their spirits with a tyrant's hand, leading them now to good, now to evil; casting down one crowned head, and raising up another; praising a fool and condemning a wise man—according to the pleasure of its maker. —Then how many marvels did it tell men to believe, and they obeyed!

It told them of miraculous medicines, which would, without failing, make the old young, and the sick healthy; and of equally marvellous political panaceas, which would render place-hunters honest and statesmen incorruptible. All these and many other wonders, at the bidding of the oracle, its votaries believed.

But the day was ended, and to-morrow's sun shone on the worshippers changed into scoffers. A new oracle had entered the house, and the one of yesterday was deposed. Never before in any of its changes had it known such vicissitude. It was cut up into round pieces, to cover jars of sweetmeats; into long pieces, to light pipes; into square pieces, to be folded into gamecocks, boxes, and boats for the amusement of children. Handy consolation was, that a similar fate awaited to-morrow its proud rival of to-day.

This is the true story of an Oracle's rise and fall. Who, while standing gazing at a field of flax, could believe that such power is shrined in its pale green slender stems, and laughing innocent blue-eyed flowers.

Rural and Domestic.

Household Recipes.

TEA CAKE.—One pound of flour, a quarter pound of butter, a quarter of a pound of sugar, four eggs, a very little soda, as much milk as will make it thick batter. Bake in a simpe butter and serve hot.

TO CLEAN WALL-PAPER.—Moisten rosh, dry calcined magnesia with pure benzole, and cork it for use: rub this on fresh grease-spots, and they will flee at once: if they are of long standing, spread the paste on the spot, and leave it till the benzole evaporates, then remove the mass carefully with a paper knife, so as not to scratch the surface, and brush the magnesia away with a nice dry brush.

A POISONOUS ANILINE COLOR.—The dye stuff called rosanilin, which gives a beautiful carmine color, is, it is stated, an arseniferous production, allied to arseniate of lime, and is soluble in lactic acid. It is used in lithography and for painting wooden vessels, etc. As it is very poisonous, it should never be employed in confectionery, and bright sugar sticks should never be given to children.

MINCE WITHOUT MEAT FOR PARTIES.—Grate the rind of two or three lemons, and add to them one and a half pounds of beef suet, of apples, of raisins, of currants and of brown sugar, respectively, one quarter of a pound of candied peel, a very little salt, some mace, nutmeg and cinnamon. Add a small bottle of any kind of fruit syrup preferred. Should be mixed only a short time before wanted.

MOTH PREVENTIVE.—The following recipe for keeping moths out of cloth ing is a favorite in some families: Mix half a pint of alcohol, the same quantity of spirits of turpentine, and two ounces of camphor. Keep in a stone bottle, and shake before using. The clothes or furs are to be wrapped in linen, and crumbled up pieces of blotting-paper dipped in the liquid are to be placed in the box with them, so that it smells strong. This requires renewing about once a year.

RAISED NUT CAKES. Make a sponge over night, with one quart of new milk and half a cake of dry yeast, dissolved in a gill of water. In the morning, if it is light, add half a pint of butter, a pound of sugar, three eggs, half a nutmeg, half a teaspoonful of soda, a little salt, and flour enough to make a dough somewhat stiff; knead well, and set to rise: let it get very light, and then mold and put it into a pan, thoroughly but not heavy; when very light, again turn the pan.

ROLLS. One quart of flour, one cup of milk, three tablespoonsful of lard or butter, one tablespoonful of sugar, one half cup of yeast. Put the flour in a dish, make a hole in the centre, put the yeast, milk, lard and sugar in without stirring, and stand till noon. Then stir all together, mold in a little more flour, and let it rise till two hours before tea-time. Roll out a little thick er than pie crust: cut out with a pint pail cover; after cutting, butter very slightly, fold over, and rise fifteen minutes before baking.

AN EXCELLENT DOMESTIC CONFECTION.—Orange-peel, preserved in sugar, is one of the most delightful confections which a family can use, far superior to the extracts sold in the shops. The peel should, of course, be perfectly clean, and should be cut in long, thin strips. Stew in water till all the bitterness is extracted, then throw away the water, and stew again for half an hour in a thick syrup made of a pound of sugar to one of peel, with water just enough. Put away in a cool place for flavoring puddings, pies, etc. For this purpose it should be chopped.

Measuring Hay.

To measure the contents of a stack of hay proceed as follows. If it is a round stack, tapering to a point from the ground, measure the width half way between the ground and the peak of the stack; multiply this width by itself, and divide the sum by 7.854: this will give the average area of the surface covered by the stack. Then multiply that by the height from the ground to the point where the width was measured. If these measurements are feet, the sum found is the cubic feet in the stack. If the hay is timothy, orchard grass, millet, Hungarian, 500 feet will make a ton, or a cube eight feet each way. If the stack is very solid, and was cut when dead ripe, 350 feet will make a ton, or a cube of seven feet each way. If the hay is mixed with clover, about 700 feet, or a cube of nine feet each way, will make a ton. If it is all clover or light meadow grass, or red-top, 800 feet will be required to weigh a ton, unless it is pressed very hard,—when some allowances must be made. These estimates are made from notes of a great many stacks and mows of various kinds, and will give a fair average.

Water Pails.

Wooden water pails whether to be used in the kitchen or at the stable, should receive two or three good coats of gumshellac varnish, dissolved in alcohol, well laid on both inside and outside. This will last a year or more before the wood will begin to soak water. It is much better than lead paint for the inside of pails. Lead is poison and soon peels off in freezing weather, and then the pails soak water and get very heavy to lift; besides which they rot fast and leak through the pores of the wood. Shellac can be procured of any painter, ready mixed, and, if corked tightly, will keep any length of time.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

"Housekeeper" of Health.

The skin being the great depurating or blood cleansing organ of the system—set this great "health officer" at work, & the foul corrupted blood, under the influence of the Golden Medical Discovery will very soon daily cause of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are promptly put in active motion. Their curative powers are wonderful. Great cutting pains, all dull, heavy aches and pains, yield to their subtle, curative influence. Virulent and poisonous humors in the system are by them robbed of their terrors, and by their powerful and searching properties are most speedily and completely renovated and built up anew. Enlarged glands, tumors and swellings dwindle away and disappear under the influence of these great remedies.

DOCTORS COULDN'T HELP HIM

MERIONVILLE, Morgan Co., O., March 24th, 1872.

DEAR SIR PIERCE:

When I was 12 or 15 years of age I took what is called King's Evil, and by constant doctoring it would heal in one place and break out in another. It also broke out in my left ear. I first found your name in the Christian Advocate, and sent 10 miles for the first bottle, which did me more good than all other medicines I ever used. I am 28 years old and doctored with five doctors and not one of them helped me as much as your bottle of Discovery. I have got well and able to do a good day's work.

JOHN A. WILSON

april 22 1-W

Sustain the Sinking System.

The flashes of excitement produced by the stimulants in ordinary use, are followed by a reaction that is always more or less injurious. Just as darkness, illuminated for a moment by the lightning's glare, becomes apparently blacker than ever the after flash is gone, so the mental gloom and physical debility that vanish temporarily under the influence of dram, or turn with a new fold intensity when the first transient effect ceases. Yet physicians habitually prescribe the liquors of commerce for patients suffering from bodily weakness and mental despondency. The true remedy in such cases is a pure, stimulant medicated with the finest tonics and alteratives which the vegetable kingdom affords, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the only preparation at present known which thoroughly meets the emergency. The effect of this popular restorative is continuous. Each dose taken invigorates the vital energies and the brain, and its prolonged use will unquestionably cure dyspepsia, debility, hypochondria, or mental torpidity that does not arise from organic causes beyond the reach of medicine. It is, in the strictest sense of the word, an invigorating and regulating combination. If the nerves are irritable and relaxed, it braces them; if the bowels are constipated, it relieves them; if the liver is torpid, it promotes activity in that organ; if the mind is gloomy, it clears away the clouds; if the appetite is poor and digestion a slow and painful operation, it creates a relish for food and enables the stomach to convert it into nutritious aliment. Moreover, it is a specific for a longer number of ailments, some of which are particularly prevalent in the damp and chilly weather which we so often experience in mid winter. Among these may be mentioned rheumatism, chills and fever and all the morbid conditions of the digestive and secretive organs superinduced by sudden changes of temperature and the lurking seeds of the season.

april 1—lm,

A pair of shoes will cost you only 5 cents more with SILVER TIP on toes without, and it will add twice the cost of the shoe to their wearing value

April 8 13-n

ADVERTISEMENTS.

DR. C. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, has transient cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; the spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can not command sufficient fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he dreads every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the liver to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS, in cases of AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will be well to write their orders distinctly, and take none but Dr. C. M'Lane's, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, post paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pill, for twelve three-cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

Sold by all respectable Druggists and Country Storekeepers generally.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge

Should be kept in every nursery. If you would have your children grow up to be healthy, strong, and vigorous MEN and WOMEN, give them a few doses of

M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE,

TO EXPEL THE WORMS.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

ODELL, RAGAN & CO.,

Wholesale Dealers in

General Merchandise,

GREENSBORO', N. C.

We call the attention of the merchants of North Carolina to the fact that we have opened our large wholesale house and that we are prepared to sell Horn goods, as cheap as they can be in any market. We are the agents for Cole's Cotton Gins, Deep River Guano and Alamance Manufacturing Co's. Sheeting, Yarns, Planks and Seamless Bags. Parties ordering Beer goods will get them as cheap from us as if they ordered directly from the factory. We also sell Salem Steam & Factory prices. Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

Feb 4—12m.

R. F. JONES & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C

COMMISSION MERCHANTS COTTON FACTORS

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Wilmington Street, opposite Market House,

In the wholesale department they offer to the trade a large stock of first class groceries at prices that have and will continue to attract the trade. They have in store

1200 Gals. S. H. syrup.
150 Sacks fine Liverpool Salt.
1200 Pounds Cream Cheese.
300 Bushels Bolted Meal.
100 Boxes Cakes and Crackers—fresh.
1000 Pounds pure family, assorted.
25 Cases mixed Pickles.
40 Doz. cans Fresh Peaches.
50 Bbls. Superfine and Family Flour.
3000 Pounds Family Soap.
25 Boxes Adamantine Candles.
40 Doz. boxes Axle Grease.
72 ½ Masons Blacking.
50,000 Water Proof Percussion Caps.

Powder, Shot, Snuff, Tobacco, Soda, Spice, Pepper Tea, &c., &c.

Bulk Meat and Breakfast Strips, and a full assortment of other goods generally sold in grocery store. Call and examine the quality of their goods and price. Consignment of produce solicited.

sept 18-6m

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

A Consumptive cured.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his own child with a preparation of Cannabis Indica. He has given this recipe from receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of consumption that it does not displace—night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Difficult Expectoration, Sharp Pain in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inaction of the Bowels, and Wasting of the Muscles. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia Pa., giving name of this paper.

Nov. 26-6m.

JOHN M. PRATT, late of H. D. Wade & Co.

GRAY'S FERRY PRINTING INK WORKS.

PRATT & ROBINSON, 8 Spruce Street, NEW YORK.

ROBINSON & PRATT 714 Sansom Street, PHILA.

Black and Colored Printing Inks.

april 7-3m

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

This purely Vegetable Medicine is warranted to contain a single particle of MERCURY, or any injurious mineral substance, and is

PURELY VEGETABLE.

Every ingredient entering into Roots and Herbs which are all over Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure any disease caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine

Is eminently a Family Medicine, and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bills.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials as to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians consider it as the most EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, all climates and changes of water and food may be faced without fear. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, BILIOUSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.

MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA.

Price $1.00. Sold by all Druggists.

feb 5-12m

FURNITURE.

W. H. Morris & Co.

No. 3 Fayetteville Street,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealer in all kinds of fur. Hures, such as Walnut Chamber Suits, Cottage Chamber Sets, Parlor Sets, Library Desks, Bedsteads, Bureaus, Wardrobes, Washstand, Tables, Chairs, Sofas, Lounges, Spring Beds, of various patterns, Cribs and Cradles in great variety of styles, painting and prices. Wood sawing at 10 cents per cord. Prices &c.

ALSO

Keep constantly on hand wood maker to order. Hair Mattresses, such as pure Curled Hair, Moss and Shuck. Excelsior and Shuck Mattresses and Husk Mattresses renovated and made as good as new.

No trouble to show goods. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

Oct 29-6m. W. A. MORRIS & CO.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BELL & CO'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED WORLD EYE CUPS

Read for yourself and Examine your Sight. Convex Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered unnecessary in MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, BILIOUSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA

The Best Invention of the Age. Patent Improved Every Day.

The Instinctive Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new Patent Improved Every Day Cups.

Many of our most eminent oculists, oculists, physicians and divines, as well as the people generally, are using Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Instinctive Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new Patent Improved Every Day Cups.

1. Is painful? Answer: Perhaps, not more than to wash your face with cold water. 2. Is it dangerous? Answer: Not by any means. 3. Is it costly? Answer: Not by any means. 4. Is it necessary to spend days and weeks in the dark? Answer: No. 5. Is it necessary to use powerful medicines? Answer: No. 6. Is it necessary to use powerful medicines? Answer: No. 7. Is it necessary to use powerful medicines? Answer: No. 8. Is it necessary to use powerful medicines? Answer: No. 9. Is it necessary to use powerful medicines? Answer: No. 10. Is it necessary to use powerful medicines? Answer: No.

Dr. J. Bell & Co., Philadelphia, are now called upon to examine the eyes of the people of Philadelphia and vicinity, and to prescribe the Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Instinctive Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new Patent Improved Every Day Cups.

Many of our most eminent oculists, oculists, physicians and divines, as well as the people generally, are using Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Instinctive Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new Patent Improved Every Day Cups.

2,500 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from noted Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants in search of them. Read what the professional and business men and ex-editors say. Read what the ministers and others in our country can be found at our office.

The Evening Post of March 28 from Boston says, of the New York Tribune, offers: "J. Bell, late of Philadelphia, has opened an office in this city for the examination of eyes who may be in need of spectacles, or Impediment."

Prof. A. Jacobi of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 7th, 1872: "Without my spectacles, I can read this case, after using the PATENT EYE CUPS thirteen days and ride 30 miles per day. The cups are a valuable discovery, and all with the diseased eye."

"Truly an Ignoble for your noble invention. May Heaven endow and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, REV. P. W. HERRICK

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness in six years' standing, by the PATENT IMPROVED EYE CUPS.

E. J. Ellis, late Mayor of Bangor, Maine, wrote, Nov 15th, 1872: "I have found the PATENT IMPROVED EYE CUPS and I can see to read the finest print. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salvisa, Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest gift I ever possessed. My sight is fully restored, after I was almost entirely blind for 26 years."

Also R. Wyatt, M. D., Aiedale, Ia., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by your Patent Improved Every Day Eye Cups, I have restored your Patent Eye Cups restored my eyesight entirely in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices &c., will please send for same, and we will send our pamphlet on the Eye, entitled PATENT IMPROVED EVERY DAY EYE CUPS, containing over one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Bell & Co. Box 957, 30-31 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worse cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC CUPS. Testimonials supplied to the TRUE EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlet and circulars free. Write no more money by ordering large glasses from your household physicians. Use your own.

AGENTS WANTED

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT which is Every Eye Cups, just introduced in the country. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at home by an easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $12 a day. To live Agents $25 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR J. BALL & CO.,

NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,

P. O. Box 957. NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

Sept 4-1m

Finish report money paid for children's shoes. 101 protected by SILVER TIPS. Two weeks is about the time it takes a smart, active child to outwear the end of a shoe. SILVER TIPS the only preventative March 25-3-y

Established 1871.

B. W. PAYNE, B. S. PAYNE, D. W. PAYNE

B. W. PAYNE & SONS

Corning Foundry and Machine Co.

CORNING, STEUBEN CO., N. Y.

Manufacturers of

Stationary Engines, Boilers and Spark-Arresting Portable Engines For Plantation Use.

Delivered Free on Board Ship in New York City.

Send for Circular.

Feb 25 12m

PARENTS REDUCE YOUR SHOE BILLS TWO THIRDS BY BUYING

Silver Tipped Shoes.

Feb 18-6m

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, the NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Monday, 4 p. m. 1871

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	Mail.	Express
Leave Charlotte	11 P. M.	5.25 A. M.
" Statesville	1.15 "	8.01 "
" Salisbury	1.49 "	10.47 "
" Greensboro	4.15 A. M.	1.30 P. M.
" Danville	7.20 "	4.30 "
" Burkville	8.20 "	5.30 "
Arrive at Richmond	9.35 "	7.05 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	Mail.	Express
Leave Richmond	1.45 P. M.	8.05 A. M.
" Burkville	3.15 "	9.25 "
" Danville	9.32 "	1.05 P. M.
" Greensboro	1.16 A. M.	4.05 "
" Salisbury	3.06 "	6.35 "
" Air Line Junct'n	6.22 "	8.51 "
Arrive at Charlotte	6.51 A. M.	9.00 "

GOING EAST. GOING WEST

STATIONS.	Mail.	Mail.
Leave Greensboro	2.05 A. M.	Arrive 12.55 A. M.
" Co. Line	[illegible]	10.15 "
" Hillsboro	[illegible]	8.40 "
" Raleigh	144 "	6.00 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro' ..... 4.40 P. M.
" at Salem ..... 8.55 " A.
Leave Salem ..... 8.00 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro ..... 12.00 A. M.

Mail train daily, both ways.

Passengers by the above new connections have Restaurant at Co. Line. Mail train arrives at Charlotte at 12.20 P. M., leave Greensboro at 4.30 A. M., arrive at Richmond at 4.00 A. M.

Through Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, without change.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company, will please print as above.

For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Herbert A. Fisk, Superintendent.

CRAGHEAD & BRUCE

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 21, 1872.

On and after Monday, October 28th, 1872, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad will run daily (except Sunday) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	9.30 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leave Weldon,	9.00 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.10 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	4.35 P. M.
Arrive at Weldon,	8.40 A. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.25 P. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	7.15 P. M.

Mail train runs connects at Weldon, with Richmond & Petersburg Railroad, and Seaboard & Roanoke Railroad for all points North and West.

Accommodation train connects at Weldon with Richmond & Petersburg Railroad, for Petersburg and Richmond, and Seaboard & Roanoke Railroad for all points South and West.

Mail train connects at Raleigh with Western North Carolina Railroad for Hillsboro, Greensboro, Charlotte and all points West.

Accommodation train connects at Raleigh with Western North Carolina Railroad for Hillsboro.

Close connections are made at Raleigh Junction with Mail train for Fayetteville.

S. B. ALEXANDER,
Superintendent.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE

[illegible]

[illegible]

MAIL TRAIN.

[illegible]

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh, ... 3.15 P. M.
Arrive at Seaboard, ... 8.25 "
Leave at Seaboard, ... 10.15 A. M.
Arrive at Raleigh, ... 3.40 P. M.

Mail train daily, other connections as at Raleigh & Gaston and Seaboard & Roanoke Railroads for all points North and West.

Local passenger between Weldon and Raleigh, leaves Weldon daily, except Sunday, at 4.30 P. M., arrives at Raleigh at 9.00 P. M. Returning leaves Raleigh at 6.00 A. M., arrives at Weldon at 10.30 A. M.

Mail train daily, both ways. Passengers by the above new connections have Restaurant at Co. Line. Mail train arrives at Charlotte at 12.20 P. M., leave Greensboro at 4.30 A. M., arrive at Richmond at 4.00 A. M.

Through Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, without change.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company, will please print as above.

For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Herbert A. Fisk, Superintendent.

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness &c.,

Opposite Tucker Hall,

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Burr's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just received by

PESCUD, LEE & CO'S

Drug Store.

jan 14 tf

PIEDMONT & ARLINGTON

LIFE

INSURANCE CO.

OF VIRGINIA.

POLICIES ISSUED 2,500
AMOUNTS INSURED $1,500,000

Expires of policies expired, less than three years in force, paying at once 25 per cent.

Over $500,000 paid to widows and orphans. Real Estate of Stockholders liable for debts of Company. Has deposited with Insurance Department of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, &c., a fund exclusively for security of policy holders in each State.

DR. C. D. EE, General Agent

Raleigh, N. C.

Jan 7-3m.

JAMES LEFFEL'S

IMPROVED DOUBLE

Turbine Water Wheel.

POOLE & HUNT, Baltimore,

MANUFACTURERS FOR THE NORTH AND SOUTH WEST.

Nearly 7 80 feet in use, working under heads varying from 2 feet 11 feet 24 sizes, from 5 to 36 inches.

The same powerful Wheel with the New Ideal, And most economical in water and cost.

Large ILLUSTRATED Pamphlet sent post free.

MANUFACTURERS ALSO, OF

Portable and Stationary Steam Engines and Rollers, Baldwin & Mason's Patent Tobacco Cutter, Blanchard's Crusher for Minerals, Saw and Grist Mills, Flouring Mill Machinery, Machinery for White Lead Works and Oil Mills, Shafting Pulleys and Hangers.

SEND FOR CIRCULARS.

Feb 25-6m

Mothers, Mothers, Mothers.

Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for all diseases incident to the period of teething in children. It relieves the child from pain, cures wind colic, regulates the bowels, and by giving relief and health to the child, gives rest to the mother. Be sure and call for

"MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP."

For sale by all druggists

June 25-1y.

W. C. CRENSHAW, Rockingham, N. C. [illegible]

"BLEES"

Lock Stitch, Lock-Stitch Shuttle

HOME LIFE

Hand-Made, Leather, Tacks, Rosettes, Cards.

Hand-Made, Plain, Quilted, Satin, Velvet, Silk, Satin and Velvet Ribbon, Fancy Goods, Notions, Hosiery, Gloves, Corsets, Hoop Skirts, Jewelry, Cutlery, Perfumery, Soaps, Combs, Brushes, Toilet Articles, Stationery, Cigars, Tobacco, Pipes, Snuff, Confectionery, Fruits, Nuts, Canned Goods, Pickles, Sauces, Spices, Extracts, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, Putty, Window Shades, Fixtures, Lamps, Chimneys, Wicks, Burners, Kerosene, Machine Oil, Lard Oil, Sperm Oil, Tanners' Oil, Neatsfoot Oil, Axle Grease, Wagon Material, Cordage, Twine, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Mats, Rugs, Matting, Crockery, Glassware, Tinware, Woodenware, Willowware, Hardware, Cutlery, Guns, Pistols, Ammunition, Powder, Shot, Lead, Fishing Tackle, Sporting Goods, Base Ball Goods, Boots, Shoes, Rubbers, Hats, Caps, Furs, Robes, Blankets, Shawls, Ready-Made Clothing, Cassimeres, Doeskins, Jeans, Linseys, Flannels, Cottonades, Tickings, Checks, Stripes, Denims, Drills, Sheetings, Shirtings, Calicoes, Ginghams, Prints, Muslins, Laces, Embroideries, Trimmings, Dress

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 17. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 29, 1874. WHOLE NO. 1,015.

Selected Poetry.

Better Things

Better to see than to read of; better to hear than to see;
Better to look, which is to look, than to look and be blessed alone;
Better the lover's lasting creed, than kisses in a crowd;
Better to hear than to look at; better than look or have all day;
Better the friendship in the heart, than the fountain by the way;
Better a daily mother's hand than eat alone at will;
Better to trust an equal, than say, My goods are at your command;
Better to learn of the wise, than in knowledge be second;
Better to teach a child, than not to fill perfection's record;
Better silent than a babbler's fool, than Guilt's Defending Shield;
Better a gift than a promise, than be sure than to be sure;
Better to work than to dream, than watch the hour go by;
Better the sight of the sun, than the air with clouds o'ercast;
Better to have a quiet mind, than a hurrying delight;
Better the lark's song at dawn, than the mocking bird at night.
Better a book when weary, than a friend with a mood to-day;
Better a child in the house, than the king of all the land.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Snuff-Dipping.

Mr. Editor: It has been suggested to me from several sources, that in my remarks upon the use of tobacco especially the habit of chewing—as addressed to "Young Itinerants" recently in the "Advocate," I seemed to have altogether overlooked snuff dipping, and its detestable evils, and that this oversight might give strength and popularity to this pernicious habit, among the very large class of our women who use it, many of whom are found in the cultivated and refined circles of society. For these reasons, as well as for others which will appear, I have concluded to detail a few facts in regard to the manufactory of this form of tobacco, as well as set forth some evils entailed upon our fair country women by its use, in doing which I propose to state nothing but facts such as are in my possession, and the truth of which an extended observation and experience has confirmed.

In the manufactory of snuff it will be no exaggeration to assert, that a large proportion of it was always made from refuse tobacco—such as ground and frost-bitten leaves—the sweepings of the floors of large tobacco manufactories, and the gleanings from stems and stalks. As these manufactories were in, or near large cities, very early in the history of its preparation, proprietors obtained a large amount of their material from other sources, especially from the pickings of the sweepings of the streets. Afterwards when fires were traced to the dropping of lighted cigars in the streets, and it was interdicted by municipal law, reservoirs and depositories were provided in all the hotels, theatres, restaurants, beer and drinking saloons, in the form of tin or sheet iron salvers, with wire bottoms stationed over a marble trough filled with water. In process of time as the use of tobacco increased and these depositories were understood, the daily accumulation of butt ends of cigars and exhausted rejected quids of tobacco constituted no mean source of revenue to the proprietors—eagerly sought for and readily purchased as they were by the manufacturers of snuff, and in this way was developed a source of supply that at this day constitutes the material from which is made much the larger portion of the snuff found in commerce.

Now these are the facts in the history of the kind and character of our snuff material. Let us look at them a moment. Every one who has seen it knows that these drinking saloons in cities are infested with a diseased, debauched, mendicant, filthy, brutalized race of semi-barbarian creatures, nine tenths of whom, perhaps, every time they enter these "dells" drop into these reservoirs a slabered end of a cigar, or an exhausted quid of tobacco, accompanied generally with an overflowing mouthful of rubbish, not only saturated with tobacco, but reeking with the putrid secretions of scurvey, cancerous oris, or other diseases of the glands, gums, and teeth, which are so prevalent among this class of society, and crawling with ten thousand cutworms (a species of the maggot tribe), this execrable compound percolates through the pile and serves to brighten its aroma(?)

These reservoirs or salvers are generally filled during the day and night, and are emptied and borne off in the morning by the snuff grinders, who assort the ends of fine perfumed cigars for the maccoboy or bottle snuff, while from the quids and slabered ends of common cigars the snuff as found in the stores is made, and this is the material and source of that delectable compound our ladies so liberally and so complacently cram into their mouths to cleanse(?) their teeth with, or what is worse, roll under their tongues as a sweet morsel, and that its "linked sweetness may be long drawn out" over and anon, gulp it down the throat that their poor, abused, poisoned stomach may receive its share of this delicious compound. Now, Mr. Editor, you or your readers may be ready to conclude that all these revolting details are pure fiction or wild hyperbole, but such is not the case. "I speak that I know, and testify that I have seen." I have not exaggerated, nor do I wish to mislead. Nay rather, I wish it were in my power to provoke revolt, disgust, and nauseum, and in this way, as well as by warning and entreaty, rescue the hundreds and perhaps thousands of the fair women of our State, from destroying their health, happiness and life, by this useless and most pernicious indulgence.

It was published during the last year that an enterprising Yankee in visiting a large tobacco farm, perhaps in our State, and noting all the steps of its cultivation, observed that in the process of "worming" the worms were collected in small hand baskets, and at the end of the morning's work were emptied into a pit or upon a pile of faggots to be destroyed by fire. Now as these worms were gorged with tobacco, and their aggregate made no inconsiderable bulk, he at once conceived the idea of utilizing it, and forthwith projected an apparatus for drying these worms, filled as they were with tobacco already in a state of fine subdivision, but little additional labor would be required to complete the process, and the writer went on to say a very superior kind of snuff was thus obtained, which took the premium in market, &c.

Snuff made from these materials would have one virtue: it would be pure. It is true those rich juices that permeate the entire body of the worm, together with its digestive apparatus, fat and skin, would make a considerable residuum in the drying process; still it would be so largely admixed with the pure and finely sub divided plant, as to impart a very rich and mellow flavor to the snuff, even if it did not make it more delicate and palatable. Now, Mr. Editor, suppose this item was all a fiction, gotten up to burlesque the article of snuff, I have reproduced it to say, that were I called upon to choose which of the articles I would prefer, the snuff made from the cigar stumps and rejected quids of tobacco, or that prepared from these dried tobacco worms, I would most unhesitatingly choose the latter, as being less deleterious, less filthy, less infected by putrid and diseased glandular secretions, and as containing none of those loathsome animalcule. And for these reasons, better adapted to cleanse (?) the teeth, and as more palatable if one wants to swallow it.

With this glance at the kind and character of our snuff material, I will notice some of the evils attending its use in my next.

WATCHMAN.

Cedar Grove, April 1874.

For the Advocate.

Davenport Female College.

Mr. Editor: In my last I told you something of Lenoir, the fine culture, moral and religious worth of its people, its churches and schools, of Davenport College, its buildings and the beauty and grandeur of the natural scenery beheld from the College observatory. In this I propose to say something about those who have charge of this College, its internal workings, the Narrow Gauge Rail Road and the future prospects of Lenoir and Davenport College. There are six members of the Faculty, three live in the College, the others in the town near by. Miss Mollie Claywell has charge of the preparatory department. She has had a number of years experience in teaching these branches, and is conducting her department with satisfaction and success.

Mrs. D. B. Nicholson, the widow of our late beloved brother, Rev. D. B. Nicholson, of the North Carolina Conference, is teaching in the College proper. Mrs. W. E. Pell, widow of the late Rev. W. E. Pell, of precious memory, is in charge of the musical department. They are ladies of fine culture, mature minds, long experience in teaching, and are filling the places assigned to them with entire satisfaction to all; they are indeed a blessing to the institution. Dr. A. A. Scroggs, a physician of many years experience in practice, a thorough master of the science of medicine, is Prof. of Physiology and Hygiene, and also lectures before all the students on the different branches of these sciences. While there I had the privilege of hearing one of these lectures, it was highly entertaining and instructive, and cannot fail to be of life long benefit to those for whom it was delivered. I believe the sciences taught at Davenport by Dr. Scroggs, are left out of the curriculum at most of our colleges, and in this particular feature so important to all, this Institution is far in the lead. No doubt many of the young ladies who have been, or are now being, educated at Davenport College, will bless God to their dying day for the practical benefit derived from a knowledge of these sciences.

Rev. G. H. Round is Prof. of Mathematics. He is a graduate of the Wesleyan University, a fine scholar, a good preacher, and one of the most genial, sweet, spiritual men I ever knew, and has been connected with our Southern institutions of learning for more than thirty years. All revere and love him, and in all the land I do not think you could find a gentleman better qualified to fill a Professorial chair in a female college than he, who with the experience and wisdom of sixty years combines the freshness and vigor of early manhood. Any community of this or any other country may well be proud of such a man.

Rev. W. M. Robey, A. M., a member of the N. C. Conference, is president. A recent writer in the Nashville Advocate says of him, "He is a young man of the first order of talent, a fine scholar, a genial warm hearted christian gentleman, a good platform speaker, and thought by many to be already the ablest preacher in the western part of our State." I beg leave allow me to say that while I have no doubt the above compliment is deserved, he also has the ability, wisely to govern and teach. The other members of the Faculty think him a very superior instructor. He not only has all the duties of president to perform, but does in addition, the work of a regular Prof. and of course does it well. He certainly is an incessant and untiring worker. While there, at the invitation of the President, I was present at a number of recitations in the different departments, and I am free to say I never listened to lessons better prepared or better recited. Monday is always review day. On that day all the lessons of the preceding week are reviewed. I was present at several recitations on that day, the questions were to the point and were answered so readily and in such a way as to show that the young ladies fully understood what they had gone over the previous week. I did not, either in the instruction, or the mode of it, find anything superficial or objectionable, all was sensible and thorough. From these reviews the grades are made out: so in order for any young lady to get a good grade it is absolutely necessary to understand fully all that has been studied during the quarter. The boarding department is in good hands. it is well arranged and well conducted. While I was there the table was bountifully supplied with the most suitable provision, well prepared and I was informed by two members of the Faculty who board in the College and eat at the table with the girls that this was the case every day and every meal.

The mountain air is pure and fresh and there is no local cause for disease, hence the Institution is remarkably healthy, only one student having died there since it was founded, seventeen years ago. A physician is seldom called, and it is seldom any one is absent from table or recitation, on account of sickness.

Discipline is mildly but firmly administed, all obey, not through fear, but in love, each one knows his or her duty and tries to perform it and each pays due respect to all the others, and thus without much friction every thing moves on pleasantly, and harmoniously. I had forgotten to mention the fact that the science of vocal music so often neglected in our institutions of learning is regularly taught there under the supervision of the President, who is one of the finest vocalists in the country. No girl who has the ability to learn need spend a year at Davenport without having a thorough practical as well as theoretical knowledge of this science which, adds so much to her own enjoyment in life, and makes her so much more attractive to others. The Trustees claim that the standard of scholarship is as high at this Institution, and the instruction as thorough as at any female college in the state, and the facts in the case justify the claim, for the Alumnæ of Davenport College occupy positions in literary and social circles equal to any in this Southern land. And owing to the fact, that this Institution is in a small town, a little way off the great thoroughfare of trade, fashion and other extravagances, and in a portion of the State where the land is fertile and produces abundantly, the actual cost is from $100 to $150, less per year than at any other first class college in the State. The Chester and Lenoir Narrow Gauge Rail Road so long talked of, is soon to be built and in operation, at least from Lenoir to Hickory. About enough private stock has already been taken to grade this part of it, the contracts have been let and the contractors are at work and will probably complete this part of the road in twelve or eighteen months. Then Caldwell County, the town of Lenoir, and Davenport College will be in Rail Road communication with the rest of the world. Then the resources of that vast mountain country will be more rapidly developed than ever before. Lenoir will be one of our most important Western commercial towns and a favorite summer resort for hundreds from the East, and Davenport College, so true, so noble, and so persevering through many long years of adversity and darkness will have her halls filled to overflowing with the daughters of our land and will reap the great reward so richly merited. One other word only will I add. Friends of Methodism and Education help Davenport College now, and in the future it will help you.

A METHODIST.

OLD, BUT FRUITFUL.—"The Lord Raleigh Grape Vine," which was growing when Sir Walter Raleigh landed at Roanoke Island in 1610, and was then but three inches in diameter, is now spoken of as one of the largest vines in the world. It covers one and a half acres, and last year yielded forty-six barrels of wine—one thousand eight hundred and forty gallons in all—which sold for $2 per gallon, yielding $3,680.

For the Advocate.

Mothers.

BRO. BOBBITT: I saw a piece in a late number of the ADVOCATE about step-mothers. I propose writing a short piece in regard to the great work, and fearful responsibility of ALL mothers. Females, and especially mothers, wield a powerful influence either for good or evil. Some of the most noble Bible characters were females. Esther, when she saw that her people were in danger of a terrible massacre, did not consider her own life too dear to be sacrificed, if need be, in so noble a cause as their rescue. She said, "I go in unto the king which is not according to law, and if I perish, I perish." How noble a resolve!

When the Shunamite, who had kindly entertained the prophet Elisha, was asked what should be done for her, in return for her kindness, she answered, "I dwell among mine own people." She was satisfied with home and the circle of its friends. She knew the great secret of happiness—contentment. And when death had laid its icy hands on her only son, tender and beloved, she said, "It is well." How many such mothers have we in this day of Christian enlightenment! How many can say, "I dwell among mine own people"—that is, I am satisfied with home? And how many say, when a loved one is taken, God doeth all things well? But we must not enter into a detail of the noble female characters of the Bible. All may search and find them for themselves.

When Napoleon asked Madame Campan what the French nation most needed, she replied in one word—"Mothers." How full of meaning was that answer! Happy indeed are that nation and people that are blessed with true mothers. Wherever you find a true Christian mother there, with few exceptions, you find a pleasant home, and happy family. And wherever you find a community that is blessed with true mothers, there you find a healthy state of society.—The same may be said of the State and the world at large, but especially of the church. Blessed is that church whose record is adorned with the names of warm-hearted Christian mothers.

The mother has the first moulding of the infant mind, and it is no ordinary truth—"The way the twig is bent, the tree will be inclined." All admit, that laying a proper foundation is a promise of future success.—The child receives its first lessons from the mother. She rocks it in the cradle and sings her lullaby song, or takes it upon her lap and soothes its cares, administers to its wants, answers the little inquiries of its anxious mind, gains its affection, and makes impressions on its heart, which remain there, as figures carved in marble: for "the heart of the child is," says one, "as water to receive impressions, but as marble to retain them."

Therefore, how responsible the position of a mother! And how important her work! The infant mind is in its formative state. It is as the potter's clay, ready for the mould, and if the mother neglects to mould it into a vessel of honor, the enemy—the world—will slip in his mould, and shape it into an ugly, deformed mass, which will be a monument of shame and disgrace to her in life, and which will eventually bring her in sorrow to the grave. The mind naturally seeks food, and if not fed on the bread of life—on that knowledge which tends to elevate, refine, and fit for Heaven, it will receive that which renders miserable and fits for despair.

The mother who raises up her children aright, proves their way to safety and renown, and erects for herself monuments to reflect honor on her life, and light upon her path to the tomb. But the mother who neglects the proper training of her children, and suffers them to grow up in vice and sin, paves not only their way to destruction, but her own. Let every mother who perchance reads this article, ask herself if she discharges her duty fully towards her children.

W. H. W.

DEAN STANLEY has not only shown a liberal spirit to Dr. Parker's proposal to him on the matter of exchanging pulpits, but is is now stated that the Dean is about to give a further illustration of the charity which is one of his distinguishing characteristics, by allowing a memorial to be erected in the Abbey in honor of the founders of Methodism, John and Charles Wesley. The sculptor is Mr. Adams Actonf whose work consists of Medallions of the two brothers. At the base will be a bas-relief representing John Wesley preaching on his father's tomb in Epworth churchyard. Around him will be grouped about fifty figures, most of them portraits of living ex-presidents of the Wesleyan Conference and other distinguished members of that body.

Selected.

(From the Biblical Recorder.)

The Defense Against the Charge of Loose Communion.

MR. EDITOR:—I notice in your issue of January 21st, a sentence quoted from the Index having these words: "To the Editor of the Free Will Baptist Union, established to promote loose communion, the Rev. Wm. Hooper, himself a loose communionist, writes," &c. This accusation, so publicly proclaimed, and endorsed by yourself (as we are authorized to think by your quoting it) entitles me to a hearing in reply.

Now I don't allow myself to be a loose communionist, nor do I deserve to be called one. The word loose necessarily conveys a reproach. But it is a common mark of courtesy between Christian bodies to assign to each a name chosen by themselves, or one which indicates its peculiarities without censure. To call those who agree with me on the communion question, "Loose Communionists," is little less offensive than if you were to call us loose moralists, for it implies loose morality to be remiss in obeying any of the commands of Christ. If we were remiss or disobedient in a personal submission to the ordinance of baptism, we should then certainly deserve the name of "loose baptists," or rather no Baptists at all. But being blameless here, we only hold, with regard to the other ordinance, that it is enjoined upon all believers as a due remembrance of redeeming love, and that involuntary error not inconsistent with vital union to the Redeemer, does not disqualify believers for its reception and enjoyment, nor exempt them from the duty of partaking in it; and therefore that different bodies of Christians are bound as members of the same Christ, to communicate with one another when opportunity offers. "This is the head and front of our offending." We admit as well as our opponents that the regular economy of Christ's household is faith, baptism, the Lord's Supper But as all Baptists concede that Christ sanctifies, blesses and dwells in thousands that have mistaken their duty as to baptism, they are not authorized to deny the Lord's Supper to those who gave evidence of being united to Him. We hold that this vital union to Christ enables them to "discern the Lord's body" and to receive and enjoy, in the fullest degree, all the spiritual benefit and comfort appertaining to a worthy reception of the ordinance. We contend that our opponents by insisting so rigidly on the observance of form and order, "kill the spirit" and design of the ordinance, and come exactly under the rebuke of the Apostle, "the letter killeth but the spirit giveth life," and that other: "He is a Jew who is one inwardly, and circumcision is that of the heart, in the spirit and not in the letter; whose praise is not of men but of God." We contend that if looseness can with justice be imputed to either party, our opponents fall under the censure more justly than ourselves. For whom do our censurers admit to the Lord's table without scruple? All members of Baptist churches who are in good standing, that is all who are not under censure for evil living. Now it is well known that in many Baptist churches the discipline is so loose that it can't be concealed from pastor or people that many of the communicants are ungodly, worldly minded, covetous, free drinkers (if not intemperate), in short, giving no evidence of piety. Some time ago, the appalling fact was confidently asserted in "the BIBLICAL RECORDER," the organ of the Baptists of North Carolina, on the authority of two knowing members of said religious body that two thirds or three fourths of the Baptist members in that State were utterly unconverted; (I think the term was reprobate). It grieved me at the time as a most damaging confession, coming from ourselves; which could be used against us, to our confusion, whenever an adversary chose to do it. I hope it is not true, and that the chaff among our wheat is not in greater proportion than it is in other Christian bodies, if they only had among them the same Jeremiah's to make "Lamentation," over Israel. Yet, if this statement is anything like the truth, surely those who are fond of calling their brethren "loose communionists," ought to institute some more searching process of securing the Lord's table against unworthy guests. The practice of free or open communion does not thereby expose us to the danger of introducing unworthy guests; for those only who love the Lord and His people and feel drawn by brotherly affection and union to partake with us, would care to stay and offer themselves for participation in our communions. These loving, conscientious attendants on our communion occasions are the ones who, after eating the bread of life under the lips of our preachers, are grieved when forbidden to share with us in the appointed memorial of the death of our common Lord; while hundreds of our own people are grieved and mortified at the unbrotherly exclusiveness imposed by a clericracy in our wide spread denomination.

* * * * * * *

The Baptists expend their chief zeal in having their denominational title deed sound and authentic, and then they are satisfied, and never say to the comers to the table: "Take heed that you do not eat the sacred bread, and drink this sacred wine unworthily." The Presbyterians having no security for worthy communicants in baptized children, plant all their artillery of awe and terror before the sacramental board. The Episcopal church, having regenerated all its young members by baptism, call them of course as a duty, to confirmation and the Eucharist. But none of these would, of course, frequent our communion table, being otherwise instructed and controlled. As to cases such as you published in your last issue, of a consistent loose communion Baptist church in Regents Park, London, which contains "one hundred members who have never been baptized," such slackness as this is not tolerated in Spurgeon's church. To him, and, I hope, most other British Baptists, the distinction appears clear between christain communion and christain confusion, and that an occasional participation of the Lord's Supper with a sister church of another name is a very different thing from taking a seat with that church as a member, to regulate its worship and vote on its legislation; and that the danger of such identification is chimerical, appears plainly from what we daily see before our eyes, that no such identification or confusion results from the free inter-communion practiced among us between other denominations. The open communionists might with equal justice say to their opponents: "Certain Baptist churches in the west, under the leadership of * * *, very consistently refuse all interchange of pulpits and prayer meeting with those whom they exclude from the Lord's table." To my mind, if there ever was an a rostrum argument legitimate and annihilating to an adversary, this is one. Drink, then we say to our exclusive brethren, the bitter cup of the Land markers, or hand the sacred chalice of Jesus Christ to all whom he loves and dwells in.

WILLIAM HOOPER.

Bishop Keener in Mexico.

We publish another of Bishop Keener's beautiful and instructive letters to the New Orleans Advocate:

MR. EDITOR:—It was my good fortune to make the acquaintance of Mr. Baggelly, an English gentleman who for many years presided over the Academy of Arts in this city. He was kind enough to accompany Bro. Daves and myself through the rooms of the academy. The annual art exhibition had just closed, but a number of drawings and paintings, the work of the students for the past year, still hung on the walls. The crayon drawings are of great merit, and three of the paintings are valued at from $800 to $1.000 each. One of them Galileo and the monks, is of the highest merit in its execution The conception is admirable, with the defects of not being any real passage in the history of the astronomer, and the entire absence of his well-known features. He holds in his hand a pair of compasses, with which he is measuring a globe and instructing a Franciscan monk. Another represents the Valley of Mexico, or rather the great plateau; and the third painting is a festal day of the Aztec period—the lake covered with boats, and natives landing at some island temple. These are large pieces, measuring each six by eight. As usual, I thought of our college halls—what an ornament for the rooms of a debating society! The Mexicans certainly excell in richness and harmony of coloring. The three students produced these paintings are to be sent to Italy, for one or two years, for the advantage of that school of arts. This academy is free, and presents every facility for students, both of architecture, painting and statuary. The rooms below are filled with all the classic models in plaster of Paris. I was greatly impressed with one—Achilles bearing Patroclus from the field of Troy. The resolute valor of the hero contrasted affectingly with the relaxed form of his slain friend. It tells the story of that great battle in which Homer has mingled gods and Greeks with strange power.

On our way from the academy we passed a large bowlder like idol, which was accidentally discovered, during the year, just in front of the cathedral. Some pavers first struck it with their picks. It turned out to be one of the Teocalle sculptures, a basaltic block surrounded with a necklace of eye balls in relief, each one foot in diameter.

The city has improved in many directions during the last twelve months. The Alameda has been beautified: a fine drive and walk now surround it. The road leading to Chapultepec has been finely graded, trees planted and guard-houses built upon it. Some new streets have been opened and paved through old convent grounds. The decay of the Plaza de Toros is an indication of improvement equally as marked, bull-fights being now prohibited. It was near there that I visited a public bathing establishment, gotten up upon the style of the Roman baths. It is a circular reservoir, about one hundred feet in diameter, with a depth of twelve feet, fed from the bottom by an artesian well, which throws up every minute a large volume of tepid water. There are stretching across this cistern ropes, wires and spring-boards for the divers' and swimmers' convenience. All around the baths are narrow dressing chambers, and on these chambers are seats built in amphitheatre for the public. I suppose this to have been at one time a favorite morning resort. The bathers wear a stocknet over a part of the body. But with all its attractiveness, this bath is now falling to pieces, the chambers are rotting, and the seats for visitors look rickety. The whole has given place to the more private style of banos, or else it is in the courts of the law a process more wearing than the tooth of time.

One thing never changes here—it is the circling glory of inaccessible heights which present themselves in rugged, hoary outline upon the horizon at several points. The passenger along the crowded city thoroughfares may cast his eye just down the end of the street and see a scarred snow-peak upon which no human being could live; where cloud and frost and the thin air hold perpetual reign. At evening, just as the sun sets, the clouds which may be about these grand summits are dissipated—probably by the equalization of the temperature of the air and earth—when their white-sheeted domes and crags burst upon the eye; such a sight as one may wait for a full week at Chamouni, under the lofty brow of Mont Blanc. Immediately thereafter the atmosphere becomes purple tinted, and fills mountain, plain, and the very thoughts of men with its soft haze. So, too, the richly gemmed night of this altitude is an abiding wonder. The quivering beams of Sirius fairly ripple in their full flow to the eye. Each star pours a flashing tide down through the clear air, and challenges for itself the palm of beauty. Those who have a passion for the study of the geography of the heavens would do well to visit this city; for I suppose there are as many nights for clear observation in this latitude as anywhere else in the world. The house tops are all flat, well paved, and are a favorite resort for exercise, and might constitute capital observatories.

With all these inspiring glories above and about, what wonder if Zion should hereabide in luster and strength! So I found her greatly increased since this time last year. I think full fifty per cent., and may be one hundred per cent., more persons attend Protestant services Three new congregations have been added, and $30,000 worth of property, if not more. The congregations of the Foreign Christian Union at San Francisco is doing better than ever though two new ones have been opened within half a square distance. The Circus property, or "Trinity Church," as it is called, of the Methodist Episcopal Church mission has a fine audience-room, both unique in its expression, having been formally one of the many "halls of the Montezumas," of which we have heard—Dr. Butler thinks the very hall itself. The Church of San Jose de Gracia, of the Foreign Christian Union, is still finer, while that of San Francisco is an enormonous structure, and when repaired and seated will be the grandest of all. I hope Mr. Riley and the foreign Christian Union will take heart. Their work is stronger by the emulation of other churches and missions. Then there is the congregation of Mr. Hutchinson, Presbyterian, which meets in the "Bellamite"—old Bethlemite convent—in a good large room, and which on a Sabbath is fairly filled. Besides these the congregation of Palacios, which meets in Cinco del Mayo, as large as any, and then comes our own San Andres.

Bro. Daves is working wisely and steadily. He has already attached to himself Sorthenes Suarez and Mota, both of whom were of the first original Protestant movement, the one president and the other secretary of the first convention of reformers in Mexico, the proceedings of which (1865) are in print. Also another Mexican who has responded to my circular letter of last year—Jose B. Martinez. He is at work at Zoyatzonibo, and Bro. Daves will supplement and support his society.

City of Mexico, Feb., 10, 1874.

JOHN WESLEY used to say that 30 minutes was long enough for a good sermon, and too long for a poor one. Wesley knew what he was about well enough, and there are many sermonizers we know of who could profitably give heed to the above hint.

The Sad Story of a Daughter of Thomas H. Benton.

The French cause celebre in which Gen. John C. Fremont was the central figure, in connection with his railroad speculations, and the manner in which large numbers of Frenchmen were victimized thereby, will be fresh in the memory of your readers. General Fremont escaped the rigorous verdict of the French court by having made his way to this country. Intimately connected with General Fremont's schemes, and mainly instrumental in having them favorably introduced* in financial circles in France, was Baron Gauldree-Boileau, for many years French Consul in New York. It will be remembered that in the early days of the French Republic Boileau left this city for France, to defend himself against the charge of being an accomplice of Fremont. He was convicted, and sentenced to three years' imprisonment. The sad sequel to all this is as follows: The wife of Baron Gauldree-Boileau, daughter of Thomas H. Benton, of Missouri, died on the 6th of March, in a state of almost abject poverty, in a garret in Paris. Since her husband had been sentenced, about twelve months ago, by the Parisian tribunal, in consequence of his connection with General John C. Fremont's railway speculations, his unfortunate wife, with six children, whom he had left absolutely penniless had lived in wretched quarters at Boulogne, where she was supported by the bounty of a friendly English family. Finally she removed to Paris, where M. Frederick Gaillardet, formerly editor of the Courrier Des Etats Unis, of New York, who lived near her, was the only person to render aid. Being in very feeble health, she was unable to do much for herself, and both she and her children were subjected to the greatest privations. Moreover, the Parisian police molested the poor woman repeatedly, by prying visitations, as is generally done in France toward the families of convicts. Grief and despair at last did their work, and she died broken-hearted.

When Marshal MacMahon heard of her sad end, and that six children were left helpless, he granted Baron Gauldree-Boileau a free pardon. The latter was beside himself with sorrow upon hearing the sad tidings, and at the latest advices from Paris, it was feared that his reason would give way.

The Ministry.

Said a noted advocate once, "Brevity is force. I find that when I exceed half an hour, I am always doing mischief to my client. If I drive into the heads of the jury important matter, I drive out matter more important that I had previously lodged there."

EARNEST SPEAKING.—"Why," said a Prussian ecclesiastic of high rank to a celebrated actor, "why, when I and my brethren speak the truth, does no one believe us; but when you speak falsehood every one believes you?" "Because," he replied, "we deliver falsehood as if it were truth, and you deliver truth as if it were falsehood." Cunningham.

By preaching Christ we shall best discharge our duty to this troubled and restless age: it is in dealing with this one absorbing theme, and with this only, that Christ's ministers need entertain no fear of wearying those whom they address. The world wearies of everything else, but it never wearies of Christ.

Luther's portrait of a good preacher: He should be able to teach plainly and in order; he should have a good head; should have good power of speech; he should have a good voice; he should have a good memory; should know when to stop; should be sure what he means to say, and should study diligently. He should be ready to stake body and life, goods and glory, on its truth. He must suffer himself to be vexed and criticised by everybody.

Scientific Items.

OF the thirty-five hundred new books published in England last year, there were two thirds as many works on science and art as works of fiction. When it is considered how much more restricted in number the readers of science are than those of novels, it is a good sign that works of the former class should make so good a show.

AUSTRALIA has recently disclosed a new treasure to the geologist and miner. This is white coal. It consists of felted vegetable fibers, like peat, which contain interspersed between them fine grains of sand. This white coal covers large tracts, requires no mining, and is used in large quantities as fuel. It is easily combustible, and burns with a bright flame.

BISHOP WILLIAMS, of Canton, has forwarded to the Jardin d'Acclimation, at Brussels, a remarkable China plant—the first specimen of its kind received in Europe. This plant changes its color three times a day, and is appropriately named Hebiscus mutabilis.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE—Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

FOR ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE,	$2.00
SIX MONTHS,	1.25
If payment be delayed six months,	2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH N. C. APRIL 29, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

The Temperance Movement.

It is gratifying to know that the temperance question has taken fast hold of the popular mind. We do not refer specially to Raleigh, although there are hopeful signs here. No one can converse with our more intelligent and reputable citizens without recognizing the existence of deep conviction of the terrible evil of intemperance, the unholy and destructive work of the rum-seller, and a firm purpose to suppress the traffic if possible. That the whiskey dens should be shut up there is no sort of doubt. They are corrupting our youth, and destroying our ripest manhood. Wherever fifty or sixty whiskey shops flourish, there you are certain to find unhappy homes, and suffering women and children, and men who are killing themselves; there you will find jails well filled with criminals, and candidates for the poor-house and the grave-yard.

Surely, in view of the ruin that has been wrought in Raleigh by the accursed poison that is sold by the authority of law to men who are slaves of appetite, and to boys who are sowing the seeds that are to quickly bring forth a harvest of misery, degradation and death—surely, in view of this no true man, no well wisher of frail humanity, no man who pretends to be a christian, can halt between two opinions—whether he will vote for prohibition and expel the destructive agents from our midst, or go with the swilterer of "wet damnation," and the retailer of that terrible stuff that blears the eye, and stupifies the conscience, and paralyzes the tongue, makes beasts of men and fills up the charnal house of mortality. Hear that most delightful of essayists, gentle, lovely, loving weak Charles Lamb, saying this of himself—one of the sweetest characters who ever lived, and yet an unhappy victim often of intemperance:

"I have seen a print after Correggio, in which three female figures are ministering to a man who sits fast bound at the root of a tree. SENSUALITY is soothing him, EVIL HABIT is nailing him to a branch, and REMORSE at the same instant of time is applying a snake to his side. In his face is a feeble delight, the recollection of past rather than perception of present pleasures, languid enjoyment of evil with utter imbecility of good. a Sybarite effeminacy, a submission to bondage, the springs of the will gone down like a broken clock. the sin and the suffering co-instantaneous, or the latter fore-running the former, remorse preceding action—all this represented in one point of time. When I saw this. I admired the wonderful skill of the painter. But when I went away, I wept, because I thought of my own condition."

And now, dear reader, there are hundreds and thousands of kindly, intelligent, and useful men all over our land; in Raleigh, in Wilmington, in Charlotte, in every village and town and neighborhood, who are being "ministered to" by just such terrible servants as Sensuality and Evil Habit, whilst the hideous Rum Seller is hourly concocting his drinks to lure them to ruin and death. Will you not help to put down this nefarious and life-destroying traffic—this enemy to the soul, to the church and to Christ?

In many sections—in the North, in the North west, in portions of the South, and in a hundred parts of our own State the temperance cause is progressing. Let the followers of Jesus and the friends of humanity unite in a common warfare against the greatest enemy of the human race. Let all aid as far as possible in creating a healthful public sentiment.—Only let public opinion get right on the liquor question, and the work of suppression will be an accomplished fact. Whenever a majority of our people look upon the liquor traffic as both immoral and criminal, then local-option laws will prevail in every town and village, and, indeed, throughout every county. Educate the people as to the tremendous evils of liquor manufacture and liquor traffic, and the end of both will have come. God speed the day when not a distillery or a grog shop shall be in the land! And to this all Christian men must respond with a hearty—Amen!

We are still sending out bills to those who are in arrears for the ADVOCATE. To some, bills are being sent the second time. We intend to give all an opportunity to renew, and those who fail to do so cannot complain of us for stopping their paper.

— The census of France just completed, shows a population of 35,102,921. Of this number, 21,865,625 live in cities, and 13,495,310 in the country.

Papacy on the Continent.

The spirit that animated the the Romish Church at the Ecumenical Council of two or three years ago, was the precise spirit that has controlled that church through the long centuries that have passed—that aims at the subversion of individual consciousness and the utter thraldom of the human intellect. Liberty to think, liberty to feel, liberty to act, are abhorrent to Popery. It proclaims itself the church, and its authority is to be accepted as Divine—as in place of God himself. Whilst a great debate is going on among the intellectual forces of the times, and the whole tendency is to the freest and fullest thought, Rome essays to take the mind back to the Dark Ages and to bind it with leading strings to its own throne of darkness. Just now it is at work busily both in this country and in Europe. Here in America—it moves cautiously and with a certain air of fairness and liberality—treating Protestants with some consideration, and claiming no power for the Pope to control political action. In Europe it is straining every nerve. It is working industriously in Italy, Germany and France. It has been powerfully thwarted by Bismarck in Germany. Kaiser William is too Protestant to yield to any of the blandishments or threats of Pius IX. In Italy the game is not so desperate. The Roman party is still immensely strong, but the effort of the Pope to regain his political authority, and to prevent Italian unity, does not promise to succeed. Any such success is to be deplored, and would be a terrible blow to the prosperity and happiness of the Italian people. In France the main effort of Papacy is directed to the overthrow of whatever of liberty may exist, and to place upon the throne some member of the Bourbon family,—which means the retoration of despotism both in Church and State.

If Rome should fail in all of its Continental plans—in fastening "absolutism in France," in causing "dismion in Germany and Italy," then Protestantism will receive a new impulse, and the Gospel of Jesus will be preached where now the religion of works prevails and the paralysis of priest-craft is felt throughout the body politic.

The 14th of May

The Sabbath School Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, will meet in Raleigh on May 14th 1874. It can be made an occasion of much importance to the Church, if the brethren so will it. We hope to see a large attendance, and we trust as many of our ministerial brethren will be present as possible. The cause of the Sabbath School is one of peculiar interest to every christian, and appeals with extraordinary force to every pastor and preacher. Sabbath Schools have been found, wherever they have been properly managed, to be of great advantage to the church. They are indeed to some extent its nurseries and auxiliaries. We venture to say, that no pastor who has charge of a single congregation, could afford to dispense for a year with such potential aid as is supplied by a well regulated Sabbath School. We may even go further: we may insist that no congregation of worshippers in view of the important service already rendered by such instrumentalities, could afford to have broken up its school for the training and instructing of children in those great, fundamental truths which underlie all true religion and piety. We feel assured that if all the blessed influences of the Sabbath Schools of the land were to cease forever, and all that they have done for humanity was to be blotted out, that the world would be set back many decades, and many a soul now rejoicing in the hope of a blissful immortality would be filled with sorrow unutterable and the deepest despair.

Brethren, friends of the church, and the children of the church, come up and aid in the work. Let a pleasant and profitable time be had and all will feel better.

NOTICE TO FORGETFUL SUBSCRIBERS.—We have continued the ADVOCATE to a number of persons several weeks over the time for which they have paid, in the hope they would appreciate our indulgence and renew their subscription for another year. Thus far they have failed to do so, and we are driven to the necessity of erasing their names from our list. After the present issue the ADVOCATE will be discontinued to all whose subscription has expired.—We regret to lose a single name from our books, but we cannot afford to send out the paper, at the low price of two dollars, upon an uncertainty.

DEATH OF REV. DR. THOMAS CARLTON.—This well known Methodist minister, died on the 15th inst, at his residence at Elizabeth, New Jersey. He was for twenty years the head of the Methodist Publishing House of the Northern Methodist Church. He was probably sixty-five years or more of age, as he entered the ministry in 1824. He was a man of piety and usefulness. At his burial a large number of ministers were present. Bishop Janes, Dr. Hunt, of Genesee Conference, and Rev. Mr. Fitzgerald, delivered addresses on the occasion.

PERSON STREET CHURCH.—The revival at this Church, Rev. H. P. Cole preacher in charge, has resulted in the conversion of between fifteen and twenty souls The meetings have been well attended and highly interesting.

Rev. Wm. Hooper, LL. D.

We copy in this issue of our paper a considerable portion of an admirable communication that appeared recently in the Biblical Recorder, of Raleigh, the organ of North Carolina Baptists. It is from the pen of the able and truly learned Rev. Dr. Hooper, now quite eighty years of age, and is an admirable rebuke to the pretentious exclusivism of the "close communion Baptists." Dr. Hooper is by all comparison the most erudite man in North Carolina, and although a Baptist, can not tolerate or follow the practice of his brethren generally, in so hedging in the Lord's table as to exclude therefrom the devout and pious members of other Christian communions. We are glad to read such telling articles from the pens of liberal minded Baptists, and we trust the time is not distant when the views held by Dr. Hooper, Charles Spurgeon, and other foremost men of that branch of the christian family, will be cherished by tens of thousands of their brethren. Dr. Hooper has long been greatly distinguished as one of the most admirable writers of our State and the South, and it will be seen that age has neither diminished the vigor of his attacks nor lessened the charms of his admirable English. Long may he live to uphold and defend the rights and privileges of all christian men—of all believers in the Crucified One—to partake together of those elements that symbolize the shed-blood and broken-body of our Lord Jesus Christ!

Election of Bishops.

At the next General Conference, which meets in Louisville, Ky. next month, two Bishops, if not more, are to be elected. We find the following in an editorial in the last Nashville Christian Advocate:

"We are asked if there ought not to be as many Bishops as there are Conferences. We think not: but we have always been in favor of the multiplication of Bishops. We think, with some modification of our system in other respects, twenty Bishops could be profitably employed, and be more easily supported than ten. But we believe our brethren generally do not think so—hence there is no use talking about it. It is thought five-sixths of the delegates to the General Conference will vote for only two—that is to say, the election of two new Bishops to supply the places of Bishops Andrew and Early—with a desire that they should make their homes respectively in California and in Texas, or in Arkansas. We are so accustomed to be in the minority we yield in this matter with good grace."

We are clearly in favor of an increase of the Episcopate. We believe that our form is nearer the primitive pattern than any other, but it is possible to render our Episcopate more effective, by increasing the force. Dr. Summers thinks this will not be done—that only two Bishops will be elected to fill the places made vacant by the deaths of the lamented Andrew and Early. If this be so, we hope North Carolina will not be forgotten. Our Conference has never had a Bishop chosen from its members. In Bishop Paine North Carolina has an honored and able son, but he was a member of another Conference when elevated to the Episcopacy. Let then the North Carolina Conference be not forgotten at the next election.

Bishop McTyeire has prepared, by request, a Catechism suitable for the Colored M. E. Church in America. The title is, "A Catechism of Bible History, for the Use of Families, Bible-classes, and Sunday-schools in the Colored M. E. Church in America." It is a 16mo. volume of 120 pages. The Bishop is also preparing a volume on "Bible Doctrine," and one on "Ecclesiastical History and Church Government."

INVITATIONS.—We acknowledge with thanks an invitation from Messrs. Holt and Moore, to visit their mills and cotton factory on May 14th next, in company with the Press Association. We also return thanks for an invitation to dine at Col. T. M. Holt's residence, on the same occasion.

THE CHARLOTTE OBSERVER.—This paper comes to us enlarged and otherwise improved. We are pleased to see such evidences of prosperity. It is one of the best dailies in the State and is a credit to Charlotte, "the future London of America."

THE ORPHANS.—We are glad to see that the people of Oxford are going to give the children at the Orphan Home a picnic on May 6th. Our brother, Rev. A. W. Mangum, is to deliver an address, which will no doubt please the children and edify the old folks.

Notice.

The District Stewards of the Charlotte District are requested to meet at Monroe May the 13th, at 11 o'clock A. M.

J. S. NELSON, P. E.

We are pained to announce the death of sister Mahoney, wife of Rev. Jas. Mahoney, of the N. C. Conference which occurred at Fernandina, Florida, on the 13th inst. An appropriate notice of her death will appear in our next. We deeply sympathize with Bro. Mahoney, in his sad affliction.

Of the 60,000 churches in the United States only 3,000 belong to the Roman Catholics.

Unfortunate.

The Spirit of the Age, of this city, the organ of the Good Templars, publishes the following in its issue of the 11th inst:

"To provide, as far as we can, against the temptation being presented at the Lord's table, in the shape of an intoxicating drink, we have procured from an able pharmaceutist, the following simple recipe for the manufacture of a communion wine, which we commend to our Christian brethren, and ask the press generally to circulate:

VINUM SACRUM.—Take, of raisins, one pound; boiling water, one quart; and the white of one egg. Having reduced the raisins to a pulp by pressure of the hand, pour the boiling water on it, let it stand for about an hour and strain through muslin—then, having previously beaten up the white of an egg, add it to the afore said infusion and heat until ebullition takes place; lastly filter through paper. Filtering paper may be procured at any drug store, and folded into proper shape, if desired. Prepare the day before it is to be used."

We cannot believe that the editor meant to treat with, levity one of the solemn sacraments appointed to be perpetually observed by the Great Head of the church. If so, we should not hesitate to condemn such a spirit and purpose in proper terms. As it is, we think him very unfortunate in the above, and would advise him to withdraw it at once. The temperance question cannot be benefited by any such reform as is contained in the above paragraph. Un explained, it is a direct insult to every pious communicant, and contains a proposition the full import of which could not have been seen by the writer—to substitute anapothecary's concoction for the element appointed by Christ himself.

Literary Gossip.

Prof. Proctor is preparing a book, detailing his travels and experience in America, which will soon be published.

Another novel by Henry Ward Beecher is promised.

Temperance literature is on the increase Several works bearing upon the subject have recently issued from the press.

Gen. Joseph E. Johnston's history of his campaigns has been published by the Appletons, and is for sale by agents.

The Shakspere Society (England) authorize the name of the dramatist to be spelt as above. In 1663 it was spelt Shacksper as appears in an old pamphlet of that date. The generally received spelling among recent leading critics is Shakespeare.

The late Dr. Strauss, author of "The life of Jesus," has left behind him a life of Beethoven.

Mrs. Sarah A. Dorsey, a cultivated Southern woman, has been lecturing in New Orleans on the "Philosophy of the University of France."

Mr. Sumner, a short time before his death, had given the finishing touches to a volume entitled "Prophetic Voices Concerning America." It is a compilation of selections concerning the country's future from speeches of celebrated men.

Revival Intelligence.

Brother L. of the date of April 18th writes us from Washington, N. C:

"Brother Raven has had one of the greatest revivals in Washington, that has been witnessed here for thirty years. He commenced about two weeks before his 1st quarterly meeting and labored a week before there was much feeling, but soon there was a general awakening, when our Presbyterian brethren took the fire and commenced to hold meetings also There were about sixty accessions to our church. I hope brother Raven will write you the particulars, as soon as he returns from Greenville, where he has met with his usual success in winning souls to Christ. [Will be glad to hear from brother Raven. Ed. Ad.]

Brother R. P. Troy writing us from Pleasant Garden, on 20th inst., says:

We would join with others in ascribing praise to the great Head of the church, that in pouring out His Spirit He has remembered us. At Bro. Barrett's last appointment there was quite an interest; three of our students were converted, others penitent, and all encouraging interest among the people. It was so pleasant to see our young people happy in the love of Jesus. What sweeter solace to the teacher, than to see his pupils coming to and rejoicing in the Savior.

Bro. Barrett, our pastor, is in "labors abundant," full of zeal, energy and the love of souls, visiting his people and preaching with great acceptability. He has already endeared himself to his charge, and we hope soon to see the work prospering in his hands, not only here but throughout the circuit.

As elsewhere, the Good Templars here are multiplying, and blessing the community and the church; for surely temperance is the hand maid of religion, and any church is blessed, when it has an active Temperance organization as an auxiliary.

Brother J. T. Bagwell, writes us from Elizabethtown, on April 21st:

"We have held a protracted meeting at Elizabeth, which resulted in the conversion of 18 or 20 persons, most of whom have or will connect themselves with the M. E. Church, South. It is the more remarkable, as there has not been a revival of any consequence in the church here for several years. I think the prospects are very encouraging for a general revival influence over the entire circuit. Pray for us."

A Suggestion for the Lay Delegates to the General Conference.

We have been, and are still in trouble on the financial question. And the laity alone under Divine guidance can give us the needed relief. Not according to our present plans however, but by some legislation on the part of the General Conference. That body has never passed a law requiring the support of the ministry; mainly because the parties who would have been affected by such law were not represented. But now it is otherwise, the lay and clerical representation being equal. We do not now ask for a law requiring the support of the ministry; nor a law to increase the salaries of ministers: we are willing to leave that whole matter just where the Discipline places it—in the hands of the Stewards. But what we do want is a law to enable the church to collect from her own members the amount assessed by the Stewards.

The liberal portion of our membership have always had to pay more than their proportion of the preacher's salary. Rather than see their faithful Pastor suffer they have paid for others who were equally able to pay, but who refused to do it. This according to both human and Divine law is unjust.

We want a law empowering the church to bring to trial those of her members who, having the ability, yet through covetousness refuse to support this institution of the church.—The propriety and legitimacy of such a law may be argued from Scripture premises.

The ministry are solemnly required to preach the gospel, and failing to discharge this duty there is a woe upon them. But the people served by them are as truly bound to support them. For so hath the Lord ordained that he that preacheth the Gospel shall live of the Gospel. We have a court which inquires into the conduct of the preacher and in case of delinquency, this court brings him to an account. But on the other side where the duty is just as binding, where is the ecclesiastical court to bring delinquents to trial? The church should be that court and should exercise that power. As it is, the church is out of analogy with other societies and corporations, all of which require their members to pay their quota in furtherance of their interests.

If a member of the church violates the 8th commandment, "Thou shalt not steal," he is expelled from the church, having committed an offence which would exclude him from the kingdom of grace and glory. But refusing to support the ministry is styled by the Holy Ghost, "robbing God." It is likewise robbing man. Now if expulsion in the former case be right, in the latter case it can not be wrong. Withholding support from the ministry, when it is in the power of one's hand to yield it, argues covetousness, and that is a violation of the 10th commandment. And while it is a violation of the 8th and 10th commandments, it is no less a violation of the 1st; it is having another god before him He is serving and worshiping the creature before the Creator. Paul says (Eph. 5. 5.) "No covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the Kingdom of Christ and of God." He exhorts (Col. 3. 5.) To "mortify our members" which are upon the earth, fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence and covetousness which is idolatry." He simply names other sins, he not only names but expounds this one. He says (1 Cor. 5. 10,11.) "with such an one not to company—not to eat," though he be "called a brother." This language implies that a covetous man may be indentified. And he said unto them, "Take heed and beware of covetousness." Luke 12. 15. "The covetous, the Lord abhorreth" Psa. 10. 3. For this offence the wrath of God cometh, and no marvel, it is an iniquity to be punished by the Judge Eternal, in that it would place another God upon the throne. If this be his character, the church ought to dispose of him for his covetousness, as St. Paul did of Hymenens and Alexander for their blasphemy. 1 Tim. 1. 20. If a man cannot be cured of his covetousness in the church he ought to be remanded to the kingdom whence he came. Let Achan be put out of the camp, for he troubleth Israel. He loves the wedge of gold and the goodly Babylonish garment better than the inheritance of the saints in light.

He will not assist in raising the revenue which is to sustain an active campaign against Satan and sin, will not touch the duty with one of his fingers. If we should have a law to expel him, let no man tremble for the ark, "For the law was not made for a righteous man but for the lawless and disobedient." Such a law would tend to the relief of 1. The Preachers. 2. The now overburdened portion of our members. 3. The other benevolent institutions of the church. 4. The Stewards. 5 The delinquents themselves.

JNO. W. NORTH.

Shelby, N. C.

Appointments for Columbia Circuit.

1st Sabbath Hebron and Pleasant Grove.
2nd " Scuppernong and Bethel.
Columbia, at night.
3rd " Gum Neck.
4th " Wesley Chapel and Salem.

As quarterly meeting will be held at Aligntor on the Second Saturday and Smday in May, my next appointment at Scuppernong and Bethel, will be on Wednesday, after 2nd. Sabbath. After that the appointment for those churches will be as above printed.

WILLIAM K. EBORN, P. C.

There will be a statue to Livingstone in Edinburg.

Notice.

The Sunday School Society of the North Carolina Annual Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will convene in the city of Raleigh, Edenton Street Church, May 17th, 1874. A full attendance is earnestly desired.

L. S. BRADSHAW, Pres.

The following is the Programme prepared by the Committee of Arrangements, viz:

PROGRAMME.

The Society will assemble in the Edenton Street Methodist Church in Raleigh on Thursday the 14th of May, at 10 o'clock, A. M.

FIRST SESSION.

1. Opening Exercises.
2. Formal Organization.
3. Speeches, not to exceed ten minutes, on "The work to be done."
4. Five minute statements of "Experience in Sunday-school work."

SECOND SESSION—3 O'CLOCK, P. M.

1. Topic for discussion—"What can be done to improve our Sunday Schools?"
2. Topic—"Our duty to Mission schools." An hour to each Topic. Ten minute speeches.

THIRD SESSION—8 P. M.

1. Address by R. T. Gray, Esq.
2. Discussion—"What are the difficulties of Superintendents, and how can they be removed?"

FRIDAY THE 15TH—FOURTH SESSION.

1. Sunday School Festival.
2. Topic for discussion—"What will make the life of the children beautiful, successful and happy?"
3. Ten minute speeches on "what the children ought to know."

FIFTH SESSION—8 P. M.

1. Address by Rev. F. L. Reid.
2. Discussion—"What are the evidences of genuine prosperity and success in a Sunday School?"

SIXTH SESSION—SATURDAY THE 16TH 10 A. M.

1. Discussion—"Who should belong to the Sunday school?"
2. Topic—"The teacher in and out of school."

SEVENTH SESSION—8 P. M.

1. Address by Rev. J. E. Mann.
2. Miscellaneous business.
3. Closing Exercises.

SUNDAY, THE 17TH.

1. Sunday school from 9 to 10½ o'clock, A. M.
2. Sermon by Rev. E. W. Thompson at 11 o'clock, A. M.
3. Special religious exercises at 3 o'clock, P. M.
4. Sermon at 8 o'clock, P. M.

A. W. MANGUM,
Chairman of Committee.

From the Brethren

Brother L. H. Cox writes us from Swansboro', Onslow county, of the date of April 15th:

"We are well pleased with our new preacher. I think he will warm up some of our cold members before the year closes. We have built a new Methodist Church near Swansboro, by the name of Mount Lebanon. It is a neat country church, and cost over eleven hundred dollars. Brother R. P. Bibb, was the cause of its being built."

A "Student" at Trinity College informs us, that Mr. T. M. Howie, who has been attending that institution for some time, will soon leave for Baltimore, where he will become a student in one of the Medical Colleges.

Personal.

— Dr. Carlton, of the Methodist Book Concern, is dead.

— Queen Victoria will be fifty five next 24th of May. She is in the thirty seventh year of her reign.

— A postmistress in Mississippi discharged her husband from a clerkship the other day for nonattendance to duty.

— The Emperor of Austria has resolved to pay a visit to Italy. Victor Emmanuel will receive Francis Joseph at Rome, and together they will visit Naples and Turin. It is not so many years ago that these two sovereigns were fighting for Lombardy and Venice.

— Three more American ladies are about to be married in Europe to noblemen—Misses Jerome, Forbes and Wickershall; the first two of New York, and the latter of Philadelphia. Extensive preparations are being made for these forthcoming events, and resident Brother Jonathans in Paris, their wives and daughters are, as the Parisians say, on the qui vive. These weddings will take place at the American Legislation in Paris.

— Bishop Wightman passed through Nashville, for home, April 13th. He was somewhat jaded with hard work and travel, but a few days rest will prepare him for the dedication of the church near Nashville, April 26th, and the Vanderbilt corner stone laying, April 28th.—Nashville Advocate.

— The Emory Banner says: "We take much pleasure in giving the names of the following distinguished gentlemen who are to be with us during our Commencement exercises: The Rev. W. E. Munsey has been elected by the Senior Class to preach the baccalaureate sermon; Hon. John Goode, of Norfolk, will address the Alumni: and Prof. J. L. Buchanan, of Emory, will address the literary societies."

— Several French officials who took part in the recent demonstrations at Chiselhurst, in honor of the young Prince Napoleon's birthday, have been removed from office.

— Horace Greeley's estate will prove much more valuable than has been supposed. Instead of being worth but $25,000, as was thought a short time after his death, it probably represents a value of about $125,000.

Notice.

The Sunday School Society of the North Carolina Annual Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will convene in the city of Raleigh, Edenton Street Church, May 17th, 1874. A full attendance is earnestly desired.

L. S. BRADSHAW, Pres.

The following is the Programme prepared by the Committee of Arrangements, viz:

PROGRAMME.

The Society will assemble in the Edenton Street Methodist Church in Raleigh on Thursday the 14th of May, at 10 o'clock, A. M.

FIRST SESSION.

1. Opening Exercises.
2. Formal Organization.
3. Speeches, not to exceed ten minutes, on "The work to be done."
4. Five minute statements of "Experience in Sunday-school work."

SECOND SESSION—3 O'CLOCK, P. M.

1. Topic for discussion—"What can be done to improve our Sunday Schools?"
2. Topic—"Our duty to Mission schools." An hour to each Topic. Ten minute speeches.

THIRD SESSION—8 P. M.

1. Address by R. T. Gray, Esq.
2. Discussion—"What are the difficulties of Superintendents, and how can they be removed?"

FRIDAY THE 15TH—FOURTH SESSION.

1. Sunday School Festival.
2. Topic for discussion—"What will make the life of the children beautiful, successful and happy?"
3. Ten minute speeches on "what the children ought to know."

FIFTH SESSION—8 P. M.

1. Address by Rev. F. L. Reid.
2. Discussion—"What are the evidences of genuine prosperity and success in a Sunday School?"

SIXTH SESSION—SATURDAY THE 16TH 10 A. M.

1. Discussion—"Who should belong to the Sunday school?"
2. Topic—"The teacher in and out of school."

SEVENTH SESSION—8 P. M.

1. Address by Rev. J. E. Mann.
2. Miscellaneous business.
3. Closing Exercises.

SUNDAY, THE 17TH.

1. Sunday school from 9 to 10½ o'clock, A. M.
2. Sermon by Rev. E. W. Thompson at 11 o'clock, A. M.
3. Special religious exercises at 3 o'clock, P. M.
4. Sermon at 8 o'clock, P. M.

A. W. MANGUM,
Chairman of Committee.

Religious Brevities.

— It is said that since the revival began in Great Britian the great publishing house of the Bagsters, London, has not been able to keep up with the increased demands for Bibles.

— Among the many bequests of the late Gail Borden were $13,000 for the American Bible Society, $5,000 for the Tract Society and $2,000 each for the American Missionary Association and the Sunday School Union.

— Iceland, with 50,000 inhabitants, has 300 ministers of the Lutheran Church. The government pays their salaries—from $20 to $300 a year.

— A society called the Catholic Union has organized a pilgrimage from America to the grotto of "Our Lady of Lourdes," and thence of Rome.

— The United Brethren in Christ this year celebrate the hundredth anniversary of their existance. Efforts are being made to secure centenary offerings to the amount of $500,000 for missions, church building and the Union Bible Seminary.

— A new religious body, styling itself the New Catholic Church, has been organized in New York. Its purpose, says the New York Sun, is to bring about a religious reconciliation of all mankind, and to create a religious co operative unity.

—Assistant Bishop Cheney, of the Reformed Episcopal Church, has been followed into the new movement by his congregation in Christ church, Chicago. The members met recently, and formally organized themselves in to a Reformed Episcopal society.

— The London Methodist says: "The late Thomas Wilson, Esq., J. P., of Waterford, a devoted Methodist local preacher, it is reported, has bequeathed £20,000 to benevolent objects, including £10,000 to the British and Foreign Bible Society and £5,000 for Methodist purposes."

— The annual meeting of the North American Relief Society, for the indigent Jews in Jerusalem, Palestine, took place in New York on the twelfth ultimo. It was resolved that the sum of $700 be transmitted to Sir Moses Montefiore, to be forwarded for the benefit of poor Jews in four cities of Palestine, namely, Jerusalem, Hebron, Tiberias and Safat.

— A remarkable movement, headed by a native, says the Friend of India, has set in among the people of Eastern Bengal. The leader has a number of followers who read the Scriptures and endeavor to live after the example of the apostles and early Christians. They are vegetarians, and discard the use of medicine, seeking the cure of sickness by prayer to Christ. Such movements, outside of the church, and mingled, as they are, with error, show how the gospel influence is growing strong in India, and is awakening men's attention to its truths.

— The religious awakening in Edinburg, Scotland, appears to be unparalleled. Dr. Arnot, in a late number of the Christian Weekly, attributes much of the success of the revivals to Mr. Moody's unquenchable zeal and indomitable perseverance He thinks the explanation of Mr. Moody's great success lies in the fact that he is on fire himself, and kindles those with whom he comes in contact. Mr. Sankey's tender, powerful, articulate singing he also regards as a means of grace Most of the British evangelical periodicals speak with hearty approval of this great work. The only noted exception is the Christian World. A great revival has also appeared in the east end of London, which was commenced by a monster prayer meeting.

— The annual meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention will be held at Jefferson, Texas, May 7th. Rev. W. M. Wingate, D. D., of North Carolina, will preach the Convention sermon.

— There are at present 50,000 Sunday school scholars and 4,000 teachers in Germany. Ten years ago there were none.

— Rev, A. C. Barron, at Lexington, Va., has received for baptism a Japanese—a new student in Washington Lee University.

North Carolina.

We call special attention to the advertisement of B. I. Powell, Esq., of Warrenton, N. C.

— Judge Manly, of Newbern, is recovering from his recent illness.

— A big demonstration was made in Clinton on Saturday before last in behalf of the Oxford Orphan Asylum.

— Mr. John Boylin, an esteemed citizen of Wadesboro, died on the 12th instant, and was buried with Masonic honors.

— The Raleigh Grange numbers 150 members.

— There are now 345 Granges in the State.

— Prof. Kerr has sent specimens of North Carolina grasses to England, among them the very desirable (!) wire grass.

— Jos. W Holden is the Republican candidate for Mayor of Raleigh.

— Dennis Tilley, Esq., an excellent citizen, a faithful Methodist, and the most successful farmer in the State, recently sold some of his best tobacco leaf at Henderson for $150.00 per hundred pounds. Of course it was raised in Granville.

— Judge Dick has ordered the sale of the Western North Carolina Railroad at public aution, to satisfy a mortgage for $1,200,000 held by Hiram Sibby and Henry Clews of New York. Thomas Ruffin, of Hillsboro, Marcus Erwin, of Asheville and S. B. Gaither, of Morganton, were appointed by the Court Commissioners to make the sale.

— Rev. W. H. Milburn, the gifted "blind preacher," has been lecturing in Wilmington.

— At the present term of the Federal Court, at Greensboro, there have been five convictions for infraction of the Internal Revenue laws, and the parties sentenced to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $1,000 each.

— The State Council Friends of Temperance meets in Winston June 19th.

— There are over one hundred and thirty-five lodges of Good Templars in North Carolina.

— T. J. Whittington, the murderer of Motley, died in the Penitentiary a few days ago. His pardon had been signed by the Governor.

— There are 25,502,707 acres of land in North Carolina, and its assessed valuation is $70,182,570.

— There were in North Carolina, in 1870, 339,789 persons over ten years of age who could not read.

— The population of North Carolina in 1870 was 1,071,361, or 678,470 whites, 391,650 colored.

— The Charlotte Observer says that Dr. Plumer will preach regularly to the congregation of the [Second] Presbyterian Church until they can secure a permanent pastor. They are peculiarly fortunate in securing his services.

— Caswell county has eighteen Granges.

— Three thousand foreigners in the State in 1870.

— The water of Tar River the other day invaded the first floor of Battle's Cotton Factory, at Rocky Mount, in consequence operations were suspended for a short time. The water was higher in the Tar than in 1867.

— Mrs Governor Worth, who has been quite ill at Ashboro, is recovering.

— W. C. Dunham, Esq., has taken control of the editorial columns of the Sheby BANNER.

— Three illicit distilleries were suppressed last week in Gaston county.

— The work on the Carolina Central Railway is being vigorously pushed — The epizootic has, says the Wilmington JOURNAL, broken out in Eastern among the horses.

— A negro by the name of Sayer (Smith) in Wilmington has declared himself a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the 3rd District, and publishes a letter from Fred Douglas hoping that he will get it.

— Wilmington, N. C. has subscribed $95,000 for a cotton mill to be established in that city.

— North Carolina claims to be the only State in the Union which produces every article enumerated in the census report of 1870.

— Col Wm Alderman, of Cumberland county raised 722 bushels of sweet potatoes from one acre of land, at a cost of only $64.

General News.

— Washburne has been elected U. S. Senator from Massachusetts, receiving one hundred and fifty two votes.

— Dr. Livingstone was buried in London on the 18th inst. The coaches of the Queen and Prince of Wales were in the procession.

— The suit of David Francis and wife against the Etna Insurance Company, of Hartford Conn., on a policy of $40,000, effected in 1865 on the life of Mrs. Francis' husband, who died in 1872, was decided recently by the jury, the verdict being in favor of the plaintiffs for $40,000. The case has been before the U. S. Circuit Court since the 9th inst.

— A complete and entire change has taken place this year in the political complexion of the lower House in New York. Compared with 1873 the result is as follows: 1873 democratic majority, 16 to 28; 1874, Democratic majority of 16 to 32; democratic gain over 1873 16. This looks encouraging for the future.

— Democrats of Ohio are nearly unanimous in denouncing Senator Thurman for his opposition to inflation.

— The Wisconsin returns (town and for County Boards of Supervisors) come in decidedly anti-Republican.

— Public attention is now turned to Arkansas, where the two R's are training for a mighty struggle to see which will become the "Arkansas Traveller."

— The Ohio Senate has defeated the bill making a new division of the Congressional Districts.

— San Francisco is shortly to witness an exhibition on a grand scale, of the electric light, which, it is said will be so intense as to be visible for a distance of 200 miles. For the purpose has been imported from Europe and will be run by a steam engine of four horse power.

— Nearly two hundred of the sufferage passengers rescued from the Europe and arrived in New York are in a destitute condition, everything except the clothing they were saved in having gone down in the steamer.

— The Governor of Louisiana has petitioned the General Government for help to keep the people from starvation who lived in the parishes of that State which have been overflowed by the Mississippi in the last few days.

Our Merchants.

Messrs A. G. Lee & McMackin, General Commission Merchants and Cotton Factors, are reliable business men, attend strictly to the interests of their customers They have moved their cotton over Leach Brothers in order to build on their old stand.

Messrs. Pescud, Lee & Co., is one of the most successful and largest Drug establishments in the State. They are enterprising, polite and trust-worthy.

Messrs. Thomas H. Briggs and Sons have one of the most complete hardware establishments we have ever seen It is an ornament to any city We commend them to our friends.

Messrs. W. H. Morris & Co. are our largest furniture dealers, and do a most satisfactory business. They keep constantly on hand many new and attractive styles of furniture which they sell at reasonable rates.

Letters and Funds.

Rev W H Gibbons paper continued. Clive Cook & Co. Rev T Page Record paper continued, send by registered letter. [illegible] & Son. Priddy Mills & Bro. [illegible] Mrs E Sanders sell $1. [illegible] F Rives, paper continued—pay [illegible] Rev T B Reeks. H B Wilson sell 2 [illegible] Scroggs. A student. [illegible] Rev R B Call for Jas Bryan. Wm Bell [illegible] Carstarphan 2 each, and for Miss C [illegible] 1. J A Simpson 2. For self. Rev John Tillett for W B Bowe 2 Geo S Cole. Rev W A Sharpe papers sent—shall he send to new [illegible] J M Vaughn. C A Bege. N [illegible] R P Troy 2 for self subs. 1, and [illegible] Edwin Patterson and J W N [illegible] W Aldridge. J F Kornegay 2 for self W A Jordan all right. T A White 1 for self P L Groom. T J. Nash. W F Smith name changed. B J Bell. Rev J F Smooth paper continued. W G Lassiter for Sallie J. Ed T M Holt. Mrs Mary V Rev [illegible] W S Casen paper changed. Rev H [illegible] son. Rev W M Jordan for Chas Hunter. J W Forlines 2. O H Spender sell [illegible] & Co. Rev S L Reid. Rev D Bethune for Dr Burkhead. Gregg A Rose. Leard 2, for R P Atkins. Wesley [illegible] for self. A S White. Rev N H [illegible] Rev W H Ebern 1 self. Rev B B Gilbreath J P Montague. Miss Jessie E Weller 2. Rev S D Peeler for Mrs N E Simmons. T Hight and Mrs Mary F [illegible] Richard Smith 1 self [illegible] F J Carraway 2. Rev N [illegible] W H Edmunds. Mrs S A [illegible] Rev A A Sutherland. [illegible] right, corrections made. [illegible] Myatt self 2. Rev J G [illegible] T Hight. Jno G Williams 2. Ed Bannah 1. Pleasant [illegible] Ille co. 8.75 P A Wiley sell [illegible] ting sell 2.50. Dr W G [illegible]

...n Christian Advocate.

...BLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

...

Our Correspondents.

...

How to Remit.

...

...eriages

...

Deaths.

...

In Memoriam.

...

SPLENDID AND UNPARALLELED TRIUMPHS OF THE WHEELER & WILSON Sewing Machine Co.

NEW YORK.

Over Them, our Competitors, AT THE EXHIBITION, VIENNA 1873 &c.

1. The Knighthood of the Imperial order of Franz Joseph," conferred by his Apostolic Majesty the Emperor of Austria, upon the Hon. Jos. Reinhold Wheeler, President of the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine Company, as the founder and pioneer of Sewing Machine Industry.
2. The Grand Diploma of Honor, recommended by the International Jury for their Sewing Machine Company only, for their important contributions to the material and useful welfare of mankind.
3. The Grand Medal for Progress, awarded for their New No. 6 Sewing Machine, being the progressive step since the Paris Exposition of 1867, at which the only Gold Medal for Sewing Machines was awarded to this Company. Hence the Vienna Medal Progress and from a historical or jubilee medal, half from a Gold Medal, the highest award at Paris.
4. The Grand Medal for Merit, for their development of Needle Industry, introduction and successfully manufactured over the exhibited.
5. A Grand Medal for skill, for excellence and superiority of Cabinet work, the only award of the class in this section.
6. Medal for several Cooperators, of the Wheeler and Wilson Company, for special ability.
7. The Officer's Cross, of Knight of the Imperial Russian Order of St. Anna, conferred by the Imperial Russian Commissioner, upon the Hon. Jos. R. Wheeler, President of the Wheeler & Wilson Company, for the enlargement of the Wheeler & Wilson Company factory at Bridgeport, Conn., and the introduction of the Lock Stitch Sewing Machine in Russia.

SPECIAL REPORT, VIENNA EXPOSITION, SEWING MACHINES, &c.

(4 mos 13 sept 2 6)

...Manufactory in the State of Connecticut, at the City of Bridgeport, on the Sound, between New York and Boston. This factory is capable of producing daily ... sewing machines, or ... machines annually. The capital ... is $1,000,000, and the number of hands employed ... Mr. Wheeler is the President, and Mr. ... Secretary and Treasurer of the Company.

FURTHER DISTINGUISHED HONOR.

New York Sept. 15, 1873.

GRAND MEDAL OF HONOR

OF THE

AMERICAN INSTITUTE, NEW YORK,

Was awarded and presented to the Lock-stitch Sewing Machine of the

WHEELER & WILSON'S

NEW NO. 6 FAMILY SEWING MACHINE

...for the ... of all other machines for family use, and ... reconsidering ... certain ... ordinary, especially in Shoe and Leather Manufacturing."

...Baltimore, Md., October 6th, 1873.

...Wheeler & Wilson Manufacturing Co.

...Gentlemen:—I have examined Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine No. 6 S. S. ... and ... that it is the best Sewing Machine or Lock Stitch Machine I have ever seen in operation.

...

...Cincinnati, November 1, 1873.

...Wheeler & Wilson Manufacturing Co.

...Gentlemen:—I have ... that your Sewing Machine ... the highest ... for Leather Stitching, was ... awarded a Diploma of Honor for samples done on their New No. 6 Sewing Machine."

PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 625 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

...Agencies in all the Principal Cities of the World.

apr 23 6w

GREGG & BOWE

Corner Front & Orange Sts.,

Wilmington, Del.,

Manufacturers of and Dealers in CARRIAGE BUILDERS' GOODS, ROCKAWAYS, BODIES, &c., &c.

...Polished Oak, Cherry and Walnut Lumber, Dressed and Undressed.

...A Discount allowed to cheaper grades of Carriages, for cash.

...Orders by Mail or Telegraph, during the Fair, will receive prompt attention.

...Wilmington, Del., Sept. 1, 1873. sept 3 6m

NEW GOODS! NEW GOODS!!

...Important Notice to all Persons Wishing to Buy New Goods at Reduced Prices.

...Reduced Prices.

...now offering to our customers the ...

...only stock, Country ...

NEW GOODS

...

...

...

Youth's Department.

Little Things

Dew-drops are the gems of morning,
And the blossoms of the thorn;
Perfect shapes and perfect motion,
Are the humming-bird and fawn.
Every thing is small in nature,
Great things are but pigmies seen;
Little words contain the power
To express the tenderest mien.

Little deeds of kindness, little words
Of love and patience, these make up life's joys.
Like sunbeams, twinkling ever and anon,
Are little acts of love and little words of peace.

A little word in kindness spoken,
A motion or a look,
Has often healed the heart that's broken,
And turned aside the stroke.

A little seed, a tender shoot,
A little rain, a little fruit,
A little sun, a little dew,
And lo! the perfect flower we view.

He Is Not Dead.

I have told you how Jesus lived and died long ago for men, and how he rose from the dead and is now in heaven. Now I wish to tell you of all that he does for you and me every day; how he speaks to us and helps us, and will help us every hour of our lives.

Perhaps you say: "Does he speak to me? And does he help me? How can that be, for I cannot see or hear him, dear child, every good thought you have and every good deed you do comes from Jesus, who enters his goodness into us, and speaks to us continually in our hearts, though we do not do that." He helps us in many ways. Sometimes, when we read the story of his life, how wise he was, how powerful, how kind; and how infinitely good, we feel that we should like to be good as he was. Above all, when we think of him patiently hanging on the cross, dying for each one of us—for you, dear child, as much as for any one else, then we feel a desire to be good and kind as he was. At such times Jesus is speaking to us, and saying: "Come to me, dear child, and let me help you to be like me."

Do not think, then, that Jesus, now that he is in heaven, forgets little children, or cannot speak to them. He is in your heart, always helping you. You see in a picture Jesus suffering for you on the cross; and that picture reminds you how much he did for us eighteen hundred years ago. But you must not think that when he had once done this, eighteen hundred years ago, that he was tired, and wanted to rest from helping us. It is not so. Jesus died, but he lives and works and teaches and helps us as much as ever.

In the books of the gospel there are what many stories that Jesus told his disciples. He was very fond of speaking about common things—sometimes about a farmer sowing seeds; sometimes about a fisherman catching fish; sometimes about a woman making bread, or about a number of persons going out to dine with a friend.

But do not think that Jesus told these stories once to other people that lived long ago, and now tells them no more to you. Whenever you see these common things about which Jesus spoke, once he speaks to you still, relating the old stories, and he also tells you new stories. Year by year, as you grow wiser and better, and as we all learn more and more of God's goodness and power and wisdom, Jesus speaks to us, telling new stories about God and heaven.—Parables for Children.

How the Spider Spins His Web.

Most people have too great an antipathy to spiders to spend even a few minutes in watching them. When a spider wishes to form a web, he belongs to the race of geometrical spiders which build a wheel-shaped web, he selects some convenient place, and proceeds to lay the foundation by attaching the spokes of the wheel to proper objects; he then commences at the center formed by the crossing of these lines, and travels round and round, spinning his web, employing his feelers for guides as to distance. He always uses the outer works as a pathway, and every time he crosses one of the spokes he attaches his line to it. When he has finished he takes his position at the center, hangs downward, and waits for the unlucky insect, which he is sure will soon happen along. As soon as he perceives that some awkward fly has run against his delicate framework, he bounces out on him, and quickly ties him fast, head and foot, so that he may dine on him at leisure. But it is not always by laying traps and tying fast his unlucky victims that the spider gets his food. If he wants to cross from one tree to another, or from one side of a stream to the opposite, he uses the web for a bridge. This he constructs by taking a favorable position, and then spinning a web, which he lets float in the wind. As soon as it touches some object to which it adheres, he puts it to see that it is secure, and then crosses on this single line. This is an achievement in engineering which surpasses the suspension bridge built by human skill. Spiders sometimes throw out lines from fifty to one hundred feet long, spun by so slight a breeze as to insure that we may have some trouble to find him, yet strong enough to bear his weight safely. When a spider wishes to descend from an elevation, he attaches the end of his web to some object, and then boldly launches off, spinning as he goes. When he gets down he cuts the line and leaves it, unless he wishes to return immediately, in which case he coils it up and takes it along as he ascends.

Rural and Domestic.

Grass! Grass!! Grass!!!

The one great want of Southern agriculture, now, is grass. All flesh is grass, and in order that flesh and blood—man and beast—may live and thrive, grass must be abundant.

The care of our native grasses, and the cultivation of other (and perhaps better) kinds, is a subject that now forces itself upon the attention of the Southern farmer.

Labor is continually becoming more and more costly in proportion to the market value of our farm products. Lands are cheap. It is all important, then, in diversifying our products, that we look out for those that give large yields in proportion to the cost of producing and hauling.

Meadows well set with grass, and mowed and raked by horse power, paid more clean profit last year, in North Carolina, than any sort of farming we know of. We do not recommend the raising of grass for market, if the producer calculates to cut it with a common grass scythe. We have known men to make a little money saving hay in this manner, and those farmers who do not use horse-mowers would do better to make hay with the scythe than not to make it at all. But horse power is so much cheaper than human force that we could not encourage the latter into hopeful competition with the wonderful powers of the horse, operating improved machinery.

We wish to hear from those of our readers who raised hay (or attempt it) last year. We learn that Col. A. A. McKoy, of Sampson county, made a great success last summer in producing crab grass hay, with horse mower and raker. We invite him and others disposed to give the public the benefit of their experience, to let us have, for publication, their process and results.

If we have more grass and better, we shall have more beef and mutton, and better. We shall stop sending our money to places out of the State to buy butter and cheese. We shall make more manure, and raise larger money crops for exportation.

A very successful farmer on the sandy plains of New Jersey, said, a few years ago, in an agricultural speech: "I have truly prospered on the farm, and the root of my prosperity has been the clover root." If clover can be profitably cultivated in Eastern New Jersey, it will certainly pay in Eastern North Carolina. We will say no more about this subject to-day, but we intend to sing out the words at the top of this article, until the farmers of this State catch the refrain of Grass! Grass!! Grass!!!—State Ag. Journal.

RECLAIMING OLD SOIL.—L. T., of Winchester, Franklin county, Tennessee, in answer to A. A. W., of Ashtabula, Ohio, says:

"In the South we are trying every means to renovate our worn out lands, and it is astonishing to see with what rapidity our soil is being brought out. Let me give you the method of preparing the soil for the fertilizer. Plow four or five inches deep, then run a subsoil in the furrows to the depth of seven or eight inches, and you will have the soil broken up one foot deep. Rye as a fertilizer does not amount to much, as it can not grow strong enough; if it has been tested. Corn, sown, is a very good fertilizer if plowed under while in a green state. It is better for a spring crop than fall, as it does not decompose rapidly enough.

The best two fertilizers we have tried are the German millet and the Southern pea. We can not find anything so well calculated for wheat. The pea in particular, comes up by the side of clover on good ground, and is far superior on poor ground, as the pea will grow where clover will not. I have sown a field in wheat that is equally divided between corn, German millet and peas. I can not see much difference at this time. The prospect could not be much better, and as far as my knowledge extends, we have a beautiful prospect for an abundant harvest.

In conclusion, let me say, whatever you sow, buy and raise the largest growth possible, which you can do by sowing 100 pounds of plaster to the acre, and plow all under in its green state. Van will be astonished with what rapidity your soil will be brought out.

NIGHT-SOIL.—Night soil is a valuable and extremely powerful manure, richer in nitrogen than horse or cow dung. It should be deodorized before using, by sulphate of iron or powdered charcoal. The use of charcoal for deodorizing night-soil is attended with peculiar advantages, as it is of itself, from causes not entirely ascertained, one of the best auxiliary manures known to agriculture. Wherever charcoal is present to a considerable amount in the soil, the grapes and all kinds of fruit flourish luxuriantly, and mildew is unknown. Charcoal and gypsum are the best deodorizers of night-soil, and indeed in the composting of any animal excrements, as they drive off the anamonia. As before stated, plants take up their food in the liquid and gaseous condition, which of itself shows conclusively that the mine of all animals should be given to the soil.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Sustain the Sinking System

The flashes of excitement produced by the stimulants in ordinary use, are followed by a reaction that is always more or less injurious. Just as darkness, illuminated for a moment by the lightning's glare, becomes apparently blacker than ever the after the flash is over, so the mental gloom and physical misery that would momentarily under the influence of liquor or wine is fearfully intensified when the first transient excitement ceases. Yet physicians habitually prescribe the liquors or commercial for patients suffering from bodily weakness and mental despondency. The true remedy in such cases is a pure stimulant medicated with the finest tonics and alteratives which the vegetable kingdom affords, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the only preparation at present known which thoroughly meets the emergency. The effect of this popular restorative is continuous. Each dose takes its vigorous share in the work of invigorating the stomach and the brain, and its gradual but well proportioned vigor cures the debility, hypochondria, or mental torpidity that does not arise from organic causes beyond the reach of medicine. It is, in the strictest sense of the word, an invigorating and revitalizing cordial. If the nerves are unstrung and trembling, it braces them; if the bowels are constipated, it relieves them; if the liver is torpid, it arouses it to healthy action; if the kidneys become disordered, it purifies the fluids; if the appetite is poor and the digestion weak and painful, it restores a healthy feeling; and when the stomach is unable to retain food, it allays irritability, and imparts a grateful disposition to receive nourishment.

Interesting to Invalid Ladies.

HALLSBORO, Columbia co. N. Y. July 9, 1873.
R. A. PARKER, M. D.

DEAR SIR: Your favor is just received. I intended to have written you a few weeks since concerning the Improvement in my health, which is now very apparent. I have taken one bottle of Favorite Prescription with very good results, although I will say that I was somewhat discouraged after the use of one dose, but took it fearlessly according to directions, and now feel like a new woman. I would recommend every invalid lady to use the Favorite Prescription. Yours truly, MRS. C. M. CHEESEBRO.

Sold by druggists everywhere. Price $1.50 per bottle. Send for pamphlet on Diseases of Females, published by the Proprietor, R. A. PARKER, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.
Save Your Eyes.
BE SURE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All defects in the Eye cured, restoring the vision to its original perfection.

DR. J. BALL & CO'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUP.
Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our readers and many patrons, relatives, students and friends have had their Sight immediately Restored for Life, as found on the following testimonials. Dr. Campbell Dodge, Trenton, N. J., says: "Dr. Ball, of this city, has used your Eye Cups in a number of cases of Cataract, Amaurosis, Amblyopia, Asthenopia, &c., with the most gratifying success. In one case of Cataract, of twenty years' standing, the Eye Cup restored the sight of the patient, who could not count fingers at the distance of three feet, to perfect vision. In another case of Amaurosis, of three

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. | PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. | $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 18. | RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MAY 6, 1874. | WHOLE NO. 1,016.

Selected Poetry.

Cross and Crown.

WORD

Hand in LIFE

WAY,

PENCE.

Ker & Co.

ON & SONS,

SUCCESS!

STORY.

Africa

OFFER!!

BROWN

Grocer,

School Books,

DIAMONDS."

High School

COMMUNICATED.

Snuff-Dipping.--No. 2.

Mr. Editor: I once knew a family, the parents of which were unusually devoted to their children, especially was this so in the case of their eldest daughter. They gave to her early training much care, and placed within her reach educational advantages, such as shone out in her superior intelligence and refinement as she grew up to womanhood. It was then, however, that her attractive manners, disposition, and an almost unearthly beauty of form and feature, called around her many friends and admirers. No one knew her but to love her—and I have often thought it was no wonder her parents almost idolized her. But in the early spring time when the buds began to swell and the flowers to bloom, she began to wane and fade, and very soon without any apparent cause the following train of symptoms began to mark the rosette bloom which so beautifully mantled her cheek, began to fade—her eyes that sparkled with so much intelligence and purity lost their lustre—her lips that presented a cherry-like fullness and color, gradually assumed a pale thin, skinny appearance; her appetite became irregular and capricious—her digestion disordered and imperfect—her sleep harrassed with dreamy apparitions and frightful spectres. These were soon followed by great debility—a sense of oppression in the chest—painful constriction and difficulty in breathing, with trembling and palpitation of the heart, muscular and nervous tremors—a faint sinking over whelming, benumbing sensation, as if portending immediate death, and so actually culminating in a kind of syncope where the victim one moment seems poised over a bottomless abyss—the next, pressed down by a mountain as large as the globe, rolling up toward the antipodes—the next floating free and yet constantly being overtaken by some dread monster or terrible phantom, to escape which calls forth one mighty awful struggle, which generally dispels the horrid incubus for the time, and consciousness would return to find her trembling in every muscle, thrilling in every nerve and sweating at every pore, with these distressing symptoms were associated great depression of spirits, langor, lassitude, melancholy, vacant musings, disrelish for society or company, preferring solitude and seclusion.

At this stage of her history her parents became very much concerned for her, and despite her earnest protest, called the family physician to her relief. He spoke of her general appearance and symptoms, elucidating slow poison, and directed remedies accordingly—she however declining anything of the kind—her nurse, drinking vessels, water, food, perfumery, cosmetics, &c., were all examined without leading to any solution of the difficulty. She still continued to decline. She was now barely able to leave her room—could walk from parlor to the dining room with great effort, would not have dared an attempt to go up stairs—could only maintain the sitting posture for a short time, owing to great weakness and pain in the back an empty sinking sensation in the region of the stomach, which soon compelled her to lie down—did not now relish any food had a morbid craving for crude indigestibles, such as pickles, parched coffee, charcoal, slate pencils, &c. So rife was this morbid appetite that it was found necessary oftentimes to restrain it.

Thus surrounded with her friends, whose sympathies were intensified by her strange and unaccountable decline, rendered more strange because it resisted every remedy that skill and affection could devise—she did not improve—her young life that had opened up with so much promise of a bright future, that was so lovely and beautiful—like a faded flower, "nipped by the winds untimely blast," was slowly yet surely withering away. Thus passed away the summer time, and as the early approach of cold weather came on, it became necessary to prepare her room for fire, as the fire place had been closed up for several months, her mother found it necessary to remove a large fire screen and then and there, was revealed the horrid scene of her daughter's strange decline—it was neither a fabled vampire, hideous serpent, nor yet a hot bed of decaying vegetation that gave rise to mephitic gases, but a score or more of empty snuff jars—the contents of which had produced all this sad havoc.

Now let it be understood, Mr. Editor, this is no fancy sketch conjured up for the occasion—far from it the incident is real and the long and fearful train of morbid symptoms that were so potent in destroying the health and embittering and shadowing out the young life of this beloved daughter, were nothing but the effects in their full strength of tobacco poisoning—such as may be seen in a greater or less degree—fading the cheek, robbing the health, and blighting the hopes of scores and hundreds of the fair women of our State—it needs no argument to prove this. I appeal to the victims of this habit, if the long and terrible train of morbid sensations and disordered symptoms I have enumerated are not a true picture, in a greater or less degree, of their own sad experience, and if so, I would entreat them to remember the end there of is death.

But startling as is this picture, and damning as are the facts that give it coloring, I propose to prove that still in another way, snuff dipping involves more of human life and health than is dreamed of by its votaries.

The very large proportion of the human race who die in childhood has from time to time engaged the attention of mankind, and volume after volume of reports and investigations, plans and schemes from medical societies, hospitals and infirmaries, sanitary committees and health boards, all of whom deplore the large percentage of mortality in infantile life—point out what are its most potent and palpable causes and propose both measures and remedies to remove or avert the dangers, and thereby save the life of the dear children. Among the most prominent causes of child mortality are found, those existing in large cities—such as crowded streets, cellars and courts, subjecting the children to damp, impure air, intensified by insufficient clothing, innutritious, ing properly prepared, and unwholesome food, and the consequent exposure and privation that are inseparable from these situations. But there are causes outside of cities, and independent of their influences which have much to do in swelling the aggregates of infant mortality, and in searching after these causes I do not propose to enumerate all that large and destructive class of diseases which specially belong to childhood, nor those that come upon them by reason of hereditary predisposition. These causes operate everywhere and more or less every season of the year. But I must unhesitatingly assert, that at this day the use of tobacco in some of its forms, is doing much more than is dreamed of by its victims to stint and destroy the children of our people, as for example: I have seen many a fond mother have her maternal sympathies stirred to their profoundest depth as she looked down in the dreamy eyes of her poor attenuated, effeminate, almost imbecile child, that would have given the world could she have restored it from a premature death—that would have been almost inconsolable, had she been told that she herself was hastening the very event she so much dreads—for the very fountain from which her child ought to draw its life, and whose streams ought to be rich and full in all that makes brain and bone and muscle, is not only wanting in all these constituents or elements of nutrition and growth, but is poisonous as it flows, and instead of imparting life sows the seeds of death in the delicate system into which it is carried.

And why should it not be so? if the active principle of tobacco as it is obtained, in a crude and imperfect manner by the pharmaceutist, is so deadly a poison, what might we expect from that same principle when eliminated by the human stomach in that complex, mysterious, vital process we call digestion, the products of which enter directly into the blood, to be there endowed with vital properties? and finally, if these deductions be true, and I would not have any one believe they were overdrawn—what can that mother expect to become of her child, who, while she opens the fountain, by nature intended to give it life and nourishment on the one hand, with the other at the same time fills her mouth and deluges her stomach with a compound that both corrupts the fountain and poisons its streams; and this is not only true of snuff dipping, but of the use, by mothers, of tobacco in all its forms.

Mr Editor, on the tobacco question I am done. I have had no vanity or spite to gratify in arraying myself against so popular and common a vice as the use of tobacco. I do not believe that I am a fool or a fanatic on this subject. But I do believe this evil has assumed proportions among our people, and is working injury to our ministry and people, church and State, parents and children, that is crying to heaven for redress and reform. You and your readers must determine who is the fanatic, they or

WATCHMAN.

Cedar Grove, April 1874.

For the Advocate.

Shelby District.

Mr. Editor: I have made one round on the Shelby District. All the preachers are at their posts, and hard at work for the prosperity of the church and the salvation of souls. I am not prepared to speak confidently in reference to spiritual, financial and educational development of the church, in the district, as I have had only a "bird's eye" view of the field. The Shelby District is indeed "A Big Patch." It contains seventeen pastoral charges three of these are missions. I will state facts, which may be of interest to the brethren of the original N. C. Conference. I suppose the preachers and people will not object to my stating somewhat in detail, the situation.

Shelby Station, Rev. H. T. Hudson, pastor. 120 members. The Pastor's salary has been fixed at $800.00. Our church here is equal, at least, to any other church in the place, in all respects. We have no Methodist school here of any sort, except a good Sunday School. We need, and desire a good Methodist School, and must have one, or our cause will suffer.

Shelby Circuit, Rev. J. W. North, Pastor. About 400 members. The Pastor's salary has been fixed at $650.00. "King's Mountain" Depot, on the "Air Line R. R."—destined to be a thriving village, is in the bounds of this circuit. I met here Bros. R. H. and J. W. Gwynett, formerly of Edgecombe county. The Carrotte own some fifteen thousand acres of land, in the vicinity of the Depot. There is no Methodist school in this pastoral charge! Who is to educate all the children of the Methodists here? I call the attention of Bro. North and his officials specially to this subject. Dear brethren, bestir yourselves, and establish a school if possible, in the neighborhood of each church.

Rutherford Circuit, Rev. S. Leard, Pastor. Perhaps 500 members. The Pastor's salary fixed at $550.00. An excellent school in Rutherfordton, taught by Bro. Wahing, a graduate of Wofford College and a local preacher of our church, a capital young man, and said to be a fine teacher. The school is not sectarian. Brother Leard lives in a good parsonage, superior to the parsonage in the city of Raleigh. Bro. L. is abundant in labors.

Columbus Mission, in Polk county, Rev. E. Rowland, Missionary. I met brother Ro. at Rutherford quarterly meeting. He is at work, in earnest, with hopeful prospects of good success. The brethren on the missions, speak of him most affectionately. I shall visit his work the last week in June.

Cherry Mountain Circuit, Rev. T. C. Smith, Pastor. About 200 members. The Pastor's salary fixed at $170.00? Bro. S., is a young man—an earnest worker. Our quarterly meeting at Oak Grove was pleasant and profitable.

Double Shoals Circuit, Rev. R. P. Bibb, Pastor. Perhaps 500 members. The Pastor's salary fixed at $500.00. I am not certain that there is any Methodist school in the bounds of the circuit. Who shall educate these Methodist children? Dear Brethren, ponder this question. Pray over it. May God direct you in the right way.

South Fork Circuit, Rev. Thos. H. Edwards, Pastor. 500 members.—Pastor's salary $650. A tolerable parsonage. I have held two quarterly meetings in this charge—but have heard of no Methodist school! When will our people see and feel the importance of educating their own children?

Lincoln Circuit, Rev. V. A. Sharpe, Pastor. 350 or 400 members.—Pastor's salary fixed at $925.00. Brother Sharpe circulates books and tracts most industriously. I am not sure that there is any Methodist school in the bounds of this circuit. Who is teaching the Methodist children? O! ye Methodist teachers, look to these fields, and come by scores.

Dallas Circuit, Rev. P. F. W. Stamy, Pastor. About 300 members.—Pastor's salary $350.00 No Methodist school so far as I know in the bounds of the Circuit. This is brother Stamy's first year, so far as I could judge he is succeeding well on the work.

Rock Spring Circuit, Rev. J. W. Puett, pastor—about 600 members—with a compound that both corrupts the fountain and poisons its streams; and this is not only true of snuff dipping, but of the use, by mothers, of tobacco in all its forms.

Mr. Editor, on the tobacco question I am done. I have had no vanity or spite to gratify in arraying myself against so popular and common a vice as the use of tobacco. I do not believe that I am a fool or a fanatic on this subject. But I do believe this evil has assumed proportions among our people, and is working injury to our ministry and people, church and State, parents and children, that is crying to heaven for redress and reform. You and your readers must determine who is the fanatic, they or

WATCHMAN.

Cedar Grove, April 1874.

For the Advocate.

Shelby District.

Mr. Editor: I have made one round on the Shelby District. All the preachers are at their posts, and hard at work for the prosperity of the church and the salvation of souls. I am not prepared to speak confidently, in reference to spiritual, financial and educational development of the church, in the district, as I have had only a "bird's eye" view of the field. The Shelby District is indeed "A Big Patch." It contains seventeen pastoral charges three of these are missions. I will state facts, which may be of interest to the brethren of the original N. C. Conference. I suppose the preachers and people will not object to my stating somewhat in detail, the situation.

Shelby Station, Rev. H. T. Hudson, pastor. 120 members. The Pastor's salary has been fixed at $800.00. Our church here is equal, at least, to any other church in the place, in all respects. We have no Methodist school here of any sort, except a good Sunday School. We need, and desire a good Methodist School, and must have one, or our cause will suffer.

Shelby Circuit, Rev. J. W. North, Pastor. About 400 members. The Pastor's salary has been fixed at $650.00. "King's Mountain" Depot, on the "Air Line R. R."—destined to be a thriving village, is in the bounds of this circuit. I met here Bros. R. H. and J. W. Gwynett, formerly of Edgecombe county. The Carrotte own some fifteen thousand acres of land, in the vicinity of the Depot. There is no Methodist school in this pastoral charge! Who is to educate all the children of the Methodists here? I call the attention of Bro. North and his officials specially to this subject. Dear brethren, bestir yourselves, and establish a school if possible, in the neighborhood of each church.

Rutherford Circuit, Rev. S. Leard, Pastor. Perhaps 500 members. The Pastor's salary fixed at $550.00. An excellent school in Rutherfordton, taught by Bro. Wahing, a graduate of Wofford College and a local preacher of our church, a capital young man, and said to be a fine teacher. The school is not sectarian. Brother Leard lives in a good parsonage, superior to the parsonage in the city of Raleigh. Bro. L. is abundant in labors.

Columbus Mission, in Polk county, Rev. E. Rowland, Missionary. I met brother Ro. at Rutherford quarterly meeting. He is at work, in earnest, with hopeful prospects of good success. The brethren on the missions, speak of him most affectionately. I shall visit his work the last week in June.

Cherry Mountain Circuit, Rev. T. C. Smith, Pastor. About 200 members. The Pastor's salary fixed at $170.00? Bro. S., is a young man—an earnest worker. Our quarterly meeting at Oak Grove was pleasant and profitable.

Double Shoals Circuit, Rev. R. P. Bibb, Pastor. Perhaps 500 members. The Pastor's salary fixed at $500.00. I am not certain that there is any Methodist school in the bounds of the circuit. Who shall educate these Methodist children? Dear Brethren, ponder this question. Pray over it. May God direct you in the right way.

South Fork Circuit, Rev. Thos. H. Edwards, Pastor. 500 members.—Pastor's salary $650. A tolerable parsonage. I have held two quarterly meetings in this charge—but have heard of no Methodist school! When will our people see and feel the importance of educating their own children?

Lincoln Circuit, Rev. V. A. Sharpe, Pastor. 350 or 400 members.—Pastor's salary fixed at $925.00. Brother Sharpe circulates books and tracts most industriously. I am not sure that there is any Methodist school in the bounds of this circuit. Who is teaching the Methodist children? O! ye Methodist teachers, look to these fields, and come by scores.

Dallas Circuit, Rev. P. F. W. Stamy, Pastor. About 300 members.—Pastor's salary $350.00 No Methodist school so far as I know in the bounds of the Circuit. This is brother Stamy's first year, so far as I could judge he is succeeding well on the work.

Rock Spring Circuit, Rev. J. W. Puett, pastor—about 600 members—with a parsonage going up. Rock Spring Seminary in sight of the parsonage, C. M. Thompson, principal. Brother Thompson writes me: Our school is flourishing. We have about sixty pupils; our prospects are brightening. We expect to reach a hundred next session."

I will present another quotation from brother Thompson's letter, and ask all to think about it: "Let Shelby District, not only be the banner district for size and members, but let us make it the banner district for morality, intelligence and piety. The consequence will be that it will be in the van in the support of the ministry and in general prosperity." Success to this new enterprise! Let these light houses go up in every pastoral charge.

Newton circuit, Rev. P. L. Herman, Pastor. About 400 members. Pastor's salary $750.00. A good parsonage, poorly furnished. I spent a week at Newton—had a good meeting—church quickened—sinners converted, enjoyed my stay greatly. Have a school in Newton, taught by a good sister. Let the brethren establish other schools in the circuit at proper points. The school and the church must go along together and unite in blessing the world.

Happy Home circuit. Rev. J. C. Hartsell, Pastor. About 300 members—Pastor's salary $105.60, no parsonage spent a week at Hickory Tavern—domiciled with Bro. Marshall. Snow, sleet, rain, mud. Hickory, an enterprising town Rutherford College is in the bounds of this circuit. Did not see Bro. Abernathy, but he sent me a note explaining the reason of his absence from quarterly meeting. About 160 pupils in the college. Bro. T. J. Gattis with me here, hard at work for Davenport Female College.

Lenoir circuit, Rev. G. W. Ivey, Pastor. About 700 members; Pastor's salary $800.00; a good parsonage, needs painting. Spent nearly a week in Lenoir, and domiciled at the College. My visit here exceedingly pleasant. Every where else I had been with comparative strangers. Here I was with old beng loved friends, Rev. W. M. Robey and family, Mrs. Nichol son and daughters, and Mrs. Pell and family, all highly esteemed personal friends. Davenport Female College is doing well. Everything seems to move on with the greatest possible order and regularity. No man can be in the institution a day without feeling that a steady hand holds the reigns of authority. "Beautiful for situation," the joy of this mountain country, is Davenport Female College.—Here I made the acquaintance of quite a number of persons, whose praise is in all this up country, and renewed my acquaintance with you esteemed correspondent, "Watchman." Bro. Robey and daughter and Miss Ferree, went with me over to Morganton.

Morganton circuit; Rev. J. S. Ervin, Pastor. About 700 members; Pastor's salary $800.00; a respectable parsonage. I was domiciled at brother Claywell's. How could my stay be less than delightful in this goodly old town? With such surroundings and such associations I was of course well edified. Brother Robey assisted me in the pulpit. The word preached seemed to impress the people, and I trust great good will result. His Excellency, Gov. Tod R. Caldwell, was at home on a brief visit. He and his wife heard the word with earnest attention I formed many pleasant acquaintances here. We are behind the times here in our school interests. Who shall educate the children of all these Methodist people? This is the question. Let our preachers and people look well to this matter.

Marion circuit; Rev. J. C. Crisp, Pastor. About 450 members; Pastor's salary $400.00; no parsonage. I was domiciled while here at Dr. Gilkey's. Rev. S. R. Trawick and wife board with the Doctor. The Marion High School for young ladies is located here. The school is in its infancy but expects to grow and succeed. Let the people in McDowell especially sustain this school. We know brother and sister Trawick to be worthy and well qualified. The mountain scenery about Marion is grand.

Upper Broad River Mission; Rev. J. M. Lumly, Missionary. I met Bro. L. at Marion, and learned some few things about the Mission. Hope to visit this field in the summer if "Old Bald Mountain" will keep quiet.

South Mountain Mission, Rev. D. P. Goode, Missionary. Met brother Goode at the Double Shoals quarterly conference. He gave me a detailed account of his work. I hope also to visit this field during the summer. In conclusion:

1. The district is very large.
2. Methodism is numerous and influential.
3. Pastors have plenty of work, and are doing their duty faithfully.
4. The salaries are much too small on most of the charges.
5. The people kind and hospitable.
6. I have been warmly greeted by preachers and people, and hope to be useful in this field of toil. Let all pray for God's blessings upon this whole district.

Without God's help there can be no real success.

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.

O thou invisible spirit of wine, if thou hast no name to be known by, let us call thee—devil! O, that men should put an enemy in their mouths, to steal away their brains! that we should, with joy, revel, pleasure, and applause, transform ourselves into beasts!—Shakspeare.

For the Advocate.

Methodism.

Some months since, something was said in a New York Newspaper about the decline of Methodism.

The Editor of the Christian at Work thought that if the number of Methodists had not increased, there, in proportion to some other denominations, that it was not because Methodism had declined, but because the principles of the Methodists had diffused themselves into other denominations and in this way, Methodism was now doing more to extend the true principles of God . . . than it had ever done before. The Editor says, "We had never learned to sing, if it had not been for the Methodists."

On the other hand, the Methodists may have lost much of their originality and zealous enthusiasm by conforming too much to the habits and customs of the religious world, in which ritualism and outward show frequently take the place of true godliness. But be this as it may, we certainly need the Methodists to preach important scripture truths, which many other denominations of christians dare not preach, because such scripture truth is not in accordance with their peculiar notions of church organization, or some pet religious dogma.

These thoughts have been suggested by hearing the Rev. Mr. Griffith of the Granville circuit, preach from the text, Luke, 17-20, 21. The preacher took this scripture in its plain, literal, commonsense meaning, and showed that christianity never was extended by mere outward force, or by attracting institutions as such, but as its true dominion was "within you," in the hearts of men, it must extend itself by taking hold of the man's affections.—making him a "new creature in Christ Jesus," and thus placing the kingdom of God in the heart of man, made them go forth in the power and demonstration of the Holy Spirit of God, to accomplish the salvation of sinners.

It is indeed very gratifying to an intelligent christian, to find a preacher who is able to take this text of scripture, regardless of its enormous marginal references (as we find them in most of our reference Bibles) and preach "the gospel of the kingdom of God" as did the Master and his disciples.

The great importance of such preaching will appear when it is remembered that the Episcopalians, Antinomians, and landmarkers construe the scripture teaching relative to the spiritual kingdom of God, to mean the church. Their error consists in not making a distinction between kingdom and church. With them the kingdom (reign) of God, is the same as the church (people) of God. In their teaching they know no "kingdom of God" except the church.

We trust Mr. Griffith will let these parties continue the fight among themselves relative to their individual claims to be the only church or kingdom of God, and go preach the word as he did at Moore's, at the quarterly meeting, and through the grace of God, he will continue to gather in more than they all.

M. P. J.

For the Advocate.

Prize Essay.

"How to Send, A plea for Missions."

BY A. H. HAYGOOD, D. D.

Mr. Editor: Allow me to call the attention of your readers to this most excellent little work on Missions. The plan of the Essay is quite comprehensive, its arguments enforcing the Plea are strong, pointed and scriptural. In the first and second chapters, the author discusses:

"1. Jesus Christ intends His Gospel for all men.

2. It is adapted to all men.

3. It is necessary to all men."

These fundamental propositions are ably and lucidly presented.

In the third chapter, the author sets forth

"THE DUTY OF THE CHURCH."

The drift of the argument here is this: "That those who are already reconciled to God, should preach the ministry of reconciliation, to those who are not." The collective and individual responsibility of all christians to "go or send" the gospel to the heathen world, is developed in an impressive way in this chapter

In the fourth chapter, the Doctor discusses the practical and important question.

DO MISSIONS PAY?

By way of premise it is stated that there are in the Protestant world, fifty two Missionary Societies. They have been operating but little over fifty years. They are now working a force of 15,000 christian laborers. The annual revenues of these Boards amount to nearly eight million dollars. Does this investment of men and money pay? The author goes on to prove, that it does pay amply, richly, liberally. And this is shown by an appeal to facts and figures gathered from the various fields under Missionary culture.

In the concluding chapter, the Doctor makes sundry encouraging statements, scatters to the winds numerous objections, and gives a complete and valuable tabular statement of Missionary statistics. The book is small (only 73 pages), but it is multum in parvo. Get it, read it, scatter it abroad among the people, and what a golden harvest of Missionary results will follow. It is only 20 cents per copy. Address, A. H. Redford, D. D., Nashville, Tenn.

H. T. HUDSON.

Shelby, N. C.

For the Advocate.

A Reminiscence.

While it is difficult to overestimate the real worth of a classic scholar, let not those who are not thus favored by fortune, be cavious; but as I am about to speak of some of the experience, or more properly, thoughts of the student I shall proceed immediately: when I arrived at the proper age to enter college, I anxiously and longing ly waited for the day on which I was to start. It finally came, the anticipated joy though failed to equal my sanguine expectations, but I am proceeding too far, as I only wish to speak of one circumstance in this place. I remember it as well as if it had been but yesterday. About half a mile from the college was a small cluster of pine trees to which I would often resort in my evening walk to meditate. One Friday evening when I had taken my accustomed jaunt and arrived at my wonted stopping place, my mind being engaged on a series of subjects, I continued walking until I passed the pines, and objects with which I had not met before, the newness of the way, arrested my attention and I began to look around, and as I was so impressed, I think it not out of place to say something of the scenery. I left the pines on my right, immediately on my left was a small stream of water running over some large rocks. When I had passed the pines a few paces I stopped to think over some of the works of nature and the dealings of providence to man. Two large poplars grew by the brook over the roots of one of which the water was falling two or three feet, the half open buds and leaves about as large as silver dollars, (for I neglected to say it was spring) together with a myriad of birds that continued chattering among the leaflets, and above, high in the air, was an host of swallows. All conspired to make the scene delightful. While reclining against the fence eagerly peering through the trees if perchance I might see a squirel, for at that time all would have been complete if I had had a gun and dog, while thus musing a large unusual looking hound made his appearance hunting with apparent intensity, and what was strange he was almost precisely like the one with which I used to roam the forest ever successful. My eye would longingly look away down the brook which lost itself far away through the grassy meadows, murmuring along. How delightful, I thought, sublime. I remember wishing that I was a poet that I might then and there express my feelings in verse. As the sun neared the horizon I was admonished to return. With reluctance I turned from viewing what was my ideal of beauty. I only wished that I might be permitted to view the monotony of that scenery forever. As I advanced on my way back my mind began to run over the past. It seemed when I recollected that I was going to school, that I had been feasting on viands not my own, gathering garlands of delight from another garden; passing on viewing the beautiful fields of the farmer and the orchards, I said, yes these are his, not mine, and I envied him, not the worth of property, I did not think of that, but he appeared to have all that appeared to me desirous. The more the scene increased the worse I felt, the more I considered I had lost and I longed to be permitted to return to my father's farm, and there spend the remainder of my days. In the language of the poet I said,

"Take let me live, alone,
Thus unlamented let me die.
Steal from the world, and not a stone
Tell where I lie."

I said let the politician be elated by his greatness, the philosopher by his knowledge, the various professional characters by their exploits and successes, but on the farm is to be found the 'beautiful and good.' My thoughts ran uncontrolled back to the "old homestead". I finally reached my room some what wearied in mind and contented myself by thinking with the "profane,"

"All men are not born to reign," but with Paul, "For as we have many members in one body, and all members have not the same office;

So we having many, are one body in Christ."

P. G.

Cheerfulness is an excellent wearing quality. It has been called the bright weather of the heart. It gives harmony the soul, and is a perpetual song without words. It is tantamount to repose. It enables nature to recruit its strength; whereas worry and discontent debilitate it, involving constant wear and tear.

Selected.

The Soul And The Saviour

"Why do I find Thee waiting at my door?
"That on thy head My blessings I may pour."
Why takest Thou Thy seat beside my board,
"That on thy meat My blessings may be poured."

Why dost Thou bow'd Thy head at my bed?
"That o'er thy dreams My blessings may be shed."
Why do I find thee standing in the street?
"That I thy walk with success and love may greet."

Will thou awake me at Death's cold dark sea?
"Yea, and will cross the troubled waves with thee."
Shall I not bear Thee on the other shore?
"Nay love shall keep us one for evermore."

Christian Age.

Charles Dickens to his Son.

Never take a mean advantage of any one in any transaction, and never be hard upon people who are in your power. Try to do to others as you would have them do to you, and do not be discouraged if they fail sometimes. It is much better for you that they should fail in obeying the greatest rule laid down by our Saviour, than that you should. I put a New Testament among your books, for the very same reasons and with the very same hopes that made me write an easy account of it for you when you were a little child; because it is the best book that ever was or ever will be known in the world, and because it teaches you the best lessons by which any human creature, who tries to be truthful and faithful to duty, can possible be guided. As your brothers have gone away, one by one, I have written to each such words as I am now writing to you, and have entreated them all to guide themselves by this book; putting aside the interpretations and inventions of man. You will remember that you have never at home been harassed about religious observances or mere formalities. I have always been anxious not to weary my children with such things before they are old enough to form opinions respecting them. You will therefore understand the better that I now most solemnly impress upon you the truth and beauty of the Christian religion as it came from Christ himself, and the impossibility of your going far wrong if you humbly but heartily respect it. Only one thing more on this head. The more we are in earnest as to feeling it, the less we are disposed to hold forth about it. Never abandon the wholesome practice of saying your own private prayers, night and morning. I have never abandoned it myself, and I know the comfort of it. I hope you will always be able to say, in after life that you had a kind father. You can not show your affection for him so well or make him so happy, as by doing your duty

THE CRISIS OF SOULS.—Often when among the Alps, one sees a small black cross planted upon a rock, or on the brink of a torrent, or on the verge of the highway, to mark the spot where men have met with sudden death by accident. Solemn reminders, these, of our mortality! but they led our mind still further; for we said within us, if the places where men seal themselves for the second death could be thus manifestly indicated, what a scene would this world present! Here the memorial of a soul undone by yielding to a foul temptation, there a conscience seared by the rejection of a final warning, and yonder a heart forever turned into stone by resisting the last tender appeal of love. Our places of worship would scarce hold the sorrowful monuments which might be erected over spots where spirits were forever lost—spirits that date their ruin from sinning against the Gospel while under the sound of it.—Spurgeon.

FOUR ARGUMENTS FOR THE TRUTH OF THE SCRIPTURES.—There are four grand arguments for the truth of the Bible: the miracles it records; the prophecies: the goodness of the doctrine; and the moral character of the penmen.

The miracles flow from divine power: the prophecies from divine understanding: the excellence of the doctrine from divine goodness: and the moral character of the penmen from divine purity. Thus Christianity is built upon these four immovable pillars, the power, the understanding, the goodness, and the purity of God.

I add, farther, the Bible must be the invention either of good men or angels, bad men, or devils, or of God.

It could not be the invention of good men, or angels; for they neither would, nor could make a book, and tell lies all the time they were writing it, saying, "Thus saith the Lord," when it was their own invention.

It could not be the invention of bad men or devils; for they would not make a book which commands all duty, forbids all sin, and which condemns them to misery forever.

I, therefore, draw this conclusion, that the Bible must be given by Divine inspiration.—Simpson.

— In 1872 there were 67,104 miles of completed railways in the United States, the average cost of which is set down at $55,104 per miles. It is estimated that there are now 75,000 miles of completed railways.

Christian Life

If in every cross, in every ache and pain, and in every sorrow, we could look upon the bright side and regard each as a love token from a Father's hand, as a medicine sent to a sick man by his dearest friend—then, instead of finding it a hard struggle to bear with patience any thwarting of our will or case, we should truly give thanks, blessing him who thus cares for us, and who endeavors to make us, through fellowship with his sufferings, like-minded with himself.—Maria Hale.

No man is so happy as a real Christian; none so rational, so virtuous, so amiable. How little vanity does he feel, though he believes himself united to God! How far is he from abjectedness when he ranks himself with the worms of the earth.—Pascal.

THE SAFE CHANNEL.—The pilot of a United States revenue cutter was asked if he knew all the rocks along the coast where he sailed. He replied: "No; it is only necessary to know where there are no rocks." These words suggest a deep moral and spiritual truth. Sermons, lectures and books abound on the temptations which lie along the life course of the young to eternity. Over the most dangerous ones are lifted the solemn notes of repeated warning. This is well. And yet how much more frequently does the word of God present and enforce, with all the urgency of motive love can suggest, the very truth contained in the pilot's answer—the "King's highway of holiness." Looking unto Jesus with simple faith, the soul is secure; whatever the perils that lurk on every hand, there are no rocks ahead. To a loyal spirit it is sufficient to know this.

THE TWO NATURES IN A CHRISTIAN.—A Christian lives in two worlds at one and the same time—the world of flesh and the world of the spirit. It is possible to do both. There are certain dangerous gases, which from their weight fall to the lower part of the place where they are, making it destructive for a dog to enter, but safe for a man who holds his head erect. A Christian, as living in the world of flesh, is constantly passing through these. Let him keep his head erect in the spiritual world, and he is safe. He does this so long as the Son of God is the fountain whence he draws his inspiration, his motives, encouragement and strength.—George Philip.

IMPORTANT INVENTIONS AND EVENTS.—Maps, globes and dials were first invented by Anaximander in the sixth century before the Christian era. They were first brought into England by Bartholomew Columbus in 1489.

Comedy and tragedy were first exhibited at Athens 562 B. C.

Plays were first acted at Rome 239 B. C.

The first public library was founded at Athens 526 B. C.

The first public library was founded in Rome 167 B. C.

The first public library was founded at Alexandria 284 A. D.

Paper was invented in China 170 B. C.

The calendar was reformed by Julius Cæsar 45 B. C.

Insurance on ships and merchandise first made in A. D. 43.

Saddles came into use in the fourth century.

Seed Thoughts.

The essence of true nobility is neglect of self. Let the thought of self pass in and the beauty of a great action is gone, like the bloom from a soiled flower.

Waiting for things to turn up is unphilosophical as well as unprofitable. Things will turn up just as fast and as often while you are working as while you are waiting.—Lord Derby.

Above all, let me mind my own personal work; to keep myself pure, and zealous and believing; laboring to do God's will, yet not anxious that it should be done by me rather than by others, if God disapproves of my doing it.—Thomas Arnold.

I cannot call riches better than the baggage of virtue; the Roman word is better, impedimenta,—for as the baggage is to an army so is riches to virtue; it cannot be spared nor left behind, but it hindereth the march; yea, and the care of it sometimes loseth or distributeth the victory. Of great riches there is no real use, except it be in the distribution; the rest is but conceit.—Lord Bacon.

WE learn, through a German journal, that in order to preserve fresh fruits it is only necessary to heat them, if not perfectly ripe, in water almost to boiling, drain nearly dry, and cover with warm concentrated glycerine. If the fruit is perfectly ripe, heating in water is unnecessary. It is also advised to pour off the glycerine after standing for some time, and add fresh concentrated glycerine. The glycerine poured off may be concentrated on a water bath and used a second time. Ordinary glycerine is often impure, but only that which is perfectly pure and colorless, with a clean, sweet taste and a specific gravity of 1.25 should be employed.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE - Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPT.ON:

FOR ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE,	$2.0
SIX MONTHS,	1.0
If payment be delayed six months,	2.5

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH N. C. MAY 6, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

What the Liquor Traffic Costs.

The great public topic just now is the liquor question—its ruin to health, to character and to fortune. It is the greatest question that has been presented for the consideration of the philanthropist and patriot since the State was called on to decide its action in regard to secession in 1861.

We do not propose to indulge indignant feelings at the monstrosity of such a legalized curse, nor to say any hard things of those who are the victims of intemperance. We have long held that they are more objects of pity than censure, and that excessive love of stimulants is a disease to be treated scientifically just as are the other ills to which flesh is heir." We would bring before our readers a few reliable statistics that they may learn more of the tremendous traffic that we believe should be forever suppressed. We avail ourselves to some extent of the labors of others in the figures we give, only indorsing the sources as every way trust-worthy.

The official records of the country show the following:

In 1870 there was spent in the United States for all kinds of liquors, —spirituous, brewed and fermented, wines, &c., the enormous sum of $1,-487,000,000. Think of that ye fathers and tax payers. The State of New York alone expended $246,617,520—enough to pay the annual expenses of the United States Government if economically managed. North Carolina that is fairly groaning under her poverty that is very real, and under the immense debt and taxes she is utterly unable to bear—this State alone spent $10,610,625 for liquor in one year—1870—and of course spent more last year. Since the war ended enough money has been wasted in drink in this State to pay off twice over the enormous State debt, including everything, special tax bonds and all. In the nine years that have elapsed since the star of the young Confederacy went out in darkness never to shine again, there have been expended not less than $75,000,000 for drink alone in this poverty smitten State. We have not taken into the count the immense cost to the State for the prevention and punishment of crime. It is estimated that in the United States the cost of litigation, crimes, prisons, caused mainly by liquor, equals $10,000,000, swelling the total cost of liquor to $1,573,491 865. Double this amount would pay the National debt.

Now consider next that all the flour, meal, cotton goods, boots, shoes, clothing and woolen goods consumed the same year was but $865,000,000 Here then liquor alone actually costs more than the food and clothing of the nation by almost double. Think of this all humanitarians and religionists—all tax-payers and heads of families. The actual statistics of the United States show that the whiskey and lager beer dens cost almost twice as much as it takes to feed and clothe all the people of the United States.

It is shown from official sources that there were in 1870 140,008 licensed whiskey dens. It is calculated that they would average at least forty customers a day, which would show 5,600,000 drinkers. Is not that an awful exhibit?

We believe there are sixty-five licensed liquor retailers in Raleigh. Allowing twenty feet front, and placing these shops in a row on Fayetteville street, and we would have a continuous line from the Capitol to the Yarborough House, if that distance be not more than thirteen hundred feet. Surely, a quarter of a mile of whiskey shops is enough to supply the thirsty souls in a place of eight thousand people.

Again, the tax-payers of Raleigh are burdened with a debt that is both oppressive and annoying. The city indebtedness is $100.000. Allowing each shop to sell every day $10 worth of liquor, and the sum total for the year will be found to amount to nearly two hundred thousand dollars. We do not think this calculation extravagant. Let the money uselessly, wickedly and unwisely spent in Raleigh each year for liquors be applied to beautifying and adorning our little city, and in ten years it would rival the famous cities of Europe, the size of the places being considered.

The thirteen Churches of Raleigh do not cost more than $10,000 annually. This is the sum that the people of Raleigh pay for the preaching of the Gospel in their midst. The sixty-five grog-shops cost nearly $200,000—or twenty times as much. This is the sum the people of Raleigh pay annually to degrade themselves, and thwart the influence and power of divine truth in the soul of every citizen.

The number of persons who die daily in the United States from the intemperate use of liquor is 550. The liquor shops placed in a row would make a street over 100 miles long.

There are 100,000 more liquor dealers than ministers and teachers combined. These poison sellers cause 100,000 persons to be imprisoned annually, send to their graves our 160,000 victims, and reduce to want and beggary 2,500,000 children and this injury is repeated yearly, with the increase that attends an increase of population. The number of liquor sellers and dealers is 560,000. To sustain and build up these the nation loses the enormous sum given above, and the lives of so many unfortunate human beings. What a shame in the nation to submit to it, what a crime in the liquor traffickers to cause it!

Once more: the ministers of the U. S. cost each year $12,000,000. North Carolina alone expends nearly that sum to support—what? Orphans of infamy in which is sold the great curse.

Now these figures are very nearly or quite correct. What should Christian men and women do with such a nefarious traffic? Sustain it, or rise up in their holy wrath and resolve that it shall be suppressed? What say the tax payers to these startling and reliable figures? What say those who have a proper regard for themselves and for their fellow men? Shall the evil continue, or will you vote it down at the ballot box? We will see.

The Proper Wine for Sacramental Purposes.

Some months ago Rev. A. W. Mangum preached a highly entertaining discourse to his congregation at Edenton Street Church on the making of wine by Christ at the Marriage Supper at Cana It was a pains-taking discourse, full of instruction and as earnest as practical. That occasion is too remote now from the present, and our memory is too treacherous to justify us in attempting any outline of his argument. We mention it because it shows that there are minds that are interested in the discussion, and because it occurred to us in connection with the suggestion of the Spirit of the Age to which we refered last week, concerning a non-intoxicating drink to which some apothecary had given the name of Vinum Summa, a drink not at all resembling the wine used by our Saviour when he instituted the Supper, an observance of which is acknowledged as binding by all religionists who accept Jesus Christ as the Redeemer and Head of the Church. If those who would substitute a beverage that is not intoxicating for wine, would look into the matter, they would perceive, doubtless, that the wine used by our Saviour at the last Supper was not intoxicating, and that therefore, christians need not resort to a drink compounded of raisins to avoid intoxicating wines. Fifteen years ago, or nearly so, we heard the lamented Dr. Peter Doub, who was an able divine surely, preach a most instructive sermon on the character of the wine used by the Saviour at the institution of the Eucharist. We have forgotten his points, his authorities and arguments, but we remember well that he satisfied us that the wine used was the unfermented juice of the grape. Since that time we have had occasion to give the subject some attention, and we propose, without however going into the subject in extenso or exhaustively, to offer a few remarks upon the subject.

It is evident to any one who has examined the question that there were too kinds of wines in use among the nations of antiquity. Both poets, philosophers and historians have left passages that teach us that. Whoever wrote the Odyssey, (Homer did not, if we may trust the best German and English scholarship,) has supplied the modern student with information on the subject in question He tells of an "imperishable sweet black wine, sweet as honey." We all know that fermented wines are not of that character. Sophocles and Pliny furnish us with passages that are conclusive. Both of these famous writers speak of "wines that do not inebriate." Surely, they were not fermented then, but sweet wines. There are passages in Plutarch, Xenophon, Strabo and other writers that throw light on this subject and confirm what we have stated. So too among the poets with Virgil and Horace. The latter speaks of the delightful Lesbian wine, "perfectly harmless and will not intoxicate."

Coming down to later and recent times, we find travellers reporting wines in the East that are made "by boiling." We refer to Bowring, Volney and other writers. As the Bible is intended to do good and not to increase evil, we may well suppose that the wines referred to by sacred writers were sweet wines that would not intoxicate. We can not doubt that the wine used by our Saviour was of that character, and that the wine he made at Cana was of the most delicious kind as sweet and palatable as the famous Lesbian wine of Horace, or the wine of the Odyssey that was as "sweet as honey," and that "would not intoxicate." We think the character, life and mission of Jesus on earth forbid us to think he used the fermented, intoxicating beverage, instead of the sweet, unfermented wine of his country. He was holy, harmless, merciful, and knowing all things, he would not, it seems to us, have made or used a beverage that was the greatest enemy of the race He came to save, and that has done more injury and inflicted more suffering than all the armies that have trampled the earth and brought fire and sword to its inhabitants.

"Who hath woe? who hath sorrow? who hath contentions? who hath babbling? who hath wounds without cause? who hath redness of eyes? They that tarry long at the wine: they that go to seek mixed wine. Look thou not upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his color in the cup, when it moveth itself aright; at the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder." The Bible is its own best proof. Is the wine here denounced the wine that Jesus drank, that He used at the first supper, or made at Cana: or was the wine he used that other sort so common from the days of the Odyssey—six hundred years or more before Christ down to the days of Pliny who was contemporary with the Saviour and wrote of him? We think the latter.

Let sweet wine, unfermented and made from the juice of the grape, be prepared for the communion table and you will follow the Master's example as we believe, and satisfy all—except a most ultra temperance man. The wines made in the East by a process of boiling might be made to answer the purpose. Such wines would be found to contain no deleterious or intoxicating qualities.

Old Age.

That best of all American writers, Nathaniel Hawthorne, says in his charming way, and the letter of the venerable and noble Dr. Lovick Pierce, reminds us of it: "There was on our time-worn mansion heightens its beauty; the good old pastor, with one to dwell here, renewed his prime and regained his boyhood in the genial breeze of his ninetieth spring. Many of the warm and heavy soul, if, whether in genius or age, it has outlived its privilege of springtime sprightliness." Cheerful, genial, sweet tempered, sanctified old age is precious to behold. To see the patriarch, gentle and kindly, leaning upon the staff of hope and trusting in Jesus for heaven and glory, is one of the most blessed visions of earth In such an one we do not so much see the decrepitude of age "as the first day of immortality." It was such a decline as this that Shakespeare referred to doubtless, when he wrote that fine line—"The silver livery of advised age."

Any one who has lived a life of virtue and usefulness, whose morning was tranquil and unclouded, may expect an evening of serenity and peace. It is cheering to the middle-aged and young even, to see the example of such a dear old man as Dr. Pierce, in his ninetieth year so cheerful and kindly. We trust that many years are yet before him on earth before he goes up higher to his final reward.

Apropos of old age, we met the other day with a passage from the pen of the illustrious Guizot now in his eighty eighth year. Said he "Last year I finished my History of France and this year, please God, will see me commence my universal History. I come of a hardy race. I can hear well, see well, and work well. Pius IX. can do the same; we are the hardiest old men in Europe, and will outlive many that are younger. (Goliphesse) Think if it yet bitterness, and beggards Here is a very old man full of energy and fortitude and energy, bravely planning and entering upon a great literary labor at a time when young men are laid on the shelf or are overcome with lassitude. It is very wonderful such a frosty and vigorous old age

What North Carolina Has Given to Southern Methodism.

We are not a boastful people, and yet we feel right glad when we remember some of the things that North Carolina has done. Her historical record is one to be proud of. Her many sons who have attained to eminence at home and abroad reflected it upon her good name. At one time there were no less than seven native-born citizens of this State in the United States Senate.

But we merely purpose mentioning some of the distinguished names that adorn Southern Methodism that belong to North Carolina specially, as they are her children. We do not pretend to exhaust the catalogue. But here are some viz: Bishop Paine, Rev. Dr. Lovick Pierce, Rev. Dr. Edward Wadsworth, Rev. Dr. Kennedy, editor of Southern Christian Advocate, Rev. Dr. Alexander Means, of Georgia, Rev. Dr. Hanna, of Tennessee, Rev. Dr. Allen S. Andrews, the late Rev. Dr. Jas. Cotten, Rev. Dr. Jno. E. Edwards, and Rev. Dr. Charles P. Jones, of St. Louis Conference. These are able representatives of Methodism and of North Carolina abroad, and we are proud of them

SUDDEN DEATH.—We are pained to learn that Mrs. Hahr, wife of Professor Hahr, of Greensboro' Female College, died snddenly on Monday last. She leaves five children. We sympathize with the bereaved family.

FESTIVAL.—We are requested to announce that the ladies of Hillsboro' will give a Festival on Friday night next May 8th, for the benefit of the Methodist Episcopal Church at that place.

Notice.

Ministers and other delegates attending the Sabbath School Society will report at Branson's Bookstore on Fayetteville Street, to be directed to their homes.

Editorial Marginalia.

1. There has been a growing tendency to church unity for some years. Several religious bodies holding opinions and tenets almost identical have been blended. There is talk of yet other marriages among the denominations. In England, we note, there has been some weeping and gnashing among the various branches of the great Methodist family. We should be glad to hear that the nuptial ceremonies had been performed, and that those who had been hitherto separate had been united in the bonds of an alliance that shall remain perpetual.

2. Rev. Dr. Bullock, probably the most prominent Presbyterian minister in Baltimore, has resigned his charge. The main causes of the difficulty were that his congregation complained of his long sermons, and he sent his step children to a Roman Catholic school after having advised his congregation to send their children to institutions. The latter complaint was well taken, which cannot be said of [illegible]

3. [illegible] perfect, divine gem by Boudillon entitled "[illegible]." A copy [illegible] queried some years in the [illegible] Thinking some one would like to see it, we copy it:

REPLY TO MR. BOURDILLON'S POEM.

The sun hath set,—
Yet o'er the land still blooms that wondrous glow,
Still dons the topmost peaks, and down below
The vale is full of light.
And gloomy night
Cometh not yet.

Yet while thine image holds its constant sway,
Kindling my inmost soul, still shines
Love's day;
Stronger than Death is Love.—
From Heaven above
Heart answers heart.

K. L.

4. Some people learn but little, and that little they learn but slowly. A hundred years ago Wesley and Whitfield were not allowed to preach in Episcopal pulpits because they were guilty of the impropriety and scandal of preaching Christ to perishing sinners in unconsecrated buildings and in the fields. A few years ago the Bishop of London, who had learned something, preached to people in the streets, and others of the clergy have been known to speak a word for the Master in other churches than those of the Establishment, and even with no roof above them but the skies. We read the other day, however, that the Bishop of Worcester, England, refused to grant permission to a minister to preach in a music hall, because, as he said, it was "the well understood law of the Church of England which forbids them to officiate in any building that is not either consecrated or duly licensed by authority for divine worship."

Now this might answer if there were no conversions, and religion was not a spiritual, practical matter, that concerns the soul. The old Methodist way is the better—preaching in any place where a congregation of sinners can be found.

5. Even the [illegible] refused to Appleton's Cyclopedia. It is proper to say that they deny the charges brought against their publication.—They allow Romanists to write upon those topics in which they are specially interested, but do not permit them to handle or change the contributions of Protestant writers. Such we gather to be the state of the case. If Romanists are permitted to write the history of the persecutions in which their church has been engaged, we can easily imagine what sort of history it will be. The St. Bartholomew massacre, referred to before, is a specimen in point.

6. We have seen it stated recently as the theory of some late writer, that there were epidemics of crime as there are epidemics of diseases such as afflict the body. We have noticed that suicides and murders seem to break out in some localities just as measles breaks out upon the body. The writer referred to, instances the epidemic of assassination that swept over Europe towards the close of the sixteenth and the early part of the seventeenth centuries, when William of Orange (father of King William of England, who overthrew James II) Wallenstein, Duke of Guise, Henry IV, Duke of Buckingham, and Gustavus Adolphus all fell beneath the assassin's dagger. In some portions of the South in times past there has been an epidemic of duelling.

The causes that lead to such a disease we leave to those more versed in such things than we are. Doubtless the success of wicked and cruel men acts as a stimulant to kindred spirits, and incites them to a certain line of action that promises reward or revenge accompanied with immunity from punishment. There may be a certain rivalry among assassins as in the noble callings, and they may study "murder as one of the fine arts." But whatever the solution, we suppose there is no doubt of the fact of such terrible epidemics.

MESSRS TYSON & JONES.—We call the attention of those of our readers who need vehicles of any kind to the advertisement of this firm. They do a large business and are disposed to do well by their customers.

— THE General Assembly of the Presbyterian church (South) in the United States will meet in the Presbyterian church at Columbus, Miss., on the third Thursday (21st day) of May. 1874, 11 o'clock A. M.

Literary Notes.

In the literary world there are many works announced from the pens of eminent authors We have space to mention very briefly a few.

A new life of our greatest Southern genius, Edgar A. Poe, by Mr. Ingram, is announced. Emilio Castelar, late President of Spain, and author of "Old Rome and New Italy," is about publishing a novel to be called "The Story of a Heart." George Eliot (Mrs. Lewes) has another volume of poems in press, entitled "The Legend of Jubal and other poems." She is the greatest woman this world has ever seen, but fine as is her first poem, "The Spanish Gipsy," it is not equal even as a poem to her novel "Romola."

Julian Hawthorne, a gifted son of Nathaniel Hawthorne, has a second novel in press. It is called "Idolatry."

We have been recently reading with pleasure a quaint and strikingly original story that has been coming out in Lute taken from an English Magazine, entitled "Far from the Madding Crowd." It is by a young writer, by name Thomas Hardy. He is evidently a man of genius, and his novels are to be republished in this country by Henry Holt & Co.

Auerbach's novel "Waldfried" promises to create a sensation when published in English—as it will be by several American houses.

A new life of President Lincoln by his two private secretaries, Hayaid Nicolay, is in preparation. The first life was damaging—showing that Lincoln was corrupt, a bastard, and an atheist.

Blanchard Jerrold (son of the late Douglas Jerrold author of "Mrs. Caudle's Lectures" and editor of London Punch) will soon publish the Life of Napoleon III late Emperor of the French. Mr. Sumner is to have several biographies. George IV private life is to be published. It will not help the morals, we opine, of the reader.

Letter from Rev Dr. Craven.

BRO. BOBBITT: After great effort, many letters and some confusion most of the Delegates met at Greensboro yesterday, and started at 1 P. M. to Louisville. Present, Bobbitt, Burkhead, Wilson and wife, Adams, Jones, Smith, Councilor, not quite all Delegates. Bro. Blackgoes via S. C. to leave his wife at her fathers. Lilly, Rountree and Hays go via Weldon, Robbins is to come. At the start things looked promising, but alas for human hopes! Fourteen miles from Greensboro we met the intelligence that a freight train was off the track a few miles before us. We moved on and found a long train, immoveable After five hours work the way was open, but connection was lost beyond recovery. The conductor asks if we will want supper: a queer question to ask Methodist preachers. Men of good conscience are good eaters Hence he telegraphed to Clover, and about 11 o'clock we found us good a supper as any man ever ate for seventy five cents. Always stop at Clover; you can eat what they have, but not all of it. Reached Richmond at 4 o'clock A. M. went to the Exchange, will leave here at 3 P. M. reach Washington at 9 P. M. stay there till S A. M and then westward we go. My opinion is, we would have done better to take the Southern route. We have just been to see the Virginia Legislature. The Capitol is much inferior to ours: the grounds much more beautiful than ours, and I hope some day that brass burlesque of a statue will be taken from our public square. I was asked to day, if N. C. did not have a brass statue of the negro in the public square. I saw our Legislature, I see that of Virginia, and am not encouraged to emigrate hither. I think we are at least equal. But I wish we had a great city like Richmond. Whose fault is it that we have not? If our legislation has been the best, then N. C. was hard to improve. I wish our people had a thousand fold more state pride. I have made some little estimate on good information, and find that N. C. sends to Va. an immense sum annually in Insurance, agencies &c. to say nothing of other matters. But I have full faith in our people: we have the resources, and the spirit of enterprise is beginning.

Yours truly,

B. CRAVEN.

Revival Intelligence.

Brother R. F. Bumpass writes from Warrenton on April 29th:

"There has been quite a religious interest in Warrenton this year. Eighteen persons have been added to our communion."

Brother L. J. Holden writes us from Rocky Mount April 30th:

"Our meeting closed after being continued more than three weeks, with thirty-three conversions, and twenty-nine accessions to our Church. The feeling is fine in the community, many evincing an interest who have heretofore been unconcerned on the subject of religion. We will finish our Church this year."

— SIR BARTLE FRERE states that during his travels he landed at a native town in the island of Madagascar, 300 miles from the nearest European missionary station, and on Sunday united in worship with a devout congregation of 2,000 people. The Christian Gospel had been brought to them in 1846 by two slaves who had been under missionary teaching.

Letter From Alamance Circuit.

DEAR BRO. BOBBITT: I rejoice to see so many notices of revivals in the ADVOCATE. That others may be encouraged to preach and pray to that end, I write to inform you that we have had a good meeting at Company Shops on Alamance circuit. It lasted for three weeks, at night. We can not claim that the revival was general, though the church was greatly quickened, and over twenty souls professed to find "the pearl of great price."

Most of them were members of the Sunday School, which is a Union School, well conducted, and largely attended, numbering over a hundred regular attendants I might also mention that a large proportion of them were scholars of Rev. Thadeus Troy's school, who labors not only to drill his pupils in the science of letters, but also to lead them to Christ.

During the time brother W. C. Norman was with me four nights, and Bro J. J. Renn two, both rendered efficient service in the pulpit and out of it.

Before the meeting closed, I had to leave, and Bros. Troy and C. M. Pepper, of Thomasville, continued it a night or two longer, with what results I am not able to say.

While the meeting was in progress, there were two deaths in the community, Alonzo King, a young man, who was a great sufferer for some time previous to his death. He professed religion upon his sick bed. The other, sister Elizabeth Adams, a worthy member of our church at Company Shops, who died April 7th 1874. She leaves three orphan children, two of them have been inmates of the Orphan Asylum at Oxford.

The Shops is a growing place. I am sorry to learn that one of its largest stores and the depot, the Masonic and Good Templars Lodge, which were all in one large brick building belonging to the rail road company, have been recently consumed by fire. The store was occupied by Col. A. McAlister, one of our best citizens, who was closing out his stock of goods preparatory to moving his business to Ashboro.

The Good Templars are doing a noble work in this county. They have a very flourishing lodge at the Shops, and also at Graham, and have recently organized another at Phillips Chapel.

There is no organized church at the Shops but ours, and our membership is small. This is owing in a great measure to the migratory life of rail road men, who too frequently neglect to move his membership with them, and thus are deprived of pastoral care, and the restraints that the church would throw around them.

I think every member of the church should move their membership, even though he expects to sojourn at a place for a short time.

Fraternally Yours,

R. S. WEBB.

Relig ous Brevities.

— THE Episcopal residence of the Bishop of Iowa is completed, at a cost of $20,000, all of which is paid.

— THE Rev. R. Smythe, D. D., Moderator of the Irish Presbyterian General Assembly, who recently visited the United States, has been elected to the British Parliament from Londonderry.

— Boston is a funny place. Old South church is turned into a post-office, and they have prayer-meetings in Faneuil Hall. Unitarian Dr. Peabody preaches in an orthodox Church occasionally, and orthodox Mr. Murray at the Church of the Unity, and Universalist Professor Leonard at King's Chapel. If this thing keeps on, the people there won't know their own religious latitude and longitude.

— WE are very sorry to learn that the Methodist Church in Columbia, Tenn., was totally destroyed by fire, April 20. The fire originated from the pot of tinners who were at work on the building. The loss, without insurance, is about $10,000.

— A sea-captain told Dr. Thoburn a few days since that he had found a Methodist class of sixteen members at Aden, in Arabia, led by one of Brother Taylor's converts, from Bombay.

— KURRACHEE.—This is a city at the month of the Indus, near the twenty-fifth degree of north latitude, and Methodism, says Dr. Thoburn, is now planted there.

— The Methodist Mission in Rome is prospering. Thirty-five catechumens had been received by Brother Gay, and a number by Brother Cappellini, since the beginning of the year. The labors of the latter have been, and are still, proving a wonderous blessing to the Italian soldiers in and around Rome, says the Nashville Advocate.

THE Northern Christian Advocate makes the statement that the Methodist Episcopal church loses seventy-five per cent. of its probationers. In fourteen years 2,092,688 probationers were reported, of whom only 509,316 went into full communion, or twenty-two in one hundred. Or, in fourteen years, more were lost than would have made another church as large as itself. The Advocate thinks the prevailing methods of the church are at fault, and that such spiritual prodigality in labor and souls should be abated.

— MESSRS. Moody and Sanky are still laboring with great success at Glasgow. Their noonday meetings are crowded, and the number of conversions is very large. A hopeful effort to reach the fallen women of the city is in progress. All over Scotland the revival spirit is spreading, and all the denominations are joining in the work. If this state of things continues very long the union of the non-established Presbyterian churches, so long separated by bigotry, will probably be secured.

— THE idea of uniting white and colored people in one congregation in the South proves a failure. If the blacks predominate the whites absent themselves, and if the whites predominate the colored people do not feel at home. Such, according to Dr. Curry, is the state of the case in the Methodist churches.

— AFTER many alternations of hope and fear, it seems now almost certain that the long hoped-for union of the English Presbyterian church and the portion of the United Presbyterian church, in England, will take place in May next.

— The number of clergymen connected with the Established Church, actually resident in England and Wales in 1841, was 14,618: 1351, 17, 621 increase in ten years, 3008: 1861, number of clergy, 19,195—increase in ten years, 1,573,1871, number of clergy, 20,334—increase in ten years, 1,139. In 1841 there were 1,101 laymen for each clergyman, 1851, 1,024: 1861, 1,054; 1871, 1,047.

The Richmond Dispatch, in presenting some statistics relative to the spiritual condition of Richmond (Va.), says: "The aggregate of church members is 23,609. The last census puts the population at 51,038, so that it will be seen that nearly one half of the entire population of Richmond actually belongs to some church." "It is believed that a larger proportion of the people of Richmond are actually church members, and a larger proportion of the rest under religious influence, than any other in the country."

Our Book Table.

"GO ON SOUTH: A Plea for Missions. By Athens G. Haygood, D. D. of the North Georgia Conference. Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Jan. 1874. This is the very able essay that obtained the prize of $100 that was offered by the Board of Missions. It is divided into six chapters, and the points presented are these: 1. The first question:—Did Jesus Christ intend his Gospel for all men? 2. The Gospel is adapted to all men, and necessary to all men 3. The duty of the Church. 4. Do missions pay? 5. Christ Jesus "Head over all things to the Church." 6 Concluding discussion. Price per hundred $12.-00: by the dozen $2. Single copy 20 cts. We commend it to the Church, both ministers and people. It is spoken of highly by all who have read it.

NEW YORK TRIBUNE EXTRA. No 15. This great American newspaper during the last two years, has done great service to the cause of sound education and letters in its publication in "Extras" of scientific lectures from the most eminent men of the world, and discussions upon literary and other topics by gentlemen of established reputations. The number before us is very inviting. It contains a long and highly entertaining letter from the well known American traveller and poet, Bayard Taylor, upon the "Discoveries on the site of Ancient Troy;" six lectures on the nerves by the eminent New York professor, Dr. Brown Sequard; four farewell lectures on Astronomy by the great English lecturer, R. A. Proctor, and a lecture on "the germ theory of Disease," by Prof. C. F. Chandler—all for 20 cts. printed in a neat and convenient pamphlet. These lectures, as those before them, are of great interest and value, and appear first in the TRIBUNE.

JOURNAL OF THE THIRTY-SEVENTH SESSION of the North Carolina Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, held at Goldsboro' N. C., Dec. 16th — 18th, 1873. Edited and published for the Conference by Rev. B. Craven, D. D. This is a handsome pamphlet of over a hundred pages containing a vast deal of information important information important to Methodists. It is well arranged and seems to be just the thing needed.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY for May, presents the same beautiful typographical appearance, with its numerous and pleasing illustrations, and varied and entertaining reading matter. Price $4, a year, Scribner & Co., New York.

ST. NICHOLAS for May. It remained for Scribner & Co., to publish an "illustrated Magazine for Boys and Girls," that is without a rival. It is a charming—a wonderful publication. Every parent who can afford it, should take this publication for the children of the household. Price $3.00

North Carolina.

— Newbern maketh her heart glad over the first Irish potatoes of the season.

— The Henderson REGISTER says it is conceded that the fruit in that section is all killed.

— In a recent entertainment for the benefit of the Presbyterian Church at Oxford, the ladies realized over $50.

— The Charlotte OBSERVER learns by private advices that Bald Mountain is at his tricks again. It has been rumbling very much of late, and on Wednesday night the stocks were quite severe. From all we learn we are inclined to think that Old Baldy means business after all.

— W. S Ball, Esq., of the NEW NORTH STATE, Greensboro', and N. B. Broughton, Esq., of Raleigh, delegates, and Theo. N. Ramsey, Raleigh, representative, will attend the Right Worthy Grand Lodge of Good Templars, which assembles in Boston, Mass., on Tuesday, May 26th, 1874.

— Proceedings were instituted before Judge Clark for obtaining possession of the A. & N. R. R., by the new board of directors. The Judge appointed ex-Judge Green receiver, and the road was probably turned over to him yesterday. A demand was to have been made at that time.

— Wilmington is to have a new brick postoffice.

— Messrs. Lyon & Bro., had their tobacco factory at Kittrell, burned last week—loss $2,000—supposed work of an incendiary.

— Messrs. Skinner and Quincy, have bought the Henderson TRIBUNE, and will change the name to the REGISTER.

— Granville has organized a County Grange.

— Mr. Robert Blow, lately of Reidsboro, has associated himself with Capt. Biggs in the publication of the Oxford HERALD

— Rev. L. C. Vass delivers an original poem on the occasion of the memorial ceremonies in Newbern.

— A whale was captured on the coast near Morehead City a short time ago which yielded twenty-seven barrels of oil and a large lot of whalebone.

— Prof. W. C. Kerr has accepted the invitation to lecture on geology at the commencement of the Wilson Collegiate Institute on the 23th of June.

— W. D. Mean has been appointed Supervising Inspector of Naval Stores for the port of Wilmington.

— Of the $150,000 needed for the cotton factory at Newbern $25,000 has been subscribed by citizens. The Granges and the city subscriptions it is supposed will complete the amount.

— The Kinston Gazette says: We hear that an old man named Wm. White, of this county, beat his wife nearly to death with a salt pestle last week This brutality is all the more shameful from the fact that he is near 70 years old. He was bound over to court.

— The following persons have been appointed delegates to the National Agricultural Convention, that meets May 26th at Atlanta, Ga:

From the State at large—Col. W. Johnston, of Charlotte, and J. W. Stanton, of Wilson.

From the Congressional Districts—Messrs Wm R. Myers, of Charlotte; L. Clingman, of Asheville; Henry Nutt, New Hanover; David Carter, of Iredell; Geo. Allen, of Newbern; Kemp P. Battle, of Wake; R. P. Richardson, of Rockingham; and R. L. Patterson, of Forsyth.

— Mr. Richard Gentry, near Madison lost nearly all of his tobacco crop by fire—over five thousand pounds, being destroyed.

— Gold quartz has been recently discovered three miles from Salisbury, which will yield, by estimate $20 to the load.

— A Convention of the Elders and Deacons of the various Presbyterian Churches in the Mecklenburg Presbytery, will meet in Charlotte on the 3rd Tuesday in June.

— Another cotton factory is projected to be built in the vicinity of Rockingham Richmond county.

— Rev. C. M. Payne, of Madison, has accepted the call to the Second Presbyterian church in Wilmington.

— Judge Tourgee has been invited to deliver the address on the occasion of the Federal memorial ceremonies in Wilmington on the 30th prox.

General News.

— Three thousand soldiers are on a strike in Somersetshire, Eng.

The rescuers of the French steamer L'Amerique, which was taken a few days ago into Plymouth, England, have entered suit to recover half a million of dollars as salvage. The steamship is continued in port to await the result of the action.

MADRID.—The army in the north has been heavily reinforced, and now numbers forty thousand men, and has seventy pices artillery.

The floods in rivers have done immense damage in Louisiana. There is great distress—loss of property vast and widespread. Large sums have been collected in various cities for the relief of the sufferers.

— The prospect of a fine wheat crop is most flattering. So reports the Department of Agriculture.

— The President has vetoed the currency bill.

— Congress passed a bill relieving the Louisiana sufferers.

— The freshets have prevailed throughout the South. The damage is very great.

— The President's veto pleases Prince Bismarck, and Hugh McCullough.

— The German Reichstag (Parliament) has been dissolved.

— PARIS.—It is stated that the French Government intends sending to Spain two agents who will report upon the admissibility of recognizing the Carlists as belligerents.

— The excitement at Little Rock still continues. The quarrel is between Baxter and Brooks, both claiming to be Governor. Each has troops.

— LITTLE ROCK.—General White, acting in the interest of Baxter, has assumed authority at Pine Bluff, installing himself in the Court house. The citizens are excited and armed men occupy the streets.

— LONDON.—A whisky crusade was inaugurated in Manchester to-day. Several signatures to the pledge were obtained.

— LITTLE ROCK.—There is no material change. The Baxterites have a sixty-four pounder siege gun planted at the corner of Markham and Scott streets Both parties are expecting reinforcements. Both telegraphed to the President regarding the situation. Fifteen citizens of Boughton followed horse thieves and had a fight One citizen and three thieves were killed.

Letters and Funds.

W J Carlton $3 acc. B I P well $3 acc. E K Bachelor $1 paper sent. E P Edwards 50 cts sell. F D Swindell. [illegible] L W Crawford. Jas M Vines Jr credits [illegible] paper sent to D Zur & Morning L [illegible] Instance Rev A D Betts, for V S Garrett [illegible] Frank Lee and. J C Godwin 2 each [illegible] F H Wood for Mrs Ellen Smoot, and Mrs H Baker 2 each. J S R [illegible] C Bande. Robt Strickland [illegible] Ed Alden for adv 45 G A Jones. W M Jones for adv 8. Miss Mary Smith W S Wingate. J A. Munroe. Jno C Humber. Rev J Rann, for Mrs E C Markham 2 for J B Martin for Mrs Elizabeth Pennington 2 Rev R S Webb for Seymour Purvear and K Edwards 2 each. G W Anthony credit and paper sent. Rev T L Triplett. Rev P F W Stamey paper sent. J A F [illegible] B W Mann sell 2. Mrs F H Buchanan 2 for J R F emling sell 2 D W Bowers sell 2 for Calham Wyckoff & Hope 2 [illegible] 1.25. A Moore sell 2 W [illegible] Edge papers sent. Rev W C Norman 2 for Mrs Louis Allen and Mrs M G Pearce 2 each Rev V A Sharpe, for S A [illegible] J C Moore and Miss D E Aydlett 2 each Also 3.50 to be used as directed. Rev D Cubbage Rev F B Andrews 2 for E L Pell. J H Odom. S P Thorp 2 sell. Rev Jno Manning for Colonel Carver. J Giddings credit [illegible] to be applied to Mr Dawson [illegible] Rev R S Webb 2 each for S S [illegible] S H Thompson. Rev Z Rush 2 for [illegible] Lapp. Tom Wash Smith for adv 3635. [illegible] H H Gibbons for W A Blackley 2. Rev Craven. Rev R F Bumpass for Mrs M A Dearaey 2. R Rose. H Dixon. W M Pierson N A Pleasant 2.50 J K Page sell 2 Miss Bettie Green sell 2 50 Mrs M A Ellington. Samuel T Brown. Who did you send for? Rev J T Harris 2 for Jno J Taylor. J F Ross 2 for self. Rev J C Hartsell. E W Moore 2 each for J R Dunham and A W Kinlaw. Rev L H Gibbons. G W Griffin Tyson & Jones. Hostetter & Smith. Rev J W Wheeler. W J Rasbale. C B Corbitt 2 for Mrs M L Corbitt. B I Powell corrected made. Rev F L Reid 2 for Miss Martha Person. L H Sanders sell 2. L M Lee credited for 1873—you owe for 1874. J Jno H Leach 2 self. Holden Smith 2 self. S F Dixon. Rev J C Smith. Dr J B B [illegible] Mrs M R McKentie 2. W G Dunn 2 for J T Harris. Rev L J Holden 2 [illegible] Boddie and James Barnes. Rev L L Nash Cook, Coham & Co. O M Burke. Rev L E Stacy. W S Bradshaw 2 sell. Rev J W Jenkins. J C Dixon you owe from 1873 now due. Rev L E Stacy amount credited by M McG 4.36.

The Christian

PUBLISHED IN THE C
EVERY WEDNESDA
TERMS $2.00.

Our Age

All the traveling preachers
North Carolina
Those who receive the paper free.
receive the paper for will be charged

Our Corres

Communications written, and or the

How to

In sending to registered letter, of registration ron the than here

Married,
Thompson,
R. S.
line J.
N. C.

Married, bride's
N. Steph to Miss

Married,
W. J
Bash
John

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All the traveling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, with cash, the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1. Those who send us none will be allowed $1 for pains in their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications suitable for publication should be carefully written, and on one side of the sheet only. All letters on business should be addressed to the undersigned Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, a postal should be sent in registered letters, or by express. No risk need be run in sending money by mail, if these directions are followed. Checks, drafts, &c., are not always collectible, and should not be sent except at the risk of the sender.

Married.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father, on the 28th of April, 1874, by Rev. W. S. Wilson, Mr. Daniel C. Powell, of Randolph, to Miss Martha J. Pennycuff, all of Montgomery county, N. C.

Married, on the 23d inst., by the Rev. Henry Stamper, Mr. Henry Whitaker, of Davidson, and Miss Sarah A. E. Lowe, daughter of Mr. W. E. Powell.

Married, on the 16th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. Jas. Henderson, Mr. Wm. Gaither to Miss Mary Ann Gaither, all of Rockingham county.

Deaths.

Died, at the residence of her father, in Davidson county, on the 22d inst., Miss Mary Ann Lowe, in the 22d year of her age. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and died in the triumphs of faith. Her disease was consumption, which she bore with Christian fortitude. She was a dutiful daughter, a kind sister, and a faithful friend. Her loss is deeply felt by her relatives and friends, but they mourn not as those who have no hope. They have the consolation of knowing that she is now enjoying the rewards of the righteous.

Died, in Wilmington, N. C., Mrs. Martha Roane Quinn. Although occupying an humble position in this life she adorned for years the christian profession and has gone to her reward.

P.

Died, in Pitt Co. Feb. 1st 1874, of croup infant son of Walter and Elizabeth Cobbitt ages nearly 2 years. This was a child of unusual interest, had advanced intellect, of sweet disposition and was a beloved gem of all its Little Buddies and sisters, as well as an affectionate mother, and kind father. Thus God has taken the little golden link and placed it in Heaven. Grieve not dear friends; it will not bring little Walter back but He who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb worketh every thing for good to those that love God. We extend our sympathy to you and hope we, with you may meet your darling in Heaven.

BENJ H.

Appointments.

GREENSBORO' DISTRICT.

2ND ROUND—IN PART.

Madison at Leaksville,	" 11-12
Sneedsville,	" 18-19
Pinnell's A H Dubnal Fair Ground,	" 25-26
Trinity circuit at Ebenezer,	May 2-3

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT

2ND. ROUND.

Wilmington, Fifth St.	April 4-5
Wilmington at Providence,	" 11-12
Wilmington, Grace St.,	" 18-19
Wilmington, Front St.,	" 25-26
Smithville and Shallotte,	May 2-3
Georgetown, Methodist Chapel,	" 9-10
Kingston and Horry,	" 16-17
Conway and Little River,	" 23-24
Lumberton,	" 30-31
Elizabethtown,	June 6-7
Fayetteville,	" 13-14
Cokesbury,	" 20-21

W. S. BLACKPE,
Superintendent.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

SECOND ROUND—IN PART.

Fayetteville, Hay st.	March 21-22
Fayetteville, Haymount,	" 28-29
Cumberland Circuit,	April 4-5
Bethel and Gilead Circuit,	" 11-12
Carthage and Hillsdale,	" 18-19
Wilson's Mills and Smithfield,	" 25-26
Clinton and Mt. Pleasant,	May 2-3
Grantville cir. at Mount Pleasant,	" 9-10
Roseboro cir. at Lisbon Grove,	" 16-17
Rosebo cir. at Lisbon Grove,	" 18-19

W. H. BOBBITT, P. E.
Clay N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

SECOND ROUND.

Statesville cir. at Providence,	March 28-29
Mt. Zion cir. at Union,	April 4-5
Statesville,	" 11-12
Yadkin cir. at Goodman's,	" 18-19
Lincoln cir. at Shiloh,	" 25-26
Lincolnton,	May 2-3
Concord and Kerr's Chapel,	" 9-10
Salisbury, A S Black and Solomon Smith,	" 16-17
Smith's, cor. at Asbury,	" 23-24
Mocksville, cor. at Calvary,	" 30-31
Yadkinville, cor. at Union Grove,	June 6-7
Jonesville, cor. at Hamby's,	" 13-14

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Lincolnton, N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT

2ND ROUND—QUARTERLY MEETINGS

Hillsboro' at Pattishall's,	March 28-29
Chapel Hill,	April 4-5
New Hope Grove,	" 11-12
Pittsboro' at Pleasant Grove,	" 18-19
Haywood,	" 25-26
Haw River,	May 2-3
Graham and Mt. Pleasant,	" 9-10
Alamance and Company Shops,	" 16-17
Big Rock Mission,	" 23-24
Yanceyville circuit,	" 30-31
Deep River,	June 6-7
Pittsboro'	" 13-14

J. P. MORROCK, P. E.
Mt Pleas. N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

2D ROUND.

South Fork Mission,	April 11-12
Shelby circuit, Elizabeth,	" 18-19
Shelby Station,	" 25-26
Cherryville, Knob's	May 2-3
Cherryville Hill's Chapel,	" 9-10
Dallas and Cherryville,	" 16-17
Gastonia and Mount Holly School House,	" 23-24
Gastonia, Gilliam,	" 30-31
Gastonia Spencer's Chapel,	" 30-31
Gastonia Mission,	" 30-31
Lincolnton, Lincolnton,	June 6-7
Lincolnton, Ebenezer,	" 13-14
Lincolnton, Epworth,	" 20-21
Lincolnton, Cedar Grove,	" 27-28
Lincolnton, Bethel,	" 27-28

Rev. Geo. Gillis will please attend all the above appointments on the Lincolnton and Rock Spring circuits. Rev. S. A. Gramick, Bourg and Newton circuits. Rev. S. Leonard, Sandy Springs. Rev. H. Bascom, Hopper Home. Rev. Wesley Gibbs, the general friend of the preacher, is now in town and bless his heart at all times especially at a time of resignation, and many times everybody happiness. Rev. Wesley seems to be in his element as a worthy preacher of the gospel. He has no fears of the future. He is full of the divine fire as to be free from anxiety. His judgment, foresight and ability are his passports. Others as he lay solemnly on his weary couch for the time were moving with the tenor of whose of supplication. As the dawn death approaching, he was calm, collected and full of confidence and hope. He died at last, like an infant falling asleep, having given him dying lips too blessed words of christian peace and triumph. May God bless and comfort the loved ones left to weeping over his grace.

M.

Mrs. Lucy N. Shaver, wife of Daniel Shaver, deceased died in Salisbury, at the residence of her son in-law, Mr. S. Swicegood, April 11, aged 55 years. For nearly five months she was confined to her room, mostly to her bed. At times she suffered greatly but bore it manfully. Death came unexpectedly, yet without terror. She was ready, for she calmly said the Lord's will be done. Such is the perfect man and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace." May the bereaved ones follow her even as she followed Christ, and like her find peace at last.

S. W. CRAWFORD.

Appointments.

GREENSBORO' DISTRICT.

2ND ROUND—IN PART.

Madison at Leaksville,	" 11-12
Sneedsville,	" 18-19
Pinnell's A H Dubnal Fair Ground,	" 25-26
Trinity circuit at Ebenezer,	May 2-3

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT

2ND. ROUND.

Wilmington, Fifth St.	April 4-5
Wilmington at Providence,	" 11-12
Wilmington, Front St.,	" 18-19
Wilmington, Grace St.,	" 25-26
Smithville and Shallotte,	May 2-3
Georgetown, Methodist Chapel,	" 9-10
Kingston Hill's Chapel,	" 16-17
Conway and Little River,	" 23-24
Lumberton,	" 30-31
Elizabethtown,	June 6-7
Fayetteville,	" 13-14
Cokesbury,	" 20-21

W. S. BLACKPE,
Superintendent.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

SECOND ROUND—IN PART.

Fayetteville, Hay st.	March 21-22
Fayetteville, Haymount,	" 28-29
Cumberland Circuit,	April 4-5
Bethel and Gilead Circuit,	" 11-12
Carthage and Hillsdale,	" 18-19
Wilson's Mills and Smithfield,	" 25-26
Clinton and Mt. Pleasant,	May 2-3
Grantville cir. at Mount Pleasant,	" 9-10
Roseboro cir. at Lisbon Grove,	" 16-17
Roseboro cir. at Lisbon Grove,	" 18-19

W. H. BOBBITT, P. E.
Clay N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

2ND ROUND—IN PART.

Tarboro cir. at Pt. Chapel,	March 14-15
Scotland Neck cir. at Edmondson's,	" 21-22
Tarboro' at Hall's,	" 28-29
Wilson cir. at Mt. Pleasant,	April 4-5
Grantville cir. at Mount Pleasant,	" 11-12
Roseboro cir. at Lisbon Grove,	" 18-19

W. H. BOBBITT, P. E.
Clay N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

SECOND ROUND.

Statesville cir. at Providence,	March 28-29
Mt. Zion cir. at Union,	April 4-5
Statesville,	" 11-12
Yadkin cir. at Goodman's,	" 18-19
Lincoln cir. at Shiloh,	" 25-26
Lincolnton,	May 2-3
Concord and Kerr's Chapel,	" 9-10
Salisbury, A S Black and Solomon Smith,	" 16-17
Smith's, cor. at Asbury,	" 23-24
Mocksville, cor. at Calvary,	" 30-31
Yadkinville, cor. at Union Grove,	June 6-7
Jonesville, cor. at Hamby's,	" 13-14

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Lincolnton, N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT

2D ROUND—QUARTERLY MEETINGS

Hillsboro' at Pattishall's,	March 28-29
Chapel Hill,	April 4-5
New Hope Grove,	" 11-12
Pittsboro' at Pleasant Grove,	" 18-19
Haywood,	" 25-26
Haw River,	May 2-3
Graham and Mt. Pleasant,	" 9-10
Alamance and Company Shops,	" 16-17
Big Rock Mission,	" 23-24
Yanceyville circuit,	" 30-31
Deep River,	June 6-7
Pittsboro'	" 13-14

J. P. MORROCK, P. E.
Mt Pleas. N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

2D ROUND.

South Fork Mission,	April 11-12
Shelby circuit, Elizabeth,	" 18-19
Shelby Station,	" 25-26
Cherryville, Knob's	May 2-3
Cherryville Hill's Chapel,	" 9-10
Dallas and Cherryville,	" 16-17
Gastonia and Mount Holly School House,	" 23-24
Gastonia, Gilliam,	" 30-31
Gastonia Spencer's Chapel,	" 30-31
Gastonia Mission,	" 30-31
Lincolnton, Lincolnton,	June 6-7
Lincolnton, Ebenezer,	" 13-14
Lincolnton, Epworth,	" 20-21
Lincolnton, Cedar Grove,	" 27-28
Lincolnton, Bethel,	" 27-28

Rev. Geo. Gillis will please attend all the above appointments on the Lincolnton and Rock Spring circuits. Rev. S. A. Gramick, Bourg and Newton circuits. Rev. S. Leonard, Sandy Springs. Rev. H. Bascom, Hopper Home. Rev. Wesley Gibbs, the general friend of the preacher, is now in town and bless his heart at all times especially at a time of resignation, and many times everybody happiness. Rev. Wesley seems to be in his element as a worthy preacher of the gospel. He has no fears of the future. He is full of the divine fire as to be free from anxiety. His judgment, foresight and ability are his passports. Others as he lay solemnly on his weary couch for the time were moving with the tenor of whose of supplication. As the dawn death approaching, he was calm, collected and full of confidence and hope. He died at last, like an infant falling asleep, having given him dying lips too blessed words of christian peace and triumph. May God bless and comfort the loved ones left to weeping over his grace.

M.

Mrs. Lucy N. Shaver, wife of Daniel Shaver, deceased died in Salisbury, at the residence of her son in-law, Mr. S. Swicegood, April 11, aged 55 years. For nearly five months she was confined to her room, mostly to her bed. At times she suffered greatly but bore it manfully. Death came unexpectedly, yet without terror. She was ready, for she calmly said the Lord's will be done. Such is the perfect man and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace." May the bereaved ones follow her even as she followed Christ, and like her find peace at last.

S. W. CRAWFORD.

New Advertisements.

FURNITURE.

W. H. Morris & Co.

No. 3 Fayetteville Street.

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealer in all kinds of furniture, such as Walnut Chamber Sets, Cottage Chamber Sets, Parlor Sets, Dining Room Sets, Bedsteads, Bureaus, Wardrobes, Washstands, Tables, Chairs, Sofas Lounges, Spring Beds, of various patterns, Cribs and Cradles in great variety of styles, patterns and prices. Wood and Marble top centre tables &c.

ALSO

Keep constantly on hand and make to order all kind of Mattresses, such as pure Curled Hair, Cotton And Shuck, Excelsior and Shuck Mattresses, Old Hair Mattress renovated and made as good as new.

No trouble to show goods. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

W. H. MORRIS & CO.

April 29 6m.

GREAT SALE OF

GARDEN HOES.

FOR NEXT 30 DAYS

FOR NEXT 30 DAYS,

GARDEN HOES 25 CENTS

GARDEN HOES 25 CENTS.

Garden Hoes 25 Cents.
Garden Hoes 25 Cents.
Garden Hoes 25 Cents.

Warranted Steel,
Warranted Steel,
Garden Hoes 30 Cents,
Garden Hoes 30 Cents,
Great Bargains,
Great Bargains,
Garden Hoes 35 Cents,
Garden Hoes 35 Cents,
Cash Early,
and Every,
Garden Hoes 40 Cents,
Garden Hoes 40 Cents,
Extremely Low Prices
Extremely Low Prices,
Garden Hoes 45 Cents
Garden Hoes 45 Cents

25 30 35 40 45 & 50 Cents

T. H. BRUSS & SONS.

may 6—1

FLOUR! FLOUR! FLOUR!!!

Leach Brothers,

No. 3 Exchange Place,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We beg leave to call the attention of the trade to the fact that North Carolina flour has a world wide reputation, and is now selling at the highest figures.

"FAMILY," "EXTRA" AND "SUPERFINE" FLOURS.

We feel confident we can please you both in price and quality, and solicit your orders.

Our Sales Partner and Buyer, who resides in the City of New York, has for the past month been busily engaged in connection with the large and well known country House of Messrs. H K Thurber & Co. and New York, in purchasing a stock of flour for this market, and we can safely say that we have the finest stock of flour ever offered in this city, as their buyer of Flour, selects for us every choice grade of the best to be had in New York, as well as Baltimore or Norfolk markets, and we can offer Four Hundred Barrels for the first three DAYS SALE AT HALF PRICE, and will only be open to the retailer.

Our facilities for handling the goods also equal to any house South of New York, and in the event of Short Paid orders, for goods, we are determined to handle them at as small a margin as any house in the trade.

Wheeler & Wilson have received the highest prize at all World's Exposition, and at the Vienna Exposition were extraordinarily distinguished."

FURTHER DISTINGUISHED HONOR.

New York, Sept. 15 1873.

GRAND MEDAL OF HONOR

OF THE

AMERICAN INSTITUTE, NEW YORK,

Was unanimously recommended by the Judges of Sewing Machines for

WHEELER & WILSON'S

NEW NO. 6 SEWING MACHINE,

as being "a decided improvement over all other machines in the market," and which "may revolutionize certain branches of industry, especially in Shoe and Harness Manufacturing."

"BALTIMORE, Md., October 6th, 1873.

"The MARYLAND INSTITUTE has awarded WHEELER & WILSON the GOLD MEDAL for their New No. 6 Sewing Machine. Other Sewing Machines received nothing.

"SAVANNAH, November 4, 1873.

"At the GEORGIA STATE FAIR, a SILVER MEDAL, the highest and only premium for Leather Stitching, was awarded to "WHEELER & Wilson" for samples done on their New "Grand" Machine."

PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 625 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Agencies in all the Principal Cities of the World.

april 29 2w

FOR REED ORGANS!

THE

ORGAN AT HOME!

This admirable collection of music for Reed Organs should be at those wherever there is a Reed Instrument. Nothing that is not of the very best quality has been allowed in the book, which however has great attractive pieces, completely printed on large pages. Nothing difficult. Everything nicely fitted to the popular taste.

Price in bds. $2.50. Cl'h, $3.00. Gilt, $4.00

New Method for Reed Organs!

PRICE $2.50. By WM H. CLARKE.

A thorough Method containing not only abundant directions and exercises, but a large quantity of the best Reed Organ Music, arranged and fitted with Mr. Clarke's well-known exquisite taste and skill. Sells immensely.

Clarke's Dollar Instructor.

FOR REED ORGANS

An excellent and attractive instruction book for those who need a short and easy course.

Sent post paid, on receipt of retail price.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.
C. H. DITSON & CO., 711 B'dway, New York.

april 15.

THOMAS H. TYSON. WM. T. JONES.

TYSON & JONES,

Carriage Builders,

CARTHAGE, N. C.

Having recently increased our Facilities for Manufacturing, we are prepared to furnish Vehicles of the BEST QUALITY on short notice, and at comparatively low prices. Vehicles shipped at Sanford, Raleigh and Chatham R. R. via Raleigh to any part of the State.

We feel confident that with the close attention we give the business, together with the materials used, the skilled workmen employed, and the many conveniences we have for manufacturing FIRST CLASS Work, to merit a liberal share of the custom so liberally bestowed upon us in the past.

STYLE, FINISH, DURABILITY AND Low Prices.

☞ We manufacture and keep constantly on hand Hearses of the best Style.

☞ Repairing neatly Done at Short Notice.

See Circular. Mar 7 1 9m.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, } In the Superior
CHATHAM COUNTY. } Court.

Petition to Sell Lands for Partition.

It appearing to the satisfaction of the undersigned that Lucy Ann Hodges, Sarah Hodges, Mary Hodges, Martha Hodges, Elizabeth Hodges, Nancy Hodges, Thomas Hodges, Jr., Elizabeth Hodges, Jr., Lucy Hodges, Jr., Sarah Hodges, Jr., Mary Hodges, Jr., Martha Hodges, Jr., Nancy Hodges, Jr.,

Youth's Department.

Grandfather's Barn.

Oh don't you remember our grandfather's barn,
Where our cousins and we went to play?
Or we climbed on the beams and the scaffold so high,
Or jumped off it all on the hay!
How we went in a row on the bundles of straw,
And riddles and witch stories told?
And the sunshine came in through the cracks in the south,
And turned all the dust into gold?

How we played hide-and-seek in each cranny and nook,
Wherever a child could be stowed?
When we made us a couch of a bagsfull of rye,
And on it to "Boston" we rode?
And then we kept store, and sold barley, and oats
And corn, by the bushel or bag;
And straw for our sisters to braid into hats,
And flax for our mothers to spin.

Then we played we were biddies, and cackled and crowed,
Till grandmother, in haste, came to see
If the weasels were killing the old speckled hen,
Or whatever the matter might be.
How she patted our heads when she saw her mistake,
And called us her sweet "chicken dears!"
While a tear dimmed her eye as the picture recalled
The scenes of her own vanished years.

How we teetered, and swung, and played meeting and school,
And Indian, and soldier, and bear;
While up on the rafters the swallows kept house,
Or sailed through the sun-summer air.
How we longed to peep into their curious nests,
But they were too far overhead;
So we wished we were giants, or winged like the birds,
And then we'd do wonders, we said.

And don't you remember the racket we made,
When sailing at auction the hay?
And how we wound up with a keel-over leap
From the scaffold down into the hay?
When we went in to supper, our grandfather said,
If he had not once been a boy,
He should have thought that the Heathens were seeking the town,
Or an earthquake had come so destroy.

How the years have gone on, since in grandfather's barn
To play with our cousins we met!
Our eyes have grown dim, and our locks have turned gray,
The golden, the brown and the jet;
Yet still in my heart there's an evergreen nook,
Where childhood's sweet memories stay;
And no music, to me, has a charm that can Faith
Like the voices of children at play.—Golden Hours

George Wilson.

Some years ago Mr. Gallaudet was walking in the streets of Hartford; there came running to him a poor boy, whose intelligent eyes fixed the gentleman's attention. The boy inquired, "Please, sir, can you tell me of any one who would like a boy to work for him, and learn to read?"

"Whose boy are you, and where do you live?"

"I have no parents, sir," was the reply, "and have just come from the workhouse, because they would not teach me to read."

The gentleman made arrangements with the authorities of the town, and took the boy into his family. He soon acquired the confidence of Mr. Gallaudet by his faithfulness and honesty. He also learned to read, and was allowed the use of his master's library, whereby he made rapid progress in the acquisition of knowledge. It became necessary, after a while, that George should leave Mr. Gallaudet, when he was apprenticed to a cabinet-maker in the neighborhood. There the same integrity won for him favor. To gratify his inclination for study, his kind master had a little room fitted up for him in the upper part of the shop, where he gave up his leisure time to his favorite pursuit. He made rapid attainments in mathematics, in the French language, and in other branches of learning.

After being in this situation a few years, as he sat at tea with the family one evening he all at once remarked that he wanted to go to France.

"Go to France!" said his master, surprised that the apparently contented and happy youth had thus suddenly become dissatisfied with his situation; "for what?"

"Please sir, will you ask Mr. Gallaudet to call?" continued George, "and I will explain."

His kind friend was invited accordingly, and at tea time the apprentice presented himself with his manuscripts in English and French, and explained his singular intention of going to France.

"In the time of Napoleon," said he, "a prize was offered by the French Government for the simplest rule for measuring plain surfaces. The prize has never been awarded, and that method I have discovered."

He then demonstrated his problem, to the surprise and gratification of his friends, who immediately furnished the means for defraying his expenses, and with letters of introduction to the Hon. Lewis Cass, then the American minister to the court of France. He was introduced to Louis Phillippe, and in the presence of the king, nobles, and plenipotentiaries, this youth demonstrated his problem, amid the plaudits of the court. He received the prize, besides valuable presents from the king.

He then took letters of introduction and went to the court of St. James, and gained a similar prize, offered by the Royal Society. He then returned to the United States. Here he was preparing to secure the benefit of his discovery by patent, when he received a letter from the Emperor Nicholas himself, one of whose ministers had witnessed his demonstrations at London, inviting him to make his residence at the Russian court, and furnishing him with ample means for his outfit.

He complied with the invitation, repaired to St. Petersburg, and became professor of mathematics in the Royal College, under the special protection of the Emperor of all the Russias.

One to day is worth two to morrows. Boys, use your spare moments well. Had George Wilson been an idle boy, spending his evenings in the streets or in bad company, he would never have stood "before kings."—Moravian.

Tha Lie.

At the close of a busy day a weary mother tucked her three little ones snugly into their beds, and then retired to a quiet room for a little rest and reflection. Very soon the prattle ceased, and she thought the children slept, till she heard a sound like a low sob, and listening closely, she discovered that Charley was crying. She went to his room at once.

"What is the matter, dear? Are you sick?"

"No, mother; it's that lie I told."

"You told me a lie, my child! Tell mother all about it."

"Don't you know, a great while ago, you gave me two pennies to play with?"

"Well, what about it?"

"When we came to put up the things," said Charley, "we din't find but one penny. You asked me where the other was, and I said I didn't know. But I did know, for I had dropped it down behind the flour barrel in the pantry."

"And have you had this sin in your heart ever since?" asked the mother in a sad voice.

"Yes, ma'am," and the little fellow burst into tears again. "Won't you ask God to forgive me?"

"You must ask him yourself, Charley."

"I did try, but I don't know what to say."

"Well," said his mother, "if you feel really sorry, and never mean to tell a lie again, you may repeat after me this little prayer. But you must be sure you feel it all, or you must not speak the words."

"O, ma, I am sorry!" sobbed Charley, "and besides, I called my baby brother a fool. I don't know what made me, only he plagued me, and wanted my playthings."

"Don't you know what Christ said about calling one's brother a fool?"

"Yes, I read it, and couldn't go to sleep until I told you."

"Then you may repeat this prayer: 'Dear Father in heaven, I ask thee to forgive the lie I told, and the wicked word I spoke, and make me a Christian child, and help me not to be wicked any more, for Christ's dear sake. Amen.'"

Charley repeated the words slowly and fervently. Then he lay down and was soon fast asleep.

There is no other way, children, to find peace, or to lie down in safety.

Rural and Domestic.

AN INCUBATOR FOR HATCHING CHICKENS.—We have never yet met with a machine for hatching eggs which worked entirely satisfactorily, but have heard that one invented by Dr John R. Goodall of Rhode Island, and exhibited in operation at the recent poultry show there, created some surprise at the perfect manner in which it seemed to operate. The price is $80, and with the mother in connection $90. Dr. Goodall writes us that he has been working at this machine and removing one difficulty after another for the last twelve years, and thinks he has now got it perfect. He gives the following description:

First, we have the boiler and tank, holding one-half barrel of water, kept in motion by a lamp inside the boiler, which heats and keeps up the temperature to its required point of 98 degrees. The water is propelled through all of the pipes the same as the blood is forced through its functions in the human body, by the lamp instead of the heart. There are five drawers, each made of tin, then comes one coating of sand, very fine half an inch deep, above each drawer: two of fine hay or grass, cut fine; three of eggs, each drawer holding 130 eggs. Thus you see I have an island of fine sand which holds heat a time. And this island is perfectly surrounded by water; also, over and under is water. Then everything is double about it—boiler and tanks and wood work. Between the glass doors is a curtain for the purpose of shading the eggs, as the hen does by sitting on them. I have now had it in operation for the last two years, all complete, and have hatched out turkey's eggs, ducks, partridges, robins and chickens, and of all of these I got on an average of 10 chicks out of 12 eggs."—Practical Farmer.

Miscellaneous.

CREAM PUFFS.—One quart sweet milk, three and a half cups white sugar, six eggs, six tablespoonsful of flour. Beat the eggs and sugar well together, make a smooth paste of the flour with a little water, and add to the eggs and sugar. Have the milk hot and pour into the vessel slowly, stirring the milk all the time. Set the vessel in boiling water, and cook until it thickens. Flavor with lemon or vanilla. Bake the crusts, take off the top one, and when cool, put the cream in the pies.

QUEEN OF PUDDINGS.—One pint bread crumbs, one quart sweet milk, yolks of four eggs, piece of butter size of an egg. Flavor and bake. Beat the white of the eggs to a froth with one cup of pulverized sugar. Spread over the pudding a layer of jelly. Pour the eggs over, and brown slightly. Serve with cold cream.

CREAM MUFFINS.—One egg broken in a pint of cold water, beat briskly till it foams; and flour sufficient to make a thin batter, one teaspoonful of sugar, and salt to taste. Bake on muffin mold, to be eaten while hot. They are excellent.

SWEET POTATO CORN BISCUIT.—Three large potatoes boiled and mashed into a pint of meal, one tablespoonful of lard, one of sugar, one egg, and salt to taste. Bake in pans or asphalin biscuit. They are a delightful breakfast dish.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Our Dormant Energies.

Our bodies are not as vigorous nor our minds as clear as they might be. This remark is true of at least two thirds of civilized society; and of these two-thirds probably one-half is laboring under bodily infirmities of a character likely to shorten the lives of the sufferers. This is a melancholy exhibit and furnishes abundant food for reflection. Can the evil be mitigated? It can. Lack of vitality is the primary cause of most of the physical and mental suffering to which we are subjected, and therefore a vitalizing medicinal agent is the remedy required. Is there such a medicine? There is. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will rouse and energize the mind and body when the life power of the system is in a comparatively dormant state. The languid, feeble, despondent invalid is not aware of the latent energies that underly his debility. He thinks there is no element of vigor left in his frame, when the fact is that his physical capabilities are merely asleep and only require waking up. Let him stimulate and tone his animal machinery and endow it with new motive power, through the agency of this in comparable invigorant, and he will soon feel like a new man, or rather like a man who has received a new lease of life, and the requisite health to enjoy it. Many business men suffer from chronic languor and depression caused by too close application to business. Hard students are often oppressed with melancholy from a like cause. Mechanics and working men are affected in the same way as a result of overlabor. To all who are in this condition, from whatever cause, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will prove a signal blessing. It is a perfect panacea for physical debility and mental gloom. It strengthens the body, clears the mind and calms the nervous system; while as a remedy for indigestion, biliousness, constipation, rheumatism, and intermittent and remittent fevers, it takes precedence of all other medicines.

May 6-1m

HACK, HACK! COUGH, COUGH.

Cough is a symptom by which various diseased conditions of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs manifest themselves. But whether it arises from the irritation produced in the throat and lungs by taking cold from an attack of bronchitis, from incipient Consumption, or from various other causes, nothing will allay it more speedily nor more permanently than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It does not matter whether it be a recent attack, or a lingering cough, the Discovery in either case equally well adapted for its relief and permanent cure. In fact, it will cure a cough in one half the time necessary to cure it with any other medicine, and it does it, not by drying it up, but by removing the cause, subduing the irritation, and healing the affected parts. No time should be lost in commencing the use of a proper medicine for the relief of a Cough, for unless this course is pursued, serious and dangerous disease of the lungs is liable to result.

DOCTOR SOON LEARN ITS VALUE.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 18, 1870.

Dr Pierce—For the past six months I have used your Golden Medical Discovery in my practice, and in that time I have tested its merits in severe coughs, bad breaths and colics, in chronic disease of the throat, severe cases of bronchitis, general derangement of the system, constipated condition of the bowels, and where ever a thorough alterative has been indicated. In all cases I have found it to act gently yet thoroughly and effectually in removing the various diseased conditions, and bringing about a healthy action throughout the system. Yours fraternally, H. L. HALL, M.D

May 6 1w.

A pair of shoes will cost you only 5 cents more with SILVER TIPS on, than without, and it will add twice the cost of the shoe to their wearing value.

April 8 18w

ADVERTISEMENTS.

ODELL, RAGAN & CO.,

Wholesale Dealers in General Merchandise,

GREENSBORO', N. C.

We call the attention of the merchants of North Carolina to the fact that we have opened our large wholesale house, and that we are prepared to sell them such goods, as cheap as they can buy in any market. We are the agents for Cedar Falls, Deep River, Sandiman and Alamance Manufacturing Co's. Sheeting, Yarns, Plaids and Seamless Bags. Parties ordering these goods will get them as cheap from us as if they order directly from the factory. We also sell Sales, Jeans at factory prices. Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

Feb 4–12m.

R. F. JONES & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS COTTON FACTORS

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Wilmington Street, opposite Market House,

In their wholesale department they offer to the trade a large stock of first-class groceries at prices that have and will continue to attract the trade. They have in store

1200 Gals. S. H. Syrup.
150 Sacks Fine Liverpool Salt.
1200 Pounds Cream Cheese.
300 Bushels Bolted Meal.
100 Boxes Cakes and Crackers—fresh.
1000 Pounds pure candy, assorted.
25 Cases mixed Pickles.
40 Doz. cans Fresh Peaches.
50 Bbls. Superfine and Family Flour.
3000 Pounds Family Soap.
25 Boxes Adamantine Candles.
40 Doz. boxes Axle Grease.
72 G Masons Blacking.
50,000 Water Proof Percussion Caps.

Powder, Shot, Snuff, Tobacco, Soda, Spice, Pepper Tea, &c., &c.

Bulk Meat and Breakfast Strips, and a full assortment of other goods generally sold in grocery stores. Call and examine the quality of their goods and price. Consignment of produce solicited.

oct 15-6m

A MAN OF A THOUSAND,

A Consumptive u ed.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Cannabis Indica. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of consumption that it does not dissipate—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Difficult spectoration, Sharp Pain in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inaction of the Bowels, and Wasting of the Muscles. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia Pa., giving name of this paper.

Nov. 26 6m.

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is the Place to Buy

French and Plain Candies,

Foreign and Domestic Fruits,

RAISINS, NUTS, etc.,

Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,

Fancy Good. Childrens' Toys,

Carriages for the Little Folks,

CROQUET SETS,

BASE BALLS AND BATS,

Marbles, Tops and Kites,

All at MOSELEY'S

1874. Spring Trade. 1874.

GOODS AT PRICES TO Compare with the Money Crisis AT

J. P. ULLEY & BRO'S,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL STORE,

Corner Fayetteville St., and South Exchange Place,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We come again to proclaim the daily arrival of our to ith (10) semi-annual stock of

Foreign and Domestic

DRY GOODS,

Notions, White Goods, Ribbons, &c.,

Boots and Shoes.

In this department we can please the public in quality. We keep up our Brand of Ladies' Shoes, warranted at $2.50 per pair.

Hats for Gents, Youths, Boys and Children.

Clothing in all grades, from $5 00 to $21.00 per suit Youths', Boys and Children Clothing a nice variety. The attention of COUNTRY MERCHANTS is especially called to our Up Stairs Jobbing Department. Call and see our Goods before purchasing

Very Respectfully

J. P. ULLY & BRO

april 15-tf.

GENUINE PERUVIAN GUANO.

Farmers, Agriculturists and Dealers in Fertilizers have now an opportunity of obtaining this valuable manure in small or large lots, at importers' prices, by applying to the Special Agency just established for the purpose of delivering Genuine Peruvian Guano to consumers at any accessible port or railway station in the country. Full particulars given in Circular mailed free on application to

R. BALCAZAR,
No. 68 Beaver St., New York.

REFERENCES BY PERMISSION.

Messrs. Hebeler, Hurtado & Co., Financial Agents of the Peruvian Government, 2 Wall St., N. Y.
Messrs Taylor, Pres. National B. Bank, 52 Wall St., N. Y.
J. C. Free, Esq., Peruvian Guano Consul 26 1 2
Rochester, N. Y.
March 18-3m

W. F. KORNEGAY,

Goldsboro', N. C.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in FOREIGN & DOMESTIC HARDWARE,

COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.

Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.

FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are Western made, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All we ask is a trial of them.

Jan 28-tf

READ THIS.

I will give any young boy from 16 to 25 years old living in a town or public place a good opportunity to make from $1 to $3 per day, to work for me. Send stamp for particulars. Address

B. I. POWELL,
Warrenton, N. C.

april 1-1m

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes,

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT, THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Incalculable Blessing of sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight degree, or Diseases of Vision, commonly called Blurring, 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4 Epiphora, Running or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or impert et vision from the effects of Inflammation; 8 Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9 Overworked Eyes; 10. Myiodesopia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness, the loss of sight.

Any one can use the Ivory Eye Cups without medical doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles; or, if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,300 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of standing and refinement in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 20 Hon Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 26th, 1869: "Without my spectacles I pen you this note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W MERRICK"

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, writes us, Nov. 19th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age.

Wm. Beatly, M. D., Salvisa Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years.

Alex R. Wyeth, M. D., Aledon, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight; permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY and ANATOMY OF THE EYE—copy of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worst case of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC A TACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for late disease.

Send for pamphlets and certificates—free. Waste no more money by adjusting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

AGENTS WANTED.

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $24 A DAY. To live Agents $24 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 957. New York City, N. Y.
Sept 6-12m.

Foolish spend money paid for children's shoes not protected by SILVER TIPS. Two weeks is about the time it takes a smart, active child to ventilate the toes of a shoe. SILVER TIPS the only preventative. Wear. 25 3-4

AGENTS WANTED FOR.

OUT OF THE HURLY BURLY BY MARK TIDELER

The greatest humorous work of the day 350 Comic city sketches, lively adventures, sparkling wit uproarious fun. Astounded all over the country. The people are hungry for it! EVERY MAN WANTS IT. Large sales. The only book for dull times. Show it to a man, and he won't be happy till he gets it. One look is enough. Agents wanted everywhere. Terms liberal and big returns certain. Send for circulars and make money. There is cash in this. To-Day Pub. Co. Philadelphia, New York, Boston or Chicago.

Apl 29 4-w.

Established 1840.

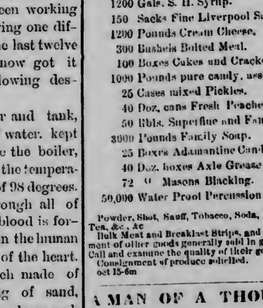
B. W. PAYNE, R. W. PAYNE, D. W. PAYNE

B. W. PAYNE & SONS

Corning Foundry and Machine Shop,
CORNING, STEUBEN CO., N. Y.

Manufacturers of

Stationary Engines, Boilers and



Spark-Arresting Portable Engines

For Plantation Use.

Delivered Free on Board Cars in New York City.

Send for Circular.

Feb 25-12m

PARENTS REDUCE YOUR SHOE BILLS TWO THIRDS BY BUYING

Silver Tipped Shoes.

Feb 18-6m

Schedules.

PIEDMONT & ARLINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO., OF VIRGINIA.

POLICIES ISSUED - - - - - 20,000
ANNUAL INCOME - - - - - $1,500,000

Expense of management, less than that of any Company of same age, in America.

Over $300 of profit to policy holders and orphans. But one year of existence and a dividend 15% by 25 per cent. than the only other Home Company that has passed the Insurance Department of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, &c., and ever established successful agencies in these States.

Jan 11-12m. DR. D. RICE, General Agent Raleigh, N.

JAMES LEFFEL'S IMPROVED DOUBLE Turbine Water Wheel.

JOHN M. PRATT, late of H. D. Wade & Co.

GRAY'S FERRY PRINTING INK WORKS,

PRATT & ROBINSON, 58 Spruce Street, NEW YORK. | ROBINSON & PRATT 7 & 8 South Street, PHILA.

Black and Colored Printing Inks.

april 7-3w

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati.

apl 16—12m.

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS.

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Stronach's Music Store

Oct. 22-6m.

A new work of intense interest and intrinsic value

OCEAN'S STORY.

By the gifted son of the famous "Peter Parley."

A graphic history of ocean Navigation, Adventure and Discovery since the Ark. Replete with startling incidents, lustful disasters, perils, &c. ABOVE ALL, also the WONDERS BENEATH the SEA, Diving, Diving Bells, Pelegrin diving dress, 225 spirited illustrations. Agents are starled expert till others in four days. 127 in five days, 75 in two days &c.; sells wonderfully fast. 300 Agents Wanted. Send for full description and circulars, RICHARD BROS., Publishers, 723 Sansom St., Phila.

Sept 15-12m.

B. W. Hutchings & Co.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c.,

Opposite Tucker Hall,

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Burr's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just received at

PESCUD, LEE & CO'S

Drug Store.

jan 14 tf

PIEDMONT & ARLINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO., OF VIRGINIA.

POLICIES ISSUED - - - - - 20,000
ANNUAL INCOME - - - - - $1,500,000

Expense of management, less than that of any Company of same age, in America.

Over $300 of profit to policy holders and orphans. But one year of existence and a dividend 15% by 25 per cent. than the only other Home Company that has passed the Insurance Department of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, &c., and ever established successful agencies in these States.

Jan 11-12m. DR. D. RICE, General Agent Raleigh, N.

JAMES LEFFEL'S IMPROVED DOUBLE Turbine Water Wheel.

JOHN M. PRATT, late of H. D. Wade & Co.

GRAY'S FERRY PRINTING INK WORKS,

PRATT & ROBINSON, 58 Spruce Street, NEW YORK. | ROBINSON & PRATT 7 & 8 South Street, PHILA.

Black and Colored Printing Inks.

april 7-3w

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

apr 15 12m

HATS, HATS, HATS!

Call and see them at

D. S. WAITT'S

a, 11-3-tf

STONEWALL FERTILIZER.

Highly Concentrated, Has ALWAYS been Manufactured on the basis of a guaranteed analysis. Will NOW be sold subject to all laws in regard to Fertilizers, with THE SAME guaranteed analysis

B. C. FLANNAGAN & SON,
Petersburg, Va.

apr 29 1-m

SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 27, 1873

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

DAY TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh	9.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh	5.45 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.45 A. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.20 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	12.45 P. M.

Mail train make close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line steamers for all Northern points, and all points North and South via Richmond, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, and and Washington City via and from all points South and West.

Leave at Raleigh for North and on Railroad to and from all points South and West, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Hayward and Fayetteville.

Close connections on Freight trains connect at Weldon with through freight trains eastward and Boydton Plank Road and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh with Accommodation and Freight trains going on the Raleigh and Augusta Air Line and Intermediate Stations on the Railroad North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Supt.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

DAY TRAIN.

Leave	4.00 P. M.
Arrive	6.05 "
Leave	6.45 A. M.
Arrive	8.50 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh	3.5 P. M
Arrives at	8.00 "
Leaves Sanford,	10.50 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.40 P. M.

Mail train at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points South.

Accommodation and Freight Trains connect with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

W. B. Hutchings & Co.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c.,

Opposite Tucker Hall,

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Burr's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just received at

PESCUD, LEE & CO'S

Drug Store.

jan 14 tf

PIEDMONT & ARLINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO., OF VIRGINIA.

POLICIES ISSUED - - - - - 20,000
ANNUAL INCOME - - - - - $1,500,000

Expense of management, less than that of any Company of same age, in America.

Over $300 of profit to policy holders and orphans. But one year of existence and a dividend 15% by 25 per cent. than the only other Home Company that has passed the Insurance Department of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, &c., and ever established successful agencies in these States.

Jan 11-12m. DR. D. RICE, General Agent Raleigh, N.

JAMES LEFFEL'S IMPROVED DOUBLE Turbine Water Wheel.

JOHN M. PRATT, late of H. D. Wade & Co.

GRAY'S FERRY PRINTING INK WORKS,

PRATT & ROBINSON, 58 Spruce Street, NEW YORK. | ROBINSON & PRATT 7 & 8 South Street, PHILA.

Black and Colored Printing Inks.

april 7-3w

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

apr 15 12m

HATS, HATS, HATS!

Call and see them at

D. S. WAITT'S

a, 11-3-tf

STONEWALL FERTILIZER.

Highly Concentrated, Has ALWAYS been Manufactured on the basis of a guaranteed analysis. Will NOW be sold subject to all laws in regard to Fertilizers, with THE SAME guaranteed analysis

B. C. FLANNAGAN & SON,
Petersburg, Va.

apr 29 1-m

SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 27, 1873

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

DAY TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh	9.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh	5.45 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.45 A. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.20 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	12.45 P. M.

Mail train make close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line steamers for all Northern points, and all points North and South via Richmond, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, and and Washington City via and from all points South and West.

Leave at Raleigh for North and on Railroad to and from all points South and West, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Hayward and Fayetteville.

Close connections on Freight trains connect at Weldon with through freight trains eastward and Boydton Plank Road and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh with Accommodation and Freight trains going on the Raleigh and Augusta Air Line and Intermediate Stations on the Railroad North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Supt.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

DAY TRAIN.

Leave	4.00 P. M.
Arrive	6.05 "
Leave	6.45 A. M.
Arrive	8.50 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh	3.5 P. M
Arrives at	8.00 "
Leaves Sanford,	10.50 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.40 P. M.

Mail train at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points South.

Accommodation and Freight Trains connect with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

T. W. GUTHRIE, Rockingham, N. C. GEO. A. NEWELL, Wilmington N. C.

"BLEES"

Lock Motion, Lock-Stitch, Shuttle

NOISELESS

Hems, Braids, Gathers, Tucks, Ruffles, Cords, Binds, Frills, Quilts, Gathers, &c., &c.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

Does the widest range and with the greatest range and widest of any machine ever before offered to the public.

Challenges the world in perfection of work, strength and beauty of stitch, durability of construction and rapidity of motion.

Reliable agents wanted for every county in the State, to whom liberal terms will be given.

NEWELL & GUTHRIE, General Agents
No 5 South Front Street,
Wilmington, N. C.

nov 26-tf

WILLIAMSON, UPCHURCH & THOMAS

WHOLESALE GROCERS

—AND—

Commission Merchants,

FAYETTEVILLE ST.,

OPPOSITE METROPOLITAN HALL.

H. P. WILLIAMSON, W. G. UPCHURCH, J. J. THOMAS, JR. } RALEIGH, N. C

Oct 1-tf

WATSON'S GALLERY

—OF—

PHOTOGRAPHIC ART,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is one of the most complete and extensive Photographic establishments in the South; where every style of Photographic likeness is executed from the smallest miniature, to the large Portrait colored in oil. If you have Daguerreotypes of absent relatives or friends, you can have it enlarged and colored to nature. Photographic Albums and Picture Frames always on hand, in great variety, at low prices. When you come to Raleigh, do not fail to call at WATSON'S GALLERY and door above Tucker Hall.

J. W. WATSON.

Dec 18-12

THE VICTOR SEWING MACHINE TRIUMPHANT!

It is the very best Machine in the world, and has taken the first premium at every Fair where it has been exhibited!

Our New Patent Shuttle is the Simplest and only Perfect one in use.

The Only Lock-Stitch Machine that has a Self-Setting Needle.

It has a straight and self-setting needle. The thread cannot be set wrong. A reel and spring to hold it. No difference in sewing from light to heavy, or heavy to light goods. A new PATENT SHUTTLE the best, simplest, and most threaden. The Shuttle carries its bobbin free from all friction. It has no springs, wires or cogs. The lightest running and simplest in use. All parts are adjustable. Buy no other machine if you want the best.

Persons in will send direct to our office for each bin will receive a discount amounting to the agent's commission and thus get their machines at wholesale price. This refers however only to such places where we have no agents established.

Agents wanted in every county. Better terms given than any other Company.

Address, Rev. C. H. BERNHEIM, General Agent, Concord, N. C.

J. M. BROUGHTON, Raleigh, N. C., Agent for Central North Carolina.

oct 1—1y

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

apr 15 12m

HATS, HATS, HATS!

Call and see them at

D. S. WAITT'S

a, 11-3-tf

STONEWALL FERTILIZER.

Highly Concentrated, Has ALWAYS been Manufactured on the basis of a guaranteed analysis. Will N

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. | PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. | $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 19. | RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MAY 13, 1874. | WHOLE NO. 1,017.

Selected Poetry.

Troth-Plight.

[illegible]

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

The Question of Church Finance.

DEAR BRO BOBBITT: I see many communications in the ADVOCATE in regard to church finance, paying the preacher, and so on. They seem to know that we are in financial trouble, but have no definite plan for getting out of the trouble. It appears that the preacher is sent to his station or circuit, and the assessment for his support and the amount for the P. E. is made without thing into consideration the strength of the church.—Why not let the financial strength of the circuit or station be known at Conference and then let a Pastor be sent there who is expected to ask no more than the amount—or at least knows what that amount is? I expect a dozen knowing ones will say that this is the plan. If it is, then act upon it, and you will not have one tenth the amount of financial trouble that we now have. The steward gives in the financial strength of his church. He must make his calculation from something. In making a business like calculation he must take each name on the church book and write opposite the name the amount the member is expected to pay, and to the amount from all the church members add the amount to be collected outside the membership. He cannot correctly give the financial strength of his church unless he makes out his estimate in detail.

When a circuit is strained up to its utmost strength one year, and the next year the assessment is nearly doubled, what is to be expected? Would shrewd business men follow such a plan, or would they simply calculate the amount of strength they had gained by new members, new zeal, and increased ability of old members, and assess accordingly?

I care not what be said to the contrary, the financial business of the church must be done on business plans. Let the steward make out the financial strength of his church as I have above suggested, and then let him report the amount. Let the preachers liberally paid, but remember that it cannot be done without system.

JUSTICE.

For the Advocate.

"Who Taught it to Him?"

The Spirit of the Age published a recipe for making sacramental wine from raisins, and the Biblical Recorder in due time pricks and makes character of the comments. I do not fancy the term "recipe," as a substitute for the ordinary word, any more than the Recorder does. It is the unnatural deduction and far fetched analogy to be found in the Recorder's editorial which I respectfully demur. The writer leaps from "vinum sacrum" to "vinum meum" with extraordinary agility even for a Baptist. He goes like a mountain deer from the hill to the water. Hear him:

"What is the principle which the good Templar here is carrying out? He simply substituting a mild raisin-drink, 'procured from an able pharmacist,' for the wine—which sometimes intoxicates—commanded by our Lord. It is no brand new principle. Has he not heard from his pulpit that a "drop of water is as good as a river full," for baptism? Has he not heard his preachers say that sprinkling is so much more decent than the "dripping garments" of immersion? Can any one deny that the raisin-egg drink is not less harmless than the intoxicating wine?

But more than that, immersion is a breach of taste, but this raisin-egg drink, according to their advocates, will save the weak from the intoxicating drink. Let not the Pedo-baptist hold up his hands in holy horror, and exclaim, "Who did this?" Then art the man. Cruel the parent that disowns his own child."

Are we not taught by this that the Baptists rely on much wine at the supper as well as much water in Baptism? Indeed is there not as much demand for quantity in one sacrament as the other?

In referring sarcastically to the mild wine as "less harmless than intoxicating wine," does he mean to teach that the wine is valuable for sacramental use according to its alcoholic strength? What an idea!

No one believes that the editor of the Spirit of the Age got his wine formula from his pastor, but let it not be doubted that any sensible Methodist preacher would rather be the author of that formula than of the remarkable ingenuity in the Recorder's article. After all there is much similarity between the wine recipe and the miscellaneous compound invented by the Recorder. First, "Raisins"—"egg"—"water"—"filtering paper." Second. "intoxicating wine"—"a river"—"breach of taste"—"decent"—"sprinkling"—"raisin egg" &c. Of the two the former is preferable.

What an Artesian well the editor bored to find that water!

W.

For the Advocate.

To the Officers and Friends of the Bible Cause in North Carolina.

The vacancy caused by the resignation of the Rev. P. A. STRICKLAND, District Superintendent for the American Bible Society, has been filled by my transfer from the field of Middle and East Tennessee, to which I was unexpectedly called five years ago. The many and strong ties formed in my new home, where I had a rich experience of the Divine goodness, and my devotion to the important work opened to me there did not cause me to forget my native State, where I had spent many years in labors of love for the public welfare and now I return to renew attachments which neither time nor distance can weaken, and to devote myself to that cause which lies at the foundation of all individual and national prosperity, and in which I can co-operate with all races and all classes, and with every branch of the Church of Jesus Christ. God will bless and honor those, and only those who honor His Word. And it is through the Ministry of this Word alone that society is to be improved, good government secured, and the wilderness and solitary place made glad.

That department of this Ministry over which I am now placed is common ground to all denominations: and I, therefore, confidently appeal to all who love the Lord Jesus Christ and the supremacy of His revealed Truth, and to every one who would promote the public welfare to unite heartily with me in efforts to deepen and widen the interest in that administrative system which is the chief instrumentality of the Church for the publication and dissemination of the written Word.

The American Bible Society, fostered and watched over as its Agent by the Church in America, has hitherto proved faithful to its great Mission, has been most abundant in useful labors, and is now engaged in operations of immense extent and importance: and I cannot but hope that its representative in this good old State will continue to meet with a cordial reception from every class, and that the Auxiliary Societies which cover the whole territory will be actively supported by the communities in which they are located.

It is my desire, the Lord willing, to visit every part of the State; but in the mean time, the eyes of the Superintendent should rest continuously on the whole field in one view, and therefore he should be able to look and operate through others, and to regard all local officers and agents of the Bible System as his assistants, and himself as one of a united band. The responsibilities and trials of my position are very great and I deeply feel the need of sympathy and aid on the part of every one who loves the Bible Cause; and I would respectfully call upon the officers of Auxiliary Societies, and upon all others who are able to offer suggestions or to furnish information important to my mission, to put themselves in communication with me and to co-operate in unceasing efforts to supply our people with the Word of God, and to extend liberal aid to the American Bible Society in its vast and glorious work at home and abroad.

For the present my address is Greensboro, N. C., and due notice will be given of any change.

C. H. WILEY,
District Supt. for Am. Bible Society in N. C.

April 24, 1874.

Papers in the State friendly to the cause will please copy.

Selected.

The Massacre of Church Music.

There has been an effort for the last twenty years to kill congregational singing. The attempt has been tolerably successful; but it seems to me that some rules might be given by which the work could be done more quickly and completely. What is the use of having it lingering on in this uncertain way? Why not put it out of its misery? If you are going to kill a snake, kill it thoroughly, and do not let it keep on wagging its tail till sundown. Congregational singing is a nuisance, anyhow, to many of the people. It interferes with their comfort. It offends their taste. It disposes their noses to flexibility in the upward direction. It is too democratic in its tendency. Down with congregational singing and let us have no more of it.

The first rule for killing it is to have only such tunes as the people can no' sung.

In some churches it is the custom for choirs at each service to sing one tune which the people know. It is very generous of the choir to do that. The people ought to be very thankful for the donation. They do not deserve it. They are all "miserable offenders" (I heard them say so), and, if permitted once in a service to sing, ought to think themselves highly favored. But I oppose this of even the one tune that the people understand. It spoils them. It gets them hankering after more. Total abstinence is the only safety; for, if you allow them to imbibe at all, they will after a while get in the habit of drinking too much of it, and the first thing you know they will be going around drunk on sacred psalmody. Besides that, if you let them sing one tune at a service, they will be putting their oar into the other tunes and bothering the choir. There is nothing more annoying to the choir than, at some moment when they have drawn out a note to exquisite fineness, thin as a spirit hair, to have some blundering elder to come in with a "Praise ye the Lord!" Total abstinence, I say! Let all the churches take the pledge even against the milder musical beverages; for they who tamper with champagne cider soon get to Hock and old Burgundy.

Now, if all the tunes are new, there will be no temptation to the people. They will not keep humming along, hoping that they will find some bars down where they can break into the clover pasture. They will take the tune as an inextricable conundrum, and give it up. Besides that, Pisgah, Ortonville, and Brattle Street are old fashioned. They did very well in their day. Our fathers were simple minded people, and the tunes fitted them. But our fathers are gone, and they ought to have taken their baggage with them. It is a nuisance to have those old tunes floating around the church, and some time, just as we have got the music as fine as an opera, to have a revival of religion come, and some new born soul break out in "Rock of Ages Cleft for Me!" till the organist stamps the pedal with indignation, and the leader of the tune gets red in the face and swears. Certainly anything that makes a man swear is wrong—ergo, congregational singing is wrong. Quod erat demonstrandum: which being translated, means Plain as the nose on a man's face. What right have people to sing who know nothing about rhymthmics, melodics, dynamics? The old tunes ought to be ashamed of themselves when compared with our modern beauties. Let Dundee, and Portuguese Hymn, and Silver Street hide their heads beside what we heard not long ago in a church—just where I shall not tell. The minister read the hymn beautifully. The organ began, and the choir sang, as near as I could understand, as follows:

Oo—aw—gee—bah
Ah—ee—la—he
O—pah—sah—dah
Wo—haw—gee-e-e-e.

My wife, seated beside me, did not like the music. But I said: "What beautiful sentiment! My dear, it is a pastoral. You might have known that from 'Wo-haw gee!' You have had your taste ruined by attending the Brooklyn Tabernacle." The choir repeated the last line of the hymn four times. Then the prima donna leaped on to the first line, and slipped, and fell on to the second, and that broke and let her through into the third. The other voices came in to pick her up, and got into a grand wrangle, and the bass and the soprano had it for about ten seconds; but the soprano beat (women always do), and the bass rolled down into the cellar, and the soprano went up into the garret, but the latter kept on squalling as though the bass, in leaving her, had wickedly torn out all her back hair. I felt anxious about the soprano, and looked back to see if she had fainted; but found her reclining in the arms of a young man who looked strong enough to take care of her.

Now I admit that we cannot all have such things in our churches. It costs like sixty. In the Church of the Holy Bankak it costs one hundred dollars to have sung that communion piece:

"Ye wretched, hungry, starving poor!"

But let us come as near to it as we can. The tune "Pisgah" has been standing long enough on "Jordan's stormy banks." Let it pass over and get out of the wet weather. Good bye "Antioch," "Harwell," and "Boylston." Good-bye till we meet in glory.

But, if the prescription of new tunes does not end congregational singing, I have another suggestion. Get an irreligious choir, and put them in a high balcony back of the congregation. I know choirs who are made up chiefly of religious people; or those, at least, respectful for sacred things. That will never do, if you want to kill the music. The theatrical troupe are not busy elsewhere on Sabbath, and you can get them at half price to sing the praises of the Lord. Meet them in the green room at the close of the "Black Crook" and secure them. They will come to church with opera-glasses, which will bring the minister so near to them they can, from their high perch, look clear down his throat and see his sermon before it is delivered. They will make excellent poetry on Deacon GOODSOUL as he carries around the missionary box. They will write dear little notes to GONZALDO, asking him how his cold is and how he likes gum-drops. Without interfering with the worship below, they can discuss the comparative fashionableness of "The Basque" and "The Polonaise," the one lady vowing she thinks the first style is "horrid," and the other saying she would rather die than be seen in the latter—all this while the chorister is gone out during sermon to refresh himself with a mint-julep, hastening back in time to sing the last hymn. How much like heaven it will be when, at the close of a solemn service, we are favored with snatches from VERDI'S "Trovatore," MEYERBEER'S "Huguenots," and BELLINI'S "Sonnambula," from such artists as:

Prim Donna Soprano,
MADEMOISELLE SQUINTELLE,
from Grand Opera House, Paris,

SIGNOR BOMBASTANI,
Basso Buffo,
from Royal Italian Opera.

CARL SCHNIDERINE,
First Baritone,
of His Majesty's Theatre, Berlin.

If after three months of taking these two prescriptions the congregational singing is not thoroughly dead, send me a letter directed to my name, with the title of O. F. M. (Old Fogy in Music), and I will, on the receipt thereof, write another prescription, which I am sure will kill it dead as a door nail, and that is the deadest thing in all history.—[Talmage in The Independent.]

How Longfellow Wrote Some of His Famous Poems.

[Recent Lecture of J. T. Fieldin Boston.]

It is always interesting to know under what circumstances a poet has framed an immortal poem or sonnet or song. As I happen to know something of the origin and birth of many of Longfellow's poems, let me divulge a few secrets in regard to them. The "Psalm of life" came into existance, on a bright Summer morning in July, 1838, in Cambridge, as the poet sat between two windows at the small table in the corner of his chamber. It was a voice from his inmost heart and he kept it some time in manuscript, unwilling to part with it. It expressed his own feelings at that time, when he was rallying from the depression of a deep affliction, and he hid the poem in his own heart for many months. He was accused of taking the famous verse, "Art is long and time is fleeting," from Bishop's poem, but I happen to know that was not in his mind, and that the thought came to him with as much freshness and originality as if nothing had been written before. "There is a reaper whose name is death" crystalized at once, without effort, in the poet's mind, and he wrote it rapidly down, with tears filling his eyes as he composed it. The fine ballad, "The Wreck of the Hesperus," was written in 1839. A violent storm had occurred the night before and as the poet sat smoking his pipe about midnight by the fire, the wrecked Hesperus came sailing into his mind. He went to bed, but the poem had seized him, and he could not sleep. He got up and wrote the celebrated verses. "The clock was striking three," he said, "when I finished the last stanza."—It did not come into his mind by lines, but by whole stanzas, hardly causing him an effort, but flowing without hindrance.

One of the best known of all Longfellow's shorter poems is "Excelsior." The word happened to catch his eye late one Autumn evening in 1841 on a torn piece of newspaper, and straightway his imagination took fire at it. Taking the first piece of paper at hand, which happened to be the back of a letter received that night from Charles Sumner, Longfellow crowded it with verses. As first written down, "Excelsior" differs from the perfected and published poem; but it shows in its original conception a rush and glow worthy the theme and the author. On a Summer afternoon in 1849, as he was riding on the beach, "The Skeleton in Armor" rose as out of the deep before him and would not be laid. The story of "Evangeline" was first suggested to Hawthorne by a friend who wished him to found a romance upon it. Hawthorne did not quite coincide with the idea, and handed the theme to Longfellow, who saw at once all the essential qualities of a deep and tender idyl.

Is Doubt More Intellectual Than Faith?

There are doubts and doubts. Not so many, perhaps, as is generally supposed, of those "honest" ones in which there lives—according to Tennyson—"more faith than half the creeds." It has, in fact, become the fashion in certain quarters to over compassionate the doubter, to accredit him with a greater depth, and even with more thorough conscientiousness than the man convinced. But with every desire to find the reasonableness of such a view, we have entirely failed to discover why the holding of a creed should imply a smaller share of intelligence or honesty than the holding of a doubt. Credulity has its negative side as well as its positive one, and there is as much room to slip on the one side as on the other. Clough—himself the most conscientious of poetical sceptics—admits that if on the one hand "hopes are dupes," on the other "fears may be liars," and, in short, there is no good reason, other things being equal, for supposing that the man who rejects evidence may not be quite as great a fool as the man who accepts it. Creeds, no doubt, are easily adopted. We in a sense fall heir to them. They lie about us from our very infancy, and as soon as we are able to think, they are recommended to us by those whom we naturally respect. In this way it is not to be denied that we are apt to creep into them with only two little inquiry. But on the other hand, are the great majority of doubts not equally weak at the root and held with infinitely more self complacency, not to say conceit? Search faith for its foundations, and in too many cases we dare say they will be found loose and flimsy enough; but subject doubt to a like scrutiny—strip it of all the mystical generalities it seeks to clothe itself in, and the pensive, practical sadness it so frequently affects—and in all, but the rare exceptions, you will find that it is neither more nor less than our old friend Sir Oracle in a new disguise.—Bickersteth.

Mr. Moody's Power.

The Edinburgh Daily Review, a secular paper, thus indicates its view of the elements of Mr. Moody's power:

"He is not a man of much education or culture; his manner is abrupt and blunt; his speech bristles with Americanisms; his voice is sharp, rapid, and colloquial; and he never attempts anything like finished or elaborate composition. But he is in downright earnest. He believes what he says; he says it as if he believed it, and he expects his audience to believe it. He gets wonderfully near to his hearers, without any apparent effort. Whatever size the audience may be, he is at home with them at once, and he makes them feel that they are at home with him. He is gifted with a rare sagacity, an insight into the human heart, a knowledge of what is stirring in it, and of what is fitted to impress it. He has in his possession a large number of incidents and experiences well fitted to throw light on the points he employs them to elucidate, and to clench the appeals which he uses them to enforce. In addition to all this, he has a deeply pathetic vein, which enables him to plead very earnestly at the very citadel of the heart. At first his tone may seem to be hard. He will take for his text, "There is no difference," and press the doctrine of universal condemnation as if the worst and the best were precisely alike. Possibly the antagonism of his audience is some what aroused. But by and by he will take them with him to some affecting death bed, and his tone will show how profoundly his own heart is stirred by what is happening there. The vein of pathos comes out tenderly and beautifully. He seems as if he were lying on the ground pleading in tears with his hearers to come to Christ. But, most important of all, he seems to rely for effect absolutely on divine power. Of course every true preacher does, but in very different degrees of conscious trust and expectation. Mr. Moody goes to his meetings fully expecting the divine presence, because he has asked it. He speaks with the fearlessness, the boldness, and the directness of one delivering a message from the King of kings and Lord of lords. And he takes pains to have his own heart in the spirit of the message. He tries to go to his audience loving them, and actively and fervently longing for their salvation. He says that if he does not try to stir up this spirit of love beforehand he cannot get hold of an audience; if he never fails. He endeavors to address them with a soul steeped in the corresponding emotion. He seems to try, like Baxter, never to speak of weighty soul concerns without his whole spirit being drenched therein."

Another Aspect of Cremation.

Since the days of Lord Bacon, the human mind has been continually endeavoring to utilize the various substances of this material world. In the pursuits after fruits, investigation has known no bounds. Whatever might be turned to a new account, has been seized on with avidity and appropriated to the new use. Indeed utilitarianism has so increased with the growing needs of life that the spirit of the age now seeks to render every material thing conducive to some practical end. The argument is, shall aught exist in vain? Rather burn, and utilize the original elements.—And thus it happens that the advanced disciples of Bacon hesitate not to invade the sacred precincts of human sorrow and claim our dead from the embrace of the emblematic grave.

Why bury, when one may burn, and by burning, create an ash, rich in all the constituents of a commercial fertilizer? Who could thus deny to the utilitarian the rare comfort of creating a good and valuable manure out of a quondam friend—a poor cousin—or perhaps a mother in-law? For our part when we consider that some fertilizing compounds are peculiarly adapted to the growth of certain plants, we have half a mind to advocate cremation, that we may accomplish a selfish purpose. In our garden is a favorite crab-tree that now languishes for want of a proper stimulant, but could we become possessed of the ashes of certain persons having a crabbed and sour disposition whom we now have in our eye, we think our decaying favorite would soon flourish as a green bay tree. Pursuing the idea further, we imagine that a neighboring minister might well serve here after to enrich our bed of herbs since he always looks sage and invariably discourses on time.

Again it might not be inappropriate to convert the incinerated remains of modest damsels into lovely violets and sweet mignonnettes; while some who have been wall flowers in life might well reappear as the fragrant heliotrope or the prized lily of the valley. But as a species of poetic justice, we insist that a certain lady of fashion who is noted for her caustic tongue and ungentle temper should hereafter be transmuted bell-peppers and be carefully pickled with the choicest spices.

However when the worst comes and cremation proves a practical reality, we shall not fail to advocate a law forbidding any chemist to analyze our cremative remains, so that our children may never know of what poor stuff their fathers were made.—Raleigh Crescent.

Depravity.

When asked if I believe in total depravity, my reply is: I believe men are sinful; that they need a change of heart and a new creation in Christ Jesus But I do not say of him that he is totally depraved. There is not an essential element or faculty of our being that in itself is wrong. Anger, intrinsically and of itself, is right: so are cambativeness, love for our fellow men, the imagination, and every moral power. It is in building up our personality and forming characters that the failures of life appear. An artist takes his palette to make a picture. All the pigments are genuine, but in undertaking to make a picture, to bring out foreground, middle-ground and distance, to have atmosphere, light and life, he fails utterly. The difficulty is not with the pigments, but in the unskilful combination and use of them. The alphabet is all right. There is not an immoral letter in it. Yet what nasty books have been written. Music is all right, yet it has been used to cater to the basest passions. By faulty combination men build characters which are fit neither for spiritual life here nor for communion with God hereafter.—Beecher.

The true Christian is neither afraid of dying nor living; he desires to go to heaven to see Christ, yet he is willing to stay upon earth to serve Christ.

The Architect's Name.

A certain architect had to build a temple; it was to be large and splendid, and the architect was very anxious that it should be known in after ages that he had planned and built it. But he was not allowed by the king who employed him to write his name upon any part of it. After much thought, therefore, he so cleverly arranged it, that the building itself should, in a hundred different ways, take the form of the letters of which his name was made up. No one perhaps, on just walking in, would notice any more than the walls and pillars, the figures upon the ceiling, or the lines upon the variously-colored floor. But after a time, as he looked attentively, the shapes of letters would appear: some large and stretching all across the building; others very small but all so placed together as to spell the same word; and it would not be long before—above, below, and all around—he would read, whichever way he turned his eye, the name of the architect of this temple.

Now we have been walking through a grand and beautiful temple—the temple of God's Word. I have tried to show you a few of its wonders, and to point out to you ways by which you may hereafter find out many more And, before quite finishing, I want to direct you to the name which, to all who know how to look for it, will appear written in different ways all over the glorious building. As in the story I have told you, it is the name of him who planned and raised it—the name of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.—Dr. Green's Lectures on the Bible.

A Sunbeam.

The greatest of physical paradoxes is the sunbeam. It is the most potent and versatile force we have, and yet it behaves itself like the gentlest and most accommodating. Nothing can fall more silently upon the earth than the rays of our great luminary—not even the feathery flakes of snow which thread their way through the atmosphere as if they were too flimsy to yield to the demands of gravity like grosser things. The most delicate slip of gold leaf, exposed as a target to the sun's shafts, is not stirred to the extent of a hair, though an infant's faintest breath would set it in tremulous motion. The tenderest of human organs—the apple of the eye—though pierced and buffeted each day by thousands of sunbeams, suffers no pain during the process, but rejoices in their sweetness, blesses the useful light. Yet a few of those rays insinuating themselves into a mass of iron, like the Britannia Tubular Bridge, will compel the closely-knit particles to separate, and will move the whole enormous fabric with as much ease as a giant would a straw. The play of those beams upon our sheets of water lifts up layer after layer into the atmosphere, and hoists whole rivers from their beds, only to drop them again in snows upon the hills or in fattening showers upon the plants.—Let but the air drink in a little more sunshine at one place than another, and it desolates a whole region in its lunatic wrath. The marvel is that a power which is capable of assuming such a diversity of forms, and of producing such stupendous results, should come to us in so gentle, so peaceful and so unpretentious a manner.—BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW.

Buddhism Testimony of an Eye-Witness.

Bishop Claughton is always ready to do good service. He gave on the evening of Monday last an interesting lecture on "Buddhism" in the rooms of the Victoria Institute. After a full and exhaustive account of this ancient system, in which he showed that Buddhism had no belief in God for its foundation; no worship to offer to its adherents as the expression of such a belief; no morality, and no future beyond a few vague fears of possible suffering in a subsequent life, to escape from which was its highest good, Bishop Claughton said: "Such is the system of which only a few weeks ago one who knows Buddhism from books spoke as if it might vie with our own Christianity in excellence If he had lived among its followers as I have done—if he had observed the way in which a national religion shows its effect upon a people, that is, in making better those who follow it the most sincerely—he would have, I venture to say, come to a very different conclusion from that to which he seems to have come; and certainly, if he had known the priests of this religion as I have done, in friendly intercourse and quiet converse, and heard them calmly express their indifference as to the wide extension of their principles, or the success of Christianity itself as a possible event, he would not have ventured to say of Buddhism that it was a missionary religion seeking to propagate itself by extension like ours, which bids us 'go into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature.'"—ENGLISH CHURCHMAN.

Abandoned.

We have seldom read anything in the confessions of modern or ancient unbelievers more appalling than these two sentences from the last work of the late David Friedrich Strauss, on "The Old Faith and the New" After announcing his utter loss of Faith in God, he says: "In the enormous machine of the universe, amid the incessant whirl and hiss of its jagged iron wheels, amid the deafening crash of its ponderous stamps and hammers, in the midst of this terrific commotion, man, a helpless, a defenseless creature, finds himself placed, not secure for a moment that on an imprudent motion a wheel may not seize and rend him, or a hammer crush him to a powder. This sense of abandonment is at first something awful!"

And this is all that atheism has to offer a man who deliberately gives up his belief in a personal God, and believes only in a machine which he can neither control nor escape. "Without God and without hope in the world," poor John Stuart Mill worshipped his dead wife's "memory," while he wept over her grave, from which he saw no gleam of a resurrection, and beyond it no dawn of the better life.—And the German, Strauss found himself "a new faith" only in that blank materialism which filled him with an awful sense of abandonment The "old faith" of David and of Martin Luther, as expressed in the forty-sixth Psalm, and the "old faith" of Paul, in the closing verses of the eighth chapter of the Epistle to the Romans, and in that splendid argument for the resurrection of the dead in the First Epistle to the Corinthians, leaves no place for such horrible experiences as these apostles of the "new faith" have voluntarily confessed.—Christian Intelligencer.

Christian Life.

LITTLE DUTIES.—Whatever is duty is great, and to trifle with duty because it seems small, is to put ourselves in the place of God, and to become a law unto ourselves.

He who will not do little things can not do great things, and, in the judgment of God, does nothing at all. He is a rebel all the while, from beginning to end. Why? Because he is destitute of the very principle of obedience. All true actions are but different branches from one and the same root, and the man who has that root in him—respect for the will and authority of God—will endeavor to do all his duties; he who has it not can do none.

My impression is that one of the greatest services which could be rendered to the cause of Christ is the elevation of Christian, and especially of ministerial character. I see plainly that few christians are as happy in Christ, and as faithful as they might be.

JAS. HAMILTON.

THE GREAT CHANGE.—Conversion is the most glorious work of God. The The creation of the sun is a very glorifying work—when God first rolls Him along the sky, scattering out golden blessings on every shore. The change in spring is very wonderful—when God makes the faded grass revive, the dead trees put out green leaves and the flowers appear on the earth. But far more glorious and wonderful is the conversion of the soul! It is the creation of a sun that is to shine for eternity; it is the spring of the soul that knows no winter—the planting of a tree that shall bloom with eternal beauty in the paradise of God!

MCCHEYNE.

The prayers of God's elect restrain many a vial of wrath, and happy is the place where faithful believers reside; they are of greater service than walls of brass and ramparts of rock.

FAMILY WORSHIP.—It was a saying of the late Rev. Dr. John M. Mason that a house without family worship, had neither a foundation nor a covering.

Seed Thoughts.

The smallest dew drop on the meadow at night has a star sleeping in its bosom, and the most insignificant passage of Scripture has in it a shining truth!

The husks of emptiness rustle in every wind, the full corn in the ear holds up its golden fruit to the Lord of the harvests; a good man's faith is manifested by his labors, standing not in words but in the demonstration of the spirit.

Divine Providence afforded Israel a daily supply of manna for the subsistence of the body, and divine grace will, and does, grant daily competency of spiritual food to sustain and strengthen, and promote the growth of spiritual life in the godly man.

The deepest, and most desirable, and most permanent joy is not where the laughter and song are loudest. They are ripples, eddies, on the surface of joy, showing its shallowness, not its depth. We are always pensive and thoughtful when we are most happy.

The Christian Advocate

OFFICE—Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

FOR ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE.	$2.0
SIX MONTHS,	125
If payment be delayed six months,	2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C. MAY 13, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

Preparing for Battle.

Since the time when Dr. Pusey, John Henry Newman and their coadjutors at Oxford began their Tract warfare in favor of Anglo-Catholicism and in opposition to the Evangelicals, the High Church party has been gradually increasing in numbers, in the boldness of their assaults, and in an open defiance of the usages, prejudices and sanctities of the Reformers. Each year has witnessed a greater departure from the purity and simplicity of Christian doctrine and practice as held by the illustrious men whose learning, ability and devotion threw a halo around the Protestant Episcopal Church in England in the early years of its history. Each year has revealed a deeper purpose and a more thorough gravitation towards Romanistic dogma and practice on the part of the advocates and exponents of that hybrid religion known and described as Anglo-Catholicism—a sort of cross between Romanism in essence and Protestantism in dilution. Gradually the influence has spread in the United States, until now the Ritualists have grown so dominant that they threaten to swallow the Evangelicals or Low Church party that has gradually diminished both in numerical strength and vigor. If the latter party had taken a bold and uncompromising stand against the encroachments of error ten years ago, they would not find themselves to day so reduced in influence and imperilled as to their safety.

Perhaps it is not too late to win a victory for the cause of truth and orthodox faith and practice. That a battle must be delivered seems now highly imminent. The Romanizing tendencies in that Church must be arrested soon, or sacerdotalism and ritualistic formality will win the day, and the rather small party who still cling to the teachings of Hooker and Jewell, Chillingworth and Stillingfleet will be overthrown and scattered to the four winds. We incline to the opinion that the Cummins movement—an earnest protest against Sacramental grace and Romanistic dogmas in the church—may precipitate the conflict. There are many conscientious, devout and intelligent clergymen who, greatly attached to their church, are awaiting in anxiety and pain to see what can be done by fighting Ritualism in the church. It is not improbable that the next General Convention will decide whether the Protestant Episcopal Church in America is to remain one and indivisible, or to be broken in twain, and out of it come two bodies still clinging to the forms of Episcopacy, but hostile to each other in sentiment, principle and doctrine.

We copied a few weeks ago what the Alexandria (Virginia) Churchman had to say about certain reforms that would be demanded by the Evangelicals. We have recently met with some utterances from a Northern Episcopal paper that are certainly very significant. We have not room for the entire article, but we copy a few "specimen bricks" that our readers may judge of the charactor of the edifice to which they belong.

The Standard of the Cross admits that there must be "reformation"—that the church is in a "serious and critical condition," and that even the Prayer Book must be revised that the Ritualistic interpretations may be got rid of. We quote:

"Ritualism is a deadly, worldly system, just as impossible in the pure Church of Christ as a monarchy within a republic. Bishops, through pastorals, have warned the church against these men and their measures, conventions have discussed, clergymen have preached about the great evil, parishes have been divided on account of it; yet, in spite of pastorals and sermons, Ritualism has grown, and its apostles will stand up to plead for it in the next General Convention, more bravely and more confidently than ever.

* * * * * * * * *

We have had enough on paper, let us have now something in the way of sharp, clear action. The gentle touch of the velvet glove has not worked, let us have now the crushing of the iron hand.

* * * * * * * * *

We have no plans, no prophecies, no threats for the future; we only say that if we are to go on as the Church of God should go on, winning for Christ and heaven, we have now before us a hard, bitter strife with a strong, well-equipped enemy. Are we willing, ready, eager, to go up to the battle?"

Referring to the probable necessity of revising the Prayer Book, it says:

"There are many things worse than rovision. Standing still and seeing the triumphs of Sacramentarianism is worse. Confessionals in our churches, idolatries at our altars, Romanism in our pulpits, are worse. Because the sainted dead who used the old book, and found its system helpful to them on their heavenward journey, did not raise the cry of rovision—or because, on the same principle, the Word of God also should be revised, both of these arguments are too weak and childish to answer. We have a hard, long work before us to free the Church's faith from its present entanglement with Romish error. If, in the performance of that work, we find obstacles in the Book of Common Prayer, we shall neither be true to God or to ancient practices if we do not willingly, gladly, immediately, remove those obstacles."

Every one who really antagonizes with Rome and would avoid its deadly Upas shade, must wish well to any and all efforts that may tend to the purifying and evangelizing of the Episcopal church God speed the Evangelicals, say we, and may the mysticisms of Tractarianism and the baleful stupefactions of Sacramentarianism be rooted out completely and forever, and may the Church of the Reformers, thus restored and strengthened, go forth against sin and Satan conquering and to conquer.

Out With the Names.

Rev. C. Durham, pastor of the Baptist Church at Goldsboro', in the "Biblical Recorder" of 19th ult., charged that Rev. J. E. Mann, preacher in charge of the Methodist Episcopal Church at that place, had preached a sermon on the "Importance of open Communion," in which he said among other things that Roger Williams "was a sorry fellow," and that "the Baptists are very ignorant, and are religiously dishonest." Rev. Mr. Durham further stated "that twelve of the members of the Methodist Church had joined the Baptist Church" in that place.

Bro. Mann addressed a private note to Mr. Durham in which he denied emphatically that he had in any way reflected upon either Roger Williams or the Baptists, stating that he had the sermon in manuscript, which he had preached verbatim, and calling upon Mr. Durham to correct his statement. He also stated that he had the record of the membership of his church for the last eight or ten years, and that if twelve of the number or any number approaching it, had joined the Baptist church, that neither he nor his members know it. He then respectfully asks for the names of the twelve.

Mr. Durham agrees to make all corrections due Mr. Mann and his members through the "Biblical Recorder." Accordingly he writes another letter in which he attempts to be facetious and sarcastic, but neither corrects the misrepresentation of Bro. Mann, nor gives THE NAMES as requested. He contents himself with perverting and misapplying Bro. Mann's language, and by saying there were fourteen Methodists of Goldsboro who joined his church, instead of twelve, as first stated.

Rev. Mr. Durham had stated in a note to Bro. Mann that he would be found equal to the "responsibilities of the occasion," and the way he accomplishes it is threefold:

1. He makes a false charge against a brother minister which he fails "to correct" as promised. 2. He perverts (ignorantly doubtless) the language and intent of an opponent by applying his inquiry to one point, whilst in fact it clearly and unmistakably refers to another matter altogether. 3. He fails to give THE NAMES when asked for, although he has "the list" in his possession according to his own statement.

Why not give the names Rev. Mr. Durham? You have them—out with them. Bro. Mann is ignorant of them—they are not on his list. You have made the issue—do not dodge. You have been floored in regard to the charge you brought against Bro. Mann. Bring out the FOURTEEN members of the Goldsboro Methodist Church who have united with your Church, or you will be floored in your other statement. So out with the names.

The Power of Song.

Our readers are already familiar with some of the facts attending the great religious awakening in Scotland. Our two American missionaries, Messrs. Moody and Sankey are the instruments. The former preaches and the latter sings, and very remarkable singing it must be. It seems to have fairly stirred to their very depths the hearts of the passive and somewhat stolid Scotch people, and given them an insight into the power of song that they have never had before. In that country they know but little of that sort of singing that was once the glory of Methodism—fervent, earnest, spiritual singing that came up from the heart and went forth in melody that stirred and vibrated like a trumpet calling to battle. Alas! that we have to refer to such singing as of the past. Is Henry Ward Beecher so far in error when he says that Methodism is being shorn of much of its power because it has lost to a great extent its power in spiritual singing? Let older and wiser heads than ours answer.

We confess to no little interest in the success of Mr. Sankey in Scotland, for all the accounts we have met with, save one, attest the wonderful effectiveness of his singing. We have desired to learn something of its peculiar merit, and have met with an interesting account, a portion of which we will here re-produce. The London Methodist Recorder, giving an account of his visit to that vast city, says that his audiences have been immense. It remarks, and we invite special attention to what it says:

The charm and power of Mr. Sankey's singing are its intense earnestness, and the clear, plain, simple enunciation of every word sung. It is manifest to every one that he feels intensely the truth he is singing, and that he is determined that every one shall hear it and feel it also. He comes with a divine message to his audience, and sets himself to make it known to every one and to be realized by all; hence the deep impression produced by his singing. What he sings is nothing new to us, but how he sings it is very new indeed. His songs are simple. The subject is the old, old story. The words are plain and pleasant, but nothing extraordinary; often to be compared to those of our well-known psalms and hymns. The music is pleasant, but little more: a small portion of it has any claim to originality. Much of it is so Scottish and Irish in its construction that, to our people familiar with such music, it is sometimes difficult to realize that what we hear is sacred song. It takes us by surprise to hear gospel truth wafted in the strains of our national music, but it is not possible that this may be the true though unexpected reasons why these simple songs have found such a direct and wonderful entrance to the Scottish heart? Mr. Sankey has a fine, soft baritone voice, well trained, and over which he has complete mastery—the organ he uses as a mere accessory. His singing has not the least pretension to be artistic, nothing can be more plain and natural. The music with him is a secondary matter: the words are of the first importance. He sings the words and brings out their full meaning and expression. The music is made subservient, and in time and accent is constantly varied, so as to fit the words. What a contrast to what we usually hear in our churches. Our leaders and our choirs too often do their best to sing the music, but treat the words as if they were of little or no consequence. We do not go to church to hear music, but to offer a service of praise. Music is not praise, but only the means by which praise is expressed. To the great shame of our churches this, the chief end of praise, has been almost entirely overlooked.

The General Conference.

The seventh General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South met in Louisville, Ky., on Friday May 1st, 1874.

All the Bishops present except Bishop Doggett. The venerable and eminent Dr. Lovick Pierce, aged 90, was present in seeming good health. Bishop Paine, as senior Bishop, presides.

The Conference opened with the singing of a hymn, which was followed by an earnest prayer by Bishop Marvin, asking that the blessing of heaven might rest upon the Conference and its work, and that good might come of all that should be done by it. Bishop Wightman then read a Psalm, after which Bishop McTyeire read the twelfth chapter of the Epistle to the Romans. This was followed by the singing of the hymn commencing, "O Thou who camest from above." The preliminary exercises were concluded with a fervent prayer by Rev. Dr. Hamilton, of Mobile.

A large number of delegates answered to their names. From North Carolina—Clerical—B. Craven, W. H. Bobbitt, W. S. Black, N. H. D. Wilson, L. S. Burkhead, S. D. Adams. Lay.—T. M. Jones, F. C. Robbins, and T. C. Smith.

Dr. T. O. Summers, of Alabama Conference was chosen Secretary, and Jno. S. Martin, A. G. Haygood, and F. M. Kennedy, Assistant Secretaries.

The Conference meets from 9 to 12½ P. M.

The Committees were then ordered. Dr Craven is on the committee on Episcopacy, N. H. D. Wilson on Itinerancy, S. D. Adams on Boundaries, Dr. Burkhead on Missions, T. C. Smith on Sunday Schools, Dr. Jones on Education, W. S. Black on Books and Periodicals, W. H. Bobbitt on Revisals and F. C. Robbins on Finance.

SECOND DAY.

E. J. Lilley and J. W. Hays, lay delegates from N. C. reported.

The Rules of 1870 were adopted, and two amendments added.

An address from the Wesleyan Methodist Conference of Great Britain was introduced by Bishop Paine, read and referred to a committee of seven.

An exhibit of operations of the Nashville Publishing House for the past four years was then submitted. It shows a balance in favor of the House of $314,037.11, it being a net gain of $37,920.78 over 1873, and a gain in four years of $125,683.76.

The Missionary Secretary made his report, which was referred.

Among those appointed to preach on Sunday, were the following from the North Carolina Conference, viz: N. H. D. Wilson, B. Craven, W. H. Bobbitt.

PICNIC EXCURSION.—The teachers and scholars of the Sunday Schools of the Edenton and Person street Methodist Episcopal Churches had an excursion to Kittrell Springs on Thursday last. The day was pleasant and all enjoyed themselves. Brief speeches were made by Revs. A. W. Mangum and H. P. Cole. Some six or seven hundred persons participated in the pleasures of the day.

A CHANGE.—After 1st July, the Christian Age, now a monthly, will be changed to a sixteen page weekly. Rev. Dr. Deems will continue as editor. We wish the Doctor and the Publishers great success. Price $3 a year. Address, United States Publishing Company for the Christian Age, 13 University Place, New York.

A Good Example.

The ADVOCATE has many friends in North Carolina. It rejoiceth to know that it numbers among its friends many industrious workers in its behalf. No doubt even they could do more for us by a little additional exertion. Certain are we that many who read the ADVOCATE weekly, specially among the ministry, could help us no little if they would only try. Suppose brethren, friends, you resolve to send us five new subscribers each, at once. Just make the effort. Read the following and see what one earnest friend did for his paper:

"A doctor of divinity writes to the Presbyterian that he once spoke from the pulpit with all possible urgency to induce his flock to subscribe for a church paper, and designated the person to whom the names of subscribers might be given during the week. Only three or four responses came in to this appeal. The next Sabbath he announced his intention to visit every family and talk with them about the matter. "It was rough, cold weather in February; the roads were hard frozen, with snow in drifts; and bleak piercing winds were blowing." But he kept his promise, and secured a hundred and ten subscribers. One old lady said to him: "When you only speak to us from the pulpit, we can do as we like, but when you come at us in our houses, there's no getting away from you."

Editorial Marginalia.

1. Did it ever occur to the reader how remarkable it is that the greatest and most impressive books of the Bible were written by men of the grandest intellectual development? So it is. What are the most imposing and instructive portions of the Old Testament, and who wrote its most splendid and sublimest poetry?—Will not the answer be the greatest of the authors. Probably Moses, David, Solomon, Isaiah, and Ezekiel would rise to the lips, and were they not great men according to the standard by which we try the great men of the world. In any age and country, aside from any inspiration, they would have been colossal men—first among the foremost. And so with Paul and John in the New Testament. They were all homines eminentissimi—men of genius and power.

2. In order to preserve it we copy the following heavy bill of indictment against strong drink:

Pimple maker, visage bloater,
Reddy corrupter, idler's mate,
Mischief breeder, vice promoter
Credit spoiler, devil's bait,
Alms house builder, pauper maker,
Truth betrayer, sorrow's source,
Pocket emptier, Sabbath breaker,
Conscience stifler, guilt's resource.

3. But few sceptics have ever ascended the "highest heaven of invention." Byron and Shelley were very wonderful poets, and they were sceptical if not atheistical. The greatest efforts of the imagination can only be made, if we except a few passages from a very few authors, when faith is wedded to song. Indeed the sublimest imagery seems only the natural garb of faith. An eloquent writer in the last number of Blackwood says:

"Poetry can find no more than a partial and passing attraction in anything that is doubtful; she is at best but a stranger and a pilgrim in the debatable land. Her final election and abiding home is faith; She clings to faith as a child to a mother, and will not be shaken off, as plainly as if she had declared, once for all, 'thy God shall be my God, and thy people my people.'"

4. Theodore Parker was a man of genius and very rare eloquence, but he wandered far from the "old paths" of Christian orthodoxy, turned his back upon God, refused salvation through the Crucified one, and found himself at last amid the shallows and quicksands of infidelity. He was a very gifted mortal—full of culture, full of knowledge, but fed upon the husks of doubt, and his soul withered under its blighting curse. This nineteenth century that has witnessed such splendid manifestations of genius and piety, in both of which it is unsurpassed, has also been singularly prolific in the production of all manner of isms that are as deadening to the spirit as mephitic exhalations are to human life. Never before was there so much ability, zeal, activity and learning arrayed on the side of untruth; never before were the opponents of Bible Christianity so united, so determined, so insidious and intelligent in the mode of attack; and never was there greater need of combination, resoluteness, a full scholarship and wise direction on the part of the defenders of the faith once delivered to the saints. We are reminded of this by the announcement of the Life of Parker by a blind disciple, O. B. Frothingham. It will not do harm as it carries its own antidote.

DEATH OF MRS. WORTH.—This pious and excellent lady, widow of the late Governor Jonathan Worth, died a few days ago. Her remains were brought to Raleigh and on Thursday afternoon were committed to the grave, by the side of her husband. Rev. Joseph M Atkinson of the Presbyterian Church, preached the funeral sermon. The pall bearers were Judge W. H. Battle, Jesse Brown, W. N. H. Smith, W. H. H. Tucker, A. M. McPheeters, John G. Williams, and Philip A. Wiley.

We are requested to state that delegates and all persons attending the meeting of the N. C. Conference Sunday School Society, which convenes in this city on the 14th inst,, will be passed over the various railroads for one full fare coming and returning.

Parties.

Every good man who has thought much has deplored the tendency of parties in the United States. Men of depraved morals have been so often elected over honorable and virtuous competitors, that it has almost seemed impossible that any but unscrupulous trimmers and party hacks should hold office. The result is seen in wide-spread corruption and social gangrene. The money of the people is squandered, and the good name of the country is brought under reproach. Until the moral and religious people of the land shall resolve to support for office none but men of high character for honesty, sobriety and virtue, politics must remain anything else but a science, and the American name must continue to be a synonymin Europe for corruption and pretention. We are glad to see the religious press in the North beginning to awaken on this subject. It is a healthful sign. The New York Methodist has a well considered article upon political demoralization. The following paragraph is pertinent, so we copy it:

The government and people were not made to be tools of parties, but parties were made to be the instruments through which the people may exercise the functions of government. They are instituted primarily to carry out some great lines of policy. So far as the policies they represent are prominent, and the parties are true to them, they are entitled to support and adhesion; no further. They have no reason to hold themselves up after their particular questions have gone out. They can serve no useful purpose, and can tend only to corruption and deterioration. Both our parties to-day are busied in making money out of office, in keeping in office, and in trying to get in office.

To the Trustees of Davenport College.

According to a resolution of the Board of Trustees of D. F. College at their last meeting, the Annual meeting of the Board will take place in the College Laboratory on Wednesday 27th May, at 3 P. M.

It is earnestly desired that every member be represented either in person or by proxy.

Members who expect to attend will please inform me immediately.

THE TRUSTEES ARE,

Hon. J. C. Harper, Pres., Dr. A. A. Scroggs, Secretary, Prof. J. S. Midyette, Rev. G. H. Round, Rev. W. M. Robey, E. W. Jones, Azor Shell, Rev. E. W. Thompson, Rev. P. L. Herman, N. H. Gwyn, Dr. J. H. Gilkey, J. W. Gidney, M. O. Sherrill, M. L. Holmes, Dr. T. J. Smith, W. O. Smith, J. A. Claywell, Rev. J. M. Watson, H. M. Bowden, Rev. M. L. Wood, Rev. W. S. Black, Rev. W. P. Williams, P. G. Moore, and Dr. J. P. Newland.

W. M. ROBEY.

LENOIR, N. C.

A Collection Needed.

DEAR BRO. BOBBITT: Please say through the ADVOCATE to the Preachers who have not reported their collections to meet the expenses of the Delegates to the General Conference, that the sum reported is insufficient. They will much oblige us by taking the collection as directed by the Conference and sending to my address at Greensboro', so that I may reimburse each delegate to such amount as he may pay out of his own private funds.

Yours truly,
N. H. D. WILSON,
Treasurer Delegates.

Louisville, Ky., May 2nd, 1874.

Washington District Conference.

I am requested to announce that ministers, delegates and visitors to the Washington District Conference, (which convenes at Amity, Mattamuskeet circuit, May 22nd) will be carried by Capt. Lupis on his vessel from Washington to Hyde and return for $2; he will leave Washington on Wednesday morning the 20th. The steamer Cotton Plant leaves Tarboro' for Washington Tuesday morning 6 o'clock; arrives at W. same day 4 P. M.

A. R. RAVEN.

May 7th, 1874.

CORRECTION.—It is due to the editor of the Spirit of the Age to state, that he is not the author of the article that appeared in his paper on the sacramental substitute referred to by us in the last two numbers of the Advocate. It was a slip cut from another paper, and in his absence was inserted without credit in the editorial columns of his paper.

Commencements.

We learn that Rev. Paul J. Carraway, will preach the Annual Sermon at the Commencement of Davenport Female College.

Rev. C. F. Deems, D. D., will deliver the Annual Address at the Commencement of Greensboro' Female College, in June next.

Bishop Keener will preach the Annual Sermon at the Commencement of Trinity College in June.

Rev. Charles Phillips, D. D., Professor of Mathematics in Davidson College, will preach the sermon before the graduating class of Trinity College.

C. F. Ciler in charge of Union Springs Academy, writes May 1st:

Rev. H. F. Wiley is well received on this circuit. His sermons are powerful, and fill the soul: while his presence in the family is quite a treat. We love him, because he is a man of God: talks plainly to us, and urges us to do right. His lady is all that a minister's wife can be.

ERRATUM.—In the article by Rev. Dr. Hooper, copied from the Biblical Recorder, for a postiori read a fortiori.

Religious Brevities.

— The christian Chinese in San Francisco recently began to hold a prayer meeting of their own, which is well sustained, as many as eighty having sometimes been present.

— Rev. R. A. Young received a subscription of $23,000 in aid of the Vanderbilt University during a recent visit to Memphis, Tennessee.

— Grace Church, Newark, N. J., is in trouble because of the ritualistic tendencies of its rector, the Rev. Mr. Harrison. The membership is divided into two parties, one of which has appealed to the Bishop for protection. Meantime, a movement is on foot for the establishment of a "Reformed Episcopal church" in Newark.

— It is said that the Congregationalist statistics of 1873 show 13 per cent of the members to be "absent," that is 42,660 out of 323,679. There is in this fact an indication of very loose practice.

— Two important Baptist churches in Brooklyn—the First and Pierrepont Street—united last week by a vote of exactly two thirds majority, the opposition being the First, and growing out of the Open Communion question! Possibly the end is not yet, at all events the Liberal Baptist army is steadily receiving its ranks.

— The Brazil Government seems to be very much in earnest in its contest with the Roman Catholic Church. Besides the conviction of the Bishop of Pernambuco, the Bishop of Olinda has been arrested, and the Archbishop of Bahia has formally protested against the act. The bitter warfare between church and State appears to have its origin in the efforts of the clergy to suppress and put under ban the order of Free Masons.

— At Christ Reformed Episcopal church, Chicago, on Easter Sunday, Bishop Cheney administered confirmation to 14 persons. The Easter offerings amounted to $10,000. Bishop Cheney visited Emanuel church, Chicago, on Easter Sunday, and confirmed 12 persons—The first communion service of the Reformed Episcopal Church at Ottawa, Canada, was participated in by 60 communicants, 50 of whom were until recently communicants in the Church of England.

— Bishop Cummins' new church society, worshipping every Sabbath in Steinway and Lyric Halls, have called to their pastorate Mr. Bears, of the Reformed Dutch Church, the Bishop having resigned his rectorship.

— Since the 1st of January 80 persons have been added to the membership of Christ church, Chicago, 20 by letter, mostly from Protestant Episcopal churches, 60 by profession of faith in confirmation.

—"The Etiquette of the Lord's Table" is one of the subjects most discussed lately in the Episcopal papers.

— Bishop Wiley of the Methodist Church recently said to his brother ministers in New Jersey: "Preachers should not divide their time between life-insurance, real estate, cranberry patches and the salvation of men."

— He also spoke against undue familiarity in pastoral visits, and was emphatic against kissing any person, even a child, outside of their own families.

— THE Anglican Bishop of Ontario, Canada, has formally excommunicated Rev. . B. Stacey, of Ottawa, for participating in the Reform Church movement.

— SINCE the establishment of the American Congregational Union, 827 houses of worship have been undertaken and completed. The total number of congregations out of New England now exceeds the number in it by 341.

— WESLEY once wrote to one of his preachers: "I am glad you have taken in hand that blessed work of setting up Sunday schools. It seems that these should be one great means of reviving religion throughout the nation. I wonder satan has not yet sent out some able champion against them."

— A SCOTCH paper thinks the effort of the American Presbyterians to occupy Teheran, Persia, as a mission station will be an important movement toward the evangelization of Central Asia. It says there is no station in Persia, west of Teheran, nearer than Tabreez, and none to the eastward nearer than India, and Teheran "is the only tenable ground for missionary labor designed to reach either Eastern Persia or the Tartars of Toorkestan." The city has a population of 130,000, of whom 100 are Europeans, 2,000 Jews and 1,000 Armenians.

— A RECENT incident at Calcutta shows how strong the hold of Hindooism still is, even upon the more intelligent natives. The distinguished pleader, Baboo Kali Mohun Doss, paid a penance of 10,000 rupees to be readmitted to his caste. The ceremony cost one-half of the sum.

IN A newly issued charge Bishop Wordsworth has delivered a scathing denunciation of simony, which he affirms to be increasing in the church. From the Ecclesiastical Gazette he cites specimens of its advertisments to show the unholy "traffic in spiritual things" systematically is conducted.

— IT IS stated that the Waldensian missionary churches of Italy are to be reorganized on a Presbyterian basis. There are thirty eight of them, mainly supported from England, at an annual cost of $40,000. The Free Church of Italy is nearly as large while the Wesleyan Missionary Society has fourteen under its charge.

Personal.

Mr. Henry Ward Beecher has declined to accept a six months' leave of absence voted to him by the vestry of Plymouth Church.

Prof. John Phelps, the celebrated geologist of London, is dead.

Lord Oxmonton, an English Peer, was just one year old the 15th of last month. No member of the house of Peers has led a more blameless and consistent life than Lord Oxmonton.

Colonel William Harvey Sellers of the once famed fifth Texas regiment of the Confederate service, died at Galveston, Texas, April 8, aged 47. At the second battle of Manassas he commanded the left wing of Hood's division.

A Methodist minister, an Episcopalian minister, two Congregationalists, a Presbyterian and a Baptist sat in one pew at a Baptist church in Boston.

The fund for the Agassiz memorial now amounts to $96,552.

Gen. McCook has been confirmed as Governor of Colorado.

Gen. Wolseley has been voted a grant of £25,000 by the House of Commons.

Joseph H. Shortsleeves, of Burlington, Vt., aged 107 years, walks to Church regularly without assistance.

Mr. Sartoris, who is to marry Miss Nellie Grant in May, owns a farm in Wisconsin which he superintended until the death of his elder brother made him heir to the English estate.

R. M. T. Hunter has once more entered into public life, in the capacity of State Treasurer of Virginia. In ante bellum times he figured quite prominently in the United States Senate.

The Rev. Abner Jackson, D. D., President of Trinity College, Hartford, is dead.

"I was a boy at Braddock's defeat in 1755," says Jean Revore, of Bracken county, Ky. This beats Count Waldeck and Captain Lahrbush; in fact, Revore is thought to be full 130 years old, and the oldest man in the civilized world.

Gen. Frank P. Blair has joined a Presbyterian church in St. Louis.

Mr. J. T. Clark, the richest man in Australia, died recently, aged seventy-three years. He owned more than one hundred thousand acres of land, and was worth between $10,000,000 and $16,000,000.

It is said that an ex-English officer, who once out-ranked Sir Garnet Wolseley in his own regiment, is now a reporter on a New York evening paper.

The dowager Dutchess of Leeds, whose death in England was recently announced, was a daughter of Richard Caton, of Maryland.

Professor M. F. Humphreys, of Washington and Lee University, who has been in Germany two years, expects to reach New York in July. He has received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at Leipsic, the highest of the German universities.

Archbishop Purcell, of Cincinnati, is the only surviving Bishop of the Roman Catholic Church appointed by Pope Gregory.

The Siamese twins were Baptists. "But," says the Presbyterian, "suppose one had been a disbeliever, how could the other have been immersed?" But another says they were not Baptists; they were United Brethren.

Protestant Episcopal Bishop Auer, of Africa, died at Cape Palmas, Liberia, on the 16th of February, of dropsy of the heart. He died in his work, having the day before performed the offices of ordination and conformation. —Prof. Alphens Crosby, the well-known author of Greek text-books and other works, died at Salem, Mass., April 17th.

The farewell sermon of the Rev. Dr. Adams, of the Madison Square Presbyterian Church, delivered April 19th, at the close of his pastorate of forty years, was an address of rare beauty and force.

The Rev. Dr. Sabine, of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Atonement, has resigned his charge on account of dissatisfaction with Ritualism and high Churchism. It is thought that he will join the Reformed Episcopal Church.

Rev. Dr. Bitting, of Richmond, starts on a visit to Europe in June.

Rev. Henry Slicer, one of the fathers of the Methodist ministry in Baltimore, died last week.

Rev Dr. Pryor was dining with a friend, in Richmond a few days since, and partook of poison in the flavoring of a custard, which made him, with the whole family, very sick for a time.

Rev. Wm. H. Ruffner, Superintendent of public schools in Virginia, asked the Lexington Presbytery to absolve him from the work of the ministry. The Presbytery granted his request, and he now takes the place of a layman in the Church.

PERSONAL.—We had the pleasure of a visit a few days ago from Rev. Dr. S. Milton Frost, formerly a beloved and valued member of the North Carolina Conference, and now of Pennsylvania. He was in fine health, and we were pleased to see that the Buck Tail State Methodists took excellent care of him.

CITY ELECTION.—Jos. W. Holden was elected Mayor of Raleigh, by a majority of 300. Messrs. Miller, Ellison, Gorman, O'Neil and Jones, Republicans, and Messrs. Royster, Stronach, Little and Palmer, Conservatives, were elected Commissioners.

Literary Notes.

The "History of Greece," by Dr Ernst Curtius, is one of the most valuable contributions to historical literature. Scribner & Co., have thus far published four volumes.

It it the opinion of the writer that Beecher's sermons are of greater value than any others that have been published within the last twenty-five years. The last New York Methodist says they "have no peers in felicity of expression." The London Quarterly Review pronounces him "the greatest living preacher." Rev. Dr. Parker, author of Ecce Deus, in his last work Ad Crucem holds him up as the great model preacher of the present age. J. B. Ford & Co., of New York, are his publishers. Thus far ten volumes of sermons and two of theological lectures have been issued.

Two new books bearing upon the Darwinian theory of evolution have just been published. One from the pen of Alexander Winchell, LL. D., the other by Rev. Dr. Hodge, of Princeton.

The lovers of "Boswell's Life of Johnson" will be glad to learn that a new edition is to be published, in which the original text will be restored. It is to be edited by Percy Fitzgerald. It is the most enjoyable and life-like biography in the world—the very book to keep on one's table to dip into every day or two for a half hour.

Miscellaneous Items.

In the reign of King Charles the Second, the population of London, according to Sir William Petty, did not exceed 350,000 souls. It is now verging upon four millions.

Very nearly two million Irish emigrants have landed in New York during the last twenty five years.

Whereas in 1866 the population of France was returned at a little over thirty eight millions, it now shows a diminution of nearly two millions of that number.

It is said that the entire population of the United States could be placed in Texas, and the population be no more dense than it is in Massachusetts.

One of the oldest merchants in New Orleans says the population of that city has fallen in two years thirty thousand, and that there are no less than six thousand houses and stores at present unoccupied.

The East River Bridge, between New York and Brooklyn has already cost $4,300,000, and it is estimated timated it will cost $10,000,000 more. The Brooklyn tower is now 222 feet high, and the New York tower 120 feet.

PROFESSOR TYNDALL has recently been making some experiments upon the "acoustic transparency of the atmosphere," or its power of transmitting sound under different conditions, and has been led to some curious and important results. The most remarkable one (and it was entirely unexpected) is this: that a cloud of vapor, uncondensed and, therefore, entirely invisible, obstructs the transmission of sound incomparably more than a visible cloud of droplets formed by the condensation of the vapor. Thus during a fog the air is vastly more transparent to sound than just before its formation or immediately after its clearing up.

— The London Spectator referring to the Tichborne trial thinks there never was in the long record of English crime a trial so thoroughly discreditable to British intelligence as this of the impostor Arthur Orton, and that the credulity which has been disclosed throughout the case is positively frightful; sufficient, as it was, to induce "at least half England, educated as well as uneducated, to circulate bonds for £100,000 and enough to set the whole sporting world betting in his favor."

Two of the Supreme Court Judges of Arkansas have been arrested by the Baxterities. Baxter denies having caused it. Other State officers have been arrested.

Our Book Table.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE maintains its place as the best periodical in the world. It contains the cream of the British Quarterlies and Monthlies. It contains 64 pages weekly at $8 a year. Littell & Gay, Boston. Among the recent articles are, Libraries, Ancient and Modern, EDINBURGH REVIEW; Scepticism and Modern Poetry, BLACKWOOD; Spanish Life and Character in the Interior, during the Summer of 1873, part VI, MACMILLAN; Chateaubriand and his Times, by the author of "Mirabeau," etc., part II, TEMPLE BAR; Lord Stanhope and the Historians of Queen Anne's Reign, BLACKWOOD; Youth versus Age, SPECTATOR; Princess Charlotte, SATURDAY REVIEW; Explorations of a Naturalist.

TWO BEAUTIFUL NEW SONGS: "Don't go Near the Bar Room Father," and "Father Drinks no More," Composed by Jean Le Croix, with splendid Lithographic Titles, Price 40 cents each. Published by F. W. Helmick, Music Dealer, 278 West Sixth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio. Will be sent by Mail free of Postage to any address.

N. B.—Both can be played on Organ or Piano. No Home where there is a Piano or Organ, should be without them.

ON SELF CULTURE Intellectual, Physical, and Moral, A Vade Mecum for young Men and Students, by John Stuart Blackie, Professor of Greek in the University of Edinburgh. New York Scribner, Armstrong & Co. 1874. Such is the title of a small 16 mo. volume by a thoughtful, able and learned Scotch author.

RESPONSIBILITY OF MENTAL DISEASE By Henry Maudsley M. D. Fellow of the Royal college of Physicans, Professor of Medical Jurisprudence in University College, London etc. We have not read this work, but being by an eminent author and one of the admirable "International Scientific Series" now publishing by Messrs, D. Appleton & Co. of New York, we may expect to find it elaborate, instructive and judicious. It treats of all the different forms of mental derangement, and the best means of preventing it.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.—TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

The traveling preachers in the bounds of the Western Conference are our authorised Agents. Who will send us ten subscribers, for one year, will have the paper free. Those who send us five will have the paper for $1.00. Those who send us none will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

All communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters on business should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all remits should be sent in Registered letters, post office order or check. The cost of registration or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount remitted. If money is sent otherwise it will be at the sender's risk.

North Carolina.

John L. Moore, Esq., of Shelby, died on Sunday.

Mr. Joseph Kearney, aged 81, the oldest citizen of Franklinton, died on the 19th.

A child was recently poisoned at Pantego, Beaufort county, by eating a small piece of the bark of wild yellow jessamine.

The Western North Carolina Railroad, is advertised for sale, on the 18th of June, at Salisbury.

Hickory Grove post office, Gaston county, has been discontinued.

The Rockingham COURIER is for Col. W. L. Steele for Congress from that district.

The Salisbury WATCHMAN says the Friends are preparing to erect a college near Trinity and that about $200,000 is already secured to have been already subscribed for the purpose.

Mrs. Dawson, the widow of Genl. T. J. Jackson, was a guest last week for a day or two of the Hon. W. A. Graham.

Oxford HERALD: Last Tuesday, the 21st inst, was the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of our distinguished townsman, Hon. A. W. Venable and his estimable lady.

David Martin, the negro boy who murdered little Willie Carter, near Wilmington, a few months ago, has been sentenced to be hanged on the 18th day of June.

The wheat crop is reported promising in Haywood county.

A Rocky Mount hen produced an egg which weighed 3½ ounces and measured 7 inches in circumference.

There is a colored boy living in Nash county, about eleven years of age who is completely covered with hair except on the tip of the nose.

Lieut. Coffey, of the C. S. Cavalry, lies buried in the cemetery at Statesville. He was probably the last soldier killed in the late war. He was shot by some of Palmer's command near Statesville.

On next Wednesday the Grand Lodge of Odd-Fellows meets in Greensboro.

The reports of the re-appearance of the small-pox in and about Reidsville are true.

The candidates for Solicitor in the Asheville District are: Iredell, Col. R. Allison; Catawba, Col. M. L. McBee; Wilkes, Col. Cowles; Caldwell, Lt. Col. N. Folk; Ashe, Maj. Neal.

W. J. Southerland, of Hickory Tavern, recently fell from the window of the second story of his house and was seriously injured.

Suits were instituted at the last term of the Court by the Trustees of the University against Alexander McIver to recover the Seal, Books, papers &c, belonging to the University; and against Solomon Pool to recover possession of the college property which he now contests. Graham and Graham appeared for the plaintiffs, and J. B. Batchelor for Mr. McIver, and J. B. Mason for Pool.—Hillsboro Recorder.

The Evangelical Lutheran Synod which recently met at Wilmington elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Rev. S. Rothrock; Recording Secretary, Rev W. K. Ketchie; Corresponding Secretary, Rev. W. E. Hubbert; Treasury, Maj. L. G. Heilig.

The Christian Church has lately held a general convention at Graham.

Messrs. W. T. Dortch and council Wootard's fight in Kingston which the court is in session. Judge Clarke fined Mr. Wootard $50 and ordered him to jail for ten days.

Major Thomas Sparrow, of Washington, has accepted the invitation to deliver the Memorial Address in Newbern.

A Cremation Company has been formed in Charlotte with a capital stock of $5,000. A charter will be applied for at the next session of the General Assembly.

During the month of April 19 steamers, 6 barques, 7 brigs and 23 schooners arrived in the port of Wilmington. The aggregate tonnage is 23,152.

Says the Wilmington JOURNAL of the 21st inst.: "The religious phrenzy seems to have reached the colored Baptist church, corner of Campbell and Fifth streets, where several persons have been lying prostrated on the floor for several days past."

General News.

On April 30th an engagement took place at New Gasgony Ark. between Col Gate's command (Baxter's) numbering some 250 men and Brooks men number about 100 under the command of Captains Murphy and Vandersande.

The casualities in this amateur battle were quite considerable in number and one of them of a tragic, while many of them were at least of a very serious nature. On the Brooks side there were ten Arkansas killed and twenty wounded. Of Baxter's force, half of whom were whites, there were three killed and seven wounded. A good many of the horses were killed and wounded.

Bilbao in Spain has surrendered to the Republicans. The Carlists have retreated.

London.—There is a great strike among the Durham colliers.

The inhabitants of Bilbao were without bread during the last week of the siege.

Berlin.—The Czar to-day received letters from General Von Moltke and Bismarck.

Prince Gortschakoff held a conference with Prince Bismarck.

The betrothal of the Russian Grand Duke Vladimir and the Duchess Marie, of Mecklenburg, was promulgated yesterday.

Conservative nominations: Col. A. McKay, of Simpson, for Judge in 3rd district, Capt. S. W. Norment, of Robeson, for Solicitor. Hon. A. M. Waddell renominated for Congress.

J. C. L. Harris, of Raleigh, is the Republican nominee in this District for Doctor.

Marriages.

Married May 5th 1874, at Concord Church, Person county, by Rev. Wm. M. Jordan, Wm. A. Winstead to Miss Sallie E. Williams, daughter of Green Williams, Esq. of Person.

April 29th 1874, at the residence of Capt. C. C. Morse, by Rev. N. M. Ray, Mr. Cornelius G. Smith, to Miss Fannie McKethan, all of Smithville, N. C.

Married, in New Street, M. E. Church, South, Newbern, N. C., April 28th, 1874, by Rev. W. C. Gannon, Mr. James Manwell and Miss Georgiana R. Hanks, of Newbern, N. C.

Married, on the 29th of April, by Rev. J. T. Bagwell, Mr. W. D. Parker, of Laurinburgh to Miss Mary Gillespie of Bladen, N. C.

Deaths.

☞ Obituary notices of twenty lines are inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines of ninety words is charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line. Count the lines and allow ninety words to the line. In this way you may always know the amount to enclose. Resolutions of respect are subject to the same rule. ☜

Died at her mothers on Adams Creek, March 28th 1874, Lizzie Ritch, wife of John F. Ritch, in the 26th year of her age To record her death is a work of sadness. Though we feel she is far better off, she seemed to bear her sickness with patience. Though it was long and painful yet she murmured not. She leaves two little ones and a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn their loss.

I think that while you're weeping here
Her hand a golden harp is stringing;
And with a voice serene and clear,
Her ransomed soul, without a tear,
Her Saviour's praise is singing!

A FRIEND.

Another faithful soul has gone to rest. Mrs. Mary Strickland, consort of Abel Strickland, died near Louisburg, N. C. on the 17th of April 1874, in the 65th year of her age. She was a consistent member of the Methodist Church for over thirty years and was noted for her piety and christian integrity. For several years before her death she was greatly afflicted and suffered much but in it all she was patient, bearing her afflictions without murmuring. She was a kind mother an affectionate wife, and above all a good christian. Her funeral was largely attended, and the profuse weeping of both old and young was a testimonial of the exalted position she held in the affections of all who knew her.

But she is now asleep in Jesus with,
"No rude alarms of raging foes;
No cares to break the long repose;
No midnight shade, no clouded sun.
But sacred, high, eternal noon."

FRANK L. REID.

Alice M. Hartman was born in Fayetteville N. C., May 27, 1839. Was married to Prof F. J. Hahr August 29, 1859.

During the year 1861, she was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, in which she lived a very consistent, happy life until April 27, when she passed away to the rewards of eternal life. I knew her intimately as her pastor for two years in Louisburg, and for the past year in Greensboro. She was a good woman. Religion adorned her life in all its relations, as wife, mother, and citizen. She died suddenly, but well. I have never witnessed more sincere and prayerful sympathy towards a bereaved family, than has been manifested towards her husband and five children. May the blessing of God rest upon them richly, enabling them to live as she has taught them by her pure example, and to join her where death shall never enter.

J. A. CUNNINGGIM.

Died, in McDowell Co. N. C. April 24th 1874, in her 27th year, Mrs. M. L. Mode, wife of Mr A. F. Mode. The deceased in early life joined the M. E. Church South, after which embraced religion, lived and died a consistent member of the church of her choice, in death feeling no dismay; but expressing perfect resignation to the Divine will. She died without a struggle. Her tranquil death being in keeping with the equanimity and serenity of her character.

Died, of Pneumonia, in the fifty-eighth year of her age, Mrs. Julia Joiner, of Franklinton. She was a careful, conscientious, sober minded christian, of gentle and amiable disposition, and of humble, cheerful piety. She was unobtrusive but active in labors of love, prompt to relieve want and suffering, kind and forbearing to her domestics, and rich and free in her hospitality to all. Her name will long be warmly cherished by the community in which she lived.

How beautiful is a consistent christian life! Mrs. Joiner was a christian. She is in heaven. Let us follow on. COM.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Sunday School in Calvary Church Knapp of Reeds, N. C. on April 19th 1874.

WHEREAS, it has pleased Almighty God in His Divine Wisdom to take from our midst our beloved sister, Angeline Tilley.

Resolved; 1st that in her death our Sunday School has lost one of its most worthy members, and teachers, the church a faithful member and the community a neighbor, who had gained the love and esteem of all. But while we mourn her loss, we are firm in the belief that God performs all. His work is wisdom.

2nd that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the relatives of the deceased, and to the RALEIGH CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, for publication.

JESSE V. ROBERTS,
JOHN A. WALKER,
JOHN C. HINDLEY } Com.

Letters and Funds.

Andrew Green for self and Brother $4.00, Isaac H Clegg, all right. Mrs O Keonce has pd to Dec 74—office Comfort. A J K Rhodes paper continued and glad to your pastor. Ed Alden. R E Gloyn & Co. J K Rakestraw. H C Nance, all right on Books. Rev R M Brown. Rev A J Finlayson $2. for W Crumpler. Jno T Brogdon, sr, N Brogdon which pays to Nov 17 1874. Paper changed to Miss B and creditor. Rev N M Ray 2 each for Mrs M R Dosher Mrs Thos Jenson and W H Dosher. M M Davis 2 self. F S Starrett 2 self. M Blair. Rev Jos Wheeler 2 for Rev L Webb. Rev W S Rown for Mrs C M Dry. D Minor. R E Jones, Wm A Mitchell 2 self. A H Coffin 2 self. Mrs J Joyner 2 self. Mrs S A Stagg 2 self. J F Holtman. A G Brooks 2 self. W S Ulley 2.25 self pays to Feb 1, 1875. Jas H Bell 5.40 for subscribers. Rev Dr Hooper. Rev W M Robey and five children. May the blessing of God rest upon them richly, enabling them to live as she has taught them by her pure example, and to join her where death shall never enter.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Our Dormant Energies.

Our bodies are not as vigorous nor our minds as clear as they might be. This remark is true of at least two-thirds of civilized society; and of these two-thirds probably one-half is laboring under bodily infirmities of a character likely to shorten the lives of the sufferers. This is a melancholy exhibit and furnishes abundant food for reflection. Can the evil be mitigated? It can. Lack of vitality is the primary cause of most of the physical and mental suffering to which we are subjected; and therefore a vitalizing medicinal agent is the remedy required. Is there such a medicine? There is. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will rouse and energize the mind and body when the life power of the system is in a comparatively dormant state. The languid, feeble, despondling invalid is not aware of the latent energies that nadorlies his debility. He thinks there is no element of vigor left in his frame, when the fact is that his physical capabilities are merely asleep and only require waking up. Let him stimulate and tone his animal machinery and endow it with new motive power, through the agency of this incomparable invigorant, and he will soon feel like a new man, or rather like a man who has received a new lease of life, and the requisite health to enjoy it. Many business men suffer from chronic languor and depression caused by too close application to business. Hard students are often oppressed with melancholy from a like cause. Mechanics and working men are affected in the same way as a result of overlabor. To all who are in this condition, from whatever cause, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will prove a signal blessing. It is a perfect panacea for physical debility and mental gloom. It strengthens the body, clears the mind and calms the nervous system; while as a remedy for indigestion, biliousness, constipation, rheumatism, and intermittent and remittent fevers, it takes precedence of all other medicines.

May6 1m

A Wrong Custom Corrected.

It is quite generally the custom to take strong liver stimulants for the cure of liver complaint, and both the mineral and vegetable kingdoms have been diligently searched to procure the most drastic and poisonous purgatives, in order to produce a powerful effect upon the liver, and arouse the lagging and enfeebled organ. This system of treatment is on the same principle as that of giving a weak and debilitated man large portions of brandy to enable him to do a certain amount of work—When the stimulant is withheld, the organ like the system, gradually relapses into a more torpid or sluggish and weakened condition than before. What then is wanted? Medicines, that, while they cause the bile to flow freely from the liver, as that organ is toned into action, will not overtask and thus debilitate it, but will, when their use is discontinued, leave the liver strengthened and healthy.

WORKS WONDERS.

BERGEN, Genesee Co., N. Y., March 28, 1871.

DR R. V. PIERCE:

Dear Sir—Your treatment in my case has been quite successful and satisfactory, and for which I desire to express my gratitude. I have been troubled with a disordered Liver and Catarrh and general weakness for a good many years, and was failing slowly all the time, and last August I called on you and got some of your Golden Medical Discovery and Dr Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and one of your Nasal Injectors, and since that time I have been improving and am now better than I have been in years, not having had the sick headache in months, which I used to have to average once a week. The Golden Medical Discovery being a true principal medicine used. It has worked wonders in my case, and I recommend it to those similarly afflicted. Let me express gratitude to you for such invaluable services.

Truly and gratefully yours,

WM. F. CRITTENDNN.

may 13—1w

THEIR MERIT APPRECIATED.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been before the public many years. Each year finds the Troches in some new district localities in various parts of the world. Being an article of true merit, when once used, the value of the Troches is appreciated, and they are kept always on hand, to be used as occasion requires. For Coughs, Colds, and Throat Diseases, the Troches have proved their efficacy. For sale everywhere.

July

ADVERTISEMENTS.

OLD NORTH STATE

FIRE

Insurance Company.

OF

WARRENTON, - - - N. C.

Closed its second fiscal year April 1st, in a condition of great prosperity.

A handsome dividend has been declared and a full reinsurance reserve set aside in the basis of the New York law.

Every legitimate loss has been promptly paid and the Company does not owe

A DOLLAR.

IT IS A

NORTH CAROLINA INSTITUTION,

owned and conducted by NORTH CAROLINIANS, and deals even its liberal patronage it is receiving.

WM. S. DAVIS, President.

N. H. ZOLLICOFFER, Vice President.

B. F. LOSS, Secretary.

WM. J. NORWOOD, Treasurer.

T. C. WILLIAMS, Supervisor.

JNO. DEVEREAUX, Agent.

Raleigh, N. C

May 12-12m

ORGANS! PIANOS!

Organs for Church or Parlor, prices extremely low for CASH, or part cash and balance in

MONTHLY or QUARTERLY PAYMENTS

Second-hand Instruments taken in exchange. A liberal discount to Ministers, Teachers, Churches, Schools, Lodges, Etc.

Agents for Horace, Waters & Son celebrated Organs and Pianos.

You can save money by buying from

NAT L. BROWN,

may 13-tf Raleigh, N. C.

A SECOND HAND PIANO FOR SALE AT NAT L. BROWN'S

may 13-tf

CROQUET SETS, BALLS, BATS, HOOPS, MARbles, Building and Alphabet Blocks, Games, etc., at NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

CONFECTIONARIES, CANNED GOODS, FINE Cigars and Smoking Tobacco, at NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES, At NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS, STRINGS AND TRIMMINGS, at NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

BASKETS, BASKETS, BASKETS, THE LARGEST assortment in the city, at BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

NATIONAL HOTEL

Delightfully Situated, next to Capitol Square, RALEIGH, N. C.

A NEW HOUSE.

Fine Rooms, well Furnished and Fitted up in the best style.

ATTENTIVE SERVANTS.

The Table Daily Supplied with the Best this and other Markets Afford.

C. S. BROWN, PROPRIETOR,

Late of Boylen House Salisbury N. C.

Feb. 25—3 mos.

SONGS OF

GRACE AND GLORY.

The Very Best Sunday-School Song Book.

By W. F. SHERWIN and S. J. VAIL.

160 Pages.

SPLENDID HYMNS, CHOICE MUSIC, TINTED PAPER, SUPERIOR BINDING.

Price in Boards, 35c; $3) per 100

A Specimen Copy in Paper Cover mailed (as soon as issued), on receipt of Twenty-five Cents.

☞ Orders filled in turn.

Ready May 1st.

HORACE WATERS & SON, 481 Broadway N. ew York.

april 15-6w

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY

MALE AND FEMALE.

R. P. TROY, A. M. Principal.

Mrs. R. P. TROY, Teacher of Music.

Spring session begins January, 5th 1874.

Board per month, $8.00

Tuition " " Iron 1 50 to 2,00

One half to advance.

ADVANTAGES.

Low price of board and tuition, healthy and moral location, Sabbath school and religious service every Sunday.

Access.—By Rail Road to Greensboro, whence free conveyance will be furnished by the Principal, if informed of arrival.

Address the Principal,

Greensboro, N. C.

Nov 26-1m

GREAT SALE OF

GARDEN HOES.

FOR NEXT 30 DAYS.

FOR NEXT 30 DAYS,

GARDEN HOES 25 CENTS

GARDEN HOES 25 CENTS.

Garden Hoes 25 Cents.

Garden Hoes 25 Cents.

Garden Hoes 25 Cents.

Warranted Steel,

Warranted Steel,

Garden Hoes 30 Cents,

Garden Hoes 30 Cents,

Great Bargains,

Great Bargains,

Garden Hoes 35 Cents,

Garden Hoes 35 Cents,

Call Early,

Call Early,

Garden Hoes 40 cents,

Garden Hoes 40 cents,

Extremely Low Prices.

Extremely Low Prices,

Garden Hoes 45 cents,

Garden Hoes 45 cents.

25, 30, 35, 40, 45 and 50 cents

Call and buy great bargains at

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS.

may 6—1.

FLOUR! FLOUR!! FLOUR!!!

Leach Brothers,

No. 3 Exchange Place,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We beg leave to call the attention of the Trade in Central North Carolina to our large and well selected stock of

"FAMILY," "EXTRA" AND "SUPERFINE" FLOURS.

We feel confident we can do as well for them as any house in Baltimore or Norfolk, freight and other charges added.

Our Senior Partner and Buyer, who resides all the time in New York, has for the past eight years been connected with the large and well known Grocery House of Messrs. H. K. Thurber & Co., and has recently been connected with the Flour Exchange in that city, as their buyer of Flour, which gives us very advantage of the largest buyer in New York, as well as Baltimore or Norfolk, enabling us to offer Flour in this market for the first time STRICTLY AT FIRST HANDS, and with only one profit to the retailer.

Our facilities for handling these goods being equal to any house South of New York, and buying them at "Hard Pan" prices, for cash, we are determined to handle them at as small margin as any house in these Southern cities.

Samples sent upon application and prices guaranteed.

We also offer the same inducements in general

Grocery Stock.

LEACH BROS.

mar 4-tf.

FURNITURE.

W. H. Morris & Co.

No. 3 Fayetteville Street,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealer in all kinds of furniture, such as Walnut Chamber Sets, Cottage Chamber Sets, Parlor Sets, Dining Room Sets, Bedsteads, Bureaus, Wardrobes, Washstands, Tables, Chairs, Sofas Lounges, Spring Beds, of various patterns, Cribs and Cradles in great variety of styles, patterns and prices. Wood and Marble top centre tables &c

ALSO

Keep constantly on hand and make to order all kind of Mattresses, such as pure Curled Hair, Cotton And Shuck, Excelsior and Shuck Mattresses. Old Hair Mattresses renovated and made as good as new.

No trouble to show goods. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

W. H. MORRIS & CO.

April 29 6m.

NEW GOODS FOR 1874.

BALD AND STONE

Mountains Exploded,

BUT

MARBLE HALL AND TEMPLE OF FANCY

STILL ALIVE.

A. CREECH

is there with his corps of polite and experienced Salesmen offering to the trade and consumers of

DRY GOODS

AN UNUSUALLY ATTRACTIVE STOCK OF

SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.

recently purchased in New York, and many of them bought at PANIC PRICES.

My stock of

Dress Goods, White Goods,

Linen Handkerchiefs, Gloves,

Hosiery, Edgings, Ribbons,

Parasols, &c., &c.

I take pleasure in saying is LARGE and well ASSORTED, and embraces everything that is new and desirable in the line from low priced good to fine fabrics.

DRY GOODS

Ladies in want of

DRESS GOODS

will find it to their interests to call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere, as they are new and will be sold at PANIC PRICES.

My stock of PIECE GOODS consisting of CASSIMERES, TWEED LINEN GOODS and COTTONADES, was never more complete, many of them being as cheap or even cheaper than before the war.

My stock of

SHOES AND HATS

for Ladies, Gents' and Misses is large and well assorted, and persons wanting goods, wares or merchandize should always examine my stock before buying, as I intend to make it to their interest to buy of me.

I believe in the motto, "LIVE AND LET LIVE."

I respectfully ask COUNTRY MERCHANTS to examine my stock, as I will offer them special inducements, and think I can save them money.

A. CREECH.

april 15-12m

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN

General Commission Merchants

AND

COTTON FACTORS,

Exchange Place (Fisher Building,)

P. O. Box 222, RALEIGH, N. C.

Consignments of

COTTON,

FLOUR

GRAIN,

FOREIGN

and other country produce solicited.

General Agents for the sale of James River

CEMENT,

every barrel guaranteed equal to the best. Also for the sale of Shootings and Cotton Yarns from the Deep River Manufacturing Company.

CORN, FLOUR, FORAGE, &c.,

always on hand. Orders for the purchase of cotton solicited.

All business intrusted to us will have strict personal attention and we guarantee promptness and satisfaction.

A. G. LEE,

W. C. McMAKCING.

Sept 10-12m.

FANCY GOODS, TOYS, BASKETS, BROOMS, Brushes, Tooth Picks, School Bags, Feather Dusters, Fish Hooks and lines. A large assortment.

At NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13 tf

A pair of shoes will cost you only 5 cents more with SILVER TIP on that without, and it will add awlee the cost of the shoe to their wearing value.

April 8 13-w

THOMAS B. TYSON. WM. T. JONES.

TYSON & JONES,

Carriage Builders,

CARTHAGE, N. C.

Having recently increased our Facilities for Manufacturing, we are prepared to furnish Vehicles of the BEST QUALITY on short notice, and at comparatively low prices. Vehicles shipped at Sanford, Raleigh and Chatham R. R. via Raleigh to any part of the State.

We feel confident that, with the close attention we give the business, together with the materials used, the skilled workmen employed, and the many conveniences we have for manufacturing FIRST CLASS WORK, no house in the country can excel us in STYLE, FINISH, DURABILITY AND Low Prices.

☞ We manufacture and keep constantly on hand Harness of the Best Quality.

☞ Repairing neatly Done at Short Notice. Send for Circular. Mar 7 | 1m.

NORTH CAROLINA, CHATHAM COUNTY. } In the Superior Court.

Petition to sell Lands for Partition

E. P. Ferrington in his own right, and as assignee of Jno. Castlebury,

Against

Sims Upchurch and C. W Lambeth, assignee in Bankruptcy of Sims Upchurch; M. D. Williams and C. L. Harris, assignee in Bankruptcy of M. B. Williams; G J Williams and Jno M Mordieg, Assignees in Bankruptcy of G J Williams; E D Council, A C Council, Theodosia Council, Henry Cony Council —— and Council, infant heirs at law of P B Council, Ada Jerusha Council, infant heir at law of Calvin Council; C J Reagan and wife ——, Atelia Council, Jane Council and Robert Council, heirs at law of Kimbro Council; J F Wynne, Callie Council, Victoria Wynne, M D Williams and wife Ann. M T Herlon and wife Catherine, Judson Williams and wife Julia, heirs at law of George Wynne; J J Jenkins, W A Jenkins Calvin Jenkins, Belfield Jenkins; Sandy Williams and wife Mary Webb, T C Sears and wife Tella, W H McGee and wife Demaris, Jno Jenkins, Buck Jenkins, heirs at law of Sanford Jenkins; J B Stone, G J Williams; S C Williams, Sandy Williams M D Williams, J A Williams, Belfield Jenkins and wife Dorothy, Caroline Johnston, Daniel M Johnston and wife Atelia, Jefferson Sing and wife Martilla, Fanny Page Henry Trice, Hamilton Trice, Joseph Trice, Haskey Trice and Eliza Trice, Lavinia Williams, Nettie Williams, Thomas Williams, Anna Williams, Mollie Williams, Mansfield Williams, Willie L. Williams, heirs at law of Henry Williams.

SUMMONS FOR RELIEF.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA.

To the Sheriff of Chatham County. Greeting

You are hereby commanded to summon Sims Upchurch and C. W. Lambeth, his assignee in Bankruptcy; M. D. Williams and C. L. Harris, his assignee in Bankruptcy, and all the other above named defendants, if to be found within your county, to be and appear before the Clerk of the Superior Court for the county of Chatham at the Court House with in 20 days after the service of this summons on them, exclusive of the day of such service, and answer the complaint, a copy of which will be deposited in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court for said county within 10 days from the date of this summons, and let them take notice, that if they fail to answer the said complaint, within that time, the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Hereof fail not, and of this summons make due return.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court this 23rd day of February 1874.

S. T. PETTY,

Clerk Superior Court,

Chatham county.

april 15 6w.

NORTH CAROLINA, CHATHAM COUNTY } In the Superior Court.

Petition to sell Lands for Partition.

E. P. Ferrington in his own right, and as assignee of Jno Castlebury, vs. Sims Upchurch, C. W. Lamb and others

Summons for relief.

In this case, it appearing to the satisfaction of the Court that M D Williams and wife Ann, Judson Williams and wife Julia, S C Williams, M D Williams, J A Williams, Belfield Jenkins and wife Dorothy, Daniel M Johnson and wife Atelia, Jefferson Sing and wife Martilla Fanny Page, Henry Trice, Hamilton Trice Joseph Trice, Haskey Trice and Eliza Trice, Lavinia Williams, Nettie Williams, Thomas Williams, Anna Williams, Mollie Williams, Mansfield Williams, Willie L. Williams, heirs at law of Henry Williams deceased; Calvin Jenkins and Belfield Jenkins, heirs at law of Sandford Jenkins are non residents of the State of North Carolina, and residents of the State of Mississippi, it is ordered, adjudged and decreed that publication be made by sending by mail to said non-residents copies of the summons in said cause, and that publication be made in the Raleigh Christian Advocate for six weeks, notifying said parties to appear and answer.

S. T. PETTY, C. S. C.

February 24 th, 1874

apl 15 6w

Pocket Inhaler AND Carbolate of Iroding thalulant.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient Inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption if taken in season. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. Druggists have it for sale, really put up with inhalers enough for two months' use. Price $2.00. Pamphlets mail on receipt of price. Send for a Circular. by W. H. SMITH & Co., Prop'rs, Buffalo, N.Y.

Jan 28-6m

NEW GOODS! NEW GOODS!!

A Very Important Notice to all Persons Wishing to Buy New Goods at Greatly Reduced Prices.

We are now offering to our customers the only stock of entirely

NEW GOODS

In the city. We are now able to sell them much LOWER than they have ever been offered before on account of the exceedingly small trade in the Northern market.

All goods in our line declined very much and our buyer taking advantage of that we sell as

LOW AS ANY HOUSE IN THE CITY.

We say to all that they can

SAVE MONEY

by examining our stock before buying elsewhere.—

We will offer you no old goods, our stock is ENTIRELY NEW.

PETTY & JONES.

apr 22 tf

THE WILSON TAKES THE GRAND

Prize at Vienna!

AUSTRIA, VIENNA, Aug. 15, 1873.

To W. G. Wilson, President Wilson Sewing Machine, Cleveland, Ohio:

The Wilson Shuttle Sewing Machine was awarded the Grand Prize at the Vienna Exposition for being the best Sewing Machine. RAYMON.

The above telegram needs no comment. The people can now be assured that in buying the Wilson at the low price of $50 they are getting the best Sewing Machine ever offered to the public. Circulars free Best terms to agents. address

WHARTON & WHARTON,

State Agents, Greensboro, N. C.

Sept 4—tf. Pd 5.

SPRING AND SUMMER

MILLINERY,

1874.

Isaac (E I) per is now in receipt of his fall stock of Millinery, Ladies fancy, furnishing and needle goods, also a full line of real and imitation hair goods, to an inspection of which his friends and customers, are respectfully invited.

april 15-3w

POPULAR AND USEFUL BOOKS

Royal Diadem, (S. S. Note)	35
Amaranth, " "	35
Bright Jewels, " "	35
Happy Voices, " "	35
The Charm " "	35
The Morning Star " "	35
Pure Gold, " "	35
Songs of Salvation, " "	35
Wesleyan Anthems No. 1,	40
Wesleyan " No. 2,	75
Wesleyan " No. 3,	1.00
Bibles, (pocket size) from 75 ct. to	6 00
Bibles, Family, from $3 to	8 00
Children of the Abbey 12mo cloth,	1.50
Robinson Crusoe, 12mo cloth,	1.50
Shakespeare, complete,	1.50
Pilgrim Progress, 12mo cloth, illustrated,	1.25
Methodist Hymn and Tune Books, 12mo cloth,	75
Ready Reckoners, from 20 cts to	60
Little Writers, boards per 100	60
Life of Daniel Boone, 12mo cloth,	1 50
Bible Dictionary, (the best)	1.75
Picture books (slightly illustrated) from 5cts to	2 00
Methodist Hymn Books from 20 cts to	4 00
Baptist Hymn Books, from 75 to	2.50
People Gems Hymn Books, from 30 cts	2 50
Episcopal Prayer Books, from 75 cts to	5.00
Photograph Albums, from 75 cts to	6.00
Major Jones Courtship, paper cover,	75
Abbotts Mary Queen of Scotts,	1 25
Abbotts Queen Elizabeth,	1.25
Abbotts Maria Antoinette,	1.25
Aesop's Fables,	1.00
Arabian Knights Entertainment,	1.50

Send cash and add 10 cents on the dollar, and I will mail any of the above.

☞ Order any other book you want.

L. BRANSON,

Raleigh, N. C.

apr 8-12m

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS!

Fertilizers—Fertilizers.

SOLUBLE PACIFIC GUANO.

Lister's Standard Super Phosphate of Lime.

We are offering the above standard Guanos, per ton, for sale of (670 pounds) cotton, payable 1st November, 1874, or for $55 cash.

We guarantee all Fertilizers sold by us to be free from adulteration.

Send in your orders early and we will give them prompt attention.

WYATT, BINGHAM & CO., Agents, Cotton Factors and Commission Merchants, Raleigh, N. C.

april 1-tf

ZERO REFRIGERATOR, IS THE BEST Meats, Fruits & Ice Preserver, IN THE WORLD.

Highest award at American Institute 186 , 1868, 1871 and 1874 in New York, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Texas, Louisiana, and Illinois, State Fairs.

Send for Catalogue.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.

Raleigh, N. C.

Manufacturers Agents.

april 8-tf

Manufactures Represented by us:

Charles Pratt & Co., Manufacturers of Pratt's Astral Oil.

L. Bliss, Hoe and Tool Co., Manufacturers of the Bolle's Cotton Hoe.

The Averill Chemical Paint Co

The Goulds Manufacturing Company Manufacturers of Farm, Church and Plantation Bells.

Isaac A Sheppard & Co., Manufacturers of the "All Right Cooking Stove."

Lafin & Rand Powder Co., Manufacturer of Orange Rifle and Mining Powders.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO., Fisher Building, Raleigh, N. C.

april 8 tf

RECOLLECT,

In reference to the

BOLLE'S

HANDLED COTTON HOE,

that 'tis the only HOE made of Solid Cast Steel—Not Rolled Steel.

We sold in 873, 596 dozen of these Hoes.

We Warrant every HOE perfect in Steel, Temper and Finish.

For sale by Hardware House of

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,

april 8-tf Raleigh, N. C.

M. T. NORRIS, Late with Len H. Adams.

W. A. MYATT, Jr. Formerly with J. P. Gulley & Bro.

NORRIS & MYATT,

(SUCCESSORS TO LEN H. ADAMS)

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

GROCERS, COTTON FACTORS

—AND—

General Commission Merchants.

No. 3 Exchange Place and No. 5 Martin Street.

They offer to the trade a large and well selected stock of first-class groceries at remarkably low figures to suit the times. They are daily receiving, and have to-day in store, a choice lot of North Carolina Hams.

75 bbls Family Extra Superfine Flour.

25 sacks North Carolina Flour.

300 bushels Corn and Bolted Meal.

50 sacks Salt.

10 bbls Extra A Sugar.

10 bbls Extra C Sugar.

10 bbls Extra C Yellow Sugar.

10 bbls Dem Sugar.

10 sacks Rio Coffee.

10 kegs Soda.

10 cases Concentrated Lye.

10 cases Cove Oysters

10 boxes Adamantine Candles.

30 bbls Red Leaf Lard.

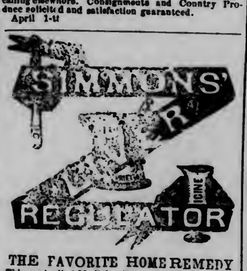
1000 pounds Pure Assorted Candy

500 bunches Cotton Yarn.

50 kegs Nails.

50 boxes of Durham Tobacco, and a full assortment of goods usually kept in a first classgrocery. Purchased at very low figures. Our motto: "Quick sales and small profits." A large lot of Boots and Shoes, Plain and fancy Pants—goods which will be offered at reduced figures. Call and examine our stock before calling elsewhere. Consignments and Country Produce solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

April 1-tf



THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY

This universal Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of Mercury, or any injurious mineral substance, but is

PURELY VEGETABLE,

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which an all wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine,

is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bills.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC

FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION,

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, all sickness and changes of water and food may be taken without fear. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, NERVOUSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,

MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA

Price, $1 00. Sold by all Druggists,

eb 18-12m

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

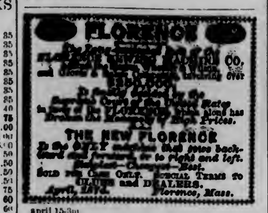
PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS.

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Simpson's Drug Store.

apr 9 6m.



april 15-3m

CANVASSERS send No. of your Locality and we will confer you agents with our superb Illustrated Pictures Bibles, Quick Sellers. Only Book for Pythias, Grangers, Red-men, Mechanics, etc., are making double they could any other way. Work pleasanter. J. HALE POWERS & CO., Fraternity & Fine Art Pubs., Cincinnati, O.

Feb 22-12m

JUST RECEIVED

AT

D. S. WAITT'S,

Ready Made Clothing

FOR

SPRING AND SUMMER.

GO TO D. S. WAITT'S

FOR

BOOTS & SHOES.

A full line just opened.

FOR GENTS' FURNISHING

Goods go to

D. S. WAITT'S.

DRY GOODS! DRY GOODS!!

D. S. WAITT'S

is the place to get them cheap.

R. F. JONES & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS COTTON FACTORS

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Wilmington Street, opposite Market House.

In their wholesale department they offer to the trade a large stock of first-class groceries at prices that have and will continue to attract the trade. They have in store

1200 Gds. S H Syrup.

150 Sacks Fine Liverpool Salt.

1200 Pounds Crushed Coffee.

300 Bushels Bolted Meal.

100 Boxes Cakes and Crackers—fresh

1000 Pounds pure candy, assorted.

25 Gases mixed Pickles.

10 Doz. cans Fresh Tomatoes.

50 Bbls. Superfine and Family Flour.

3 000 Pounds Family Soap.

25 Boxes Adamantine Candles

10 Bbls. Loaves Sugar.

10 Bbls. Yellow Sugar.

72 ⅛ Masons Blacking.

500 ⅛ Water Proof Percussion Caps.

Powder, Shot, Snuff, Tobacco Soda, Spice, Pepper Tea, &c., &c.

Bulk Meat and Breakfast Strips, and a full assortment of other goods generally sold in grocery stores. Call and examine the quality of their goods and prices. Consignment of produce solicited.

oct 15-6m

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

A Consumptive cured.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, resident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Canadian Indian. He has given this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of consumption that it does not dissipate, such as Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Difficult Expectoration, Sharp Pain in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inaction of the Bowels, Loss of Vitality, Wasting of the Muscles. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1624 Race Street, Philadelphia Pa., giving name of this paper.

Nov. 26 6m.

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is the Place to Buy

French and Plain Candies,

Foreign and Domestic Fruits,

RAISINS, NUTS, etc.,

Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,

Fancy Good. Childrens' Toys,

Carriages for the Little Folks,

CROQUET SETS,

BASE BALLS AND BATS,

Marbles. Tops, and Kites,

All at MOSELEY'S

1874. Spring Trade. 1874.

GOODS AT PRICES TO

Compare with the Money Crisis AT

J. P. GULLEY & BRO'S,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL STORE,

Corner Fayetteville St. and South Exchange Place,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We come again to proclaim the daily arrival of our tenth (10) semi-annual stock of

Foreign and Domestic

DRY GOODS,

Notions, White Goods, Ribbons, &c.,

Boots and Shoes.

In this Department we can please the public in quality. We keep no our Brand of Ladies' Shoes, warranted at $2.50 per pair.

Hats for Gen s, Youths, Boys and Children.

Clothing in all grades, from $3.00 to $50.00 per suit Youths', Boys and Children Clothing a nice variety. The attention of COUNTRY MERCHANTS is especially called to our Up Stairs Jobbing Department. Call and see our Goods before purchasing.

Very Respectfully

J. P. GULLY & BRO

april 15-tf.

GENUINE

PERUVIAN GUANO.

Farmers, Agriculturists and Dealers in Fertilizers have now an opportunity of obtaining this valuable manure in small or large lots, at lowest prices, by applying to the Special Agency just established for the purpose of delivering Genuine Peruvian Guano to consumers at any accessible port or railway station in the country. Full particulars given in Circular mailed free on application to

R. BALCAZAR,

No. 80 Beaver St., New York.

REFERENCES BY PERMISSION.

Messrs. Hebbard, Harnado & Co., Financial Agents of the Peruvian Government, 52 Wall St., N. Y.

Moses Taylor, Pres't National Bank, 52 Wall St., N. Y.

J. D. Tweed, Esq., Peruvian Consul, 26 1 2 Broadway, N. Y.

March 1874m

W. F. KORNEGAY,

Goldsboro', N. C.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer

COMMON & DOMESTIC GUANOS,

COAST & WAGON BOAT BUILT.

Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.

FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are well ironed, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will suit to give satisfaction. Address us for a trial of them. Jan 29-6m

READ THIS

I will give my entire time and attention for 3 years to selling the sewing machine and am desirable to make me a liberal offer. Parties wishing to see the machine before buying can do so. Send stamp for price list. Address

R. F. POWELL,

Warrenton, N. C.

april 1-1m

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT, THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye since daily treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED ARTIFICIAL EYE

Head for Consultation and more explicit Specimens and more illustrated pamphlet sent free. The location of Dr. Ball's Institute is the most favorable for the cure of the Eye. Patent Improved Porus Eye Cups.

Many of our most eminent and prominent citizens, editors and ministers who have had their eyes permanently restored for life, on hear d of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision. 2. Presbyopia, or near sightedness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Old Sight. 3. Astigmatism or Weak Sight. 4. Amaurosis, Dimness or Watery Eye. 5. Sore Eyes—especially treated with the Eye Cups cure. Enturopsy, & Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve. 7. Opthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or impaired vision from the effects of Inflammation. 8. Weakness of the Eye, tolerance of Light. 9 Overworked Eyes. 10. Myodesopsia or specks or floating bodies before the eyes. 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision. 12. Cataracts. Partial Blindness by the loss of Sight.

Any one can now try Dr. Ball's Eye Cups without the risk of a doctor or medicine as are to receive immediate beneficial results, if it never went spectacles or will refund the money.

2,300 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants testimony of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of all ages in all parts of the country.

Under date of March 29 Hon Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "Dr. Ball, of our city, has cured thousands and restored sight to hundreds of persons who were pronounced incurable by the most eminent Oculists."

Prof. W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., under date 24th, 1869: "Without the least exaggeration, I can say in truth, after using Dr. PATENT EYE CUPS the shortest days, and this morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper without the aid of spectacles, for the first time in twenty years."

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless you. Every day I know I am using spectacles—twenty years; I am scarcely forty years old.

Truly yours, PROF W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Cobb, Milton, Mass., cured of partial Blindness and Sore Eyes of long standing, by use of the PATENT EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, Esq., Mayor of Burton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov 25th, 1868: "I have tested the PATENT EYE CUPS, and I consider both by a practical trial and observation of all them. They are the greatest invention of the age.

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Sandusky, Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the restoration of my vision. My sight is fully restored, after having almost entirely failed for 26 years."

Alex R. Wyeth, M. D., Methuen, Ms., writes: After total failure of my sight for over four years, by your patent Eye Cups, I have restored the Patent Eye Cups, and I consider both by a practical trial of all them. They are the greatest invention of the age.

Full directions accompany each pair. Any one can use them without the least pain or inconvenience. Sent by mail to any part of the country. Price $5 per pair. Send for Circulars.

Agents wanted in every town and county in the United States. Liberal inducements offered. Address all orders to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,

Patentees and Manufacturers,

No. 914 Chestnut Street,

Philadelphia, Pa.

Jan. 7-6 m.

AGENTS WANTED.

Employment for 25 Agents wanted, all sexes or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED PORUS EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any new article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, or to make a respectable living at the 11 th and stay employed all the time, should write us at once. Profits from $5 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR J. BALL & CO.,

NO 914 CHESTNUT STREET,

P. O. Box 957. Philadelphia, Pa.

Sept 6-12m. New York City, N. Y.

Small Pox, money paid for children's cases. Prevented by SILVER TIP. Price $1 00. Every bottle is guaranteed to take a case or money refunded. Be sure of above SILVER TIPS the only genuine article.

Mar. 25-6w

AGENTS WANTED FOR.

OUR OF THE HURLY BY MRX BURLY BY ADELER

The greatest humorous work of the day 500 comic engravings, Hurly ad ventures, sparkling wit uproarious fun. Humorous all over the country. The people are hungry for it! EVERY MAN WANTS TO LAUGH. The only book for dull times. Show it to a man, and he won't be happy till he gets it. One book in a county. Agents wanted everywhere. Terms liberal and big returns certain. Send for circulars and make money. There is cash in this. To-Day Publishing Co., Philadelphia, New York, Boston or Chicago.

Apl 29 4-w.

Established 1840.

E. W. PAYNE, E. S. PAYNE, D. W. PAYNE

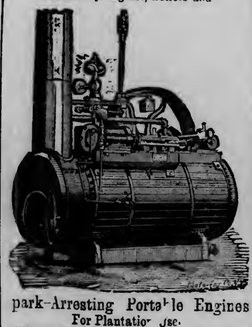
B. W. PAYNE & SONS

Corning Foundry and Machine Shop,

CORNING, STEUBEN CO., N. Y.

Manufacturers of

Stationary Engines, Boilers and



Steam-Arresting Portable Engines

For Plantation use.

Delivered Free on Board Cars in New York City.

☞ Send for Circular.

Feb 25-12m

PARENTS REDUCE YOUR SHOE BILLS TWO THIRDS BY BUYING

Silver Tipped Shoes.

Feb 18-6m

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c

Opposite Tucker Hall,

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Peter's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 20. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MAY 20, 1874. WHOLE No. 1,018.

Selected Poetry.

Palm-Sunday Meditation.

BY W. MORLEY PUNSHON.

"Others cut down branches from the trees, and strewed the way: and the multitudes that went before, and that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna to the Son of David."—Matt. xxi. 8, 9.

The path before the flight!
This day it wanted signal,
No cloth nor fur its whiteness to compare,
Leaden with spoils of war

As down the olived steeps
The rude procession sweeps,
Hark! how hosannas make the welkin ring!
Thus Salem greets her King.

Loud swells the rapturous strain,
Though haughty priests disdain,
And Roman soldier, as they cross his path,
Scowls in his scorn and wrath

Angry but honest, they Hear inner melodies betray;
But the fond crowd, who now exulting cry,
Will soon shout "Crucify"

"The hour" approacheth fast,
The traitor's treason,
A sadly prophetic moment, sent to clear
The young, loose watch of fear.

An interval of rest
Given to the weary breast
Before the deep last pain for mortal sore,
The "agony"—begins.

Thou, O Incarnate Son,
Fear in the palm hast worn,
And from thy throne in heaven, art waiting now
To crown each victor's brow.

Our strife will be less keen
Since thou hast thither been:
Hast taught us God's whole armor how to wield
His trusty sword and shield

If thou inspire the arm
Nor earth nor hell can harm,
For to each heart-strong courage enters in,
And we are sure to win.

Though we are weak and frail,
Crushed neath sin's stoop and ail,
Boldly we battle in his blessed name
Who, dying, overcame

Till the last foe o'erthrown
We hear the applauding tone,
Sweet through the summer's eve the vesper thrills
Among the solemn hills—

"Well done! thou soldier brave,
Pass through the conquered grave,
And wear in heaven, through its eternal calm,
After the fight—the Palm."

The General Conference.

Third Day.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 4th, 1874.

Bishop Pierce in the chair. The freedom of the city was extended to the Conference. Bishop Pierce then read the

ADDRESS OF THE BISHOPS.

BELOVED BRETHREN:—With cordial affection we greet you in the name of the Great Head of the Church, Jesus Christ our Lord.

We have completed another quadrennial term of our Church history.—With devout thanksgiving to God, we report great tranquility in all our borders. Peace reigns. Not the peace of stagnation, indifference, and moral death, but of unity, contentment, and brotherly love. While the world is all astir with advancing thought, great enterprises, and momentous events, social, political, and ecclesiastical, our preachers abide steadfast in Wesleyan theology, and our people give to the truth a fervent welcome. There is no agitation as to doctrine or to discipline to disturb the quiet of our Zion. This state of things is largely due to the broad liberality of our system, giving full range to thought and expression, and thus removing the provocation to dissent and resistance by the consciousness of a recognized freedom.—Accepting with hearty faith and strong affection, the peculiar and distinctive principles and methods of our economy, the only question now under discussion among us is, how to give them the greatest efficiency and secure the largest and best results. To you, the delegates of the Conference, and the people, the whole Church looks for the wisdom which shall incorporate and embody in appropriate legislation all the changes needful for the consummation of her wishes and hopes.

Realizing, as doubtless you do, your responsibilities, we trust that you will address yourselves to the work before you, by invoking that illumination of the Almighty which gives understanding, and cherish alike a feeling of dependence and the spirit of devotion. The work to be done is of vital importance at the present juncture, but the points are definite and few in number. Informed as you are with regard to the wants of the Church and the views of our membership, a little calm thought—the exchange of ideas—mutual consultation and discussion, will lead to united and safe conclusions. But these, while deliberate and painstaking, strive to economize time. The Church must needs suffer by the absence of her pastors. The longer the delay, the greater the damage. The revival spirit is abroad. God is visiting the Churches. Jesus is passing by. The opportunity ought not to be lost. Be prompt. Have a mind to work. Stick to the main points—the living issues. Let us all return early as may be, to reap the fields already ripening for the sickle of the husbandmen.

We beg to suggest a few things which demand your earnest, careful attention. First of all we mention our Missionary organization. The Parent Board and the Secretary will report to you the operations of the last four years. One or both will likely recommend material changes, suggested by the practical working of the present plan. Of the propriety of these changes and the reasons assigned for them, we leave you to judge. We will not attempt to bias or fore stall your action by an official opinion. It is enough for us to invoke a careful review of the whole subject, both as to duty and policy. We deem it proper to say, however, that the resolutions of the Board at their last annual meeting, proposing to ask at your hands, radical changes in the Missionary Constitution, have been strongly disapproved in several of the Conferences, and the discussion here, will probably turn upon some modification of the present plan or the re-adjustment of this great question on a new basis.

The working and results of our Missionary organization do not in our judgment meet the demand of our times or the responsibility that rests upon us as a Church of the Lord Jesus Christ. We refer especially to foreign fields. Whether this be due to the plans adopted or to the manner in which they have been carried out, we respectfully refer to your consideration.

The spirit of Missions is vital to the very existence of the Church. She may live as an organization, by force of numbers, money, and social influences, but cannot be a fruitful branch of the living Vine, unless the sap of Missionary life circulates through it—maintaining health and vigor, and making it the medium of extension to others. Our people are not deficient in any discouraging sense, of right views and feelings on this subject, but our methods have never commanded their entire confidence and approval. The point of friction and of weakness lies in the comparative claims of the domestic and foreign work. While slavery existed we had a factor which solved the difficulty, and the work at home harmonized in the spirit of it and the necessity of the case, with the work abroad. Now that the colored people have church organizations of their own, and are provided with the Gospel, the domestic work has largely lost its missionary feature, and the combination of it with the foreign, has absorbed into the former, much of the interest which belongs more legitimately to the latter.

There is much to be done at home, in occupying waste places—supplementing the scant resources of sparse populations, and carrying the Gospel to the neglected poor of our large cities: but, as providing for the dependents of our own households, does not exonerate from the general obligations of charity, so attention to these local demands upon the money and labor of the Church, should not abridge our interest or effort in behalf of those who dwell in darkness and the shadow of death. If the General Conference could provide for the home field from some other fund, it might be well. Or if they could so harmonize the two interests, domestic and foreign, as to avoid a conflict in the public mind in reference to their respective claims, then the embarrassment under which we now operate would pass away. Missionary work, distinctively so called, must be made more prominent. It ought to be disentangled from all quasi views and substitutes, and made to rely upon its own merits, motives and obligations. However integral to the Church as an organization to conserve the interests of Christ's Kingdom among men, and however included in the principles, genius, and plans of our holy religion, it is nevertheless a peculiar work in its necessities, modes and agents. Its claims must not be diluted by considerations of effort expended in another direction, nor subordinated to any other department of duty. It should stand alone in its magnitude and grandeur. It is the work of the Church—her special mission. "Go ye, into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature." The reflex influence of obedience and enterprise in this direction is conservative of personal piety and all local progress. A Church imbued with the spirit of missions, is always spiritual—active—liberal and aggressive. To deal with the gospel as a monopoly for home use and private ends is to defraud Christ of his inheritance in other lands and to waste his goods by misapplication as unfaithful stewards. Adopt some plan, brethren, which will intensify the Church's sense of indebtedness to Christ and the world. Magnify the gospel by diffusion as well as embracement. Individualize the mission work. Separate it from all competition. Set it forth in the grandeur of its claim upon faith, hope, and philanthropy, an imperious duty specified by Divine command, encouraged by divine promise, already vindicated by Providence and grace, and destined to culminate sooner or later by gradual advancement or sudden triumph in millennial glory. Any plan, recognizing the great underlying principles of this interest and starting from the right standpoint, which will commend itself to the judgment of the Church as feasible in its practical working, and which can be economically administered, will command her liberality.—The plan must appeal to the loyalty of the Church. There must be unbroken, serried combination. The current of benevolence in this behalf must not be wasted by side rills for local irrigation, but pour in steady volume into one reservoir for a specific use. All other claims and interests must be made to depend upon their merits for help and not seek to live on the credit of another affiliated but independent and over-mastering obligation. With these suggestions, we submit the whole subject to your collective wisdom.

We are glad to report to you wonderful progress in Church building, both as to number of houses, style of architecture and accommodations for comfort at all seasons. Consolidation of feeble societies at eligible centers has enlarged congregations, secured a more uniform administration of ordinances, given stability and permanent form to Sunday schools and made the arrangement of circuit work more convenient and effective. Incidental to this is the slow but steady improvement of all financial plans.—Broader views of duty, more liberal assessments and better modes of collection, are prevailing. There are local exceptions to this remark, but the aggregate collections under the pressure of an unprecedented monetary collapse, demonstrate the truth of the general statement. Some of the preachers are embarrassed by short receipts, are living hard, but stand up manfully to their work, knowing that the same afflictions are pressing upon the people themselves, and persuaded that the Church will respond to their necessities, when the present stringency shall be relaxed.

The subject of education in all its branches, is entitled to your most thoughtful consideration.

The right training of children—the literature of our Sunday-school system—denominational education, are all phases of the general subject of great and increasing importance. We do not hesitate to avow that we regard the education of the young as one of the leading functions of the Church, and that she can not abdicate in favor of the State without infidelity to her trust and irreparable damage to society. The reasons for occupying this ground which inhere in the very nature of this interest, and in the relation of children to the Church, are all intensified by the antagonisms of modern science, and the outcasting of the religious element from all the school systems fostered by State legislation. It is not ours to dispute jurisdiction with Cæsar, but fully persuaded that the salt of religious truth alone can preserve education from abuse and mischievous results, we feel that the responsibilities of the Church grow with the progress of society and the demands of the age.

It is with gratulation and thanksgiving to God, we say, the Church has made great progress in this department of duty. She has projected new enterprises on a broader basis and with higher aims as to scholastic teaching and furniture—revived institutions which were languishing and ready to die—renewed endowments lost by the revolutions of fortune, and is seeking to maintain the guardianship and sanctification of the humbler instrumentalities which lay hold upon the masses of society. We anticipate in the near future, a complete system. Universities, Colleges, District schools Academies, sustained by our people, and manned by our own graduates—all thoroughly equipped, a rounded plan, reaching from the lowest to the highest, and securing the safeguards of a Christian education to all the rising generation committed to our charge. We want for our young people an education which begins amid the hallowed influences of home—the cherished authority and example of the father, the tender, benignant influence of the mother, carried on in association with the Bible, prayers and revivals, in every stage of development from the alphabet to the diploma.

In our judgment the time has come for the General Conference to make some strong deliverance as to discipline in reference to class meetings, worldly amusements, and family religion. The great body of our people persist in believing that the Conference of 1866 abolished class meetings, not only as a test of membership, but as a Methodist institution! Any action therefore, recognizing it and urging it as a social means of grace, obligatory, not under penalty of law, but in proof of fellowship, might rectify the prevailing mistake, and help to revive this time-honored and gracious instrument of good. Perhaps, dividing the membership into classes as under the old rule, but changing the form of the meeting from the catechetical (the inquisitorial as some regard it) to the colloquial, might retain and perpetuate all that is vital to the institution.

Among our young people, everywhere, especially in the towns and cities, there is a tendency to worldliness—to vain and demoralizing amusements, which demands a corrective. The subject, though plain in its general principles, is compassed about with many embarrassments. The toleration of these things by loose notions of Christian liberty, the fact that many Elis among us do not restrain their children—the loose admission of members—the incapacity of the unconverted for spiritual discernment, the long sufferance of the evil in many cases from timid administration, all threaten the Church, adulterate her purity, and break down her authority. The silence of the discipline in terms, is the plea with some, expunging the paragraph in which dancing was specified among things forbidden, has been construed by others into a relaxation of law, equivalent to license. We think the rule is plain, and we know the last General Conference expressed itself strongly in condemnation of this evil. Nevertheless the pleas are made, so that the Church is enfeebled in her remonstrance, and the preacher paralyzed in his pastoral government. Both parties look to you for relief. We hope you may be able to furnish it. You can not make new law but you can define the old.

The Church is suffering grievously in her character, experience, and influence, from the very general neglect of family religion, morning and evening worship in the houses of our people. No duty can be dropped from the Christian schedule without serious loss of moral power. Indeed such an omission unsettles the whole foundation of religious life, and jeopards the moral safety of every delinquent. The neglect of this great duty is not merely a personal fault, wholly indefensible, but the guilt of it is enhanced by the fact that under such a regime there can be no proper Christian training of children. This evil is of fearful magnitude, as a fact, as an example, in itself, in its effects, and in its results. It ought not to be tolerated. We invoke the authority of the Conference, the efforts of the ministry, the cooperation of all the faithful among us to correct it.

The District Conferences are working well, doing good. The Church is greatly indebted to them for her unity, compactness, and efficiency. They combine all the elements of usefulness and power common to the class-meeting and the camp-meeting; with some advantages over both. They are most commonly the occasions and the instruments of revivals, giving fresh impulse to the work of God in the communities where they are held and the districts they represent. They need no increase of power—no new function—no further legislation. They stand in their own lot, and should not trench upon the attributes and offices of any other department, and least of all upon the Quarterly Conference.

During the past four years the Bishops have been able to attend all the Annual Conferences without a single failure, besides attending a great many of the District Conferences. By the Divine blessing we propose to continue our labors on the same scale.

We regret to say—the Church Conference is a comparative failure. In the stations, generally they have done well—are very useful. In the circuits as a rule, they have been inefficient. The fault is commonly with the preacher, who does not like them—does not know how to hold them—sometimes with the people—often with both. Time and experience may correct this order of things and vindicate the wisdom of the institution. It seems to us to be a necessity, both to a wise pastoral oversight—a just distribution of service among the members, and an effective use and application of the resources of the Church. It might be well to give the preacher in charge larger discretion as to the manner of holding them, so that in the absence of pressing business, they might be made strictly devotional.

Within the last two years our Publishing House has passed one great crisis in its history, and even now is struggling with another, because of the monetary troubles of the country. It has survived both. Destroyed by fire, it has sprung from its ashes, enlarged and improved. Embarrassed by the financial panic which rests upon the country like a palsy, it has sold more of our standard books within half a year than perhaps in the last decade. The exigencies of this crisis revived among our preachers a custom, which prevailed among the fathers, and to which much of their success in promulgating the Gospel and establishing the people in the knowledge of our doctrines, was due. We mean the circulation of our books. The object of a Church Publishing House is moral not mercantile. Books may be printed in any quantity and of the best quality, but they fail to do good unless distributed among the people. This work can best be done by the pastors. We trust this revival of so good a work will not be spasmodic, but that it will continue and increase.

In this connection we can not forbear to commend the management of the Sunday-school department. A new system of instruction has been constructed—a literature created satisfactory to the Church in its style, tone and varied adaptations.

As the only distinct change in the way of legislation which we propose, we respectfully recommend the restoration of the rule which requires a preacher to travel two years before he is eligible to deacon's orders, and four years before he is ordained elder.

Since your last session two of our colleagues, Bishop James O. Andrew and Bishop John Early have departed this life. They were venerable men, greatly beloved in the Church for their christian virtues—ministerial and official fidelity—long and varied service. Found as they always were in the way of righteousness, their hoary heads were crowns of honor, the insignia of age, authority, and worth, and all the people delighted to do them reverence. They gave the days of the years of their youth and maturity to the active service of the Church, and then amid the infirmities of old age and the languor and distress of physical suffering, illustrated the grace of God by patient submission, by beautiful expressions of trust, and the joyous triumph of faith and hope. Let us all revere their memory, imitate their example, and by patient continuance in well doing follow them to the heaven of the blessed.

Finally, brethren remembering that the safety, usefulness and power of the Church are not in mere organism, however compact, nor in prudential legislation, however wise or expedient, but in the spirituality of the ministry and membership, in the maintainance of sound doctrine and godly discipline, address yourselves to the task of protecting the Church we love from the corruptions of sentiment, taste and habit, which are in the world through lust, and of restoring her to the self-denial, the moral courage, the consistent piety, which must characterize all who would be accepted witnesses of the Lord Jesus.

May the Great Head of the Church be present in all your sessions, and pour upon your counsels and conclusions the benedictions of his grace.

R. PAINE,
G. F. PIERCE,
H. H. KAVANAUGH,
W. M. WIGHTMAN,
E. M. MARVIN,
D. S. DOGGETT,
N. H. MCTYEIRE,
J. C. KEENER.

A large number of memorials, resolutions and petitions were introduced. Among them the following:

North Carolina Conference—A memorial on the election of S. S. Superintendent.

Referred to the Committee on Sunday-schools.

Fourth Day.

Bishop Kavanaugh in the chair. A large number of petitions, memorials and resolutions, were offered. None from N. C. Conference.

The venerable Dr. Lovick Pierce addressed the Conference. He referred to his extreme age and the gratitude he felt in being able to attend that body—that he had been a member of every general Conference since he was eligible. He had never been obtrusive—did not expect to be able to attend when he was elected. It may be considered as the first instance in history, at least in that of our own ministry, that a man in his ninetieth year has travelled six hundred miles and occupied his seat daily in a body like this, but God has conferred upon him this very remarkable blessing.

He had never offered but four resolutions to the General Conference and they were now a part of the Discipline. He offered three papers from his sixty nine years of ministerial life. If his health would allow he would hereafter address the body upon them.

Dr. Winfield and L. M. Lee offered a resolution repealing the resolution passed in 1870, authorizing the Bishops to appoint one or more preachers to proper work beyond the bounds of the Annual Conferences. Dr. Winfield spoke to the resolution. He said the effect of that resolution was to allow the Bishops to make such appointments—that Bishop Marvin had asked the question as to its bearing and was told that it was only intended to carry out the policy, which has been adopted with regard to territory adjoining the boundaries, and the extension of the work beyond them, as in the case of the Illinois Conference. No one ever dreamed that it was intended to give the authority to appoint men to fields of labor outside of the Church limits, to Churches not under our own jurisdiction, indeed to Churches that are not Methodist Churches at all. We had no idea of imparting such authority.

This independent congregationalism is dangerous to our Church. If men can go off at will to jump into fat salaries, independently of all laws and regulations, and then return and claim their position as members of our Annual Conferences, I ask what is to become of our appointing power, what is to become of our unity, of our statute of limitation, of our Itinerancy—of our Methodism?

I want to be understood in this matter. I have nothing in my mind or heart against Dr. Deems. I am glad that he is doing much good, that he is a comfort to "strangers in a strange land," that our doctrines are preached by him, and that his ministry has been so rich in fruits. I pray God that the Church of the Strangers in that great metropolis may indeed be an asylum to which the wanderers may go and and find one to lead them to fountains of eternal truth. I bid every one God speed in every effort to promote the cause of Christ. But, sir, I would not have a Methodist preacher appointed to any work that is not under our own jurisdiction. If so, let him not be there as a Methodist, if, as is the case in the instance referred to, he is in nowise responsible to you. He is not required to preach your articles of faith or conform in any manner to your usages, and yet you appoint him by authority of the Conference to labor under the restrictions and regulations of your Discipline.

N. H. D. Wilson said: I take pleasure in making a few remarks in regard to what Dr. Winfield has said, as I was not a member of the General Conference at which the resolution referred to was passed. I regret that intimation has been made that it was unfairly done. I speak to it also because it refers to another resolution containing the name of a member of our Conference.

I say frankly, I want no resolution to invest the Bishops with authority to do what has a mere local application but if there are no analogous cases, if there is any anomaly calling for specific legislation, then we ask that it shall be granted. I think Dr. Winfield has overstated the case. The spirit and letter of the Discipline do not show this to be an isolated case. It is not the fact that the Bishop does in this case what he does not do in any other. All I ask is that such appointments may be made as in his judgment shall be conducive to the interests of the Church. I have said it on my own Conference floor, and I say it again here, that if I believed any action would in any way come in conflict with the principles of our economy I would be one of the first to resist it. There are a number of exceptions to the rule restricting the appointment to four years. (He read from the Discipline, pp. 61 and 62, referring to chaplains of posts, seamen, &c.) So long as the appointment designated is, in the judgment of the Bishop in accordance with the spirit of the law, I can see no infraction of our Itinerant system: no danger to our economy. I confess the case is rather an anomalous one, but as Dr. Winfield admits Dr. Deems has accomplished much good. When we look at the great work he has inaugurated, when we see the crowds flocking to his ministry, and hear him preach untrammelled the grand doctrines of our Church, we feel that his is a mighty mission. We are willing—we desire to leave it all with the Bishops. If they discover that harm will be likely to come of it, then we will readily submit. We want nothing more than this. If appointments of Chaplains to military posts and ships are more important than this mission to the stranger, this gathering of multitudes to hear the word of life who are not met by other Christian influences, then pass your resolution; but if otherwise, I think it safe to leave it with the Bishops who will guard it well. If it be necessary, call Dr. Deems home, and administer the law more strictly.

A. W. Wilson said: I heartily agree with Dr. Winfield, but I think it better to refer the whole subject to the Committee on Itinerancy, who may throw such guards around these appointments as to meet any cases which exist or may arise. This elasticity of appointment should be guarded, even within the limits of the Discipline itself. I have not understood the Discipline as endorsing any appointments outside of the restrictions which regulate them all alike.

Bishop Marvin—I should like to make a statement in regard to that resolution. It was passed on the last day of the session, and there is one point to which I call your attention. When it was introduced and read I saw at once that it might be interpreted so as to allow the appointment of Dr. Deems, and suspected that this was the object of the resolution. But as that point had been legislated upon adversely. I determined that if that was the purpose of it the resolution was out of order. But the mover said that it looked only to the extension of boundaries, and I appealed to my colleagues on the platform. Receiving no response I put it to the vote with the explanation just now made.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Itinerancy.

Fifth Day.

Bishop Wightman presiding. After a long discussion Dr. L. D Huston of Baltimore Conference was allowed an appeal. Dr. McFerrin appeared for Dr. H. Drs. Regester and Wilson represent the Conference. Dr. McFerrin presented the following reasons why an appeal is taken:

First—Because the bill of charges is vague and indefinite, neither time nor place is given in specification 3d, which might enable the accused to prove an alibi, sickness, &c.

Second—After the bill of charges had been made out, the court organized, and issue joined in trial, a new specification was brought in, which was virtually trying the accused on a charge for which he had not been indicted, and of which neither himself nor counsel had been notified.

Third—The verdict was contrary to the evidence in the case.

A long debate followed, but we have no room for even a meagre abstract. Among the resolutions offered were the following:

W. S. Black, S. D. Adams, L. S. Burkhead, and W. H. Bobbitt, offered a resolution on a plan to secure a Board of District Trustees: which was read and referred to the Committee on Revisal.

L. Pierce and J. S. Key offered three resolutions in relation to the administrative duties of preachers, which were read, and after explanations by the venerable mover, were referred to the Committee on Itinerancy.

J. O. A. Clark and J. W. Hinton offered a resolution proposing changes in the Discipline as to representation of Local Preachers in the Conferences and other matters, which was referred to the Committee on Revisal.

A resolution requesting Dr. L. Pierce to preach was adopted.

Sixth Day.

Bishop Marvin in the chair. Dr. Burkhead is on the appeal committee in the case of Dr. Huston.

Many resolutions were introduced. Among the following:

A resolution of T. C. Smith, L. S. Burkhead, and B. Craven, requesting the Committee on Sunday-schools to inquire into the propriety of having our Sunday-school Secretary adopt the International Lesson Text of Scripture, commencing January 1, 1875.

Referred to the Committee on Sunday schools.

A resolution of L. S. Burkhead, B. Craven, E. J. Lilly and W. S. Black, in relation to the support of the Ministry.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

A resolution of B. Craven and L. S. Burkhead, in relation to Class Meetings.

Referred to Committee on Revisal.

A resolution of J. L. de Yampert and C. Pope, requesting the Bishops to add a work on the Elementary Principles of Vocal Music to the course of Study.

The following communication was read:

GALT HOUSE, LOUISVILLE, KY., May 7, 1874

To the Bishops and Members of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South now in session in Louisville, Kentucky:

DEAR FATHERS AND BRETHREN:—We, the undersigned, have been appointed by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, to convey the fraternal greetings of said body to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. We await your pleasure. Fraternally yours,

ALBERT S. HUNT,
CHARLES D. FOWLER,
CLINTON B. FISK.

The following resolution was offered, read, and adopted:

Resolved, That it be the pleasure of the General Conference to receive the Commissioners of M. E Church on to morrow in reasonable time, o'clock, to receive the fraternal greetings they bring to us from their church; and that the committee on Introductions inform them of the readiness of the Conference to receive them at the hour appointed

L. M. LEE,
JNO E. EDWARDS.

The Harvest Home.

A farmer's cares are varied and his need of skill multiform, but especially when the matured crop waits to be secured in stack or bin. Here the delay of a day is dangerous and the miscalculation of an hour fatal. And as the harvesting approaches completion the peril of loss increases. When the grain has been cut and waits but deposit in a place of security, when the rich fruit of the laborer's toil of brain and brawn tarries for only one lift more to land it were it will be as good as gold, then the tramp of the winds, the blaze of the sun, the flash of flame and the fall of showers are full of threatening, and portend disaster the more fearful since it comes so late The harvest is not a harvest until it has been made the harvest home.

A like truth is taught in every field of human endeavor. No storms are so perilous to the mariner as those which drive him to the shore, no hours so anxious as those in which he picks his imperiled way into port. The fitting of the capstone in architecture, the application of legal lore to the case before a jury, the assimilation of food swallowed, the utilizing of knowledge acquired, the impression upon an audience of the discourse elaborated: in a word, the bringing home of any harvest is both most important and most perilous in itself and in that gone before and completed in it.

Peculiarly true is this in the harvesting of pastors and churches. God's spiritual products come by seasons as surely as his natural products, and and in the spiritual no less than the natural good garnering is great gain. That day may reveal as the best laborer in the spiritual vineyard, not him who scattered the most seed carelessly broadcast, nor him who watered most profusely weeds as well as wheat, nor him who rushed his crops to quick maturity, so much as him who made every grown grain count one by faithfully securing what was given him, by diligence and skill in bringing all the harvest safely and soundly home.—Chicago Standard.

Holiness.

Labor more for inward purity than for outward felicity.

That man cannot be upright before God, who is unjust in his dealings with men.

The more the christian enjoys of his God, the more he is concerned to bring others to enjoy the same.

When the heart is made the altar of God, then the head, the mental faculties, are the lights on that altar.

It is a very lofty thing to be a christian: for a christian is a man who is restoring God's likeness to his character.

To be amended by a little cross, afraid of a little misery, is a good evidence of grace in the soul.

Christ comes with a blessing in each hand: forgiveness in one and holiness in the other, and never gives either to any who will not take both.

We have had a great many translations of the holy Scriptures the best of all would be their translation into the daily practice of christian people. If men can read the characters of God's image in their own souls, those are the counterpart of the golden characters of his love, in which their names are written in the Book of Life.

A boat, with the full tide against it, does well if it can keep from driving back, and must have strong force, indeed, to get forward. We must estimate grace by the opposition it meets with.

PROVIDENCE.

To achieve great results by imperceptible means in the law of the divine dealings.

The cause of all the judgements that came up on the Edomites, was because they could not let the children of Israel pass peaceably through their land on their way to Canaan.—As a punishment for this, God says in reference to this land, "None shall pass through it forever and ever."—Isa. 34.—10. Thus with nations as with individuals, God's judgements become commonly a recompass in kind.

The Christian World gives in very plain words the difference between the Baptists of England and America on the question of Christian Communion. It says:

"In respect of freedom of communion, the Baptists of the States are just a century behind the Baptists of England: A hundred years ago it was held by Baptists to be scandalous for a person who had been immersed to sit down at the Lord's Supper with one who had only been sprinkled, and that is just the state of things prevailing on the other side of the Atlantic to-day. Nearly every English Baptist, professing to any sort of education, is now ashamed of this species of bigotry: and it may be hoped that the leaven of common sense Christian charity, which certain brethren seek to put into the American churches, will have its wholesome effect in due time."

THE CASE OF DR. HUSTON.—It may not be generally known that the case of Rev. Dr. Huston, formerly of Baltimore, convicted and unanimously expelled from the Baltimore Conference, will come up again at the General Conference in Louisville in May. The Baltimore Conference of the M. E. Church, South, when the trial came up assigned Rev. Dr. S. S. Roszell now of Staunton, Va., as the counsel for the accused. After the verdict Dr. Roszell, not thinking the evidence justified it, appealed the case for his client to the highest Church tribunal—the General Conference, and it will be heard there at the approaching session. Having taken the case up, Dr. Roszell will we presume, still be the counsel in the case.—Staunton Vindicator.

As one sensibly remarks: Making a profession of religion is like enlisting in the army. It is very easily done, and is at the most only a promise. Whether the promise is kept depends on how the recruit behaves: whether he endures hardships as a good soldier, and fights bravely, and follows wherever his Captain leads.

The Christian Advocate

OFFICE—Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

FOR ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE,	$2.0
SIX MONTHS,	125
If payment be delayed six months,	2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIA ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C. MAY 20, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

Misrepresentation.

There are two classes of ministers in the North: the one is kindly, forgiving, forbearing towards the South; the other is intolerant, bitter and unfair. We see every week some opinion from some minister who claims to be a servant of the Prince of Peace that is full of misrepresentation, unfairness and unkindness. Indeed, there are some leading ministers in that portion of the country who are more hostile and vindictive towards our people than the prating and godless demagogues who for party ends endeavor to sow the dragon's teeth of discord and enmity.

If the editor of the New York Christian Advocate is not of that class, he seems at least incapable of either understanding the Southern people, or of doing them the slightest justice. He has been recently travelling in the South, and upon his return home wrote out his impressions. We never read them, but from the criticisms that have been made upon his utterances, we should say, he was of the number who had been stricken with party and sectional blindness to an extent that rendered it impossible for them to see anything in its proper light in which the people of the South were interested. The medium through which he views us is sadly distorted. "All looks jaundiced to the jaundiced eye." We should judge from occasional expressions we meet with in his paper, that he suffers from chronic dyspepsia and consequent acidity of the stomach.

In his last paper he speaks of "the defeated rebels;" and insists that the accounts of misrule in the South are greatly exaggerated as "it is manifest that a systematic course of perversion and misrepresentation has been undertaken in the interest of the unreconstructed." He does not credit the accounts of the state of affairs that actually exists in our sister South Carolina. Oh no, he cannot believe what the best men of that State may say, but is ready to credit any adventurer who may defend the thieves who have been pillaging that State. Hear him on another point:

"As yet the white men of the South have failed to appreciate the situation of affairs in which they are found, for manifestly scarcely a single one of them has come to recognize the colored man as, in every particular, his equal before the law." Now we undertake to say, that the Advocate in this is very greatly mistaken, and that the fact is precisely the opposite—that all white men have "come to recognize" the very thing Dr. Curry denies. When such systematic, oft-repeated misrepresentation is indulged by religious representative men, how can the era of good feeling among the people of the two sections ever return? Mr. Greeley and Charles Sumner were far wiser in their day than the writers of the Dr. Curry school. But extreme, ultra, radical men have always existed, and they have done a deal of evil. It is proper that our people should know something of the tone of a part of the Northern religious press; hence we have referred to the course of the New York Advocate and its editor.

We would add, that when politicians are endeavoring to heal the national wounds, it surely does not become the followers of the meek and lowly Jesus to stir up strife and sectional bickerings. Only the other day, an eloquent and accomplished orator of the South, Hon. Mr. Lamar, of Mississippi, delivered a very noble and manly eulogy in the House of Representatives on Charles Sumner. It was well calculated to allay all strife between the sections of the country. A Northern Baptist religious paper in commenting upon this remarkable speech, said excellently:

"National wounds are often long in healing, but they do heal. Surely, it is a mistaken patriotism that would keep them still open, and altogether a blind zeal which seeks to promote any good cause by fanning into life the dying animosity of those who should be brothers."

Such utterances are in much better temper—show far more of that true christian spirit of love that "rejoiceth in the truth; beareth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things," than do the irritating insinuations and down right misrepresentations of Dr. Curry and men of his ilk.

A correspondent of the Raleigh Christian Advocate, M. E. Church South, has been giving some interesting articles showing the deleterious effects to the health of the disgusting practice of snuff-dipping. This paper has also had some excellent temperance editorials of late.—Atlanta Methodist Advocate.

Union.

We notice some of the secular papers are referring to a probable union between the Northern and Southern Methodist Churches. Their speculations grow out of the fact that there are three delegates from the former now at Louisville. We do not share in this anticipated speedy re-uniting of the two great branches of American Methodism. There are very many difficulties in the way of such a consummation that can not be removed at present. The people of neither section are ready for it, and if they were, there is no immediate prospect of such an end being attained. The Northern delegates are not empowered to make any such overtures as the secular papers suppose. The New York Methodist, in a temperate article upon the subject, says, in reference to the difficulties in the way, that they are mainly these:

1. The rejection of their proffer of fraternal intercourse in 1848.

2. Our repudiation of the plan of separation, which drew a geographical line between the two Methodisms.

3. Our occupancy of places of worship of which the title is vested by deed in the Church, South.

It may be that at some future time the Methodist Episcopal Church in this country will be one. But we feel satisfied that it will be some years hence. The causes that led to the separation were of too serious a character to justify us in expecting anything else. The antipathies engendered of the earnest, almost angry discussion, that grew out of the separation, still exist to some extent, and it will take some time for the wounds to cicatrize. The growth of a sentiment that will demand a blending of the two bodies must be gradual. It must come of itself, and no pressure can hasten the day. When all asperities have disappeared, and editors and ministers shall cease to cherish harsh feelings and to utter sentiments that are full of bitterness and wrath, then the two bodies will begin to approach each other in an attitude of favor that may lead to a re union.

The Two Churches.

The New York Christian Advocate has an excellent correspondent at Louisville, who furnishes that paper with a running account of the proceedings. In his letter of May 4th, he refers particularly to the question of the re-union of the two great Methodist Churches, and says that many persons seem to think that such an end "is on the eve of being accomplished." He does not share in this view, and remarks:

"I have endeavored to learn the feelings of members of the General Conference on the subject. I find all with whom I have conversed favorable to the cultivation of fraternal relations. On the subject of reunion less is said. Nobody doubts that the fraternal delegates from the Methodist Episcopal Church will be cordially received, but the disposition of most with whom I have conversed seems to be to put off the subject of reunion for future consideration. Some are very much opposed to it; others find objections to it, while admitting that on some grounds it might be desirable. A few are favorable to it, believing that it is a thing desirable in itself, and that therefore whatever lies in the way of its accomplishment ought, if possible, to be removed."

This is precisely the condition of things as we supposed. Our editorial upon the subject was written before we received the above. More than one quadrennium will pass, we believe, before the reunion will take place.

Sunday School Society.

The North Carolina Conference Sunday School Society convened in annual session in this city on Thursday last. There were present delegates from Raleigh, Newbern, Washington, Hillsboro, Fayetteville, Salisbury and Greensboro Districts. The success of the meeting was somewhat interrupted by the rain during most of the session. The opening address was delivered by R. T. Gray, Esq., of this city. It was an excellent address and was listened to with profound interest by his appreciative audience.—

The exercises on Sunday were of a highly entertaining character. Rev. E. W. Thompson of Fayetteville preached an admirable sermon at Edenton St. Methodist Church at 11 A. M. At 3 P. M. there was, in this church, a Sunday School Mass Meeting, composed of the Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian schools of this city. At night Rev. F. L. Reid of Lonisburg gave us a deeply interesting Sunday school address.

At Person St. Methodist Church, services at 11 A. M., by Rev. B. B. Culbreth, and at 7½ P. M. by Rev. L. W. Crawford.

The proceedings of the meeting, by order of the Society, have been put into our possession with instructions to publish in part, or in whole, as we may deem best. We shall make up a brief synopsis for our next issue.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year.—Rev. L. S Burkhead, D. D., President; Dr. S. F. Peete, Vice-President; J. A. Jones, Esq., Treasurer; C. M. Ogburn, Recording Secretary; and Rev. H. P. Cole, Corresponding Secretary. Greensboro was selected as the place for the next annual meeting.

REV. C. H. WILEY.—This gentlemen, who is District Superintendent of the American Bible Society in North Carolina, has located his family at Winston, where correspondents are requested to address him.

Mother.

Perhaps the sweetest, tenderest word in all our language is—mother. Around it gather the most touching memories and the most fondly cherished associations. It is a very depraved and unnatural creature who does not love tenderly and deeply his mother. When all other claims have failed with the prodigal the voice of mother has possessed still a charm and potency to bring him back to reason and duty. Like the tones of the maiden's voice to the ear of the lover, the accents of a mother's tongue have ever been sweet and entrancing to the true son in whose heart remained forever the image of the dear one who bore and nurtured him. We see this grand passion of the soul illustrated most beautifully in the life of our Saviour. How lovingly He remembers His mother even amid the agonies of the cross, when he commits her to the tender charge of the disciple to whom he was so deeply and specially attached: "When Jesus therefore saw his mother, and the disciple standing by, whom he loved, he saith unto his mother, Woman, behold thy son! Then said he to the disciple, Behold thy mother! And from that hour that disciple took her unto his own home."

Men love their mothers more than any other beings, with whom they are connected by ties of blood, because they know how deep, inexhaustible, undying is a mother's love for them. The love of others may fail, but that of mother is perennial and everlasting.

Many of the great men of the world have clung to their mother with an ardor and love that was very beautiful. The affection that Dr. Johnson had for his mother was more creditable to him than any literary abilities he possessed. The illustrious George Canning loved his mother most tenderly, and as it is related of him, made ample provision for her support. When a foreign embassador he wrote to her invariably every week a letter of love. She was a plain woman, but his heart was too good, too noble, too true to feel any shame for her obscurity.

Though he could never elevate her tastes and associations above the connections of her youth, he used to throw aside the cares of office, that he might visit her and the humble cousins with whom she dwelt at Bath, and there, when in the zenith of his fame, would walk out with his plebeian relatives, and receive the homage of his lordly visitants at that fashionable place of resort, in their company.

Now Canning was Prime Minister of Great Britain, was a great orator and statesman, and one of the most accomplished literary men of his times. But how much more does his deep love for his mother dignify and elevate him than do his genius, eloquence and power.

Lamartine, referring to his mother, says: "She was tender and affectionate by nature, and the impressiveness and love still resound in my heart, after that voice has, alas! been long mute."

And lastly, for we have not space for other quotations, see gentle and very rarely gifted Charles Lamb writing this to his friend, the great Samuel Taylor Coleridge:

"Oh, my friend! I think sometimes could I recall the days that are past, which among them should I choose? Not those 'merrier days,' not the 'pleasant days of hope,' not 'those wanderings with a fair-haired maid,' which I have so often and so feelingly regretted, but the days, Coleridge, of a mother's fondness for her schoolboy. What would I give to call her back to earth for one day, on my knees to ask her pardon for all those little asperities of temper which, from time to time, have given her gentle spirit pain! And the day, my friend, I trust will come; there will be 'time enough' for kind offices of love, if 'Heaven's eternal years' be ours. Hereafter her meek spirit shall not reproach me. Oh, my friend, cultivate the filial feelings! and let no man think himself released from the kind 'charities' of relationship: these shall give him peace at last; these are the best foundation for every species of benevolence."

Young men cherish, love, honor, obey your mothers, and in after years when they have passed to the world of spirits, you will have no poignant regrets of filial short-comings, and their memories will be sweeter and more fragrant than richest spice-laden zephyrs from Araby the blest. The writer of these lines lost his mother while yet he was a little boy, and still her memory is dearer to him than any other treasure that the past can yield. She died in great peace, and one of her last acts was to caress her boy who was so soon to be motherless, and tell him to be good and meet her at last in heaven. So be it.

GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE.—Bishop J. C. Keener, of New Orleans, will preach the Annual Sermon before Greensboro' Female College in June next.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES OF PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY.—Annual Sermon by Rev. W. C. Norman, June 17th, 11 o'clock A. M. At 3 P. M. Literary address by Prof. L. Johnson, A. M. of Trinity College. At 8 P. M. music and declamations. June 18th, General exercises. The public itvited.

R. P. Troy.

TRINITY COLLEGE.—The editor returns thanks to the Managers, for an invitation to attend the Commencement Party complimentary to the Graduating Class of Trinity College, on June 11th next.

Vanderbilt University.

The corner-stone of Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tenn., was laid on April 28th with appropriate ceremonies. They had a band of music and the choirs from many churches.

The Rev. Dr. Hunter, of Arkansas, offered an appropriate prayer. Bishop McTyeire then made a brief address.

Chancellor R. J. Morgan, made a speech.

The venerable Bishop Paine then solemnly laid the beautiful and solid corner-stone in place, assisted by the architect, Mr. W. C. Smith. The stone bears on one side the simple legend, "Vanderbilt University," and on another side, A. D. 1874. The Secretary of the University, Dr. Young, then deposited various articles in the stone, such as a copy of the Bible issued by the A. B. Society, Hymn-book, Discipline, Journal of the General Conference, Minutes of the Annual Conferences, copies of the last issues of our Church periodicals, a copy of Mr. Vanderbilt's donation paper, with a picture of the Commodore, also pictures of the Bishops, a copy of the Charter and names of Trustees, names of officers of the Federal and Tennessee State Governments, &c., &c.

A highly interesting meeting was held at night in McKendree Church. Bishop Wightman made a characteristically happy address, extracts from which we may hereafter publish.

A VERY GREEN OLD AGE.—We lately referred to Dr. Lovick Pierce, now in his ninetieth year, who is one of the delegates from Georgia to the General Conference in session at Louisville, Ky. The Northern Methodist Church has one venerable divine who exceeds in age the oldest of Southern Methodist preachers, Rev. Henry Boehm, now in his ninety ninth year, who a few years ago attended the Newark Conference at Paterson. He was requested by his Conference, in case he should survive till its next session, to preach a centenary sermon. Mr. Boehm is still capable of making public addresses, and expresses himself in simple and forcible language.

We trust he may live a decade to come and be then able to speak in behalf of his Lord and Master. We do not know how brother Boehm ranked in his best days as a preacher. We suppose that when Dr. Pierce was in his prime, he was the equal of any man whose oratory has illustrated Southern eloquence, and that in the pulpit he was unsurpassed by any man whose name adorns the annals of Southern Methodism.

Editorial Marginalia.

1. It is a beautiful custom to make the City of the Dead lovely and cheerful with flowers and evergreens. In the South it is quite too common to neglect the graves of the departed, and to allow weeds and briars to usurp the place of flowers. Since the sorrowful bereavements of the war our people in many places once a year assemble at the cemeteries where the Confederate soldiers sleep their last sleep, and with sympathetic hearts, and tearful eyes, and tender care, lay their floral offerings upon the mounds beneath which sleep the brave. No one whose heart is attuned to love can object to such a touching custom. It is surely a beautiful sight when the young and the old, the dignified and quiet matrons, accompanied by lovely and happy-hearted maidens, go forth with their tributes of flowers of richest hue and sweetest fragrance to place them upon graves of heroes who yielded up their lives amid the fiery pangs of war.

2. Bishop Wightman in his admirable Vanderbilt University Address, quotes a well known passage thus:

The dead
But sceptered Sovrans, that still rule
Our spirits from their urns.

It should be as follows:

"The great of old,
"The dead but sceptered sovrans who still rule
Our spirits from their urns."

3 From a highly instructive article in the last Edinburgh Review, on Ancient and Modern Libraries, we glean two interesting facts. First, that a single modern volume contains quite ten ancient volumina—so when we read of the works of Epicurus numbering 300 volumes, or those of Varro more than 700 volumes, we are to understand that they were very small books. The writer suggests that Homer would be called twenty-four volumes, whereas they are easily contained in one of our modern volumes. Shakespeare's plays, if they had been ancient, would have been in thirty-six volumes probably, instead of one as is often the case. This throws light on the enormous estimates made of Ancient libraries—that of Alexandria being variously estimated at from 100,000 to 700,000 volumes. The Edinburgh thinks that it "would fall far short in its real literary contents, of second rate, or even third-rate collections of the present day."

The other point is the cheapness of ancient books. For instance, the first book of Martial's "Epigrams," consisting of one hundred and nineteen epigrams, in handsome binding, sold for five denarii, or not more than seventy five cents. We have minute information on this point. But enough. A cheaper edition of Martial only sold for some thirty cents, or less.

4. Here is a little poem that contains truth fitly written:

TRIFLES.

The massive gates of circumstance
Are turned upon the smallest hinge,
And thus some seeming pettiest chance
Oft gives our life its after tinge.

The tribes of our daily lives,
The common things scarce worth recall,
Whereof no visible trace survives,
These are the mainsprings, after all.

5. In the Northern Methodist Discipline, we are told, that the Bishops ask candidates for admission—"Will you be careful not to preach too long or too loud." An important inquiry: Does not the question imply that the tastes of Methodist congregations have changed?

6. Unfortunately but few classical students ever acquire such a mastery over the ancient languages as to read them with ease and pleasure. De Quincey, when not more than twelve years of age, could speak Greek fluently, and he was an Englishman. John Stuart Mill had read a dozen of the hardest Ancient authors by the time he was eight years of age. The main thing is to acquire such a knowledge of the classics as to take to them with ardor. Professor Tayler Lewis says in an article on "Classical Study:"

"To make more of our classical course we must aim at two principal things: these are, in the first place, more extensive reading, and, secondly, the producing, in some way, a state of thought and feeling which shall be a guarantee for classical study in after life."

7. The doctrine of regeneration by baptism has lately had a new illustration. An Episcopal minister recently baptized a boy in Chicago. The next day or two the father wrote a note to the rector, as from the boy, thanking him for making him a Christian, and enclosed a $20 greenback.—The rector acknowledged the receipt of the same, adding: "You are a better Christian than some older ones, as you have works as well as faith!"

Lit rary G.ssip

The celebrated Archbishop Manning has a striking article in the April number of the Contemporary Review on "Ultramontanism and Christianity."

Messrs. Nelson & Phillips (the New York Methodist House,) have just published a Life and Habit Species, one of the leading and ablest of the English Positivists. It is from the pen of B. P. Bowne.

Mr. Gladstone has stated he will devote a part of his time to literary production since his retirement. He contributes a translation of "The Reply of Achilles to the Envoys of Agamemnon," to the May number of the Contemporary Review.

A new life of Rev. Henry Martyn, the saintly and self sacrificing Missionary, by Rev. John Sargent, has been published.

The sweetest religious poems we have read are by Francis Ridley Havergal, the daughter of an English clergyman of the Establishment. They are very beautiful, very spiritual, very poetical. Get her little volume and read every thing that comes from her pen. Her lyre is wonderfully attuned.

Charles Francis Adams has just published the first volume of his father's Memoirs with copious selections from his Diary. John Quincy Adams was a very remarkable man, and he was fortunate in leaving a son so well qualified to edit his literary and political remains. It will be a work of great interest and importance when completed.

One of the ablest and most evangelical Episcopal ministers, Dr. Stephen A. Tyng, Senior, of New York, has published a work that is well spoken of on The Office and Duty of a Christian Pastor. No one living is probably better qualified for such a task.

Bath Circuit.

Brother L. L. Nash writes us from Washington May 9th, that a great revival closed on the 8th. He says:

We commenced two weeks ago to protract a meeting at Ashury Church, and the Lord was pleased to pour out his Spirit. The church was soon on fire with the love of God; sinners began to be awakened and cry for mercy. The altar was soon crowded with penitents, until the entire community was made to feel the spirit of the living God. Bro. Raven came from Washington and preached once. Bro. Hoover gave us one sermon, and Dr. Closs providentially was with us one night. In regard to Dr. Closs I desire to say, we have but one, and his zeal and energy is seldom equalled, and never surpassed. He came to Washington to marry a couple. I accidentally found him, and he rode with me five miles in the rain and laborered until midnight, arose at four the next morning, married the couple and set out for his appointment on the Columbia Circuit. Well I am digressing. We had between forty five and fifty conversions, and forty one accessions to the church. To God be all the glory!

Brother J. H. Guinn writes us from Wadesboro' circuit, of the date of May 11th:

"I am well pleased with my work. The people are kind and attentive to the word. We have had no special revival as yet, but we think that the prospects are encouraging at several points. My congregations are generally large and continually increasing. We are praying for and expecting a revival."

DAILY ADVOCATE.—Having failed to receive regularly the Daily Advocate we have been unable to bring up our report beyond the sixth day.

Rev. J. N. Somers' address is Scott's Cross Roads, Iredell co., N. C.

Revival Intelligence.

DEAR BRO. BOBBITT: Please say through the ADVOCATE for the information of your many readers that the good Lord is reviving his work again on Hatteras circuit, my field of labor. I commenced a series of meetings at Kennekeet on Friday night before the 3d Sunday in April and continued on mostly every day and night till the 4th Sunday night, 10 days in succession, with the following results: Twenty-two bright conversions and 26 candidates, with their names enrolled for membership into the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Christ Church, the good old Mother Church, whose doctrines have been taught and handed down from Christ and his apostles from one generation to another to the present time. It was a good meeting all through, with large and serious congregations, feasting on heavenly things; but on Monday and Thursday nights the windows of Heaven seemed to be thrown open, for God poured down in pentecostal showers his heavenly blessing upon his people and those hungering for the bread of life at the altar of prayer. Eight were converted.

On Thursday night the displays of God's grace were still more powerful and still more glorious. The result was that ten were made happy in a Saviour's love.

The meeting closed with 16 penitents at the altar. They say it is the best meeting that they have had at Kennekeet for several years. I was aided by brothers H. G. Peed and D. G. Meekins, local ministers. Brother Peed remained till Wednesday and preached four sermons for us, and then went to the Cape and commenced a series of meetings on Thursday night. Brother Meekins was with us all the time. It is enough to say that these brethren did their duty; so did brother Miller, the class-leader, and the other members that pray in public. The church generally was up and doing—scarcely any that were not moved by the refreshing showers of divine grace to work for the conversions of souls. The meeting was held in the new church: it is not quite completed. Brother Peed kept up his series of meetings at the Cape for most of the time till last Wednesday night, so I have heard, and it resulted in ten or twelve conversions and others reclaimed, and 9 or 10 accessions to the Church. He was aided by brother Oliver Barnett, local minister. I commenced a series of meetings here at Hatteras last Saturday night, and closed up last night. But did not have as good meetings as we anticipated on account of the rainy weather and high tides. There were 5 or 6 penitents at the altar most of the time deeply affected.

There were six accessions to the church at Kennekeet before we began to hold these series of meetings. To sum up, there have been about 35 conversions and 40 accessions to the Church up to the present time. The prospects are very good for a general revival throughout the entire circuit. There will be a camp-meeting held at Chickamacomico commencing on Tuesday the 21st of July, and will continue till Monday following embracing the 4th Sunday of the month.

Not unto us, but unto God be all the praise for his glorious work in our midst.

Yours in the bonds of Christian love,
W. B. MANESS.

JUDGE MERRIMON.—We acknowledge the reception of a copy of the very able speech made by this eminent North Carolinian in the United States Senate, on April 23rd and 24th, on the Louisiana question.

Religious Brevities.

— The Southern Baptist Convention is in session at Galveston, Texas. About three hundred delegates are in attendance and Rev. James P. Boyce, D. D., of Louisville, is presiding.

— Mr. Talmage, in his Christian at Work, cannot approve of cremation, preferring to adhere "to the mode that was observed when the bones of Moses were deposited in Shechem." This remark will do to be quoted in the same paragraph with that of the New York Herald concerning the man who "after the cock crew thrice, Judas went out and hanged himself." Also with that of Mr. Edward King, in his article in the May Scribner, about Jacob's wrestling with the angel of prayer.

—It is stated upon the authority of a prominent man who has left the Roman Catholic priesthood that there are in the United States as many as three thousand men who have been Romish priests and who are now in other occupations of various kinds. They are said to have left their clerical calling from causes of many and different sorts—some from scruples of conscience, some from desire of greater personal liberty, and some for other religions.

— JEWS FLOCKING TO JERUSALEM.—The correspondent of the Jewish Chronicle at Jerusalem writes: "The enormous immigration of Russian and Polish Jews goes on without intermission. Last autumn every Russian boat from Odessa and every Austrian boat from Trieste brought forty or fifty families. Among these were several rich men, who immediately on their arrival bought ground and built houses, especially outside the city near the gate, on both sides of the Jaffa road, so that a new suburb—in fact, a 'new Jerusalem,' is springing up here.

— The work of Bible revision is going forward rapidly in England, but will occupy some six years longer. The translators are adopting, as nearly as possible, the same arrangements as those enforced by James I., during the making of the first translation, in the years 1607, 1611. One of the most indefatigable of the translators is Dr. Gnisburg, a Church of England clergyman, not now, however, discharging clerical duty. He is of German extraction, and a most accomplished scholar, with the advantage of a valuable library containing some rare and priceless Bibles. Dr. Gnisburg discharges the preliminary work of revision; it is then submitted to the other members of the company. The fullest harmony prevails among the translators and revisers.

— The General Synod of the Southern Presbyterian Church met at Savannah, Georgia, April 30, 1874. There was a large attendance from the Southern States. The Synodical sermon was preached by the Rev. F. F. Campbell, of Virginia, and an address on the condition of the Church was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Frey, of Pennsylvania. The Rev. T. P. Smultze, of South Carolina, was elected President, Rev. G. A. Huff, of Georgia, Vice President, and Rev. T. H. Turner, Secretary.

— It seems that the bishops of the Church of England consider the situation in it serious enough to apply for greater power to compel clerical obedience to the order and the ceremony of worship contained in the Book of Common Prayer. The occasion of this proposal is not concealed. The Times is very frank upon the subject, and says that "it has become impossible any longer to overlook the license which now prevails in the church in regard to the mode of celebrating divine worship;" that, although "the days of absolute uniformity have long passed," and few would wish to recall them, there is now "an absolute disregard of the clearest decisions of the Courts of Law."

—Very reasonably, the Presbyterian is not satisfied with the report of the joint committees on union between the Cumberland Presbyterians and the Presbyterians North, which provides that the Confessions of Faith of both churches be retained, and that the candidates for the ministers be allowed the privilege of selecting according to their own desires; both Confessions of Faith to be on equal footing, and have the equal authority in the united church. It says that alternative confessions are novelties in the theological world, and it hopes will continue to be so. "The inhabitants of a commonwealth might as well attempt to live under two constitutions, with liberty to swear to one or the other, as individuals might see fit."

— Two Reformed Episcopal Churches have just been organized in Canada; one at Ottawa and one at Moncton. The Ottawa church has a Church membership of fifty, and the Rev. JOHNSTON MCCORMAC, of Kentucky, is rector.

— WITHIN the past seventeen years Mr. SPURGEON has received 13,000 persons into his church on profession of their faith, has erected thirty six chapels in the metropolis; and supplied them with ministers trained in his college, in which over sixty young men are now studying for the ministry.

— THE famous Bull Coena Domin, is a particular bull read in the Pope's presence every year, on the day of the Lord's Supper, or Maunday Thursday, and containing excommunications and anathemas against heretics and all who disturb or oppose the jurisdiction of the Holy See. After the reading of the bull the Pope throws a burning torch in the public place to denote the thunder of this anathema.

— THE Old Catholics allow the marriage of the priesthood, and recently the Rev. ABBE CHAVARD, third cure or pastor in the Reformed or Old Catholic Church in Geneva, Switzerland, and who has been a priest for many years in the Roman Catholic Church, was married by Father HYACINTHE in the old church of St. Germain, "the place where the Reformation was first preached in Geneva before the coming of TROMENT and FAREL, by a nameless Franciscan friar." The entire clergy of the Catholic Church of Geneva attended and escorted the bridal party up the aisle. There are now four married priests in Geneva.

— THE Baptists of Tennessee have consolidated their Convention work. Heretofore, the State has been divided into three conventions, East, Middle, and West. The new "Tennessee Baptis Association," has now been organized under circumstances which promise great harmony.

— The sale of the pews in Dr. Tyng's new church, New York, took place last week. The first choice sold at $185, the rental of which is $375, and was received by Mr. Baldwin. The sum realized is estimated at over $50,000, six months' rental being paid in advance, and the premiums amounting to between 7,000 and $8,000.

— The Methodists of England have 7,000 churches, valued at $60,000,000, gold; 1,3000 ministers and local preachers, and between 300,000 to 400,000 church members. Upward of 1,000,000 persons attend their ministry, 600 000 children attend their Sunday schools, and 120, 000 attend their day schools and other educational institutions.

— The Austrian government has given the Pope another blow. It has by a decided vote resolved that the Theological College at Innsbruck; which is in the hands of the Jesuits, be broken up in July next. The college is looked upon as the nursery of Jesuitism for Austria, Germany and Switzerland. Of the 200 alumni matriculated only 60 are Austrian subjects, and on this ground the chamber has formally determined that the college, which trains chiefly foreigners, cannot in fairness be supported out of Austrian funds.

— At a recent sale of rare books and manuscripts in London, a series of letters, printed between 1620 and 1630, and sold in those days at a half penny each, brought £43, over a dollar and a half each. Cristini de Pisa's "Boke of the Fayt of Armes," printed by Caxton in 1489, and having several leaves in fac simile, brought £103. A collection of Piranesi's engravings went at £255, and an edition of Shakespeare's works, by Halliwell, with India proof illustrations, at £81. Other works brought proportionately large prices.

Personal

The Bishop of Manchester, in England, has declared himself in favor of cremation.

Professor Alpheus Crosby, an eminent Greek scholar, and widely known as an educator, died in Sidem, Mass., on Friday last.

It is said that Mr. Beecher is to have a new church to cost $100,000, and which will seat 6,000 people.

Rev. Adam Nightingale, for fifty years a British Wesleyan minister, died near Bristol, ngland, March 20, aged eighty two years. He entered the itinerancy under the presidency of Dr. Adam Clarke, and was soon sent as missionary to Newfoundland; where he labored about forty years.

Rev. Mr. Jaeger, an Israelite, has been ordained as a minister of the Baptist church, in Greenville, Ga.

Bishop Keener recently raised over one thousand dollars for Missions after a sermon in Carondolet street Church in New Orleans.

There is a Presbytery of Egypt, keeping its records in the Arabic language. At a recent meeting Mr. Ibrahim Yusef was presented with a call from the Church at Cairo.

A HANDSOME marble monument is in course of erection over the grave of the late Dr. Guthrie, in the Grange Cemetery, Edinburg.

Mrs. Mary Cobb, a daughter of Hon. Thos. S. Flournoy, and Mrs. Nash, a daughter of ex Gov. Giles, of Virginia, died last week in Richmond.

Miscellaneous Items.

The Chicago Tribune prints a poem in which the writer wishes she "had a heart full of sweet yearlings." How the persecuted author must have yearned to fumble among the compositor's hair.

The passage of the compulsory Education bill in the New York Assembly by a vote of 67 to 35 is a notable circumstance. The act requires that all children between the age of eight and fifteen years shall be required to attend school or receive private instruction in the common English branches at least fourteen weeks in each year.

They describe Senator Jones, of Nevada, as a burly, broad shouldered gentleman about forty years of age. He is a native of Wales, and left Ohio for the gold regions when gold was first discovered. His profits from a silver mine in Nevada are $5,000,000 per annum, and he is probably the wealthiest Welshman of the name of Jones, or any other name, in the country.

FATE makes the discords of the present the harmonies of the future. Robert Collyer.

The monument to the Confederate dead, recently unveiled in New Orleans, consists of a statue of a private soldier standing upon a pedestal, upon which are busts of Generals R. E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson, A. S. Johnston and Leonidas Polk.

There is a movement on in Austria for the expulsion of Jesuits from that country.

The Cincinnati Acclimatization Society has imported twenty three kinds of birds.

There are 20,000 Northern people in Florida hunting health and eating oranges.

Our Book Table.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, for June seems to be freighted with good things. Take it all and in all, it is the most desirable of American monthlies. Price $4 a year.

NEW YORK TRIBUNE EXTRA No. 17. Such is the title of a large double-column pamphlet of 64 pages containing sketches of "Metropolitan Sermons" by forty-two ministers. We have already spoken in cordial terms of the "Extras" issued at the TRIBUNE office.

"THE PRAYER OF AGASSIZ," a very touching little poem by the Quaker, John G. Whittier—one of the truest and best of American poets. It is issued by the "Agassiz Memorial Teachers' and Pupils' Fund," of Boston.

WOOD'S HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE, for May contains quite a variety of reading matter. Price $1 a year, New York.

THE EXPANSE OF HEAVEN: A Series of Essays on Wonders of the Firmament. By R. A. Proctor B. A. Author of "Other Worlds than Ours," "The Moon" &c. New York: D. Appleton & Co 1874. The author of this book is eminent for scientific attainments, for eloquence of style and felicity of statement, and for the freshness and originality of his treatment of old subjects. The work before us cannot fail to entertain every reader who takes the slightest interest in matters of science. From what little we have dipped into this volume we anticipate a rare treat in following the gifted explorer in his discussions of the sun, planets and other "wonders of the firmament."

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All the traveling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1.00. Those who send us none will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters on the office should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all remittals should be sent in registered letter post-office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post-office order can be deducted from the amount sent. If money is sent otherwise than in the above [illegible] at the sender's risk.

City Items

The Memorial celebration on 10th May was largely attended. Gen. W. R. Cox made a tasteful, impressive and patriotic address.

J. R. Williams, Jr. in his twenty ninth year, died on last Tuesday whilst on a visit to Chatham.

The Press Convention met on 12th inst. and continued for two days. Only some twenty-one papers out of Raleigh were represented. There are ninety-six, we believe, in the State.

North Carolina.

Capt. S. W. Gresham, of Richmond, Va., continues his operations as agent of the Piedmont and Arlington Life Insurance Company. Said to make $1,000 in Caswell county N. C. He is a clever fellow. Capt. Gresham is one of the very few commissioned officers in our church and we commend him to our Methodist people wherever he may cast his lot, and the public generally, and offer hey will to be the stay [illegible] thousand dollar policy.

The Piedmont and Arlington Life Insurance Company is one of the best and most successful institutions of the kind in the country. Its home office is in Richmond, Va., and its agencies are in the Western states. Its policies are liberal and its profits are annual accretions. It has had a steady increase of business from its beginning, and a decrease of mortality, as is shown in its annual reports. A leading insurance authority says of it: "Among the companies of the country, so far as I am able to judge, there is no one which has a better record for economical management, or for the prompt payment of its losses, than the Piedmont and Arlington Life Insurance Company." Capt. Gresham is now in Caswell county, and will be glad to receive applications for insurance. Those desiring to insure will find it to their interest to apply to him.

Dr. Curtis Bynum, of Greensboro, who has been connected with the Commissary service several years as an Agent, has taken the General Agency for North Carolina, headquarters at Greensboro. Dr. Bynum is a clever gentleman and will make a good agent. The Company is one of the best, and we commend it to the favorable consideration of our people.

— The property of the Gold boro Female College is to be sold or leased.

— Associate Justice —— is the injury by the cold to wheat and rye will be slight in that section.

— Wheat and rye look fine in McDowell, and rains have delayed preparations for corn crop.

— A rich vein of iron ore has recently been discovered in the vicinity of Icard Station, one and a half miles from the W. N. C. R. R.

— Gen. W. L. T. Prince, late of Chesaw, S. C., now of Baltimore, will deliver the address before the young ladies of Peace Institute, in Raleigh, at the commencement in June.

— Rev. E. M. Green will be installed Pastor of the Presbyterian church at Washington on the 18th inst.

— A negro by the name of Edward Graham, 102 years of age, died on the 20th inst., at Magnolia. He was a native of Africa, and was sold as a slave at about 80 years ago.

— Mr. Lentile one of the oldest citizens of Charlotte, died last Monday.

— The telegraph office at Hillsboro has been closed

— The Newbern Lees Association has been in existence one year and is able to lend $10,000.

— The State Episcopal Convention will meet in the city of Wilmington on the 19th inst.

— The county Commissioners of Granville have been indicted for failing to make a statement of county finance, as required by law.

— The Newbern Times says there genuine selling in a lot in Pamlico river last week had their boats upset and one Eugene Clark was drowned.

— Crops and fruit in Union but little damaged.

— The fruit crop will be short in the mountain counties.

— The Orphans' picnic at Oxford is postponed to the 13th. Rev. Dr. J. M. Atkinson and Rev. Mr. Mangum will deliver addresses.

— There are five teachers and 138 pupils at the Orphan Asylum at Oxford. The teachers and not one receive twenty-five dollars per month and board, says the Chatsworth. The great grand-daughter of Gov. Caswell is there, also a bright young lassie fourteen years of age. She has no father or mother, no sister or brother. Without one cent of money or property, and was found living with the stage grandson-in-law! She promises to make a very accomplished lady.

— We have conversed with farmers from all parts of the county, and understand that the crops and fruit are very little damaged by the late cold snaps.—Oxford Enquirer.

— E. B. Holden Esq. a prominent citizen of Pee Ridge, Caswell county died on Friday morning from congestive chill. He was stricken on Wednesday and never rallied from the attack. He was a brother to Gov. Holden. He was an old, respected layman and a man of many excellent qualities.—Hillsboro Recorder.

— The Hillsborough Recorder hears on all sides general complaint of the loss of tobacco plants by fly and frost.

— The question of prohibition is mudded in Statesville. The liquor men carried the town, but many of them voted "No Prohibition" when the ticket should have been "No License." As a consequence the Prohibitionists have the town under a strict construction of the law.

— There are 280 Granges in the State.

— Leaksville has two tobacco factories.

— Mt. Airy Visitor reports Surry wheat injured by late frosts.

— The new Associate Reformed Church in Charlotte has been commenced.

— The North Carolina Agricultural Society is endeavoring with good prospects of success, to secure the next meeting of the National Agricultural Congress in Raleigh.

— The Confederate memorial ceremonies took place in Newbern Saturday.—Rev. L. C. Vass read an original poem, and Maj. Thomas Sparrow, of Washington, delivered the address.

— Mt Airy Visitor: We learn that on Saturday night, April the 18th, Bill Edwards and Ruth Chorse eloped for parts unknown, Edwards left a wife and three children, and Ruth a husband and small child.

— A convention of the elders and deacons of various Presbyterian Churches in Mecklenburg, North Carolina Presbytery will meet in Charlotte, on the third Thursday in July.

— The second attempt, made night before last, to burn the Primitive Baptist Church at Rocky Mt. Falls succeeded. The people are excited, says the Mail.

— Henderson Register: Mr. C. C. Heggie, has been acquitted of the alleged crime of murder, and is now enjoying the quiet of his once happy home.

— Prof. W. G. Richardson, Professor of Latin and Modern Languages in Davidson College, N. C., has been offered the same position in the Central University at Richmond, Ky., and has accepted, says the News.

Memorial Day in Greensboro.—Mr. Robt. T Gray, of Raleigh, and formerly connected with the staff of the Advocate, delivered the address at Greensboro'. The Patriot gives "an eloquent and just tribute to the heroism of Southern women" from it, and says:

"Mr. R. T. Gray, of Raleigh, the orator of the occasion was introduced briefly by Col. Morehead and entertained the audience with a handsomely conceived, pointedly written, and eloquently delivered discourse of a half hour or more."

General News.

A quorum of the Arkansas Legislature is in session at Little Rock.

Senator Davis has introduced a bill to re-imburse West Virginia for losses during the war.

The Cabinet talked two hours on the 14th inst., on Arkansas matters. The Legislature will be supported.

The Freedman's bank bill has been passed as heretofore telegraphed.

John A. Hyman, (col.) of Warrenton, Warren county, has been nominated for Congress from the 2nd Congressional District of North Carolina.

The currency bill has passed. It provides for free banking until greenbacks are reduced to three hundred million.

The cotton exchange, of New York, has suggested the 10th of June as the day upon which the assembling of the cotton convention is to take place at Augusta, Ga.

Marriages.

May the 7th 1874 by Rev R T N. Stephenson n. Mr S. A. Vestal to Miss S. J. Mackie, all of Yadkin county, N C.

In the Methodist Church at Carthage, N. C., 7th inst ult, by Rev. L. H. Gibbons, Lewis Brown, Esq and Miss Maggie A. Richardson.

Married, on Sunday the 3rd of May, at Mt. Pleasant Church, Rockingham county, by Rev W. T. Sowman, Mr Wm. L. Spradling, of Ruffin, N. C., and Miss Jennie K. Lauder, of Harrisonburg, New York.

Deaths.

☞ Obituary notices of twenty lines are inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines of more words is charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line. Count the lines and allow more words to the line. In this way you may always know the amount to enclose. Resolutions of respect are subject to the same rule.☜

Mrs Martha A Forlaw, wife of Lewis S. Forlaw, died suddenly in Beaufort, N. C., on the 12th of April 1874

She was in the 50th year of her age, and for 33 years had been a consistent member of the M. E. Church. Her health had been quite feeble for a number of years but this did not deter her from discharging the duties of an active christian life. Death leaves a shining mark. He bound one in the subject of this notice. Her life was most exemplary. Her efforts to do good were many: relieving the want of the poor—aiding in supporting the church and with heart and hand and purse ever ready to further every enterprise promising to be promotive of good. Her life was not one of those which might end and leave no void. She is missed: Her family the church the poor feel her loss. Her place will be hard to fill. In her religious experience she was rather inclined to distress, be sad and cold to the outside. For the last few weeks, however, Before her death her mind was relieved, and then on forward she enjoyed sweet communion with God while consciousness remained.

J. H. Wheeler.

Died, in Beaufort, N. C., on the 22nd of April 1874, Mrs. M. J. Basket, in the 61st year of her age, relict of Reuben Basket.

Sister In fact was converted to God on the 9th of April 1838, and in company with her husband joined the M. E Church on the 13th of the same month and year She continued a consistent member until the day of her death. Though suffering from disease for several weeks, her death was sudden, yet she gave evidence of being ready for the summons God was with her in her sickness, and enabled her to rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory."

J. H. W.

Died, in Greensboro' N. C. on the 3rd May 1874, after a short but painful illness, Annie E. infant daughter of Dr. J. E. and J. A Brachlin aged, 1 year 7 mos. and 5 days.

Fold her little shroud about her,
Soft as folds of snowy white;
Yearning hearts must live without her,
She is in the land of light.
Hang the tiny waxen fingers
Over the peaceful, slumbering breast,
Close the baby eyes forever,
Little Annie's gone to rest.

On her downy coffin-pillow
Lay the darling little head,
Lay the precious sleeper softly,
In her sewage and lonely bed.
Never more shall pain's keen arrows
Pierce that sweet and tender Joyner,
She is safe from every evil,
Safe from every earthly harm.

To that far off blessed country.
Where your young white dove has gone,
Think not that she went through darkness,
Pain or sin, fearful and alone.
Jesus loves these little children,
He has borne her o'er the flood,
And has laid your treasure safely
In the bosom of her God.

She will have no need of mama
In that home like, pleasant shore,
Nor will fear the frying laces
She has never seen before,
Beautiful and gentle angels
Watched and guard your baby there,
So she will not miss your voices
Or your never wearying care.

In Memoriam.

Departed this life very suddenly on the 3rd inst., Mary B. Patterson, wife of Wm. N. Patterson, of Orange.

Truly in the midst of life we are in death. But a few short years ago she came among us a bride: young and happy: radiant as the morning and one of the fairest and most lovely of her sex. Carrying gladness and sunshine wherever she went she was the light of the social circle, the pride of her friends and the idol of her husband. To day we contemplate all that remained of Mary Ruffin and her little infant.

"Our pleasures like snow flakes on a river
Are a moment up and gone forever."

May He who tempers the winds to the shorn lamb temper in mercy this overwhelming affliction to the bereaved and stricken family.

Cradled in luxury, and reared in affluence, yet when called to encounter the sober realities of life. She did it with a devotion that the most ambitious might be proud to emulate. "Child heart, non ornavit."

The great comfort of her friends is that while she did not talk religion she practised it. That her life abounded in the cardinal virtues of the christian religion. "The greatest of these is charity." And she was never heard to speak ill of any one. Farewell Mary Ruffin, but when the trump of the archangel shall sound, we hope to meet you in the blessed immortality beyond the grave.

Died, on the 10th inst., at Portsmouth, Samuel Dudley, M. D. Aged 81 years, 6 months, 14 days.

Cohcord, N. H., papers please copy obituary hereafter.

Breckon Dixon.

Mary Joyner, was the daughter of Henry Eldsaw of Campbell co. Va., and was born on the 11th of July 1787. She professed religion, and joined the Methodist church in 1804, it being her seventeenth year. In 1807 she married William Joyner, deceased, and about the year 1831 they moved to Iredell co. N. C. and settled at the place now occupied by the town of Ohio. Her husband died in 1856 after which she went to live with her son, and remained with him till her death. About four years ago she was attacked with paralysis of the left side, which placed her in a helpless condition, requiring a nurse by her side all the time. She was the mother of Rev. James E. Joyner deceased of the Virginia Conference, Rev. Henry Joyner of Tenn., and Rev. Peter H. Joyner, formerly of the N. C. Conference, and now residing in Winston N. C. at whose residence she died in the triumphs of the christian faith, on the 24th of April 1874, being in her eighty seventh year, and having been a member of the church for seventy years. She leaves five children, three in North Carolina, and in Tennessee, and one in Indiana, and a large circle of relatives in Virginia and other States.

Sister Joyner bears the enviable reputation of having lived a consistent member of the church for three score years and ten. She was an active zealous christian: she fed the hungry, clothed the naked, visited and nursed the sick, comforted the mourner, cheered with good advice the young convert, brought up her child en in the nurture and admonition of the Lord contributed freely to the support of the gospel attended regularly when able upon all the means of grace was ever full of faith and entertaining a lively hope of eternal happiness In her last suffering years she was patient, resigned, and happy in the love of God and died exhorting her children and others to meet her in heaven.

She's gone she's gone, her work is done.
She's fought her fight, her race is run,
And out of sight beyond the sun.
She's living now in glory.

J. F. H.

Richmond Christian Advocate please copy

At his residence in Chatham county on Friday 8th. inst. aged 76, Samuel Brooks Esq., one of the worthiest citizens of his county. He was a man of high integrity and unsullied moral and had the good esteem of the virtuous and the just.

Letters and Funds.

Rev R T N Stephenson Chas E Walker. T M Jones. Rev A A Boshamer for F C Vaughn $2. J M Ellis $2 J J Rigsan $2. Mrs Ann Moss $2 Rev H P Williams $2, each for dues of J Jones on and Mrs M M Williams. Rev J V Lewis. Samuel J Brown for Jno G Duny and J A Eanger each 2 Rev Jno N Somers 2. for A M Sloan. Rev J G Brown paper and to Miss H. Rev J G Crisp. Mrs E J Jackson 2. for self. Rev W R Ferguson 2, for Mrs M J Cox. J N Owen. Mrs J H Lamb. Rev J T Wyche I F Darcnee 2, sell J B Guthrie 2 sell. Mrs A A Boshamer 1. Mrs Adeline Alston 2, self. Rev R F Sumpass Rev John Jones for D S Sanders 2, all right Wm Harris 2 self. Rev W G Norman. Rev B Dixon. Jno H Ballard al T Brandon 2. self. T P Court E L Sherrill all right. W M Courtney. Rev W B Monroe, Jno J Pledger S M Pettigill & Co New York. Rev J B Grilli 2 for sell, Jas W Lee and J V Roberts. Rev J F smoot 2. for M L Adams and for W H Sanders. Rev J H Golun 2 each for Miss Kate Redfern. L H Friendenburk J T Lowery. Peter Griggs. J M Watson. H W Robinson. Miss Fanny Chapman. Rev B F Dixon 2 for J H Culp. Rev P Cisler. C B Moore. C G Grady W D Finlayson. Rev R S Webb all right. Wm Mitchell all right. Rev C H Wiley, Rev L L Nash. Rev N S Norton send your office. Rev V A Sharpe. Rev Samuel Leard 2. for W A Tanner. Rev J H Wheeler. C C Holmes correction made and paper discontinued. Rev G N Anderson 2 each for Thos Hall and A B McGowan. Rev E D Swihoell 2 for J V Leath m Mrs M F Bateman. A O Gaylord. Miles Patterson. Rev C C Dodson 2 each for J J Garnett, S L Hart and Mrs Hannah Jenkins J C McRay. R P Troy I. J H Coffey. Rev C H Phillips 1 for C A Penny. M W Doyle 1 for Rev J E Irby. S Allred 2 for self.

Appointments.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT

3rd ROUND—QUARTERLY MEETINGS

Durham at Orange church	June 13 14
Chapel Hill & Haw River at Ebenezer	" 20-21
Flat River at Wilmot Grove,	" 27 28
Person ct. at Providence,	July 4 5
Hillsboro ct at New Sharon,	" 11-12
Alamance ct. at Clover Garden,	" 18-19
High Rock Miss on	" 25 26
Yanceyville c.	August 8- 9
Deep River,	" 15-16
Pittsboro	" 22-23
Leasburg at Leasburg	" 29 30

The District Conference will be held at Leasburg commencing August 27 Rev. W. H. Moore will preach the introductory sermon. Brethren from abroad are invited to attend.

J. P. Moore, P. E.
Mt Tirzah, N C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT

2nd. ROUND.

Clinton at Johnson Chapel.	May 2 3
Kenansville at Hall-ville,	" 9-10
Smithville at Bethel,	" 16-17
Topsail.	" 23-24
Elizabeth	" 30-31
Bladen.	June 6- 7
Onslow,	" 13-14
Okesbury,	" 20-21

W. S. Black, P. E.
Magnolia, N C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

2d ROUND.

Lincolnton, McKendren.	May 2-
Rock Spring, Hill's hapel.	" 9- 10
Dallas, Sander's Chapel,	" 1-173
Happy Home, C. School House,	" 23-21
Morganton, Pliboa.	" 30-31
Double Shoals and	" 30-31
South Mt. Mission
Cherry Mt.,	" 30-31
Marion and Upper B. River Mission.	Gapernumin, June 6- 7
Newton. Concord,	" 13-14
Lenoir. Lenoir,	" 20-21
Rutherford and C. Mission,	" 27-28

Rev. T. J. Gallis will please attend and assist the preachers on the Lincolnton and Rock Spring circuits Rev S R Trawick. Morganton and Marion circuits, Rev S. Leard, Double Shoals Rev H T Hudson. Dallas and Rev P Liberman, Happy Home.

Dar Brethren, may the great Head of the church be with you, to own and bless his word in the salvation of the people!

L. S. Burtehead, P. E.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

2nd ROUND.

Plymouth and Jamesville,	May 2- 3
Columbia at Alligator,	" 9-10
Bath at Bethany,	" 16-17
Mattamuskeet at Amity,	" 23-24
Greenville and Washington,	" 30-31
Tarboro at Temperance Hall,	June 6- 7

The District Conference will be held at Amity, Mattamuskeet circuit, commencing May 22. Rev. R. H. Barton will preach the opening sermon. Wm. Closs, P. E.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT

2nd ROUND,

Pineville ct. at Harrison's,	May 2- 3
Albermarle and Stanley, Concord ct.	Cedar Grove, " 9-10
Wadesboro' st.	" 16-17
Lilesville ct. at—	" 23-24
Ansonville ct. at Harmony,	" 30-31
Wadesboro' ct. at—	June 6- 7
Mt. Pleasant at Mt. Olivet,	" 13-14
	" 20-21

J. S. Nelson, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.

2nd ROUND.

Neuse and Swift Creek	Goose Creek, May 2- 3
Lenoir. Newbern cir.	Sharon, " 9- 10
Kinston,	" 16-17
District Conference, La Grange,	" 20-21
Goldsboro,	" 30-31
Snow Hill, Hookerton,	June 6- 7
Wilson.	" 13-14
Mount Olive, Providence,	" 20 21
Newbern.	" 27 28

E. A. Yates, P. E.
Beaufort, N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

SECOND ROUND.

Salisbury St.	May 2- 3
Mt. Airy St. at Mt. Airy,	" 9-10
Surry ct. & S. Mission at Siloam,	" 16-17
Salisbury ct. at Bethpage.	" 23-24
Wilkes ct & Mt Mission at Charity,	" 30-31
Alexander ct. at Stony Point,	June 6- 7
Iredell ct. at Hopewell,	" 13-14

M. L. Wood, P. E.
Ohio, N. C.

New Advertisements.

PETTY & JONES,

JOBBERS AND RETAILERS OF

DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, BOOTS, SHOES and HATS,

No. 20 Fayetteville Street,

RALEIGH, N. C.,

Having bought their stock of goods this season during the greatest d cline in prices, and having no old goods to mix in at higher prices, are offering their

Entirely New, Tasty and Desirable Selections at as Low Prices

as any house in this city or State

We have very recently received and will soon have in store FRESH ADDITIONS to our already large assortment.

We sell good Calicoes at 7 1-2 to 10.
5-4 Bleached Shirting at 6 to 8.
4-4 Bleached Sheetings at 9 to 15 1-2.
5-4 Unbleached Shirting at 5.
4-4 Unbleached Shirting at 9 to 12 1-2.
Ginghams at 12 - worth last year 17 1-2 to 20.
Cottonades much lower than since the war.
We except no class of goods, but will give as

GOOD VALUE FOR THE MONEY

as can be had elsewhere.

Our Stock in Every Department is full.

PETTY & JONES.

may 20-tf

TAKE NOTICE!

EVERYBODY!

I will sell for cash 800 pieces NEW and GOOD STYLE SPRING PRINTS, at 8 9 and 10 cents per yard; 2½ cents less per yard than they sold before the war

I will sell for cash 5,000 yards HEAVY 4-4 BROWN DOMESTIC for 10 cents, per yard.

I will sell, for cash 5,000 yards 4-4 Heavy 4-4 BROWN DOMESTIC for 12½ cents per yard.

Every man, woman and child who wants to make a dollar go a long way, now is the time. I have this day marked down, for cash,

Bleached Domestics, Sheetings,

COTTONADES, LINEN GOODS, and all other STAPLE GOODS, from 15 to 30 per cent for cash

I have this day marked down DRESS GOODS at unprecedented low prices, such as Silks, Grenadines, Lain and Striped Jap Poplins, Linen Lawns, Piques, Percales, and many other new and desirable styles of DRESS GOODS which will be sold at astonishingly low prices for cash

These Goods must and will be sold for cash and when you want to buy Goods come to

A. CREECH'S.

may 20-tf

TARRANT'S EFFERVESCENT SELTZER APERIENT.

The Human Locomotive should be carefully observed, the whole it may run off the track of life at any moment. The keepers delicate internal machinery in perfect tune, and what it is good working condition when out of order, is the peculiar province of Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient.

The thoroughness with which it cleanses, without irritating the bowels; the tone and vigor which it imparts to the stomach; its appetizing effects; its coaling, refreshing operation in fever; the relief it affords to headache; its antibilious properties, and its superior merits as a general purgative, justify the assertion that it is, beyond all comparison, the most valuable family medicine of the age. Sold by all druggists.

may 20th 1-w

FOR REED ORGANS!

THE

ORGAN AT HOME!

This admirable collection of music for Reed Organs should be at once wherever there is a Reed instrument. Nothing that is not of the very best quality has been allowed in the book, which has more than 200 attractive pieces, compactly printed on large pages. Nothing difficult. Everything nicely fitted to the popular taste.

Price in bds. $2.50. Cl'h. $3.00. Gilt. $4.00

New Method for Reed Organs!

PRICE $2.50. By WM. H. CLARKE.

A thorough Method containing not only abundant directions and exercises, but a large quantity of the best Reed Organ Music, arranged and fitted with Mr Clark's well-known exquisite taste and skill. Sells immensely.

Clarke's Dollar Instructor.

FOR REED ORGANS

An excellent and attractive instruction book for those who need a short and easy course.

Sent post paid, on receipt of retail price.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., C. H. DITSON & CO., Boston. 711 B'dway, New York

ELGIN WATCHES.

W. B. FARRAR,

WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND OPTICIAN.

Deals in Swiss Watches, Calendar and ordinary Clocks, Jewelry, Spectacles, Silver and Plated Ware, Bridal Presents, Guns, Pistols, Cartridges, Sewing Machine Needles, Table Cutlery, Ladies' Pocket Knives, IXL Razors, Music Boxes, Walking Canes, &c. TERMS REASONABLE

No 7 South Elm Street, Opposite Express Office, Greensboro, N. C.

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Successors to Wyatt, Green & co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Cotton Factors,

Commission, Shipping

And Forwarding Merchants,

No. 4 Exchange Place and Martin St.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Cotton and satisfaction guaranteed.

Consignments of all kinds of country produce solicited.

All debts for or against the late firm of Wyatt, Green and Co., will be collected and disbursed as they become due, by us.

WYATT, BINGHAM AND CO.,

de10-tf Raleigh, N. C

FARMERS' EXCHANGE

Thompson & Whitaker

Wholesale Grocers and

Commission Merchants,

Martin Street,

GUANOS.

"Soluble Navassa Guano."
"Navassa Tobacco Fertilizer"
AND
Dissolved Phosphate,

Manufactured by Navassa Guano Company at Wilmington, N. C. Guaranteed to meet all the requirements of

Below are the names of a few who will testify to its merits:

Dr. B. Craven, Trinity College; L. H. Sanders, Johnston county; W. H. McCullough, Johnston county; David Wood, Johnston county; J. M. Wilson, Wilson's Mills; E. W. Pou, Raleigh; Willis Avera, Johnston county. For sale by

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.

Raleigh, N. C

Feb 4-12m.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The partnership heretofore existing under the firm of

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.,

is dissolved by the decease of our junior partner

THADEUS McGEE.

All parties having claims against the firm will present them for immediate payment, and all who are indebted to the firm, either by note or account, are requested to call and settle the same.

To Our Old Friends and Customers

We must say a word The dissolution of our firm closes us pain and sorrow; for many years you have kindly patronized us; we, in turn, have endeavored to furnish you with

FIRST-CLASS GOODS,

at reasonable prices. Our relationship has been both pleasant and agreeable, and we cannot consent to the dissolution save in deep regret.

We have no desire for obtain all the accommodation we can, consistent with a proper safety of our business, and in making the following announcement we do so from the requirements of law.

From and after this date, all do Ms of every description belonging to the firm of

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.,

will be sold at

Extremely Low Prices for Cash.

with reference to a final closing of the business.

Further credit cannot be given. The books are closed.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.,

surviving partners of the late firm of

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.

Parties who desire embarking in the business in Raleigh, have now an opportunity of BUYING OUT a first-class business.

DRY GOODS

Merchants who desire purchasing a stock or of replenishing their stock, will never have a better opportunity. An early call will convince buyers.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER,
Surviving Partners.

april 15 12m

GREGG & BOWE

Cor. 8th & Orange Sts.,

Wilmington, Del.,

Manufacturers of fine CARRIAGES BUGGIES, ROCKAWAYS, CABROLETTS,

VICTORIA'S COACHES, &c, &c.

Also Dealers in cheaper grades of Carriages.

References: J. M. Heck, Raleigh; Judge Pool, Hon. R. Keogh and Julius A. Gray, Greensboro. L. E Johnson, Lexington.

apr 2-9 tf.

THE PEERLESS STEAM WASHER AND BLEACHER!

The Latest, Best and Cheapest Washer made!

These Steam Washers are the st kind is generally conceded. That the PEERLESS is best of the kind will be readily admitted as soon as it i seen and tested.

It causes all the water to flow up through pipes and shirt down through the clothes pours the water in sixteen streams, on all parts of the surface of the clothing.

The water has not to go to the centre or either end of the boiler to get back where it started, but goes out at any part of the upper bottom, and hence washes all parts of the clothing alike.

The water rushes through the clothes many times per minute, and cleans them in 15 to 31 minutes!—With this machine, any lady who chooses, may do the washing of her family in a very short time, with very little work, without steps, without rubbing, or damage to the fabric, with such ease and quiet that her husband would hardly know when washday comes!

The cost of the machine soon saved to difference in wear. Soon saved in diff erence in labor required.

A bed quilt or bed cover—the finest or coarsest fabric—a single piece or boiler full, washed with equal ease.

The machine can be made for any stove boiler, or the boiler furnished with the machine can be used for any other purpose.

It sells for less than any other, and will do the work more thoroughly and in less time.

As its name indicates it is

PEERLESS AMONG ALL!

Directions for using go with each machine They are made of best material, and sold at the following prices:

For washer and boiler (No. 9)	$8.00
For " alone	5.00
For washer and boiler 34 inches long	9.50
For " alone	6.00

Sent any where per express on receipt of price by J. A JONES, Proprietor, Raleigh, N. C.

P. F. PESCUD. P. F. PESCUD, JR

P. F. PESCUD & SON,

General Insurance Agents and Adjustors,

Tucker Hall, Raleigh, N. C.

Losses Promptly Adjusted and Paid. Combined Assets, $30,000,000.

General Agents for

THE NATIONAL LIFE INS. CO., U. S. A. which is the strongest STOCK LIFE INS CO. in America, and insures at lower rates than old cos.

Agents for the following Fire Insurance Companies: Home, New York: Franklin of Phila.: Georgia Home. Columbus; Liverpool, London & Globe; Firemans, Peoples, of Richmond, Va.; Amazon, Cincinnati, City of Richmond.

We have added several new companies to our list, and are prepared to insure anywhere in N. C. Applications for agencies as well as insurance will receive prompt attention.

P. F. PESCUD & SON.

Feb 12—tf

Robert T. Gray,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

Raleigh, N. C.

Will give prompt attention to business in the Supreme, Superior, and other Courts of the State.

Refers by permission to

Hon. R. M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Hon. Thos. Settle, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

Hon. J. G. Leak, Pres. First National Bank of Salem
John G. Williams, " State " " Raleigh
Rev J. B. Hobbitt, Editor of Raleigh Advocate.
Rev. A. W Mangum, Raleigh, N. C.

POPULAR AND USEFUL BOOKS

Royal Diadem. (S. S. Note)	35
Amaranth. " "	35
British Jewels, " "	35
Happy Voices. " "	35
The Chaps. " "	35
The Morning Star " "	35
Pure Gold, " "	35
Songs of Salvation, " "	35
Wesleyan Catechisms No. 1,	40
Wesleyan " No. 2,	75
Wesleyan " No. 3,	1.00
Bibles, (pocket size) from 75 cts. to	5.00
Bibles, Family, from 8.00 to	8.00
Children of the Abbey 12mo cloth,	1.50
Robinson Crusoe, 12mo cloth,	1.50
Shakespeare, 12mo cloth	1.50
Pilgrims Progress, 12mo cloth, pictorial,	1.50
Methodist Hymn and Tune Books, 18mo cloth,	75
Ready Reckoners, from 31 cts to	60
Little Writers, (board covers) 30 to	60
Life of Daniel Boon, 12mo cloth,	1.50
Bible Dictionary, (the best)	1.75
Picture Books (highly illustrated) from 5cts to	2.00
Methodist Hymn Books from 50 cts to	4.00
Baptist Hymn Books, from 75 to	2.50
Presbyterian Hymn Books, from 80 cts	2.50
Episcopal Prayer Books, from 75 cts to	5.00
Photograph Albums, from 75cts to	6.00
Major Jones Courtship, paper cover,	75
Abbotts Mary Queen of Scotts,	1.20
Abbotts Queen Elizabeth,	1.20
Abbotts Marie Antoinette,	1.20
Aesop's Fables,	1.50
Arabian Knights Entertainment,	1.50

Send cash and add 10 cents on the dollar, and I will mail any of the above.

☞ Order any other book you want.

L. BRANSON,
Raleigh, N. C.

april 9-12m

FARMERS' EXCHANGE

Thompson & Whitaker

Wholesale Grocers and

Commission Merchants,

Martin Street,

GUANOS.

"Soluble Navassa Guano."
"Navassa Tobacco Fertilizer"
AND
Dissolved Phosphate,

Manufactured by Navassa Guano Company at Wilmington, N. C. Guaranteed to meet all the requirements of

Below are the names of a few who will testify to its merits:

Dr. B. Craven, Trinity College; L. H. Sanders, Johnston county; W. H. McCullough, Johnston county; David Wood, Johnston county; J. M. Wilson, Wilson's Mills; E. W. Pou, Raleigh; Willis Avera, Johnston county. For sale by

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.

Raleigh, N. C

Feb 4-12m.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The partnership heretofore existing under the firm of

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.,

is dissolved by the decease of our junior partner

THADEUS McGEE.

All parties having claims against the firm will present them for immediate payment, and all who are indebted to the firm, either by note or account, are requested to call and settle the same.

To Our Old Friends and Customers

We must say a word The dissolution of our firm closes us pain and sorrow; for many years you have kindly patronized us; we, in turn, have endeavored to furnish you with

FIRST-CLASS GOODS,

at reasonable prices. Our relationship has been both pleasant and agreeable, and we cannot consent to the dissolution save in deep regret.

We have no desire for obtain all the accommodation we can, consistent with a proper safety of our business, and in making the following announcement we do so from the requirements of law.

From and after this date, all do Ms of every description belonging to the firm of

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.,

will be sold at

Extremely Low Prices for Cash.

with reference to a final closing of the business.

Further credit cannot be given. The books are closed.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.,

surviving partners of the late firm of

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.

Parties who desire embarking in the business in Raleigh, have now an opportunity of BUYING OUT a first-class business.

DRY GOODS

Merchants who desire purchasing a stock or of replenishing their stock, will never have a better opportunity. An early call will convince buyers.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER,
Surviving Patteers.

april 15 12m

GREGG & BOWE

Cor. 8th & Orange Sts.,

Wilmington, Del.,

Manufacturers of fine CARRIAGES BUGGIES, ROCKAWAYS, CABROLETTS,

VICTORIA'S COACHES, &c, &c.

Also Dealers in cheaper grades of Carriages.

References: J. M. Heck, Raleigh; Judge Pool, Hon. R. Keogh and Julius A. Gray, Greensboro. L. E Johnson, Lexington.

apr 2-9 tf.

THE PEERLESS STEAM WASHER AND BLEACHER!

The Latest, Best and Cheapest Washer made!

These Steam Washers are the st kind is generally conceded. That the PEERLESS is best of the kind will be readily admitted as soon as it i seen and tested.

It causes all the water to flow up through pipes and shirt down through the clothes pours the water in sixteen streams, on all parts of the surface of the clothing.

The water has not to go to the centre or either end of the boiler to get back where it started, but goes out at any part of the upper bottom, and hence washes all parts of the clothing alike.

The water rushes through the clothes many times per minute, and cleans them in 15 to 31 minutes!—With this machine, any lady who chooses, may do the washing of her family in a very short time, with very little work, without steps, without rubbing, or damage to the fabric, with such ease and quiet that her husband would hardly know when washday comes!

The cost of the machine soon saved to difference in wear. Soon saved in diff erence in labor required.

A bed quilt or bed cover—the finest or coarsest fabric—a single piece or boiler full, washed with equal ease.

The machine can be made for any stove boiler, or the boiler furnished with the machine can be used for any other purpose.

It sells for less than any other, and will do the work more thoroughly and in less time.

As its name indicates it is

PEERLESS AMONG ALL!

Directions for using go with each machine They are made of best material, and sold at the following prices:

For washer and boiler (No. 9)	$8.00
For " alone	5.00
For washer and boiler 34 inches long	9.50
For " alone	6.00

Sent any where per express on receipt of price by J. A JONES, Proprietor, Raleigh, N. C.

P. F. PESCUD. P. F. PESCUD, JR

P. F. PESCUD & SON,

General Insurance Agents and Adjustors,

Tucker Hall, Raleigh, N. C.

Losses Promptly Adjusted and Paid. Combined Assets, $30,000,000.

General Agents for

THE NATIONAL LIFE INS. CO., U. S. A. which is the strongest STOCK LIFE INS CO. in America, and insures at lower rates than old cos.

Agents for the following Fire Insurance Companies: Home, New York: Franklin of Phila.: Georgia Home. Columbus; Liverpool, London & Globe; Firemans, Peoples, of Richmond, Va.; Amazon, Cincinnati, City of Richmond.

We have added several new companies to our list, and are prepared to insure anywhere in N. C. Applications for agencies as well as insurance will receive prompt attention.

P. F. PESCUD & SON.

Feb 12—tf

Robert T. Gray,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

Raleigh, N. C.

Will give prompt attention to business in the Supreme, Superior, and other Courts of the State.

Youth's Department.

Faith.

Baby wakes in the night to cry.
Mother nestles her close and warm;
Baby hushes to sleep again,
Sure that nothing will do her harm.

Mother sorrows, for times are hard,
Want is near and the world is cold,
Then One, guarding her side and ours,
Keeps the promise St. John has told.

I am with you—not far away—
Nearer than human heart and hand,
Strong and patient—be not afraid—
Look at the child and understand!

Hold her close in your loving arms,
Even a mother may forget
But he who watches to-night for both,
He has never forgotten yet.

C. M. WELBOURNE.

A Little Seed.

"It's only a little seed," said a little girl looking at a minute black speck which she held in her hand. "It's only a little seed, but if it will grow it will be all right."

And the little seed did grow into a plant of mignonette, that all summer long made sweet the child's tiny flower bed, and bore seed enough to bring forth in turn many plants for future summers.

Next to it was carefully planted a large round seed, which was expected to spring up into a rare and beautiful vine, but alas! it never grew. The soil was carefully prepared, it was watered and watched with anxious eyes, but some way it had no life in itself and did not grow.

Now human beings, like seeds, are valuable, as far as they have this power of growing and bringing forth fruit, and the most commonplace character whose hopes and ideas are limited to the most ordinary round of daily duty and kindness, who brings forth his fruit in due season, is more precious to the Master than a genius who aspires to benefit the whole human race, but whose talent remains wrapped up in a napkin, and whose hopes and aspirations never bring forth either flower or fruit of righteous work.—Child's World.

George's Reason.

The pupils of Mr. Jones' school had all, save one, entered the school and taken their seats, when George Hardy, the tardy scholar for once, came hurrying in, much out of breath.

"Why George," said his teacher, "how is this? I saw you as I supposed, on your way to school when I started from home. I hope you have not been away at play when you should have been at school."

"No, sir; I have not played any this morning; I thought I could run home and be back before school commenced."

"But why did you wish to return home? Did you forget anything.

"No, sir."

"What did you go back for, then?"

"If you will please excuse me, sir I had rather not tell."

"I hardly think I can excuse you, George; you are very late, and you know I have a right to demand sufficient reason for it."

George stepped up, and placing his lips close to his teacher's ear, whispered, "I met a boy who was without shoes, and as I had a pair which I had outgrown, I went home to get them for him."

"Was that the reason?" asked the teacher, looking upon the blushing boy with love and approbation.

"Yes sir,"

"Why, then, did you not wish to tell me?"

"Because, sir, my mother says when I give anything in charity, I must do it privately, lest I should receive praise of men, and become vain and proud."

THE BIRDS' PRAYER MEETING.—"Where are you going so early?" asked a father of his little daughter, already dressed in her sun bonnet to go out.

"To the morning prayer meeting, papa," she replied.

"Prayer-meeting!" he cried; "what in the name of common sense do they have them so early for?" for this father did not like prayer meetings very well.

"It is not so early as the birdies have theirs, papa," answered the little girl; "they begin at day break; and oh! they praise God so!"

KATIE'S BLESSING.—Katie had never been in the habit of eating, or of seeing the family partake of food—at the table—till after a blessing had been asked upon it. One day her papa was absent from the evening meal: a number had gathered around the table, and among the rest was Katie seated in her little high chair. Close beside her sat a dear old friend, a man who had passed the alloted age of human life, but who was still living without a hope of eternal life.

After all were seated, there was a moment's hush, as if we waited for something, and then one and another began to make preparation to eat, when Katie, who saw the movement with a perplexed and serious face, cried out: "Who's going to pray? Somebody must say the blessing."

"Can't you pray, Katie?" said the gray-haired man, who was feeling rebuked by this little child. Only a moment, and the chubby hands were folded, the blue eyes closed, and the face was turned heavenward, and then the blessing was asked in the language of her own little prayer—"Our Father which art in Heaven. To ate in me a clean heart, O God, and nu-nue a right spirit within me. Amen."

All bowed with reverent head, and the old man said, with tearful eye, "Dear Katie, you have taught me a lesson. I ought to pray."—Congregationalist.

Rural and Domestic.

SPONGE GINGERBREAD.—With a pint of molasses; stir in it while warm a piece of butter the size of an egg; then stir in a table-spoonful of the best ginger; dissolve a heaping tea spoonful of soda in a pint of new milk; strain this into the mixture; when cool, sift in as much flour as will make it stiff. Then roll it out in cakes, and bake in tins.

SILVER CAKE.—Take the whites of one dozen eggs, five cups of flour, three cups of sugar, one cup of butter, one cup of cream or sweet milk, one tea spoonful of cream tartar, and half a tea spoonful of soda. (To make Gold Cake, substitute the yelks for the whites of the eggs in the above receipt.)

SWEET MEAT PUDDING.—Take the yelks of six eggs, half a pound of sugar, 2 table-spoonsful of butter, and preserves according to taste; 2 crackers beaten up, and bake into a paste.

WELSH PUDDING.—Melt gently half a pound of fine butter, beat with it the yelks of six and the whites of four eggs, mix in six oz. of loaf sugar, and the rind of a lemon grated. Lay a nice paste for the pudding in a baking pan, pour in the material, and bake carefully.

LIGHT ROLLS.—One oz. of butter in a half pint of milk; add a teaspoonful and a half yeast, and a little salt; mix two pounds of flour with the above; let it rise an hour; knead well. Bake in seven rolls.

DRIED FRUIT PUDDING.—Boil the fruit until soft; chop it fine, adding a teacupful of juice for sauce; make a batter of stale bread, soaked in milk; put in the fruit, and stir well; spice to taste. Boil in a floured or buttered mould and eat with sauce.

SWEETBREAD PASTRIES.—Mince some boiled sweetbread with some marrow or veal suet; mix with raw eggs, grated bread, milk or cream, nutmeg, and sugar. Now prepare a paste of butter, flour, eggs, and sugar, make it into small patties, fill them with the minced meat, and bake or fry them brown.

TEA RUSKS.—Half a pint of new milk; and one cup of yeast; add flour to make a batter; set the sponge at night. In the morning add half a pint of milk, one cup of sugar, one of butter, one egg, nutmeg, and flour to make it sufficiently stiff. Let it rise, then roll it and cut it out; let it rise again, and then bake.

Millet.

Millet seems to succeed every where with any reasonably fair treatment. It can be sown early in the spring, and will produce a succession of crops, by continued sowing, up to the middle of July in this latitude. Scarcely more than six weeks are required for its growth, and the crop should be cut, if for hay, when the tops of the seeds begin to ripen; if saved for seed, it may stand until the seeds become brown.

Millet requires a good soil, well prepared and as rich as may be made. Deep ploughing is effective in the cultivation of this crop against drought, as it is with almost all others. There is nothing better as a manurial application than a mixture of bone dust and Peruvian guano or a good super-phosphate. Barnyard manure, when used, should be well rotted. Four or five pecks of seed are sufficient to the acre when hay is the object. When sown for the seed, when the ground is nutricious and fattening, rather more seed should be sown.

There are a number of varieties of millet; but our remarks above apply to that commonly in use, known botanically as Panicum milaceum. Of its great value there can be no doubt, and we hope all our readers who can do so will sow at least a small patch of it, if only as an experiment, to test its adaptability to their situation. We only add that the hay it makes is excellent in quality, much relished by cattle and horses, and frequently reaches three or four tons to the acre in quantity.

Chemical Sugar.

Dealers and manufacturers of the important article of sugar have lately experience a disturbance of the even tenor of their ways by the announcement of a new chemical discovery by which saccharine commodities may be produced as by magic, without the troublesome and expensive methods of cane-growing and grinding. The new discovery is credited to M. Jonglet, French engineer, and his process is alleged to involve the mere bringing together of certain common and cheap articles, from which the best qualities of sugar are rapidly and economically produced. The process is claimed to be the subject of a patent, which is at present in the hands of a large company. The production of sugar by chemical means from various materials is by no means a new thing, having long been practiced. Thus starch, treated with warm diluted sulphuric acid, is converted into sugar. It is cheaply produced, and an extensive manufacture is carried on. This product is known as grape sugar, or glucose, and the only drawback to its substitution for cane sugar is the fact that grape sugar is employed to adulterate honey and cane sugar, and is used in lieu of the latter in various saccharine preparations. The cheap and common materials suggested by this French engineer may refer to other refuse containing wood fiber, such as rotton wood, paper, etc. Exhaustive attempts have heretofore been made by chemists to induce people to eat their linen rags, after a cooking which converts them into sugar. This consists in treatment with sulphuric acid, by which means a fine crystalline article of sugar may be produced from old collars and shirt tails. But rag sugar, like that from starch, lacks sweetness and the stuff is unsuited for the popular taste.— Scientific American.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Our Dormant Energies.

Our bodies are not as vigorous nor our minds as clear as they might be. This remark is true of at least two thirds of civilized society; and of these two-thirds probably one-half is laboring under bodily infirmities of a character likely to shorten the lives of the sufferers. This is a melancholy exhibit and furnishes abundant food for reflection. Can the evil be mitigated? It can. Lack of vitality is the primary cause of most of the physical and mental suffering to which we are subjected, and therefore a vitalizing medicinal agent is the remedy required. Is there such a medicine? There is. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will rouse and energize the mind and body when the life power of the system is in a comparatively dormant state. The languid, feeble, despondent invalid is not aware of the latent energies that underlies his debility. He thinks there is no element of vigor left in his frame, when the fact is that his physical capabilities are merely asleep and only require waking up. Let him stimulate and tone his animal machinery and endue it with new motive power, through the agency of this incomparable invigorant, and he will soon feel like a new man, or rather like a man who has received a new lease of life, and the requisite health to enjoy it. Many business men suffer from chronic languor and depression caused by too close application to business. Hard students are often oppressed with melancholy from a like cause. Mechanics and working men are affected in the same way as a result of overtoil. To all who are in this condition, from what ever cause, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will prove a signal blessing. It is a perfect panacea for physical debility and mental gloom. It strengthens the body, clears the mind and calms the nervous system; while as a remedy for indigestion, biliousness, constipation, rheumatism, and late malarial and remittent fevers, it takes precedence of all other medicines.

May 6-1m

Liver and Blood Disease

BY R. V. PIERCE, M. D.

A healthy liver secretes each day about two and a half pounds of bile, which contains a great amount of waste material taken from the blood. When the liver becomes torpid or congested, it fails to eliminate this vast amount of noxious substance, which therefore, remains to poison the blood, and be conveyed to every part of the system. What must be the condition of the blood when it is receiving and retaining each day two and a half pounds of poison? Nature tries to work off this poison through other channels and organs—the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., but these organs become overtaxed in performing this labor in addition to their natural functions, and cannot long withstand the pressure, but become variously diseased.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, is unduly stimulated by the unhealthy blood, which passes to it from the heart and it fails to perform its office healthfully. Hence the symptoms of bile poisoning, which are dullness, headache, incapacity to keep the mind on any subject, impairment of memory, dizzy, sleepy, or nervous feelings, gloomy forebodings, and irritability of temper. The blood itself being diseased, as it forms the sweat upon the surface of the skin, it is an irritating and poisonous that it produces discolored brown spots, pimples, blotches, and other eruptions, sores, boils, carbuncles and scrofulous tumors. The stomach, bowels and other organs cannot escape becoming affected, sooner or later, and we have as the result, costiveness, piles dropsy, dyspepsia, diarrhœa. Other symptoms are common, a bitter or foul taste in mouth, internal heat, palpitation, teasing cough, unsteady appetite, choking sensation in throat, blasting of stomach, pain in sides or about shoulders or back, coldness of extremities, etc., etc. Only a few of the above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time. The liver being the great depurating or blood cleaning organ of the system—set this great "housekeeper" or "our health" at work, and the foul corruptions, which gender in the blood, and rot out us, as it were, the machinery of life, are gradually expelled from the system. For this purpose my Golden Medical Discovery with very small doses daily of my Pleasant Purgative Pellets are preeminently the articles needed. They cure every kind of humor from the worst scrofula to the common pimple, blotch or eruption. Great eating ulcers kindly heal under their mighty curative influence. Virulent blood poisons that lurk in the system are by them robbed of their terrors, and by their persevering and somewhat protracted use the most tainted systems may be completely renovated and built up anew. Enlarged glands, tumors and swellings dwindle away and disappear under the influence of these great re-solvents.

BEST AND OLDEST FAMILY MEDICINE.—Sanford's Liver Invigorator—a purely Vegetable Cathartic and Tonic—for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Dullness, Headache, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of Liver Stomach and Bowels. Ask your Druggist for it. Beware of imitations.

mar 26-12meow

Children often look Pale and S

from no other cause than having worms in the stomach. BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS will destroy Worms without injury to the child, being perfectly WHITE, and free from all coloring or other injurious ingredients usually used in worm preparations.

CURTIS & BROWN, Proprietors,
No. 215 Fulton Street, New York.
Sold by Druggists and Chemists, and dealers in Medicines at TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A BOX.

3 July 9-1w

A pair of shoes will cost you only 5 cents more with SILVER TIP on that without, and it will add twice the cost of the shoe to their wearing value.

April 8-1f-w

ADVERTISEMENTS.

CANFIELD BROTHER & CO.,
229 Baltimore St.,
BALTIMORE MD.
Gold Watches for Ladies & Gentlemen.
American Watches a specialty.
These Watches have an established reputation.
Silver Watches of every variety.
Diamonds, Rich Jewelry,
Chains, Lockets, &c.
Gold Head Canes.
Clocks, Bronzes, Vases,
Fancy Silver-Ware for Bridal Gifts.
Triple Plated Tea Sets, Waiters, Ice Pitchers, Fruit Stands, Castors, Spoons and Forks. A complete line of new style Plated Goods. Fans, Opera Glass and Rich Fancy Goods.
Our stock is large and prices moderate. Order have prompt attention. Medals and Badges Schools and Colleges.
apr 24—12m.

ODELL, RAGAN & CO.,
Wholesale Dealers in General Merchandise,
GREENSBORO', N. C.
We call the attention of the merchants of North Carolina to the fact that we have opened our large wholesale house, and that we are prepared to sell them as low, or cheap as they can buy in any market. We are the agents for Cc'ar Falls, Deep River, Sandleman and Alamance Manufacturing Co's. Sheeting, Yarns, Plaids and Seamless Bags. Parties ordering these goods will get them as cheap from us as if they order directly from the factory. We also sell Salem, Jeans at factory prices. Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.
Feb 4-12m.

Pocket Inhaler
AND Carbolate of Iodine
Inhalant.
A WONDERFUL REMEDY! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most practical and efficient inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption if taken in time. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. A Druggists have it for sale, nearly put up with inhaler enough for two months' use. Price $2.00. Prepaid mail on receipt of price. Send for a Circular.
W. D. SMITH & Co., Prop'rs,
Buffalo, N. Y.
Jan 28-6m

JAMES LEFFLE'S
IMPROVED DOUBLE
Turbine Water Wheel.

POOLE & HUNT, Baltimore,
MANUFACTURERS FOR THE SOUTH AND SOUTHWEST.
Nearly 7,000 now in use, working under heads varying from 2 to 21 feet 2 t o 96 inches.
The most powerful Wheel in the Market,
And most economical in use of Water.
Large ILLUSTRATED Pamphlet sent post free.
MANUFACTURERS, ALSO, OF
Portable and Stationary Steam Engines and Boilers Babcock & Wilcox Patent Tubulous Boiler, Keasbey's Crusher for Minerals, Saw and Grist Mills, Flouring Mill Machinery, Machinary for White Lead Works and Oil Mills, Shafting Pulleys and Hangers.
SEND FOR CIRCULARS.
Feb 25-6m

FANCY GOODS, TOYS, BASKETS, BROOMS, Brushes, Tooth Picks, School Bags, Feather Dusters, Fish Hooks and lines. A large assortment. At may 13 tf NAT L. BROWN'S.

LEAMON'S Aniline Dye Colors, at PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S
jan 14-tf Drug Store.

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Thursday, Jan 8th, 1874.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	1 30 P. M.	8.35 A. M.
" Air-Line J'nc'n	7.15 "	8.50 "
" Salisbury.....	11 09 "	10.43 "
" Greensboro'.....	2.15 A. M.	1.15 P. M.
" Danville.....	5.28 "	4.37 "
" Burkville.....	7.40 "	6.56 "
Arrive at Richmond,..	9.32 P. M.	11 02 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1.48 P. M.	8.05 A. M.
" Burkville.....	4.58 "	8.48 "
" Danville.....	9.57 "	1.05 P. M.
" Greensboro'.....	1.14 A. M.	4.06 "
" Salisbury.....	5.06 "	6.35 "
" Air Line J'nc'n	8.42 "	8.51 "
Arrive at Charlo'te,..	9.31 A. M.	9.40 "

GOING EAST.

STATIONS.	MAIL.		EXPRESS.
Leave Greensboro'..	2.06 A. M.		Arrive	1.35 A. M.
" Lee Scape....	3.25 "		"	1.05 "
" Hatch's.....	3.50 "		"	0.40 "
Arrive at Goldsboro	6		Leave	9.00 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.
SALEM BRANCH.

Leave Greensboro'.....	4.05 P. M.
Arrive at Salem.....	8.00 "
Leave Salem.....	10.00 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'.....	11.50 "
Leave Greensboro'.....	1.30 A. M.
Arrive at Salem.....	5.30 "
Leave Salem.....	8.00 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'.....	9.45 A. M.

Mail trains daily, both ways.
On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9.45 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.39 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.55 A. M.
Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, (without change.)
Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above.
For further information address

S. K. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 21, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	9.45 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.30 A. M.
Arrive at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	4.45 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.45 A. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.21 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and N.-thwest, and with Petersburg Railroad and Lynchburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Haywood and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accomodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh with Accomodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Supt.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.25 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.45 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	10.25 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	3.15 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	8.20 "
Leaves Sanford,	10.10 A. M
Arrives at Dale	3.30 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection a Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

Accommodation and Freight Trains connect with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

M. T. NORRIS, Late with Leo H. Adams.
W. A. MYATT JR. Formerly with J. P. Gulley & Bro.

NORRIS & MYATT,
(SUCCESSORS TO LEO H. ADAMS)
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
GROCERS, COTTON FACTORS
—AND—
General Commission Merchants.
No. 3 Exchange Place and No. 6 Martin Street

They offer to the trade a large and well selected stock of first-class groceries at remarkably low figures to suit the times. They are daily receiving, and have to-day in store, a choice lot of North Carolina Hams.

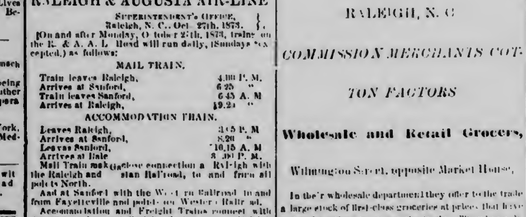
75 bbls Family Extra Superfine Flour.
50 sacks N rth Carolina Coffee.
300 bushels Corn and Bolted Meal.
50 sacks Salt.
10 bbls Extra A Sugar.
10 bbls Extra C Sugar.
10 bbls Extra C Yellow Sugar.
10 bbls Dem Sugar.
10 sacks Rio Coffee.
10 kegs Soda.
10 cases Concentrated Lye.
10 cases Cove Oysters
10 boxes Adamantine Candles.
25 kits Best Leaf Lard
1000 pounds Pure Assorted Candy
500 bunches Cotton Yarn.
50 kegs Nails.
50 boxes of Durham Tobacco, and a full assortment of goods usually kept in a first class grocery. All bought at very low figures, the motto "Quick sales and small profits." A large lot of Boots and Shoes Hats and Heavy Pants—goods which will be offered at reduced figures. Call and examine our stock before calling elsewhere. Consignments and Country Produce solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.
April 1-tf

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY
This unrivalled Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of Mercury, or any injurious mineral substance, but is
PURELY VEGETABLE,
containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which are all wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.
Simmons' Liver Regulator or Medicine
is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bills.
After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most
EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
FOR DISPEPSIA OR I... ION
Armed with this ANTIDOTE, stamina, ... ages of water are food may be faced without fear. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA
IT HAS NO EQUAL.
It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!
MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA
Price, $1 00. Sold by all Druggists.
eb16-13m

ALADDIN SECURITY OIL
Will prove itself equal, if not superior, to any burning Oil that has been offered to the public—is perfectly safe for use in all Kerosene Lamps. Will give all who use perfect security in doing so. For sale by
PESCUD, LEE & CO.,
Druggists.
Jan 14-tf

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,
DEALER IN
PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS.
All the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the
REPAIRING AND TUNING
of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it for their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Simpson's Shop Floor
apr 9 6m.



april 15-3m

CANVASSERS, send No. of your Lodge and name this paper. We will send you specimen agents with our regalia Pictures for Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Grangers, Red Men, Workmen, etc., are making double they could any other way, work permanent. J. HALE PHELPS & Co., Fraternity & Fine Art Pubs., Cincinnati, O.
Feb 25-12m

JUST RECEIVED
AT
D. S. WAITT'S,
Ready Made Clothing
FOR
SPRING AND SUMMER.
GO TO D. S. WAITT'S
FOR
BOOTS & SHOES.
A full line just opened.

FOR GENTS' FURNISHING
Goods go to
D. S. WAITT'S.

DRY GOODS! DRY GOODS!!
D. S. WAITT'S
is the place to get them cheap.

R. F. JONES & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C
COMMISSION MERCHANTS COTTON FACTORS
Wholesale and Retail Grocers,
Wilmington Street, opposite Market House,

In their wholesale department they offer to the trade a large stock of first-class groceries at price that best and will continue to attract the trade. They have in store

1200 Gals. S. H. Syrup,
150 Sacks Fine Liverpool Salt,
1200 Pounds Cream Cheese,
300 Bushels Bolted Meal,
100 Boxes Cakes and Crackers—fresh
1000 Pounds pure candy, assorted,
25 Cases mixed Pickles,
40 Doz. cans Fresh Peaches
50 Bbls. Superfine and Family Flour,
3000 Pounds Family Soap,
25 Boxes Adamantine Candles,
40 H. D. boxes Axle Grease,
72 ½ Masons Blacking,
50 M. B Water Proof Percussion Caps,
Powder, Shot Snuff, Tobacco Soda, Spice, Pepper Ten, &c. &c

Bulk Meat and Bowkled Strips, and a full assortment of other goods generally sold by grocers. Call and examine the quality of their goods and prices. Consignment of produce solicited.
oct 15-6m

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.
A Consumptive cured.
When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Cannabis Indica. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There's not a single symptom of consumption that it does not dissipate—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Hectic and Spectoration, Sharp Pains in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Derangement of the Bowels, and Wasting of the Muscles. Address CHADBOURN & CO., 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia Pa., giving name of this paper.
Nov. 26 6m.

AGENTS WANTED FOR
OUT OF THE HURLY BURLY BY MARK 8 URLY ADELER
The greatest humorous work of the day. 300 Original Pictures and Jokes, Lively Adventures, sparkling wit and practical fun. Read and sell over the country. The people are hungry for it. EVERY MAN WANTS IT. CANVASSERS WANTED. Terms liberal. Outfit 50 cts. Send for circulars and extra terms. Address HUBBARD BROS., Pubs., Phila., Pa. or Cin., O.
oct 1-1y

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY
RALEIGH, N. C.
Is the Place to Buy
French and Plain Candies,
Foreign and Domestic Fruits,
RAISINS, NUTS, etc.,
Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,
Fancy Good. Children's Toys,
Carriages for the Little Folks,
CROQUET SETS,
BASE BALLS AND BATS,
Marbles, Tops and Kites,
All at MOSELEY'S

1874, Spring Trade. 1874.
GOODS AT PRICES
TO Compare with the Money Crisis
AT
J. P. GULLEY & BRO'S,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL STORE,
Corner Fayetteville St., and South Exchange Place,
RALEIGH, N. C.
We come again to proclaim the daily arrival of our tenth (10) semi-annual stock of Foreign and Domestic
DRY GOODS,
Notions, White Goods, Ribbons, &c.,
Boots and Shoes.
In this Department we can please the public in quality. We keep up our Brand of Ladies' Shoes, warranted at $2.50 per pair.
Hats for Gen.s, Youths, Boys and Children.
Clothing in all grades, from $5.00 to $21.00 per suit.
Youths', Boys and Children Clothing a nice variety.
The attention of COUNTRY MERCHANTS is especially called to our Up Stairs Jobbing Department.
Call and see our Goods before purchasing.
Very Respectfully
J. P. GULLY & BRO
april 15-tf.

GENUINE
PERUVIAN GUANO.
Farmers, Agriculturists and Dealers in Fertilizers have now an opportunity of obtaining this valuable manure in small or large lots, at importers' prices, by applying to the Special Agency just established for the purpose of delivering Genuine Peruvian Guano to consumers at any accessible port or railway station in the country. Full particulars given in Circular mailed free on application to
R. BALCAZAR,
No. 58 Beaver St., New York.
REFERENCES BY PERMISSION.
Messrs. Hobson, Burdsall & Co., Financial Agents of the Peruvian Government 52 Wall St., N. Y.
Messrs Taylor, Pres. National Bk. Bank, 52 Wall St., N. Y.
J. C. Avery, Esq., Peruvian Guano Consul, 26 1-2 Broadway, N. Y.
March 18-3m

W. F. KORNEGAY,
Goldsboro', N. C.
Wholesale and Retail Dealer
IN
COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.
Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.
FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.
Our wagons are Warranted and constructed of the very best seasoned timber. All work is warranted to give satisfaction, and we ask a trial of them.
Jan 28-6t

READ THIS
I will give a ... to any ... who will ... in selling my ... Agents ... Send stamp for particulars.
R. L. PEWELL,
Watertown, N. Y.
april 1 1m

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.
SAVE YOUR EYES.
RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.
Old Eyes Made New.
All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by
Dr. J. BALL & CO'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS
Used for yourself and Restore your Sight.
Spectacles and Eye Glasses Useless.
The Inestimable Blessing of sight is most perpetuated by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.
Many of our most talented and prominent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently restored by the use of our Patent Improved Ivory Eye Cups.
1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia or Far-sight of Age; 3. Astheopia, or Weak Eyes; 4. Epiphora, Running or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups. We guarantee the Restoration of the Retina, or Optic Nerve, to its Original and Normal Condition from the Several Diseases and Imperfections of Vision, Producing Sharp Sight, Perfect Color Sense of Light, Proper Ranged Eyes; 10. Muscæ volitantes, moving Specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Gutta Serena; 12. Cataracts; can be Relieved or the loss of Sight.
As a proof that the Ivory Eye Cup is the best Invalid or Medicated Eye Cup in the world, we have hundreds of testimonials from our most eminent physicians, all using, or having used, the Ivory Eye Cup, and pronouncing it the best Eye Cup in the world, or will adopt the coming.
2,500 CERTIFICATES OF CURE
from learned Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants becoming daily received, showing the great and unparalleled success and wonderful curative powers of our Ivory Eye Cups.
Under date of March 2nd 1874, Hon. Horace Greeley, of the New York Tribune, writes: "Dr. Ball, of our city, is a humbug because he says he can restore sight after it is hopelessly destroyed or gone. I believe him."
Prof. W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., under April 24th, 1873, writes: "My sight was entirely gone, and after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS three days, and the Morning prescribed in the enclosed circular which accompanied each bottle of medicine, my sight was entirely restored."
"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles for nearly twenty years, but now can see without them."
PROF. W. MERRICK.
Rev. Joseph St. Marcel, Mass., rural of Parish of Assumption, writes: "Your medicine, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, has done wonders in my family. Before using your medicine, my daughter, Emma Marcel, could not see to read a word, and now she can read fine print without glasses. Your medicine has also restored my sight, which was entirely gone, and I cannot see to read without your Eye Cups. They are the greatest invention of the age."
Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salisbury, writes: "Thanks to you for the great relief I am realizing, my sight is fully restored, for which I am grateful for many years."
Rev. B. Myers, M. D., Aledo, Ill., has written Additional testimonials of his cure for four years, by purchasing of the right county, to any extra publishers of your Patent Eye Cups. Prospectus and circular furnished to those applying.
All persons who pay for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices &c., will please enclose stamp, as letters are not answered unless postage is enclosed. Address the Inventor and Patentee PROFESSOR DR. J. BALL & CO., No. 30 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y. Refer to Dr. J. Ball & Co., P. O. Box 957, No. 30 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.
For the benefit of those who cannot see to read the following testimonial, we have had it printed in large type, so that all can read it. Read what Mrs. Dr. Lucy Stone Blackwell, of Orange, N. J., writes about her eyes: "Dear Sirs: Please send me another pair of your Eye Cups. Has [illegible] with me. Yours truly, LUCY STONE BLACKWELL."
Send for pamphlets and certificates free. Wastes no more money by purchasing Spectacles or Eye Glasses until you have tried the Eye Cups.
Bulk Meat and Breakfast Strips, and a full assortment of other goods generally sold by grocers. Call and examine the quality of their goods and prices. Consignment of produce solicited.
oct 15-6m

AGENTS WANTED.
Eight cannot be all. Agents wanted, Health section Ladies, Invalids, and Gentlemen to introduce Dr. Ball's Cure, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other remedy. Helpless out of employment, of three wishing to improve their circumstances, can make it respectable financial and light and easy employment. Reliable agents are making from $15 to $25 a day. To live agents $8 a week will be guaranteed.
Send your address for full particulars, post free of charge to any address. Write immediately to
DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 30 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 957. NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.
Sept 16-12m.

Gives ... Sold ... If not satisfied ... Circulars ... Address SHAW & CO., Portland, Me. ... Agents ... Sept 16-12m

AGENTS WANTED FOR
OUT OF THE HURLY BURLY BY MARK 8 URLY ADELER
The greatest humorous work of the day. 300 Original Pictures and Jokes, Lively Adventures, sparkling wit and practical fun. Read and sell over the country. The people are hungry for it. EVERY MAN WANTS IT. CANVASSERS WANTED. Terms liberal. Outfit 50 cts. Send for circulars and extra terms. Address HUBBARD BROS., Pubs., Phila., Pa. or Cin., O.
oct 1-1y

Established in
B. W. PAYNE, P. S. PAYNE, P. W. PAYNE
B. W. PAYNE & SONS
Sewing Machine Machine
CORNING, STEUBEN CO. N. Y.
Manufacturers of
Stationary Engines, Boilers and Steam Pumps.

Spark-Arresting Portable Engines
For Plantation Use.
Delivered Free on Board Ship in New York City.
Send for Circular.
Feb. 25-12m

PARENTS REDUCE YOUR SHOE BILLS TWO THIRDS BY BUYING
Silver Tipped Shoes.
Feb 18-6m

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD
Merit and Success Hand in Hand.
BROOKLYN LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
NO. 141 BROADWAY,

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. | PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. | $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 21. | RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MAY 27, 1874. | WHOLE NO. 1,019.

Selected Poetry.

"Curf w Must not Ring To-Night"

[WRITTEN FOR THE ADVOCATE.]

England's sons were toiling after the battle-cry far away, Filled the land with riches by their deeds at the close of one and day;
And the last rose kissed the forehead of a man and mother's
He with step so slow and weary, she with weary dealing hair,
He with bowed head evil and thoughtful, she with flecks of gold and white,
Struggled to keep back the murmur, "Curfew must not ring to-night!"

Gran'ther Reede's white lips faltered, pointing to the ivied old,
With its wall so tall and gloomy, walls so dark and time-stained old,
"I have rung the curfew for seventy years, and never shall rest content,
Till the curfew sounds at sunset," and her face grew strangely white,
As she spoke in husky whispers "Curfew must not ring to-night."

Slowly, calmly spoke Dame Preston—every word pierced her young heart
Like a two-edged gleaming arrow—like a deadly poisoned dart:
"Long, long years I've rung the Curfew from that tower shadowed tower,
Every evening just at sunset, it has told the twilight hour;
I have watched my duty over, tried to do it just and right,
Now I would, I will not miss it; girl, the Curfew must be rung to-night."

With her face as white as marble, cold and white as her unfolded flower,
And her breast heaving with emotion, Rose made a desperate vow;
Softly down the tower while the judges read, without a tear or sigh,
At the ringing of the Curfew—Lord Underwood was dying—
Let the hours come fast and faster, and her eyes grew large and bright—
One determined, scarcely spoken—"Curfew must not ring to-night!"

Slowly, firmly, up the winding, dark, without one ray of light,
Passed the fair girl pleading, struggling, "Curfew shall not ring to-night!"

She has reached the topmost ladder, o'er her hands
the great bell sways,
And the awful gloom besets her, like the pathway down to hell;
See the grim old sexton reeling in a swoon, this the hour of Curfew was;
And the brave girl has defied her bonds, stepped her foot and touched the iron bow.
Shall she ring it? No, never; her eyes flash with an inner light,
As she springs and grasps firmly—"Curfew shall not ring to-night!"

Out she swung, far out; the city seemed a tiny speck below,
There, 'twixt heaven and earth suspended, as the bell swung to and fro,
And the maiden's brain kept ringing (years he had not been at home)
And he thought the bell was Curfew rang young Basil's funeral knell;
Still the maiden clinging firmly, cheek and brow as pale and white,
Stilled her frightened heart's wild beating—"Curfew shall not ring to-night!"

It was o'er, the bell ceased swaying, and the maiden stepped once more Firmly on the rocky old ladder, where for hundred years before
Human foot had not been planted; and what she into night had come,
Should be told long years after—as the rays of setting sun
Light the sky with molten beauty, aged sires with heads of white
Tell the children why the Curfew did not ring that one sad night.

O'er the distant hills came proudly Basil—saw him,
and, her love,
Lately white with sickly pallor, blushed with sudden beauty rose;
All his bold life told her story, closed her hands all trembling red to hers,
And the gray-haired sexton's daughter, with a look so sad and wan,
Touched his heart with sudden pity—lit his eyes with tears bright;
"Curfew shall not ring to-night!"

The General Conference.

SEVENTH DAY.

A large portion of the session of the General Conference on Friday, May 8th, was occupied with the reception of the delegates from the M. E. Church. The Committee on Introductions escorted the fraternal messengers of the M. E. Church to the platform and introduced them to the Chair. The Rev. A. Hunt, D. D., was introduced by the Rev. L. M. Lee, D. D., the Rev. C. H. Fowler, D. D., by the Rev. J. E. Evans, D. D.; Gen. Clinton B. Fisk by Mr. Simpson Bobo. The Chair introduced them to the Bishops and to Dr. Lovick Pierce, and presented the communication of the fraternal messengers, which was read as follows:

To the General Conference of the M. E. Church South, to assemble in Louisville, Ky., in May, 1874:

Reverend and Dear Brethren—The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at their session in Brooklyn, New York, in 1872, adopted the following preamble and resolution:

"To place ourselves in the truly fraternal relation toward our Southern brethren, which the sentiments of our people demand, and to prepare the way for the opening of formal fraternity with them, be it hereby Resolved, That this General Conference will appoint a delegation, consisting of two ministers and one layman, to convey our fraternal greetings to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at its next session."

In carrying out this resolution the General Conference made it the duty of the Bishops to appoint the delegates for which it provides.

In pursuance of this action the Board of Bishops have appointed Rev Robert S. Hunt, D. D., Rev. Chas. H. Fowler, D. D., and Gen. Clinton B Fisk, said delegates.

The Board of Bishops also directed the undersigned, the senior members of said Episcopal Board, to furnish said delegates with proper credentials.

We, therefore, hereby certify, that the three brethren above named have been duly appointed by the authority of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, delegates to bear "the fraternal greeting" of the said General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

EDMUND S. JANES,
LEVI SCOTT,
MATTHEW SIMPSON,
EDWARD R. AMES,
} Com.

New York, April 20, 1874.

The Chair then addressed the Conference as follows:

Brethren of the Conference—On yesterday you set this hour for receiving the delegates of the Methodist Episcopal Church. They are now present with us, and I have the pleasure of introducing them to you.

The Rev. Drs. Albert S. Hunt and Charles H. Fowler and Gen. C. B. Fisk were each introduced to the Conference, the members rising at their introduction.

The Chair then turned to the delegation and said: "The General Conference is ready to receive you."

The addresses were of a kindly character, replete with pathetic reference and touching eloquence. We can only give a few extracts from each.

DR. HUNT'S REMARKS.

Dr. Albert S. Hunt then came forward and addressed the Conference, as follows:

My President, Bishops, and Brethren—We thank you in the name of the Church we represent for the cordial Christian greeting which you have extended to us. The paper which has been read indicates clearly the nature of the trust committed to us.

We are here as the representatives of the M. E. Church, to convey to you our heartfelt fraternal greetings.

It is fitting and necessary that there should be some formality in our approach to you, but now with these formalities we bring to you more than a message of words—we have brought to you our hearts. It is now well nigh thirty years since your organization had its birth, and during all these years the graves have opened up their portals. A few venerable men still linger whose very presence is a benediction: but most of those who were our leaders then have been gathered to the home above. Let us hope that they are with us to-day.

To us who come as the representatives of the M. E. Church, to nearly all of the people whom we represent, and we suppose to a large majority of you, those transactions of the past are known only as matters of history, although perplexing questions have arisen during the last quarter of a century, among which there have been and still are honest diversities of opinion, we have reached the conclusion that while we must honestly consider them, there are many more upon which we are agreed, and it becomes us at the present time to look only at these. We desire the opening of fraternal relations. Our wish is that these relations should rest on no basis but that which is fully honorable to us both.

Indulge me a few moments while I refer to the considerations which have influenced us in our action; and, first, we must recognize each in the other the union, the living union, of each with our Lord Jesus Christ. And, to me, we seem to be standing together looking at the same cross as brethren in the Lord, being children of a common faith, redeemed by the same atonement, and moving together to the same eternal home, so we should clasp hands as brethren. But we are not only Christians, but Christians of a similar creed and a similar polity.—Both churches cherish in our heart of hearts the peculiar doctrines of Methodism.

Is it not fit that we should take counsel of Him who lead us both?—Do we not hear to day a voice from the upper glory enjoining upon us the great principles of charity and toleration? Let me call your attention to the following extract from a sermon of our common founder. [He then quotes from Mr. Wesley.]

Pardon me for detaining you longer with another point. More than three quarters of a century after the first Wesleyan preachers landed upon our shores we had a common history.—Whatever the future may unfold this fact is fixed. We remember that some of the grandest results were accomplished and the richests harvests gathered in Southern fields.

My heart thrilled within me to day when I heard that the chairman of your committee of introduction was a man directly connected by kinship with the first Methodist Missionary to New England, Jesse Lee, who first preached the doctrines of Methodism amid the cold regions of New England Calvinism. He preached in a New England town and gathered together a few in a Methodist class. Five names were on his class-book. Two of them were my kindred, one was my ancestor in a direct line, and to day the first Methodist preacher of New England looks on those first gathered in by his ministry and then down upon those, the descendants of both, greeting each other in Christian brotherhood. [Great applause.]

He next read from letters written by Bishop Asbury, thus concluding:

Another precious relic I desire now to call up. It is dated at Charleston, 1766, and directed to Freeborn Garrettson in Nova Scotia. And when I remember that this was before the days of railroads and steamships my heart is stirred up within me as I read these words. [Here he read the letter.]

Would that God would help us to struggle with these difficulties, and crown our struggles with victories like those. And listen, sir: in the midst of the hard realities of which he speaks we find this parenthesis: 'Dear Fletcher is dead—dear Fletcher is dead.' He pauses for a moment and then moves on "Now, my advice is, act by mature and united counsels, live in love, seek nothing but the glory of God, preach faithfully the Methodist doctrine, and strictly, but lovingly, enforce the Methodist discipline."

And this is in 1786. Is there any living link to bind us to that day? In the providence of God you have seated on the platform to day a man whose life spans all the long years of the eventful period which has elapsed since then.

(Turning to Dr. Pierce, and handing him the letter, he said:)

I bless God that your life has been spared—your life so full of labors and grand triumphs. My heart is filled with gladness as I transfer to you this precious memorial. These, brethren, are links that bind together our Methodism in true and lasting Christian fraternity.

DR. FOWLER'S REMARKS.

Dr. Fowler followed in an address full of enthusiasm and good feeling, and demonstrative of the unity of wish and purpose of the Church North and South. In concluding he said:

Brothers, the conflict of the ages culminates about us. Methodism is in the breach. Around the head of our column rally the moral forces of the universe. The shades of the mighty dead are watching every forward step. Hell troubles as we crowd together in the contest. The redeemed shout new victory as we forget self and all but the great cause in the hour of peril. As I stand in this presence—I do not mean this company of itinerants—I mean this crowd of witnesses: these contending hosts; this one imperilled cause of my dying Master—as I stand in this presence I am compelled to ask, What am I? What are you? What is any man in such an hour, that suffering and persecutions should be considered for one moment? The other day in Congress, Lamar, the honored son of Mississippi, said: "All occasion for strife and distrust between the North and South had passed away, and there no longer remains any cause for continued estrangement. My countrymen know one another, and you will love one another." Forgiveness and charity must never find better examples and more living embodiments in political parties than in the Methodist Church. Our redeemer, in whom we are freely pardoned, says, "Freely ye have received, freely give." Brothers, I look at you with straight, honest Northern eyes, and out of my inmost heart, in the name of our common Lord, our common faith, our common polity, our common usages, our common inheritance of labor, our common commission from God—in the name of all that a Christian holds sacred—on behalf of the fifteen hundred thousand members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, I bid you God speed. One in every essential element of our church life, let us also be one in heart.

Leaving organic union as a question of the future, let us make the union of our hearts the question of to day, and make holy covenant that from this hour, one in sympathy and one in purpose, we will fall on, shoulder to shoulder, waiting patiently for that near to-morrow when there shall be one Methodism for mankind.

Gen. Fisk, the lay delegate, also spoke. He said:

"Differences there are between us, but can they not be adjusted by the great law of love? Is there not intelligence and piety sufficient in these two great Methodist bodies to work out an enduring peace on the basis of justice and honor to all parties? Can not we find a few true brothers on either side, of the sort recommended by Jethro to Moses as proper staff officers for Israel's great leader men, who fear God, speak the truth, and hate covetousness? Let us prayerfully consider such a plan, and may we henceforth stand shoulder to shoulder in every good word and work, with our hands interlocked in uplifting humanity to light, hope, happiness and heaven."

In closing his address the General said:

"And now, my dear brethren, I can express for us all no better wish than that in our Northern and Southern homes we may through grace enjoy that peace of God which passeth all understanding, and that by the blessing of our Heavenly Father upon our fraternal Methodism, we may be enabled to carry the Gospel of our Master into every habitation in our broad land, and that from every heart may be uplifted the prayer, "Arise, O Lord, into Thy rest, Thou and the ark of Thy strength. Let Thy priests be clothed with righteousness, and let Thy saints shout for joy. Amen.'"

The Chair, turning to the delegates, said:

"Brethren, we are glad to see you and to hear your words. We hope it will be convenient for you to spend some days with us—sharing the hospitalities of our people, and preaching in our pulpits. We invite you to be at home anywhere within our bar, or if it pleases you it will please us better that you be seated on the platform. Meantime the matter of your coming and of your communication will be taken by the Conference under most respectful consideration, and in due time a response will be returned."

Dr. Wilson said: as this is a matter requiring deliberate action I move that a committee of nine be appointed by the chair to which the papers of the delegates may be referred, which was adopted.

The Conference then adjourned with the doxology and the benediction by Dr. Lovick Pierce.

EIGHTH DAY.

Bishop Keener in the chair.

Several reports from Committees were made.

J. B. McFerrin presented a communication containing an Exhibit of the Publishing House from 1858 to 1862, heretofore missing, but now found and presented as a part of the history of House.

Read and referred to the Committee on Books and Periodicals.

The Chair announced the members of the Committee on Fraternal Greeting of the M. E. Church, as follows: A. W. Wilson, Baltimore Conference; L. Parker, Louisiana; A. L. P. Green, Tennessee; C. W. Miller, Kentucky; R. Alexander, Texas; R. W. Jones, Holston; F. H. Smith, Virginia; John L. McVanport, Little Rock; D. K. Pittman, Missouri, with the request, the General Conference concurring, that Dr. L. Pierce act with the committee as his health and strength may permit.

The Committee on Revisal reported. We copy the following portions of the report that were adopted:

Also a memorial from Cibolo Circuit, West Texas Conference, asking that the minimum number of Trustees be three instead of "five," has been considered, and we recommend that the language of the Discipline be so changed, on page 102, chap. 3, sec. 16, ans. 3 to ques. 2, that it be made to read, "otherwise seven, five or three." Paragraph as amended: "3. Let nine trustees be appointed for holding Church property, when proper persons can be procured; otherwise seven, five or three, who shall elect their own chairman, secretary, and treasurer."

A paper from the North Georgia Conference requesting that the following action of the General Conference of 1870, be put into the Discipline, viz: "That each Annual Conference elect a Corresponding Secretary to represent the Sunday school interests of that Conference to the Sunday schoolSecretary elected by the General Conference" (Journal p. 216) has been considered, and your committee recommend that the same be made answer 4, on page 114, chapter and section 5, and that the notation of answer 4 be 5.

Your committee having duly considered a memorial from Virginia Conference, asking that the law governing local preachers be amended, recommend the following to be placed in the Discipline, on page 89, as the fifth answer to question 4, viz: "A preacher receiving a certificate of location or official standing and failing to present the same to some Quarterly Conference within the period of six months from the date of said certificate shall not be recognized as a local preacher in our Church, unless he satisfy the Quarterly Conference to which he may apply that the failure was unavoidable."

NINTH DAY.

Bishop Keener in the chair.

Several reports were made. Among the resolutions introduced was the following:

L. Pierce, N. H. D. Wilson, and others offered a resolution asking authority for a Bishop and Annual Conferences to appoint a preacher beyond the bounds of the Annual Conferences.

Reply to the request made of the College of Bishops in the following resolution of the General Conference referred on yesterday, May 6th:

Resolved, That the Bishops be requested to consider the subject of the election and ordination of native born missionaries in foreign stations and suggest to this Conference what legislation, if any, is necessary on this subject.

The Bishops recommend that the following questions and answers be inserted in the Discipline at bottom of page 82.

Question 4. What shall be done in the case of missionaries and native preachers in foreign lands where there is no Annual Conference?

Answer. The Bishop in charge of the mission shall have authority to ordain to the office of deacon and elder on the recommendation of the superintendent and resident missionaries; or, if there be none, at his discretion.

A considerable debate occurred on a proposition to authorize the Agent and Book Committee at Nashville to purchase the property of the Publishing House at St. Louis. The whole subject was recommitted.

The report from the Committee on Boundaries elicited a long discussion.

TENTH DAY.

Bishop Pierce in the chair.

Dr. Lee inquired what action had been taken on the veto power of the Bishops sent down to the Annual Conference for decision.

Bishop McTyeire replied that the vote had been published in the Advocate, the law was in the Discipline, and the manual contained the vote—2,200 to 9.

The Conference voted down a proposition to limit the pastorate to two years. The following report was read and adopted:

REPORT NO 3. OF THE COMMITTEE ON SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.

The Sunday school Committee submit the following as report No. 3.

First—On the memorial from North Alabama asking for a uniform method of conducting Sunday schools. The committee deem it inexpedient to enact any rule.

Second—The Committee has considered the memorial of Messrs. Gillett and Joyce, praying the General Conference to define more definitely the relation of the pastor to the Sunday-school, and beg leave to refer the memorialists to the Discipline, in which we think this relation is clearly settled.

Third—The resolution of Messrs. Fleming and Hiner asking for two volumes of catechisms—one on the history and the other on the economy of the M. E. Church, South, was respectfully considered, and the committee decide that it is inexpedient at present.

Fourth—Resolutions were referred to the committee in reference to the International Uniform Text, and also in reference to the character of the lessons in Our Little People. The committee submit the following.

1. Resolved, That we recommend the continuance of the present system inaugurated by our Sunday-school Secretary

2. Resolved, That we request our Sunday-school Secretary to continue Our Little People, but we ask him to simplify the lessons, and give them in the form of question and answer

T. J. MACKEREDE,
Chairman.

MAY 12, 1872

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Book Agent, with the Book Committee, be authorized to negotiate for the transfer of the property of the Southwestern Book and Publishing Company, at St. Louis, to the Southern Methodist Publishing House, if such transfer can be effected without damage to the publishing interests of the Church: provided, that the transfer shall not be made if the debts and liabilities of our Publishing House shall thereby be increased.

B. Craven, from the Special Committee on the claims of the Publishing House against the United States Government, presented the report of said committee, which was read.

After sundry motions the following action was had.

On motion of H. A. C. Walker and J. E. Edwards, the following substitute was adopted:

"Resolved, that the Commission appointed in 1870 be and hereby is continued, that the Commission be composed of A. J. P. Green and A. H. Redford, and that the employment of Rev. R. Abbey by the Commission as its Agent meets the approval and receives the sanction of the General Conference, and that he be continued as Agent to prosecute the claim in question."

The report thus amended was adopted.

ELEVENTH DAY.

Bishop Pierce in the chair.

A paper signed by more than twenty names was read and referred to the Bishops. It asks them to issue a pastoral letter in which they shall refer to "the social meetings of the church, setting forth the true meaning and intention of the General Conference of 1866 by its action respecting class-meetings; and, that in this address the obligation of every member of the Church to fast, to pray, to read the Holy Scriptures; and, of every head of a family or of a household to observe family prayer be plainly, affectionately, yet earnestly enforced: also, that they direct the attention of the preachers and the laity to the frequent and increasing violation of that rule of the Discipline which forbids the taking such diversions "as cannot be taken in the name of the Lord Jesus," &c., &c.

L. S. Burkhead and J. M. McTeer offered a resolution referring the boundary between North Carolina and Western Conferences.

Referred to the Committee on Boundaries.

The following resolutions were then offered and read:

Resolved, That the message of love and brotherly kindness from the Methodist Episcopal Church has been cordially received, and has been referred to a Committee of nine, who, in due time, will formally and fraternally reply thereto.

Resolved, That we regret that the distinguished messengers sent by that Church cannot remain to await the presentation and reception of that report; but understanding that they leave us to day, we are unwilling that they should return home without carrying with them the knowledge of our appreciation of their courteous and fraternal bearing among us, and our wishes and prayers for their future happiness and prosperity.

JAMES JACKSON,
TRUSTEN POLK.

Some amendments were suggested which were adopted. Several speeches were made. We have only room for the following:

Dr. Sehon—I know the importance and the responsibility of this hour.—The adoption of that resolution is due to our distinguished visitors, to the occasion which brought them, and to us as a large body of Christian men, and to us as a General Conference.—The appearance of this Commission from the Methodist Episcopal Church has brought an hour which my soul has long desired to see. I pray the blessing of God upon them. As a member of the old fraternity and as a member of the new, I rejoice at any omen of peace and good feeling. It is the demand of the age—of the period in which we live, and of our glorious religion that we extend to them the fraternal hand. I say nothing of differences. Let the future take care of itself. Let us now extend to them our hands in cordial Christian fraternity.

The question was put and the resolutions adopted by a rising vote.

The Chair turning to the delegation invited them to address the Conference.

Dr Albert S. Hunt came forward and said:

BRETHREN—When I stood here on Friday last I came strengthened and supported by the consciousness of the divine presence, and I have felt during every hour of my tarry in this city that God has been near to all of us. It is becoming then that the first expression of our thanks be made to the common Head of the Church. Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost, for the peace which has prevailed among us. I think brethren, that we would return home just as well assured that we carry with us your hearts, yet we thank you for this expression which you have made. We shall ever prize it as the choicest thing in our history.

In the midst of applause Dr. Chas. H Fowler was called for. He said: I will only add that which I could not have thought I would be able to say. When I received the appointment upon this commission I thought that perhaps it was because I was a young man. A man in our Church said to me "It is well for you to go as God is with you, and his blessing upon you and this people. Some of us who remember 1844, will have to go to heaven before we can have peace." But my presence with you has demonstrated the all conquering spirit of Methodism. The men of '44 have been as cordial and warm as the younger men. This demonstrates the power of the gospel to keep men young. I have found heads covered with the light of eternity, as towering mountains catch the light of heaven. I have seen this heavenly halo about their brow. I find them all young and glowing with the warmest sympathy in behalf of our Church. I wish to say that since we have been here, I have received letters from our leading men, full of the strongest congratulations, upon the manner in which we have been received. I bid you Godspeed.

TWELFTH DAY.

Bishop Kavanaugh in the chair.

We can only give a few items:

On motion of A. H. Redford, a committee of three, consisting of P. A. Peterson, A. G. Haygood and Morris Evans, was appointed to prepare a form for the statistics of annual Conferences.

Resolved, That our Bishops be, and they are hereby requested, in their Pastoral Address, to call attention to, and express their disapprobation that Operatic Performance in our Churches, which drowns the sense of our Hymns, and utterly destroys congregational singing.

F. E. PITTS,
A. R. WINFIELD,
P. A. PETERSON.

Upon this important resolution a debate sprung up, in which many persons participated. We have only room for the following brief synopsis:

F. E. Pitts said he was not opposed to instruments: but he did seriously object to that character of music where the immortal words of John and Charles Wesley are not known. Methodist singing had ever been one of the attractions and charms of the Church.

Dr. Edwards admitted that congregational singing was indispensably necessary, and that the pastors exhorted to encourage it. For the most part he required his choir to use such tunes as the congregation could sing, though he did not object to a voluntary before service, or even sometimes after the first prayer, but the choir should be required to give the congregation such tunes as they could sing. It has been said that Methodism had sung itself around the world, and he was opposed to anything that would set it aside. He did not like the substitution for it of quartettes, sextettes, and the like.

P. A. Peterson said that the time had come when the General Conference should speak out on this subject. It is true, that choirs, in order to lead the singing, must practice artistic music, but he objected to it in the house of God. In private and select circles it was all very well, but it should not be allowed in church.

Dr. Winfield said: He didn't know anything about preludes, interludes or any other kind ofludes. He didn't know how to sing round notes or square notes: but he did know that something was needed right here. Choirs should be taught to behave themselves—to lead the singing and not to do it. He solemnly objected to ten or fifteen minutes playing of an interlude on an organ before they begin to sing. He didn't know whether to stand down or sit up. It was all wrong and we ought to say to them, Get out of the way.

Dr. Andrews said: Choirs should be recommended to use old-fashioned music. A wise encouragement would be of more importance than special legislation. He offered the following, substitute, which was accepted by the original mover:

Resolved, That the Bishops be requested to urge in their Pastoral Address the importance of congregational singing in our Churches.

Dr. Green said: I have had a great deal of trouble about singing. I have given out the hymn, and Snooks over there started a tune too long for it: and then he tries it again and gets it too short, and after two or three times his son Job hollos out, "Stop, dad, I think I've got it." There ain't many of them that can start a tune right—they either get so low as to drown or so high that they can't get over. Now there's two ways to remedy this, first, by dispensing with the hymn books altogether and give out the hymn, line upon line, or give them all hymn books and give but the hymn—not the number of the hymn and the page too, because they'll get confused, but give out one or to'ther. Tell them they've all got to sing. Go to the leader and tell give Brother, start a plain tune, that the old folks all know.

The original resolution was adopted. Bishop Pierce read the report of the Bishops on the Religious Interests of the Colored People. We will publish hereafter. The report was referred to a committee of five.

The Witness Within.

This testimony is two fold. First, that of the Holy Spirit. Second, that of our own consciousness. The former from without, supernatural—the latter from within, human. At present, the first let us consider.

1. How does the Holy Spirit testify?

Some say in the Scriptures: that having delineated in the written Word the characteristics of the Christian these are to be examined and compared with personal experience, and when found analogous, the inference is to be drawn favorable to adoption.

The Apostle asserts, "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit that we are the children of God." Special testimony is explicitly referred to. If some one was to state that "Mr. B—— himself testified to a certain fact," would it be understood that Mr. B. had written several letters from which, when viewed in conjunction and carefully compared, his opinion had been inferred.

The Apostle positively and plainly declares where this evidence is given. It is given by the Holy Spirit to our spirit, and to our spirits, and with our spirits.

The physican, who by his medical skill saves the patient from death, when he from the unmistakable indication perceives that the crisis is past informs said patient of his hopeful condition. This evidence is prior to that of his recovering strength.

So the Physican of souls, having wrought its cure from sin before any knowledge of the fact is apprehended by the spiritual patient, freely and graciously informs him that he is God's child.

2. In what manner and with what attendant circumstance is this testimony given?

There is nothing miraculous about it. It is the simple announcement that a miracle has been performed Mysteries are not always miracles.

It is not made through the instrumentality of a voice. Some may imagine they heard a voice proclaiming their pardon. This can be explained by the fact that the mind in certain condition of deep and intense feeling finds it difficult to distinguish between what is vividly impressed upon it and the utterances of the same words to the outward ear. A passage of Scripture may be so forcibly brought to remembrance that it is hard to avoid the persuasion that it was spoken.

The witness of the Spirit is not accompanied by any vision or other supernatural occurrence. All that is claimed concerning it is that a satisfactory and joyful persuasion is produced upon the spirit of man that he is a child of God. This is "a voiceless assurance to his consciousness," the direct and immediate operation of the Holy Spirit upon a human spirit.

True, this does not explain how this assurance is produced. The fact is given the modus operandi is inexplicable. How one human mind can influence another is incomprehensible: much more the action of the divine mind upon the human.

The Scriptures nowhere attempt to explain the nature of spiritual agency. The Savior asserts that it is inconceivable: "The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth; so is every one that is born of the Spirit."

There is great variety in the experience of Christians. Some have a more intense realization of their sinfulness, and hence a clearer sight of their Savior. Sometimes the assurance of an adoption is as gentle as the zephyr that scarcely shakes the osier upon the bank of the rivulet, or ruffles the bosom of the lake, or gently waves the riponed grain. In other cases it is as overpowering as the tempest that prostrates the prond oak upon the mountain side. In all cases the result is the same. "He that believeth in the Son of God hath the witness in himself."—The Methodist.

ANECDOTE OF DR. LIVINGSTONE.—Before he went abroad as a missionary he placed himself for a time under the tuition of the Rev R. Cecil, of Ongar, Essex. The Congregational minister of Sanford Riversh being taken suddenly ill, he could not take the evening service, and applied for help to Mr. Cecil, who at once sent Livingstone. The young Scotchman soon surprised the congregation beyond measure, for, having taken his text, he became bewildered and could not utter a word. Then, without any apology or remark of any kind, he snatched up his hat and made his way to Ongar, leaving the congregation to think or say what they pleased. This was the man who afterward was not afraid of men or of lions. Let timid preachers take encouragement. Let not missionary committees or members of churhes say too hastily: "That man is too bashful ever to make his way in the world."

DIVINE SUNSHINE.—There is no more beautiful passage in Tyndall than the one in which he says all the forces now working in nature are solar ones. The subtle power of steam and the immense coal deposits are only condensed and preserved sunshine. So divine influence, all through the centuries, is stored up in institutions. How sweet and bland this sunshine! We look up and the whole globe above us seems a vast goblet of sunlit wine. As it falls on the bending, yielding willow, its influence seems only gentle and harmless. But let it fall on the living tree growing by the wall, and it will cause the tree to force the heaviest stone or brick wall out of its way. So the soul grows, and Christian character is developed, under the divine sun.—Beecher.

SOUTHERN LITERATURE.—The New York Times lately contained a warm and truthful tribute to Edgar Allan Poe, the great Southern writer. It made an admission which we never saw made before in any Northern journal or by any Northern critic—that Poe possessed more real genius than any other writer that this country has ever produced. We are glad to see, says the Lynchburg News, that the truth is beginning to be acknowledged in the North, and that they are commencing to admit that something good, in a literary way, can come out of our Southern Nazareth.

God has a plan for every farthing He has placed in our hands If we are willing and obedient, we may know his plan; but no one will know how much he ought to give unless he has a strong desire to know. God will make our treasures, whether few or many, a touchstone, a test of the willingness of our hearts.

MARY LYON.

BEAUTIFUL WORDS.—Tertullian saith, "If thou endurest wrong for Christ's sake, he is a Revenger: if sorrow, he is a Comforter: if sickness, he is a Physician: if loss, he is a Restorer; if life, he is a Reviver.

The Christian Advocate

OFFICE - Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

FOR ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE.	$2.0
SIX MONTHS,	125
If payment be delayed six months,	2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIA ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C. MAY 27, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew nt once.

Dogmatism.

On one occasion that great English debater and statesman, Charles James Fox, was asked what was the difference between heterodoxy and orthodoxy. He wittily replied—"Hetero doxy is your doxy, and orthodoxy is my doxy." Fox well understood the dogmatic character of theological disputants each ever confident of his own infallibility. Indeed, the infallibles constitute a large class, and often as is the intensity of the ignorance, so is the severity and overweening confidence of the oracle. It quite frequently happens that the most stupid and unlettered controversialist rushes into the most intricate, uncertain and recondite labyrinths where the wary and learned examiner would hardly dare to enter, and our stolid and bold theologicel Beotian will not hesitate to give you "mine opinion" in regard to controverted points, when a well informed and scholarly man will express himself with modesty if not hesitancy. As Lord Lytton has so well said somewhere: "Man is arrogant in proportion to his ignorance. Man's natural tendency is to egotism." And again he has said with equal point: "It is not wisdom but ignorance which teaches men presumption. Genius may be sometimes arrogant, but nothing is so diffident as knowledge." We may add, that nothing is so insufferable as conceited and bustling ignorance. A man may be ignorant of dogmatic theology or of matahysical points, and no one censures him as long as he pretends to no knowledge in that direction, for "nothing is so good for an ignorant man as silence." But the moment he assumes to know and begins to betray his ignorance, that moment pity disappears and contempt fills its place.

We have often heard very illiterate men discuss the vexed points in Calvinism, or some of the points, and have been reminded of a line in Gay,

"They most assume who know the least."

Only hear one of your "Old Side Baptists" on election and predestination, on man's free agency and God's Sovereignty if you would realize the full meaning of the great dramatist's saying—"There is no darkness like ignorance," or that other saying by Menander—"There is nothing more daring than ignorance." Such infallibles will tell you with amazing confidence that what they hold is the truth, and what you hold is error of the most damning sort. They will fairly din your ears with their dogmatizing, and quote passages of Scripture with a fluency and incoherency that is quite astounding. Doctrine—their doctrine is everything with them. It matters but little how patient and laborious able scholars and thinkers have been in their examination of such doctrine, and how they have rejected it, these ignorant and dashing infallibles care not for these things—what they hold is truth and all else is error.

The reader may be reminded of disputants other than those referred to. There are many people in our land who hate the Papacy, but who claim an infallibility scarcely less fixed and profound than that of Pius himself.—If you will only enter on some Sabbath day some churches in North Carolina, you will hear theological scatterers deliver themselves of their infallible platitudes with a confidence and boldness that would become the Pope himself when he was in full canonicals in St. Peter's. You look over the congregation and you find them faithful, attentive and sympathetic, receiving the nutriment thus dispensed with a satisfaction and delight quite irrepressible:

"And still they gazed, and still their wonder grew,
That one small head could carry all he knew."

Raleigh is sometimes favored with such illuminations, if reports be true. Wise brethren from the rural districts who have got hold of the truth, are so filled with the importance of their mission that they would fain let the Metropolitans have the benefit of it, and hence, a deluge of infallibility upon immersion, election and other topics. A very able philosophical writer and thinker long since said, and the remark is as true as profound:

"Nothing can be more unphilosophical than to be positive or dogmatical on any subject. When men are the most sure and arrogant, they are commonly the most mistaken."

When men are under the control of their feelings, then it is their infallibility becomes the most pronounced. It is quite apparent that such dogmatists are not qualified to form and render a judicious opinion, and if the matter they are so swift to testify to was a matter for the civil courts, they would be excluded upon the ground that having pre judged the case, and having arrived at an opinion such only as becometh infallibles, they were not competent to try the case.

We venture to say, and our space is up, that no man ever yet arrived at the truth by arrogantly assuming to be right and joining the infallibles.—Truth is not won in that way. She only smiles upon the conscientious, teachable, submissive pupil. The moment a man becomes infallible, that moment he misses the clew to the labyrinths in which the truth is concealed. The man who yields himself up to his dogmatic assumptions becomes too blind to be just, and too bitter to be charitable. He impairs by his worship of his own opinions the great moral element that dignifies and exalts—LOVE OF TRUTH.

Man's Folly—The True Remedy.

Man is a strange being. He often invites trouble by his acts and then fails to improve the coveted chastisement. He rebels against the authority of Jehovah, and when smitten sorely for his sin, most unwisely and imprudently turns to poor, weak, fallible, self-confident man for help, instead of turning to Him who alone has the power to succor and comfort. A man bitten by the cobra de capello, is as wise as such an one, when he drinks the blood of the monster to obtain an antidote.

When disease wastes the body men will seek help in the physician, trusting much more in his imagined skill, than in the goodness and mercy of God to wisely direct that skill and cause cure to follow his treatment. When our hearts are sorely troubled with the unbearable burden of grief, how often, alas! do we murmur against God's dispensations, and complain in bitterness of soul that we have more than we can bear? Under such Divine visitations we flee in folly to man for aid and consolation, intead of seeking God in fervent and humble prayer that strength and grace may be so imparted to us that our hearts may be happy and even contented, and compel us with joyful acquiescence to submit to God's will even in the article of our suffering and affliction.

If in our temporal troubles we turn away from God to find help in erring and perishing man; so in spiritual troubles we are equally prone to flee to the creature instead of to the Creator for peace and cure. It would seem almost impossible, so absurd it is, that any rational being should think of seeking help from man when his soul is the centre of disease. But we know that such is often the case. When men are greatly disturbed in their minds, and they are excited by fearful considerations of their future state, they "betake themselves to the observance of duties, or will make resolutions to amend their lives, intead of fleeing to Christ the only refuge for lost sinners"—the only remedy provided for spiritual diseases, for He alone is the great Physician who can cure soul-maladies.

When the sinner through the influence of the Holy Spirit begins to have serious trouble and apprehension and to realize how hopeless is his case, he would fain find safety and healing in priestly emolients and sacramentarian opiates. The result is, the disease remains and at last the soul dies. We see this illustrated in the character of those who trust in what the Church can do rather than in the Great Head of the Church. Such a course is indeed perilous in the extreme. It is to rest on a broken reed that will break and pierce. There is but one help for the sinner. The way of cure lies in trust and obedience. Faith in Jesus and submission to His will alone will bring health to the soul. It is the blood of the Lamb whose blood will wash away guilt and defilement. It is Christ Jesus, and Him only, whom God has set forth to be a propitiation through faith in His blood. He only can change the heart of the sinner. He only is the way, the truth, and the life.

What extreme folly—what intense madness to rely upon any power of man then, or in any thing he can do, to heal the diseases that afflict the soul! It is futile, it is cruel to rely upon church ordinances for healing and relief. When the heart is smitten with sorrow and the soul is sin-sick, go not to priest or bishop for solacement and health, but to Christ the Righteous—the Saviour of sinners. In Him only is there eternal life. When you feel that you are a sinner and need forgiveness and a right spirit within you, do not betake yourself to those who teach that salvation is through baptism and the Church, but go in sorrow and faith to Him who is mighty to save. Trust in Jesus Christ alone.

OMISSION.—In our imperfect list of North Carolinians who had become distinguished abroad in the Methodist Church, we omitted the name of Rev. Dr Thomas L Boswell, of the Memphis Conference. He is a delegate to the General Conference. He is an able and well informed minister. Rev. Dr. Smith W. Moore, another delegate from the same Conference, was born in North Carolina, and was converted and joined the Methodist Church in this city, in 1837. He is a graduate of Randolph Macon College. He is a vigorous and scholarly man, eminent as a teacher and writer. A book from his pen—"Our Church at Sandbury"—will soon be published by the Nashville House.

Fraternization.

We publish with great pleasure as much of the speeches of the delegates from the Northern Methodist Church as our space allows. We like the idea of fraternization, without either expecting or desiring organic union. We will rejoice if there should prevail a general, hearty christian feeling of love and sympathy between the two Methodisms, but are not prepared to ask for or insist upon a closer union than that. The Daily Advocate referring to the visit of the Northern brethren says:

"The fraternal delegation sent to us by the General Conference of our Northern brethren had no commission beyond that of presenting to us their fraternal greetings, that and nothing more. They executed their commission, and did it well; and our General Conference has treated them with all due consideration. The delegates did not ask for union—not even for fraternal relations—they bore us fraternal greetings; recognized unadjusted difficulties; but they did not pragmatically go beyond their instructions. They are to be commended for their outspoken candid greetings, and their reticence as to everything else."

It further says, showing the difficulties in the way of organic union:

"Their views of the Episcopate differ widely from ours—the difference on this point was the prime cause of the division of the Church, and while it lasts of course there can be no organic union.

They have also changed the conditions of membership, and we never could agree to an organic union with them, in view of this serious innovation."

We agree with that paper in its opinion that if it were possible to blend the two bodies, that, because of their immense size, such a union would not be desirable. It remarks:

"As Dr. Elliott said, in 1844, we are numerous, and are spread over too large a territory, for one jurisdiction. The Northern Connection is too unwieldly for one government—it ought to be divided into three or four jurisdictions; and the sooner that takes place the better. The Southern Connection is getting too large for one jurisdiction, and many think that it ought soon to be divided into two."

Whilst we do not think it would be judicious to unite two such great bodies, we are utterly opposed to any plan or purpose to divide the Methodist Church, South. Let it remain a unit, strong in faith, in action, in devotion to God and consecration to the great work of saving souls, but let there be no separation or division. The Daily Advocate suggests a sort of Pan-Wesleyan Council which we rather like. Hear it:

"Let an Ecumenical Conference be formed, consisting of representatives from all the 'Methodisms,' who shall meet at stated times within the bounds of the several Connections in order; let them confer together in regard to the common Methodism; but let them not be invested with any legislative or judicial functions. An ecclesiastical anderbuud of this sort may be of great service, and it really is all that is needed by us and our coreligionists.

We have suggested this plan to some of the leaders in the Northern Church, and they say it is the very thing. 'Your head is lead,' said one, 'that is the plan.' The tentative movements of our British and Northern brethren looking to good fellowship, certainly tend in this direction."

It would be indeed a grand gathering if once in every four or six years the delegates from every branch of the great Methodist family were to assemble. In such a meeting there would be immense moral force.

Since the above was prepared, we have received the New York Advocate of 21st. Dr. Curry copies the entire editorial in the Daily Advocate from which we have quoted, and adds:

"We detect in it the style and thought of Rev. Dr. Summers, of the Nashville Advocate. With its leading sentiments we most heartily agree, and, however unacceptable it may be to some who are especially earnest for "organic union," the inexorable logic of necessity will eventually save us from the great evil of an overgrown consolidated Methodism. The references to our delegates, in respect to what they did, and what they did not, are handsomely made, as they were well-deserved. Informal fraternity is good and seemly; organic consolidation would be a very great evil to both parties. Without expressing any opinion upon the details of matters recommended, we are free to declare our decided sympathy with the general tone of the article, and our approval of its general recommendations."

EXPLANATORY.—We recently had our mail books transcribed by a person who was unacquainted with our office, and mistakes have occurred in some instances. In a few cases persons have not been properly credited, and by mistake a statement of indebtedness was sent to them. We gladly make all needed corrections as soon as we ascertain that an error has occurred.

REV. JAMES MAHONEY.—We regret to learn by letter written from Wilson, May 23rd, that this brother has been very sick with fever at that place for the last two weeks. He was improving at the date of the letter, and we trust will soon be convalescent. He urges the local preachers in his field of labor to fill his appointments until he is restored to his wonted health.

Mary Magdelene.

A correspondent asks the Christian Union "what evidence is there that Mary Magdelene was ever a profligate woman?" The editor replies:

"There is none, except the general supposition that demoniacal possession was a result of a bad moral character. In the middle ages people accepted things without much inquiring, and art in Mary Magdalene has become fixed as the representative of the profligate woman, penitent."

He adds that he supposes "her name will be the symbol of the class of whom the woman who wept on the feet of Jesus is the real representative."

There is not a scintilla of evidence to identify Mary Magdelene with the woman taken in adultery or with any other profligate woman. So far from this, according to the Divine record, she was one of the sweetest saintliest characters among all the "women of the Bible" It is simply a shame that so pure and lovable a woman should have been so tradnced and maligned, and it is not at all creditable to any man's Biblical knowledge who permits himself in thought or word to asperse the reputation of so admirable a christian character. The best recent Biblical commentators sustain our view. We may give some of the authorities at another time.

Not New.

Brother Mann's sermon on "The Importance of Open Communion" has stirred up the Baptists. If they would read the religious papers of the various denominations they could learn that it is no new thing. Writers of every shade of opinion unite in condemning the selfishness, arrogancy and bigotry of "close communion." It is absolutely opposed to the spirit of christian humility and love, and is deservedly offensive not only to the great body of christians, but to a large and growing number of liberal and spiritual minded Baptists. Rev. G. W. Sanderlin in the last Biblical Recorder, comments at length upon a short passage in Brother Mann's sermon in which he referred to the Baptist position. It is the old defence that will not hold water even. Dr. Hooper's admirable articles in the same paper in defence of his own practice of open communion, is a perfect set-off, and will answer as a full reply.

PROFESSOR SWING—HIS CREED.—This gentleman has been tried for not believing all that the Westminter Confession teaches. In his able and candid speech in defence of himself he said:

"Confess, with me, that our beloved church has slipped away from the religion of despair, and has come unto Mount Sion, into the atmosphere of Jesus as He was in life and in death, full of love and forgiveness."

The Creed, in addition to the general creed of New School Presbyterians, is this as given by himself:

"The inspiration of the Holy Scriptures, the Trinity, the divinity of Christ, the office of Christ as a mediator when grasped by an obedient faith, conversion by God's spirit, man's natural sinfulness, and the final separation of the righteous and the wicked."

We take that to be a pretty sound creed.

Those of our readers who wish to supply themselves with rare and beautiful flowers, of all kinds, will find it to their interest to forward their orders to John Saul, Esq., Nurseryman, Seedsman and Florist of Washington City, D. C. We have just received a fine selection from him. We are not only delighted with the plants, their freshness and variety, but particularly pleased with the great care bestowed in packing them. They were received in perfect order.

The editor acknowledges with pleasure an invitation to accompany the Raleigh Baptist Sunday School, on their Anniversary Excursion, which took place on Thursday last.

"THE OLD MAN ELOQUENT."—The venerable Dr. Lovick Pierce, aged 90, preached on last Sunday was a week the dedicatory sermon in the Jefferson Street Church, Louisville, Kentucky, which is very highly praised by those who heard it.

RESIGNATION.—We learn that Rev. W. N. Connolly has resigned his charge of 5th Street Methodist Episcopal Church, Wilmington, and returned to Alabama. We have not learned the cause of his action.

BRO. BOBBITT: Having been informed by letter of the delinquency of several of the preachers in not reporting their appointments of money for defraying the expenses of our delegates to the General Conference, I hereby inform those brethren that their duty in this matter is very binding, and the necessities of the case will not allow them to neglect it.

Please collect and remit to Rev. N. H. D. Wilson at Greensboro at as early day as practicable.

Reports on this collection will be read out at the next session of our Conference.

D. R. BRITTON,
Ch'mn Joint Board of Finance.
Concord, N. C., May 22nd, 1874.

Additional Subscription to rebuild Edenton St Method'st Church.

J. E. Boger,	$10.00
Dennis Tilley,	5.00
Plank Chapel S. S.	3.00
Rev. J. B. Floyd,	1.00

Editorial Notes.

1. The three great libraries of the world are the National Library of Paris, the Imperial Library of St. Petersburg, and the library of the British Museum in London. In 1871 the first contained 1.377.500 volumes. The second is supposed now to contain 1.100.000 volumes. The third by actual count contains 1 100,000 volumes, exclusive of an immense number of pamphlets, manuscripts, &c. In point of value the last is much the greatest. It increases at the rate of about 42.000 volumes annually. It is open to all, and in 1871, 105.130 persons visited it. It contains works in almost every language, including Sanscrit, Arabic, Persian, Turkish, Hindustani, Bengali, Merathi, Javanese, Burmese, Chinese, Malay, &c., the books in each language numbering from 500 to 5,810. It has the best catalogue in the world contained in 1.522 volumes. Of these 27 volumes are devoted to the Bible, it requiring that large number to merely print the names of the books in the library devoted to the Word of God. Shakspeare requires 2 volumes, Milton 2, Aristotle 2, Cicero 2, Luther 6, &c. It is indeed a wonderful collection, and a honor to English civilization.

2. If asked to point out the sublimest description probably to be found in all literature, we would have to refer to these lines in that wonderful, mysterious, awful poem (when read aright.) Coleridge's Rime of the Ancient Mariner: —

"Still as a slave before his lord,
The ocean hath no blast;
His great eye most silently,
Up to the moon is cast."

Only get fully hold of that image and you will agree that there is immense power and sublimity in it. The man who has never studied Coleridge's poems is unacquainted with one of the greatest masters of this world. De Quincey, referring to the grandeur and greatness of his intellect, pronounces him "the largest and most spacious intellect, the subtlest and most comprehensive, in his (my) judgment, that has yet existed among men." This is the opinion of one who knew Coleridge most intimately, and was himself one of the greatest men of the modern world. John Forster and Dr. Arnold held some such opinion also, and so have many other famous men. Every theologian in the land should own his "Aids to Reflection," "Lay Sermons" and others of his writings. His theological discussions were singularly profound, acute, penetrating and original.

3. Having given the above, let us quote six lines from the greatest of living poets, and one of the greatest of all time. Edgar A. Poe, the finest genius yet born on the American Continent, wrote thirty years ago, that he was not sure that Tennyson was not the greatest poet that ever lived.—Ceteris no one with poetic taste and sympathy who has studied him can fail to give him a front place next to Homer, Shakspeare and Milton. But to the quotation. Of its length there is no poem in the world superior to it:

THE EAGLE.

He clasps the crag with hooked hands;
Close to the sun in lonely lands,
Ring'd with the azure world, he stands.
The wrinkled sea beneath him crawls;
He watches from his mountain walls,
And like a thunderbolt he falls.

4. Since we are among the great poets, let us re-produce probably the finest single line in Byron:

"Red Battle stamped his foot, and nations felt the shock."

5. We have long believed that immense harm is done by the secular papers in their long and often graphic accounts of crime. We doubt if any paper that fills its columns with records of crime should be allowed to enter any house hold. There is fearful contagion in evil example, and a baleful influence in vicious literature The following is pertinent:

"An eminent French physician, M. Despine, shows from a large number of instances that when a crime is perpetrated in dramatic circumstances and the details attract general comment, a certain number of similar crimes will be committed soon afterwards. From the statistics of M. Despine, it becomes certain that the newspapers that give sensational publicity to the fact of crimes are the conductors of innumerable wretches to the galleys, the madhouse, and the morgue. "When we disseminate examples of outrage and disorder, we must not be surprised if we find a harvest of crime and insanity."

6. Free discussion never yet hurt the truth. The friends of Christianity are needlessly excited when they apprehend danger from a thorough examination of the foundation of that religion they profess. Infidelity, however learned, cannot destroy one particle of inspired truth. True Christianity is built on the Eternal Rock and the eternal years are hers.

7. Man millinery has long been a distinguishing feature of some churches. Many ministers are extremely prone to hang out the clerical sign.—We saw once in Memphis an old friend so disfigured by his quaint uniform, that we took him to be a servant in the livery of some fantastic old gentleman who liked to be different from other people. According to the London Independent some of the Nonconformist ministers are beginning to ape the High Churchmen in their dress, or as that paper puts it, "attempting to disguise themselves as clergymen of the Church of England." It very sensibly says:

For ourselves, we do not see why ministers should dress other than as English gentlemen, and the less they try to make themselves a distinct order, and the more they base their rights to their office simply on their capacity to lead and teach the people, the more will they win that esteem and admiration which they have a right to expect."

8. The Southern Historical Society has a great and most important work before it—to gather and preserve the records of the great struggle between the two sections. It has examed a letter of George Washington written from the camp at Cambridge, Massachusetts, August 20th, 1775. In it he refers to the Massachusetts officers of militia as, "generally speaking, the most indifferent kind of people I ever saw," says he had broken "one colonel and five captains for cowardice" at Bunker Hill, and for drawing more pay and provisions than they had men in their companies and that though the soldiers would fight well if properly officered, they are exceedingly dirty and nasty people."

Such treasonable utterances against this people of that section will make the Bostonians irate and indignant, and the Southern leader will sink in their estimation. Some might urge that this were equivalent to reversing the voice of history.

Literary Gossip

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe has begun the publication of a new novel, entitled "We and Our Neighbors."

Henry Ward Beecher's third series of Yale College Lectures are of the highest interest and value. His theology is very much nearer the true Methodist standard than the Calvinism of the Institutes or Westminster Divines.

Professor Christlieb made a greater impression at the Evangelical Alliance than any of the Foreign ministers. He is a man of great abilities and learning. His profoundest book is possibly Modern Doubt and Christian Belief. It has been published in England under the editorship of Rev. T. L. Kingsbury, Scribner, of New York, has republished it

A fiction bearing upon the inter marrying of the races in the South is attracting attention in Georgia. It is from the pen of Mrs. M. J. R. Hamilton, of Atlanta, wife of Rev. Dr. Hamilton, and is entitled Crochet; or the Secret Sorrow. Hon. A. H. Stephens, Hon. Ben Hill and other eminent Georgians speak highly of its power and interest

A volume of sermons by Rev. David Swing, who has just been acquitted by an overwhelming vote, for not holding to the iron bound Calvinism of the past, has been published. It is called Truths for To-Day. The sermons are said to be extremely fine. The Christian Union—very high authority—says of them:

We would speak, if there were here room, of the purely literary merits and attractions of these exquisite sermons. They are the words of a man familiar with the most perfect fruits of culture, and sensitive in high degree to the charms of literary form. Not merely in palpable allusion, but in the choice phrase, in the modulation of his sentences, and the most chaste verbal reserve, are to be discerned the tokens of his profitable industry among the best books. But his mastery of a fascinating and powerful diction is not his greatest merit. He is a thinker. His sentences are weighted with ideas; and on nearly every page is to be found some well uttered thought which rings out like an aphorism, and contributes something real to the world's store of intellectual treasures."

A Contrast.

The New York Christian Advocate, evidently has confidence in the adventurers who have been in the South since the war eating up the substance of the people. But not so Rev. Dr. R. M. Hartfield, of Philadelphia. At the anniversary of the Freedman's Aid Society, in New York recently, he thus spoke, and we echo him to the word: "The negroes of the South should be educated and lifted above the baleful influence of the carpet baggers, whom he characterized as a set of vile men who could not be elected to an office paying $50 a year in the North. He had always been a staunch Republican, but he was sorry that the party for which he had labored so much and for whose solicitude he had spent so many sleepless nights and restless days was now going to ruin. Unprincipled men have taken the helm, and if there is not a speedy revolution the government will go to destruction, hook, line, hob, sinker and all."

Greensboro Female College Commencement.

On Wednesday evening, June 3rd. at 8 P. M., Bishop J. C. Keener of New Orleans, will preach in the College Chapel.

On Thursday, June 4th, graduating exercises and Address by Rev. Dr. C. F. Deems, of the Church of the Strangers in New York.

The Trustees will hold their annual meeting on Wednesday, June 3rd. at 9 A. M. in their session room in the College.

N. H. D. WILSON,
Pres. Board Trustees.

Trinity Commencement For 1874.

June 7. The sermon before the Theological Society will be preached by Rev. Charles Phillips, D. D., of Davidson College.

June 9. Address to the Society of Alumni, by J. R. Webster, Esq., of Reidsville, N. C.

June 10. The Trustees will meet at 9 o'clock, A. M. At 11 o'clock, the Annual Sermon to the Graduating Class will be preached by Bishop J. C. Keener of New Orleans.

At 3 o'clock, P. M., the Literary Address before the Societies will be delivered by Rev A. W. Wilson, D. D., of Washington City.

June 11. Commencement Day.

B. CRAVEN.

May 13th, 1874.

Religious Brevities.

— The Presbytery of London (United Presbyterian) at its recent meeting resolved to memorialize the Synod, soon to meet in Edinburgh, to take into consideration the proposed promotion of a Pan-Presbyterian Council.

—The most significant feature of Thursday's session of the Reformed Episcopal church was the adoption of a plan of federative union with the free church of England which had previously received the assent of the latter body. The leaders in the Council confidently expect to gain reenforcements from the Protestant Episcopal church.

— Prof. Phelps, of Andover Theological Seminary, presents in the Congregationalist statistics showing that of the 646 living alumni of the institution, graduated in the last 25 years, only 35 are to be reckoned as incompetent for ministerial service.

— There was more than the usual ceremony in Mr. Beecher's church in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Sunday, May 3d, occassioned by the accession of more than 100 members to the communion.

— A lad of eleven, who had been four years in a parish school of the Established Church in England, when asked by the school inspector to write out an answer to the question, "What is thy duty towards God?" wrote as follows: "My duty toads God is to bleed in him to fering and to loaf withold your arts, withold my mind, withold my sould and with my scruth to whirchp and to give thinks to put my old trash in him, to call upon him, to onner his old name and his world, and to save him truly all the days of my life's end."

— The Archbishop of Canterbury has accepted the invitation of the Rev. Dr. Parker (Baptist), of London, to assist at the dedication of his new church. Another chance for Bishop Tozer.

— At the funeral of Dr. Livingstone the various missionary societies and other religious and philanthropic organizations were represented—the Wesleyan Missionary Society by the President of the Conference and others, the Methodist Free Churches by the Rev C. New (from East Africa) and T. New ton and Mr. T. Cuthbertson.

— The trial of Professor Swing before the Chicago Presbytery was continued last week. The presentation of testimony closed on Friday, when an adjournment took place to Tuesday of this week, when the closing arguments by counsel will be heard. He has since been acquitted by a very large majority, and has retired from the Presbyterian Church.

— About fifty families, and nearly the entire Sunday school, of Rev. Mr. Sabine's Church, have accompanied him into the Reformed Episcopal Church. On Sunday last Bishop Cummins preached to the congregation in the morning, and Mr. Sabine in the evening.

— A theological class for ladies is about to be inaugurated at Edinburgh by Professor Macgregor, of the Free Church College.

— There are in the United States, at present, about 65,000 clergymen belonging to the various denominations of the Protestant Church. Their average annual salaries are from $600 to $650 only; the highest average in any one denomination being in the Methodist Church, but $700.

— A coach was stoned in Puebla on Holy Thursday simply because it was driven through the streets in defiance of Catholic customs.

— Jacob Wainwright, the black boy who accompanied Dr. Livingstone's remains to England, will, after some further training return to his native country to be employed as a teacher in the Church Missionary Society's East African Mission.

— The late Rev. Thomas Binney, by his will, directed that no attempt may be made or sanctioned by his family or friends to write a life of him, as he wishes to be only mercifully remembered by God.

— The Rev. Dr. H. W. Thomas, of the First Methodist church in Chicago, preached an eloquent sermon last Sunday in defense of Prof. Swing, who is now on trial in that city for alleged disbelief in some of the doctrines of Presbyterianism. In conclusion, Dr. Thomas said: "As for Bro. Swing, he has by degrees and in the gentlest and least offensive way possible, broken to the world the secret of his unbelief in Calvinism. He may feel that he may best serve the cause of truth by staying where he is holding on to the many good things in his church, and seeking to free it from those errors that so seriously impede its progress.—Or he may feel it best to withdraw, or he may be expelled. In either case he will be one of the greatest and best preachers of his age, and his sermons will be read as long as the sentiments of the pure, the beautiful and the good have place in human hearts.

— All those priests in Germany who refuse to take the oath of allegiance to Emperor William will be prohibited officiating after the first of this month. Bismarck is determined that Jesuits and Jesuitical plots shall be banished from the Empire. We shall probably get the benefit of their presence in this country.

— Rev. Wm. C. Fowler has been received into the Dutch Reformed Church from the M. E. Church, of Stockport, N. Y., (New York Conference.)

— Prof. Jas. T. Doyle, late of the Pacific Churchman, has been ordained a Baptist minster in Yokohama.

— Dr. Talmage in his acknowledgment of over eight thousand dollars for the support of his Tabernacle Lay College, says over six hundred students already have received instruction, and many of them become lay preachers and missionaries. Oliver Hoyt, Esq., the well-known Methodist gave five hundred dollars toward this object.

— The Treasurer of the Evangelical Alliance acknowledges the receipt of nearly $7,000 for the relief of the family of the late Rev. Emile Cook of Paris.

— The ceremony of laying the corner stone of the Roman Catholic College near Macon, took place on Sabbath afternoon the 3d inst., in the presence of a large concourse of people.

— Rev. H. V. Philpot, of the Texas Conference, a delegate to the General Conference of the M. E. Church, South, met with a sad accident. He started for Louisville accompanied by his wife; on the way to the depot, in a buggy, the horse became frightened, ran away, destroying the buggy, killing his wife, and severely injuring himself.

Personal.

Mr. Vanderbilt has given an additional $100,000 to the Vanderbilt University of Nashville, to be used in a building fund, in order that the University Buildings may be completed in accordance with the plans and specifications heretofore approved by him.

General John C. Breckinridge was taken seriously ill with hemorrhage of the lungs at Lexington, Kentucky, May 1, and for a time was in a very critical condition. At last accounts he was reported better, though by no means out of danger

Frank H. Alfriend Esq., of Wilmington, an elegant writer, contributes political letters to the Louisville Courier Journal.

Dr. Robert J. Hicks, of Granville has been elected orator of the State Medical Society, for the ensueing year. An admirable appointment. Dr. H. is a gentleman of ability and reading.

Hon. Morrison Waite, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, will arrive in this city about the 19th prox.

Rev. J Spangler D. D., of the Alabama Conference, died quite suddenly a few days ago.

Rev. Dr. Thomas de Witt, senior pastor of the Collegiate Reformed Dutch Church of New York city, died on Monday, May 18, of pneumonia, aged 83 years.

Bishop Clark, of Rhode Island, has issued a pastoral letter, urging that all the churches in his diocese take collections for the relief of sufferers by the Southern inundations.

The manuscript of a work on which Professor Bunsen, the famous German chemist, had been engaged for four years, was recently burned to ashes by accident.

John Bright, in a letter to Dorman B. Eaton, hopes that the Civil Service Reform will be successful in this country.

Thomas Carlyle and Mr. Froude will spend the summer in Wales. Mr. Carlyle is very feeble, and has almost ceased from writing.

The Czar and the Grand Duke Alexis arrived at Dover, Eng., the 13th. Immense crowds witnessed the disembarkation of the party, and greeted them with hearty enthusiasm. The Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh, the Prince of Wales and Prince Arthur received the Imperial visitors, and conducted them to Windsor Castle.

Disraeli is said to have formed a warm friendship for the Duchess of Edinburgh, declaring her the most gifted and cultivated of any lady he ever met. The Duchess speaks all continental languages, with but little Tartar accent.

Admiral Buchanan, who died in Maryland last week, commanded the Confederate ram Merrimac when she sunk the Union frigate in Hampton Roads and engaged the Monitor. He also commanded the Confederate fleet in Mobile bay when Farragut captured it.

Miscellaneous Items.

A Mill has recently been started in England in which flour is made by crushing the grain by small trip-hammers instead of grinding it. It is claimed that a pounding mill costing $1.000, will produce as much flour in the same time as a grinding mill worth $5,000.

An able and well-informed writer in the Edinburgh Review says that the loss sustained by the South in the late war would pay the combined public debts of the United States and Great Britain. Or, it would recompense France for all her losses in the war with Germany including the indemnity, and yet have a surplus nearly sufficient to buy up all the railways of England, Ireland and Scotland.

A Western stump orator, in the course of one of his speeches, remarked: "Gentlemen, if the Pacific Ocean wor an inkstand, and the blue elounded canopy of heaven and the level ground of our yearth wor a sheet of paper, I couldn't begin to write my love of country onto it."

O rich and various manifoldness of sight and sound, carrying in its senses the morning and the night and the unfathomable galaxy; in the heart the geometry of the city of God; in thy heart, the power of love and the realms of right and wrong. An individual man is a fruit which it costs the foregoing ages to form and ripen. He is strong not to do, but to be; not in his arms, but in his heart; not as an agent, but as a fact.—Emerson.

The gifts made during the past year to the Agassiz Museum of Comparative Zoology at Harvard amount to nearly $176,000. The subscription for a permanent memorial of Professor Agassiz, to be presented to the museum upon his birthday, already amount to nearly $100,000.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All the traveling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorised Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1.00. Those who send us none will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters on the office should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount to hand. If money is sent otherwise than herein specified it will be at the sender's risk.

North Carolina.

We would gen rall the attention of our readers, and, especially those who are interested in machinery, to the advertisement of Messrs Poole & Hunt so widely and favorably known as Engineers, Founders and Machinists, Ever determined to be among the first in the grand march of improvement, and to keep pace with the marvellous advance of the age in science and mechanics, this firm spare no expense in perfecting the working capacity and appliances of their splendid establishment. Their new Patterns and Price lists, with many valuable additions, are now ready for distribution and will be sent, postage paid to those who make application for them They have also on hand an exceptionally large and comprehensive list of miscellaneous machinery patterns.

—The Methodist Sunday School of this place will have an excursion to Salem in a short time—probably the second week in June.—Greensboro Patriot.

—About six hundred young folks joined in the excursion from Salem last Saturday to Company Shops, and enjoyed themselves nicely.—Greensboro Patriot.

—YADKIN COLLEGE.—Commencement exercises take place at Yadkin College on 4th of June. The Annual sermon will be preached by Rev. R. H. Wills, on the 3d.

—The Statesville Intelligencer has been removed to Salisbury where it will be published henceforth.

—Judge Dick will hold a special term of the U. S. District Court at Hendersonville in August.

—The Salem Press says: Mr. Joseph Crews, Sr., the oldest citizen of that county, died on Saturday last, aged 92 years and 5 months.

—BOOK SPRING ACADEMY. The closing exercises of this Academy will take place on 3rd and 4th June. Rev. H. T. Hudson will preach the Annual Sermon, and W. L. Bynum Esq. of Lincolnton, will deliver the Literary Address.

—A little son of John Dillard, of Craven county, died recently from a grain of corn having lodged in his throat. The little fellow was only two years old.

—A young man, named Nelson, was found dead about a mile and a half from Goldsboro, on Sunday 10th inst. He is supposed to have been poisoned by a young woman of bad repute.

—Halifax has just sent up five negro convicts to the Penitentiary.

—It is said that ex-Gov. Wm. A Graham will soon visit Philadelphia for his health.

—Col. R. E. Hoke has announced himself an independant candidate for Judge, in the 9th district.

—Mr. Avera, cotton planter four miles from this city, says the frost this morning killed his cotton.

—Raleigh now boasts of fifteen base ball clubs.

—Farming backward in Cumberland, Moore and Harnett.

—A Bald Eagle, measuring, after his wings were cropped, eight feet from tip to tip, was killed by Mr. T. J. Stancill, of Pitt, one day last week.

—The Henderson Register finds a plenty of apples, very few peaches, pears badly damaged, cherry crop only medium. An extensive grape grower is discouraged at the prospect for grapes.

—The Expositor says a wolf was captured a few days ago on Boon Mountain seven feet from nose to tip of tail, and three feet, four inches in height.

—Gen. A. M. Scales was invited to deliver the annual address at Wake Forest College at the commencement in June, but being compelled to decline from private reasons, C. C. Clark, Esq., has been invited in his stead.

—The Enfield Times says: Near Enfield resides two ladies remarkable for their advanced age. The younger is Mrs. Sallie Smith, aged 97, and is possessed of all her faculties in a remarkable degree; the older is Mrs. Pankey Judge, aged 98, and who can perform her usual work. She can thread a fine cambric needle without the use of spectacles.

—Messrs. Geo. W. Stanton, of Wilson, E. C. Davidson, of Mecklenburg, and R. L. Patterson, of Forsythe, represented the State Agricultural Society in the National Agricultural Congress in session in Atlanta during the last week.

—The Charlotte Democrat says: The wheat crop throughout that section is very fine and promising.

—The spring term of the Federal Court, which has been in session at Asheville for the past two weeks, expired by limitation on Saturday last, although the business of the Court was nothing like completed. A special term is to be held.

—The State Medical Convention met at Charlotte last week.

—The State Council Friend of Temperance met at Winston last week.

—The Episcopal Convention met at Wilmington last week.

—The Milton Chronicle says that it is a positive fact that there is a woman in Person county who sheds her finger and toe nails every month.

—The Newbern Times says: "We are pleased to learn that the crops in this section are very encouraging, and the standard productions look well."

—A Three pound aerolite fell near Ransom's bridge, with the sound of heavy thunder.

—Mr. Gladstone tells his private acquaintances that he regrets having given so many years to politics. "How little, said he, the other day, to an admirer, "do politics affect the life, the moral life of a nation! One single good book influences the people a vast deal more."

—We learn from the Pee Dee Courier that the Pee Dee Manufacturing Company organized at Rockingham and chose the following directors: Mr. R. L. Steele, Col. B. F. Little, Col. W. L. Steele, Mr. W. Little, Col. J. W. Leak, Capt. W. I. Everett, and Mr. T. C. Leak. This board elected Mr. R. L. Steele, President. The capital stock already secured is between $75,000 and $70,000 with good prospects for entire success. The books are still open for subscriptions.

—The Raleigh News says: Dr. Columbus Mills, of the N. C. State Grange, has appointed the following gentlemen as delegates to convene in Atlanta, Ga., on the 3d day of June: Messrs. D. H. Hill, of Charlotte; John S. Long, of Newbern; A. T. Mial, of Wake; R. T. Fulghum, of Wake: J. P. Thomas, of Mecklenburg; Azarial Graves, of Caswell; J. C. Wooten, Lenoir; P. C. Carlton, of Iredell; Geo. Z. French, of New Hanover. B. M. Collins, of Warren; W. S. Harris, Jasper Stowe, of Mecklenburg.

Marriages.

In Henderson, N. C., on May 18th, 1874, J. Abner Harrell, Esq., and Miss Rosa F. Harris. We wish them every temporal blessing and a home in heaven at last.

Married, in Cabarrus Co. N. C April 16th 1874, by Rev. D. R. Bruton, W. N. Luther and Miss Laura S Patterson.

In Concord M. C, May 21st 1874, by Rev. D. R. Bruton Mr. Ed. G. Lipe and Miss E C Best.

Deaths.

☞Obituary notices of twenty lines are inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines of minor words is charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line. Count the lines and allow minor words to the line. In this way you may always know the amount to enclose Resolutions of respect are subject to the same rule.☜

Died at the residence of E. H. Owen in the county of Sampson, N. C., on the 7th of April 1874 Miss Asha Faircloth, in the 67th year of her age. She professed religion in the year 1827, under the ministry of David O. Shattuck, and consecrated herself with the M. E. Church, and lived without reproach until death released her from the duties and toil of life. She was a devoted christian woman a firm friend, and self sacrificing in her attention to the sick and afflicted. A volume might be written on her loving heart to the qualities—but her record is on high. She lived well and usefully, and died in peace. Those with whom she lived and died, in sight of her relatives, weep with fond affection over her grave, and will cherish to the end of life a recollection of her excellent and amiable qualities of heart. May those who knew and loved her on earth live so as to meet her in heaven.

MILES P. OWEN.

Samuel Brooks, the subject of this memoir, was born in Chatham county, N. C., May 11th 1798, and died at his residence, in the same county, May 7th 1874.

He was married to Sarah Martin, May 28th, 1829. His marriage was a happy one, his wife being a lady of great piety, and her many other sterling qualities endeared her to all who knew her. Mr. Brooks always had a profound regard for the christian religion, but never professed to be a subject of saving grace. For some time before his death sickness, and especially during the latter period, he was deeply concerned about his salvation, but never expressed himself as satisfied with his spiritual condition. Being unable to speak for a week before his death, he left us without that clear and unbounding testimony of justification, through the atonement, which his family and friends so much desired. He faced death calmly and untroubled, and only seemed to regret in leaving the world that he had not spent his long life in the service of his Master. That he was a true penitent I have no doubt, and, if the hymn be true, so often sung, by us to stimulate the faith of such:

"And if I die with mercy sought,
When I the King have tried,
This were to die, (delightful thought!)
As sinner never died."

then there is hope in his death.

In him the Methodist Church has lost a true and tried friend, the State a good citizen, and the community from which he was taken one of its most valuable members.

W. H. MOORE.

Fayetteville Eagle please copy.

Sister M. E. Price, wife of Bro. A. P. Price was raised in Mecklenburg county N. C. and was married Dec., 1869, and departed this life in this place in perfect triumph on Sunday morning May the 3rd 1874. She joined the Methodist Church when about 13, and lived a model christian till her death.

Sunday morning before her death she told Bro Price, that she would die that day, that it was in accordance with her previous desire. She arranged all her temporal matters calmly and was perfectly happy and confident, that she would soon be in Heaven and see her little babes who had preceded her to glory. Asked weeping friends if they had any message to send to loved ones gone before. Just before she passed away, with almost angelic face she exclaimed, "Oh! he comes, he comes, I see him! I see him," and then passed away to that sun bright clime beyond,

Where no way-s of trouble roll;
But the music of eternal anthems,
Fill with joy the enraptured soul.

J. C. HARTSELL.

Capt. John Sides was born in Burke county N C., Nov 29th 1806 and departed this life triumphantly May 10th 1874. He joined the Methodist Church about 43 years ago, and lived a consistent member till his death. The writer became acquainted with him in 1867, and a more perfect christian gentleman I never knew, gentle, firm, temperate, faithful, always at his post in the faithful discharge of his duty. This was so in the family, church, and State. On Friday before his death he told us he was all right for the future. He suffered but few days, but it was very severe, and he bore it with patience. He has passed over the river into that sun-bright clime beyond, to rest from his labors. May we all meet him there after the toils of life are past.

J. C. HARTSELL.

In Yancey, N. C., April 28th, Mrs Sarah Bailey, wife of Ezekiel Baily, and granddaughter of Drury Mashburn, and niece of Hodge Mashburn of Mcllowell was instantly killed by the falling of a tree. In her 35 year, she was early called to meet a sudden and awful death—has been married 5 years, but leaves no children to mourn her loss. Her death has made a stunning blow on all her friends and relatives, and bids all to be ready to meet God at his coming. We have a hope she is at rest—in life she was loved by all who knew her, and in death is loved no less. Her husband and step-son were in two feet of the spot and narrowly escaped the same awful death.

A FRIEND.

Died, in Marion, N. C., April the 29th 1874 little Bessie, infant daughter of J. G. and R. E. Neal, aged 18 months and 20 days. Dear little Bessie was a bright, lovely child—the favorite of the house. The parents have our warmest sympathy, in this their sad bereavement! Their darling has only been transplanted from this cold and sinful world, to a home above, where sorrow can never invade to cloud her glorious future. In imagination I see her enlisted in that cherubic band of infants now thronging around their Saviour, who said, "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for such is the kingdom of Heaven."

"Around the throne of God in heaven,
Thousands of children stand;
Children whose sins are all forgiven.
Singing glory, glory, glory be to God on high."

L.

Died, at the Parsonage in Warrenton N. C. on the 20th inst. Allen Gunn, infant son of Rev. S. V. and Mary Hoyle.

Letters and Funds.

W S Goodwin self $1.25. Dr Craven S M Pettengill & Co New York. N W Ayer & Son. Rev J D Bale. Rev G Farrar. Rev T P Ricaud. Rev V A Sharpe. Rev J C Hartsell $2 each for John Sides and L F Warlick. Rev M Foy 2 for John Rice. T B Buchanan. Rev W H Moore all right. C F Siler. W A Gaitis sell 2. Jno H Powell Mrs Kate Beeton M P Owen. D M Thompson. J Sandford. H H Harrison papers mailed regularly. Dr R F S Poste. Rev W C Norman 2 each for Miss Ann Meador and Mrs M F Harrison. Mrs Lizzie C Neal. Rev J E Mann. Rev Dr Hooper. Rev Ira T Wyche all right. Rev J R Griffith 2 each for J B Crews. G W Rowland. J P Hester Rev W S Chaffin correct. J M Poisson, Clinton Simmons. C F Siler. O W Carr. Arnold Herdman. Rev W M Jordan. Rev B F Dixon. S M Pettengill & Co. Ed Alden. Rev J C Crisp. Rev W S Rawe 1 for Jas Hagler, Rev A A Beshamer. Rev L W Pigott 2, each for J W Aldridge. D H Brandon and Noah Guilford. Poole & Hunt 15. Rev B F Long. Rev Dr Jones. Rev H R Bruton. Dr C T Simms. Rev C M Attoe son 2 for Miss A Carr and A F Williams. Jno H Morris 2 for R B Bas el. Rev J mes Mabon 2 Rev J W Jenkins 2 for Mrs Mary High cover. Jno O Bradsher on Jos Boggs. Wm Pa on 2 for Miss Amanda Paglar. H H Rich. Rev S Leard. Mrs Priscella Johnson 2

A decision of some interest to the temperance people in Indiana has been rendered by the Supreme Court of that State. It is that a person selling liquor to one whom he knows to be an habitual drunkard is liable to punishment under the Baxter law.

Appointments

HILLSBORO DISTRICT

3RD ROUND—QUARTERLY MEETINGS

Durham at Orange church	June	13 14
Chapel Hill & Haw River at Ebenezer	"	20 21
Flat River at Walnut Grove,	"	27 28
Person ct. at Pearsboro,	July	4 5
Hillsboro ct at New Sharon,	"	11-12
Alamance ct. at Glover Garden,	"	18-19
High Rock Mission	"	25 26
Yanceyville c.	August	8- 9
Deep River,	"	15 16
Pittsboro	"	22 23
Leasburg at Lewsburg	"	29 30

The District Conference will be held at Amity, Mathamuskeet circuit, commencing May 22. Rev. R. O Burton will preach the pening sermon. WM. CLOSS, P. E.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT

2ND ROUND,

Pineville ct, at Hart son's.	May	2- 3
Albermarle and Cedar Grove,	"	9-10
Stanley,
Concord st,	"	16-17
Wadesboro' st,	"	23 24
Lilesville ct. at —	"	30-31
Ansonville ct at Hannamy.	June	6- 7
Wadesboro' ct. at —	"	13 14
Mt. Pleasant at Mt. Olivet,	"	20 21

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.

2ND ROUND.

Neuse and Goose Creek.	May	2- 3
Newbern cir. Sharon,	"	9- 10
Kinston,	"	16-17
District Conference, La Grange,	"	20 21
Goldsboro,	"	30-31
Snow Hill, Hookerton,	June	6- 7
Wilson,	"	13 14
Mount Olive, Providence,	"	20 21
Newbern.	"	27 28

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort, N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

SECOND ROUND.

Salisbury St.	May	2- 3
Mt. Airy St. at Mt. Airy	"	9-10
Surry ct. & S. Mission at Siloam,	"	16-17
Salisbury ct. at Bethpage,	"	23-24
Wilkes ct & Mt Mission at Charity,	"	30-31
Alexander ct. at Stony Point,	June	6- 7
Iredell ct. at Hopewell,	"	13-14

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Olin, N. G.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

2ND ROUND.

Lincolnton, McKendree,	May	2
Rock Spring, Hill's chapel,	"	9 10
Dallas Sandifer's Chapel	"	1 175
Happy Home U. School House's,	"	23-24
Morganton, Clifton	"	30 31
Double Shoals and South Mt. Mission	"	30 31
Cherry Mt., Marion and Upper B. River Gaperaunon,	June	6- 7
Mission,
Newton Concord,	"	13 14
Lenoir, Lenoir,	"	20-21
Rutherford and C. Session,	"	27-28

Rev. T. J. Gibbs will please attend and assist the preachers on the Lincolnton and Rock Spring circuits Rev S E Trawick, Morganton and Marion circuits, Rev S. Leard, Double Shoals Rev H T Hodges, Dallas; and Rev P L Herman, Happy Home.

Dar Brethren, may the great the ol of the church be with you, to own and bless his word in the salvation o the people

L. S. BURTHEAD, P. E.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

2ND ROUND.

Plymouth and Jamesville.	May	2- 3
Columbia at Alligator,	"	9-10
Bath at Bethany	"	16-17
Mattamuskeet at Amity,	"	23 24
Greenville and Washington.	"	30 31
Tarboro at Temperance Hall,	June	6- 7

The District Conference will be held at Amity, Mattamuskeet circuit, commencing May 22. Rev. R. O Burton will preach the pening sermon. WM. CLOSS, P. E.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT

2ND ROUND,

Pineville ct, at Hart son's.	May	2- 3
Albermarle and Cedar Grove,	"	9-10
Stanley,
Concord st,	"	16-17
Wadesboro' st,	"	23 24
Lilesville ct. at —	"	30-31
Ansonville ct at Hannamy.	June	6- 7
Wadesboro' ct. at —	"	13 14
Mt. Pleasant at Mt. Olivet,	"	20 21

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.

2ND ROUND.

Neuse and Goose Creek.	May	2- 3
Newbern cir. Sharon,	"	9- 10
Kinston,	"	16-17
District Conference, La Grange,	"	20 21
Goldsboro,	"	30-31
Snow Hill, Hookerton,	June	6- 7
Wilson,	"	13 14
Mount Olive, Providence,	"	20 21
Newbern.	"	27 28

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort, N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

SECOND ROUND.

Salisbury St.	May	2- 3
Mt. Airy St. at Mt. Airy	"	9-10
Surry ct. & S. Mission at Siloam,	"	16-17
Salisbury ct. at Bethpage,	"	23-24
Wilkes ct & Mt Mission at Charity,	"	30-31
Alexander ct. at Stony Point,	June	6- 7
Iredell ct. at Hopewell,	"	13-14

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Olin, N. G.

TheMarkets

Raleigh Market—Retail Prices

May 26, 1874.

CORRETTED WEEKLY.

COTTON	14 1-2 to 15 1-2
BACON—Baltimore smoked,	10@11
" —unsmoked,	9@10
" —strips,	12 1-2@
" —shoulders,	10@ 11
" —N. Hams,	16@16
BUTTER—per lb,	25@30
BEESWAX—per lb,	25@30
BEEF—on hoof,	10@15
COFFEE—per lb	24@25
CHEESE—per lb,	20@25
COTTON YARN—per bale,	1 75@18
CORN—perbushel,	90@1 00
CHICKENS—per piece,	20@22
EGGS—per dozen,	15@20
FLOUR—per barrel	8.50@9
HIDES—green, per lb,	6@7
" —dry, per lb,	12@15
HERRINGS, N. C.—per barrel,	7 50@8 00
LEATHER—per lb,	30@40
LARD—per pound,	12@15
MOLASSES—per gallon,	40@50
MEAL—per bushel,	95@1 10
OATS—per bushel,	75@
—per 100 lbs,	1 80@1 50
ONIONS—per bush,	150@1 60
PEASE—stock,	1 00@
" —white,	1 40@1 50
POTATOES—Irish, per bushel,	75@1 00
SUGAR—crushed,	13@16
" —extra C,	10@16
" —N. O.	10@
" —common,	12@12 1-2
SALT—per sack,	3 00 @ 4 00

New Advertisements.

"WE And Our NEIGHBORS"

Is the latest and raciest work by

Harriet Beecher Stowe,

Author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "The Minister's Wooing," "My Wife and I," and other powerful stories, each the literary sensation of its period; and this story promises alike genuine and wholesome sensation. It bears directly on social topics of interest, embracing the romance of youthful companionships the brightness of happy home life, the open complications of neighborhood associations, and such follies and profound domestic miseries as have led to the wide-spread Temperance movement of the day.

Mrs. Stowe is now in the prime of that genius which wrote "Uncle Tom," ripened by years of study and observation. Her novels are immensely popular, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" alone outselling by hundreds of thousands any edition of any original work ever published—save the Bible. Her book two years ago, "My Wife and I," outsold every contemporary.—Such a pure and ennobling story as "We and Our Neighbors" should be read in every home. It is attractive from its just beginning exclusively in the Weekly Family Newspaper,

The Christian Union,

Henry Ward Beecher,

EDITOR.

In religious matters this paper is Evangelical and Unsectarian; in political affairs, Independent and Fearless. It contains the best articles and both short and serial stories, from the former of which it aims to maintain the high est standard in Religious Literature, Poetry, Art, Music, Science, News, Politics. Household and Family Affairs, with Sketches, Rhymes, Puzzles for the Children, &c. Nothing is spared in order to make THE CHRISTIAN UNION the Newspaper for the Family pure, practical, and new, to keep up with the times, and supply, with occasional elaborate discussion of current events, a complete record of the week's doings.

A MARVEL OF CHEAPNESS.

For less than one cent a day, it gives every week nearly enough to fill an ordinary 12.50 book or over 300 pages; and in a year 52 such volumes, i. e., sixty-five dollars' worth of matter! To read is thus annually

PRESENTED

A Complete Library,

The paper is form of 8 pages, large folio, pasted and trimmed, except uncut edges, which are free of the objectionable "ready-cut" sheets.

The well earned popularity of this paper is now such that of its class it sells The Largest Circulation in the World, its readers by hundreds of thousands

An Illustrated Number, containing the opening chapters of Mrs. Stowe's coming story, with no

SCENT FREE.

If you are not already a subscriber, send at once and secure it under the now offered

Liberal Terms.

The paper may be had either with or without the attractive premiums offered: viz., the

CHRISTIAN UNION,

One Year, only $3.00.

Or, with premium pair French Oleographs, "Our Boys," (size, 11 x 13), (sellers each) charming in design and execution, mounted, sized, varnished, ready for framing, Delivered Free, $3.50

Or, with the large premium French Oil Chromo, "The Little Bride," a beautiful Chromo and Heart-piece, suitable in art scores for (Same size, 13 x 16½ inches), mounted, sized, varnished, ready for framing. Delivered Free $3.50

Specimen Copies sent free by mail on receipt of ten cents. $25 dinner may be sent by Postal Money Order, Check, Draft, or Registered Letter. Other wise it is at the sender's risk. Address

J. B. FORD & Co., Publishers,
37 Park Place, New York.

Good Agents Wanted.

The immense circulation of the Christian Union has been built up by active canvassers. No other publication compares with it for quick and profitable returns. The publication agents for Mrs. Stowe's new story, the popularity of the paper, the friendly support of thousands of subscribers, the attractive premiums for immediate delivery, light outfit and complete "Instruction to beginners, assure repeated success to agents, and offer to live, intelligent persons unusual chances to make money. All who want a safe, straightforward business which pays, should write for terms, or send $5 for chromo outfit to J. B. FORD & CO., New York, Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, or San Francisco. May 27-1w

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap Apply at the Advocate Office.

JOSEPH KRETH

Merchant Tailor,

OPPOSITE CITY POST OFFICE,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Keeps the best quality of Cassimeres and Cloths constantly on hand. Persons wanting suits of every description will find it to their interest to give him a call. May 27-2m.

LIVINGSTONE IS DEAD!

For 23 years MILLIONS have but only watched his PERILOUS yet HEROIC STRUGGLES and GRAND TRIUMPH; and now they eagerly desire the COMPLETE HISTORY of his world-renowned DISCOVERY and RENOVATOR which unfolds also the CURIOSITIES and WEALTH of a WILD and WONDERFUL country. We publish JUST THAT HISTORY from his BIRTH to his BURIAL. Now ready 2,000 agents wanted quickly. One agent sold 184 first six days, another 106 first week. For particulars of this, our SUPERB NEW illustrated BIBLES, and OCEAN'S STORY, Address HUBBARD BROS. at office nearest you, either PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON, or CINCINNATI, O. Oct 11-y

SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS FOR

1874

AT

J. P. GULLEY & BRO'S.

South Corner of Fayetteville St., and Exchange Place

RALEIGH, N. C.

We now take pleasure in announcing to our many Friends, Customers and the Public generally that we are daily adding to our immense Stock of Prints and well selected Spring and Summer goods, which we will undoubtedly sell as Cheap as any house in this or any other market. We now propose to sell Standard Prints of the best Colors at 10 cts. per yard. Bleached and unbleached Domestic at from 8 to 20 cts.

N. C. Cottonades, Plaids and Domestic at extremely low figures. Fine goods of every description from a fine Linen to a heavy Homer, especially Virginia Cassimers, at prices that dare Competition.

Our Notion Department contains every thing that you can call for and sold at prices that will not fail to please the closest cash buyer.

We call especial attention to our Boot & Shoe Department which yet contains our own Brand of Ladies Morocco warranted at 2.50 per pair, also Miles, New York City make, and other Brands of Morocco all of which we can truly recommend. Ladies Cloth and Fox Gaiters of every quality at greatly reduced prices. Our Stock of Hats—hand made Boots and Gaiters complete together with many other Brands. Our famous Newark Boots, Congress and Prince Albert gaiters, Oxford Ties &c. which repeated request all gentlemen wishing to wear a Boot or Gaiter of the best manufacture and latest fancy to examine, before purchasing.

Our Clothing Department is also complete comprising of Black suits from 8.50 to 10.00 Cassimere Suits from 5.00 to 6.50 to and in short Suits of every description usually kept in negr first class clothing house and sold as low at prices to compare with the money article.

Returning thanks for past patronage we hope by strict attention to business representing goods as they are and selling them at prices that will enable us to live and let live.

We remain yours &c,

J. P. GULLEY & BRO

SONGS OF GRACE & GLORY

The very best Sunday-School Song Book By W. F. SHERWIN and S. J. VAIL. 160 Pages. Splendid Hymns, Choice Music. Tinted Paper Superior Binding. Prices in Boards, 35c.; $30 per 100. A Specimen Copy in Paper Cover mailed for Twenty five Cents.

SIX NEW SONGS in pamphlet form for SUNDAY-SCHOOL ANNIVERSARIES, from SONGS of GRACE and GLORY. Price $2 per 100. Specimen copy of the Anniversary Songs, and 6 sample pages of the Book, mailed for 3 cent stamps. Publishers HORACE WATERS & SON.

481 Broadway, New York. P. O. Box. 3567. may 27 3 m.

FARMERS' EXCHANGE

Thompson & Whitaker

Wholesale Grocers and

Commission Merchants.

MARTIN STREET,

GUANOS.

"Soluble Navassa Guano."
"Navassa Tobacco Fertilizer"

AND

Dissolved Phosphate,
Manufactured by Navassa Guano Company at Wilmington, N. C. Guaranteed to meet all the requirements of ——.

Below are the names of a few who will testify to its merits:

Dr. B. Craven, Trinity College; L. H. Sanders, Johnston county; W. H. McCullough, Johnston county; David Wood, Johnston county; J. M. Wilson, Watson's Mills; E. W. Pou, Raleigh; Willis Avera, Johnston county. For sale by

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.

Raleigh, N. C.

Feb 4 12m.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The partnership heretofore existing under the firm of

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.,

is dissolved by the decease of our junior partner

THADEUS McGEE.

All parties having claims against the firm will present them for immediate payment, and all who are indebted to the firm, either by note or account, are requested to call and settle the same.

To Our Old Friends and Customers

We must say a word. The dissolution of our firm gives us pain and sorrow; for many years you have kindly patronized us; we, in turn, have endeavored to furnish you with at reasonable prices. Our relationship has been both pleasant and agreeable, and we cannot consent to the dissolution except in deep regret.

FIRST-CLASS GOODS,

We have heretofore furnished all the accommodations we could, consistent with a proper safety of our business, and in making the following announcement we do so from the requirements of law.

From and after this date, all the assets of every description belonging to the firm of

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.,

will be sold at

Extremely Low Prices for Cash,

with reference to a final closing of the business. Further credit cannot be given. The books are closed.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.,

surviving partners of the late firm of

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.

Parties who desire embarking in the business in Raleigh, have now an opportunity of BUYING OUT a first class business.

DRY GOODS

Merchants who desire purchasing a stock or of replenishing their stock, will never have a better opportunity. An early call will convince buyers.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER,
Surviving Partners.

april 15 12m

GREGG & BOWE

COR. 8TH & ORANGE STS.,

Wilmington, Del.,

Manufacturers of fine CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, ROCKAWAYS, CABROLETS,

VICTORIA'S COACHES, &c., &c.

Also Dealers in cheaper grades of Carriages

BUYER SURE of all M. Heck Raleigh; Judge Dick, Hon B. Keech and Julius A. Gray, Greensboro, L. E Johnson, Lexington. apr 29 1t.

Good Agents Wanted.

The immense circulation of the Christian Union has been built up by active canvassers. No other publication compares with it for quick and profitable returns. The publication agents for Mrs. Stowe's new story, the popularity of the paper, the friendly support of thousands of subscribers, the attractive premiums for immediate delivery, light outfit and complete "Instruction to beginners, assure repeated success to agents, and offer to live, intelligent persons unusual chances to make money. All who want a safe, straightforward business which pays, should write for terms, or send $5 for chromo outfit to J. B. FORD & CO., New York, Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, or San Francisco. May 27-1w

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap Apply at the Advocate Office.

JOSEPH KRETH

Merchant Tailor,

OPPOSITE CITY POST OFFICE,

RALEIGH. N. C.

Keeps the best quality of Cassimeres and Cloths constantly on hand. Persons wanting suits of every description will find it to their interest to give him a call. May 27-2m.

LIVINGSTONE IS DEAD!

For 23 years MILLIONS have but only watched his PERILOUS yet HEROIC STRUGGLES and GRAND TRIUMPH; and now they eagerly desire the COMPLETE HISTORY of his world-renowned DISCOVERY and RENOVATOR which unfolds also the CURIOSITIES and WEALTH of a WILD and WONDERFUL country. We publish JUST THAT HISTORY from his BIRTH to his BURIAL. Now ready 2,000 agents wanted quickly. One agent sold 184 first six days, another 106 first week. For particulars of this, our SUPERB NEW illustrated BIBLES, and OCEAN'S STORY, Address HUBBARD BROS. at office nearest you, either PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON, or CINCINNATI, O. Oct 11-y

SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS FOR

1874

AT

J. P. GULLEY & BRO'S.

South Corner of Fayetteville St., and Exchange Place

RALEIGH, N. C.

We now take pleasure in announcing to our many Friends, Customers and the Public generally that we are daily adding to our immense Stock of Prints and well selected Spring and Summer goods, which we will undoubtedly sell as Cheap as any house in this or any other market. We now propose to sell Standard Prints of the best Colors at 10 cts. per yard. Bleached and unbleached Domestic at from 8 to 20 cts.

N. C. Cottonades, Plaids and Domestic at extremely low figures. Fine goods of every description from a fine Linen to a heavy Homer, especially Virginia Cassimers, at prices that dare Competition.

Our Notion Department contains every thing that you can call for and sold at prices that will not fail to please the closest cash buyer.

We call especial attention to our Boot & Shoe Department which yet contains our own Brand of Ladies Morocco warranted at 2.50 per pair, also Miles, New York City make, and other Brands of Morocco all of which we can truly recommend. Ladies Cloth and Fox Gaiters of every quality at greatly reduced prices. Our Stock of Hats—hand made Boots and Gaiters complete together with many other Brands. Our famous Newark Boots, Congress and Prince Albert gaiters, Oxford Ties &c. which repeated request all gentlemen wishing to wear a Boot or Gaiter of the best manufacture and latest fancy to examine, before purchasing.

Our Clothing Department is also complete comprising of Black suits from 8.50 to 10.00 Cassimere Suits from 5.00 to 6.50 to and in short Suits of every description usually kept in negr first class clothing house and sold as low at prices to compare with the money article.

Returning thanks for past patronage we hope by strict attention to business representing goods as they are and selling them at prices that will enable us to live and let live.

We remain yours &c,

J. P. GULLEY & BRO

SONGS OF GRACE & GLORY

The very best Sunday-School Song Book By W. F. SHERWIN and S. J. VAIL. 160 Pages. Splendid Hymns, Choice Music. Tinted Paper Superior Binding. Prices in Boards, 35c.; $30 per 100. A Specimen Copy in Paper Cover mailed for Twenty five Cents.

SIX NEW SONGS in pamphlet form for SUNDAY-SCHOOL ANNIVERSARIES, from SONGS of GRACE and GLORY. Price $2 per 100. Specimen copy of the Anniversary Songs, and 6 sample pages of the Book, mailed for 3 cent stamps. Publishers HORACE WATERS & SON.

481 Broadway, New York. P. O. Box. 3567. may 27 3 m.

THE PEERLESS STEAM WASHER AND BLEACHER!

The Latest, Best and Cheapest Washer made!

That Steam Washers are the real kind is generally conceded. That the PEERLESS is best of its kind will be readily admitted as soon as it is seen and tested.

It cannot all the water to flow up through pipes and start down through the clothes in the tub.

The water has not to go to the contrary either end of the boiler to get back where it started, but goes out at any part of the upper bottom, and hence washes all parts of the clothing alike.

pours the water in sixteen streams, on all parts of the surface of the clothing.

The water rushes through the clothes many times per minute, and clean them in 15 to 30 minutes!—With this machine, any lady who chooses, may do the washing of her family in a very short time, with very little work, without soap, without rubbing, or damage to the fabric, with such ease and quiet that her husband would hardly know when washday comes!

The cost of the machine soon saved in difference in wear. Soon saved in difference in labor required.

A feel split or lace collar—the finest or coarsest fabric—a single piece or bodies full, washed with equal ease.

The machine can be made for any store boiler, or the boiler furnished with the machine can be used for any other purpose.

It sells for less than any other, and will do the work more thoroughly and in less time.

As its name indicates it is

PEERLESS AMONG ALL!

Directions for using go with each machine. They are made of best material, and sold at the following prices:

For washer and boiler (No. 9)	$8.00
For " alone	5.00
For washer and boiler 30 inches long	9.50
For " alone	6.00

Sent anywhere per express on receipt of price by

J. A JONES, Proprietor,
Raleigh, N. C.

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN

Genral Commission Merchants

AND

COTTON FACTORS,

Exchange Place (Fisher Building,)

P. O. Box 222, RALEIGH, N. C.

Consignments of

COTTON,

FLOUR

GRAIN,

FORAGE

and other country produce solicited.

General Agents for the sale of James River

CEMENT,

every barrel guaranteed equal to the best. Also for the sale of Sheetings and Cotton Yarns from the Deep River Manufacturing Company.

CORN, FLOUR, FORAGE, &c,

always on hand. Orders for the purchase of cotton solicited.

All business intrusted to us will have strict personal attention and we guarantee promptness and satisfaction.

A. G. LEE.
W. E. McMACKING.

Sept 10-12m.

DITSON & CO'S.

Home Musical Library.

Price of each Book in Boards, $2 50
Cloth, $3 00 Full Gilt, $4 00

Musical Treasure Vocal.
Silver Chord. Vocal
Wreath of Gems.
Gems of Sacred Song. Vocal.
Gems of German Song. Vocal.
Gems of Scottish Song. Vocal.
Operatic Pearls. Vocal
Shower of Pearls. Vocal Duets.
Organ at Home, Reed Organ Music. Instrumental.
Gems of Strauss. Instrumental.
Home Circle Vol. I. Instrumental.
Home Circle Vol. II. Instrumental.
Pianists Album. Instrumental.
Piano-Forte Gems. Instrumental

Large splendid books of bound music, 200 to 250 pages, full

Youth's Department.

The Little Armies.

There are two little armies
  On the world's great battle-field;
Though the unnoted oft by mortals,
  To the eyes of God revealed,
Though we hear no shouts of triumph,
  Though we see no fearful fray,
Those little armies battle
  For the right or wrong each day—
  The right and wrong each day.

They must fight, no ground is neutral,
  And watch the sides they take,
One little army chooses
  To fight for Truth's dear sake.
The banner floating over it
  Rises grandly up to view,
And I read the glorious motto:
  "Fighting for the Good and True—
  The Beautiful and True."

How brave that little army!
  What a halo o'er it shines;
And even angels welcome
  Every soldier to its lines.
How sweet the stirring music
  Of the tramp of little feet,
That in God's holy highway
  Swiftly onward, upward beat—
  Onward and upward beat!

Alas, the other army,
  'Neath a gloomy flag unfurled,
Marches with the ranks of evil,
  Treads the dark ways of the world.
Not for the True and Beautiful
  Does it go with brave and strong,
For he looks upon its banner
  I read, "Fighting for the Wrong—Old surly-hearted Wrong."

— Little Corporal.

Boys, Mind Your Commas.

The comma, like the tongue, is a little thing, and like it, will make good sense or nonsense, just according as it is used. Take, for instance, the old nursery rhyme. With the comma misplaced it is so nonsensical that it needs a commentary to explain it:

Every lady in the land
Has twenty nails on each hand,
Five and twenty on hands and feet:
This is true without deceit.

Alter the position of the comma and the meaning is clear.

Every lady in the land
Has twenty nails on each hand
Five and twenty on hands and feet:
This is true without deceit.

An auctioneer once advertised a lot of chairs which, he said, "had been used by school children without backs."

—Youth's Champion.

Manners.

Manners are more important than money. A boy who is polite and pleasant in his manners, will always have friends, and will not often make enemies. Good behavior is essential to prosperity. A boy feels well when he does well. If you wish to make everybody pleasant about you, and gain friends wherever you go cultivate good manners. Many boys have pleasant manners in company and ugly manners for home.

We visited a small railroad town not long since, and were met at the depot by a little boy of about eleven or twelve years, who entertained and cared for us, in the absence of his father, with as much polite attention and thoughtful care as the most cultivated gentleman could have done. We said to his mother before we left her home "You are greatly blessed in your son, he is so attentive and obliging."

"Yes," she said, "I can always depend on Charley when his father is absent. He is a great help and comfort to me." She said this as if it did her heart good to acknowledge the cleverness of her son.

The best manners cost so little, and are worth so much, that every boy can have them —Children's Advocate.

Kitty and "Please."

Kitty, had of late, got a bad tone to her voice. It was a tone of command, very unbecoming a little girl. Instead of saying, "Will you be kind enough to do this, or that?" or, "Please to do this?" or, "Will you?" in a gentle tone, she said, "Do this," or, "Do that," like a little tyrant. Her mother, as you may well think was very sorry and talked with her little girl about this new fault.

One day her shoe came of while she was playing. When it was near dinner time she called Bridget to put it on.

"Bridget," she said, "I want my shoe on. Put it on quick, for my pa will come soon."

Bridget was doing something else in the closet, and did not immediately come out.

"Bridget," she called again, "don't you hear me! Come and put my shoe on."

Her mother was in the next room, and overhearing her little daughter, said:

"Say 'please,' Kitty, and Bridget shall put your shoes on."

Kitty pouted, but did not speak. She took her shoe, sat down on the floor and tried to put it on herself, which was all very well had she not done it angrily, for children ought always to help themselves. Kitty tugged and tugged at her shoe, but her little, fat foot having grown fatter since the shoe was bought, it fitted very tight; in fact, Kitty could not get the shoe on.

Soon she heard her papa's step in the entry, and began to cry.

"Bridget will help you, Kitty," said her mother, looking into her chamber; "ask her, my child."

But Kitty looked "No, I shant," though she did not say so in so many words. The dinner bell rang.

"You stay here, Kitty, until you can ask Bridget properly to put on your shoe," and her mother went down stairs.

Kitty turned very red, and burst out into a hard, angry fit of crying. Then she got up, ran into a little dressing-room and slunt the door. Oh, naughty, foolish Kitty! How much trouble she was making herself! and how grieved her parents were to see no dear little Kitty in her own high chair at the table! and for such a reason too: that was the worst of it.

By-and-by her papa came up stairs, and not finding her in her mother's room, went to the little room.

"Where is my Kitty?" he asked, in a sad, sorry tone.

The little girl jumped up from the corner, and going toward him, said.

"Oh, papa, 'please' would not come out of my throat: it stayed there; it almost choked me; but it will now."

She took her father's hand, and, taking up the shoe, went to find Bridget, when she found Bridget, she said,

"Please, Bridget, put my shoe on a naughty little girl's foot."

Bridget did it very willingly. Then she ran down stairs, and throwing her arms around her mother's neck, said, with a tear in her eye.

"Mamma," 'please' did stay in my throat so long that it felt big and almost choked me; but, mamma, it's out, and I think it will come out quick next time. Please kiss me, mama. I'm very sorry."

Kitty did not get choked so again. She found it easy to say "please" afterwards: and "please" made the little girl a great many friends.—S. S. Visitor.

Rural and Domestic.

Useful Directions.

ISINGLASS GLUE.—Dissolve the isinglass in water and strain through coarse linen. and then add a little spirits of wine. Evaporate it into a consistency that when cold it will be dry and hard. This will hold stronger than common glue, and is much preferred.

TO TAKE GREASE FROM PAPER—Gently warm the parts containing the grease, and apply blotting paper so as to extract as much as possible. Boil some clear essential oil of turpentine, and apply it to the warm paper with a soft clean brush. A little rectified spirits of wine should be put over afterward.

STUFFED BEEFSTEAK.—Cut a thick slice from the round, in shape as near an oblong square as possible. Rub over it salt and pepper to taste. Make a stuffing of stale bread and fat salt pork: season with salt, pepper, sage, etc. Roll it up in the beefsteak; sew the edges of the slices together with strong twine so that none of the stuffing may escape. Bake in a quick oven.

HAM TOAST.—The Rural New Yorker says: When a ham gets unsightly for the table, take off as much of it as you require, and mince finely. To one pint of mince put two tablespoonsfull of cream, or fresh, rich milk. Boil it five minutes: prepare well buttered toast, and spread the mince on it. Strew over this well grated bread crumbs, a little parsley, and some small pieces of butter. Brown in a quick oven, and serve hot.

Breaking Up a Setting Hen.

A friend of ours told us the other day how his wife cures hens of setting: and as it is a very novel way, we will repeat it for the benefit of others who are bothered with inveterate old setters. This lady had a hen that was bound to set; the lady was bound she should not. She would shut up the old hen one day, and when released, back she would go to her setting. Patience finally gave out. Picking up some splinters from the chip-yard (some four or five inches long) she bound them firmly to the hen's legs, leaving only the hip-joints in working order. Biddie was out witted; like the old Dutchman's hen, she would have to set standing up.

How to Clean Marble.

Marble, of any kind, alabaster, any hard stone, or glass, may be repolished by rubbing it with a linen cloth dressed with oxide of tin, (sold under the name of putty powder.) For this purpose a couple or more folds of linen should be fastened tight over a piece of wood, flat or otherwise, according to the form of the stone. To repolish a mantel-piece, it should be first perfectly cleaned. This is best done by making a paste of lime, soda, and water, wetting well the marble, and applying the paste. Then let it remain for a day or so, keeping it moist during the interval. When this paste has been removed, the polishing may begin. Chips in the marble should be rubbed out first with emory and water. At every stage of polishing the linen and putty powder must be kept constantly wet. Glass, such as jewelers' show counter-cases, which become scratched, may be polished in the same way.

MANURE FOR CUCUMBERS.—There is no special manure that is equal to barn-yard manure for any crop. But if barn-yard manure cannot be procured, the next best fertilizer is a mixture of guano, or hen-manure, wood-ashes, plaster, and find bone-dust in about equal proportions. They should be mixed quite dry, and used as soon after mixing as possible.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Our Dormant Energies.

Our bodies are not as vigorous nor our minds as clear as they might be. This remark is true of at least two thirds of civilized society; and of these two-thirds probably one-half is laboring under bodily infirmities of a character likely to shorten the lives of the sufferers. This is a melancholy exhibit and furnishes abundant food for reflection. Can the evil be mitigated? It can. Lack of vitality is the primary cause of most of the physical and mental suffering to which we are subjected, and therefore a vitalizing medicinal agent is the remedy required. Is there such a medicine? There is. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will rouse and energize the mind and body when the life power of the system is in a comparatively dormant state. The languid, feeble, desponding invalid is not aware of the latent energies that underlies his debility. He thinks there is no element of vigor left in his frame, when the fact is that his physical capabilities are merely asleep and only require waking up. Let him stimulate and tone his animal machinery and endow it with new motive power, through the agency of this in comparable invigorant, and he will soon feel like a new man, or rather like a man who has received a new lease of life, and the requisite health to enjoy it. Many inmates even suffer from chronic languor and depression caused by too close application to business. Hard students are often oppressed with melancholy from a like cause. Mechanics and working men are affected in the same way as a result of overtoil. To all who are in this condition, from whatever cause, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will prove a signal blessing. It is a perfect panacea for physical debility and mental gloom. It strengthens the body, clears the mind and calms the nervous system; while as a remedy for indigestion, biliousness, constipation, rheumatism, and intermittent and remittent fevers, it takes precedence of all other medicines.

May 6-1m

Diseases of the Blood.

"The Blood is the Life." When this source is corrupted, the painful and sorrow-producing effects are visible in many shapes. The multifarious forms in which it manifests itself, would form subjects upon which I might write volumes. But as all the varied forms of disease which depend upon bad blood are cured, or best treated, by such medicines as take up from this fluid and excrete from the system the noxious elements, it is not of practical importance that I should describe each. For instance, medical authors prescribe about fifty varieties of skin disease, but as they all require for their cure very similar treatment it is of no practical utility to know just what name to apply to a certain form of skin disease, or you know how best to cure it. Then again I might go on and describe varying kinds of scrofulous sores, fever sores, white swelling, enlarged glands, and ulcers of varying appearance; might describe how virulent poison may show itself in various forms or eruptions, ulcers sore throat, bone tumors, etc.; but as all these various appearing manifestations of bad blood are cured by a uniform means, it does such a course unnecessary. Thoroughly cleanse the blood, which is the great fountain of life, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits vital strength, and soundness of constitution, will all return to us. For this purpose Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Purgative Pellets are pre-eminently the articles needed. They are warranted to cure Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose Rash or Erysipelas, Ringworm, Pimples, Blotches, Spots, Rough Skin, Scurf, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Fever Sores, White Swellings, Tumors, Old Sores or Swellings, Affections of the Skin, Throat and Lungs, and Ulcers of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys and Lungs.

may 9th 1-w.

BEST AND OLDEST FAMILY MEDICINE.—Sanford's Liver Invigorator—a purely Vegetable Cathartic and Tonic—for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Debilitating Sick Headache, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of Lives Stomach and Bowels. Ask your Druggist for it. Beware of imitations.

w mar 26-12mcow

Children often look Pale and S from an other cause than having worms in the stomach BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS will destroy Worms without injury to the child, being perfectly WHITE, and free from all coloring or other injurious ingredients usually used in worm preparations.

CURTIS & BROWN, Proprietors,
No. 215 Fulton Street, New York.

Sold by Druggists and Chemists, and dealers in Medicines at TWENTY-FIVE CENTS a BOX.

July 9 1w

ADVERTISEMENTS.

ELGIN WATCHES.

W. B. FARRAR,

WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND OPTICIAN.

Deals in Swiss Watches, Calendar and ordinary Clocks, Jewelry, Spectacles, Silver and Plated Ware, Bridal Presents, Guns, Pistols, Cartridges, Sewing Machine Needles, Table Cutlery, Ladies' Pocket Knives, INK, Razors, Music Boxes, Walking Canes, &c. TERMS REASONABLE.

No 7 South Elm Street, Opposite Express Office, Greensboro, N. C.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

The Human Locomotive should be carefully cleansed, otherwise it may run off the track of life at any moment. To keep its delicate internal machinery in perfect trim, or to put it in good working condition when out of order, is the peculiar province of Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient.

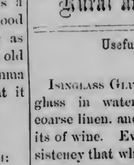
The thoroughness with which it cleanses, without irritating the bowels, the tone and vigor which it imparts to the stomach; its appetizing effects; its cooling, refreshing operation in fever; the relief it affords in headache; its antibilious properties, and its superior merits as a general corrective, justify the assertion that it is, beyond all comparison, the most valuable family medicine of the age. Sold by all druggists.

may 20th 2-w

$5 TO $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, making more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

Sept 13-12m

JAMES LEFFEL'S
IMPROVED DOUBLE
Turbine Water Wheel.



POOLE & HUNT, Baltimor.

MANUFACTURERS FOR THE SOUTH AND SOUTHWEST.

Nearly 7000 now in use, working under heads varying from 2 to 241 feet 24 sizes, from 5½ to 96 inches.

The most powerful Wheel in the Market,
And most economical in use of Water.
Large ILLUSTRATED Pamphlet sent post free.

MANUFACTURERS ALSO, OF

Portable and Stationary Steam Engines and Boilers Babcock & Wilcox Patent Tubulous Boiler, Knauth's Crusher for Minerals, Saw and Grist Mills, Flouring Mill Machinery, Machinery for White Lead Works and Oil Mills, Shafting Pulleys and Hangers.

SEND FOR CIRCULARS.

Feb 25 6m

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Successors to Wyatt, Green & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Cotton Factors,

Commission, Shipping

And Forwarding Merchants.

No. 4 Exchange Place and Martin St.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Cotton and satisfaction guaranteed.

Cash for a variety of all kinds of country produce solicited.

All debts for or against the late firm of Wyatt, Green and Co., will be collected and disbursed as they become due, by us.

WYATT, BINGHAM AND CO.,

de10-tf Raleigh, N. C

WILLIAMSON, UPCHURCH & THOMAS

WHOLESALE GROCERS

—AND—

Commission Merchants,

FAYETTEVILLE ST.,

OPPOSITE METROPOLITAN HALL,

B. F. WILLIAMSON,
W. G. UPCHURCH,
J. J. THOMAS, JR.

RALEIGH, N. C

oct 1-tf

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Thursday, Jan. 11th, 1874.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	7 00 P. M.	8.35 A. M.
" Air-Line J'nct'n	7.15 "	8.50 "
" Salisbury.....	8 09 "	10.47 "
" Greensboro'....	9.55 A M	1.35 P. M.
" Danville.....	5.28 "	5.27 "
" Burkville.....	1.40 "	9.06 "
Arrive at Richmond..	4.32 P M.	11.02 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1.48 P. M.	7.03 A. M.
" Burkville.....	4.58 "	8.28 "
" Danville.....	9.32 "	1.03 P.M.
" Greensboro....	1.16 A M	4.06 "
" Salisbury.....	3.06 "	6.23 "
" Air-Line J'nct'n	6.22 "	8.51 "
Arrive at Charlo. N. C.	6.01 A M	9 00 "

GOING EAST. GOING WEST

STATIONS.	M'H	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'.	5.00 A M	Arrive 12.51 A. M
" Shops.....	5.55 "	1.05 "
" Raleigh.....	8.40 "	4.40 "
Arrive at Gobbsboro'	11 "	Leave 9.10 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.
(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'.....	4.55 P. M.
Arrive at Salem.....	5.51 "
Leave Salem.....	10.30 P. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'.....	11.30 P. M.
Leave Greensboro'.....	1.30 A. M.
Arrive at Salem.....	8.00 A. M.
Leave Salem.....	8.30 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'.....	9.15 A. M.

Mail trains daily, both ways.
On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9.42 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.30 P. M.; leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.58 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, (without change.)

Passengers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above.

For further information address

S. K. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	3.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	8.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	4.45 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	8.45 A M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.21 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	5.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City to and from all points North and Northeast.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Haywood and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accomodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh its Accommodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division,

A. B ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.25 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.45 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.20 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.05 P. M
Arrives at Sanford,	7.20 "
Leaves Sanford,	10.15 A M
Arrives at Dale	3.00 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection at Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

Accommodation and Freight Trains connect with Accommodation and Feed at Raleigh on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent

M. T. BOGGS
Late with Ben H. Adams.

W. A. MYATT, JR.
Formerly with
J. P. Bailey & Bro.

NORRIS & MYATT,

(SUCCESSORS TO BEN H. ADAMS)

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

GROCERS, COTTON FACTORS

—AND—

General Commission Merchants

No. 3 Exchange Place and No. 5 Martin Street,

They offer to the trade a large and well selected stock of first-class groceries at remarkably low figures to suit the times. They are daily receiving, and have to-day in store, a choice lot of North Carolina Hams.

70 Lbs Family Extra Superfine Flour.
10 sacks North Carolina Flour.
200 bushels Corn and Bolted Meal.
90 sacks Salt.
10 bbls Extra A Sugar,
10 bbls extra C Sugar,
10 bbls Extra C Yellow Sugar.
10 bbls Dem Sugar.
10 sacks Rio Coffee.
10 kegs Soda.
10 cases Concentrated Lye.
10 cases Cove Oysters.
10 boxes Adamantine Candles.
25 kits Best Leaf Lard
1000 pounds Pure Assorted Candy
500 bunches Cotton Yarn.
50 kegs Nails.
50 boxes of Durham Tobacco, and a full assortment of goods usually kept in a first class grocery. A bought at very low figures. Our motto: "Quick sales and small profits." A large lot of Boots and Shoes, Hats and Heavy Pants—goods which will be offered at reduced figures. Call and examine our stock before calling elsewhere. Consignments and Country Produce solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

April 1-tf

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY

This unrivalled Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of Mercury, or any injurious mineral substance, but is

PURELY VEGETABLE,

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which an all wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine,

is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bill.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC FOR DISPEPSIA OR IN... TION

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, all obstacles and dangers of water and food may be faced without fear. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in use World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA

Price, $1 00. Sold by all Druggists.

ch18-1y

ALADDIN SECURITY OIL

Will prove itself equal, if not superior, to any burning Oil that has been offered to the public—is perfectly safe for use in all Kerosene Lamps. Will give all who use perfect security in doing so. For sale by

FESCUD, LEE & CO.,
Druggists.

jan 14-tf

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS,

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Simpson's Bring Store.

apr 29 6m.

April 15-3m

CANVASSERS, send No. of your Lodge and name this paper. We will convince you agents with our superb Home Pictures for Means, Halls Rooms, Lodges, Parlors, Granges, Redmen, Mechanics, etc. We are making double rates over any other house in the work persuasive. J. HALE POWERS & CO., Fraternity & Fine Art Pubs., Cincinnati, O.

Feb 2-12m

JUST RECEIVED
AT
D. S. WAITT'S,
Ready Made Clothing
FOR
SPRING AND SUMMER.

GO TO D. S. WAITT'S

FOR

BOOTS & SHOES.

A full line just opened.

FOR GENTS' FURNISHING Goods go to

D. S. WAITT'S.

DRY GOODS! DRY GOODS!!

D. S. WAITT'S

Is the place to get them cheap.

R. F. JONES & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C

COMMISSION MERCHANTS COTTON FACTORS

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Wilmington Street, opposite Market House,

In the wholesale department they offer to the trade a large stock of first-class groceries at prices that have and will continue to attract the trade. They have in store

1200 Gals. S H Syrup.
150 Sacks Fine Liverpool Salt.
1200 Pounds Cream Cheese.
300 Bushels Bolted Meal.
100 Boxes Cakes and Crackers—fresh.
1000 Pounds pure candy, assorted.
25 Cases mixed Pickles.
10 Doz. cans Fresh Peaches.
50 Bbls. Superfine and Family Flour.
3000 Pounds Family Soap.
25 Boxes Adamantine Candles.
40 Doz. boxes Axle Grease.
72 " Masons Blacking.
50,000 Water Proof Percussion Caps.

Powder, Shot, Snuff, Tobacco Soda, Spice, Pepper Tea, &c., &c.

Bulk Meat and Breakfast Strips, and a full assortment of other goods generally sold in grocery stores. Call and examine the quality of their goods and price. Consignment of produce solicited.

oct 15-6m

A MAN OF A THOUSAND,

A Consumptive cured.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Cannabis Indica. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of consumption that it does not dissipate—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Difficult Expectoration, Sharp Pain in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inaction of the Bowels, and Wasting of the Muscles. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia Pa., giving name of this paper.

Nov. 26-6m.

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is the Place to Buy

French and Plain Candies,

Foreign and Domestic Fruits,

RAISINS, NUTS, etc.,

Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,

Fancy Gilt Children's Toys,

Carriages for the Little Folks,

CROQUET SET,

BASE BALLS AND BATS,

Marbles, Tops, and Kites,

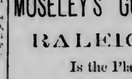
All at MOSELEY'S

FANCY GOODS, TOYS, BASKETS, BROOMS, Brushes, Tooth Picks, School Bags, Feather Dusters, Fish Hooks and Lines. A large assortment.

may 13 tf NAT L. BROWN'S.

LEAMON'S Aniline Dye Colors, at FESCUD, LEE & CO.'S Drug Store.

jan 14-tf



Pocket Inhaler AND Carbolate of Iodine Inhalant.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient Inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption if taken in season. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. At Druggists have it for sale, neatly put up with Inhalers enough for two months' use. Price $1 00. Free by mail on receipt of price. Send for a Circular. by W. H. SMITH & Co., Proprs, Buffalo, N.Y.

Jan 26-3m

A pair of shoes will cost you only 5 cents more with SILVER TIP on that without, and it will add twice the cost of the shoe to their wearing value.

April 8 13-w

GENUINE
PERUVIAN GUANO.

Farmers, Agriculturists and Dealers in Fertilizers have now an opportunity of obtaining this valuable manure in small or large lots, at importers' prices, by applying to the Special Agency just established for the purpose of delivering Genuine Peruvian Guano to consumers at any accessible port or railway station in the country. Full particulars given in Circular mailed free on application to

R. BALCAZAR,
No. 53 Beaver St., New York.

REFERENCES BY PERMISSION.

Messrs. Hobson, Iturtido & Co., Financial Agents of the Peruvian Government, 52 Wall St., N. Y.
Moses Taylor, Pres. National City Bank, 54 Wall St., N. Y.
J. G. Tracy, Esq., Peruvian Guano Consul, 26 1-2 Broadway, N. Y.

March 18-3m

W. F. KORNEGAY,

Goldsboro', N. C.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer
FOREIGN & DOMESTIC HARDWARE,
COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.

Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.

FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are Western made, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All we ask is a trial of them.

Jan 28-tf

READ THIS.

I will give any young boy from 10 to 15 years old living in a town or public place a good opportunity to make from $1 to $2 per day, to work for me. Send stamp for particulars. Address

R. L. POWELL,
Warrenton, N. C.

april 1-1m

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes,

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases.

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or far-sight diness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring, 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4. Strabismus, squinting or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or Imperfect vision from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes; 10. Myiodesopia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight.

Any one can use the IVORY EYE CUPS without the aid of a doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles; or, if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,309 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 10th, Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof. W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1872: "Without my spectacles I pen you this note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles for sixty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1872: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age.

Wm. Beatly, M. D., Salvien Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years.

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter satisfaction I put PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYE, of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worse cases of MYOPIA OR NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlets and certificates—free. Waste no more money by adjusting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

AGENTS WANTED,

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $21 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,
NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

P. O. Box 957.
Sept 6-12m.

Established 1840.

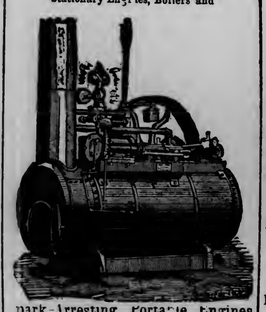
B. W. PAYNE, B. S. PAYNE. B. W. PA NA

B. W. PAYNE & SONS,

Corning Foundry and Machine Sh p,
CORNING, STEUBEN CO., N. Y.

Manufacturers of

Stationary Engines, Boilers and



Park-Arresting Portable Engines
For Plantation use.

Delivered Free on Board Cars in New York City.

Send for Circular.

Feb 25 12m

PARENTS REDUCE YOUR SHOE BILLS TWO THIRDS BY BUYING

Silver Tipped Shoes.

Feb 18-6m

CANFIELD BROTHER & CO.,

229 Baltimore St.,

BALTIMORE MD.

Gold Watches for Ladies & Gentlemen.

American Watches a specialty.
These Watches have an established reputation.
Silver Watches of every variety.
Diamonds, Rich Jewelery,
Chains, Lockets, &c.
Gold Head Canes.
Clocks, Bronzes, Vases.
Fancy Silver-Ware for Bridal Gifts.
Triple Plated Tea Sets, Waiters, Ice Pitchers, Fruit Stands, Casters, Spoons and Forks. A complet stock of new style Plated Goods. Fans, Opera Glass and Rich Fancy Goods.

Our stock is large and prices moderate. Order have prompt attention. Medals and Badges for Schools and Colleges.

apr 24—12m.

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
NO. 141 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK.

Assets-- - -$1,500,000.00!!

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK, President.
D. P. FACKLER, Actuary.

WM. M. COLE, Secretary.
DANIEL AYRES, M.D., LL.D., Med. Director.

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES,

In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium.

THE BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation for JUDGMENT of INVESTMENT, ECONOMY OF MANAGEMENT, AND CARE IN THE SELECTION OF RISKS—upon which elements of administration the security of a Life Insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of its Policies, each and every year, and in a certain legal standard of reserve and accumulation must be held by the Companies to meet all their liabilities.

Insurers in looking around for Companies in which to insure, should carefully see to this important safeguard. IT WILL BE FOUND IN THE BROOKLYN LIFE.

WM. LITTLE, M.D., MEDICAL EXAMINER.

A. W. LAWRENCE,
General Agent for North Carolina,
Office at Raleigh.

may 18-tf

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

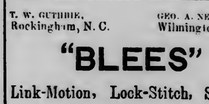
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c.,

Opposite Tucker Hall,

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N.C



Mar 25-1m

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the Celebrated Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VAND

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 22. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 4, 1874. WHOLE NO. 1,010.

Original Poetry.

For the Advocate.

[illegible]

Children's Future.

An extract from a Sunday-school Address delivered in Shelby.]

BY REV. R. T. BURSON.

I. The value of children in the future.

They are valuable not so much because they are now serviceable as faithful members, as officers and ministers of the church, but because of what they will grow to be. "Of what use" says a snarly one, "are these children about whom you are making so much noise. They toil not, they do not till the field, nor manage the affairs of the church, nor teach, nor preach." Men might with equal propriety ask—What is the use of buds, seeds, germs?" Well, very little in the winter season. They are carefully folded up in rough envelopes and hung on the bare limbs of trees, scarcely noticed as they stand in the ground. They are not valuable now. But just wait a little. Wait till the spring comes, then you will see that from these obscure buds, seeds, germs, will come trooping gaily in banners of the verdant forest—all the floral beauties of smiling May—all the gorgeous glories of the coming summer—all the bountiful fruits and grains of mellow autumn. So with children—Now, they are buds, seeds, germs. They are in the winter of childhood. But their spring of youth will blossom in beauty, their summer of manhood will cluster with fruits, and all the glory of managing State and Church will fall upon those who are now children. We are not to despise their day of little things; they are on the road to the thrones of secular and spiritual power. A few years hence, and who will be thundering from our pulpits? Who will be conducting the farming, mechanical and mercantile business of the land? Who will be editing papers, writing books, making laws? They will be those who are now children. Some, who are hid away in obscure places, will come forth radiant and high as evening stars. They will sweep a path of progress from the cottage clear up to the presidential chair. They will travel the same road that Lincoln, the rail splitter; that Johnson, the tailor; that Grant, the tanner; that Wilson, the shoemaker, have trodden. The natural eye sees not the flaming suns that circle in the far off depths of the Milky way. But they are there. The eye sees through the telescopic tube eighteen million golden orbs shining where the natural eye sees only what appears to be drops of milk. So the eye of prophetic faith sees in these children, the spiritual, the political, the scientific lights of the far off ages. Their day is distant, but surely coming. We are training them, the leaders of coming generations.

II. We must have patience with them.

They develop slowly. Children do not spring up into manhood in a few days. It takes twenty years for children to grow up into the fulness of physical manhood. And fifteen years are not too much for their education: and then they rarely reach to the fullness of their intellectual manhood until they are forty years old. And their spiritual culture is not a work of few months. It takes time, labor, care, to bring up our children in the nurture of the Lord. There must be line upon line, precept upon precept. The fact is, those things which are the most valuable are of the slowest development. A man can mould wax into an image in a day, and it may be spoiled as soon. But when a sculptor begins to chisel marble, his work is slow and tedious. Years must be spent on it. When it is finished, it is not only beautiful but durable. It outlasts generations of men. What is so beautiful as icicles gleaming in the morning sun, but it is a transient beauty of an hour. It takes pains taking labor and a long time to grind, cut and polish a diamond, but when done, it is the royal beauty of ages. The intellectual and moral culture of children requires much labor and time, but when done, it makes the soul shine and sparkle more beautifully and durably than the royal diamond. A Greek painter was seen to be exceedingly cautious and slow in painting his picture. When asked why he was so careful, "Ah," said he, "I paint for immortality." He expected his painting to last for ages, and therefore he could afford to be cautious.—So parents and teachers are painting imperishable pictures on the intellectual canvass of children. Such pictures ought to be pure and beautiful. They are to glow in the light of eternity.

III. The dependence of children on others for spiritual development.—Children come into a world already organized. All of its complicated machinery goes thundering along upon the iron track of social customs and formulated creeds. They are born into creeds made by others, speak the language of their fathers, drink in their sentiments with their mother's milk, take on their habits like a spool of thread from the unwinding reel, believe their creed and worship their God, to be false or true. Born in the midst of such tremendous influences and being passive and plastic to their touch as the yielding wax to the seal, how can they be any thing but the moulded product of such influence. It is the moulds of the foundery, that shapes the molten material run into them. It is the hand of the gardener that determines whether the clinging vine shall climb into the lofty tree, or hug the piercing bramble. Children are silvery fountains precipitated into parental channels, and must flow as they do, whether that be through the black swamp of sin, or the beautiful land of righteousness. And here we see the reason of that terrible curse—"Whoso shall offend (neglect their moral culture) one of these little ones, ...it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depths of the sea."

For the Advocate.

Review of M. P. J.

Bro. Bobbitt: I find an article in the Advocate of May 6th, over the above initials, which I am inclined to think are the initials of a preacher's name of another church, reversed—The writer refers to a sermon preached at Moores, in Granville circuit, by the Rev. Mr Griffith. The article suggests to my mind several thoughts, which I shall present, not in a captious spirit; as I fully agree with M. P. J. that is is "gratifying to an intelligent Christian to find a preacher who is able to preach "The gospel of the kingdom of God" as did the Master and his disciples." While it is "gratifying to intelligent Christians" to find ministers of the gospel faithfully and fearlessly performing their duty in presenting the truths of the Bible, Christian charity forbids our imputing insincerity or impurity of motives to those we imagine to be too much under the influence of educational bias and association.

One sentence in the article attracted my attention a little, and demonstrates the truth that light, when properly presented, will excite reflection and illumine the thinking mind of man.—The writer says, "we certainly need the Methodists to preach important Scriptural truth, which many other denominations of Christians dare not preach, because such Scriptural truth is not in accordance with their peculiar notions of church organization, or some pet religious dogma." This sentence presents the matter in a pretty strong light. If such moral degeneracy characterizes any of the different sects in our land that men professing to be "ambassadors for Christ" dare not promulgate "important Scriptural truth" for fear of shaking the props of their "church organization," or of uprooting "some pet religious dogma," we indeed need some convincing and illuminating influence to not only enlighten the minds of others, but their minds with regard to Christian obligation and duty.

All Scriptural truth is important; and we are inclined to the opinion that St. Paul viewed the matter from the proper stand-point, when he impressed on the mind of Timothy the importance of preaching the Word, notwithstanding the peculiar notions and prejudices of some minds would not permit them to endure sound doctrine. What right has a man, especially a professed teacher in Israel, to entertain peculiar notions of "church organization," disregarding the plainly revealed teachings and duties of the Bible? It is the duty of ministers to "preach the Word" in its purity, and what right has a man who is dismal ified from sectarian blindness, or mental incapacity, or from any other cause to thrust himself into the sacred stand bewildering and misleading the minds of men, instead of presenting the soul elevating and illuminating truths of the Gospel? The position of a minister of the Gospel is a responsible one; and he who gropes his way in mental or moral darkness has no right, and is highly culpable, if he sets himself up as a teacher of duties, and a disseminator of important and essential truths of which he is totally inadequate to teach. The mind of man needs Scriptural light to lead it from darkness to light, not to confirm it in its erroneous notions and inclinations to regard darkness as light.

With one reflection more, for the present, I will close. If we "need the Methodists," and consistent teachers of other churches to preach important scriptural truth which others dare not preach," we certainly do not need the ministrations of those who, from considerations of "church organization" or any other cause feel at liberty to occupy the sacred stand as ministers of "Truth, while shunning to declare, to the utmost of their ability, all the counsel of God."

ONONIAS.

Oxford, N. C.

A Synopsis of the Proceedings of the Newbern District Conference.

The 8th annual meeting of this District Conference was held at Lagrange, commencing on Wednesday the 20th inst., at 4 o'clock P. M. Rev. E. A. Yates, P. E., in the chair, and W. H. Cunningim elected Secretary. There are in this District 15 pastoral charges; 12 of these were represented by the preachers of these several charges in person.

From 9 of the charges there were present 26 Lay delegates and 2 Local preachers.

Visiting Brethren present,—Rev. B. B. Culbreth, Agent of Trinity College, and Rev. H. H. Gibbons and Bro. R. W. Best, of the Raleigh District.

The general condition of the church in this District is represented as hopeful.

Some complaints, against some of the membership for neglect of family prayers, a lack of interest in the Sabbath School, and prayer meetings. The financial condition of some of the charges, reported good, having paid thus far, their full proportion, others are very deficient, and the preachers as a consequence straitened in their finances. The Sabbath School interest is regarded as on the increase.

The attendance upon the conference was large, preaching at 11 A. M., and at night on each day, with the Love-feast, Sacrament of the Lord's supper, and Sunday School exercises additional on Sabbath. The preaching has been as conceded generally not only good, but very good. The weather has been charming.

The citizens vied with each other in their hospitality, and every one seemed to be pleased, and we hopefully trust, that a harvest of rich fruits will ere long come to those kind people and to the church from these labors of love.

The Agent of Trinity College, Rev. B. B. Culbreth, presented this interest in a speech to the conference and solicited donations for the college. About $100 have been thus far secured him as the fruit of his efforts. May good success attend his efforts everywhere in the upbuilding of Trinity College.

The usual vote of thanks was passed, to citizens for their hospitality, and to the missionary Baptist church for the use of their church, and to the officers for the faithful performence of their duties.

Conference adjourned sine die on Saturday evening May 23.

The following reports and resolutions were adopted, viz: on Missions, on the state of the church, on Sunday and Bible cause, also resolutions in condemnation of Tournaments and commendatory of the ADVOCATE. Some of them were ordered to be published, and will be forwarded at an early day.

Truly,

W. H. CUNNINGIM,
Secretary.

REPORTS ADOPTED BY THE NEWBERN DISTRICT CONFERENCE AT ITS LATE SESSION.

The committee to whom was referred the subject of Finance in the District beg leave to report that we have had the same under our consideration.

We find that notwithstanding nearly half the conference year has expired from the stringency in monetary affairs or some other cause, but little attention has yet been paid to the collections appointed by the Conference. We find also that while for Ministerial support there has been in most cases an adequate allowance made, yet not more than an average of ¼ has been paid.

Resolved 1st, That as a District we will endeavor to bring all our collections up to the standard we have set by apportionment and allowance, and not present annually a hiatus between the amount promised and called for and the amount collected.

Resolved 2nd, That the attention of our preachers and people is hereby called to the importance of systemizing their collections of money and so distributing of them that an undue portion of them may not fall on the last part of the year.

Respectfully submitted.

J. E. MANN,
R. A. WILLIS,
C. F. R. KORNEGAY.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this conference that the RALEIGH CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE is a very excellent religious paper, a means of communication between the different parts of the Conference, and that the editor, Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, ought to be sustained in his efforts to advance the interests of religion in furnishing a good church paper.

W. C. GANNON,
E. A. YATES.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this District Conference that Tournaments as usually conducted are evil and only evil, in their tendency and effect on society, and that the members of our churches who take part therein violate their Baptismal vows by so doing.

Signed

JOHN R. BROOKS,
J. E. MANN,
W. C. GANNON.

On motion this resolution was ordered to be printed.

The N. C. Conference Sunday-School Society.

This Society convened in Edenton Street M. E. Church, South, in Raleigh May 11th, and continued in session four days. In the absence of the President and Vice President, Rev. E. A. Yates was elected President protem. We copy the following from the proceedings of the meeting to which special attention is directed:

J. A. Jones offered the following resolution:

WHEREAS, We regard the Sunday school work as of vital importance to the interest of the church and Christianity at large; and whereas, past experience teaches that much may be done in this direction by the holding of Sabbath school mass meetings in every locality where practicable, therefore—

Resolved, By the N. C. Conference Sunday school Society, in convention assembled, that we do earnestly request the Presiding Elders of every District to hold a Sunday school mass meeting at each District Conference on Sabbath afternoon of the session.

J. A. JONES.

The following Report from the Special Committee was submitted by Rev. H. P. Cole, the chairman:

Your Committee to whom was referred the matter of devising plans for securing a more active interest in the Sabbath school cause throughout the bounds of the N. C. Conference would respectfully submit the following report:

Resolved 1st, That this Society earnestly recommend to our preachers and superintendents the organization of auxiliary societies which shall co operate with this in looking after the general interest of our Sunday-schools.

Resolved 2nd, That in order to raise a fund for supplying our destitute mission schools with the catechism of our church, we do earnestly request the Superintendents of the various schools to take up a special collection for that purpose during the month of June.

Resolved 3rd, That the funds be deposited with the Treasurer and be drawn out at the order of the President for the benefit of the Mission Schools.

Resolved 4th, That we request the President of our Society to call a meeting of its members on the 2nd day of the next session of our Annual Conference.

General Conference.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

After the regular routine of business Bishop Marvin took the chair and called reports of standing committees.

J. E. Edwards, chairman of the committee on Itinerancy, presented Report No. 4 of the committee, which was read. The committee recommended the adoption of the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the resolution adopted in 1870, referred to in the first resolution, be, and the same is hereby repealed.

Resolved, That, during the next four years, the presiding bishop of an annual conference, when requested by said conference, may appoint, at his discretion, one or more members of the conference to any pastoral work beyond the bounds of the annual conferences.

A very animated debate occurred in which many members participated. We have only room for what our delegates said:

N. H. D. Wilson—I am in favor of adopting that resolution, and I hope to assist the Conference, in a few short but earnest remarks, to come to a clear understanding of this subject. There were irregularities connected with the passage of this resolution at the last General Conference which led us to agree that it should be repealed. This resolution is an untrammelled expression of the majority of the committee. It is not designed to restrict it to any one case; but just at this point we felt the need of more elasticity in the appointing power, and hence we have brought in a general resolution. I regret that it has been insisted that there can be but one use made of it, for the opposite is the fact. That resolution is thoroughly guarded against any abuse of authority on the part of Bishops or Conferences, or any practical infraction of the itinerancy or any damage to the interests of the Church in any way. In the first place it is restricted to four years. It dies by limitation, and there its good or harm must rest. In the next place it applies to work outside of all the Annual Conferences, and hence, does not interfere with any one Conference. It partakes of the nature of missionary work and goes beyond the territory of the Conferences. Again the request must be made by the Annual Conference of which a man is a member. One Conference can't require a Bishop to take a member out of another Conference and station him within their limits. He who is appointed to that work is amenable year after year to the Conference of which he is a member, and the Bishop presiding and the Annual Conference will institute proper enquiries as to the manner in which he is carrying on the work to which he has been appointed. And further, it says that the Bishop may do this. He is under no obligation to make the appointments after the request has been made. So that it requires a concurrence of both. Now we are willing that the Annual Conference and the Bishops, shall have the authority which, it is proposed by that resolution to grant them, and all that we ask for North Carolina we are willing to be enjoyed by all alike. We simply want sufficient elasticity of the appointing power to grant us a liberty of this sort. We have no fear that it will encroach upon disciplinary law. We have limited it to four years and thus guarded it as much as possible. In the past we thing, with us, it has worked well—the future will depend upon our judgment in the premises. We ask it for and all alike.

Dr. Craven—The first remarkable thing about those resolutions is that they repeal one that has been passed and then re-enacts precisely the same thing, with the addition of only the four years' limitation. I cannot see the propriety or the meaning of this. I consider that always and everywhere all legislation intended to reach some special case is evil in its tendencies and results. I thought our system already expansive enough, and what circumstances are reached by this? What extraordinary circumstances are to be met by this which cannot be reached by the appointing power as it stands at present? Special legislation is mischievous, altogether mischievous. It always does more harm than good. I will not assert it but it is my opinion that this is done in the interest of parties looking to some particular field. It is to accommodate somebody, and is utterly revolutionary. I cannot see why they may not ask for me in Raleigh, and instruct the Bishop to send me there. The gist of the whole matter is just this—I want to go to Richmond—

The speaker was here interrupted by several members, who called his attention to the fact that the resolution did not apply to the appointment to work in the limits of other Conferences.

He continued: Well, I want to go to London, it's all the same at last—or wherever it suits my genius or inclination to go—the great Southern Church has got to legislate just to adapt itself to my particular case. I am opposed to all this special legislation. It is mischievous. If you call it missiou work, I have no objection to it—let it be a part of your foreign missions. But what is meant by "proper pastoral work?" Does it mean Methodist work? I suppose it ought to mean organized Methodism. But this is clear that it does not mean that in the case intended by this resolution to cover. Four years ago, after the North Carolina delegation had left, this resolution was passed, and passed for us. Now I hope there will be no special legislation in favor of any body. I think it will do no good, but on the other hand split up the Connection into Congregationalism.

W. H. Bobbitt—Dr Craven says that he sees no good coming of repealing one resolution and then enacting one similar to it. The difficulty in the way of retaining the original resolution has been already stated It was passed at the last part of the Conference session when there was no quorum. We are ready now to repeal that irregular proceeding, and pass a resolution now around which we have thrown the proper restriction. I hope the resolution will pass.

The resolutions passed by 111 for 81 against

The Committee on Boundaries presented Report No. 2, and among other changes recommend the following:

First—That the memorial of the West Virginia Conference be granted and the line between the West Virginia and Baltimore Conferences be so changed as to transfer the counties of Monroe, Greenbrier, and Pocahontas to the Western Virginia Conference.

Second—That the memorial for a change of Boundaries between the Baltimore and Holston Conferences be granted, and that the same be so changed as to run a straight line from Jacksonville, in Floyd county to Central Depot, in Montgomery county, so as to embrace the territory known as the New Hope Circuit in the Holston Conference.

Third—That your committee deem it inexpedient to grant the memorial from Elizabeth City and other quarterly conferences at this time, asking that the Virginia Conference be divided, and they recommend that the prayer be not granted.

The order of the day, Report No. 2 of the Committee on Sunday schools was taken up, and with it the minority report, both of which were read.

M. F. Andrews moved the adoption of the report of the minority for the report of the majority.

After a lengthy debate the minority report was adopted by a vote of 137 to 76.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

The Committee on Episcopacy made a lengthy report. The Committee had carefully reviewed the lives of the Bishops one by one for the last four years and found them blameless, and recommend that the Conference take some action on the same, which was adopted. Bishop Doggett expressed the thanks of that body. They had passed through a severe ordeal, and to have this public quadrennial recognition was a source of gratification. The committee recommended the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That we do not concur in the recommendation to select two additional Bishops, but that we request the present Bishops to distribute their labors so as to give more time to our territory west of the Mississippi river, especially in Texas and California.

Mr. Goodwin offered a substitute, as follows:

Resolved, That the General Conference elect two additional Bishops during its present session.

An animated discussion followed, most of the Western and Southwestern members supporting the substitute, which was finally rejected and the original report adopted.

In answer to a memorial relating to the matter the committee did not believe that, under any proper administration, any one preacher could be kept more than four years in charge, except in violation of discipline. The committee did not justify action of the kind. This awakened some dicussion, but the report was adopted.

A resolution instructing the Committee of Books and Periodicals to inquire into the high price of books of the Publishing House, was adopted.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

Bishop Doggett in the chair.

The minority report of the committee on Finance was read in regard to the plan for the support of superannuated preachers, giving $20 per year for all years of preacher's effective service.

A resolution was presented in regard to the enlargement of the Presiding Elder's district, authorizing the Bishops to include in a district of this kind more than fourteen appointments. Laid on the table.

The report of the committee on Missions was taken up. It suggests the organization of a Board of Missions, providing for its support and management.

A majority and minority report were read and after debate recommitted.

The report of the Committee on Boundaries, which had been partially considered, was taken up. Item seven of the report, looking to a transfer of a portion of the Alabama to the North Mississippi Conference, and item eight, looking to the transfer of a portion of the Little Rock to the Arkansas Conference, were adopted. Item nine, recommending that the memorial asking for a change of the boundary line between the Kentucky and Louisville Conference be not granted, was adopted. A petition to change the name of the Alabama Conference to the South Alabama Conference was recommended and adopted.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

Bishop McTyeire in the chair.

J. E. Edwards, Chairman of the Committee on Itinerancy, presented Report No. 6 of said Committee, which was read and adopted.

It recommended no changes.

Also Report No. 7, on the Journals of the Annual Conferences, which was read, and pending the reading, the order of the day having arrived, it was postponed to continue the action on the report.

The Report was full and elaborate, and, on motion of W. M. Rush, was adopted.

The order of the day, being the Report of the Committee on Church Trials was then taken up

A motion of Anson West, to lay it on the table, did not prevail.

The Report was acted upon item by item.

The section on the Trial of Bishops, consisting of 8 articles, was adopted with some amendments. The chairman of the Committee H. F. Johnson, stated: This report had carefully answered all objections to the old plan, was shorter than the old, and differed, materially from it only in the fact that it provided for the trial of a Bishop by a committee, thus giving him the right of appeal to the General Conference according to the law in the Discipline of 1856.

Bishop McTyeire spoke at length against the proposed changes.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

Bishop Paine presiding.

Dr. L. M. Lee from Committee on Episcopacy presented Report No. 5 on making allowances for families of deceased Bishops. Sundry Reports from various committees were made, but we have not room for even a meagre abstract.

The committee on Revisal made a long report. They concurred with the following:

1. Concurs in with a resolution of W. H. Bobbitt and others, proposing to add to ans. 1, on p. 88: And they shall report in writing the state and result of their labors to the fourth Quarterly Conference.

10. With the resolution of G. A. Donnelly and J. Mackey, to amend the language of the Discipline, p. 80, chap. 3, sec. 8, Ans 1, so that it shall read, "Answer 1. To administer baptism and the Lord's Supper, and to solemnize the rite of matrimony, and perform all parts of Divine worship." Your committee concur.

They unanimously recommended a resolution authorizing the Presiding Elder and preacher in charge to change the place of holding the Quarterly Conference, when in their judgment necessary.

W. C. Johnson, Chairman of the Committee on Books and Periodicals, presented Report No. 6, of said Committee, which was read.

A long discussion followed participated in by Dr Redford, F. W. Earnest, Dr. Edwards, I. G. John, Dr. Bennett and others.

The following report of the committee in the appeal case of L. D. Huston was then presented and read:

The committee on the appeal of Lorenzo D. Huston, expelled by the Baltimore Conference upon the charge of immorality, report to the General Conference:

That the appeal of L. D. Huston, expelled by the Baltimore Conference upon the charge of immorality, has been heard, and the action of that Conference has not been reversed.

J. C. KILBURN, President.

JOHN C. VISCH, Secretary.

May 20, 1874.

J. E. Evans, Chairman of the Committee on the Organization of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church in America, presented the Report of said Committee, which was read and adopted.

H. F. Johnson, Chairman of the Special Committee on Church Trial made a speech in reply to Bishop McTyeire, who spoke the preceding day.

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

Bishop Kavanaugh in the chair.

Various Reports were made.

On motion the Report on Church Trials was taken up.

A. R. Winfield moved as a substitute for the Section of the Report on the Trial of a Bishop, the Section as it now stands in the Discipline.

A long debate ensued, without any definite result being attained.

Bishops Bowman and Simpson of the Methodist Church (North) were introduced to the Conference and seated on the platform

The Minority Report on the Temperance question was adopted. It calls for amendment of the General Rule, on the use of spirituous liquors, forbidding their manufacture and sale. This action will be sent round to the Annual Conferences, and if a majority of three fourths concur therewith, it will pass into a law.

The College of Bishops reported the result of a vote of the Annual Conferences on a constitutional question—to wit:—

"Provided, that when any rule of regulation is adopted by the General Conference, which, in the opinion of the Bishops, is unconstitutional, the Bishops may present to the Conference which passed said rule or regulation their objections thereto, with their reasons, in writing; and if then the General Conference shall, by a two thirds vote, adhere to its action on said rule or regulations, it shall then take the course prescribed for altering a restrictive rule, and if thus passed upon affirmatively, the Bishops shall announce that such rule or regulation takes effect from that time."

The resolutions were adopted by the General Conference—169 yeas, 4 nays.

The resolutions were submitted to the several Conferences and concurred in—nays 2924—nays 9.

The Conference elected the Board of Missions. An attempt to elect a Secretary failed. Dr. McFerrin received the highest number (83 votes) but it required 91 for an election. Dr. Burkhead received 4 votes.

A Triumph of Oratory.

A writer in the Literary World recalls a scene which he had witnessed at Edingurgh, at a meeting of Dr. Guthrie's ragged schools. The Duke of Argyll was in the chair, and a brilliant audience was present. To understand the allusion it must be remembered that a venerated clergyman named Guthrie suffered as a Covenantor in 1661. At the close of the meeting Dr. Guthrie came to the front of the platform to move a vote of thanks to the chairman. Surveying the audience for a minute or two without saying a word, until expectancy was awakened, the orator turned to the duke, and, with great deliberation, said, "It is not the first time, your grace, that an Argyll and a Guthrie have met in the same place, to further a good work, in the city of Edinburgh." The effect of the sentence was wonderful. It went like a shock of electricity through the vast assembly. The Grass-market and the two martyrs had risen on the view of every one there. The people, as of one man started to their feet; and the duke rising from his chair stepped forward and gave his hand to Guthrie. There the two men stood, face to face and hand to hand, while the audience burst again and again into joyous acclamation, the tears streaming down the faces of stalwart men. It was a scene not soon to be forgotten by those who were present; and it seemed to the writer as in all probability the greatest feat of oratory that Guthrie ever achieved.

What is Christ to Us?

He is our way: we walk in him. He is our truth; we embrace him. He is our Lord: we choose him to rule over us.

He is our Master: we serve him. He is our Prophet pointing out the future.

He is our Priest, having atoned for us.

He is our Advocate, ever living to make intercession for us.

He is our Saviour, saving to the uttermost.

He is our Teacher, instructing us in the way of salvation.

He is our root; we grow from him. He is our bread; we feed upon him.

He is our fold; we enter it by him.

He is our Shepherd, leading us into green pastures.

He is our true vine; we abide in him.

He is the water of life; we shake our thirst from him.

He is the Chief among ten thousand, we admire him above everything.

He is the brightness of the Father's glory, and the express image of his person; we strive to reflect his likeness.

He is upholder of all things, we rest upon him.

He is our wisdom; we are guided by him.

He is our righteousness; we cast all our perfections upon him.

He is our sanctification; we draw all the sources of holy life from him.

He is our redemption, and redeeming us from all iniquity.

He is our healer, healing all our disease.

He is our friend, relieving us in all our necessities.

He is our brother, cheering us in our difficulties.—N. Bishop

Scientific Memoranda

Solution of ferric chloride may be deprived of the excess of acid by dialysis. (Reimann).

If castor oil is mixed with glycerine and a few drops of oil of cinnamon added, the taste of the castor-oil can scarcely be recognized.

Vegetable inks that tincture of iodine made with alcohol, containing more than 67 per cent, of absolute alcohol, will not turn starch paper blue.

The best labels for plants and trees may be made by writing with a lead pencil on slips of zinc, and attaching these to the plants by copper wire.—(Horticulturist).

The Garden relates that cuttings have been taken from England to Victoria, and worked with success nine months after they were separated from the parent plant.

TRUTH.—It is not enough that we swallow truth; we must feed upon it as insects do upon the leaf, till the whole heart be colored by its qualities and shows its food in every fibre.—Coleridge.

They who have rarest joy, know joy's true measure;
They who most suffer, value suffering's pause;
They who but seldom taste the simplest pleasure,
Kneel oftenest to the Giver and the Cause.
—NORTON.

The Christian Advocate

[illegible] Cor. of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN

OF THE

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE

OF THE

M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

[illegible] $2.0

[illegible] 1.5

[illegible] 1.0

[illegible] to be addressed to the Christian Advocate.

RALEIGH, N. C. JUNE 3, 1874.

See the cross X marked on your paper. It is to call your attention to the expiration of your subscription, and that you should renew at once.

Aggressive Work.

The life of the spirit of the Gospel in the Church is incompatible with the easy-going self-complacency. Growth by gathering in and assimilating is a natural law of the Kingdom of Christ. A living Christianity, by its very nature, must force its way in the world, and put forth converting power. Our organization is based upon the broad scriptural ground of aggressive progress, but it is not the case that the pastorate is to be occupied and the Church filled with ministers and members who are content with the success of others. Compare the pulpit, Sunday School and [illegible] visiting the sick, the needy, and the children, in order to advise and encourage them to attend divine worship and to send their children to the Sabbath school.

In all cases where the parties are Methodists, on leaving their homes, they should be urged at once to present their certificate, and if they have none, to join the church without delay in their new homes.

Adorn the Doctrine.

To make a beautiful thing is not the same as to make a thing beautiful. We do the best, that we may do the best. An artist makes a beautiful statue, but the statue makes the palace or the city beautiful. We use beauty to adorn. This is beauty's work. Palace is beautiful, but it adorns the hills. The hills are beautiful, but they adorn the landscape. All this beauty is a ministering spirit, sent forth to serve something else more beautiful, durable and illustrious.

In writing to Titus, Paul speaks of disciples in the humblest class, so [illegible] they adorn the doctrine of Christ, our Saviour. We do not know [illegible] similar expression in Scripture. There are many passages where Christian graces are called ornaments, and where persons are spoken of as jewels. But this idea of believers adorning the teaching of Christ is as peculiar as it is striking. It is as [illegible] to paint the lily, to add [illegible] to the rainbow, what must it be to make more beautiful the [illegible] of Christ, our Saviour! But it is not impossible as we may see when we look at the matter in the most practical way. Even the immaculate believer may adorn the doctrine by adding it in its purity. In the way which are very rare and beautiful, as diamonds and [illegible] gems. We must preserve the [illegible] in its simplicity if we would make it appear beautiful. A lithium [illegible] fail to beauty than [illegible] [illegible]. Some of the most valued [illegible] in the Vatican are fragments. It gives an air and a repetition of the [illegible] of a statue, and the rest may be still a wonder of beauty, but a little [illegible] limb to work of art, or [illegible] an important feature, and the whole is ruined.

Another way to adorn the doctrine is to give it a good position. Painters [illegible] every particular as to where and how their pictures hang, for they know how much a beautiful thing is adorned by having a good position. Sculptors are equally careful about the height and surroundings of the [illegible] that is to sustain their work. When we bring out the doctrine of Christ in the daylight of a faithful ministry, and make it appear to be what it truly is—a strong tower, a [illegible] defense, a shining bulwark [illegible] from the doctrine of Christ our Saviour. In doing this we do not exalt ourselves or make our own virtues [illegible] but, on the contrary, all our efforts secure the exaltation of something else, even the truth of God. Much of our prayer and alms giving ought to be in secret, but there is no humility nor grace of any kind in keeping our faith secret, and hiding the candle under a bushel.

But there is no adornment for the [illegible] in a holy life. A ray of light is pure and beautiful, but inclose it with a prism, and behold what an unknown wealth of varied color the gorgeous apparel with which God clothes the lilies of the field. So a holy life receives and transmits the gospel ray, revealing powers and beauties in the letter, through the Spirit that gives it life. It is oft remarked that a large portion of the Scripture is historical, and concerns the lives and experiences of mortals like ourselves. We are taught as much by incidents and facts as by didactic statements. Thus God has adorned the doctrine that he makes known. The days of a holy life are jewels, golden links that bind together the circle of adornment for the doctrine of Christ, our Saviour.

Certificates of Membership.

Almost every evil which has befallen Methodism during its remarkable history, is traceable to dereliction of duty and the neglect to follow the Discipline as it is. As preachers, we have taken a solemn pledge "to keep the rules and not mend them," but how few are there who are not chargeable with the sin of neglect.

Thousands of our members are lost to Methodism by the simple neglect of the preachers to enforce upon every member the propriety, necessity and utility of applying for a certificate of membership whenever they change their residence, and of presenting it to the pastor of our Church, immediately on arriving at their new homes. If this were done faithfully and constantly, many of our people might be saved to the Church, who are annually drawn off into other folds, or who are soon lost among their new friends in the coils of the devil. Many persons in almost every community, who were converted at our altars and joined the church, but in a few years, because of a little neglect on their part, or on the part of ministers and members, have been lost off from us and now are lost to us.

Every church, besides the watchful vigilance of the minister, by which he soon knows every member and his place of residence, who are visited regularly, and who ought also to see the stranger too should have a strong force of active visitors in every ward or district, to find out the stranger, the sick, the needy, and the children, in order to advise and encourage them to attend divine worship and to send their children to the Sabbath school.

In all cases where the parties are Methodists, on leaving their homes, they should be urged at once to present their certificate, and if they have none, to join the church without delay in their new homes.

The Name.

The editor of the Baptist Recorder very coolly states that "fourteen—not twelve, as rumored at Methodists joined the Baptist Church at Goldsboro," in the face of the fact that Rev. Mr. Barkham up to this hour has not been able to get Rev. [illegible] names. Out with the names, gentlemen. Dignified silence will not answer.

"My horse is sixteen feet high." "You mean hands, not feet." "Did I say feet?" "Of course you did." "Well, then, I'll stick to it." And so he did.

Ministerial Recruits.

The last New York Advocate contains a lengthy and well written article upon the subject of recruiting the ministerial ranks, from which we take the following:

"But after all that has been done by way of making provision for the educational wants of candidates for our ministry, we seem to fail to meet the necessities of the case. Young men, ranging in age from eighteen to twenty five, feeling themselves called to the ministry of the Gospel, and strengthened in their convictions by the opinions of their Christian friends and advisers, usually find themselves furnished with only a plain English education such as is given in our public schools. What should such persons do about it? Many of them probably are almost entirely without pecuniary resources, and on account of their advanced age, and, with some of them, perhaps, for want of a due appreciation of the importance of a thorough second education, they may be averse to giving so much time and labor to the work of preparation for their great life calling. To complete a thorough collegiate and seminary course would require of such persons from seven to nine years of study, which, at an annual expense of five hundred dollars, would cost from two and a half to four and a half thousands of dollars. With the richest income my one half of the larger [illegible] such outlay. That some very wise way might be that enterprise, there can be no doubt; but for most it will seem too formidable a task, and perhaps in many cases it would not be advisable. We are of those who very highly [illegible] the [illegible] engages in a course of [illegible] education, less now [illegible] to their practical use than for their drill and [illegible] and yet we [illegible] the loss of devoting the [illegible] and study requisite to make [illegible] available by one whose time has become valuable, and who at best will become only partially master of them. There are untold stores of learning accessible to the merely English reader, and he can need fail to be a well trained biblical and theological scholar, although he reads only in his mother tongue. The idea of a separate theological seminary for English students, giving a three years' course, has been suggested by a learned and highly conservative theologian and educator among us. Is not that idea worthy to be entertained and examined? Could not such a school, properly sustained, give to our [illegible] men a [illegible] young men each year, all thoroughly learned in whatever they would be called to use in their administrations among the people? We would be glad to see that matter more fully considered. Something is needed which we now have not.—Would that experiment in any good degree meet the case?

Civil Rights Bill.

We have received a copy of the congressional record containing the very able speech of Judge Merrimon delivered in the United States Senate upon the civil rights bill, May 22nd, 1874. Well may every North Carolinian be proud of Senator Merrimon. He stands to day in the front ranks of the brightest intellects and ablest debaters in Congress.

1st. He shows conclusively in this speech that Congress has no power under the constitution to pass the bill.

2nd. It shows that to pass it brings upon a state of things that contravene the course and laws of nature, and results in the degeneracy and actual extinction of the two races.

3rd. That it is inexpedient, in that it tends to bring about conflicts between the two races, to stir up strife that ought to be put to rest forever, and that it tends to cut the colored race off from the advantages of education which they can only have successfully at the hands of the people. It is indeed a speech of great power, and but for its length we would lay it before our readers.

We are indebted to Rev. C. C. Chaplin, of the Baptist church in Kentucky, for two sermons.

Bro. W. Norman, of the North Carolina Conference, was with us ten days, preaching and laboring with great success and acceptability.

Bro. Mitchell was with us four nights, and Edmonds and efficiently among the penitents.

In conclusion, I must mention Rev. J. D. Arnold, a Local Deacon of my charge, who in the pulpit and at the altar rendered invaluable service. I have never seen a man more devoted to Methodism, and his heart ever glows with the love he proclaims. Would God that all of our ministers, itinerant and local, had his zeal and consecration.

We give God the glory for what has been accomplished, and look and pray for much larger results.

How to Find a Lost Pocket Book.

MR. EDITOR: Most of your readers doubtless have heard how Lorenzo Daw found the pocket book of the man at the hotel.

I propose to tell you how the late John Hicks of Alamance county, the notice of whose death will be seen in another column, found his.

He was attending a camp meeting at Bethel church, many years ago, and lost his pocket book, containing about thirty dollars in money and some valuable papers. He knew that it was either stolen or lost somewhere about the camp ground.

He advertised it, but the meeting closed and the encampment was broken up, and his pocket book was not found.

He was now satisfied that either some one had stolen it, or a dishonest person had found it, which was all the same.

He was a man of prayer. He went home and prayed God to so smite the conscience of the possessor that he could not retain it. The next morning on going to his barn, he found the pocket book with all its contents lying in the barn door with a paper on it to direct his attention to it.

Whether like Jacob, he vowed in connection with his prayer, to use its contents for God's glory, is not known; but we know that he was a liberal supporter of the church, and in his will left his annual subscription to continue two years after his decease.

W.

MR. EDITOR: We, the undersigned trustees and patrons of Marion High School, take pleasure in announcing that the spring term has been quite successful, and is now preparing for the closing exercises.

The next term will open early in July.

The Rev. Mr. Trawick and his accomplished lady have admirably sustained their high reputation as teachers and managers of a Female School, also as christian workers. We invite patronage, and as citizens will take pleasure in rendering young ladies comfortable and happy.

This school offers superior advantages for both moral and mental culture. The thoroughness and accuracy of the instruction, as well as the low rates of board and tuition and the healthfulness of the location, are all unsurpassed.

J. G. NEAL,
W. H. WAKEFIELD,
W. H. BOBBITT, SR.,
R. C. BURGIS,
J. H. GULLEY,
W. F. CRAIG,
J. C. MCCURRY,
S. J. NEAL,
WM. DELLINGER,
M. M. TEAGUE,
P. J. SINCLAIR,
W. H. MALONE,
} Trustees.

Compulsory Education.

The legislature of New York at its last session passed a law entitled, "An act to secure to children the benefits of elementary education." The Governor has approved and signed it.—Without giving any opinion on the subject, we copy the following from the New York Advocate. Referring to "the very able report" of Dexter A. Hawkins, Esq., it says:

"This report was evidently the result of years of study of the question, especially in its relations to illiteracy, pauperism, and crime, and to the perpetuity of our free institutions.

It demonstrated from an analysis of the last census, first, that, on the average, in this country illiterate persons furnish ten times the number of criminals and thirty times the number of paupers that they would if given such an education as our free schools offer gratis; second, that in the State of New York we have 189,000 adults who cannot read and write, of whom 73,000 are males, and hence are or may be voters; third, that the State expends twelve millions of dollars a year upon [illegible] providing the means of a good elementary education for every one of the million and a half school children in the State, free of cost; fourth, that one third of the children of the school age drop on the average, [illegible] out of school altogether."

Rev. S. S. Lambeth, writes to the Richmond Advocate May 25th, good news from his pastoral charge of Danville, Va. He says:

We are now in the midst of one of the most gracious and powerful revivals that I have ever been privileged to witness. The good influence pervades the entire community, and has even extended into the country for a score of miles.

Some of the finest young men and young ladies of our town have professed faith in Christ, and the work is still progressing with encouraging prospects.

During the past three weeks more than seventy persons have professed religion in my congregation, and last night twenty one penitents were seeking God's mercy.

We are indebted to Rev C. C. Chaplin, of the Baptist church in Kentucky, for two sermons.

Bro. W. Norman, of the North Carolina Conference, was with us ten days, preaching and laboring with great success and acceptability.

Bro. Mitchell was with us four nights, and Edmonds and efficiently among the penitents.

In conclusion, I must mention Rev. J. D. Arnold, a Local Deacon of my charge, who in the pulpit and at the altar rendered invaluable service. I have never seen a man more devoted to Methodism, and his heart ever glows with the love he proclaims. Would God that all of our ministers, itinerant and local, had his zeal and consecration.

We give God the glory for what has been accomplished, and look and pray for much larger results.

How to Find a Lost Pocket Book.

MR. EDITOR: Most of your readers doubtless have heard how Lorenzo Daw found the pocket book of the man at the hotel.

I propose to tell you how the late John Hicks of Alamance county, the notice of whose death will be seen in another column, found his.

He was attending a camp meeting at Bethel church, many years ago, and lost his pocket book, containing about thirty dollars in money and some valuable papers. He knew that it was either stolen or lost somewhere about the camp ground.

He advertised it, but the meeting closed and the encampment was broken up, and his pocket book was not found.

He was now satisfied that either some one had stolen it, or a dishonest person had found it, which was all the same.

He was a man of prayer. He went home and prayed God to so smite the conscience of the possessor that he could not retain it. The next morning on going to his barn, he found the pocket book with all its contents lying in the barn door with a paper on it to direct his attention to it.

Whether like Jacob, he vowed in connection with his prayer, to use its contents for God's glory, is not known; but we know that he was a liberal supporter of the church, and in his will left his annual subscription to continue two years after his decease.

W.

MR. EDITOR: We, the undersigned trustees and patrons of Marion High School, take pleasure in announcing that the spring term has been quite successful, and is now preparing for the closing exercises.

The next term will open early in July.

The Rev. Mr. Trawick and his accomplished lady have admirably sustained their high reputation as teachers and managers of a Female School, also as christian workers. We invite patronage, and as citizens will take pleasure in rendering young ladies comfortable and happy.

This school offers superior advantages for both moral and mental culture. The thoroughness and accuracy of the instruction, as well as the low rates of board and tuition and the healthfulness of the location, are all unsurpassed.

J. G. NEAL,
W. H. WAKEFIELD,
W. H. BOBBITT, SR.,
R. C. BURGIS,
J. H. GULLEY,
W. F. CRAIG,
J. C. MCCURRY,
S. J. NEAL,
WM. DELLINGER,
M. M. TEAGUE,
P. J. SINCLAIR,
W. H. MALONE,
} Trustees.

The Soldier's Dream.

If, in 1861, when patriotic speeches were made, and men volunteered to to die for their country, a soldier had dreamed that 1874 would see him in his grave, and his wife Isabella cooking for a colored family; his daughter Jane blacking boots for negro boys, and his son John bound for seven years as the slave of an ignorant, and cruel negro, such a dream would have been treated as a suggestion from the Devil. And yet this is just what has occurred. It is true that I have stated an extreme case, but the fact that such a case is allowed, and treated with indifference by those who once made fair promises to protect and provide for the families of the soldiers, proves that others may suffer similar hardships. I can give the names of many orphans who are to day oppressed and degraded, hauled down and enslaved by mean men of both colors, while good men disregard all their mute appeals for help and rescue.

Reader, if you doubt these statements, the proof is at hand. If you believe them, I ask your hearty co-operation with the Orphan Asylum at Oxford. You can easily inform yourself and then inform me about the Orphans living in obscure places in your neighborhood, and in the neighborhoods you visit, and help them find the way out of their obscurity. When an opportunity occurs you can state the case plainly and give the people the privilege of making a contribution to help a good work. Be careful not to annoy them, just tell them that there is a place where orphans, poor and promising, over six and under twelve years of age are fed, clothed and taught so that they can grow up into useful citizens. That many have been rescued from extreme degradation and are now making rapid progress in their studies. Then ask them if they approve such a work and how much they approve it. Rev. J. R. Griffith once a school man himself, has endorsed the work with a large contribution taken from a preacher's salary. He visits the Asylum every week and plays with the children. Six denominations are represented among officers of the institution. Now, Reader, be no longer indifferent in regard to this work. Take sides, for or against it. If wrong, pull it down. If right, help it on. "Be not be it be."

J. H. MILAS.

Episcopal Visitations for 1874.

The General Conference adjourned to day at 2 p. m. Next General Conference to be held in Atlanta, Ga., first Wednesday in May, 1878.

The following is the plan of Episcopal Visitations for 1874:

FIRST DISTRICT—BISHOP HOGGETT.

West Virginia Conference, Phillipi, Sept. 16.
Holston Conference, Asheville Oct. 14.
North Alabama Conf., Huntsville, Nov. 4.
North Mississippi Conf., Aberdeen, Nov. 25
Alabama Conf., Opelika, Dec. 9.

SECOND DISTRICT—BISHOP WHEATMAN

Illinois Conf., Murfreesboro, Sept. 9.
Kentucky Conf., Mount Sterling, Sept. 16.
Louisville Conf., Princeton, Sept. 30.
North Georgia Conf., Cartersville, Nov. 25.
Florida Conf., Live Oak, Dec. 16.

THIRD DISTRICT—BISHOP KAVANAUGH.

Arkansas Conf., Fort Smith, Oct. 28.
White River Conf., Searcy, Nov. 11.
Little Rock Conf., Monticello, Dec. 9.

FOURTH DISTRICT BISHOP MARVIN.

Tennessee Conf., Buffalo, Oct. 7.
Virginia Conf., Elizabeth City, Nov. 18.
North Carolina Conf., Raleigh, Dec. 2.
South Carolina, Conf., Greenville, Dec. 16.
Baltimore Conf., Washington City, March 3, 1875.

FIFTH DISTRICT - BISHOP MCTYEIRE.

Indian Mission Conf., North Fork, Oct. 22.
North Texas Conf., Denton, Nov. 4.
N. W. Texas Conf., Weatherford, Nov. 18.
West Texas Conf., Gonzales, Dec. 2.
East Texas Conf., Marshall, Dec. 9.

SIXTH DISTRICT—BISHOP PAINE.

Memphis Conf., Humboldt, Nov. 18.
Mississippi Conf., Hazelhurst, Dec. 16.
Louisiana Conf., Alexandria, Jan. 6, 1875.

SEVENTH DISTRICT—BISHOP KEENER.

Western Conf, Wyandotte, Sept. 9.
Missouri Conf, St. Joseph, Sept. 16.
S. W. Missouri Conf., Lexington, Sept. 30,
St. Louis Conf., Caholonia, Oct. 14.
Texas Conf., Houston Dec. 16.

German Mission Conference organized at same time and place. Bishop Keener has charge of the Mission in Mexico.

EIGHTH DISTRICT—BISHOP PIERCE.

Denver Conf., Denver City, Aug. 27.
Columbia Conf., Salem, Sept. 10.
Pacific Conf., Stockton, Oct. 7.
Los Angeles Conf., Carpentaria, Oct. 28.
South Georgia Conf., Savannah, Dec. 9.

H. N. MCTYEIRE,
Secretary College Bishops.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—On Sunday last Person Street M. E. Sunday School Society elected the following officers for the ensuing term.

President—Rev. Mr. Cole.
Vice-President—V. Ballard.
Secretary—S. M. Parish.
Treasurer—A. L. Woodall.
Superintendent—Robt. T. Gray.
Librarian—Geo. Starr.

HELPING THE MINISTER.—"One thing helped me very much while I was preaching to day," said a clergyman.

"What was that?" inquired a friend.

"It was the attention of a little girl, who kept her eyes fixed on me, and seemed to try to understand every word I said. She was a great help to me."

Think of that, my little ones; and when you go to church or chapel fix your eyes on the minister, and try to understand what he says, for he is speaking to you as well as to the grown up people. He is telling about the Lord Jesus, who loves the little ones.—Missionary Echo.

The commencement exercises of Greensboro Female College take place this week. A large crowd is expected, and the occasion promises to be one of unusual interest.

After Moving Day.

Most of our households are quieted after the great annual upsetting. The last carpet is tacked down. The strings that were scattered along the floor have been rolled up in a ball. We begin to know the turns in the stairway. Things are settling down, and we shall soon feel at home in our new residence. If it is so in other houses then we feel, do not let us be too proud of the door plate, nor worship too ardently the fine cornice, nor lose any idea that superb surroundings are going to make us any happier than we were in the old house.

Set not your affections on luxuries as upholstery, and spacious drawing-rooms. Be grateful, and be humble.

If the house is not as large, nor in as good a neighborhood as the one you formerly occupied, make the best of it. It is astonishing what a good time you may have in a small room. Your present neighbors are just as those you left, if you only knew them. Do not go around your houses sticking up your nose at the small pantry, and the ugly mantel pieces, and the low ceiling. It is a better place than your divine Master occupied, and to say the least you are no better than He. If you are a Christian, going to a king's mansion, and you are now only stopping a little in the porter's lodge at the gate, so down in the dark lanes of the city and see how much poorer off many of your fellow citizens are. If the heart be right, the home will be right.—TALMAGE.

Religious Brevities.

—The German Jesuits are taking refuge in Turkey in large numbers.

—The Christian Chinese in San Francisco recently began to hold a prayer-meeting of their own, which is well sustained, as many as eighty having sometimes been present.

—A Hindu lady of high caste in Madras, of great strength of character, has so far broken through the trammels of native prejudice that she has accompanied her husband to London, where she mingles freely in society, conforming to its social customs.

—Hon. Wm. E. Dodge, whose character the United States Revenue officers by their spies and informers made such a vigorous attempt to destroy not long since, has been re-elected President of the New York Chamber of Commerce.

—Two young ladies have applied for admission to the School of Theology, Boston University. Both are Congregationalists.

—The Southern Baptist Convention is in session at Galveston, Texas. About three hundred delegates are in attendance and Rev. James P. Boyce, D. D., of Louisville, is presiding.

—What has been known as the "Old School" Presbyterian Synod of Missouri, which has not belonged to either of the large bodies since the rupture caused by the war, has voted to join the Presbyterian Church "South."

—A remarkable revival of religion is taking place in Russia. This great interest seems to have been awakened by the labors of an English nobleman who is laboring in St. Petersburg with the same earnestness that characterizes the labors of Messrs. Moody and Sankey in Scotland.

—The Philadelphia M. E. Conference at its late session, adopted a resolution requesting the use of unfermented wine for sacramental purposes, and directing the reading of the resolution in all the Churches within the Conference.

—There have been 300 accessions to the several Baptist churches of Pittsburg the last winter, making the present total number of Baptists in the city 2,200.

—The prudential committee of the American Board for Foreign Missions has issued a pressing appeal for assistance, from which it appears that it has a debt of $40,000 for the old work and $25,000 for the new work.

—There are now 50,000 Sunday school scholars and 4,000 teachers in Germany. Ten years ago there were none. This is partly the result of the labors of the Foreign Sunday School Association in European countries.

—The First Reformed Episcopal church, Rev. Walter Windeyer, rector, was recently organized at the Falls of Schuylkill, Pennsylvania, by those members of the Church of St. James the Less who seceded on account of the introduction of ritual practices.

—The Society for the Increase of the Ministry (Protestant Episcopal) grant aid to 117 scholars, at various schools in the United States. An appeal is made for an increase of funds for other applicants waiting such aid to pursue their studies for the ministry.

—During the past year the New York Methodist Church Extension and Missionary Society has met with great success in its work. It established 16 new stations, 23 Sunday schools, with an attendance of over 1,000 pupils, and appointed 24 pastors and assistants. The year's expenditures of the society were over $85,000. It is the hearty support given to such agencies as this one that gives to Methodism its "pushing" reputation.

—The Swiss Government has handed over the time-honored sanctuary of Notre Dame de Vorbourg to the Old Catholics. This shrine was one of the most frequented in the Republic.

—The series of union revival meetings still in progress in Galveston, Texas, have resulted thus far in over 220 accessions to the Churches.

—A papal authority informed Dr. A. P. Newman that the former's church has in China "forty bishops, nearly 1,000 priests, 40 sisters of charity twelve hundred thousands of orphans in their charge, 150 colleges, with learned professors and many students, and 500,000 communicants." Even after proper discount, the remainder is startling, and should be stimulating to China.

—The Reformed Episcopal Convention which has been in session in New York for some time adjourned on the 18th, after revising, adapting, and ordering the publication of a Prayer Book for the new church. The Convention eliminated every objectionable feature from the old book, and take the field in opposition to the heresy of baptismal regeneration.

—A Jesuit college is to be established in Macon, Ga. The Common Council gave the site, (one of great value.) The corner stone of the new edifice was laid May 10.

—The fifty seventh annual session of the Baltimore Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church was unfolded at the African M. E. Church in Baltimore, on the 20th ult. Favorable reports of the financial condition of the conference were made.

—The city of Toronto, with a population of 70,000, has sixty four Sunday schools, comprising 1,025 teachers, and 11,200 scholars.

—It is rumored that the immediate of Archbishop Manning, forbidding employment of female singers in the choirs of the Roman Catholic chapels of his dioceses, is about to be withdrawn.

—A meeting was held week before last in Philadelphia, to consider the expediency of forming a Reformed Episcopal Church. After conference, and a full expression of the views of those present, articles of agreement were signed by about forty persons.

Personal

The Pope has intimated that Archbishop Manning and nine other archbishops will be created cardinals at the next consistory.

The Rev. James Anderson, author of "Ladies of the Covenant," "Women of the Puritan Times," etc., has just been presented by a few friends with a purse containing two hundred sovereigns.

The Archbishop of Quebec has sent the sum of 21,000 francs to the Pope.

David Sinton, one of the retired business men of Cincinnati, on Saturday last donated $100,000 to the Cincinnati Bethel.

Bishop Dupanloup is visiting Rome with the intention, it is said, of completing with the Pope the arrangements for the canonization of Jeanne d'Arc.

Presbytery of Chesapeake met in Baltimore to-day to try the case of Rev. H. E. C. Baskerville, of Laurel, charged with whipping his wife. The specification is that one Sunday morning a short time since, the Rev. gentleman, who is the provider for his household, having forgotten to procure anything for breakfast except bread and butter, was surprised to find some eggs on the table, and being informed by his wife, in response to an inquiry, that she had borrowed them from a neighbor, told her he would "teach her how to break the Sabbath," and did so by slapping her jaws, one of his slaps striking her on her eye and "blacking" that orb into which he had so often fondly gazed.—Alexandria Gazette.

Literature.

EDWARD KAPPERE, the poet, died at Leipsic, April 13th.

MR. JAMES PARTON is preparing a history of caricature.

A BOOK of songs for children will soon be published by Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge.

WILL some one please explain why Edgar Fawcett has selected the title "Asses' Ears," for the volume of his poems shortly to be published?

A RECORD of the principal events in the life of the poet, Burns, will soon be published in Scotland, with the exceedingly uncouth title, "Burns's Calendar, and Handy Register of Burnsiana."

THE London Record says that Mr. Stephen Mitchell, who was killed by an unfortunate accident at Moffat recently, has left a will, in which he bequeaths $70,000, for the formation of a free library at Glasgow.

THE Saturday Review is becoming disgusted with the open handed liberality of novelists, and asks: "Are we never to see a hero who is allowed, at the end of a novel, to make his living in an honest profession, instead of being provided with a real estate?"

THE London Echo says: "The word 'Fashion' is derived from the French façonner, to 'shape' a thing—a very significant fact, seeing that the great aim of Fashion in all ages has been to mould and remodel the 'human form divine,' according to the supreme judgment, not of sculptors or painters, but of tailors and milliners."

MR. GEORGE W. CHILDS, of Philadelphia, has purchased Dickens's MS. of "Our Mutual Friend." The "copy" is written with blue ink on blue paper, the sheet (about nine inches by eight) being pasted on heavy white paper and bound in two thick quarto volumes. The writing is small, cramped but rapid; there is abundant erasure and interlineation, so that it is decipherable only with great difficulty. Preparing each volume is the original sketch for the book and chapters, in which is revealed the author's method of preparing his plots. Lists of the characters so far introduced, in the groups in which they exist in his mind, notes to aid this one here to get ready to introduce that one there, happy thoughts in dialogue or character jotted down as they came to him, suggestive of this or that, with "Yes," underscored against some, and "No" against others, memos. to "work this up with special care," and the like, give clue to the whole mental process of the evolution of the story in his brain.

SCIENCE.

Dr. Hans Prutz and Professor Sepp have left Munich, under commission from the imperial government, for Tyre, in order to conduct excavations there.

The London Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge has begun to issue a series of "Manuals of Elementary Science." Nature sarcastically observes that this is one of the signs of the times.

The alleged discoveries of Dr Schliemann, the Troy excavator, appear to be the subject of controversy between him and Professor Rhusopoulos of Athens. The Cologne Gazette notices that according to a weekly journal, published at Athens, Ate[illegible], the latter declares that Dr Schliemann's discoveries are nothing but fancies. Dr. Schliemann vindicates his discoveries, but declares himself to be so disgusted with his treatment by the Greeks, that he will leave Athens, never to return.

Upon the average, boys at birth weigh a little more, and girls a little less, than six pounds and a half. For the first 12 years the two sexes continue nearly equal in weight, but beyond that time males acquire a decided preponderance. Thus, young men of 20 average about 143lbs each, while the young women of 20 average 120lb. Men reach their heaviest bulk at about 35, when they average about 152lb; but women slowly increase in weight until 50, when their average is about 128lb. Taking men and women together, their weight at full growth averages about 20 times as heavy as they were on the first day of their existence. Men range from 108lb. to 220lb., and women from 88lb to 206lb. The actual weight of human beings taking the average of age and condition—nobles, clergy, tinkers, tailors, maidens, boys, girls, and babies, all included—is very nearly 100lb.

THE Commencement Exercises of the Wesleyan Female Institute, will occur as follows:

Sunday, June 14th, 11 a. m., Commencement Sermon, by Rev. Samuel Register, D. D., of Baltimore.

Sunday, June 14th, 8 p. m. Annual Sermon before the Young Ladies' Christian Association, by Rev. John Poisal, D. D., of Baltimore.

Monday, June 15th, 8 p. m., Final Exercises of the Young Ladies' Christian Association.

Tuesday, June 16th, 8 p. m.: Final Celebration of the Lee and Jackson Literary Society. Annual Address by Rev. John E. Edwards, D. D., of Richmond, Va.

Wednesday, June 17th, 8 p. m., Annual Soiree—Instrumental and Vocal Music.

Thursday, June 18th, 8 p. m., Commencement Day.

ORDER OF EXERCISES.

Salutatory Essay, by Miss Fannie Cochran, of Georgia.

Class Essay, by Miss Eunice Parker, of Ga.

Announcement of Distinguished Students and Graduates.

Conferring Distinctions, Medals, Diplomas in Schools, and Full Diplomas on Full Graduates.

Valedictory Essay, by Miss Ellie Jamesson, of Maryland.

Death of the Rev Fountain E. Pitts.

We are shocked to learn that the Rev. F. E. Pitts, a delegate from the Tennessee Conference, died on Friday May 12, 7:25 P. M. He had been lying sick for several days at the house of his relative, Mr. E. D. Hobbs, at Anchorage, twelve miles from Louisville. He died of pneumonia. We have not time nor space to enter into the particulars of the sad event. We can only say that Dr. McFerrin, who is sitting beside us, was with him in his dying moments, and closed his eyes. He passed away in holy triumph. His remains are to be brought to Louisville this day, and a funeral service will be held at Walnut street Church, at 3 P. M., after which the remains of our deceased friend will be conveyed to Nashville for interment. In our next issue we may enter more into particulars. How suddenly was our brother removed from us! He preached twice last Sunday. Some of us may preach our last sermons to-morrow.

Who next shall be summoned away?
My merciful Lord, is it I?

—Daily Christian Advocate.

THE Archbishop of Canterbury has come to the rescue of his Episcopal brethren in attempting to stay the anarchy which now prevails in the Church. He has introduced a bill, which is virtually to empower the bishop to take action against incumbents in cases where they now fall back on their rights as the holders of a benefice to defy the law. We wish the Archbishop success in his attempt to compel respect for the law, but we fear the remedy is too late in its application; besides, it is partial and ineffective.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

The travelling preachers in the bounds of the ... Conference are our authorized Agents. ... send us ten subscribers, for one year, will ... paper free. Those who send us five will ... paper for $1.00. Those who send us none ... full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

... ications for publication should be carefully ... on one side of the sheet. All letters ... should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

... money, all amounts should be sent in ... Post Office order or check. The cost ... Post Office order can be deducted ... amount. If money is sent otherwise ... will be at the sender's risk.

State News.

We call attention to the advertisement ... Cary Cotton Gin, for sale by W. M. ... Cary N. C. This is said to be ... and farmers would do well to ex... its superior qualities before buy... elsewhere.

... Horne. The above Hotel, ... of Wilmington and Davie streets, ... rented by Maj. J. M. Blair, and ... for the reception of guests on ... day last. He is now caterer to the ... and we feel assured that the hotel ... will be kept in first class style, and that ... will receive the patronage he so eminently deserves.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENTS.—The Piedmont Air-Line Railway Company have published a schedule of ... rates for persons who desire ... this summer, the resorts in ... of this State. The rates ... exceedingly low and evidence a com... liberality on the part of the ... company. A schedule of the rates will ... next week. Those wishing in... in regard to rates, &c., will ... E. Allen, Esq., the very polite ... General Ticket Agent, ... N. C.

The pupils of the Lunsburg Female Seminary will give a musical Soiree, with ... and compositions in the Col... Hall on Wednesday night 3rd June. ... Wednesday after which the young ladies ... Music Academy will declaim.

The Medical Convention at Charlotte ... N. C. elected Dr. J. W. Jones of Tar... President. The next meeting will ... held at Wilson.

TRINITY COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT.—The commencement exercises of Trinity ... will occur on June 11th and 12th. ... addresses of the North Carolina ... Society will be kindly rendered the ... and all visitors attending the occa... cordially.

... Fares.—The N. C. Railroad will ... transport persons who desire to attend ... Commencement ... one fare.

Gen. R. B. Vance has been renominated ... Congress in the 5th District by ... Democrats.

Many order offices have been ex... established at the following places: Bean ... Magnolia, Wadesboro, Lumberton, ... Elizabethtown and Marion.

Maj. H. D. Lee, of Shelby, has an... himself a candidate for Solicitor ... the 9th Judicial District.

Captain W. T. R. Bell, of Carteret, ... chosen nominated by the Democratic ... Conservatives of Jones, Onslow and Car... teret, for the Senate from that District.

—The Clerk of the market in Charlotte gets $40 per month.

Rev J Rumple and lady, while on ... their way recently to Davidson College, ... were thrown from a carriage and consid... erably bruised.

A colored man was drowned on Friday, ... the 22nd inst., by falling over the side of ... a boat in the Cape Fear River, near Wil... mington.

Mr. Joseph Adams, of Tarboro, was ... found dead in his bed last Thursday ... morning. He was 77 years of age, ... and went to bed as well as usual. The ... immediate cause of his death is not known ... So says the Enquirer.

Mr. Sluder, of Asheville, has a silver ... coin the size of our dollar, made in the ... year 960.

There are over five hundred cases ... on the Federal Court Docket at Ash... ville.

STOCK.—During the storm on the ... night of Sunday, the 24th inst., the light... ning struck a chimney of the new Asylum ... for the Colored Deaf and Dumb and the ... Blind, tearing it to pieces. No one was ... injured.

—At the meeting of the Medical Soci... ty in Charlotte, Dr. J. M. Jones, of Tar... boro, was elected President, Dr. James ... McKee, of Raleigh, Secretary, and Dr. ... Johnson, of Salem, Treasurer.

—W. H. Cowles, of Yadkin, has been ... nominated for Solicitor in the 10th Judi... cial District.

The Mountain Messenger says that ... W. H. Perkins, of that (Ashe) county, ... caught with a fly hook, in Ohio Creek, ... 188 trout that averaged nine inches in ... length, at one sitting.

The Concord Sun says: Great complaint is made by the farmers of this section on account of the backward condition of crops. Cotton and corn look badly—of the former, the poorest stands for years, and if the cold nights continue much lon... ger, it will take the "sore shin," and die.

—Rev. Robert D. Barton, of Halifax, formerly Presiding Elder, preached at Front Street M. E. Church last Sunday ... morning and evening. Both sermons ... were of great excellence and a gentleman ... who was present at night ranks his effort ... there as one of the most eloquent and ... impressive discourses that he has ever ... heard.—Wil. Journal.

—Maj. W. A. Smith voted with the ... Democrats on the civil rights bill.

—The town of Shelby complains of a ... young man who attends church and puts ... the congregation out of sorts by his sing... ing

—The Charlotte Democrat says: The wheat crop throughout that section is very fine and promising.

—Col. R. F. Hoke has announced himself an independent candidate for Judge in the 9th district.

—Let there be no more taxes levied for school purposes, and let there be no more talk about imposing taxes to revive Chapel Hill College. Stop all school taxes and let us sustain white schools by contributions. The civil rights bill was passed for the purpose of degrading the white people of the South, and especially the poor white man; and now let the white people organize a white mans' party and accept the issue forced by the negroes and their mean, deceitful political friends. —Charlotte Democrat.

— Bartholomew Fuller, of Cumberland, has been nominated for Judge, and Samuel Pemberton, of Union, for Solicitor, by the Conservatives of the 5th district.

— The Statesville Intelligencer has gone to Salisbury, the Piedmont Press will go to Statesville, the Newton Vindicator will go to Hickory, now what paper will go to Newton?

— The Star has been shown a painting on canvass of a scene on the Mediterranean executed by Jos. C. Hill, colored, Register of Deeds for New Hanover county, and adds, it certainly evidences skill of no little ability.

— The Elizabeth City Carolinian is responsible for the statement, that in Pasquotank a horse was at the point of death with blind staggers, when he vomited up a snake and soon recovered.

Three shares of stock in the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad sold at auction in Newbern, on Friday last, for two dollars per share, Mr. I. W. West being the purchaser.

— Death of an Old North Carolinian in Missouri.—We learn from the California (Missouri) Democrat that Mr. John Porter has recently died in that county, the oldest man in the State. Mr. Porter died at the residence of his son in that county, on Friday, May 8, at the advanced age of 102 years, 3 months and 24 days. He was born in Rockingham county, N. C., January 15, 1772. In 1801 he moved to Tennessee and from there to Missouri in 1817. He was remarkably hale and hearty for one so advanced in years, and was able to walk about the room up to within one hour of his death. He had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church for more than eighty years.—Crescent.

— The Raleigh Republican says: The workmen engaged in opening a way for the projected railroad between Weldon and Harrysburg, N. C., struck about a mile from the former place, in a bank beside the river, a catecomb of skeletons, supposed to be those of Indians of a remote age, a lost and forgotten race. The bodies exhumed were of a strange and remarkable formation. The skulls were nearly an inch in thickness; the teeth were filed sharp as those of cannibals, the enamel perfectly preserved; the bones were of wonderful length and strength, the former being probably as great as eight or nine feet. Near their heads were sharp stone arrows, some mortars in which their corn was brayed, and the bowls of pipes, apparently of soapstone. The teeth of the skeletons are said to be as large as those of a horse. The bodies were found closely packed together, laid tier on tier, as it seemed. There was no discernible ingress or egress to the mound. The mystery is who these giants were, to what race they belonged, to what era, and how they came to be buried there.

The Vestry of Christ Church Episcopal of this city called to the Rectorship of the above church, made vacant by the decease of H. S. Mason, D. D., the Rev. M. M. Marshall, of Warrenton, N. C.

The Grand Master of Masons of North Carolina has granted a dispensation for the establishment of a lodge at Hickory, Catawba county, with the Rev. J. G. Hartsell as Master. The lodge to be known and style I as Hickory Lodge.

General News.

LOUISVILLE, May 22.—The Methodist Episcopal Conference sustains the Baltimore Conference in expelling Huston. The Committee on Organization of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church of America made a report which was adopted declaring that the organization of the colored church into a distinct ecclesiastical convention, meets the hearty approval of this conference, and that their efforts to establish institutions of learning for the education of colored ministers deserve to be commended to the friends of the colored people everywhere.

LONDON, May 22.—The Telegraph's special dispatch from Paris, asserts that Prince Metternich, and not the Duke of Montebello, was slightly wounded in the duel between those two persons.

Special dispatches from Paris, in relation to the Ministerial crisis, are confused and contradictory.

A Times' dispatch says that the Cabinet intends to give the Assembly the option of the acceptance of its programme.

LONDON, May 22.—The names of the American students who were drowned in Lake Geneva, near Lucerne, are now given as Wm. Woodbury, John Crane and James Crane.

BAYONNE, May 22.—Engagements are made daily to gain the heights around Bilboa. The Carlists have gained some successes.

A bill has been introduced into the House of Representatives to refund the cotton tax.

Reports from the wheat crop for portions of Wisconsin are unfavorable.

Both houses of Congress have adopted a resolution to adjourn on the 22nd of June.

There is to be a great tobacco fair at Danville on the 8th of July.

Nellie Grant was married on the 21st, and is gone to England, her future home.

Gen. Beauregard attended the Texas state fair at Houston last week, and reviewed the volunteer companies. He has a brother living near San Antonio.

The flood in Louisiana covered nearly 3,000,000 of acres, and the loss occasioned by destruction of cattle, crops &c., is estimated at about $8,000,000.

The latest telegrams from Little Rock represent matters between the belligerents as not improved. Brooks is defiant, refusing to surrender to Baxter's forces. Brooks is still recognized as Governor by all the Executive State officers except the Secretary of State.

Wm. W. Eaton, Democrat, has been elected United States Senator from Connecticut.

Alexander H. Stephens is publishing in the Augusta Daily Constitutionalist a series of long letters, discussing Mr. Hill's recent political discourse, and vindicating himself against the charge of bad faith to the administration of Mr. Davis.

The official statement shows that the number of postal cards furnished to the post offices of this country from May 12, 1873, to May 11 1874, is 113,662,000.

The Athens (Ga) Watchman, from extensive personal observation, and other intelligence, does not hesitate to declare that the wheat crop of Northeast Georgia will be one of the best, both in quantity and quality, that the land has ever grown. Oats look equally as well, and the area sown is unusually large.

An attempt was made last week to arrest Governor Moses of South Carolina, on the charge of larceny. He refused to submit to an arrest but afterward gave bail to answer the charges against him.

Prof. Loomis, of Yale College, has been making comparisons between the April which has just left us and its predecessors of ninety six years, and he finds that it had a mean temperature of six degrees below the average of any of them.

Contributions to the Orphan Asylum for April, 1874.

IN CASH.

Paid $277 90, part of collection by James Southgate in Wilmington, N. C.
Paid 103 50, Dinner in Clinton.
" 85 66, Col B F Little.
" 43, Wayne Lodge, No 112.
" 37 each, Ladies of Yanceyville and Tableau at South River.
" 31, St. Alban's Lodge, No 111
" 30, St John's Lodge, No 1.
" 27 55, Mt Energy Lodge, No 110.
" 26 each, Faukland Lodge, No 197, Hiram Lodge, No 19, Dublin Lodge, No 265 W K Cox, and Mr Cash.
" 20, Rev J R Griffith.
" 19 70, Clinton Grange No 83.
" 15 each, Clinton Chapter, No 40, and Palmyra Lodge, No 147.
" 13 75, Rockford Lodge, No 202
" 13 15, W G Hill Lodge, No 217
" 12 85, Columbus Lodge, No 102
" 12 each, G W Williams and Corinthian Lodge, No 230
" 11 55 Concert at Smithfield.
" 10 each, B F Mitchell, W H McKoy, John W Hinson, J H Chadbourn & Co., C P Mebane, G W Kidder, Pailboro Lodge No 172, Scuppernong Lodge, O O O F No 64, B Harrell, Methodist Sunday School at Yanceyville.
Paid $9 25, Excelsior Lodge, No 261
" 6 50, Warren Lodge, No 101
" 6 35, Mattamuskeet Lodge, No 3 8
" 6 00 each, R G Barker and St Johns Lodge, No 96.
" 5 50, E F Powell.
" 5 70, New Lebanon Lodge, No 3 7 1
" 5 15, Clinton Hat Bodies
" 5 00 each Tuscarora Lodge, No 122, E Rankin, H Mebane Capt Good, Simon Wooten Richard Adams, A H Neff, Lilly and Brother W H Holt, A Sprunt, H Brimhold & Bro H S Bizzell, James Wilson T H Smith Elon College, H C Eccles, Collection by Mr Partridge, J A Farren me, T H Pritchard, Col A A McKay, Mrs Martha Moseley, Mt Lebanon Lodge, No 60, Hillsborough Lodge, No 373 S mmel Rowland, Carraway Encampment, Prof L Paid $4 10 Lebanon Lodge, No 262.
" $4 00 Radiance Lodge, No 132
" 3 35, Berea Lodge, No 201.
" 3 00, J G Wright.
" 2 50, McCormick Lodge, No 2 8.
" 2 30, Elmwood Lodge, No 276.
" 2 00 each, W M Munson, S M Pierson, H R Carroll.
" 1 25 each, J L, W B J E, F H A T A Smoot, and Cary Lodge, No 218
" 1 00 each, J S Holmes, Dr A D Russell, K O Tonnet, M J Dingbelle of L E Huggins, Cash, H W Yates J H Williams, Cash, J J Young, A friend, J E Keen, I M Morgan, J B Boswell, J S Allen, Mrs Jane Brown, J S Hopkins, Rev T H Johnson, Andrew Grimsley, Alfred Grimsley, J T Pridgen, D B Taylor, A J Hunt, M E Dail, Charles Patterson Paid 50 cts each, Kader Vann and A H Hicks.

Marriages.

Married, at Concord N. C. May 28th 1874, by Rev. D. R. Bruton, E. A. Misenheimer to Miss. R. Victoria Rogers.

On Wednesday evening May 27th, by Rev J. B. Bobbitt, Mr. R. R. Jolly and Miss Susan B. Overby, all of this city.

In Eufaula, Ala., May 17th, by the Rev W. H. Reeves, Mr. M. E. Carraway of the N. C. Conference, to Miss Mollie, daughter of Mr. A. J. Carver.

Married, in Tarboro April 26th by the Rev. C. C. Dodson R. H. Crockett, and Miss Katie Houseman, all of Tarboro N. C.

On Tuesday May the 12th at the house of Geo. W. Smithson by Rev. C. C. Dodson Miles H. Smithson and Miss Laura Knight both of Edgecombe N. C.

On Thursday the 28th inst. at the residence of the bride's father by Rev. C. C. Dodson L. C. Terrill and Miss Nannie Vines both of Edgecombe N. C.

Deaths.

Obituary notices of twenty lines are inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines of eight words is charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line. Count the lines and allow eight words to the line. In this way you may always know the amount to enclose. Resolutions of respect are subject to the same rule.

At the second Quarterly Conference of Alamance circuit for 1874, the undersigned were appointed a committee to draft resolutions of respect to our beloved brother John Hicks, who departed this life on the 3rd of February 1874, in the eighteenth year of his age.

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God in his wise providence to call from us our aged and beloved brother John Hicks.

Resolved, 1st, That we bow with resignation to Him, that doeth all things well.

Resolved 2nd, That we cherish the memory of one whose exemplary life and earnest labors have done so much for the cause of Christ. That he was for many years a classleader of the old type, well versed in the doctrines and usages of his church, led been a diligent reader of one of the Advocates from the very beginning of their as ful career.

Resolved 3rd, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our minutes and also a copy be furnished to the Raleigh Advocate for publication.

G. D Coun,
R. S. Webb,
John Tyrrell. } Com.

Letters and Funds.

W K Gibbs paper sent regularly, Miss P J Wright. Rev W M Roby. Mrs S P Cone Rev M L Wood. Mrs Delvale Beardon $1 25 for self. W E Best self. W P Burnie 2 self. Mrs M M Middleton 2. J S Northam 2 self. Wm Sutton 2 for J M Sikes. Rev. J. Tillet 2 for Mrs G A Graves John Lee. P A Koonce 1 self. Rev H T Hudson. W W Brower self 2. J H Marsh. S W Ashley your paper not ordered. Rev W A Harris W T Noell self 2. W S Moore. D W Kerr Rev S D Peeler for Thomas Mann 2. W F Midyette 2. H Jones 2. Mrs Annie Roberts 2. Joseph Mann 2. Dr J A Mann 2. J H Gilkey. J L Hartsell sell 2.50. J H Zeilin & Co., for adv 10. Rev Ed Howland paper sent and post office changed, Rev C W Ring lor J W Faucett 2. J C Thomas 2. J S Mills 2. Rev F H Wood for Dr A D Moore 2. John Pike. Rev W H Hall for J G Carraway 2. Miss E Gillikin 1. Dr S P Wade 2 W M Crenshaw. Rev D R Bruton, weekly and attend your District Conference. Rev S Lee paper sent. W C McCune Rev Jas Wilson for R Parish 2. Dr W C Dosne 2. Mrs A L Swanson 2. paper sent to J P W. Mr. Caroline Pepper sell 2. Jas W Craig sell 2. Rev C C Dobson. Robert Strickland sell 75. Mary J Howell.

Appointments

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

3rd ROUND—IN PART

Statesville ct. at Bethlehem,	June 20-21
Mt Zion ct. at Mt. Zion,	" 27-28
Yadkinville ct. at Elkin	July 4-5
Statesville st. Dist. Conference,	" 11-12
Mt. Airy st. at Salem,	" 25-26
Surry ct and S. Mis. at Newhope,	" 18-19
Mocksville ct, at Smith Grove, (C. M)	Aug 1-2
Salisbury st	" 8-9

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Ohn, N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.

Marriage claimed June 13-14
Hope ... Saw River at Ebenezer " 20-21
... at Providence, " 27-28
... at New Sharon, July 4-5
... at Glover Garden, " 11-12
High Rock Mission, " 18-19
Yanceyville c. " 25-26
Deep River, August 8-9
Hillsboro " 15-16
Leasburg at Leasburg " 22-23
The District Conference will be held at Leasburg commencing August 27. Rev. W. H. Moore will preach the introductory sermon. Brethren from abroad are invited to attend.

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Mt. Tirzah, N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

2ND ROUND.

Clinton at Johnson Chapel.	May 2-3
Kenansville at Hallsville,	" 9-10
Smithville at Bethel.	" 16-17
Topsail.	" 23-24
Elizabeth.	" 30-31
Rhoden.	June 6-7
Duplin,	" 13-14
Onslow,	" 20-21

W. S. BLACK, P. E.
Magnolia, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

2D ROUND.

Lincolnton, McKendree,	May 2-3
Rock Spring, Hill's Chapel	" 9-10
Bethel, Sandy's Chapel	" 16-17
Happy Home C. School House	" 23-24
Morganton, Gilboa,	" 30-31
Double Shoals and South Mt. Mission,	" 30-31
Cherry Mt.
Marion and Upper E. River, Cupercreek	June 6-7
Mission,	" 13-14
Newton Concord,	" 20-21
Lenoir, Lenoir,
Rocky Knob and C. Creek,	" 27-28

Rev. J. J. Gates will please attend and appoint a Presiding Elder on the Lincolnton and Rock Spring circuit. Rev S R Trawick, Bethel and Hill's Chapel. Rev S Lee Lenoir, Lenoir. Rev H P Hudson, Double Shoals. Rev J Reagan, Happy Home. Dist. Stew. Rev P J Reagan, Happy Home. Dist. Stew. Rev P J Reagan, Happy Home. Dr. Pepper will pay the incidental bill of the District Conference. Rev S Lee will preach the next round on week days and bless his own in the salvation of the people.

L. S. HOLTHOUSE, P. E.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

2ND ROUND.

Pigeon river at Jonesville,	May 2-3
Edenton at Edenton,	" 9-10
Bath at Bethany.	" 16-17
Mattamuskeet at Amity.	" 23-24
Engelville and Washington at	" 30-31
Tarboro at Tarboro Camp Hall,	June 6-7

The District Conference will be held at Tarboro commencing Thursday, June 4th, 11 o'clock a. m. Rev. W. H. Hall will preach the introductory sermon. Rev. W. H. Hall will preach the introductory sermon. Rev. W. H. Hall will preach the introductory sermon

Youth's Department.

We Lay Us Down to Sleep.

We lay us down to sleep,
And leave to God the rest;
Whether to walk and weep
Or wake no more be best.

Why vex our souls with care?
The grave is cool and low;
Have we found life so fair
That we should dread to go?

We've kissed love's sweet red lips,
And felt them sweet and red.
The tree the wild bee sips
Blooms on when he is dead.

Some tat bful friends we've found.
But those we love us best,
When we are under ground,
Will laugh on with the rest.

No task have we begun
But other hands can take;
No work beneath the sun
For which we need to wake.

Then hold us 5ot sweet De th.
Hor it seemeth best
To Him who gave us breath
That we should go to rest

We lay us down to sleep.
Our weary eyes we close;
Whether to wake and weep.
Or wake no more, He knows.

Hearing the Sermon.

She was only between four and five years of age, yet she used to go to church. But she listened to her minister. She knew that he would tell her good things, and she wanted to learn. On coming home from churchone Sunday, she said to her mother:

"Mother, I can tell you a little of Mr. H.'s sermon. He said, 'touch not the unclean thing.'"

The mother wished to know whether her dear little daughter understood the meaning of these words. So she replied:

"Then, my dear child, if Mr. H said so, I hope that you will take care in the future not to touch things that are dirty

"Oh, mother, I know very well what he meant:"

"What did he mean?" said the moth er.

"He meant sin," said the child;and it is all the same as if Mr. H. had said, 'you must not tell lies, nor do what your mother forbids you to do, nor play on Sunday, nor be cross, nor do things that are bad or wrong.' The Bible means that a sinful thing is an nnclean thing."

Proverbs.

Amos Atkins was very fond of proverbs. He read proverbs, wrote proverbs, and spoke proverbs; and, meet him where you would, he had always a proverb on his lips. When he once began to speak, there was hardly any stopping him.

When I first met Amos, I was on my way to my uncle's. A long walk it was; but I told him I hoped to be their before night.

"Ay, ay," he said. "Here is a good breakfast, but a bad supper. Put your best foot foremost, boy, or else you will not be there. It is a good thing to hope; but he who does nothing but hope is in a very helpless way.

"Have a care of your temper; for a passionate boy rides a pony that runs away with him. Passion has done more mischief in the world than all the poisonous plants that grow in it. Therefore, again I say, have a care of your temper.

"Remember that the first spark burns down the house. Quench the first spark of passion, and all will be well. No good comes of wrath: it puts no money in the pocket and no joy in the heart. Anger begins with folly and ends with repentance.

"Look at your feet and your fingers, boy, and let both be kept in activity; for he who does nothing, is in a fair way to do mischief. An idle lad makes a needy man, and, I may add, a miserable one, too.

"If you put a hot coal in your pocket it will burn its way out. Ay, and so will a bad deed that is hidden make itself known. A fault concealed is a fault doubled, and so you will find it all through life. Never hide your faults, but confess them, and seek, through God's help, to overcome them.

"Waste not a moment of your time; for a moment of time is a moment of mercy.

"Now step forward, boy; and as you walk along, think of the half dozen proverbs given you by Amos Atkins."—Child's Paper.

Teach Children How to Earn and Use Money.

If you are troubled with a pertinacions begging for a penny, and are still more perplexed by the request for permission to spend it at the candy store, so unfortunately convenient to your door, try giving the little coaxer some other plan for disposing of the money that he loves to handle. First contrive some way for the penny to be fairly earned, and then provide a safe place for depositing it, and give the little financier some pleasant plan for its use. One little blue eyed darling, not yet four years old, has a store of pennies which are his "college money," and his eyes sparkle with pleasure as it increases, and he talks about the grand place where his big brother is going soon, and where he means to go sometime. Very early, too, these favored children can learn the blessedness of giving of their own to the children of want, and can share in the Christmas festivities with a heartiness which only the giver enjoys.—Exchange.

Rural and Domestic.

Preserving Barn-Yard Manure

A striking illustration of the value of manure made in the barn yard, by preserving it from the influence of the weather, is presented in the experiment lately made by Lord Kinnaird, a Scotch land owner and farmer. Four acres of good soil were measured, two of them were manured with ordinary barn yard manure and two with an equal quantity of manure from the covered sheds. The whole was planted with potatoes. The products of each acre were as follows:

Potatoes treated with barnyard manure.

One acre produced, 272 bushels
One acre produced, 208 bushels

Potatoes manured from the covered sheds.

One acre produced, 143 bushels
One acre produced, 171 bushels

The next year the land was sown with wheat, when the crop was as follows:

Wheat on land treated with barnyard manure.

One acre produced 41 bushels 19 pounds (of 61 pounds per bushel.)
One acre produced 42 bushels 38 pounds (of 61 pounds per bushel.)

Wheat on land manured from the covered sheds.

One acre produced, 55 bushels 5 pounds (of 61 pounds per bushels.)
One acre produced 53 bushels 47 pounds (of 61 pounds per bushel.)

The straw also yielded one-third more upon the land fertilized with the manure from the covered stalls, than upon that to which the ordinary manure was applied.

In view of these facts, we hope that our farmers will give this subject their full attention for their own benefit, and in making shelter or stalls for stock, it might be done with a view to the increase of manure under the cattle, as it is not removed before it is intended for use, if it is likely to remain there for months.—American Farmer.

To Kill Worms in Corn.

EDS RURAL HOME:—I have a piece of land the soil of which is a light sandy loam, the soil being rather poor. I intend giving it a good coat of manure before plowing, after which I shall plant it in corn. As the worms have destroyed one third of the corn crop for the last two years, I shall try a thank movement on them this year. I propose to take equal parts of lime and leached ashes, and hen manure, putting a small handful on each hill as soon as I finish planting. Or, would it be better to wait till the corn is up before putting it on. I would like to hear from some of your readers on the subject. D. W. C. SMELTES.

REMARKS.—We would not mix the hen manure with ashes and lime as they will drive off and waste the ammonia of the manure. If a small proportion of salt could bo substituted for the hen manure so as to give a small teaspoonful to the hill, it might fix the worms. We would apply it immediately after planting.

USE OF CAMPHOR.—When the mucous membrane of the nose, frontal sinnes, etc., are affected by catarrh, a strong solution of camphor frequently and for some hours snuffed up the nose, and five or six drops taken internally on a lump of sugar, at first for every ten minutes, then every hour, will usually put a stop to the affection. Ordinary cold and even influenza, if treated in this manner at the very beginning of the attack, are generally controlled by the same treatment. Attacks of incessant sneezing and profuse running of the eyes and nose will generally yield to a strong solution of camphor diligently snuffed up the nose. In summer diarrhœa no remedy is so efficacious as camphor, if employed at the very commencement of the disease; later it is without effect. Its influence over cholera is equally remarkable. Dose: six drops of a strong alcoholic solution of camphor, given at first every ten minutes; afterwards, as the symptoms abate less frequently.

SCRATCHES.—Col. Colman: I drop for your readers the following crumbs of horse-flesh knowledge: Our horses having taken the scratches, we tried various recipes for cures but without success till at last a friend remarked that nothing is better than salt and vinegar. So we mixed salt and vinegar, and found it worked like a charm. It is a valuable recipe for this disease as a wash.

EDITOR RURAL WORLD: To cure grease or scratches take pine tar and apply it hot, after washing well with strong soap suds. If one application does not cure, repeat every six or eight days until a cure is effected.—Rural World.

COFFEE AND MILK AS AN ALIMENT.—The stimulating and tonic effect to coffee alone is well known, and also the value of milk alone as an aliment, and of them both when taken alone at long intervals. Abbe Moigno states, however, that when mixed they form a compound absolutely indigestible and unassimilable. He attributes this to the fact that coffee is rich in tannin, and that its mixture with milk transforms the albumen and case into a sort of indigestible and imputrescible substance, as is formed in the tan vat when animal tissue is placed in it.

$5 TO $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, making more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.
Sept 18-12m

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Seeing is Believing.

If in this liberal age there are persons to be found who are so blinded by prejudice as not to believe that a medicated stimulant is a tion of luxurience superior in the catalogue of human remedies we should like them to witness the wonderful effects which Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are now producing all over the country in cases of intermittent fever, rheumatism bilious disorders, dyspepsia, nervous complaints, constitutional debility, mental depression and premature decay. To be sure these effects are nothing new. The great vegetable invigorant and its cures have been before the people for more than twenty five years, and in every year of the twenty-five its popularity has increased and its sale has become larger. Yet there are no doubt many thousands of intelligent citizens who have never had an opportunity of observing for themselves the surprising changes which this unequalled tonic and alterative produces in systems which seem to be hopelessly broken, and in cases of disease which are not amenable to ordinary remedies. Probably many of these resent the statements made in relation to the sanitary properties of the Bitters with some degree of incredulity. Would that all such skeptics could see with their own eyes what the medicine is doing for the sick and feeble every where, what a staff of life it is proving to the aged and infirm what a help to those of trouble to feeble women suffering from the complaints and disabilities peculiar to the sex, what a protection to health and life in sedentary districts, what a panacea for languor and depression, what a specific for all diseases to which the system is subjected and stimulant to all stimulants in the purest and safest of all tonics for most genial, effective and agreeable of all substitutes the most abstruse and the most certain in its beneficial re ults. June 4 1m.

Messrs. roulock & Co.,

1.92 Race St., Philadelphia.

GENTLEMEN:—I can name three bottles of Compound Imbe I have ever used such a l ke cordial I could not be in a out Medicine, as would no more sell it or recommend it than I would poison. I have used nearly two dozen right in this and I can say that I never had a bottle of medicine that gave such entire satisfaction as your Compound Imbe I. Yours truly,

ALEX B. WRIGHT.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

PAUL STOWE, Proprietor, No. 1 Jan 29, 1874
The above firm dy may be obtained of Cr d Brick & Co., 10 2 Race St., Philadelphia. Price $5.00. Send a stamp for certificate of purchase 4—1w

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION is very strongly recommended by those who have tried it, for debility and lack of proper action of the system, in feeble and delicate females. It is not a "cure all," but admirably adapted to the weaknesses and ailments peculiar to women, from girlhood to the decline of life. Sold by druggists.

Dr. R. V. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.

DEAR SIR—I have now worn seven pairs of your Shoulder Braces, and they have done more for me than all the doctors and other contrivances I ever had. I can stand erect, walk, run, ride or lay down with perfect ease, and they are entirely unseen. You did not know what a wound you created in me by refusing my order, but I broke you on it, and I am glad you did. I became so much interested in your Shoulder Braces that I set up business in the line myself, and have already built up a fine trade. I should like to have your terms for the trade in this section, as I can sell a great many of them. Yours truly,

MRS. DIO. MCFARLAND.

Jan 4—1w.

BEAUDETTE'S FAMILY MEDICINE, "Saint Lawrence Liver Invigorator," purely Vegetable Cathartic and Tonic—for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Debility, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Attacks, and all Derangements of Livers Stomach and Bowels. Ask your Druggist for it. Beware of imitations.
mar 26-12m4w

Children often look Pale and Sick

from some other cause than having worms in the stomach BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS will destroy Worms without injury to the child, being perfectly WHITE, and free from all coloring or other ingredients usually used in worm preparations.

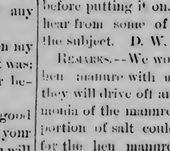
CURTIS & BROWN, Propri'tors,
No. 205 Fulton Street, New York.
Sold by Druggists and Chemists, and dealers in Medicines at TWENTY-FIVE CENTS a Box.
feb 5-13

ADVERTISEMENTS.

ELGIN WATCHES.

W. B. FARRAR,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND OPTICIAN.

Deals in Swiss Watches, Calendar and ordinary Clocks, Jewelry, Spectacles, Silver and Plated Ware, Bridal Presents, Guns, Pistols, Cartridges, Sewing Machine Needles, Table Cutlery, Ladies' Pocket Knives, Razors, Music Boxes, Walking Canes, &c. TERMS REASONABLE
No. 7 South Elm Street, Opposite Express Office, Greensboro, N. C.



Of the Multitudes whose avocation restricts them to sedentary postures, more than two thirds suffer from Constipation. Do they not know that an occasional resort to would prevent all their misery? Its regulating properties are unparalleled. For sale by all Druggists in medicine.

Tarrant's Seltzer Aperient

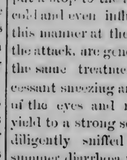
June 12-w.

JAMES LEFFLES

IMPROVED DOUBLE
Turbine Water Wheel.



POOLE & HUNT, Baltimor,
MANUFACTURERS FOR THE SOUTH AND SOUTHWEST.

Nearly 7,000 now in use, working under heads varying from 2 to 24 feet! 24 sizes, from 5½ to 36 inches.

The most powerful Wheel in the Market,
And most economical in use of Water.
Large ILLUSTRATED Pamphlet sent post free.
MANUFACTURERS ALSO OF

Portable and Stationary Steam Engines and Boilers Babcock & Wilcox Patent Tubulous Boiler, Klauch's Circular Saw Mills, Gang and Sash Mills, Flouring Mill Machinery, Mortising for White Lead Works and Oil Mills, Shafting Pulleys and Hangers.
SEND FOR CIRCULARS.
Feb 25-6m

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Successors to Wyatt, Green & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Cotton Factors,

Commission, Shipping

And Forwarding Merchants,

No. 1 Exchange Place and Martin St.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Cotton and satisfaction guaranteed.

Consignments of all kinds of country produce solicited.

All debts due or owing to the late firm of Wyatt, Green and Co., will be collected and disbursed as they become due, by us.

WYATT, BINGHAM AND CO.,
d c10-tf Raleigh, N. C

WILLIAMSON, UPCHURCH & THOMAS

WHOLESALE GROCERS

—AND—

Commission Merchants,

FAYETTEVILLE ST.,

OPPOSITE METROPOLITAN HALL.

B. P. WILLIAMSON,
W. G. UPCHURCH,
J. J. THOMAS, JR.
} RALEIGH, N. C
oct 1-tf

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Thursday, Jan. 15th, 1874.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	1 30 P. M.	8 35 A. M.
" Air-Line Junc'n	2 15 "	9 50 "
" Salisbury.....	3 05 "	10 47 "
" Greensboro'....	5 5 A. M.	1 15 P. M.
" Danville.....	6 28 "	3 31 "
" Burkville.....	7 40 "	5 06 "
Arrive at Richmond...	9 30 P. M.	7 05 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1 45 P. M.	10 A. M.
" Burkville....	3 55 "	8 35 "
" Danville.....	5 05 "	1 42 P. M.
" Greensboro'....	7 18 A. M.	4 05 "
" Salisbury.....	8 56 "	5 51 "
" Air Line Junc'n	9 42 "	6 51 "
Arrive at Charlo'te	10 45 A. M.	8 05 "

GOING EAST. GOING WEST.

STATIONS.	MAIL.		MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'.	10 A. M.	Arrive	1 P. M.
" Co. Shops.....	10 40 "	"	1 10 "
" Raleigh.....	1 45 "	"	6 10 "
Arrive at Goldsboro'	4 30 "	Leave	6 40 "

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.
(SALEM BRANCH.

Leave Greensboro'..... 4 15 P. M.
" Co. Shops..... 4 55 " M.
Leave Salem..... 10 20 P. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'..... 11 55 P. M.
Leave Greensboro'..... 1 45 A. M.
Arrive at Salem..... 8 30 A. M.
Leave Salem..... 8 30 A. M.
Arrive at Mocksville..... 9 35 A. M.

Mail trains only, both ways.

On Sunday Lightning Accommodation leave Rico mond a 9 42 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12 30 P. M. leave Burkeville 4 35 A. M., arrive at Rich mond 7 25 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, (without change).

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the schedule of this company will please print as above.

For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

F. M. E. TAYLOR,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh N. C., Oct. 21, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	9.35 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.30 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	1.45 P. M
Arrive at Weldon,	8.45 A. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.40 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

All trains make close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line steamers for Baltimore, and from all points North West and Northwest, and with Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, and from all points North and Northwest.

At Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest; and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Hay and and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accommodation and Freight trains to Seaboard and Roanoke, Gaston and Petersburg Railroad.

At the Raleigh Accommodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad South Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 26th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Selma,	6.05 "
Train leaves Samford,	6.45 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.20 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	3.55 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	8.20 "
Leaves Sanford,	8.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	1.20 P. M.

Mail train connects at Greensboro with R. R. L. and the Richmond & Danville Railroad, for mail and passengers North

And at Selma with the Western Railroad, for mail, passengers and freight to Charlotte, Atlanta, and connections West.

Also at Selma with the Western Railroad, for mail, passengers and freight to Fayetteville, Cheraw and Boston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

M. T. NORRIS, W. A. MYATT, JR.
Late with Jno. H. Adams. Formerly with J. P. Gulley & Bro.

NORRIS & MYATT,

(SUCCESSORS TO JOS. H. ADAMS)

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

GROCERS, COTTON FACTORS

—AND—

General Commission Merchants

No. 4 Exchange Place and No. 5 Martin Street,

They offer to the trade a large and well selected stock of first-class groceries at remarkably low figures to suit the times. They are daily receiving, and have to-day in store, a choice lot of North Carolina Hams.

75 bbls "A" Extra Superfine Flour.
70 sacks "A" (Parlor) Flour.
240 bushels Corn and United Meal.
50 sacks Salt.
10 bbls Extra C Sugar.
10 bbls Mica C sugar.
10 bbls Extra C Yellow Sugar.
10 bbls Dun Sugar.
10 sacks Rio coffee.
10 kegs Soda.
10 cases Concentrated lye.
10 cases Cove Oysters.
10 boxes Adamantine Candles.
25 kits Best Leaf Lard.
1000 pounds Pure Assorted Candy
500 bundles Cotton Yarn.
20 kegs Nails.
5 hogsheads of Durham Tobacco, and a full assortment of goods usually kept in a first class grocery. All bought at very low figures. Our motto: Quick sales and small profits." A large lot of Boots and Shoes. Pans and Heavy Pants—goods which will be offered at reduced figures. Call and examine our stock before calling elsewhere. Consignments and Country Produce solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.
April 1-tf

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY

This unrivalled Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of Mercury, or any injurious mineral substance, but is

PURELY VEGETABLE,

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which an all wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine,

is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bill.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians consider it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
FOR DISPEPSIA OR [illegible] TION

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, all exposures to changes of water and food may be laced without fear. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA
Price, $1.00. Sold by all Druggists.
ebis-13m

ALADDIN SECURITY OIL

Will prove itself equal, if not superior, to any burning Oil that has been offered to the public—is perfectly safe for use in all Kerosene Lamps. Will give all who use perfect security in doing so. For sale by

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,
Druggists.
jan 14-tf

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS.

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. A assortment of second hand Pianos Kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett street, near the Court House, before buying elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms, Simpson's Drug Store.
apr 2-6m.

FLORENCE

The Long-contested Suit of the FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE CO. against the Hon. Henry Wilson & others, and Grover & Baker Sewing Machine, involving over $500,000,

Is finally decided by the Supreme Court of the United States in favor of the FLORENCE, which alone has Broken the Monopoly of High Prices.

THE NEW FLORENCE

Is the ONLY machine that sews backward and forward, or to right and left. Simplest—Cheapest—Best.

SOLD FOR CASH ONLY. SPECIAL TERMS TO DEALERS and AGENTS.
April, 1874. Florence, Mass.
apr 9 13-3m

CANVASSERS, and boys of your locality will receive employment with us. Apply to Rose Publishing House, 1324 Filbert St., Philadelphia, Pa. Business easily done; terms liberal. Methods to make money double the cost and other necessary work pleasantly. J. HALE POWELL & CO., Publishers & Fine Art Pubs., Chelsea, Mass.

JUST RECEIVED
AT
D. S. WATTS',
Ready Made Clothing
FOR
SPRING AND SUMMER.
GO TO D. S. WATTS'
FOR
BOOTS & SHOES.
A full line and cheap.
FOR GENTS' FURNISHING
Goods go to
D. S. WATTS'.
DRY GOODS! DRY GOODS!!
D. S. WATTS'
Is the place to get
R. F. JONES & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C.
COMMISSION MERCHANTS COTTON FACTORS

Wholesale and Retail Grocers.

[illegible] Wyoming [illegible] apr 1-tf

Is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in use. Sold by all Druggists.

Pocket Inhalers AND Carbolate of Iodine Inhalant.

A Wonderful Remedy! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient Inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption it takes in its grip. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. A Druggists knows it for sale, or he put up with Inhalin enough for two months' use. Price $3.00. Pamphlet on receipt of price. Send for a Circular. by W. H. SMITH & Co., Peoples Buffalo, N. Y.
Jan 28 6m

A pair of shoes will cost you only 5 cents more at SILVER TIP on that without, and it will at once the cost of the shoe to their wearing value.
April 8 13-w

Robert T. Gray,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Raleigh, N. C.

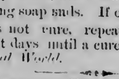
Will give prompt attention to business in the Supreme, Superior, and other Courts of the State.

Refers by permission to
Hon. E. M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Hon. Thos. Settle, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.
Hon. I. G. Lash, Pres. Fire National Bank of Salem
John G. Williams, " " " " Raleigh
Rev. J. D. Bobbitt, Editor of Raleigh Advocate.
Rev. A. W. Mangum, Raleigh, N. C.

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY
RALEIGH N. C.
Is the Place to Buy
French and Plain Candies,
Foreign and Domestic Fruits,
RAISINS, NUTS, etc.,
Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,
Fancy Goods, Childrens Toys,
Carriages for the Little Folks,
TOILET SETS,
BASE BALLS AND BATS,
Masks for Cricket,
All at MOSELEY'S

FANCY Goods, CANE BASKETS, Hair Brushes, Tooth Brushes, Pocket Books, Pocket Books, Fishing Tackle and Toys. A large assortment.
nov 13-tf P. L. BROWN'S.

RAMON'S Saffron Dye Colors
at
PES CHEREA'S
Drug Store.
jan 14-tf



Pocket Inhalers AND Carbolate of Iodine Inhalant.

A Wonderful Remedy! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient Inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption it takes in its grip. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. A Druggists knows it for sale, or he put up with Inhalin enough for two months' use. Price $3.00. Pamphlet on receipt of price. Send for a Circular. by W. H. SMITH & Co., Peoples Buffalo, N. Y.
Jan 28 6m

GENUINE
PERUVIAN GUANO.

Farmers, Agriculturists and Dealers in Fertilizers have now an opportunity to obtain this valuable manure in small or big, lots, at manufacturers prices, by applying to the Special Agency just established for the purpose of delivering Genuine Peruvian Guano to consumers at any accessible port or railway station in the country. Full particulars given on [illegible] mail or free on application to

R. B. SAZARAC,
No. 54 Broad St., New York.
REFERENCES BY PERMISSION:
Messrs. Hobson, Huntaler & Co., [illegible] retail Agents of the Peruvian Government, 54 Wall St., N. Y.
Messrs. Peck, Stetson & Co., [illegible] Wall St., N. Y.
Messrs. [illegible] Bank, 26 Wall St., N. Y.
Messrs. [illegible] Bank, [illegible] Broadway, N. Y.
March 18-3m

W. F. KORNEGAY,
[illegible] N. C.
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in [illegible]
Paints, Oils, Glass, Axe, &c.
FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.
[illegible]
Prices.
apr 2-6m

READ THIS

[illegible]
apr 2 1m R. L. GRAVELY,
Watertown, N. C.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

[illegible] YOUR EYES [illegible] by Years of [illegible] in [illegible].

Old Eyes Made New.

[illegible]
Dr. [illegible] & CO.'S
NEW PATENT CRYSTAL LENS FOR THE EYES
[illegible] Lenses [illegible]
Price.

AGENTS WANTED.

Kopp Needle [illegible] A valuable [illegible] to be had and [illegible] Needle [illegible] Needle [illegible] Needle

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor.

PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA.

VOL. XX.---NO. 23. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10, 1874. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

WHOLE NO. 1,011.

Selected Poetry.

Mrs. M. C. Edwards. This estimable [illegible] lady has a little volume of songs in press which will be sold at 81. She hopes with the proceeds to educate her two children, and in part support her family, the husband a worthy local Methodist preacher, being an invalid. Mrs. Edwards is here ill with intermittent fever, often prevented her from either [illegible] or writing. We publish this week a poem from her pen which evinces skill and talent for poetic handling. The Baltimore Methodist in which it first appeared, says of it:

"The baleful influence which the world exerts over the Church is graphically and truthfully described. The lesson of warning which it teaches is peculiarly solemn and impressive, rendered more so on account of its applicability and adaptation to the present condition of the Church. Let the Church give serious, timely heed thereto, and she will not vainly, worthily, and richly."

We trust her volume will be well received, and will meet with a large and [illegible]

WALKING WITH THE WORLD.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

"Show Thyself a Man."

(An appeal to Educated Young Men.)

David was king over Israel, unanimously chosen by all the tribes, and "according to the word of the Lord by Samuel." As king his reign was marked by great justice and impartiality as a military man he evinced great prudence and courage. A soldier, a lover, and a statesman, he was prepared to enter more fully upon the timely hold of manhood to assume its duties and meet its obligations. And King Solomon when he entered upon the work of building the temple with which he had been charged and to which he was appointed. If David found reason for charging Solomon in the emphatic words, "Show thyself a man," with what equal appositeness can we proclaim in the ears of the scores of young men who from the halls and lecture rooms of our colleges soon to step forth upon the timely hold of manhood "Show thyself a man"—a man worthy of the name, honored and truly and properly inspired with the duties and obligations they bring with them. Whatever may be the nature and extent of those obligations in the more common walks of life, with you there can be no controversy in this regard. "To whom much is given much is required."—When you step off the rostrum into the great arena of life, you may not remain indifferent. You dare not sit down inactive; such a course would not only wound and disappoint your friends, insult the God who created and endowed you, but would degrade and debase your manhood. "Show thyself a man," worthy of the name, worthy of the race, as befitting your position and endowments, and the destiny that awaits you as an immortal and accountable being. Show thyself a man, not only by your courage and fidelity in assuming life's great duties, and if need be, in enduring life's suffering, also in the every mode which you may choose. At this point it is greatly to be feared that scores of our educated young men make a sad mistake, listening to the suggestions or influenced by the persuasions of circumstances or urged on by the lures of an ungodly ambition for fame, wealth or self aggrandizement. They choose an avocation in life—either disregarding or ignoring all moral responsibility, the attribute that above all others gives dignity to their manhood, and in this way make their education a failure, if not a curse, not only to themselves, but to the world around them, degrading their manhood here and jeopardizing the interests of their soul hereafter.

If King Solomon in essaying to build the temple felt the need of Divine aid and wisdom to such an extent as to ask for it above every thing else, how much less can you expect to succeed in an avocation in life, in which God is forgotten and your duties and obligations to Him disregarded. In choosing your avocation in life, let your duty to God have its first full hearing, and your duty to man the next—in these decisions, "show thyself a man," recognizing your responsibility and allegiance to God on the one hand and your connection with, and sympathy for, the great brotherhood of man on the other.

Again, "Show thyself a man" in eschewing and turning away from those temptations, habits and appetites, that tend to corrupt, debase and destroy your manhood. Of these, perhaps Intemperance leads the van. More of our educated young men probably make ship-wreck upon this rock than upon any other. The temptation is wide spread—the appetite is easily enkindled—the habit steals almost insensibly upon its victim. Yet when once fully formed and implanted, assumes the strength of a giant, from whose merciless destructive grasp there seems sometimes no way of escape.—The laws of God, the prayers of the Church, the refinements of life, high mental and moral culture and attainments—the strength of manhood—the pleading voice and heart-broken cry of women are all alike powerless sometimes to deter men, or draw them back from the terrible infatuation which is swiftly luring them on to ruin—a ruin that not only debases their manhood and destroys their life, but perils their immortal soul.

O, young man, what if after all the hopes of your friends, all the cost and sacrifice your education has demanded—after all the time, labor, culture, disciplining and training you have employed to improve, elevate and dignify your manhood—what if society, the church or the State is needing or waiting for your influence and labors. What if after all, you should be overtaken by this fiery tide, and suffer yourself with all the endowments God has given you and the hopes Heaven and woman has thrown around you, to be swept away on its fiery billows to a drunkard's grave and a drunkard's hell. May God forbid!

Show thyself a man, worthy of a better taste, created for a higher destiny, and aspiring to nobler purposes.

Go then from your rooms of study, your halls of learning, with high aims and brave hearts—into whatsoever department of life you enter, let the church, the State, society, your race, the world, be made better by your labors and example. Never, no never, let your beloved Alma Mater blush to welcoming you back again in after years with open arms and yearning heart to participate in her annual festivals.

Go forth to life's duties and trials, and as the coronet of manhood wreaths thy brow, and a wide yet sin stricken world is spread out before you, let the admonition ring in your ears as the voice of God: Show thyself a Man.

WATCHMAN.

Cane Grove, May 1871.

For the Advocate.

Christ and the Philosophers.

Previous to the coming of Christ there were many wise men in the world, known to us by the term philosophers. These wise men had discovered much of truth in morals and philosophy and had done much toward rolling back the night of ignorance and barbarism resulting from the introduction of sin in the human family. The magi, or "wise men of the east," originating probably among the Chaldeans, taught many very useful lessons to mankind. They labored to abolish the worship of idols, but adopted fire as a symbol of the Deity. Their teaching did much towards quickening the intellects of the people with whom they came in contact. They taught the necessity of all classes adhering strictly to truth, and they reckoned charity and purity of soul among the highest virtues." The renowned and accomplished Pythagoras taught his disciples, clearly, purity of thought and language, courtesy, benevolence and self sacrificing friendship. His doctrines were exemplified in the case of two pupils, Damon and Pythias, whose undying fidelity for each other gave them a world wide reputation.

Anaxagoras, Socrates, Plato, Aristotle and the Pharisees were a splendid succession of teachers, covering a period of more than two centuries, and exerting an influence over the minds of men scarcely equalled by any other teachers of the same number in any age of the world, outside of christian influence. These men all urged the necessity of moral culture. They taught their pupils to reverence the gods, to respect their parents, to obey the laws, and observe charity and purity of life. But the hearts of men were made but little better under these teachings, and the philosophers themselves privately violated their public teachings. There was a want of authority, to enforce their truths upon the consciences of men.

The Philosophers dealt only with language and outward conduct; Christ dealt with the thoughts and intents of the heart.

The Philosophers rested their grounds of virtue upon considerations of policy, comfort, advantage; Christ put the motive in love to God and our fellow-men, with the peaceful fruits for time and eternity that flows from such a condition.

The Philosophers looked upon knowledge as something too elevated for the poor; Christ recognized it as the birthright of all the children of Adam.

The Philosophers excluded woman from the paths of knowledge and thus she was ostracised from all higher social life; Christ acknowledged woman in all the relations of life, and opened to her the gates of instruction.

Philosophers recommended measures of philanthropy as a convenient good; Christ made it a special duty.

Thus it is easy to draw a line of distinction between the teachings of Christ and the Philosophers, and to observe the superiority of his system over theirs.

The three years of Christ's ministry impressed his doctrines upon the minds of his disciples, and after his death and resurrection, with the advantages of a system superior to all others, his disciples worked a revolution among the nations of the earth, that surpassed all previous efforts among men to establish the teachings of any one system. All former systems were revolutionized, and from thence forward Christianity has given an impress to all the systems of the civilized world.

The errors of the old philosophers are rapidly being exploded, and the path traveled by the pupils of each succeeding generation is getting farther in its divergence from the paths of the philosophers of the ancients, but they are converging nearer to Christ. And every generation that feels a new impulse in the educational movements, finds itself drawing still nearer to the great truths laid down by Him who was superior to all, and whose system, like the rod of Aaron, will swallow up all the errors of the enchanters.

P.

Pastoral Address.

To the Ministers and Members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South greeting:

DEAR BRETHREN.—We have been requested by the General Conference, now in session, to present to you, in their behalf, a pastoral address. In compliance with this request, and in discharge of this duty, we salute you in the name of our common Lord, and in the words of the great apostle to the Gentiles: "grace to you, and peace, from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ."

We render devout thanks to Almighty God, for the signal displays of his grace to us as a Church, during the past four years, in the enlargement of our coast, in the increase of our members, in our material prosperity and in that agreement in the faith that unity in the Spirit, and in that harmony and tranquility, which have everywhere pervaded our Zion. Extensive revivals of religion have crowned the labors of our preachers; and the life giving energy of the gospel, in the conversion of sinners and in the sanctification of believers, has been seldom more apparent amongst us, than during that period.

In these facts we have abundant evidence of the continued power and presence of the Holy Ghost in our ministrations, and that the boon of Wesleyan Methodism, as we received it from our fathers, has not been forfeited in our hands. Regarding it as the purest existing type of Christianity, and as a priceless heritage of doctrine and discipline committed to our keeping, we rejoice to believe that we retain it in all its essential features.

In this gratifying review, however, we find nothing to flatter our pride, but much to foster our humility, to awaken sentiments of repentance, and to cherish purposes of amendment. Our piety, our self-sacrifice, our christian enterprise, have not been equal to our growth, much less to our standards and to our time honored ecclesiastical landmarks. Fundamentally correct in our views of Scriptural truth, and, in the main, commendably consistent in our conduct, we have departed, in some instances, from the simplicity of the gospel as we first received it. An inordinate love of the world, in the amongst our people, and corrupted spiritual integrity. The peculiar institutions and usages of Methodism have been frequently neglected or abandoned, and a relaxation of wholesome discipline has diminished our strength and impaired our testimony against the vices of the age in which we live.

To tendencies, to which we are perpetually exposed by the pressure of the world, the flesh, and the devil, and to these actual departures from "the old paths," we earnestly call your prayerful attention. In these respects we have encouraging reasons to believe that there is life enough in the Church, and a sufficiently high consciousness of the Divine destiny of Methodism to induce a return to its unalterable requisitions, and a maintenance of its distinctive character before the world.

We have been instructed by the General Conference to urge upon your consideration, several subjects of grave importance, especially at the present time. Without, therefore, encumbering this address any further with our own suggestions, we proceed to occupy its remaining portion with remarks upon those topics which have been referred to us

1. It cannot be disguised that family religion has been sadly neglected in many of the households of our people. Our own observations confirm the too general complaint on this subject. The duty of offering the morning and evening sacrifice of prayer and praise upon the family altar has not only the sanction of Scriptural authority, of the constitution of the domestic relations, and of the practice of the Christian Church in all ages, but it has been uniformly recognized and enjoyed by Methodist economy as an indispensable exponent of consecration to God, and a rich and influential means of grace. It is hallowing in its effects upon parents, children, and servants; enduring in its results, and it transmits to posterity, by the agency of the family organization, the legacy of the faith, and the habits and associations of genuine piety. It transforms the household into a church, replete with blessing, and capable of infinite succession. Such was God's original and unrepealed command in all the generations of Israel. Such is his ordained method of giving stability and currency to his cause in the earth, and such is the grand bequest which heads of families are required to leave to their legitimate successors in the spiritual Canaan.

2. In addition to the instituted means of grace, the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is amply supplied with those which are denominated prudential: which, though they claim no express scriptural sanction, have been adopted and authorized by our Church, as eminently calculated to promote a growth in grace. Among these, are the class meeting, the love feast, and the Church Conference.

With respect to the class-meeting, we have been requested by the present General Conference, to define the action of the General Conference of 1866, which abolished that part of the then existing rule, which made attendance a test of membership in the Church. So far as it falls within our province to respond to this request, we reply, that, while the penalty for neglect of class-meeting was abrogated, the institution itself was left in full force, to stand upon its merits and its history, and its obligatory upon every member of the Church. And we take occasion to add, that, apart from the divinely appointed means of grace, no institution amongst us is so conducive to the Christian life; and we exhort our members not to forsake the assembling of themselves together in this capacity.

The love feast is so precious a peculiarity of Methodism, so interwoven with its happiest memories, so full of gracious resources, and so generally recognized in these aspects, that we deem it unnecessary to enforce its observance, with very special formality; except to say, that the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, cannot afford to dispense with so valuable a portion of her inheritance, as the class meeting and the love feast.

The Church Conference was, in our judgment, wisely conceived. Judiciously managed, it subserves a most useful purpose in our administration, by distributing its duties amongst the membership, perfecting its operations by detail, eliciting their efforts and awakening their interests in Church affairs and benevolent enterprises. Properly conducted and zealously enforced, it cannot fail to impart compactness and completeness to our system, and largely to develop the social power of the Church for good. We therefore enjoin the regular and persevering observance of it upon our pastors and people.

3 An explicit utterance was given by order of the last General Conference, in our pastoral address, on the subject of Worldly Amusements. We allude to the manifest inconsistency of such indulgences with the spirit and profession of the Gospel, or the peril which they bring to the souls of men. Their multiplied and insidious forms are a source of perpetual temptation and damage, and are denounced by the word of God, and by that part of our general rules which forbids "the taking of such diversions as cannot be taken in the name of the Lord Jesus." This denunciation is explicit and comprehensive. "The name of the Lord Jesus," in this connection, is a decisive test, and we are content to leave the issue to its sovereign arbitrament. Amongst those indulgences which cannot stand this solemn test, is the modern dance, both in its private and public exhibitions, as utterly opposed to the genius of Christianity, as taught by us. When persisted in, it is a justifiable ground of judicial action by the Church authorities.

4. The mild but firm administration of discipline is an integral and essential part of our economy. The purity and integrity of the body of Christ must be preserved at all hazards so that neither heresy in doctrine, nor corruptness in life be tolerated for a moment, lest they increase unto more ungodliness. There is a growing tendency, we fear, in this direction, and we take the liberty of speaking a seasonable word on this behalf. Our legislation is sufficient on this subject. It only remains that its processes be faithfully followed, according to the provisions of our Discipline, by those entrusted with its execution. A solemn responsibility rests upon the respective authorities of the Church to see that its sanctity be fully maintained. But we would remark that our laws are not inexorable, and that no process should be served without taking all the preliminary measures to secure the amendment of offenders. Herein consists the safety and the force of their execution. The times imperatively demand that the moral effect of Christian discipline should vindicate itself against those loose ideas which merge disciplinary distinctions into a mere time serving policy.

5. Congregational singing, as contrasted with what are called operatic performances, has been brought to our notice by the General Conference. Abuses have undoubtedly been introduced into this branch of worship amongst us. The extraordinary cultivation of musical science in our day, and its fascinating influence upon the esthetic elements of human nature have precipitated a crisis upon the order and simplicity of Christian worship in this particular, alike subversive of its inspiration and its edification. We are not wise enough to dictate the precise limitations of improvement in sacred song, but we do not hesitate to say that no music should be introduced into public worship that is not decidedly devotional: that no tunes should be sung to hymns announced by our preachers in which the congregation can not participate, and that, the pastors of our Churches, in virtue of their office, have general supervision of this, as well as of any other department of public service. We give it also as our judgment, that whenever instrumental music is practiced in our congregations, preludes and interludes should be avoided, since they intermit the singing, and they consume the time allotted to the service.

6. The last topic referred to us, was the injunction of private prayer, fasting, and reading of the Holy Scriptures, upon our members. So obvious and so essential are these duties, as the conditions of experimental godliness, and coming so entirely within the sphere of pastoral instruction, that no specific deliverance is demanded of us. There can be no healthy, no robust type of piety, without their observance. We omit them therefore, to the enlightened understanding of the Church, not doubting that they commend themselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God.

And now, beloved brethren, we "commend you to God and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them that are sanctified." And may "we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ; that we henceforth be no more children tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive; but speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ, from whom the whole body, fitly joined together and compacted by that which every joint supplieth, according to the effectual working in the measure of every part, maketh increase of the body unto the edifying of itself in love."

ROBT. PAINE,
GEO. F. PIERCE,
D. S. DOGGETT,
H. N. MCTYEIRE,
JOHN C. KEENER.

A Touching Letter.

The following communication from the venerable Lovick Pierce, was presented and read, to the General Conference, and on motion of the Secretary was received standing, and the Secretary was instructed to spread it upon the journal.

To the Bishops and Members of the General Conference.

LOUISVILLE, May 26.

BELOVED BRETHREN.—By the good providence of God, I have been enabled to attend this, the Fifteenth General Conference, and here closes my membership in this grand council of Methodism.

My salutatory was born of anything but heart, and my valedictory I would not present if it was not all heart. Our parting feelings, in as far as future General Conferences are concerned, are very different. You see other General Conferences coming this side your grave, while I see my grave coming in between this and '78. I have, however, endeavored to serve my generation by the will of God, and now I resign all to those who are to come after me. I came here hoping to effect some changes in our practical itinerant pastorate, and in the enforcement of discipline. These I intended as my memorials in the 90th year of my life. They have all perished on the coast of a perilous travel. Of course my friends believed it wiser to kill off these projections of mine than to adopt them. So I go home disappointed.—go with convictions deep-seated as ever. The necessity for these changes is only a question of time. You have over paid me in loving kindnesses, and all I could ever desire is to feel that I deserve them—not because I have lived a long time, but because I have labored a great deal—once with marked success: of late years with much less visible results. I was in the best Methodist sense of it, an effective preacher for sixty seven years—which Dr. Punshon, of England, said in my room in Columbus, March, 1873, was the longest effective history among Methodist preachers. I ask you to give thanks to God for all his mercies bestowed on me, and pray for my safe arrival home and in heaven. I am too feeble to ascend the stairs again. A loving farewell,

L. PIERCE.

After the reception of the communication the Conference united in singing:

Together let us sweetly live—
Together let us die,
And each a starry crown receive,
And reign above the sky.

Affecting remarks were made by E. W. Sehon, T. B. Sargent and the Presiding Bishop, whose filial expressions were very touching, and who tendered thanks to the Conference for testimonials of regard to his venerable father. The Conference united in fervent prayer for him, led by the Senior Bishop.

General Conference of M E Church, South

In the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Louisville, Ky., on the 23rd ult., the minority report of temperance, which provides as an amendment to the general rules that any person making, buying, selling or using as a beverage intoxicating liquor, shall be, upon conviction, debarred from its membership in the church, was adopted by a vote of 335 to 30. The question caused a very animated and prolonged discussion. This action will be sent to the Annual Conferences, and if three-fourths concur therewith, it will pass into a law.

The following was adopted in regard to establishing fraternal relations with the Northern Methodist Church:

Whereas the discussions and votes of this Conference on the subject of fraternal relations with the Methodist Episcopal Church and its cognate subject present an appearance of essential differences which do not exist, therefore.

Resolved, That upon the subject of fraternal relations with the Methodist Episcopal Church upon a proper basis this Conference is a unit.

Resolved, That we are also a unit upon the propriety of appointing a commission, empowered to meet a like commission from the Methodist Episcopal Church to settle all questions of difficulty between us, and that such settlement is essential to complete fraternity.

Resolved, That the only points of difference between us on this whole subject are the best methods of accomplishing this desired end.

The General Conference has adjourned to meet in Atlanta, Ga., in 1878.

Honoring the South.

[Rev. Henry Ward Beecher.]

So far as it is heroism that we honor on Decoration Day, our four long years of wasting war testify that no cause lost from the king's hope, so patient an endurance, as the cause of the South. Because her soldiers were Americans, descendants like ours, of the men of the Revolution, we could win only by wearing them out, as they must have won by wearing us out, could they have won at all. Those qualities which, on the one side, were heroic, cannot, on the other side, have been despicable. A common courage, like a common sorrow, should be a bond of sympathy between generous minds

Love of Money.

Many a rich man, in bringing up his son, seems ambitious of making what Aaron made—a golden calf.

When some die, all that can be said of them is, "they lived in splendid style, were driven in splendid equipages, and died leaving to their heirs a splendid fortune."

Heart's ease is a flower that never grew in the world's garden. The ground of a wicked man's trouble is not because he has not enough of the creature, but because he cannot find enough in the creature.

Not one man in thirty, of those who intend to retire from business, ever does retire. And yet, how many suffer this dream about retiring, to cheat them out of the substantial ends of acquisition—comfort, improvement, happiness, as they go on.

A man may lay a dime so near his eye that it hides the whole heavens from his sight. So the love of money shuts out the love of God. So this world which is near at hand and pressing on us, excludes the view of what is to come. So things seen eclipse the unseen. So the present conceals the future.

He who has pursued business in such a way as to have neglected all just mental culture, has sacrificed the end to the means. He has gained money, and lost knowledge, he has gained splendom, and lost accomplishments: gained tinsel, and lost gold; gained an estate, and lost an empire; gained the world, and lost his soul!

The Irish Presbyterian Church loses another of its ablest men in the departure of the Rev. J. Gardner Robb for America. Mr. Robb leaves Ireland, having accepted a call from the influential congregation of Cooke's church, Toronto.

Humility is a grace that adorns and beautifies every other grace; without it, the most splendid natural and acquired acquisitions lose their charms.

The Grand Duke Vladimir Alexandrovitch, of Russia, has been betrothed to the Duchess Marie, of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, who is permitted by marriage contract to retain the Protestant faith.

The Christian Advocate

OFFICE Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

ONE YEAR, (IN ALL CASES IN ADVANCE) $2.00
SIX MONTHS, 1.00
If payment be delayed Two months, 2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C. JUNE 10, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

Faith Stands Although Changes Come.

In referring a few weeks ago to the life of Theodore Parker just published, we briefly noted the activity of the assailants of Christianity. Whilst so many agencies are being employed to counteract as far as possible the pestiferous influence at work, we would add our mite. To that end we shall have something to say in a general way in these columns, and from time to time as occasion may offer.

This is eminently an age of research. This nineteenth century must be celebrated above all the centuries that have gone before for the great advance made in the critical study of the Scriptures, in the improvements in the critical apparatus, and in a profound, thorough, ingenious and exhaustive scholarship. With this research there follows or accompanies change. It is simply impossible that one mind should acquire all knowledge or master every department of human learning. No uninspired man can possibly with his plummet line sound all the profound depths of theology or ascertain all the varied departments of truth, tracing out their relations and reconciling and combining into a harmonious system. It is because of man's inability to understand thoroughly the mutual relations of all departments of truth that renders it so easy for one to wander into regions of darkness, or become involved in the meshes of a theological web, out of which there may be no escape. It is very hazardous to put to sea in a leaky boat, or to try the ocean in a storm with the best vessel. A man may cut loose from the moorings of the past and begin a cruise in search of other shores, but the probability is he will be wrecked upon some hidden rock, or dashed upon some unknown coast where all is danger, perhaps death. Many men, like Parker, who we read one time very near the truth, have been destroyed by attempting to find new elements under new conditions.

We grant that if no research is made we are apt to remain in error, or at least, are not apt to find the exact truth—but without examination and discussion we are prone to hug old opinions simply because they are old, and to run on in the old grooves, not knowing whether they be truth or error.

What has research done in the department of science? We know how much old views have been modified or altogether abandoned. That which was universally received as true a few years or decades ago, is now exploded and abandoned. The statements most relied upon by scientific explorers are now rejected and considered of no importance beyond the landmarks or finger boards they make in tracing a history of the particular science with which they are related. What philosopher now holds to the theory of Phlogiston and the Corpuscular theory of light? They have no interest beyond the fact that Newton is connected with them. The same processes of experience and discovery have effected in a similar way other realms of thought and wrought corresponding changes. It is a great mistake to suppose that art, literature, jurisprudence, philosophy, or even theology, are the same to day that they were a century ago.

It is not to be wondered at if in the midst of such changes, in such an era of investigation, "when the whole body of knowledge is being analyzed and re-adjusted"—when the very foundations of all beliefs are undergoing the most rigid scrutiny and being tested by every appliance known to the most patient and skilled investigators,—when these beliefs are being re-examined in the light of newly-discovered truth, and in the twilight of half substantiated hypothesis—it need not surprise any one then that with all this there should come doubt and even scepticism to many minds. But no Christian man well equipped for the contest should fear the result. The walls of truth are impregnable. Error will fall powerless as it rushes against its incombustible sanctuary. Is not the conflict between new discovery and old a element a familiar one? Have there not been in all the history of doctrine grand contests between old truths and new errors, or old errors and new truths?

Is there any cause for alarm if truth be called upon to face error, ever bold and vaunting? Truth is one and imperishable. She will never take her own life. When error lies wounded and dying, truth will drink of her own elixir and live on through the ages, even until "the last syllable of recorded time." A judicious and thoughtful writer, A. S. Farrar, pertinently says:

> "Christianity being stationary and authoritative, thought progressive and independent, the causes which stimulate the restlessness of the latter, interrupt the harmony which ordinarily exist between belief, and knowledge, and produce crises, during which religion is re-examined. Disorganization is the temporary result; theological advance the subsequent. What ever in evil is eliminated in the conflict; whatever is good is retained. Under the over ruling of a beneficent providence, antagonism is made the law of human progress."

So we conclude that Christianity has nothing to fear from any or all of its assailants. The strong men who oppose it, sooner or later come to grief, and when their lives are unfold ed, their utter failure is seen, and the terrible blankness of their hopes is revealed. If truth could fail then we might tremble at such antagonisms as we have intimated. If in the conflict between faith and unbelief the former could be chosen down we might dread the prospect. But He who made men knows better. He promised to send "the Spirit of truth whom the world cannot receive," and He has promised that He shall "abide with" His people "forever." Let that be the Christians comfort and assurance.

> "Will not God impart His light
> To them that ask it?—Freely: 'tis his joy,
> His glory, and his nature, to impart.
> But to the proud, uncandid, insincere,
> Or negligent inquirer, not a spark."

The Gospel Net.

The disciples were fishing when "Jesus shewed himself." They had returned to the work they were engaged in when they were called to be "fishers of men." Somehow they did not at first recognize the Master.—They certainly comprehended but little of Christ's kingdom, or the office they were to hold in it as teachers; else they would not have so readily turned to their old occupation. But they did not prosper, for "they caught nothing." They were "fishing" with their own nets and failed, for Christ was not with them. But when He "shewed himself" to them, they "were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes."

Now, here is a lesson for all who preach the Gospel. Without Christ there is no success; with Him there is abundant blessing. If the ministry would be fruitful they must look to Christ. If they would gather men into the Gospel net when they "go a fishing," they must have Christ's presence, and must seek the good end in view by the way which is appointed in the Gospel. As the Lord directs so must they labor for the salvation of themselves and others. They must do no evil that good may come. They must seek for an increase of grace only by the means which the Lord has ordained. Life without Jesus is night; when He is on the shore, then it is indeed morning—bright, beautiful, radiant morning. Through Him the disciples may gather in a vast "multitude," and in their own spiritual necessities may have both "fire" to warm and "bread" to nourish. And when they have His blessing their success will be abundant when they throw out the Gospel net, and however great the "multitude" of converts the net will never be "broken."

There is another view. If the "net" be taken to signify the Kingdom of heaven, we may see in its not breaking the fullness, the boundless extent of the mercy of God as revealed in the Gospel of his dear Son. The wedding is furnished, and yet through His abounding, unlimited grace, "there is room."

Another view still. May not this "net" in its "unbroken" condition represent the necessity of union among Christians? When the "net" breaks, then the fishes escape. When Churches are at variance do not souls perish? If Christians fall out and quarrel over minor matters, what becomes of the precious truth? Is is not true that the "net" of Christianity has sometimes been rent by pride, and selfishness, by ambition and strife among brethren?

There is comfort to the believer in this thought. If men in their unhallowed zeal and angry contentions rend the net, God is able to mend it. Through infinite power and grace and goodness, He has often repaired what was broken, healed what was wounded, and united what was severed.—The walls of Zion may be full of breaches, but He can close them up. In the world to come there will be unity among the followers of the Lamb, when the separated will be united and the estranged will be drawn together in the bands of indissoluble love.

BISHOP KEENER.—Our people were highly favored in having Bishop J. C. Keener, spend last Sabbath in Raleigh, preaching morning and evening, to an immense audience, at Edenton Street Church. Both sermons were able and eloquent, evincing profound thought and eliciting high commendation from men of every rank and station in life. He goes to Trinity College to preach the Commencement sermon on Wednesday, the 10th instant. We shall hail with pleasure, a visit from the Bishop to our city, and to our conference at any time.

The Methodist Recorder, published in London, reports extensive revivals among the Wesleyans in various parts of England.

Fraternal Relations.

The action of the General Conference on the subject of fraternity may give dissatisfaction to a majority of Northern Methodists. The adoption of the Majority Report will provoke heated discussion, if not angry retort, on the part of the most active enemies of the South. That class can not bear any reference to the past history of the two Methodisms, upon the principle, we suppose, that the action of the larger body has been aggressive and offensive, and a critical and exhaustive examination into its conduct would reveal much that would not be creditable either to its fairness or justice. At any rate, such utterances as we have met with from our brethren of the North, show a considerable amount of irritation and disappointment. We regret that any thing has occurred to stir up the least strife or to excite the anger of the most irritable of the Northern Church. We can not believe that the prospect of a restoration of fraternal relations has been either seriously retarded or damaged. We feel sure of this if the Methodist Church is sincere in its proposition for such restoration. The General Conference at Louisville in its supplemental action, it seems to us, has done all that is necessary to bring about a settlement "of all questions of difficulty" between the two churches, if the Northern Church is deeply in earnest in its purpose to invite and facilitate fraternal feelings. Our representative body has declared that it "is a unit" on "the subject of fraternal relations with the M. E. Church," and to that end has agreed to appoint a commission empowered to meet a like commission from the M. E. Church to settle all questions of difficulty between the two bodies. It appears to us that this is all that could be required.

The New York Advocate has an elaborate leader upon the action of our General Conference in reference to the matter, and is evidently sorely disgruntled. It has a circulation of over forty thousand, and it may do a great deal in fanning the dying embers of hostility and prejudice, and may throw serious obstacles in the way of conciliatory and peaceful action. Its utterances are too significant to be ignored, so we copy a few of the more pregnant and suggestive sentences. By these our readers may judge the animus of the entire article. Referring to the response of the Conference to the message of the Northern delegates, it says:

> "It was well that they were spared the pain of hearing it presented. At length, however, the committee's labor of two weeks appeared—as we present it on our second page. That it has disappointed the heart of both the Churches, and dashed hopes that were springing up in many bosoms, both North and South, cannot be doubted.

Speaking of the debates upon the response, it says:

> "They show, alike forcibly and truthfully, that the committee travelled beyond their proper duty in discussing in such a paper the early history of the separation and subsequent unpleasant relations of the two bodies; that to define anew their relations to slavery, and to reiterate their unchanged convictions as to the scripturalness of their views, were alike uncalled for and tending to offensiveness; and that any reference to the organic union of the two bodies as impossible and undesirable was not only "gratuitous," (as stated by one of themselves,) but also, and for that reason inopportune!"

> "Our delegates went forth with the olive branch, asking only that there might be peace and brotherly affection between the two bodies. The delegates that shall come to us two years hence—if they come at all, which seems scarcely probable after what has occurred—must come with a flag of truce, bringing stern and far-reaching demands—the ultimatum of an unfriendly power—which it is impossible that we should comply with; and so of course the old attitude of unfriendliness must remain."

> "The commission that came to them from us was sent by a competent authority, and with a message that could be accepted without any humiliating concessions. Its reception in the first instance seemed to be in harmony with that design, showing that its proper character was fairly recognized; but the formal response of their body, and the conditions laid upon their proposed return delegation, necessarily spoils all the good that was aimed at and promised.

But while we most sincerely regret all this, we are yet glad that the offer of fraternity has been made by us, and in a manner so entirely unexceptionable as conceded by the parties addressed. And if now there must be a new outbreak of internecine warfare between the "two Methodisms," it should be a cause of rejoicing on our part that this state of things is not of our seeking."

* * * * *

"Quite possibly, even in this case Divine Wisdom and goodness will compel the wrath of man to praise him, and to be turned to the furtherance of the Gospel, especially in the South. Perhaps, under the conditions for which we have been looking, our Church's devotion to its Southern work might have been hindered or diverted, in the belief that it might properly be given over to others. Now, however, the voice of God calls us anew to that work, and that, too, in vastly improved conditions and relations. May we prove equal to the occasion!"

We can but repeat the hope that the difficulties in the way of adjustment are not as great as the N. Y. Advocate discovers. We can not see why it is improbable that our delegates should attend the General Conference of the Northern Church two years hence, or way they should go bearing "a flag of truce," carrying "stern and far reaching demands—the ultimatum of an unfriendly power." We can not see from the proceedings of the South ern body why it is so necessary that "the old attitude of unfriendliness must remain." That will of course depend upon the extent of the views of the Advocate and its allies among Northern Methodists. If they should turn out to be as disgusted and excited, as the editor of the Advocate evidently is, over the course pursued by the delegates in the Louisville Conference, then "fraternity," may be postponed to a more propitious day when time shall have removed the belligerents and subdued the antagonisms and softened the asperities of all.

Professor Swing.

This eloquent divine after being tried for the great crime of not preaching some of the theology of the Confession of Faith, has withdrawn from the Presbyterian Church. His prosecutor, Rev. Dr. Patton, having been foiled in his effort to convict Mr. Swing by an overwhelming majority, gave notice of his purpose to take the case to the highest tribunal of that church. Professor Swing says he is tired of controversy, and for the sake of peace retires from the denomination he has served. The Old School Presbyterians are quite united in their condemnation of Professor Swing's "heresies," but a large majority of Christians not of that special "school" must sympathize with the accused.—What we have seen from his pen, was sufficiently orthodox to suit those who take the New Testament as the all-sufficient standard and guide. His chiefest offence really seems to have been his failure or refusal to preach the iron-bound and rigid dogmas of John Calvin. We copy the following paragraph from the New York Methodist:

> "The attempt to enforce the preaching of the hard formulas of the Westminister confession will be sure to fail. The number of Presbyterian congregations in the Northern States in which a minister could announce them, except at his peril, is exceedingly small. The truth, strongly hinted at by Prof. Swing, that the formulas of creeds are only the methods in which men's thoughts shape themselves at certain times and under particular circumstances, and that they are not sacred, but are subject to modification as the tone of thought changes and knowledge enlarges, must be recognized. The severe doctrines of unconditional predestination exist, not in the Bible, but in Calvin's way of construing the Bible. Man in these days, with wider experiences, more knowledge, and more liberal views, construe it differently; and no Calvinistic court, unless it can blot out the record of three centuries of progress, can make them return to the old way."

Intolerance.

Rev. Mr. Gross, of the Roman Catholic Church, has "arraigned" Bishop Atkinson in the Wilmington Journal, because he protested against introducing certain Romish practices into the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Bishop insisting that said practices "had not wrought for the welfare of the religious communion" to which Mr. Gross belongs. Bishop Atkinson is out in a card in the Journal. He says he is not responsible for what the newspapers contained of his "Address to the clergy," and adds:

> "For this offence, then, I am called on to make a public apology, and its nature, almost its terms are dictated to me. What sort of liberty Mr. Gross' ancestors fought for, I do not pretend to know. That which their descendant seems to think they have achieved for him, is freedom to speak as he thinks best of the authority, of the very right to exist, of the doctrines and usages of other religious bodies, and freedom to punish any who shall venture to criticise his own.

I thank him for his expressions of personal kindness, and do very sincerely reciprocate them.

In conclusion, I will say, that when my Charge is reviewed, I hope to be able to show that it is sustained by reason, by scripture, by antiquity and by facts."

We should say the Bishop has an easy task to reply to any strictures that may be made upon his protest.

A Fair Retort.

A certain Baptist in O——— asked a Methodist if he had seen Bledsoe on Infant Baptism. "No," was the reply. "What does Bledsoe say?" "He says," replied Baptize, "that he cannot find any passage in the New Testament in which it is either commanded or implied. Now Bledsoe is a man of great ability and learning, and he is one of yon Methodists, and he can't find any such passage, but John Smith can, or Peter Jones can, (referring to two worthy Methodists of the town,) and I shouldn't be surprised if even you could find such a passage." The Methodist quietly replied—"Yes, it can be found along side of that passage that AUTHORIZES AND COMMANDS CLOSE COMMUNION."

Baptizo quickly subsided.

WE invite attention to the article by "Watchman" on our first page.

Baptist "Blooms."

Last autumn, with commendable zeal, the pastor of the Methodist church at Oxford sowed in ground, carefully prepared, seeds of Infant Baptism, that Spring sees blooming in the Baptist harvest field.—Biblical Recorder.

Rev. Mr. Durham, and the Recorder too, claimed that fourteen members of the Methodist Church at Goldsboro' had united with the Baptist Church at that place. Up to this hour the names of those "blooms" have not been produced, and, we have good reason to believe, can not be produced. And now we have the above precious jubilation over more Baptist "Blooms" at Oxford. We call upon the editor of the Recorder for the names of the aforesaid "blooms." We ask for an answer to the following inquiries:

1. How many Methodists have left their Church at Oxford and united with the Baptists?
2. Their names.
3. Were they reared Methodists?
4. Are they intimately connected with any Baptist family?
5. Have any persons united with the Methodists who were reared by Baptists?
6. Have any persons united with Baptists who were formerly of Methodist connection or inclination, who were present when "the pastor of the Methodist Church at Oxford sowed in ground, carefully prepared, seeds of Infant Baptism?"

Or, in other words, did these Baptist "blooms" hear Rev. Mr. Griffith's sermon on Infant Baptism?

We take leave to say that the Methodist Church at Oxford was never so well attended as now. Brother Griffith's congregations are much the largest, and his church is always crowded as we are assured by persons of other denominations.

Methodist Publications.

We notice that fifty six ministers of our Conference have purchased $100 worth each of the publications of the Nashville House. This is very liberal when we consider the price of the books. If city booksellers inform us that they can purchase the publications of the Nashville House cheaper in New York or Baltimore than they can at headquarters. This is very strange and very nobusiness like. We hoped that the General Conference would have given the North Carolina Conference the largest sale of all Southern Conferences—a Book Depository. It seems to us that it is not just to expect or require our ministers, the most of whom can barely live, to pay higher for books in Nashville than the same books can be bought elsewhere. Our preachers would do well to protect their own interests, while endeavoring to foster and scatter Methodist literature.

GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE.—We are pleased to hear from those who attended the commencement exercises of this flourishing institution last week, that it was an interesting occasion. The entire exhibition nobly sustained the high reputation of the Faculty. There were nine graduates. Bishop J. C. Keener preached the commencement sermon, and Dr. C. F. Deems delivered the annual address. We hear both the sermon and address highly spoken of. We hope to receive an appropriate account for our next.

Assessment for Washington District 1874.

CONFERENCE FUND.

Washington and Greenville	$55
Warrenton,	35
Warrenton Cir.	95
Roanoke.	1 10
Tarboro,	65
Williamston,	65
Plymouth.	40
Columbia.	40
Bath,	30
Mattamuskeet,	65

BISHOPS FUND

Washington and Greenville,	$20
Warrenton,	15
Warrenton Cir.	25
Roanoke.	25
Tarboro,	25
Williamston.	25
Plymouth.	15
Bath,	15
Mattamuskeet,	25

WM. CLOSS, P. E

A friend writing us from Wilmington, N. C., under date of June 1st, says: "The congregation of Fifth Street Church were agreeably surprised by an announcement in yesterday morning's papers that our beloved and popular Presiding Elder would occupy the pulpit of their church morning and evening.

Bro. Black had just returned from the General Conference, and although he had been absent five or six weeks from his family, (yet learning that this church was without a pastor) he spends one day with his family, and not giving himself time to recuperate from his long travel and loss of sleep, comes to our city and preaches twice on Sunday. He thus manifested a deep interest in this church, and assures them that they shall, as soon as possible, be supplied with a pastor.—Such a Presiding Elder is worthy of any district."

—THE session of the Presbyterian General Assembly has opened in St. Louis, under very pleasant circumstances. Representatives are present from 172 Presbyteries, which are made up of about 4,800 churches. The aggregate membership of these churches reaches 472,000, and the children in their Sunday Schools number 482,000. At the last Assembly which met in St. Louis, that of 1866, steps were taken which culminated in the union of the Old and New School branches of the Church in 1869.

Literary Gossip

The appetite for African books) (meaning thereby books about Africa is on the increase in England. Captain Butler, whose two books of North American explorations have had a great success, will soon relate his experiences in tropical Africa. Dr. G. Rohlf will publish his "Adventures in Morocco." W. Winwood Reade will also print a fresh book about the black continent, and J. G. Forbes will issue "African Geographical Explorations."

By the Recent Life of Mrs. Barbauld it appears that this prim and decorous lady had a mad Frenchman for a husband, who often threatened the life of his wife and finally drowned himself in the New River.

The Author of "The Norman People and Their Descendants in the British Dominions and the United States" declares that out of 30,000 names in the "London Directory" nearly 7,000 are of Norman origin.

Mr. John Paget, a London barrister, has published a book which dissects some historical writers in great credit, and Macaulay among them. It is entitled "Paradoxes and Puzzles—Historical, Judicial and Literary."

A New Daily Chinese Paper has been established at Hong Kong. The other Chinese journals of the colony have been altered from tri weeklies to dailies.

The Java Gazette has completed the two hundredth year of its existence. It has been during all that time the property of one family.

A Pleasant Incident.

We copy from last week's Western Advocate: "A very pleasant incident was related to us by Rev. Dr. Hunt, concerning a private interview held by one delegation in Louisville with Dr. Lovick Pierce, on Friday afternoon, the 8th inst. They called upon him at his place of entertainment, and were received with the utmost kindness and courtesy. He was very unwell at the time, but was unwilling that our brethren should leave without an opportunity to assure them of the interest he felt in the proceedings of the morning, and his sincere pleasure in greeting a fraternal delegation from our Church. His tender reference to early Methodist history forms one of the pleasantest reminiscences which our delegates bear with them to their homes."—N. Y. Advocate.

Religious Brevities.

—A number of liberal Baptists of Brooklyn, intend to call back the Rev. Geo. F. Pentecost, the clergyman who preceded Dr. Fulton, and establish a church for him. Mr. Pentecost is pastor of the Warren Avenue Baptist Church, Boston. His brother Hugh has charge of the Church of the People, who worship weekly in the Adelphi Academy.

—The last report from the Methodist Missions in Italy is very favorable to their success. Missions have been established in most of the principal cities, such as Milan, Bologna and Florence, all of which are successful, while their greatest prosperity is in the city of Rome itself.

—SAID—On the 24 instant Mrs. Kerr, wife of the Rev. David Kerr, of Johnsville, Ark., died, and was buried on the following day. Mr. Kerr, who was the pastor of the Calvary Church, preached the next day as usual, but on the next Sabbath, May 10th, he was quietly resting in the grave beside his wife.

—Prof. Schem gives us, in the New York Methodist, the following statistics of the religious bodies of the United States: "The returns are brought up to November, 1873. The Methodists of all branches, it appears, number 2,525,408; Baptists, 1,725,101; Presbyterians, 706,973; Disciples (Campbellites), 500,000; Lutherans, 487,195; Congregationalists, 318,916; Protestant Episcopalians, 247, 643; Reformed Church (German), 132,195; United Brethren in Christ, 124,464; Evangelical Association (Albrechts), 84,149; Reformed Church, Dutch, 64,215; Universalists, 60,000; Unitarians, 30,000."

—In 1859 the Old and New School Presbyterians of the North formed a union, and great was the parade made over it. This case of Swing's is one of the first fruits. There is not, as we believe, nor is there likely to be, any real union between the parties. Nearly forty years ago they separated on important points of doctrine. When they came together again there were no retractions, no recantations, no apologies, no explanations, and the supposition is they hold in the main the same views they did when they separated, and the fact is now being developed, and sooner or later another and a worse rupture must come.

"How can two walk together except they be agreed?"

—Two Reformed Episcopal Churches have just been organized in Canada: one in Ottawa, the other in Monkton.

—David Sinton, of Cincinnati, has given $100,000 to the Cincinnati Union Bethel as a permanent endowment.

—Signor Grassi, the ex priest, has aggravated his apostasy in the sight of the Papalini by becoming a married man. The wedding took place in the presence of several ex priests and other friends at the Mayor's office in Rome, and the religious services were conducted by Mr. Wall.

—The Colored Baptists of Missouri have resolved to found and endow a Theological Seminary at Mexico, Mo.

—A unique and shining illustration of the influence of Christian missions among the heathen is found in the instance of some native Ashantees, belonging to the Basle mission, who fought lately under Sir Garnet Wolseley. While the English discovered to their frequent cost, that the Ashantees were generally truculent and unreliable as troops, there were bright exceptions among them, notably two companies of Christians, numbering about a hundred each. Those, says an English officer, had their Bible readers with them, and attended morning and evening service of their own daily, and when they went into battle they were in advance and behaved admirably. In fact, in the critical fight on Christmas Day, it is alleged that their conduct contributed to the success of the British forces.

Professor Joseph D. Haven, D. D., LL. D., died in Chicago on Saturday last. He was recently elected to the chair of mental and moral philosophy in the Chicago University.

Professor Anderson has resigned the chair of chemistry in the Glasgow University, after a service of twenty-two years.

Hon. Schuyler Colfax is to speak at three college commencements, and has declined invitations from twenty others.

Personal.

Miss Helen Dickens, daughter of the late Charles Dickens, has won much praise by a novel entitled, "The Mill Wheel."

We regret to learn that the wife of the Rev. B. A. Philpott was killed just as he was about starting from Texas to the General Conference. His horse ran away with his buggy, killing his wife and severely injuring him.

The South western Advocate says that during Mrs. Van Cott's labors in New Orleans two hundred and fifty professed conversion: of these over eighty united with Ames Church. During the revival, night after night, Ames Church was crowded. There was hardly a night when from eight hundred to a thousand did not attend.

Among the many Americans who recently sailed for Europe are Dr. Abel Stevens and wife, of Brooklyn. They have gone for an extended tour upon the Continent.

The early part of May at California Missouri, died Mr. John Porter at the advanced age of 102 years 3 months and 24 days. He was born in Rockingham county N. C., January 15, 1772. He had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church for more than eighty years.

Conservative candidates for Congress are as follows: Jesse J. Yeates in the First District, Alfred M. Waddell in the Third, Joseph J. Davis in the Fourth, Alfred M. Scales in the Fifth, Thomas S. Ashe in the Sixth and Robert B. Vance in the Eighth.

The following are the Judicial nominations: First, Mills L. Eure, Esq., of Tyrrell. Fourth, Col. A. A. McKoy, of Sampson. Fifth, Bartholomew Fuller, of Cumberland. Seventh, Hon. John Kerr, of Caswell. Eighth, Thos. J. Wilson, of Forsyth. Ninth D. Schenck, of Lincoln.

The modification of our missionary system is not altogether to our mind: but the Constitution will be found flexible enough for our use, and in such cases, "That which is best administered is best." The liberty granted to the Board by the General Conference, to elect an Associate Secretary, was a good prudential measure, and the election of our excellent confrere to that office will give universal satisfaction. The Associate Secretary will not only do good service as a bureau officer, but also in visiting Annual and District Conferences, etc., which he will be able to do in connection with his duties as Sunday-school Secretary. The one class of duties will chime in with the other. Then the Constitutional Secretary, Dr. McFerrin, and the Associate Secretary, Dr. Haygood, understand each other, and will operate in perfect harmony. We predict that they will devise and execute plans which will bring into the Treasury the sixty thousand dollars assessed by the Board for the support of the Missions which will be under its care during the next year. This expedient, adopted by the Board, will commend itself to the Connection, in that is secures the services of an additional Secretary, without the expense of another salaried officer.—Nashville Advocate, June 6th, 1874.

Our Book Table.

OLD AND NEW for June contains its usual variety of matter. Many of the articles are by able and eminent men. Boston, price $1 a year.

SONGS OF GRACE AND GLORY. By W. F. Sherwin and S. J. Vail. Horace Waters & Son, New York, publishers. These songs are far more devotional than the ordinary Sunday School books contain. It is more in the right direction—not merely to teach the children to sing pretty and pleasing songs, but to sing those songs that are calculated, "to foster the spirit of worship." Price 35 cts, or 100 copies for $30.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE. The numbers of The Living Age for the weeks ending May 23d and 30th, have the following varied and valuable articles: Animals in Fable and Art, by Frances Power Cobbe, New Quarterly Review; Dr. Schliemann's Trojan Antiquities, Edinburgh Review; Two Chapters on the Reign of Louis XIV, Fortnightly Review; Belgian Husbandry, Chambers' Journal; The Fiji Islands, Part I, the Whites, and Part II, the Natives, Pall Mall Gazette; Liberalism and Democracy, Pall Mall Gazette; Sir Peter Lely, Temple Bar; The Domesday Book of Scotland, Spectator; The History of Popular voting in Switzerland, Pall Mall Gazette; etc., with instalments of the remarkable serial, "Far from the Madding Crowd," by Thomas Hardy, together with other stories and poetical selections of unusual excellence. Cheap at $8 a year. Littell & Gray, Boston, Publishers.

OUR PRIZE BOOK. "Heirs of the Kingdom." By Mrs. Mary Stuart Smith. Edited by Dr. Haygood. Nashville Publishing House, 1874. A neat little volume of 178 pages, in which the author attempts "to prepare a manual of practical religion for children." Being a home production, and having the imprimatur of our Publishing House and the indorsement of the Sunday School Secretary, we doubt not it is an excellent little work. Price 50 cts.

OUR CHURCH IN SESSIONS. By S. G. Moore, D. D. of the Memphis Conference. Southern Methodist Publishing House, 1874. This volume contains information in regard to the organization of our Church, and is prepared and carried out by Dr. Thos. O. Summers as the pleasant and correct concrete view of Methodism in the region about Nashville, and is pronounced a "charming volume." It is a satire, we presume, something after the "Post-Oak Circuit" style. Price $1 25. 273 pages.

North Carolina

—The indebtedness of Greenville county is $28,000.

—The Halifax cut crop is unusually promising, and the stand of cotton is said to be excellent.

—An interesting time was had at the closing exercises of Mineral Springs Academy. Mr. Kerr, of Clinton, made a fine address, and the concert of Mrs. Long was very good.

It is with pleasure that we note the great success of the Piedmont & Arlington life Insurance Company of Richmond, Virginia. It should be a source of pride to all of our people, to know that the South can boast of such a STATE an institution. This Company has issued over 22,000 policies, and has assets to the amount of $200,000, and has paid widows and orphans over $1,000,000. As its mortality has been below the average. Parties desiring insurance should remember these facts.

—Col J. H. Thorp, of Rocky Mount, realized from one bee-hive in less than three weeks one hundred lbs of honey.

—Seven negroes were sentenced to the Penitentiary by Judge Logan, during the term of Mecklenburg Superior Court just closed.

—A thief entered Whitaker's Baptist church, near Enfield, on Thursday, and stole therefrom the Bible that had lain on the altar of that church forty years.

—A friend in human garb last week, in the town of Winston, poured kerosene oil on a dog and applied a burning match. The dog was not only burned to a crisp, but it was only by the most heroic efforts that the town was saved from destruction by burning. An excited populace hunted in vain for the vile author of the outrage. He gave bail and has not been heard of since.

—The prospect for a good cotton and corn crop in this county, says the Greenville ENQUIRER, is much better than was once supposed and the farmers are cheering up a little.

—Says the SOUTHERN HOME, under the caption of "A Centennial Curiosity": "Alderman R. F. Davidson has, in his possession, the revolutionary musket carried by his ancestor, one of the heroes of '76. It is ornamented on the breech with the colonial coat of arms, a coiled snake, and the motto, 'Don't tread on me.' If we celebrate the Mecklenburg Centennial let this musket be carried in the procession by the oldest man in the county."

—Rev. Dr. J. R. Williams, Professor of Pastoral and Evangelistic Theology and Sacred Rhetoric in Columbian Theological Seminary, has accepted the chair extended to him by the First Presbyterian church of Wilmington, and will preach his first sermon in that city on the second Sunday of this month.

—J. D. Elliott who killed Chas. J. Neal at Statesville, in February, last secured a change of VENUE to Wilkes county, and the case is set for trial next fall.

—Says the Oxford TORCHLIGHT, colored woman by the name of Frances Thorp, was brought to town on Monday the 18th, charged with the drowning of her child, which was about two years old. She threw it in the river Sunday. The body was not found until last Wednesday. She is now in jail awaiting her trial.

—The farmers of Granville report that the wheat crop of that county is being injured by the rust.

—Says the Hillsboro RECORDER: Farmers speak encouragingly of the wheat and oat crops. So far no blight has befallen either, and the weather continues most favorable. Corn is backward, but such as is up looks made a good stand. There is about the same acreage planted in cotton as last year, and the plants, as coming up, look healthy. Tobacco is not yet set out, and plants are uncommonly scarce.

—Hon. John Kerr, of Caswell, has been nominated for Judge in seventh district by the Conservatives.

—The rust has attacked the wheat in Caswell and a half crop will only be made.

—Cicero W. Harris Esq., the excellent editor of Wilmington STAR, will deliver the literary address on 23rd inst before the Wilson Collegiate Institute.

—The Granville farmers are planting more cotton this year than ever before. Tobacco plants are extremely scarce.

—The Durham Grange received a shipment of twenty waggons a few days ago for its members.

—A number of the tobacco farmers in Caswell have gone into cotton raising.

—The Timbermen & Lumbermen Association of the South is in session at Wilmington.

—Greensboro is to have a Market House, 30x80 feet, with twenty stalls.

—Capt. Arthur McDaniel, an old and highly esteemed citizen of Halifax county, is dead.

—The STAR reports the first watermelons of the season in Wilmington—$1 each for five pounders.

—A fine specimen of iron ore has been discovered on the farm of Mr. P. T. Boney, near Teachey's depot, Duplin county.

—The crop of 695 pounds best and lug tobacco belonging to T. J. Smith of Granville, brought at the public warehouse in Milton, an average of $45.10 per hundred. Two other Granville farmers averaged over $50 per hundred in Richmond, Va. for their entire crop.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING,---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All the travelling preachers in the bounds of the ... Conference are our authorized Agents. ... who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will have the paper for $1.00. Those who send us none ... discharged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully ... on but one side of the sheet. All letters ... office should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in ... Register, post office order or check. The cost ... registration, or Post Office order can be deducted ... the amount remitted. If money is sent otherwise ... it must be at the sender's risk.

City Items.

Miss. Sue McPheeters, a christian young lady, and daughter of James McPheeters Esq., died on Thursday last.

St. John's Day will be celebrated on June 24th, by all of the benevolent societies of Raleigh.

Quite a number of young lawyers have been licensed by the Supreme Court now in session.

Judge Watts decided in favor of the Raleigh liquor sellers, so the work of death from poison is to continue.

News Items.

— At an election held on the 28th ult., in Beaufort county, on the proposition to subscribe for the Jamesville and Washington Railroad, the vote stood against subscription, 729; for, 673. Majority against, 56.

The Charlotte OBSERVER says: Mr. R. F. Greer, of Steel Creek neighborhood, brought us the queerest birth this Spring to a death. Eleven days after it was born ... gave birth to another, and two weeks after this she became the mother of a third baby and died within forty weeks. This is the only instance of anything of this kind on record, we believe, but it is true, for we have Mr. Grier's own good word for it.

— The number of pupils in attendance at the Salem Female Academy during its Spring session, just closed, was two hundred and thirty-six.

— Governor Baxter is a native of Rutherford county, in this State, and moved to Arkansas about twenty years ago.

— A special term of the United States District Court will be held at Hendersonville, in August, Judge Dick presiding.

— Dr. Pomeline, a prominent physician of Chatham county, died suddenly in the field on Monday 1st inst.

— Dr. Cross, of Canada, was in Charlotte for the purpose of buying a large tract of land on which to settle a colony.

— The following young men from North Carolina have passed examination at West Point and will be enrolled as cadets, viz: Simmons B. Jones, R. V. Mebane Jr, and Fred rick Wooley.

— We learn that the residence of Mr. Wm. A. Hardy was destroyed by fire on Sunday last while the family were gone to La Grange to the Conference. Supposed to be work of an incendiary.

— Many thousands of dollars have been lost in Rutherford county on account of the hog cholera.

— The tobacco farmers of Stokes having lost more than half of their plants are planting tobacco land in corn.

— The clerks of Wilmington have ... upon their employers to close the stores at 7 o'clock in the evening, from 1st of June to 1st of September.

General News.

Marion General Salamanca, commanding the forces of the Republicans at San Vincente reports that 3,000 Carlists attacked him yesterday and were repulsed with a loss of seven ... killed and wounded. Salamanca lost thirty killed and wounded. The Carlists have occupied Roces, seaport town, 27 miles north-east of Bilboa. Rascon goes as minister to one of the South American Republics.

FERNANDINA, Fla., June 6th.—Aurer and Jacob Sawyer, of Columbia S. C., and David S. Yungling, of Richmond, Va., were killed by the Erie freight train on the Erie Railroad colliding with a wagon.

ROME, June. The Pope is again ill with fever from which he was lately suffering, relapsed from which he was very heavy. The ... turning last night and was very ... The physicians in attendance upon his holiness are alarmed at his condition.

WASHINGTON, June. Time Tarbell a white man, disputed with a colored man named Henry Porter concerning the Civil Rights bill, when upon the latter cut Tarbell with a razor across his abdomen, letting out his intestines.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., June 4.—A mad dog was killed after biting four persons. A boy had ... and mangled and a piece bitten out of his cheek.

CHICAGO, June.—Gov. Wester, in his message ... a bill to ... law of some kind.

ATLANTIC, June.—The Convention of Cotton Exchanges in the United States, meets here next Wednesday.

The coal heirs of the ... river Gloucester was the man who risked his ... save his mother-in-law. His name is T. ... and some one ought to put him in a poem. — N. H. Palladium.

THE DAN RIVER ...—The Rev. Dr. Sears Superintendent of the Peabody South ern School Fund made an hour's argument before the House Judiciary Committee on Friday, against the section in the civil rights bill which provides for mixed schools.

WASHINGTON, SENATE. The executive session to-day confirmed the nominations of Bristow to be Secretary of the Treasury, and Richardson to be Judge of the Court of Claims. Boutwell was confirmed without discussion. Conkling spoke but there was considerable opposition to Richardson's confirmation, and the vote their on was very close.

PHILADELPHIA.—At the session of the reformed Presbyterian Synod yesterday a report of the Committee recommending the use of unleavened bread in the celebration of the Lord's supper by all the congregations was laid on the table for the present Committee.

PHILADELPHIA.—The Reformed Presbyterian Synod adopted a series of resolutions that the Constitutional recognition of Jesus Christ, the mediator between God and man as the legislative head and ruler of nations is an indispensible duty of nations.

ST. LOUIS, June 7.—The Presbyterian Assembly Breckenridge on the Committee appointed to consider the ... of the Committee from the ... assembly, entering with the South ern Assembly, reported that owing to the ... time in the Assembly, nothing could be done.

CINCINNATI.—A Nicholasville, Ky., yesterday Hudson Mason was shot and killed by W. D. Hope; cause, J. H. Soper. About noon another tragedy occurred about 12 miles South of Nicholasville. Granville Smithaged 24 years, killed his nephew, Wm. Hughes, and then shot himself. Smith was mortally wounded.

Marriages.

May 7th 1874 by Rev. R. T. N Stephenson Mr. H. D. Poindexter of Winston and Miss A Z. Miller, of Yorkli county.

Married April 29th 1874 by Rev. James Mahoney, Mr. R. J. Price and Miss Julia A Tew all of Cumberland Co. N. C.

Deaths.

Obituary notices of twenty lines or less ... charge. The excess over twenty lines at ten cents per line.

Died at Pleasant Hill, Granville county, N. C. on the 7th inst. Mrs. Mary Ann Hicks, wife of Mr. Thomas Hicks, in the 70th year of her age. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church for more than forty years, and died in the triumphs of a living faith.

Died at Mt. Zion, on the 4th inst. Mrs. Mary Ann Hicks, wife of Mr. Thomas Hicks, in the 70th year of her age. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church for more than forty years, and died in the triumphs of a living faith.

Died at Yorkville on Eaton, on the 1st

Youth's Department.

The Four Little Girls.

A Sabbath Hymn.

First Girl.

I'm a little country lassie
I can learn, always, and like,
When the dishes feed the poultry
Mix a bran-mash for the mare,
Ride the calves down to water
Drive the cow in pastures green
I would not ev'n hesitate me's action
For the Duchess of England's queen.

Second Girl.

My heart calls me little student,
I can cipher, read and spell,
Prize my mother's household comforts
And in mind I excel,
I don't think the life of knowledge
For its very help will go
Then at once I will essay my efforts
To add "says" and "can" to "no."

Third Girl.

I'm the mother little object
And as happy all day long,
I can be as any queen is
Sing the baby's cradle song,
Rock him till the angels smile on me,
Make him smile in unconscious glory,
Ring a chorus and we'll be another
Called a little girl no more.

Fourth Girl.

I'm a little girl in years,
But I'm old in cares and fears,
Without mother, sister, brother,
Left to battle with the world,
And my heart calls me a woman
Though I'm but a little girl.

All Together.

Four little girls, four little girls,
Each with a different mind,
Each with a different purpose,
Each with a different kind,
Each with a different object,
Each with a different goal,
Each with a different motive,
Each with a different soul.

Four little girls, four little girls,
Each with a different aim,
Each with a different purpose,
Each with a different claim,
Each with a different object,
Each with a different goal,
Each with a different motive,
Each with a different soul.

Four little girls, four little girls,
Each with a different mind,
Each with a different purpose,
Each with a different kind,
Each with a different object,
Each with a different goal,
Each with a different motive,
Each with a different soul.

Four little girls, four little girls,
Each with a different aim,
Each with a different purpose,
Each with a different claim,
Each with a different object,
Each with a different goal,
Each with a different motive,
Each with a different soul.

"I Want To Find My Papa."

A few days ago, says an exchange, a lady was walking along the street, when she met a little girl, between two and three years old, evidently lost, and crying bitterly. Taking her by the hand, the lady asked her where she was going.

"I'm going down town to find my papa," was the reply, between the sobs of the child.

"What is your papa's name," asked the lady.

"His name is papa," replied the innocent little thing.

"But what is his other name?" queried the lady; "what does your mamma call him?"

"She calls him papa, too," insisted the baby.

The lady then took the little one by the hand and led her along, saying: "you and better come with me, I guess you came from this way."

"Yes, but I want to go back; I want to find my papa," replied the little girl, crying afresh, as if her heart would break, "I want to kiss him."

Just then a sister of the child came along, looking for her, and led her away. From subsequent inquiries it appears that the little one's papa, whom she was so earnestly in search of, died recently dead. In her loneliness she love for him she sought relief in waiting for him to become home, and had gone to find him and get a kiss from the accustomed kiss.

Practical Joke By A Fish.

A gentleman living on the Savannah River, in Georgia, was in the habit of catching his negroes down the river to fish with nets, as the tide served. On one occasion, two of his boys reached the fishing ground before the tide had fallen sufficiently for their purposes. Caffee always goes to sleep when he has nothing else to do. So pushing a pole into the mud, they tied the canoe thereto, and lying down intended to sleep until the tide served. But along came a huge devil fish, which grabbed up the pole, and tucking it under his upper, began towing the canoe and its contents toward the deep water. When the negroes awoke they were terrified well night out of their wits. They were proceeding to sea at the rate of about four miles an hour, but the power propelling the canoe was wholly invisible. The first impulse was to jump overboard, but it occurred to them in time, fortunately, that they were unable to swim. Finally the creature by which master devil fish was towing them was cut, and they reached the land in a pitiable state of terror.

An individual of this species has been known to take up the bridge of a small schooner and carry it for upward of a mile, towing the vessel that distance, when he dropped the anchor, apparently fatigued with the amusement.—The Galaxy.

A Cat To Be Cared For.

A special telegram from Lansing, Mich., to the Chicago Tribune contains the following: "A man named McGraw, living three miles west of this city, left his family—consisting of five motherless children, the oldest nine years—asleep in bed on the night of the 19th, to go on an errand to a neighbor's. When he returned, about 11 P. M., he found his house burned down, with everything it contained except children, bureau and cat. All the children would have perished if they had not been awakened by the cat pawing their faces and screeching as only an excited cat can. The bureau contained $100, which is all the poor man has to build a shelter for his babes. No insurance."

How's a verse for some of my little fellows to learn. I don't know that it will do them any particular good, but I'm sure it won't do them any harm and it may keep them a little within bounds:

"Brutes find out where their talents lie;
A bear will not attempt to fly;
A founder'd horse will oft debate
Before he tries a five-bar'd gate.
A man we see the only creature
Who, led by folly, combats nature."

I've seen some boys who, it seemed to me, were trying to be bears, others who seemed to fancy themselves bull dogs, and others who appeared to fancy they were apes; but, you see, there's no getting away from it,—a boy's a boy, and the more he acts like a boy the better all he will be. The verse means a good deal more than this, but the idea I've given will do to begin with.—Jack in the Pulpit, St. Nicholas.

Rural and Domestic.

Cultivate Better.—Mr. Budd, of Stockton, California, gave an exhibition of the wonderful power of his "self-churning churn" at the residence of the Commissioner of Patents, recently. A pail of milk was converted into a pound of butter in less than one minute. It is the general opinion that the butter is ready "to come" by a gal vanic current, produced by the warm water, salt and saltpetre placed within an outer metallic cylinder, which encloses the one in which the milk is placed. The inventor says that the peculiar composition and preparation of the metal used in the several cylinders of the churn are secrets which will not be made public. It is claimed that practically working, five pounds or better can be made out of a gallon of milk, yet as high as seven pounds and three quarters have been made out of a gallon of pure milk, fresh from the cow. Some objection has been urged against calling the product so obtained butter. It appears to be the result of granulation of all the nutritious particles of the milk in excess, resembling in all respects ordinary butter, from which it cannot be distinguished. It can be manufactured at a cost of about five cents a pound.

A New Style for Pen Brush.—In cases where the pen brush is not plentiful, or where something more ornamental and compact is desired, it may be worth while to adopt the method described by The London Field. A rough stakes are driven into the ground, on both sides of the row, about twelve feet apart. Tie strong cord or fine twine to the end stake and pass it along the line, making a turn, at each stake within a few inches of the ground, and as growth progresses raise the next turn a little, advancing in succession until the plants attain their full height. These lines being formed at the right time, the tendrils will keep firmly around them and are efficiently supported. It is thought that this way of training has the advantage of giving better circulation of air and of permitting the pods to be gathered with more ease and with less tearing of the haulm than when the brush it used.

The CANNA forms one of our finest so-called sub-tropical plants for massing on the lawn, and in consequence of its hybridizers have been increasing the number of distinct varieties in a truly wonderful manner. A florieal writer of Lyons, France, has succeeded in raising a rare novelty, with beautiful double flowers, of a bright red hue. This will undoubtedly form the nucleus of a race of double flowering kinds, destined to prove exceedingly popular in this country.

To Drive Away.—A lady writer, in a recent number of a New York journal, discourses in the following style concerning her treatment of rats and mice: "We cleaned our premises of these detestable vermin by making a wash yellow with copperas, and wetting the stones and rafters to the cellar with a thick coating of it. Every crevice where a rat might breed, we put crystals of the copperas, and scattered the same in the corners of the floor. The result was a perfect stampede of rats and mice. Since that time not a footfall of either rat or mouse has been heard about the house. Every Spring a coat of the yellow wash is given to the cellar, as a purifier as well as a rat exterminator, and no typhoid, dysentery or fever attacks the family. Many persons deliberately attract all the rats in the neighborhood by leaving fruits and vegetables uncovered in the cellar; and sometimes even the soap scraps are left open for their regalement. Cover up everything eatable in the cellar and pantry, and you will soon starve them out. These precautions, joined to the service of a good cat, will prove as good a rat exterminator as the chemical can provide. We never would allow rats to be poisoned in our dwelling; they are so liable to die in the walls, and produce much annoyance."

Long Furrows.—A German agricultural journal prints a plea for long furrows. The turning of the plough and the commencing of a new furrow is pure more exertion in the plough team and the team than continued work on a straight line; and how great may really be the loss of time from frequent interruptions in short turns may be shown by the following calculations. In a field 225 feet long, five and a half hours out of ten are used in re-directing the plough; with a length of 675 feet, four hours are sufficient for the purpose; and when the plough can proceed without interruption for 800 feet, only one and a half hours of the daily working time are consumed.

If your hands cannot be usefully employed, attend to the cultivation of your mind.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has approved the course of his dean at the meeting of the Evangelical Alliance in New York last autumn, and he has confirmed his approval by appointing him his representative at the next meeting of the Alliance.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Seeing is Believing.

Has his liberal age to treat persons to be found who are so blindly prejudiced as not believe that a medicine of such extraordinary merit as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are now producing all over the country in cases of intermittent fever, rheumatism, kidney complaints, dyspepsia, nervous complaints, constitutional debility, mental depression and premature decay. To be sure these effects are nothing new. The great vegetable invigorant and its cures have been before the people for more than twenty-five years, and in every year of the twenty-five its popularity has increased and its sale has become larger. Yet there are no doubt many thousands of intelligent citizens who have never had an opportunity of observing for themselves the surprising changes which this unequalled remedy and alterative produces in systems which had caught and long harbored, and in a measure seem to be hopelessly broken, and in a second disease which are not amenable to ordinary remedies. Probably many of these regard the statements made in relation to the sanitary properties of the Bitters with some degree of incredulity. Would that all such skeptics could see with their own eyes what the medicine is doing for the sick and feeble every where, what a real blessing it is proving to ragged and infirm who a help of life is proving to feeble women suffering from the various complaints and disabilities peculiar to the sex, what a protection to health and deliverance from disease and premature decay it is to many, and what a resource for long-easy and expensive, and in many cases useless, doctoring which the system is in the habit of receiving from the use of this genial, effective and safest, of all tonics—its true genial, effective and safest, of all alteratives the finest ablest and most agreeable, of all stimulants the best solvent and the most certain in its benefits of the Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Warranted.

Four to six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are warranted to cure any case of Scrofula or Scrofulous Humor, Tumors, Old Sores or Ulcers, Salt Rheum or "Fever Sores," Hip Joint and other Joint Diseases, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, Chronic Inflammation, Enlargements and Tenderness, Hip Disease, Chronic Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Coughs, Consumption (which is Scrofula of the Lungs), and kindred affections, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. Also, in the treatment of Chronic Nasal Catarrh, for which no remedy has ever been found so speedy and certain in its curative effects. Sold by druggists, everywhere.

A WONDER TO HERSELF.

Tantoon, Delaware Co., Ohio, March 2d, 1875.

To Dr. R. V. Pierce:

Your Discovery needs only a fair trial and it will do all you recommend it to do and more too. When I was fifteen I caught cold and for twenty-eight years I have been a perfect wreck of disease, and all the medicine and doctors' bills I have run up at times to ten and three hundred dollars, and never say better but worse, when I gave up all hope but eight. I read the summer through. I received one of your Annual Books and told my husband at it reading it was but late. He went and bought me a bottle and I found I was helping me very much. Since 1861 I was troubled with Catarrh and Sore Throat, and was so much entirely dead in the head that I could not do much else. There was constant pain in my head. Now my head is as good as a dollar, my throat is clear, and I have used but four bottles of your Discovery in nine years of Catarrh, Sore Throat, Heart Disease, Spine Affection, and Terrible Liver Malady. Very truly, My child was cured! When I put my hand on my body it was like dough cake. Now it is as smooth and soft as a child's. In no shape can I say I have been well for three years. I am a wonder to myself and friends. This is human experience statement but has not been told.

Yours with respect. HESTER RAWKEY.

Mothers, Mothers, Mothers.

Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for all diseases incident to the period of teething in children. It relieves the child from pain, produces the surprising changes which this unequalled remedy and alterative produces in systems which had caught and long harbored, and in a second disease seem to be hopelessly broken, and in a measure beyond the reach of ordinary remedies. Probably many of these regard the statements made in relation to the sanitary properties of the Bitters with some degree of incredulity. Would that all such skeptics could see with their own eyes what the medicine is doing for the sick and feeble every where, what a real blessing it is proving to ragged and infirm who a help of life is proving to feeble women suffering from the various complaints and disabilities peculiar to the sex, what a protection to health and deliverance from disease and premature decay it is to many, and what a resource for long-easy and expensive, and in many cases useless, doctoring which the system is in the habit of receiving from the use of this genial, effective and safest, of all tonics—its true genial, effective and safest, of all alteratives the finest ablest and most agreeable, of all stimulants the best solvent and the most certain in its benefits of the Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

ELGIN WATCHES.

W. B. FARRAR,

WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND OPTICIAN.

Deals in Sales Watches, Calendar and subsidiary clocks, Jewelry, Spectacles and Plated Ware. Repairing Promptly, Fine, Pistols, Cartridges, Sewing Machine Needles, Table Cutlery, Leather Pocket Books, Pocket Knives and Razors, Magic Razor, Walking Canes, &c. TERMS REASONABLE.

No. 7 South Elm Street, Opposite Express Office, Greensboro, N. C.

SEIDLITZ APERIENT

Of the Multitudes whose attention is directed to this valuable tonic, more than two thirds suffer from constipation. By they not know that an occasional dose of Tarrant's Seidlitz Aperient would prevent all their troubles? In regard the proper time to take it, and for use by all Travelers in all climates.

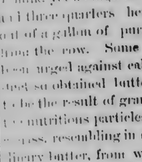
Tarrant's Seidlitz Aperient would prevent all their troubles? In regard the proper time to take it, and for use by all Travelers in all climates. For sale by all Druggists in America.

may 1 2 w.

JAMES LEFFLES

IMPROVED DOUBLE

Turbine Water Wheel.



POOLE & HUNT, Baltimore.

MANUFACTURERS FOR THE NORTH AND NORTHWEST.

Nearly 7 Quarters in use, working under heads varying from 2 to 40 feet; 21 sizes, from 6½ to 36 inches.

The most powerful Wheel in the Market, And most economical in use of Water. Large ILLUSTRATED Pamphlet sent post free

MANUFACTURERS ALSO, OF

Portable and Stationary Steam Engines and Boilers, Babcock & Wilcox Patent Tubulous Boiler, Klauch's Crusher for Minerals, Saw and Grist Mills, Flouring Mill Machinery, Mortising Machine for Wood-Level Works and Oil Mills, Shafting Pulleys and Hangers.

SEND FOR CIRCULARS.

Feb 25-6m

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Successors to Wyatt, Green & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers

Cotton Factors,

Commission, Shipping

And Forwarding Merchants,

No. 1 Exchange Place and Martin St.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Cotton and satisfaction guaranteed.

Consignments of all kinds of country produce solicited.

All debts for or against the late firm of Wyatt, Green and Co., will be collected and disbursed as they become due, by us.

WYATT, BINGHAM AND CO.,

del 6-tf Raleigh, N. C

WILLIAMSON, UPCHURCH & THOMAS

WHOLESALE GROCERS

—AND—

Commission Merchants,

FAYETTEVILLE ST.,

OPPOSITE METROPOLITAN HALL.

E. P. WILLIAMSON, W. G. UPCHURCH, J. J. THOMAS, JR. } RALEIGH, N. C

oct 1-1y

JOSEPH KRETH

Merchant Tailor,

OPPOSITE CITY POST OFFICE,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Keeps the best quality of Cassimeres and Cloths constantly on hand. Persons wanting suits of every description will find it to their interest to give him a call. May 27-3m.

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

Richmond & Danville Richmond & Danville R. W., N. C. Division, and North Western N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Thursday, Jan 14th, 1874

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte	10 P. M.	8.35 A. M.
" Air-Line Junc'n	10 "	8.50 "
" Salisbury	1 09 "	10.17 "
" Greensboro'	3.15 A. M.	1.16 P. M.
" Danville	4.28 "	3.27 "
" Burkville	4.40 "	3.36 "
Arrive at Richmond	7.30 "	6.02 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond	1.45 P. M.	8.23 A. M.
" Burkville	4.55 "	11.28 "
" Danville	9.50 "	1.18 P. M.
" Greensboro	1.16 A. M.	4.06 "
" Salisbury	3.56 "	6.38 "
" Air Line Junc'n	6.12 "	8.51 "
Arrive at Charlotte	6.35 A. M.	9.09 "

GOING EAST.

STATIONS.	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'	4.15 P. M.	Arrive at Salem 7.45 P. M.
" Salem	5.00 "	Leave Salem 7.50 "
Arrive at Greensboro	8.00 "	Arrive at Greensboro' 10.30 "

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R

(SALEM BRANCH).

Leave Greensboro'	4.15 P. M.
" Salem	8.00 "
Leave Salem	10.20 P. M.
Arrive at Greensboro	11.30 P. M.
Leave Greensboro'	1.30 A. M.
Arrive at Salem	4.30 A. M.
Leave Salem	8.30 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'	9.45 A. M.

Mail trains daily, both ways.

On Saturday's Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9.45 A. M., arrive at Burkville 12.20 P. M., and Burkville at 1.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.45 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, without change.

Passengers can have arrangements to advertise the specialties of this company, will please call as above. For further information address

S. H. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer in Chief and Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD, SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE, Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	9.35 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	3.40 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	4.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrive at Weldon,	10.00 "
Leaves Weldon,	2.00 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	8.00 "

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line steamer via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad to and from Richmond and Washington City, and from all points North and Northwest.

Also at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Hayward and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accomodation and Freight trains to and from Portsmouth and Norfolk.

Also at Raleigh with the Western Railroad to and from Fayetteville and points in Western North Carolina.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Raleigh and Gaston Railroad with Accomodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh & Augusta Air-Line Railroad and Richmond and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS, Gen. Supt.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE

Superintendent's Office, Raleigh, N. C., Oct 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Rd will run daily, Sundays excepted, as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.50 "
Leaves Sanford,	6.45 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.30 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN

Leaves Raleigh,	3.05 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	5.20 "
Leaves Sanford,	10.35 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	12.50 P. M.

Mail connects close connection at Raleigh with the Richmond and Danville Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad to and from Fayetteville and points in Western North Carolina.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

For further information address

S. H. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer in Chief and Superintendent.

Mothers, Mothers, Mothers.

Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for all diseases incident to the period of teething in children. It relieves the child from pain, produces the surprising changes which this unequalled remedy and alterative produces in systems which had caught and long harbored, and in a second disease seem to be hopelessly broken, and in a measure beyond the reach of ordinary remedies. Probably many of these regard the statements made in relation to the sanitary properties of the Bitters with some degree of incredulity. Would that all such skeptics could see with their own eyes what the medicine is doing for the sick and feeble every where, what a real blessing it is proving to ragged and infirm who a help of life is proving to feeble women suffering from the various complaints and disabilities peculiar to the sex, what a protection to health and deliverance from disease and premature decay it is to many, and what a resource for long-easy and expensive, and in many cases useless, doctoring which the system is in the habit of receiving from the use of this genial, effective and safest, of all tonics—its true genial, effective and safest, of all alteratives the finest ablest and most agreeable, of all stimulants the best solvent and the most certain in its benefits of the Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

They offer to the trade a large and well selected stock of first-class groceries at remarkably low figures to suit the times. They are daily receiving, and have to-day in store, a choice lot of North Carolina Hams.

75 bbls Family Extra Superfine Flour,
10 sacks North Carolina Flour,
300 bushels Corn and Cotted Meal,
50 sacks Salt,
10 bbls Extra A Sugar,
10 bbls Extra C Sugar,
10 bbls Extra Yellow Sugar,
10 bbls Dew Sugar,
10 sacks Rio Coffee,
10 kegs Soda,
10 cases Concentrated Lye,
10 cases Cove Oysters,
10 boxes Adamantine Candles,
25 bbls Best Lard Lard,
1000 pounds Pure Assorted Candy
500 bunches Onion Yarn,
50 kegs Nails,
10 boxes of Durham Tobacco, and a full assortment of groceries usually kept in a first class grocery, all bought at very low figures, that enables Quick sales and small profits." A large lot of Rosin and Pitch, Tar and Heavy Paints—goods which will be offered at reduced figures. Call and examine our stock before selling elsewhere. Consignments and Country Produce solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

April 1-tf

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

This unrivalled Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of MERCURY, or any injurious mineral substance, but is

PURELY VEGETABLE,

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which an all wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels,

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine,

is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bill.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, miasmatic and malarious countries may be faced without fear. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA

Price, $1.00. Sold by all Druggists,

feb 18-12m

ALADDIN SECURITY OIL

Will prove itself equal, if not superior, to any burning Oil that has been offered to the public—is perfectly safe for use in all Kerosene Lamps. Will give all who use perfect security in doing so. For sale by

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,
Druggists.

jan 14-tf

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS.

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms or Simpson's Drug Store

apr 9-6m

FLORENCE.

The Best Sewing Machine Co. in the World.

THE NEW FLORENCE

Does EVERY Machine Can Do and Much More.

Sells from Agent, Local, Special, Terms to Clubs and Dealers.

Florence, Mass.

april 1-6m

CANVASSERS, Read No. 8 of your Ledger will receive [illegible] Address [illegible] Pictures for Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Dogs, Poultry, Children, Groups, Bed-room, Mechanics, etc. are making double the money at work they ever did before. Address J. DALE PHOWERS & CO., Publishing & Fine Art Pubs., Cincinnati, O.

Feb 4-12m

JUST RECEIVED

AT

D. S. WAITT'S,

Ready Made Clothing

FOR

SPRING AND SUMMER.

GO TO D. S. WAITT'S

FOR

BOOTS & SHOES.

A full line just opened.

FOR GENTS FURNISHING

Goods, go to

D. S. WAITT'S.

DRY GOODS! DRY GOODS!!

D. S. WAITT'S

Is the place to get them cheap.

R. F. JONES & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Wilmington St., opposite Market House.

In fact a full stock of Groceries they offer to the trade a large stock of the choicest quality at prices that have not been equalled in the trade. They have in store

1,000 [illegible] Salt,
150 Sacks Fine Liverpool Salt,
1200 Pounds Rio in Cheese,
200 Bushels Rolled Meal,
500 Boxes Cakes and Crackers—fresh,
1000 Pounds mixed candy, assorted,
25 Cases mixed Pickles,
10 Doz. can Fresh Peaches,
50 Bbls. Superfine and Family Flour,
3,000 Pounds Family Soap,
25 Boxes Adamantine Candles,
10 Doz. boxes Axle Grease,
72 ½ Gallons Blackberry,
500 lb White Pearl Pennsylvania Soap.

Pepper, Spice, Nutmegs, Cloves, Cassia, Ginger, Saleratus, Soda, Spice, Pepper Teas, &c. &c.

Bulk Meal and Rockola Whisky, and a full assortment of other goods generally sold by grocery stores. Call and examine the quality of their goods and prices. Consignment of produce solicited.

oct 13-6m

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is the Place to Buy

French and Plain Candies,

Foreign and Domestic Fruits,

RAISINS, NUTS, etc.,

Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fancy Goods, Childrens Toys, Carriages for the Little Folks, FANCY SET.

BASE BALLS AND BATS,

Marble, Top and Kites,

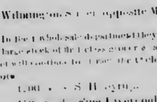
All at MOSELEY'S

FANCY GOODS, TOYS, BASKETS, BROOMS, Brushes, Tooth Picks, School Bags, Feather Dusters, Fish Hooks and lines. A large assortment, at NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

LEMON'S Aniline Dye Colors, at PESCUD, LEE & CO'S Drug Store.

jan 14-tf



Pocket Inhaler AND Carbolate of Iodine Inhalant.

A Wonderful Remedy! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption if taken in time. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. A Druggists have it for sale, nearly paying with Inhalants enough for two months' use. Price $2.00. Friends mail on receipt of price. Send for a Circular. by

W. H. SMITH & Co., Proprs.
Buffalo, N. Y.

Jan 28-6m

A pair of shoes will soil you only 3 cents more on SILVER TIP on toes without, and it will add twice the cost of the shoe to their wearing value.

April 8-1y

Robert T. Gray,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

Raleigh, N. C.

Will give prompt attention to business in the Supreme, Superior, and other Courts of the State.

Refers by permission to

Hon. R. M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.
Hon. Thos. Settle, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.
Hon. I. G. Lash, Pres. First National Bank of Salem.
John G. Williams, " State " Raleigh
Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, Editor of Raleigh Advocate.
Rev. A. W. Margum, Raleigh, N. C.

GENUINE

PERUVIAN GUANO.

Farmers, Agriculturists and Dealers in Fertilizers have now an opportunity of obtaining this valuable manure in small or large lots, at importers' prices, by applying to the Special Agency just established for the purpose of delivering Genuine Peruvian Guano in consumers at any accessible port or railway station in the country. Full particulars given in Circular mailed free on application to

R. BALCAZAR,
No. 55 Beaver St., New York.

REFERENCES BY PERMISSION.

Messrs. Hobson, Hurtado & Co., Financial Agents of the Peruvian Government, 52 Wall St., N. Y.
Moses Taylor, Pres. National City Bank, 52 Wall St., N. Y.
J. C. Trace, Esq., Peruvian Guano Consul, 26 1-2 Broadway, N. Y.
March 18-3m

W. F. KORNEGAY.

Goldsboro', N. C.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in Foreign and Domestic HARDWARE.

COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.

Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.

FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Have a new stock of Wagons, constructed of the very best material, &c. Will sell low for cash, and will sell on reasonable satisfaction. Always keep a full stock of them.

Jan 28-tf

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

SAVE YOUR EYES.

BEFORE YOUR SIGHT, THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED INDIA EYE CUPS.

Read the wonderful Book Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Eye Glasses rendered useless. The Incalculable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual in the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED INDIA EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent professors, scientists, students and divines have had their sight restored by Dr. Ball's Eye Cups, and feel it a solemn duty to bear testimony to the benefits conferred by them. Special attention is directed to the Eye Cups as especially adapted to the Eye Cups as a guard to all Workers in Dust, Heat, Glare or Wind. Price, $4 per pair, by mail, or Watery Eye Cups, $5 per pair,

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. | PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. | $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 24. | RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 17, 1874. | WHOLE NO. 1,012.

Selected Poetry.

Send Me.

BY REV. DANIEL MARCH, D. D.

Hark, the voice of Jesus crying,
Who will go and work to-day?
Fields are white, and harvests waiting,
Who will bear the sheaves away?
Loud and long the Master calleth,
Rich reward he offers free;
Who will answer, gladly saying
"Here am I—send me, send me?"

If you cannot cross the ocean,
And the heathen lands explore,
You can find the heathen nearer,
You can help them at your door.
If you cannot give your thousands,
You can give the widow's mite,
And the least you give for Jesus,
Will be precious in his sight.

If you cannot speak like angels,
If you cannot preach like Paul,
You can tell the love of Jesus,
You can say He died for all.
If you cannot raise the wicked,
With the judgment's dread alarms,
You can lead the little children
To the Saviour's waiting arms.

Let none hear you idly saying,
"There is nothing I can do,"
While the souls of men are dying,
And the Master calls for you.
Take the task He gives you gladly,
Let His work your pleasure be;
Answer quickly when He calleth:
"Here am I—send me, send me."

Communicated.

For the Advocate

Commencement of Davenport Female College.

The commencement exercises of Davenport Female College took place 27th and 28th of May. They were very creditable to both faculty and pupils, and were highly appreciated by all present. The sermon was preached on Wednesday the 27th, by Rev. P. J. Carraway of Charlotte.—The sermon was appropriate, able, sound in doctrine, chaste, and impressively delivered. In the evening the audience was delightfully entertained by a most excellent concert.—The music, both instrumental and vocal, was charming, and showed that the teacher in that department is proficient and understands the art of teaching, while the pupils gave evidence that they had not been taught in vain. Admirable taste was also displayed in the variety and suitableness of the pieces with which the spectators were treated.

The following programme was observed on Thursday, the 28th:

1. Anthem—Be thou exalted.
2. Prayer—By Rev. J. S. Ervin.
3. Anthem—Let every heart rejoice and sing.
4. Report of the honors.
5. Composition—Little things are always Lovely. By Miss Alice Earnheart.
6. Music—The Northern Pearl.
7. Composition—Good Intentions. By Miss Mattie Nicholson.
8. Music—Shun the Broad Road.
9. Composition—Likes and Dislikes. By Miss Clara Ivey.
10. Music—Vienna March.
11. Composition—Hope the Sunshine of the Heart. By Miss Lelie Robey.
12. Music—Pray, tell me the wish of thy heart.
13. Composition—Aimless—Worthless. By Miss Mattie Free.
14. Music—Last Rose of Summer.
15. Address by the President, and Diploma conferred.
16. Music—Adieu.
17. Bible Presented, by Rev. J. W. North.
18. Music—Parting Whispers.
19. Benediction by Rev. P. J. Carraway.

The compositions were all really good, and were well read. There was but one graduate, Miss Mattie Free, of Morganton. Her composition was very fine, and admirably read. If Davenport always turns out such graduates she will never have cause to be ashamed of her work.

President Robey's address was a production of rare merit, profound in thought, instructive, elegantly written, and forcibly delivered. Some passages in it would do credit to any educator in the land. If heeded by the young ladies it will be worth to them the full price of their tuition.

Rev. J. W. North's talk in presenting the Bible was excellent. Every one who witnessed the exercises of the day was edified and delighted.—Davenport richly merits the confidence of all and deserves a large patronage. No one need hesitate to send his daughter to such an institution. She will be well cared for and well instructed.

The trustees in their several meetings looked carefully after all the interests of the College. Their work was thoroughly done, and all are satisfied that everything is on a sound basis. They are determined that Davenport shall be second to no Female College in the whole South.

M. L. Wood.

Mr. Digby Wyatt, the English architect, has resigned his position of architect to the Indian Office. He has distinguished himself both in theoretical and practical architecture.

Treatment of Visiting Preachers.

All proper courtesies should be shown by a preacher in charge of a circuit or a station to a visiting brother. The visitor should be made to feel that he is among friends, and that the chief of them is the preacher in charge himself. But all courtesies from one preacher to another have a limit. No visiting preacher, however learned, eloquent, popular, or pious he may be, should ever be led, by an excess of courtesies, to forget that he is a visitor, and to imagine that he is the preacher in charge. The preacher, appointed by the Bishop, is responsible for the interests of the work, and no visitor, even of the greatest eminence or usefulness, should ever be allowed to come between the preacher and the members of his charge.

Some years ago there was a class of preachers among us known as revivalists, whose services were very much sought after by preachers and people in charges where religious awakenings were in progress, or where they were greatly desired. These preachers usually assumed the control of any meeting at which they were present, doing the preaching, delivering the exhortations, inviting penitents forward for the prayers of the church, receiving persons into the church, and even making the necessary announcements from time to time.

When a revivalist was present, the preacher in charge felt it due to the occasion to take a very humble seat, and to be as little obstrusive as possible. If a revivalist had use for his services, he made his wishes known, and they were obediently and submissively complied with: but the preacher assumed no leading part in the conduct of the meeting. In some cases he subsided into a mere cipher. The result was that the people looked exclusively, so far as human agency was concerned, to the revivalist for success in the meeting. Whatever interest was awakened was kept up while he remained and died out when he left, and the poor pastor found himself, when the meeting was closed, in charge of a church whose members had allowed their hearts to go off with the revivalist, and with a number of young converts on his hands to be trained, who did not recognize him as their spiritual father, and over whom he had little or no influence. Had he taken his proper position before the people, by giving general direction to the meeting, even if he had done very little of the actual work of the pulpit, it would have been otherwise: the people, while honoring the revivalist, would not have forgotten their own preacher.

Cases of such extreme self-abnegation on the part of preachers in charge do not often occur in this day. Times have very much changed. The pastoral relation is better defined among us now than it was formerly. But even now we sometimes hear of excessive courtesy on the part of preachers in charge, and of excessive assumption on the part of visitors. Young preachers of great modesty are apt, from a fear of being thought to be assuming themselves, to be led to make a partial surrender of their proper authority, when visiting brethren, older and more experienced, or more eminent than themselves, are present. And sometimes the people, forgetful of what is due to the pastoral office, and not considering the probable effect of their action, urge such surrender.

Now, any young preacher is very unwise who fails to avail himself of all the efficient help in the pulpit that it is possible for him to obtain; but he is equally unwise if he mistakes pusillanimity for humility, and fails to make a proper assertion of himself before the people. This self assertion is not wrong if made simply and only in the discharge of duty. It is wrong only when made out of time and out of place. It is as much a Scriptural injunction that a young preacher should avoid being despised on account of his age as it is that he should not think too highly of himself.

It is the duty of a preacher in charge to study to qualify himself for all the work that his office may devolve upon him. If he does this it will not be necessary for him to be wholly dependent upon any other man; and in what kind of meeting he may be engaged, and whoever may be his assistant, he will be able to take such part and to give such direction as will prevent any body from losing sight of the fact that he is the responsible man of the meeting; and yet all that he does may be done in a quiet, modest way; modesty is perfectly consistent with a proper self assertion.

A visiting brother, if a truly thoughtful, upright, pious man, will not, so far as it may depend upon him to prevent it, allow a young preacher whom he may be visiting and assisting, to be lost sight of by his own people. Such a man will be satisfied with the glory he receives at home.

I have seen some preachers who seemed not unwilling to be chief in both their own and other preachers' charges.

Matthetes.

—N. O. Advocate.

Dainty Christians.

There are certain Christians, so called, pronounced to be "in good standing" as church members, who, by their actions seem to have a something to sustain, which the Christian in ordinary knows nothing about. They were not meant for common uses; indeed, they seem set apart, rather, for special work. They are punctual at the means of grace, highly devotional in spirit—and critical in judgment. They have given themselves to the service of the Lord, but with the understanding that the Lord will not use them as He uses others, and that He will demand of them nothing disagreeable.

When the time comes they work; and how, pr y? They become "presidents" of societies; they serve on choice committees; they address meetings in eloquent speeches; they are interested in the foreign heathen to the extent that they sigh over the subject, and think, and speak, and write about them. They think it a great shame that the heathen are not converted. They even go so far in their exercise of conviction and feeling as to wonder what other Christians are about: that the idols of gold and of silver, of wood and of stone, have so long been allowed to take the place of the true God!

These Christians believe in other Christians—to a certain extent. That is, they believe there are some good, humble souls, of limited capacity and no sensibilities to speak of, who are not easily shocked at sights and sounds, who have no nerves, and who have good vulgar constitutions. If an epidemic were to break out, the former class think the latter class best suited to become nurses and ministering angels; they believe the Lord designed these humble ones for just such a field of labors, and so they withdraw into an aromatic atmosphere, which is supposed to insure their safety. They suddenly find that they have a call to leave town, and they are prompt to reply to that call.

Then again, if there is work to be done among the poor and depraved, they once more yield the palm to others. They are so tender in feeling, that they positively cannot look upon the sufferings of the destitute; and as for the depraved—well, the fact is, vulgar sin shocks them so, that they positively cannot look upon it! About the foreign heathen there is some romance, some poetry; but as to the home heathen—there is absolutely nothing that is not "shocking in the extreme." On the principle that "a prophet hath honor save in his own country," these fastidious ones think that a soul is of value only in the ratio of its distance from their own land.

If a certain member of the Church has his or her feet led away from virtue, these special Christians shrink from such as from lepers. What business had these creatures to be off their guard? What right had they to be weak? And how could they ever expect to be taken into fellowship with the saints again? Nay, the Church must not be contaminated. Christians of the purer, better sort must not have their garments defiled by these fallen ones; or, if any one must needs make an effort on their behalf, let it be made by those who have nothing to lose in the way of public opinion, no standing to maintain. In a word, if there be any rough crosses to take up, any ugly work to be performed, these special Christians are found wanting. They are just a degree above their Master, in that they will not condescend to do the things which He did.

In times of peace, when the voice of the dove is heard in the land, these Christians rejoice and are full of praise and complete in power. But in times of trouble, when men's souls are tried, when doubt, like a viper, creeps in and insinuates that God is not good, then the special Christians seem of no special use; they find themselves unnoticed and unsought in the midst of a great crisis. No one leans upon them, no one listens for their voice of sympathy and persuasion, no one depends upon their profession or lives. From the highest rank they suddenly sink to the lowest

And alas for such when the great congregations of the earth are assembled and men shall be judged according to the deeds done in the body; when Christ shall put Himself in the place of the lowest who have suffered, and shall say to the special Christians: "Inasmuch as ye did it not unto the least of these, ye did it not unto Me!"

—Talmage.

Jesus Risen.—In the tomb the Man of Sorrows left all his sorrows, as he left all our sins. They were buried with him.—At his resurrection his full joy began; and in the Psalms this connection between his resurrection and his joy is more than once proclaimed. In the sixteenth the two things are placed very strikingly together.

For him resurrection was joy, not because it merely ended his connection with death, but because it introduced him into the fullness of joy—a joy peculiar to risen life, and of which only a risen man can be capable.

Into the joy of this risen life we, in some measure, enter here by faith; but the fullness of that risen joy is yet in reserve for us, awaiting the resurrection of the just, when the body as well as the head shall have done with tribulation and with death forever.

Thoughts on Marriage.

There comes a time when the maiden departs from her father's house. She is called—she answers, and departs. Ah! how many visions of angels have there been! but they were not God's angels. How many have gone out walking on flowers a little way, to find that the flowers changed to thorns! How many have gone out from their father's house, borne on the seraphic experience of love, scarcely touching the ground for joyfulness, find, little by little, that love [illegible] away like a summer's brook, [illegible] in its place but the bare channel, the gravel! How many have [illegible] out to build a fiction which perishes faster than the image fashioned in snow, which melts in the handling!—How many have had their plans perish as they handled them! And yet every maiden must go forth in her appointed time. Blessed are they who know how, when they go forth in the first day, as it were, to behold, as Jacob did in his vision, God's angels ascending and descending, and behind and above all, God himself. See to it, then, you that are going, and you that are gone, that you do not forget to have your earliest plans in married life, your first hopes, include a true love to God, and a true purpose of serving him. It is not enough that you love your husband. He is your head in the Lord; he stands for the hour, as it were, interpreting to you God's love—but he is not God.—Otherwise your ladder will be upon the ground, and too short to reach further than the storm-cloud: and ere long the wind will blow it over. Of all the sad things in this word, I think the saddest the leaf that tells what love meant to be, and the turning of the leaf to tell what love has been. All blossoms—all ashes, all smiles and gladness—all tears and sadness. Nothing is so beautiful as the temple that love builds; and nothing is so miserable as the service of that temple.

My young maiden friend, love is not a possession, but a growth. The heart is a lamp with just oil enough to burn for the hour, and if there be no oil to put in again, its light will go out. God's grace is the oil that fills the lamp of love. And if there be one thing that every woman, above all others, should say to herself, in the ambition of her married life, it is this: "I cannot be respected and loved as I must needs be to be happy, unless I can bring something more than myself. It must be God in me that shall maintain me in that dignity and fulness of proportion, and nobleness and impressiveness, which shall win and hold love." And a godless woman entering into the marriage relation, goes as a lamb to the slaughter. Wreaths of flowers are about her neck: but the knife is not far off.

It is sad—the desecration of love.—It is the saddest thing on earth. There is nothing that touches, it seems to me, the contemplative heart more than that. To see what it might be, if these early days are prophets of possibility, and then to picture what it is, is sad indeed. And, more than anything else in the world, it fails for want of food. No other food for love is there but goodness. Love cannot any more burn without goodness than the flame without fuel. The sorrows that must go with you in all your life, or break suddenly upon you somewhere, cannot be borne without the help of God's ministering angels.—As your household glows around you, and your children begin to feel the tides of life, and you become in turn their guides, as your parents were yours, you will find that no one can bear life well who has not God somewhere, a present help in time of trouble.

If there be anything that your wedded life should have as its vision, it is the ladder between earth and heaven, and the angels of God ascending and descending, and God over all, blessing it. Begin your household life—begin your wedded life, with a firm hold on God, on purity, on heaven. Then there will be hope for you. Otherwise take the winter-fate.—Sermon on Jacob's Vision, by Beecher.

The statistics of New Zealand for 1872 have been issued by the government. The population in 1860 was 76 390, in 1872 it was 273,273. There was a considerable falling off in the value of the gold exported in 1872.—In 1871 it amounted to £2,787,520, whereas in 1872 the exportation was valued at $1,731,261 only. The meteorological tables have been prepared under the direction of Dr. Hector, Inspector of the Meteorological Stations. The meteorological returns are from thirteen stations, and the results of the observations are given in much detail, the highest pressure being 30 572, on the 13th of October, at Mongonui; the highest recorded temperature of the air, in the shade, being 95·7 Fahr., on the 27th of January, at Christchurch; and the lowest 17 0, on the 14th and 15th of June, at Southland.

The Duty and Value of Intercessory Prayer.

The account of the miracle of the healing of the Centurion's servant contains, among its other important lessons, a valuable one as to intercessory prayer. This is that prayer which we offer to God, not for ourselves, but for others: not for our own wants and interests, but for those of others.

Such a definition of intercessory [illegible] is enough to show at once that [illegible] Christian duty: that a man is [illegible]ple of his Christian duty, nor [illegible]tian dignity, who narrows [illegible]dways down to that little [illegible]od's kingdom which he him[illegible]. The prayers of the true [illegible]stian should be like the morning flight of the lark, which starts from her little, lowly nest upon the very bosom of the earth, and, singing, mounts upward in ever-widening circles toward heaven. So, as the Christian prays, let him learn to let his sympathies expand, so that his prayers may embrace, within an ever-widening circle, the "several necessities" of the Church and the world.

The duty of intercessory prayer not only springs out of the very nature of a Christian man's position in the world, but is also a matter of positive Apostolic precept. "I exhort," says St. Paul, "that first of all supplication and prayer, intercession and giving of thanks be made for all men." And, moreover, that model on which we should form all our prayer—the Prayer which our Lord himself gave us—has the idea of intercession so mingled with it that it cannot be dissevered from it. As, when we mingle wine and water, the two liquids so flow together that, in every part of the mixture, we find both wine and water, so is intercession for others mingled in every part of the Lord's Prayer. Not once, from the beginning, in which we call God "our Father," to the end, in which we pray "deliver us from evil," does the selfish "I" or "me" stand alone. Throughout it all our Lord teaches that, in their prayers, His disciples must be in sympathy with all their brethren, and with the needs of the whole world.

But is there any value in intercessory prayer? Shall we weak men and unworthy sinners have power by our prayers to move the mind of God; by our prayers to alter the course of His operations in the world,—at least to effect that change in the relations of God's providence to ourselves which we must express by such terms? Can we, when sickness desolates a nation or a community, "have power with God and prevail" to change that sickness into health? Can we, when a sinner's heart is estranged from God, prevail to have that heart brought back to Him to whom it owes its duty and its service? We can. To doubt it is nothing else than to doubt the power of all prayer.

Reminiscences of an Old Itinerant.

Ministers in the course of years become acquainted with a great variety of people, greatly differing in their tastes, their temperaments, and their habits. They meet with some queer people. They find many things of grave character, and often others quite ludicrous. Wedding occasions are sometimes peculiar in exciting emotions of the ludicrous. One Saturday evening as the family were gathering around the tea table, being called to the door, I met a lady who asked me if I was the minister. I replied in the affirmative. She then asked, "Can you marry me?" (She was evidently a strong believer in Woman's Rights.) "I said, I can." I asked her name. Her answer was, "It is now Henderson, but its going to be Davidson.' I appointed the time at 8 o'clock next morning. Punctually she came with her intended husband, following soon after. Being seated, she presented me the usual certificate. They rose, and on asking him, "Wilt thou take this woman to be thy lawful wedded wife," he put his arm around her waist, literally taking her, and responded, "Yes, sir," and to every sentence of the usual questions, the same glad response, "Yes, sir." She with handkerchief, covering her mouth, wagged her satisfaction as the ceremony proceeded, and at the close expressed her assent. Just before they left, she remarked, "I have been out nursing, and am going out nursing still," and with this precious bit of information, she led her husband away.

On one Thanksgiving day a couple were to be married in church at the close of the sermon. They came to the altar and were married, and immediately passed slowly down the aisle. The choir (the bride having been a member of it), wishing to honor the occasion, and knowing but one piece of music, performed it, beginning, "Fading, still fading, the last beam is shining," and as the married pair neared the door, the swelling music rolled over the audience, "Father, have mercy, through Jesus Christ our Lord."—Exchange.

Two Kinds of Givers

All our denominational enterprises have two sources from which they derive their support. The one may be called accidental, the other constant. The accidental contributions come from those who give upon occasion, as they are moved by some stirring appeal, or solicited by a passing agent. What they do this year is no indication of what may be expected of them next year. Their contribution may be the one contribution of their whole life. In the same circumstances, about the same amount, in accidental contributions, may be expected from year to year: and it is partly on this expectation that our Boards form their plans, and lay out their work.

The constant and reliable supply is from those friends of the work who give not from impulse, but from principle. They determine in their own minds how much they can afford to give, and this becomes a regular, annual appropriation. If they do not see an agent or hear a missionary address for years it is all the same with them—their contribution does not fail to come. They are not like those clocks that must be wound up every day; not like those that keep on running for eight days, or for thirty days, or for a longer time, without any outside interference. You know exactly where to find them, and exactly what to expect of them. You have no occasion to remind them that you will need their help; when the time comes the help comes with it. These are what the Apostle would have called comfortable fellow workers. We have known a number such. In making up the contribution of our church to be sent up to the annual meeting of Association, or Convention we have no trouble with these. They come forward of their own accord, bringing their five, or ten, or twenty, in some cases, fifty or a hundred dollars and call it their subscription, just as they speak of their rent, or taxes, or grocer's bill. Far more touching, and not less pleasing, to the thoughtfulness of some of Christ's poorer fellowers, who save up little earnings against a given day, and then bring them from their hiding place to be cast into the Lord's treasury.

It is this thoughtful and regular giving that carries with it the blessing. It keeps the object for which we give in mind, and suggests it as a subject of prayer: it promises habits of economy and the spirits of self denial: it enlarges our vision, enabling us to look beyond ourselves, our household, our church—over the whole world. The increase of our work is possible only as we have an increase of this kind of helpers. Reader which kind of a giver are you? Do you contribute to the Lord's work only when you are asked, and because you are asked: or do you make it a matter of principle and conscience to give every year as the Lord has prospered you?—H. and F. Journal.

Preparation to Preach.

"O, dear me, I have got to preach! I have beat out pretty much all there is in that straw; and I wonder what I shall preach on next; and so the man takes the Bible and commences to turn over the leaves, hoping that he will hit something. He looks up and down, and turns forward and backward, and finally he does see a light, and he says, 'I can make something interesting from that.' Interesting, why? For what purpose? What, under heaven, but that he is a salaried officer expected to preach twice on Sunday, and lecture or hold the prayer-meeting in the middle of the week! and the time has come round, when, like a clock, it is his business to strike, and so he does strike, just as ignorantly as the hammer strikes upon the bell! He is following out no intelligent plan. He is a perfunctory preacher, doing a duty because appointed to that duty.

"What would you think of a physician in the household who has been called to minister to a sick member of some family, and who says, 'Well, I will leave something or other: I don't know; what shall I leave?' and he looks in his saddlebags to see what he has yet got the most of, and prescribes it with no directions; the father, mother and children may all take a little, and the servants may have the rest.—Another physician, and a true one, comes, and the mother says, 'Doctor, I have called you in to prescribe for my child.' He sits down and studies the child's symptoms: traces them back to the supposed cause: reflects how he shall hit that case, what remedial agents are supposed to be effective, what shall be the form of administration, how often: considers the child's temperament and age, and adapts himself to the special necessity of the individual case. Do you suppose a man can deal with so subtle a thing as the human soul without any thought, skill, sagacity in adaptation, but can take a sermon and throw its contents over the congregation, and let everybody pick out of it what he can find, for every man to take his share? Can this be done in a ministry and accomplish any good? Yes, in God's providence, good is done in this way."—H. W. Beecher.

The Philosophy of Rain

To understand the philosophy of this beautiful and often sublime phenomenon, so often witnessed and so very essential to the existence of plants and animals, a few facts derived from observation and a long train of experiments must be remembered:

1. Were the atmosphere here, everywhere and at all times, of a uniform temperature, we should never have rain, hail or snow. The water absorbed by it in evaporation, from the sea and the earth's surface, would descend in an imperceptible vapor, or cease to be absorbed by the air when it was once fully saturated.

2. The absorbing power of the atmosphere, and consequently its capacity to retain humidity, is apportionately greater in warm than in cold air. The air near the surface of the earth is warmer than it is in the regions of the clouds. The higher we ascend from the earth the colder do we find the atmosphere. Hence the perpetual snow on very high mountains in the hottest climate.

Now, when from continued evaporation the air is highly saturated with vapor, though it be invisible and the sky cloudless, if its temperature is suddenly reduced by cold currents descending from above, or rushing from a higher to a lower altitude, by the motion of a saturated air to a lower altitude, its capacity to retain moisture is diminished, clouds are formed, and rain is the result. It condenses, it cools, and like a sponge filled with water and compressed, pours out the water which its diminished capacity cannot hold.

How Long Shall we Sleep.

The fact is that as life becomes concentrated, and its pursuits more eager, short sleep and early rising become impossible. We take more sleep than our ancestors; we take more because we want more. Six hours' sleep will do very well for a plowman or a bricklayer, or any other man who has no exhaustion but that produced by manual labor, and the sooner he takes it after his labor is over, the better. But for a man whose labor is mental, the stress of work is on his brain and nervous system, and for him who is tired in the evening with a day of mental application, neither early to bed nor early to rise is wholesome. He needs letting down to the level of repose. The longer the interval between the active use of the brain and his retirement to bed, the better his chance for sleep and refreshment. To him an hour after midnight is probably as good as two hours before it, and even then his sleep will not so completely and quickly restore him as it will his neighbor who is physically tired. He must not only go to bed later, but must lie longer. His sleep probably lies in the early morning hours, when all the nervous excitement has passed away and he is in absolute health.—Science of Health.

Chinese Trust.

In all places in China you may see a string of coolies rushing through the streets carrying loads of money.—There is not a policeman to be seen, except occasionally at the gates or in time of trouble. You may see a shroff with a lot of dollars in a flat tray, examining them intently as they pass, click, over his thumb; sometimes a posse of idlers, consisting of chair-bearers, coolies, cooks and servants, all looking on. There does not seem to be even the suspicion that any one might attempt to kick the tray over and bolt with what he could get in the scramble. Why, even in that nest of iniquity, Hong Kong, you may see at the most comfortable of buildings, the Oriental bank, a lot of Chinamen counting and examining, perhaps, thousands of dollars that are being paid to them, and some of the greatest scoundrels unhanged passing constantly; perhaps they think the men in the streets would most likely be honest enough to catch them, but it is rather doubtful if they dare. Money and valuables are exposed in a way that would never be dreamed of in England: and the similarity of dress, the narrowness and crowded state of the streets in China, all would aid in the escape of a robber.

SCIENCE.

The natives of Java are said to possess a fatal poison which acts in a purely mechanical way, and yet, when administered to any animal, is said to produce certain death. It consists of the small, black filaments, obtained from the stalk of the bamboo. These filaments, or minute, needle-shaped spines, are covered with an imperceptible furze, which acts as a propelling medium, so that when the needles are swallowed they catch in the victim's throat, from which they work their way into the respiratory organs, and there produce irritation, followed by a violent inflammation, and eventually death. The needles are so fine that they may be mixed with any form of solid food and thus be administered to the unconscious victim.

At a recent meeting of the "London Astronomical Society," Mr. Glaisher gave an account of some manuscript volumes of twelve figure logarithms which have recently been presented to the Society by the executors of the late Mr. Thompson, of Greenock.—The table of logarithms of numbers extends as far as 120,000. No account has been left of the way in which Mr. Thompson obtained the logarithms of the prime numbers, but, from internal evidence, Mr. Glaisher was inclined to think that they had been independently calculated. He attached great value to the manuscripts. No twelve-figure logarithms have as yet been published. Mr. Glaisher estimated that the cost of printing these tables would be about £1,000.

An interesting peculiarity in the habits of some Indian Silluroid fishes has been noticed at a meeting of the Indian Zoological Society by Surgeon F. Day, which will be described in full in the forthcoming part of the proceedings of that society. Mr. Day when fishing at Cassegode, found that, after having caught a large number of specimens of various species of Arius and Osteogeniosus, there were several Silluroid eggs at the bottom of the boats and in the fish-baskets. These eggs were, on an average, half an inch in diameter; and, on looking into the mouths of several of the males of both genera, from 15 to 20 eggs were seen in each—those in the boats and baskets having evidently dropped out from a similar situation. The eggs were in different stages of development—some advanced so far as to be just hatched. They filled the mouth, extending as far back as the branchiæ. No food was found in the alimentary canal, though in the females it was full of nutriment.

The Arts.

The new oratorio, representing passages in the life of our Lord, recently produced in Berlin, is in three parts, with six principal scenes. The Entry of the Saviour into Jerusalem and the Last Supper from the first part; the Denial of Peter, Christ before the Grand Pontiff and before Pilate, and the Crucifixion, the second section; and the final one is devoted to the Resurrection.

Mr. Stephen Thompson, who, two years ago, successfully produced an extensive series of photographs from the collection of the British Museum, is bringing out, under the sanction of the trustees, a series of large reproductions of typical specimens illustrating the development of art from the earliest to the close of the Classical period. The work will be complete in sixty plates, of which the first part, twenty plates each, about two feet long, with width according to subject, will include fac-simile by the autotype permanent process, of some of the sculptures and basreliefs from the frieze of the Parthenon, the best Egyptain sculptures, slabs from Nineveh, the Etruscan sarcophagus, and the finest pieces of the Townley, Farnes, Blacas, and Castellani Collections.

At a concluding sale in Paris of the collection of the great railroad operator, Stronsberg, of Berlin, the following prices were paid for some of the paintings: Works by Oswald Achenbach sold for 9,700 francs; Brocasset, 14,000 and 10,500 francs; Conte, 8,150 francs; Daubigny, 4,100 francs; Diaz, 9,000 and 9,700 francs; Jules Dupre, 13,000 francs; Fromentin, 8,950, 9,000, and 11,000 francs; Gnillait, 25,000 francs; Gerome, 18,000 francs; Isabey, 6,200 francs; B.C. Kock-Kock, 27,100 francs; the late Baron Leys, 18,700 francs; Murillhot, 20,000 francs; Robert Fleury, 15,000 9,000, and 8,700 francs; Th. Rousseau, 24,800 and 15,000 francs; Schreyer, 11,000 francs; and Troyon, 25,000 francs. The entire collection brought 467,050 francs, or $93,410. To this amount should be added the auctioneer's fees, which the purchaser has to pay.

The New York Evening Mail commends highly a picture now on exhibition in New York, by J. C. Thorn, entitled "Peasants going to Midnight Mass." It represents a custom of the Normandy shepherds, who garland a lamb with flowers on Christmas eve and lead him through the folds followed by the priest and choristers. "Mr. Thorn gives a powerful depiction of this scene; the ground is white with snow, the air black night, but the rays of the lantern borne by the lamb's guardians emit a warm, cheerful light. In the distance we can see the glimmer of the other lanterns and distinguished the shape of the sacred emblem, which is their standard. Mr. Thorn has centred the interest of his picture upon the group in the foreground, and the vociferous enthusiasm of the men is well contrasted with the peaceful quietude of the animal they escort. The story of the picture is completed by the train behind, and the work is thoroughly artistic in conception and execution, and will be a desirable addition to any collection."

The Christian Advocate

OFFICE - Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

FOR ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE,	$2.00
SIX MONTHS,	1.25
If payment be delayed six months,	2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C. JUNE 17, 1874.

To our Patrons.

For several months past, it is known to many of our patrons, that we have been in rather a precarious state of health. Our long and constant confinement to office work was the leading cause of our physical prostration. Under the direction of our medical advisers we have been on light duty for the past five or six weeks, dismissing from our mind as far as possible the perplexing cares and anxieties incident to the successful conduct and management of a newspaper office.—To those of our friends who have been anxious about us, and to our patrons generally, we are glad to say that in the providence of a kind and gracious heavenly Father we are rapidly regaining our health, and have again assumed full duty in our office, performing our accustomed labors with impunity. We desire to assure all that the interests of the Advocate shall not suffer for want of proper attention. We have given our head, heart, and purse to its success and perpetuation. Let our friends stand by the paper as they have done in the past, and all will go well.

The Hope of Nations.

Christianity is a religion for the world. Nations prosper or decay as they receive or reject its great truths. The Psalmist had reason for singing, "Happy is that people whose God is the Lord," for a nation, controlled by Christian truth, must be intelligent and enterprising, no less than virtuous. The Bible carries with it a mighty intellectual stimulus. It wakes the soul to intense life. It incites and feeds thought. Christian Nations are of necessity leaders of the race in every path of progress.

We too often overlook the work of Christ in its relation to nations and States. His atoning death for sinners, the strength of his love in awakening the careless and giving peace to the troubled, and rescuing the lost, has absorbed the attention of the church. It has thought much of the power it wields to help individuals, but little of the force latent in it to elevate and ennoble nations. A class of thinkers despair of modern civilization. It looks to them like a gigantic failure. They predict for modern nations the fate of ancient empires—to be overwhelmed by their own vices. England and Germany and the United States will follow, they say, the same road to national decay as Greece and Rome. Wealth creates luxurious habits: luxury re-creates and corrupts: and vice ends in ruin. But such observers overlook the new elements which Christianity has brought into social life. There was no power of recovery in Paganism. When the simplicity of early habits was lost, it knew no reviving. When the integrity and moral vigor of youth waned, they returned no more. When vices became rooted, and moral disease general, no antidote could be found to stay the contagion. Nations went from worse to worse till they were supplanted by others of nobler character. It is not so in Christian civilization. It contains mighty forces for recovery from social corruption.—Communities given to vice may be brought back to virtue. Nations, whose moral vigor has sapped so that bribery rules in politics, and sensuality in domestic life, have been regenerated. Even heathen nations, where thought has stagnated, and the life has gone out of the social system, may be imbued with new vigor and enter on a prosperous career. Christ is able to save to the uttermost, decaying nations, as well as a single soul in the bondage of sin. The only hope of the recovery of France from its prostration, lies in the elevating power of Christianity. Its fall was not so much from military weakness as from moral decay. The atheism of scientific leaders in Paris, the licentiousness of the people, the corruption of statesmen under the imperial government sapped its strength, and its rapid and complete fall astonished the world. The contrast between the lying bulletins from Paris and Tours and the modest dispatches from the Prussian camps, during their late struggle, throws light on the causes of victory and defeat.

In our own land there are grave evils to alarm thoughtful men. The grasp for wealth, the love of ease—the bribery already developed in politics,—the open corruption of officials, to be seen everywhere, are symptoms of national weakness which bode ill for the future. But the antidote is within reach. Christian truth, accompanied by the converting spirit, may reclaim the vicious and abandoned, and inspire the selfish with lofty aims. The people of God filled with zeal and faith, are the foundation of life to the nation, and they are bound to put none in power who are not held to the line of duty by faith in, and obedience to the moral law.

From a Layman.

An intelligent brother in a recent letter expresses surprise at the small salaries paid some of our preachers in the Shelby District, as appears from a recent communication in the Advocate. He suggests that one of the best preachers be appointed to deliver a sermon at each District Conference on the support of the ministry and church enterprises, and that a similar sermon be preached in every circuit and station. This strikes us as an excellent practical suggestion, and it would be well for the ministry to avail themselves of it. The people need constant instruction upon Christian duty, and especially that part of it that concerns liberality and beneficence. We agree with our correspondent in the opinion he expresses that a church to be successful must be liberal. He says truly that no preacher can do himself justice when financially embarrassed, or when his salary is paid in such driblets as to do him no good, and to give him care as to how his obligations for the support of his family shall be met."

He says further, that every christian should contribute as the Lord has prospered him, and that while one tenth is a safe Biblical rule, that he would not murmur or complain if one half of the amount paid for tobacco, cigars or snuff or the gratification of the appetite was contributed to the Treasury of the Lord, and that with such a contribution the church would have abundant funds for the prosecution of its noble mission of love in the spread of the Redeemer's Kingdom and the salvation of the souls of men.

Trinity College Commencement.

We learn from Rev. Ira T. Wyche the following facts in regard to the commencement exercises of Trinity College. Bishop Keener's sermon was strong, sensible and spiritual,—very appropriate to the times and the occasion—well calculated to impress and improve all who heard it—specially the young men.

The address of Rev. Dr. Wilson was strictly a Literary address—opening up a broad and beautiful field of thought and truth—showing in its range and reach a mind familiar with the facts and figures in its wide domain where he had often roamed and gathered its flowers and its fruits.

The Juniors acquitted themselves to the admiration of all. The crowd was very large on commencement day. Intelligence, grace and beauty gathered to enjoy the rich treat prepared by the graduating class. The young gentlemen all acquitted themselves well and showed that they had been well instructed in thought, language, utterance and gesture. Some of them were specially fine. There were thirteen graduates. The medals were presented by Maj. Armfield and the Bibles by Bishop Keener. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon Rev. N. H. D. Wilson of Greensboro.

We call upon our friends to keep the claims of the Advocate before the people. The district Conference season is now at hand, and we hope the brethren will remember us and bring up a good list of subscribers, and should we fail to attend, let some one be appointed a special agent to receive subscriptions and forward to us

We have commenced sending out bills to delinquent subscribers. Those who receive them are requested to renew their subscription.

Our friends who receive the Advocate with a cross mark will do a favor, both to us and themselves, by renewing their subscription promptly.

We make our acknowledgements to R. P. Troy, Esq., principal of Pleasant Garden Academy for an invitation to attend the commencement party to be given June the 18th.

BOARD OF MISSIONS.—It will be remembered that the General Conference gave the Board of Missions authority to elect an Assistant Missionary Secretary, and they have elected Dr. A. G. Haygood to that position.

MISSIONARY.—The Holston Methodist says that the Bishops have decided that the old 40 per cent. rule will prevail in missionary matters up to the next session of the Annual Conference, when said Conference will organize a Board under the new regimen.

FOR SALE.—We have for sale about 300 lbs. of second hand long primer at 25 cts. per lb. The face of the type is but little worn, and it is a bargain at that price.

To Preachers Holding Drafts on the Treasurer of Board of Missions.

Persons holding drafts for the first, second, and third quarters of the current year, will please send them to the Secretary, and the money will be paid as soon as possible after receiving the drafts. Please to sell them to no other parties, but send them direct to the Treasurer or Secretary.

J. B. McFERRAN, Sec.
Nashville, June 6, 1874.

ALL sufferings, all blessings, all ordinances, all graces, all common gifts—nay, our very falls, yea, Satan himself, with all his instruments—as overmastered and ruled by God, have this injunction upon them, to further God's intendment to us and a prohibition to do us no harm.

Fraternity.

The papers from the Northern church come to us with lengthy comments on the question of fraternal relations between the two leading Methodist bodies of this country. The Central Advocate, published at St. Louis, in an article of a column and a half, upon this question says:

The majority of the conferences, of which the Central is the official paper, have societies of the M. E. Church, South, within their bounds, and are in more or less intimate social relations with the members of the Church. We know instances in which members of both Churches are found dwelling in the same household. During the past few years the members of the two Churches have been forgetting the old differences; they attend each other's meetings, and a desire that the Churches should initiate official fraternal relations has become nearly universal. And it adds to our satisfaction to say that the members of our Church have been the most forward in this fraternity. They have not allowed even rebuffs and studied coldness when the first advances were made to draw them away from the purpose to dwell in Christian fellowship with all who bear the name of Methodists.

We have, therefore, been constant in speaking and writing in favor of a more perfect understanding and friendship between the Churches. Holding the opinion that the question of organic union was not before the Churches with the consent of either party, we have refused to give it any attention. For we shall never favor any organic union of Churches which does not come so spontaneously that it can not be resisted.

The report, as it was passed, doubtless expresses the real conviction and feeling of the majority of the connection. It is not all that we could have desired, and does not convey the same measure of fraternity that was offered by our General Conference.

We have no delicacy in saying that we take exceptions to several matters set forth in the historical statement of differences, and shall give attention to them in due time. We shall especially take occasion to discuss the points at issue in regard to the "Plan of Separation" and the refusal to recognize Dr. Lovick Pierce as a fraternal delegate in 1848. We acknowledge that there are two sides to these questions; otherwise a commission would scarcely be necessary.

The historical portion of the report has one feature that gives us real satisfaction. It contains a clear and fair statement of the efforts that have been put forward by our Church officials for some years past to establish a better understanding with the M. E. Church, South. The people of the South will see that we have let no opportunity pass. Some of our people have thought that we were too persistent in the matter, considering the style in which our advances were received. But we had no other thought than to heal the breach and restore good feeling.

The Northern Advocate says: The personal reception of the delegates in the Conference was all that could be desired. Not so with the formal official reply. The animus of it as we read it is, "We have always been right, and you have always been wrong. We are now right, and you are still wrong. We wait in injured innocence, yet with dignity, for you to make amends for the wrongs done us, which when done, we will consider the propriety of admission to full communion." This we say is the spirit of the document as we read it.

Home Ornaments.

A pretty mantel-piece ornament may be obtained by suspending an acorn by a piece of thread tied around it, within half an inch of the surface of some water contained in a vase, tumbler, or saucer, and allowing it to remain undisturbed for several weeks. It will soon burst open, and small roots will seek the water; a straight and tapering stem, with beautiful glossy green leaves, will shoot upward, and present a very pleasing appearance. Chesnut trees may be grown in the same manner, but their leaves are not so beautiful as those of the oak. The water should be changed once a month, taking care to supply water of the same warmth; bits of charcoal added to it will prevent the water from souring. If the little leaves turn yellow, put one drop of ammonia into the utensil which holds the water, and they will renew their luxuriance. Another pretty ornament is made by wetting a sponge and sprinkling it with canary, hemp, grass, and other seeds. The sponge should be refreshed with water daily, so as to keep it moist. In a few days the seed will germinate, and the sponge will soon be covered with a mass of green foliage.

Goodness does not only communicate favors and kindness—it even in some measure communicates itself.—Just as those, who have been long among the most fragrant objects, not only are delighted with the odor that breathes from them; some of the very fragrancy cleaves to and remains with them. They become fragrant themselves, by staying long among objects that are so.

We invite attention to the notice of the commencement exercises of Davenport Female College, to be found on our first page.

"The Shepherd and the Lambs."

In a late number of the Nashville Advocate, there is a practical article on the duty of ministers as to Sunday Schools, a good part of which we reproduce:

"We wrote a book called "The Sunday-school Teacher." Men who ought to be good judges say it is at least sound and orthodox. Of course all our pastors and teachers have read it. Nay, perhaps not one in a hundred. Well, what, of it? Why, simply this—in that little book we show that the Sunday-school is the catechetical institute of the Church. It is not a Robert Raikes affair. It did not originate in Gloucester, England, in the last century; but it "is of the fathers." It is not a fifth-wheel appendage to the machinery of the Church. It is normal, organic, essential to its being.

Provision always was made for the proper religious culture of the children of the Church. How preposterous would be the opposite course! What shepherd would be so absurd as to suppose that he must feed only the full-grown sheep, but have no responsibility in regard to the lambs of the flock? Why, feeding his chief concern—they engage his tenderest care. So, "the Great Shepherd of the sheep;" "He shall feed his flock like a shepherd; he shall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his bosom." The old sheep may take pretty good care of themselves—they can find their way to pasture, stream, and fold, though they fare all the better by kind and vigilant shepherding; but this is absolutely necessary for the lambs.

Now, we have expanded this germinal idea in the little book to which we have referred; and as it has been circulated by thousands through our Connection, and its principles, facts, and arguments never been disputed, so far as we know, and as our Sunday school literature has for years teemed with this teaching, we really thought that there were scarcely any pastors among us who did not recognize their duty in the premises, and that most of them attempted to discharge it. It is very obvious that pastors can have but little direct personal oversight of the young except through the Sunday school."

* * * * * * * *

In the performance of this work the pastor may have assistants—he must have them. So was it in the Primitive Church. The Bishop—that is, the pastor—appointed men to act as catechists. They aided him in the performance of this great work. Our Sunday-school teachers are catechists—they are the pastor's assistants. Every pastor ought to be acquainted with the character and qualifications of every one who is placed in this responsible office. It is shocking to think that ignorant, trifling, or immoral persons are appointed to a work so serious and so responsible. Better have no teachers at all than such. Remember, the pastor is the responsible party. "Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves, for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account."

Pastors must consecrate themselves to this work. They solemnly promise to do so at their ordination. They say that they will diligently instruct the children. They are required to form them into catechetical classes wherever as many as ten can be gathered together. In a large station, or an extended circuit, having many appointments, the pastor must help. He must have one especially to represent him—call him what you please, chief catechist, superintendent, "governor" (as he used to be called in England) or by whatever title he may be distinguished—he is sub pastor. His charge is serious and responsible. He ought to be well acquainted with "catechetical divinity"—he should be "apt to teach"—a man of method, vigilant zealous, judicious, sound in the faith, blameless in life.

We have been repeatedly asked how he should be appointed. Looking simply at the nature of the work he is called to perform and the relations he has to sustain, we have uniformly and unhesitatingly said that he ought to be clothed with authority by the pastor himself—and, following the analogy of our ecclesiastical [illegible] there should be also the authority of the Quarterly Conference, of which he thus becomes a member.

* * * * * * * *

But, suppose the pastor knows nothing, and cares nothing, about the school, what then? Cashier him. Send him home. He is no shepherd of the flock. Do what you can, in such a case, for the forlorn lambs. They must be fed with food convenient for them—and if the pastors will not, or cannot, do it, it must, if possible, be done by others.

Let Bishops and Presiding Elders persist in closely inspecting this matter. Let them insist upon every pastor doing his duty to the children of the Church, or make him surrender his pastoral staff.

Let every pastor make himself, as far as possible, personally acquainted with all his people, young and old; he will then ascertain who are proper persons to be employed in this great department of pastoral service. Let him consult with teachers, where he has a corps of them, in regard to the best person to be placed in the responsible position of superintendent, and when he is proposed to the Quarterly Conference for confirmation, let it be done with deliberation, and let him be inducted into office with all due solemnity, and peace, and harmony, and prosperity, will be the result.

We perceive that our Presbyterian brethren in this country, and our Wesleyan brethren in England, are moving in this direction—they are more fully recognizing the Sunday-school as an organic feature of the Church, and holding pastors to a corresponding responsibility.

* * * * * * * *

We emphasize the main thought of this paper—pastors must, in person, or by proxy, or both, be catechists. Remember the immortal words of John Wesley: "What a pity that all our preachers have not the zeal and wisdom to catechise!"

Insincerity

In Winchester Towers, which Mr. Anthony Trollope wrote in the earlier days of his pleasant gossipping concerning English society and English curates, he drops now and then, not like Silas Wegg into poetry, but into a cynical, half-philosophical vein of [illegible] that is flavored with much of excellent salt of common sense.—Speaking of the habit that we all more or less fall into, of occasionally criticising other people, he says:

"Considering how much we are all given to discuss the characters of others, and discuss them often not in the strictest spirit of charity, it is singular how little we are inclined to think that others can speak ill-naturedly of us, and how angry and hurt we are when proof reaches us that they have done so. It is hardly too much to say that we, all of us, occasionally speak of our dearest friends in a manner in which those dearest friends would very little like to hear themselves mentioned; and that we nevertheless expect that our dearest friends shall invariably speak of us as if blind to all our faults, but keenly alive to every shade of our virtues."

We should be reluctant to think that everybody's talk is of necessity much of the time about his neighbors. It is a fact, that a great deal of most delightful conversation is not about persons at all, but about nature, or books, or political changes, or the last lecture, or the concert that was given the other night. Still there is a temptation to talk about other people sometimes, and it seems to us that if such talk is not malicious in spirit, or unkind in tone, it is on the whole pardonable. But to speak with a sneer of the foibles of Mrs. A——, and the next moment to welcome her to your parlor with a kiss, as if you had no friend so delightful; to say "good-bye, my dear, come again soon," with honeyed emphasis to Miss B——, and before the rustle of her skirts is gone, to say: "Horrid old thing! I'm glad that's over;" this is to be insincere and untrue. There is, we are sorry to admit, far too much of this sort of easy lying in our social intercourse, and those who indulge in it would do well to remember the quotation with which we began. If we accustom ourselves to ungentleness or insincerity, in our speech or thought concerning our friends, we may be assured that they may be doing the same with regard to us."

Fraternal Relations.

During the recent meeting of the Bishops of the M. E. Church at Columbus, Ohio, Bishops Janes and Peck were appointed a committee to prepare a suitable minute for their records in relation to the mission of their fraternal messengers to our General Conference, who subsequently reported the following, which was unanimously adopted:

RESOLVED, That we have heard with the liveliest interest the communication of Dr. Hunt in regard to the fraternal reception of our delegates to the General Conference of the M. E. Church, South. It gives us great pleasure to enter upon our records our hearty approval of the manner in which our honored delegates have discharged the delicate and important duties assigned to them, and our profound satisfaction with the manner in which they have been received.

We earnestly desire and hope that the future relations of the two M. E. Churches may be entirely cordial, leading to the "spread of Scriptural holiness over these lands."

Personal

We were pleased to welcome into our sanctum last week Rev. W. S. [illegible], Presiding Elder of the Wilmington District. He was returning from Trinity College, whither he had been in attendance upon the commencement exercises of that institution. He was in excellent health and in good working trim. He reports his District, in the main, as being in good condition.

We were glad to have a call from Rev. Ira T. Wyche, both going and returning from Trinity commencement.

The Degree of Doctor of Divinity was worthily conferred upon Rev. N. H. D. Wilson, at the recent commencement of Trinity College.

Rev. H. P. Cole has been unexpectedly called from his charge in this city to visit his mother, who is quite sick at her home in Carthage.

Augustus taxed the world for civil ends; but God's providence used this as a means for Christ to be born at Bethlehem. Ahasueras could not sleep, and therefore, calls for the chronicles, the reading of which occasioned the Jew's delivery. God often disposeth little occasions to great purposes: and by those very ways, whereby proud men have gone about to withstand God's counsels, they have fulfilled them.

MR. EDITOR: I spent two days last week very pleasantly in the village of Ansonville, Anson county in attendance upon the closing exercises of the "Ansonville Graded School," in charge of Rev. J. K. Tucker, A. M., Principal, and his accomplished assistant, Mr. Wm. Redfearn. This school is situated in the beautiful and healthy village of Ansonville, among a refined and cultivated people. The public exercises began Wednesday evening. A large audience assembled in the church where they enjoyed a treat in listening to speeches and dialogues delivered by several of the students.

On Thursday morning the people began to pour in from the country round, and the village presented a lively appearance. Well dressed ladies and gentlemen moving here and there wearing their blandest smiles, looking as if they all expected to enjoy the occasion; nor were they disappointed. At the hour of nine o'clock students and visitors repaired to the church. The exercises were opened with singing and prayer after which we were regaled with excellent speeches and dialogues from the students. These were all so well delivered that it would be invidious to particularize. Thoroughness marked them all. R. A. Shotwell of the "Southern Home" was expected to deliver the Literary address, but he was unable to be present. Yet we were not disappointed in hearing addresses, Rev. A. D. Betts pastor of Ansonville circuit and Rev. J. H. Guinn of Wadesboro circuit, were called upon and kindly favored us with able and interesting addresses. They were both most excellent, and were frequently applauded by an appreciative audience. At night there was a social gathering in the college building. Youth and beauty met together. Old and young were there. "All went merry as a marriage bell." The occasion was made more pleasant by enlivening strains of music from the Lumberton Brass Band. This band is made up of young gentlemen who performed their part most admirably.

This school is eminently deserving of patronage. The principal has much experience in teaching. He is a graduate of Trinity College, came to Ansonville very highly recommended by Dr. Craven. He is certainly fitted for the position of a teacher.

This is a mixed school, but the utmost care and watchfulness is exercised.

Boarding and tuition are very low; this is perhaps one of the cheapest schools we have. I hope to have the pleasure of attending many such occasions.

B.

Commencement Exorcises of Wesleyan Female College.

Sunday, June 14th, 11 A. M.—Annual Sermon before the graduating class by Rev. W. W. Duncan.

Monday, June 15th, 10 A. M.—Meeting of Board of Corporators in College building.

At 7½ P. M.—Celebration of "Theta Delta" Society. Address by Rev. Geo. E. Booker.

Tuesday, June 16th, 11 A. M.—Annual Address by Hon. A. M. Waddell, of North Carolina. At 7½ P. M., Celebration of "M. P. S." Society.—Address by Rev. J. W. Bledsoe.

Wednesday, June 17th—Commencement Exercises at 9 A. M., to conclude with a Valedictory Poem by Miss Ruth Vernon Hope, (daughter of Rev. Richard B. Hope, deceased). At 7½ P. M.—Vocal and Instrumental Concert.

W. G. STARR,
President.

Murfreesboro', N. C.

Contributions to Edenton St. M. E. Church.

Plymouth S. S.	$1.00.
Mocksville "	2.15.
Thomasville "	1.00.

Religious Brevities.

— The Congregation of the Church of the Good Shepherd of this city will worship during the summer months at Commons Hall. The organ has already been moved into the Hall. It is the coolest place in the city.

— The authorities at Hiwassee College have conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity upon the Rev. David Sullins, A. M., President of Sullins College, Bristol, Tenn. He will wear his honors worthily and well.

— The national conference of Dunkers have decided against partial shaving of the beard, against sending boys to college, and against allowing members to engage in the banking business.

— While in London a few days ago the Czar was waited upon by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York at Buckingham Palace, where the Primate presented to him a Bible in Russ, translated under the auspices of the British and Foreign Bible Society. Dean Stanley was present at the interview.

— Rev. John Lovejoy, a Catholic priest officiating at Hudson, N. Y., died suddenly, June 4, of brain fever. Rev. John M'Cormack, a Catholic priest, was drowned at Renfrew, Canada, while out fishing, on the fourth instant.

— The General Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church at its late session in Lynchburg, Va., abolished the order of deacons in the ministry. Might not some larger Methodist bodies follow their example, to the advantage of their practical ecclesiastical logic, without at all damaging the efficient workings of their ministries?

Miscellaneous Items.

There is none under heaven that can comfort me, but thou my Lord God, the heavenly Physician of souls, that strikest and healest, bringest into hell and drawest out again.—Kempis.

For eighty-six years I have served Him and He has done me no evil. How then shall I curse my King and my Saviour? Almighty God, Father of thy well beloved Son, Jesus Christ, I bless Thee, that Thou hast judged me worthy this day to drink the cup of Thy Christ, for the resurrection unto life eternal.—Polycarp.

Welcome sufferings, the rack and the cross, broken bones and violence of savage beasts, if I may but obtain Jesus Christ.—Ignatius.

Man enjoys all things in himself, that enjoys himself; but he only enjoys himself who enjoys his God; and he alone enjoys his God who believes in him.—Cassiod.

To sin against knowledge is a much greater crime than an ignorant trespass; as the crime which is capable of no excuse is more heinous than the fault which admits of a tolerable plea.—Justin Martyr.

REV. LOVICK PIERCE, D. D.—We are sorry to be able to report very little, if any improvement in Dr. Pierce's condition. He is extremely feeble, and greatly harassed with a severe cough. He is at the Wesleyan Female College, where he receives every attention, and is made as comfortable as the tenderest and most assiduous ministrations can render him. We spent a short time with him yesterday afternoon—June 5th—and though suffering a great deal, he reported himself consciously better than during the previous night, when he was quite ill. We are hopeful that he will yet be heard from the pulpits which for so many years have been graced by his presence and hallowed by his eloquent utterances.

Saturday Morning, June 6th.—We learn from Dr. Myers, that Dr. Pierce passed a more comfortable night than usual, and is feeling better this morning.—Southern Advocate.

ON OUR TABLE.

"Waiting hours with the Hungry, and Weary, and Thirsty in the Wilderness," by Anna Shipton, author of "The Secret of the Lord," "The best Blessing," "Fell Jesus," "Asked of God," &c., &c., published by Warren & Wyman, Bible House, N. Y. This is a tastefully gotten up little book of 204 pages, price 85 cts. It is divided into six chapters—waiting for the set time—waiting for daily guidance—waiting and watching—waiting for service—waiting after failure—waiting for deliverance. It is a charming little book.

"The Promise and the Promiser," by the same author and publishers. The book is divided into eight chapters: "The power and presence of the Living God—Life and service—The witness of the Spirit—The Banished Brought House—In the Desert—In his word—In the Sanctuary—In the Sanctuary continued—Abiding in the Will.

GO OR DIE—By David C. Kelley, D. D., of the Tennessee Conference, published by the Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville Tenn. This is an excellent missionary Essay, and is one of the "five manuscripts of great merit" prepared in response to the call for the best Essay setting forth the principles, &c., of the church concerning missions. The essay should have a place in every Methodist family.

THE NEW BUFFALO SPRINGS.—This famous watering place is now open for the accommodation of visitors. While we know nothing personally of the properties of the water, we are lead to believe from their reputation that invalids, especially dispeptics could not select any summer resort more advantageous to health. See advertisement in another column.

The Civil Rights Bill.

The following bill passed the Senate some weeks ago, but as many of our readers have not yet seen it, we give it a place in our columns. It is now thought that this bill will not become a law at this session of Congress;

Sec. 1. That all citizens and other persons within the jurisdiction of the United States shall be entitled to the full and equal enjoyment of the accommodations, advantages, facilities, and privileges of inns, public conveyances on land and water, theaters, and other places of public amusement, and also of common schools and public institutions of learning or benevolence supported in whole or in part by general taxation, and of cemeteries so supplied, and also the institutions known as industrial colleges, endowed by the United States, subject to the conditions and limitations established by law, and applicable alike to citizens of every race and color, regardless of any previous condition of servitude, that the full enjoyment of any accommodations, advantages, facilities, or privileges, in said section enumerated, or inciting such denial, shall, for every such offense, forfeit and pay the sum of five hundred dollars to the person aggrieved thereby, to be recovered in action on the case, with full costs, and shall also for every such offense be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than one thousand dollars, or shall be imprisoned not more than one year; provided, that the party so aggrieved shall not recover more than one penalty; and, if the offense is a refusal of burial, the penalty may be recovered by the heirs-at-law of the person whose body has been refused burial; and provided further, that all persons may elect to sue for the penalty aforesaid, or to proceed under the rights at common law and the State statutes, and, having so elected to proceed in the one mode or the other, their right to proceed in the other jurisdiction shall be barred; but this proviso shall not apply to criminal proceeding either under this act or the criminal law of the State.

Sec. 3. That the District and Circuit Courts of the United States shall have, exclusively of the courts of the several States, cognizance of all crimes and offenses against, and violation of, the provisions of this act; and actions for penalty given by the preceding section may be prosecuted in the Territorial, District, or Circuit Courts of the United States, wherever the defendant may be found, without regard to the other parties; and District Attorneys and Marshals, Deputy Marshals, with the Circuit and Commissioners, appointed by the Circuit and territorial Courts of the United States with powers of arresting and imprisonment, and taking recognizance for trial, are hereby specially authorized and required to institute proceedings against every person who shall violate the provisions of this act, and cause him to be arrested and imprisoned, or bailed, as the case may be, for trial before such court of the United States or territorial court as by law has cognizance of the offense, except in case of the right of appeal accruing to the person aggrieved, in such proceedings to be prosecuted in the termination as in other cases; provided, that nothing contained in this section shall be construed to deny or abridge the civil action accruing to any person by reason of this act or otherwise.

Sec. 4. That no citizen, possessing all other qualifications which are or may be prescribed by law, shall be disqualified for services for grand or petit juror in any court of the United States, or of a State, on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude, and any officer or other person charged with any duty in the selection or summoning of jurors, who shall exclude or fail to summon any citizen for the cause aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not more than one thousand dollars.

Sec. 5. That all cases arising under the provisions of this act in the courts of the United States shall be reviewable in the Supreme Court of the United States without regard to the sum in controversy, under the same provisions and regulations as are now provided by law for the case of other courts in said court.

State and Local

— Rev. J. C. Hiden, of Wilmington, delivered the Literary address before the Clio Society of the Raleigh Female Seminary on the 8 instant.

— The Monroe Enquirer says: Editing a paper is like carrying an umbrella on a rainy day. Every one thinks he can manage it better than the one who has hold of the handle.

— The Charlotte OBSERVER says: In declaring for Robbins, Watauga county has set an example, which will probably be followed by every county in the 7th Congressional District. Mr. Robbins has made a faithful representative. He deserves the endorsement of the people. Let us have for another term our gallant trio of statesmen—Ashe, Vance and Robbins. They are "good men and true."

— The Southern Home says: The tobacco crop of Virginia and North Carolina will probably not exceed one-half the usual average. The wet, cold spring and the fly destroyed many plants, and the usual "wet-spell in May" did not occur this month, so that the few plants on hand could not be set out.

— W. S. Moore, of Greensboro, has purchased in the last twelve months 800 dozen rabbit skins, 857 mink and otter, 3042 muskrat, 1049 raccoon, 578 gray fox, 20 red fox, 4293 opossum, 73 cat and 2 skunk.

— An alligator nine feet in length, weighing one hundred and eighty pounds was caught on the 4th inst. out of the mill race of J. C. Williams, of Sampson county.

— The case of young Elliot, who killed Neal in Statesville, has been moved to Wilkes for trial.

— Hon. W. A. Graham, says the Hillsboro RECORDER, has returned from a visit to Philadelphia. His health is very considerably improved since the advent of warm weather.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.—During the storm of Wednesday last, Hamilton Bridges, a colored man, was instantly killed by lightning on the Tarboro road, about five miles from this city. The mule that he was driving was also killed by the same stroke. Both were found in the road about sun set.

— It was so hot in Charlotte on Tuesday of last week, that brickmasons, working on the walls of several buildings were compelled to suspend work at 12 o'clock.

—A meeting to perfect plans for the aid of the Louisiana sufferers was held in Raleigh at the Yarborough House at which E. C. Woodson, Esq., of the News presiding and J. S. Hampton, Esq., of the CRESCENT was Secretary. Quite an extensive course of entertainments was resolved upon. It was determined to invite Gov. Vance to lecture.

— Raleigh NEWS; The Grand Master of Masons in this Jurisdiction having been requested by the proper authorities to lay the corner stone of the United States Court and Post-office Building in this city, on the 4th of July next the Subordinate Lodges are hereby notified that a Special Communication of the Grand Lodge will be held at the Masonic Hall in this city, at 10 o'clock A. M., on that day for the purpose above indicated.

— Judge Tourgee is spoken of as one of the Radical candidates for the House of Representatives from Guilford county.

— The Conservatives of Alamance have nominated for the Senate, Dr. Alexander Wilson, and for the House of Representatives, J. A. J. Patterson.

—Governor Baxter is a native of Rutherford county North Carolina.

— Corn along the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad is waste high in some places.

— The farmers in the vicinity of Salem are cutting wheat, and so far the yield promises to be unusually fine.

— The Conservatives of Moore county have selected K. H. Worthy for the Senate, and Capt. A. A. McIver for the House.

MILTONIAN TABLEAUX.—This excellent work of art was exhibited at Tucker Hall last Monday and Wednesday evenings, and was witnessed by a large number of persons. The mechanism by which the panorama was operated was not in the best working order, though the delay in shifting the scenes gave, perhaps, the audience a better opportunity of studying the ever-developing beauties of the paintings. No grander conception ever took birth in the mind of man, or was ever given to the world in grander phrase than the "Paradise Lost" of the immortal Milton, and it required a genius not the inferior to portray the ideas upon the canvass. This was done successfully by John Martin, the famous artist of London, after whose work the panorama exhibited last week is said to be a copy.

The events from the rebellion of Lucifer down to the expulsion of our first parents from the garden of Eden, to which the fallen archangel planned and worked, are all so vividly portrayed that it seems in truth a "living breathing canvas." The war in heaven, the terrible raging and struggles of the contending hosts and the fierce work of the deadly engines of destruction, are especially admirable.

We advise all to witness it to whom the opportunity offers of doing so, for it is a work of art of great merit, and is highly pleasing and instructive.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All the travelling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1.01. Those who send us none will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters and dues should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount remitted. If money is sent otherwise it will be at the sender's risk.

General News.

FRANCE.—The political situation in France grows more and more towards the only solution there is possible without a dissolution of the Assembly, a crisis and a contest between the Republic and the extreme reactionists that would bring infinite trouble upon the whole nation. We have always said that MacMahon and the Left and Right centres would unite in favor of an honest republic there would be peace and the best republic there would be peace and the best government and it did have behind it the hopes and the tears of the best people in France. It would be conservative, of course, just as our own American republic was conservative under Washington, or any government must be, to grow. And as MacMahon, let him have given in, advanced thinker just, as Lincoln was, we could not be total destruction, impossible on any terms, as did not even appear from MacMahon, that he contemplated the restoration of the old regime. The Right Centre—Legitimist—theory is a dream. The Centre—Orleanist—MacMahon is the only escape from the Empire or a new revolution. Herald.

J J Hoskins was elected Right Worthy Grand Chief Templar of the Grand Lodge of the world, by the Grand Lodge of Good Templars, in the recent session.

In the recent election in Oregon, Grover, the Democratic candidate, was elected Governor.

There are many U. S. Senators expire the present year.

The great famine in India is assuming appalling proportions. Thank or three millions of people are receiving rations from the government.

Mrs. D. Mc Iver, formerly of this city removed to New York.

The House of Representatives has commenced to remove the disabilities of Republican Senators.

Gov. Caldwell is going to erect a monument to his own memory over the grave of Isaac Pusey.

The appeal of the Mayor of New Orleans, in behalf of the destitute sufferers by the overflows, tells a tale of heart-rending suffering and distress. The chief city disposed have a wide field of operations opened up for their benefactions by the appeals of famishing thousands in the plantation States.

Hon. A. H. Stephens who said some months ago that he was going home to die, is evidently determined to do so. He has left Crawfordville where he has lived over forty years, and moved to Atlanta, where he will live with his brother, Judge Stephens.

Elliot, who killed Hamilton, has been moved to Lexington, Ky., the Hillsborough Recorder says, for the trial.

Wilmington & Weldon stock high in some markets.

The vicinity of Salem Church, Randolph county, is said so far the yield will be fully one half.

Commissioners of Moore county have appointed Worthy for the Senate and A. McIver for the House.

A. V. Gilbert, who killed Tucker Hall, Wednesday evening, by a large number of persons by which the fatal was not in the least degree though the delay in the trial may have, perhaps, the advantage of the public mind, the opportunity of studying the countless of the painful transaction ever found a parallel, or was ever in greater phrase, "Least" of the immortal bard a genius but little of the ideas upon can be successfully by famous artist of London took the panorama exhibited and to be a copy. The rebellion of Lucifer—pandemonium of our first garden of Eden, for changed planned and vividly portrayed that reviving breathing eternal heaven, the marshalling the contending hosts of the deadly engines especially admirable. We express it to whom the honor of doing so, for it is a work of merit, and is highly creditable.

In somethings Bro Cross was very reticent. He made no loud protestations of piety while he never faltered in discharging duty. His left hand knew not what his right hand did.

It was only in the close intimacy which it was the privilege of some to enjoy that the full force of his religious character was felt.

The writer of this can say sincerely that it was good to converse with him upon the blessed themes of the Gospel. That privilege can be ours no more. Dear ones who mourn his absence, let us meet him in his bright home above! Amen.

WARREN WOOD.

Stanton Tenn. April 30th 1874

Sister Penelope B. Gaylord wife of Asa O Gaylord, was born Sept. 24th 1805 and died in Plymouth N. C. June 5th 1874 Seldom are we called upon to chronicle the death of a more eminently pious persons than was Sister Gaylord. Hers was one of the most beautiful examples of Christian life that I have ever met. For nearly forty two years has she been treading the strait and narrow road, and during all that time her course has been onward and upward, never faltering or turning aside. Though since she first believed in Christ, at times the torpor of spiritual apathy has fallen upon the church of her choice, and many have felt its chilling power, her light of love has never lost its brightness,nor her star of faith grown dim.

She not only kept, but adorned the doctrine of Christ, and were I called upon to give an evidence of the truth and power of religion pointing to her life,I would say. "Behold it there!" Her faith was strong and clear,—Rising nobly above mere belief it took hold with sublime confidence upon the promises of God and trusted in him fully.

Her life was ripe with deep religious experience, her conversation holy, and few ever fell her without being benefited by her conversation. The Methodist church of which she was a member will greatly miss her prayers and influence. In all the relations of life she was a worthy exemplar, and the crowded audience and flowing tears at her funeral gave proof of the respect and affection in which she was held. For all her Christian life while she was in the world, she was not of it, and prompt willing to abide the Master's will, like St Paul she desired to depart and be with Christ which is far better. In her last illness, while her mind was clouded upon every other subject it was clear upon that of religion, and at first, as if the disease had far advanced she seemed to be happy all the time. Death was no dread summons to her for she felt that it would be gain. She prayed to die in the day time, and God answered her prayers. At half after five o'clock P. M. of the fifth she passed away without a struggle Sweetly she fell asleep on Jesus breast, and departed to her mansion above. We stood awed and silent, and with weeping eyes watched her life bark as it rounded the last buoy and cast anchor on the eternal shore, and by faith we caught the song of triumph as it come sweetly back to us though gloom "Home at last, home at last." Yes faithful one, thou art at rest in the bosom of thy Saviour. May we all meet thee there!

F. D SWINDELL.

Died, in Franklinton, N. C., May 25th 1874, Clarence Edward, only son of W. P. & Mary E. Clegg, aged 10 months and three days.

"Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Died, near Stony Hill Church, May 31st 1874, Isabella, infant daughter of W. Maud and E. Smith, age 8 months.

Sweet is the lizzie has gone to rest,
Where she will be forever blessed;
For little children Jesus did love
And clasp them to his sacred breast.

She has gone where friends will meet her;
She has gone where angels will greet her;
She has gone where pain can't reach her—
She has gone where Jesus will keep her

Angels in Heaven will forever love her,
While friends on earth may soon forget her;
Her parents who so dearly love her,
Hope in Heaven soon to meet her.

Jesus forever keep her thine
And in thy glories let her shine,
Amen when we our work have done,
Carry us where little Izzie has gone.

V. S. S.

Sister Mary Carson, widow of the late Rev. Robt. Carson was born July 1805 and departed this life at her residence near Palmyra, N C. on Saturday evening May 23rd 1874 Only a few months ago the Lord came very near to her by taking away her beloved husband—the divine visitation was very sensibly felt, her health gradually declined, and it appeared evident that dear aunt Carson would not long remain with us. I conversed often with her on death, judgment and eternity and, she would sometimes say that she felt that her days would soon be numbered, and expire and her willingness to die. She walked with calmness and composure for the summons of her Lord, and appeared, resigned to God. She leaves several children and a large circle of friends to mourn her departure.

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

HER PASTOR.

Letters and Funds.

Rev F D Swindell. Rev W H Call p per sent. B I Powell Mrs E V Grandler sell $2. Rev Dr Craven Rev J B Laurence sel Alden. Rev J S Nelson. Rev M L Wood. B S Pugh, your paper is regularly sent. W B Dunn Jr. W P Clegg. R B Lawrence. Jno R Morris, your paper regularly sent. C W Westbrook & Bro. Rev W S Black. E M Watkins your paper has been going. Rev W H Lee for E A Thrower 2. R J Fergerson 2. W J Cherry 2 J B Squires 2. Rev J A Dean Rev Warren Moore, paper sent. Rev D P Goode paper changed. Rev Ira T Wyche for Mrs M R Moore 2. Rev J F Smoot paper sent Jno E Rhine paper goes weekly. Mrs S D Twitty paper changed. Rev F D Swindell it will cost 3. Dr J B McFerrin. Theodore Boyd. D P Shafford It was a mistake of clerk Rev R M Brown. Walker Taylor & Co. G Rosenthal. R W Harris. Rev J E Mann. Miss L Selby. Rev L L Nash. E Y Hodges J H Eanes Miss Sue Duffy. Mrs M C Edwards. W J Parker, all right on the books. F B Becton sell 2. Rev W G Starr. Rev H H Gibbons Dr Dr W Pearson 2. B F Wells, paper changed. Rev Dr Closs. G P Rowell & Co. Rev E A Yates. Rev A K Murchison. Dr R Hooker. Dr J H Crawford sell 2. Dr Haygood. Rev H T Hudson. Dr E O Elliott. Rev W C Norman all right with W B M. D W Kerr. Miss Lula Parker all right on the books. Dr R S F Peete. Gen P Rowell & Co. Rev J W Jenkins. M G Britton.

Appointments

WILMINGTON DISTRICT

3RD. ROUND.

Magnolia,	June 27–28
Clinton,	July 4–5
Wilmington Fifth street,	" 11–12
Kenansville,	" 18–19
Whiteville,	" 25–26
Wilmington Front street,	August 1–2
Smithville,	" 8–9
Cokesbury,	" 15–16
Topsail,	" 22–23
Elizabeth,	" 29–30
Onslow,	Sept 5–6
Bladen,	" 12–13

W. S. BLACK, P. E.
Magnolia, N. C.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT

3RD ROUND.

Tryon Street and Calvary Miss.	June 27–28
Monroe ct. Liberty Chapel.	July 1–5
Pineville ct. at Roan's,	" 11–12
Monroe st	" 18–19
Mt. Pleasant ct. at Mt. Pleasant,	" 25–26
Concord st.	August 1–2
Pleasant Grove ct. at Pleas. Grove,	" 8–9
South Charlotte ct. at Bethel,	" 15–16
Albermarle and Stanley. at Center,	" 22–23
Lilesville ct. at Salem,	" 29–30
Wadesboro' st.	Sept 5–6
Ausonville ct. at—,	" 12–13
Wadesboro' ct. at—	" 19–20

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Warrenton st.	June 13–14
Warren ct.	" 20–21
Roanoke ct.	" 27–28
Williamston ct.	July 1–5
Columbia ct.	" 11–12
Plymouth,	" 18–19
Bath ct.	" 25–26
Mattamuskeet,	August 1–2
Washington and Greenville.	" 8–9
Tarboro at Tarboro,	" 15–16
Garrett's Q. M.,	" 22–23

Wm. CLOSS, P. E.

NEWERN DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Beaufort,	July 4–5
Straits, Tuesday,	" 7
Wayne, Saturday,	" 11–12
Jones, Treaton,	" 18–19
Trent, Bethlehem	" 25–26
Lenoir, Woodington,	Aug. 1–2
Newb. cir't, Beach Grove, Tuesday,	" 4
Goldsboro,	" 8–9
Kinston, Tuesday.	" 11
Neuse, Swift cr'k Miss } Smith's Creek.	" 15–16
Snow Hill, Tabernacle,	" 22–23
Wilson,	" 29–30
Mt. Olive.	Sept. 5–6
Newbern.	" 12–13

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND.

Jonesboro' Poplar Spring	June 13–14
Cumberland, Campground,	" 20–21
Carthage, Bethlehem.	" 27–28
Buckingham Mt. Pleasant	July 4–5
Richmond Hornby,	" 11–12
Laurinburg. Laurinburg.	" 18–19
Fayetteville,	" 25–26
Montgomery, Smyrn,	Aug. 1–2
Pee Dee,	" 8–9
Cedarie, Concord.	" 15–16
Buckhorn, Buckhorn,	" 22–23

S. D. ADAMS, P. E.

The District Conference will be held at Laurinburg, commencing on Thursday the 16th of July.

A camp-meeting will be held at Concord, Fayetteville circuit, in connection with the third Quarterly Meeting commencing on Friday evening Aug. the 14th.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND—IN PART.

Granville ct. at Salem,	July 4–5
Tar River ct. at Banks Chapel,	" 11–12
Rolesville ct. at Sidney,	" 18–19
Henderson ct. at Tabernacle,	August 1–2
Cary ct. at Ebenezer,	" 8–9

The District Conference will be held at Franklinton, To commence on Thursday morning, July 23, at 10 o'clock.

W. H. BOBBITT, P. E.
Cary, N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND—IN PART

Statesville ct. at Bethlehem,	June 20–21
Mt Zion ct. at Mt. Zion,	" 27–28
Yadkinville ct. at Elkin	July 1–5
Statesville st. Dist. Conference,	" 9–12
Mt. Airy st. at Salem,	" 18–19
Surry ct. and S. Mis. at Newhope,	" 25–26
Mocksville ct. at Smith Grove, (C. M)	Aug. 1–2
Salisbury st	" 4

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Ohn, N. G.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND—QUARTERLY MEETINGS

Durham at Orange church	June 13–14
Chapel Hill & Haw River at Ebenezer	" 20–21
Flat River at Walnut Grove,	" 27–28
Person ct. at Providence,	July 4–5
Hillsboro ct. at New Sharon,	" 11–12
Alamance ct. at Clover Garden,	" 18–19
High Rock Mission,	" 25–26
Yanceyville ct.	August 1–2
Deep River,	" 15–16
Pittsboro	" 22–23
Leasburg at Leasburg	" 29–30

The District Conference will be held at Leasburg commencing August 27. Rev. H. H. Moore will preach the introductory sermon. Brethren from abroad are invited to attend.

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Mt. Tirzah, N. C.

The Markets.

Raleigh Market—Retail Prices

June 2, 1874.

CORRECTED WEEKLY.

COTTON	14 1-2 to 17 1-2
BACON—Baltimore smoked,	10@11
" —unsmoked,	9@10
" —strips,	12 1-2@
" —shoulders,	10@11
" —N. Hams,	13@16
BUTTER—per lb.	25@30
BEESWAX—per lb.	25@30
BEEF—on hoof,	10@15
COFFEE—per lb	24@25
CHEESE—per lb.	20@25
COTTON YARN—per bale	1 75@10
CORN—per bushel	90@1 00
CHICKENS—per piece	20@25
EGGS—per dozen,	15@20
FLOUR—per barrel	8.50@9
HIDES—green, per lb.	6@7
" —dry, per lb.	12@13
HERRINGS, N. C.—per barrel	7.50@8.00
LEATHER—per lb.	30@40
LARD—per pound	12@13
MOLASSES—per gallon,	40@50
MEAL—per bushel	90@1 10
OATS—per bushel,	75@
" —per 100 lbs.	1.50@1.50
ONIONS—per bush.	75@1.00
PEASE—stock,	1.00@
" —white,	1.40@1.50
POTATOES—Irish, per bushel	75@100
SUGAR—crushed	13@14
" —extra C	11@12
" —C.	10@
" —common,	12@13 1-2
SALT—per sack	3.00 @ 4.00

New Advertisements.

LOW PRICED MUSIC BOOKS

Attractive, Useful, and very Popular.

CLARKE'S DOLLAR INSTRUCTORS, FOR REED ORGANS, PIANO and VIOLIN.

RIVER OF LIFE. 35 cts. Best Sabbath School Song Book.

CANTATA of ESTHER. Dramatized. 50 cents Immensely popular.

FATHER KEMP'S OLD FOLKS TUNES. 40 cents. Much enlarged. Sung everywhere.

RIVER OF LIFE. 35 cts. Best Sabbath School Song Book.

WINNER'S NEW SCHOOL for Piano, Cabinet Organ, Guitar, Banjo, Cornet, Accordeon, Flute, Fingerboard, Clarionet. Price of each Book, 75 cts.

RIVER OF LIFE. 35 cts. Best Book for Sabbath Schools.

WINNER'S HANDY FOUR. $1.00 1st and 2d Violin, Cornet, or Clarionet, and Bass Sent post paid, on receipt of retail price. OLIVER DITSON & CO. C. H. DITSON & CO. Boston. 711 Bdway, New York.

LADIES READ!

Needles for the following Machines: Wheeler and Wilson, Grover & Baker, Wilcox & Gibbs, Howe, Weed, Domestic, Buckeye and Singer. Warranted equal to the best. Only 35 cents per dozen. Sent prepaid to any address in the United States on receipt of price. Address, J. A. STEWART, Henderson, N. C.

THE MENEELY BELL FOUNDRY

BELLS for Churches, Academies, Factories, etc., of which more have been made at this establishment than at all the other foundries in the country combined. All Bells warranted. An Illustrated catalogue sent free upon application to MENEELY & CO., West Troy, N. Y.

june 10-12m

BINGHAM SCHOOL.

ESTABLISHED IN 1793.

MAJ. ROBERT BINGHAM, Supt.
MAJ. W. D. LYNCH,
CAPT. T. M. NORWOOD,
W. G. CLARKENBUSH.

Mebaneville, N. C.

The 161st Session opens July 15th 1874. Charges including books $160 per session. No extras.

june 10-2m

THE

New Buffalo Spring,

MECKLENBURG COUNTY, VA.

This Spring is shown by analysis to contain a fraction under three grains of the "Salt of Lithium" to the imperial gallon. This salt is found in but two of the other Mineral Waters of the State, and in those in much more "grace." Professor George B. Wood, of the University of Pennsylvania, speaking of Lithia, says "There is perhaps no other remedy from which equal efficacy can be expected in the removal of the deposits of the Urate of Soda in the joints and like membranous tissues in gouty patients, and in preventing the deposits in the kidneys, bladder, and urinary passages." Another writer on the subject says: "Lithia is peculiarly adapted to the case of persons suffering from or threatened with gout, stone, or gravel, there is perhaps, no other known remedy that promises greater relief in such cases." Applying the above dicta to the facts, it may be fairly claimed that no chalybeate mineral water in Virginia holds out to invalids a surer hope for the diseases here mentioned a property or relief equal to the adored by the new Spring at Buffalo. The appended certificates will show that this Spring, though of very recent discovery, is not without evidence to support the claim which is made for it as a remedial agent.

May 20, 1874. THOMAS P. GODWIN.

GRAVEL AND DYSPEPSIA RELIEVED neatures NEW SPRING AT BUFFALO. Does

MECKLENBURG COUNTY, May 20, 1874

For some five years or after he had been greatly afflicted by the disease of gravel and dyspepsia, being often confined to her bed, and almost entirely debilitated by the discharge of any of the duties of life. During the past winter her condition grew worse, and needed no labors to afford her any relief. By the advice of her physician she commenced, some six weeks ago, the use of the water of the New Spring, at Buffalo Lick, Mecklenburg county, Va., and she is happy to say that her health has been restored to her perfectly. Her improvement was so perceptible in her condition, who knew and visited her, that she is now restored to a condition like as she was, and able to attend regularly to her domestic duties.

Very respectfully, WILLIAM GOSS

CASE OF SEVERE INDIGESTION ATTENDED BY HORRID NIGHTMARE RELIEVED BY THE NEW SPRING AT BUFFALO.

Mrs. C. H. B. Skelton, a resident of county—P. O. Prospect—Va., called at the proprietor of the Buffalo Springs, who happened to interview with Dodd, a resident of the vicinity, coming to bring in a load of corn. Dodd, seeing Mrs. Skelton at the Springs, spoke to her in relation to the relief experienced by her wife in a very suffering condition, from the New Spring at Buffalo. She went to the house and made the statement to Mrs. Dodd, and Sept. subscribed to the use of a small quantity of the water, but being induced to take a second supply from the same source, and, being delighted at her restoration to health, she herself visited the Spring at Buffalo, and returned home with a supply sufficient to last for a week. She is a very old woman.

NORVELL COBB.
W. W. J. BAPTIST.

While saying no more in regard to my wife, of the condition of daily suffering I knew of her sickness, of her having the use of the water of the Spring, and I believe her health restored to be complete.

W. W. J. BAPTIST.

june 10-6t

DR. WM HALL'S

BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS,

THE GREAT AMERICAN CONSUMPTIVE REMEDY.

Pneumonia is NOT an incurable disease. Just what causes one to die of it, and another to live? It only takes up to leave the stomach out, and the terrible malady can be conquered.

HALL'S BALSAM IS THIS REMEDY.

It breaks up the spasm-wracks, relieves the oppressive pain, and the cough loosens and heals the inflamed and convulsed surfaces which the venom of the disease produces.

WHILE LIFE LASTS THERE IS HOPE.

In many cases too late to effect a cure even after the doctors have given you up.

HALL'S BALSAM is sold everywhere, and may be had at wholesale of all the prominent JOBBERS, JOHN F. HENRY, CHEMIST, 26 & 28 Dey Street, New York, and at Druggists, and 24 College Place, New York. Price $1 per bottle.

HALL'S BALSAM is also a sure remedy for CROUP.

Colds, Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, and all other diseases of the respiratory organs.

Any Druggist can procure Hall's Balsam for you. Carbolic Soap, one of the greatest luxuries, Unpresented Hotels, Mott's Liver Pills, &c.

JOHN F. HENRY, CHEMIST & CO., 24 and 26 College Place, New York.

june 10-1m

SPECIALTIES

Must be sold, at my best wholesale assortment of

Rich Lace Points,

Brussels Point Lace Collar

Lace Undersleeves

Real Hand-Made Valenciennes,

Edgings and Insertings,

Color Hemed and Hemstitched

Handkerchiefs,

Together with the remainder of

OUR STOCK.

It is especially desirable that we should close out

THE ENTIRE STOCK

EVERY CHARGES.

Goods Very Cheap and Very Good.

A. R. & S. S. TUCKER.

Surviving Partners.

jel5-tf

BUY ONLY THE

"ALL RIGHT"

COOKING STOVE

The CHEAPEST of your

The CHEAPEST among the fury

WE HAVE THIS DAY GREATLY REDUCED OUR PRICES ON SASH, DOORS AND BLINDS,

Send for Price List.

MACHINE BELTING,

Steam Packing & Engine Hose,

ALSO

ALL OTHER ARTICLES OF

Vulcanized India Rubber.

FARM & CHURCH BELLS

Of Every Description.

Address Hardware House of JULIUS LEWIS & CO., Fisher Building, Raleigh, N. C.

june 4-tf

THE ALL RIGHT

COOKING STOVE

Is offered as absolutely

Without a Superior.

SOLD AT PRICES AS LOW AS ANY OTHER FIRST CLASS STOVE BY

JULIUS LEWIS & CO., Fisher Building, Raleigh, N. C.

june 4 tf

CARY COTTON GIN.

The Latest, Best and Cheapest.

I offer the public the latest improved Cotton Gin, as well as the cheapest. The following certificates from well known gentlemen, will be more satisfactory than any thing I can say:

NEAR CARY, N. C., Nov., 12th, 1873.

This is to certify that I am using one of the Cary Gins made by W. M. Sorrell, of Cary, N. C., and that I am well pleased with it and could cheerfully recommend it to any one wanting a good Gin.

A. B. YATES.

CARY, N. C., May 22nd, 1874.

I take pleasure in saying that the Cary Saw Cotton Gin I purchased from Mr. W. M. Sorrell, known as the Cary Gin, does for better work than any Gin I have heretofore used, though costing from 50 to 100 per cent. less money. I think any person in want of a Gin will save money by purchasing the Cary Gin, its performance has been entirely satisfactory to me, I can cheerfully recommend it to others.

A. F. PAGE

We certify that the Cary Gin has given entire satisfaction to our neighbors, who have tried it, and we think it an excellent gin.

H. F. GUESS.
H. E. JORDAN.
W. C. PAGE.
WM. E. PELL.

PRICE:

For 10 Saw Gin,	$130.
For 35 Saw Gin,	160.
For 30 Saw Gin,	150
For 25 Saw Gin,	140
For 20 Saw Gin,	130.
For all under 20 Saws,	120

Persons wanting Gins will please send in their orders early in the season so that I may not be crowded in the fall. Send in your orders and I warrant you will be pleased. I do all kind of repairing.

Address, W. M. SORRELL,
Cary, N. C.

may 4-6m

FARMERS' EXCHANGE

My w.
And tell t
Are only
Sheep pson & Whitaker

Wholesale Grocers and Commission Merchants.

MARTIN STREET.

GUANOS.

"Soluble Nitrate Guano"
"Nitrated Tobacco Fertilizer"
AND Bicarbonate Phosphate
Manufactured by Navassa Guano Company at Wilmington, N. C. Guaranteed to meet all the requirements of Below are the names of a few who will testify to its merits:
Dr. B. Craven, Trinity College; L. H. Sanders, branch county, W. H. McCullough, Johnston county; David Wood, Johnston county; J. M. Wilson, Wilson's Mills; E. W. Pou, Raleigh; Willis Avera, Person county. For sale by

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.

Raleigh, N. C.

Feb 4 12m.

HORNER & GRAVES' SCHOOL

Hillsboro, N. C.

A Classical, Mathematical, Scientific & Military Academy.

Fall Session begins the 2nd Monday in July.

Board and Tuition, including fuel, wash'ng, lights and furnished rooms $125.50 per Session of twenty weeks.

INSTRUCTORS:

A. H. HORNER, A. M.
R. H. BRAVES, A. M.
HUGH MORSON, A. B., University of Virginia.
MAJ. D. H. HAMILTON
A. W. VENABLE, Jr., Peace Institute Class. College
Circulars sent on application.
Hillsboro' N. C.

June 10-2m.

GREGG & BOWE

COR. 8TH & ORANGE STS.,

Wilmington, Del.,

Manufacturers of fine CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, ROCKAWAYS, CARROLETTS, VICTORIA COACHES, &c., &c.

Also Dealers in cheaper grades of Carriages

REFERENCE: Col. J. M. Heck, Raleigh; Judge Dick, Hon. B. Keogh and Julius A. Gray, Greensboro; L. E. Johnson, Lexington.

apr 23 1f.

THE PEERLESS STEAM WASHER AND BLEACHER!

The Latest, Best and Cheapest Washer made!

The Steam Washer per the best kind is generally conceded. That the PEERLESS is best of its kind will be readily admitted as soon as it is seen and tested.

It causes all the water to flow up through pipes and start down through the clothes.

The water has not to go to the centre nor either end of the boiler to get back where it started, but goes out at any part of the upper bottom, and hence washes all parts of the clothing alike.

The water in sixteen streams, on all parts of the clothing.

This machine, any lady who chooses, may do the washing of her family in a very short time, with very little work, without chips, without rubbing, or damage to the fabric, with such ease and quiet that her husband would hardly know when washing commenced.

The cost of the machine soon saved in difference in wear. Soon saved in difference in labor required.

A bed quilt or low collar—the finest or coarest fabric—a single piece or half a full, washed with equal ease.

The machine can be made for any store boiler, or the boiler furnished with the machine can be used for any other purpose.

It sells for less than any other, and will do the work more thoroughly and in less time.

As the name indicates it is

PEERLESS AMONG ALL!

Directions for using as with each machine. They are made of best material, and sold at the following prices:

For washer and boiler (No. 9)	$8.00
For " alone	5.00
For washer and boiler 34 inches long	9.50
For " alone	6.00

Sent anywhere per express on receipt of price by J. A. JONES, Proprietor, Raleigh, N. C.

Oct 1 1-y

LIVINGSTONE IS DEAD!

For 34 years MILLIONS have intently watched his PERILOUS yet HEROIC STRUGGLES and GRAND TRIUMPH: and now they eagerly desire the COMPLETE LIFE-HISTORY of this world-renowned BENEFACTOR, which unfolds also the CURIOSITIES and WEALTH of a WILD and WONDERous land. We publish the MOST TRUE HISTORY, WRITTEN by his BOSOM FRIEND. Now ready 2,000 pp. illustrations. We publish the MOST TRUE HISTORY, WRITTEN by his BOSOM FRIEND. Now ready 2,000 pp. illustrations. Only agent sold 134 first six days, 700 first week. For particulars of this and 20 NEW Illustrated BIBLES, and OCEAN'S the superb, address HUBBARD BROS., at either nearest Address—PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON, or CINCINNATI, O.

Oct 1 1-y

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap.

Apply at the ADVOCATE Office.

Sept 10-tf

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Successors to Wyatt, Green & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Cotton Factors,

Commission, Shipping

And Forwarding Merchants,

No. 4 Exchange Place and Martin St.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Special attention given to the sale and purchase of cotton and satisfaction guaranteed.

Consignments of all kinds of country produce solicited.

All debts for or against the late firm of Wyatt, Green and Co., will be collected and disbursed as they become due, by us.

WYATT, BINGHAM AND CO.

dec10-tf Raleigh, N. C

GREAT SALE OF

GARDEN HOES.

FOR NEXT 30 DAYS
FOR NEXT 30 DAYS,
GARDEN HOES 25 CENTS.
GARDEN HOES 25 CENTS.

Garden Hoes	25 Cents.
Garden Hoes	25 Cents.
Garden Hoes	25 Cents.

Warranted Steel
Warranted Steel,
Garden Hoes 30 Cents,
Garden Hoes 30 Cents,

Great Bargains,
Great Bargains,
Garden Hoes 35 Cents,
Garden Hoes 35 Cents,
Call Early,
Call Early,
Garden Hoes 40 cents,
Garden Hoes 40 cents,
Extremely Low Prices
Extremely Low Prices,
Garden Hoes 45 cents
Garden Hoes 45 cents,
Garden Hoes 45 cents.
25, 30 35 40 45 and 50 cents
Call and see our bargains at

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS.

may 6—1

OLD NORTH STATE

LIFE

Insurance Company,

OF

WARRENTON, N. C.

Closed its second fiscal year April 1st, in a condition of great prosperity.

All losses promptly adjusted when demand and full satisfactory evidence of death, on the basis of the New York law.

Every legitimate agency business promptly pushed. The Company does not owe

A DOLLAR.

IT IS A

NORTH CAROLINA INSTITUTION,

organized and conducted by NORTH CAROLINIANS. And receives the liberal patronage it is receiving.

WM. S. DAVIS, President.
S. R. JONES, Vice-President
H. F. LEGGETT, Secretary.
WM. J. NORWOOD, Treasurer.
T. C. WILLIAMS, Supervisor.
JNO. DEVEREAUX, Agent.
Raleigh, N. C.

May 13-12m

ORGANS! PIANOS!

Organs for Church or Parlor, prices extremely low for CASH, or part cash and balance in MONTHLY or QUARTERLY PAYMENTS. Second-hand Instruments taken in exchange. A liberal discount to Ministers, Teachers, Churches, Schools, Lodges, &c.

Agents for Horace, Waters & Son celebrated Organs and Pianos.

You can save money by buying from NAT L. BROWN, Raleigh, N. C.

may 23 tf

A SECOND HAND PIANO FOR SALE AT NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

CROQUET SETS, BALLS, BATS, HOOPS, MARBLES, Bubbling and Algerine Bubbles, Games, etc., at NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

CONFECTIONARIES, CANNED GOODS, FINE Cigars and Smoking Tobacco, at NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES, At NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS, STRINGS AND TRIMMINGS, at NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

BASKETS, BASKETS, BASKETS, THE LARGEST assortment in the city, at NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

NATIONAL HOTEL

Brightfully Situated, next to Capitol Square, RALEIGH, N. C.

A NEW HOUSE.

Fine Rooms, well Furnished and Fitted up in the best style.

ATTENTIVE SERVANTS.

The Table Daily Supplied with the Best this and other Markets Afford.

C. S. BROWN, PROPRIETOR.

Late of Boyden House Salisbury N. C.

Feb. 25—3 mos.

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY

MALE AND FEMALE.

R. P. TROY, A. M., Principal,
Mrs. R. P. TROY, Teacher of Music.

Spring session begins January, 5th 1874.

Board per month, $8.00
Tuition " " from 1.50 to 3.00
One half in advance.

ADVANTAGES.

Low price of board and tuition, healthy and moral location, Sabbath school and religious service every Sunday.

Access—By Rail Road to Greensboro, whence free conveyance will be furnished by the Principal, if notified of arrival

Greensboro, N. C.

Nov 26 1m

FLOUR! FLOUR!! FLOUR!!!

Leach Brothers,

No. 3 Exchange Place,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We beg leave to call the attention of the Trade in Central North Carolina to our large and well selected stock of

"FAMILY," "EXTRA" AND "SUPERFINE" FLOURS.

We feel confident we can do as well for them as any house in Baltimore or Norfolk, freight and other charges added.

Our senior Partner and Buyer, who resides all the time in New York, has for the past eight years been connected with the large and well known grocery house of Messrs. H. K. Thurber & Co., and has recently been connected with the Flour Exchange in that city, as their buyer of Flour, which gives us every advantage of the largest buyer in New York, as well as Baltimore or Norfolk, enabling us to offer Flour in this market for the first time STRICTLY AT FIRST HANDS, and with only one profit to the retailer.

Our facilities for handling these goods being equal to any house South of New York, and buying them at "Hard Pan" prices for cash, we are determined to handle them at as small margins as any house in these Northern cities.

Samples sent upon application and prices guaranteed.

We also offer the same inducements in general

Grocery Stock.

LEACH BROS.

mar 4-tf.

THE WILSON TAKES THE GRAND Prize at Vienna!

AUSTRIA, VIENNA, Aug. 15, 1873.

To W. G. Wilson, President Wilson Sewing Machine, Cleveland, Ohio:

The Wilson Shuttle Sewing Machine was awarded the Grand Prize at the Vienna Exposition for being the best Sewing Machine. HAYSON.

The above telegram needs no comment. The people can now be assured that in buying the Wilson at the low price of $30 they are getting the best Sewing Machine ever offered to the public. Circulars free. Best terms to agents. address

BRARTON & WHARTON,
State Agents, Greensboro, N. C.

S P 4—tf. Pd 5.

CAROLINA COTTON GIN.

M'CALLUM, WYCKOFF & HOPE,

SUCCESSORS TO

SEPARKS, HICKS & CO.,

Engineers, Iron Founders and Machinists,

RALEIGH, N. C.,

We are in mid-securing

THE CAROLINA COTTON GIN.

Awarded at the late Fair of the North Carolina Agricultural Society in 1874 for the BEST COTTON GIN IN USE. It has no superior; is the lightest running, strongest and most durable machine. We guarantee every Gin to give entire satisfaction. The Gins we manufacture are the best Gins sold in the State.

We are also manufacturing Engines and Boilers for running Gins, and other machinery. Our Gins and Ball are in the market.

We are excelled by any other

We CASTINGS for Gins of all kinds of machine work, repaired in the best manner.

apr 1 2-tf

WATSON'S GALLERY

—OF—

PHOTOGRAPHIC ART,

RALEIGH, N. C

Is one of the most complete and extensive Photographic establishments in the South, where every style of Photographic work is done, from the smallest miniature, to the size 18 x 24 inches in oil. If you have Photographs of your deceased friends or relatives you would like enlarged, call and see what we can do in nature. Photographic Materials, Gilt Frames always on hand, for sale wholesale or retail. When you come to Raleigh don't forget to call at WATSON'S GALLERY on the corner above Tucker Hall.

J. W. WATSON.

Dec 3-12

TYSON & JONES,

Carriage Builders,

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C.

All work warranted, and done by experienced workmen. Repairing promptly attended to. Painting and Trimming done in the latest and most approved style. Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed. Shop on Person street, between Market and Cool Spring streets. Entrance on Market street.

We are constantly on hand to make to order all kind of Carriages, such as pure Curled Hair, Cotton And Husk Mattresses, Excel

Youth's Department.

"For There Shall Be No Night There"

BY H. HOLMAN.

No night in heaven! O, cheering thought
To those who share the rest there sought;
For sorrow there, no sin to lull, hit
Where shines the day that knows no night

As night in heaven to shade our peace
Is that life clime where sufferings cease,
For Christ himself shall be the light:
He made the heaven that knows no night.

No night in heaven, to fill with gloom
Beyond the confines of the tomb;
There perfect day excludes the night
And glorifies the glorious night.

No night in heaven! Let us rejoice
To make it ours in all the happy choices;
So shall the shame its blessed sight
And spend the day which knows no night.

Willie's Baby Sister

Willie wanted the jelly very much, and the jelly was in the little jar upon the upper shelf of the china closet.

Willie and the baby were in the dining room together. Mamma had gone out, leaving them with Katy, and Katy had just stepped to the door to speak to a friend.

So there was nobody to see Willie but the baby, and she seemed to be very busy with her blocks just then.

He took a cracker from the tin box and climbed upon the shelves until his small hand could reach the jelly jar. He took spoonful after spoonful of the coveted dainty, until his cracker was piled "mountain high" therewith, and looked like the base of a very irregular pyramid. Then he came down from his elevation with a jump and when he turned round the baby was looking him full in the face.

She didn't laugh as she sometimes did at his merry pranks. She only stared wonderingly.

"I should fink you'd better play with your blocks. That's what I should fink you'd better do," said Willie.

"Wah! w-a-h," answered the baby.

"There they are," and Willie trembled them about with his foot. "Don't you see 'em?"

The baby made no reply. She looked first at Willie, then at the jelly, which was rapidly disappearing.

"I s'pose you'd like some, but I can't give you some, 'cause you could'nt eat it all up nice and clean, and 'twould show on your mouth. Some other day brother-ll give you some."

The baby didn't say a word.

"There! it's all gone now. I ain't goin' to have any more, 'cause 'twould be naughty to have any more. Don't you hear Katie coming. Let brother wipe his hands, and then he'll play with you."

The offending fingers were hurriedly wiped upon Willie's apron, and when Katy opened the door he was making a very tall house for his sister to the destruction of which that little lady condescended to smile.

"That's a man!" said Katie, approvingly. "Was she good the while?"

"She didn't scream any," answered Willie.

"Just mind her for a bit longer, then, till I go for her milk. There's a good boy," and Katy went out into the kitchen.

She didn't intend to keep the baby waiting, but Bridget's first cousin had just dropped in from the country, and he was so very entertaining that Katy forgot the milk, and left it upon the stove until it was too hot, then she plunged the tin cup into a pitcher of ice water, and forgot it again until it was too cold; then, of course, it had to be heated over, all of which processes took time.

They took such a long time, in fact, that when mamma came home she found Willie turning summersaults, running about on all fours, squealing like a pig, barking like a dog, in short, transforming himself into all sorts of impossible animals, to amuse his sober little sister.

But when baby's brown eyes saw mamma, how quickly they brightened. The little hands were impatiently held out, the tiny feet kicked the tiresome floor remorselessly. Who, indeed, could be unreasonable enough to expect a baby to sit contentedly upon a hard, old floor, when mamma's loving arms were almost within clasping distance?

Willie's mother didn't expect it at any rate. She took her little daughter in her lap, and hugged her and kissed her, squeezing her so tight that it almost seemed as if the baby would lose her breath altogether, but she didn't.

Then the lady turned to Willie. "Been a good boy?" she inquired.

"I guess I did," replied Willie.

He glanced at the baby as he said this. She was looking at him very earnestly, and singularly enough, her lip was quivering.

"Come and tell mother what you have been doing."

"Ain't been doin' any fing, but just being dogs and fings."

"Is that all?" asked mamma, wondering at her son's flushed face and uneasy manner.

"Yes; I didn't do any more fings but just them," with a defiant look at his wee sister.

It was strange that at this very moment, the baby should burst out into a wailing, pitiful cry. It was a touching cry, as if the little heart were cruelly rent and torn, and must have instant relief, or break upon the spot.

"What's the matter with my darling? There! there! there!" and mamma walked up and down the long dining-room with her charge, conscience-stricken Willie following close at her heels.

"P'r'aps she finks I wasn't a very good boy," he faltered at length.

Mamma did'nt hear him, the baby was screaming so.

He spoke louder.

"P'r'aps she finks that I was a naughty boy."

"Were you a naughty boy, Willie? There! there! there!"

"Pretty naughty. I taked some jelly. It was nice jelly."

"But you told mother you were good. Sh! sh! sh! mother's little lady."

"I wasn't very good. I wasn't good every minute. I spread it onto a cracker." I did'nt give sister any."

"I don't believe she wanted any. She feels better now, doesn't she, dear little sister! Were you good all the rest of the minutes Willie?"

"Yes; I did. I was good all the other times."

And the baby's face, which, only a moment before, had been so puckered up with grief that her nose was hardly distinguishable, now suddenly smoothed itself, the brown eyes shining through the tear-drops, like two precious little suns in a summer shower. She had but one tooth in the wide world, but that one she graciously exhibited in a most bewitching smile.

"She's glad I'm a good boy now, mamma," remarked Willie, with an air of intense satisfaction.

"I'm glad, too," said mamma, with a kiss. "Good boys—Why, Katy! Is it time for her milk? Didn't she have it at three? No wonder she jumps at the sight of the bottle. She must be nearly starved, poor little baby!"

Rural and Domestic.

STARTLING AND RUINOUS STATISTICS.—Would our readers believe that Raleigh alone pays out yearly from fifty-five to sixty-five thousand dollars for Northern hay? Yes, this is a sad fact; and we hope this Fall to see thousands of bushels of clover and grass seed sown; thereby putting an immediate stop to this depleting, ruinous practice.

Can we afford to work all the year hard and cultivate six acres of cotton, and then send it to Massachusetts and give it for one acre of hay—which in all has not cost the producer ten days work; folly, folly, folly! Will our people ever learn better? Or will they keep their eyes always closed, and consent to forever belong to the people of the North? Or will they read and talk less politics and more farming, and throw off the yoke and declare their independence!—State Ag. Journal.

Useful Recipes.

SPONGE CAKE.—No better recipe for ordinary use can be obtained than the following: one cup of sugar, one cup of sweet milk, one egg, two teaspoonfuls of cream tartar, one third cup of butter, and two cups of flour. Flavor with one half teaspoonful of the essence of lemon.

LEMON EXTRACT.—Both lemon and orange rinds make good extracts. Allow two ounces strongly flavored rinds to half a pint of alcohol: adding a few drops of the oil will greatly improve the extract.

CORN PUDDING.—Can't any one make "mush?" Yes, very likely, after a fashion: at least we should think a great many of the meal messes we have tasted were manufactured by parties not overstocked with wisdom in that direction—lumpy, salvy, slushly, scorched stuff, tasting like raw corn slightly smoked. That is not pudding such as Christians ought to eat. To make it good, the meal should first be mixed with warm water into a thin batter, and vigorously stirred until no symptom of a lump remain. Having the water in your kettle boiling moderately, pour in the batter gradually, stirring vigorously all the while, and continue the stirring for a quarter of an hour. Then you will have good pudding.

DRESSING FOR SLAW.—Boil half a pint of cider vinegar with a lump of nice fresh butter, the size of an egg; cut in four bits, and roll it in flour. When boiled, pour into it the beaten yolks of three eggs, and pour hot over finely chopped cabbage; add salt and pepper.

GINGER COOKIES.—One cup molasses; one cup sugar; one cup butter; one half-cup lard; one half cup buttermilk; one and a half teaspoonfuls soda; one egg; one table-spoonful ginger; knead soft, cut in squares, and bake in a quick oven. Excellent. Try it.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Seeing is Believing.

If in this liberal age there are persons to be found who are so blinded by prejudice as not to believe that a medicated stimulant is an item of immense importance in the cure of human maladies we should like them to witness the wonderful effects which Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are now producing all over the country in cases of intermittent fever, rheumatism, bilious disorders, dyspepsia, nervous complaints, constitutional debility, mental depression and premature decay. To be sure these effects are nothing new. The great vegetable invigorant and its cures have been before the people for more than twenty-five years, and in every year of the twenty-five its popularity has increased and its sale has become larger. Yet there are no doubt many thousands of intelligent citizens who have never had an opportunity of observing for themselves the surprising changes which this unequalled tonic and alterative produces in systems which seem to be hopelessly broken, and in cases of disease which are not amenable to ordinary remedies. Probably many of these regard the statements made in relation to the sanitary properties of the Bitters with some degree of incredulity. Would that all such skeptics could see with their own eyes what this medicine is doing for the sick and feeble every where, what a staff of life it is proving to the aged and infirm what a help in time of trouble to feeble women suffering from the complaints and disabilities peculiar to the sex, what a protection to health and life in unwholesome districts, what a panacea for languor and depression, what a specific for all diseases in which the system requires to be vitalized and sustained, of all stimulants it is the purest and safest, of all tonics the most genial, effective and agreeable, of all alteratives the least violent and the most certain in its beneficial results. June 4-1m.

DR. C. M'LANE'S
CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS,
FOR THE CURE OF
Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,
DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weakness and debility; he is easily startled, has cold or burning feet, and frequently has a prickly sensation of the skin; the pimples are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up resolution enough to try it. In fact, he does not enjoy remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the liver to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others can Flaming Bros. will do well to write their orders generally, and ask for "Dr. C. M'Lane's, Improved," or "Liver Pills, from Fleming Bro's, Pittsburgh, Pa." To those wishing to purchase a trial, we will forward per mail, post-paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for 50 cts. in fractional postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by international currency. Sold by all respectable Druggists and Country Storekeepers generally.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge

Should be kept in every nursery. If you would have your children grow up to be healthy, you must get rid of Worms; and Worms, give them a few doses of

M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE,
TO EXPEL THE WORMS.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS

"For The Blood is The Life."

See Deuteronomy Chap. xii Verse 23. The blood being the source from which our systems are built up and from which we derive our mental as well as physical responsibilities, how important that it should be kept pure. If it contains vile festering poisons it organic functions are weakened in color. Setting upon important organs, as the lungs, liver or kidneys, the effect is most disastrous. Hence it behooves every one to keep their blood in a perfectly healthy condition and more especially does this apply at this particular season of the year than at any other. No matter what the exciting cause may be, the real cause of a large proportion of all diseases is bad blood. Now Dr. Purce does not wish to place his Golden Medical Discovery in the catalogue of quack patent nostrums by recommending it to cure every disease, nor does he so recommend it, on the contrary there are hundreds of diseases that he acknowledges it will not cure, but what he does claim is this, that there is but one form of blood disease that it will not cure, and that disease is cancer. He does not recommend his Discovery for that disease, yet he knows it to be the most sovereign blood cleanser yet discovered, and that it will free the blood and system of all other known blood poisons, be they animal, vegetable or mineral. The Golden Discovery is GUARANTEED to cure or the purchaser can have their money back, in all forms of Blotches, Pimples and Eruptions, also, all Glandular Swellings, such as Scrofula, Scrofula sores and Ulcerated Sores of Neck, Legs or other parts, and all Scrofulous Diseases of the Bones, as White Swellings, Fever Sores, Hip Joint and Spinal Diseases, all of which belong to Scrofulous diseases.

CONFIRMED HIP JOINT DISEASE CURED
W. Liberty Station, Ia., July 14, 1876.

DR. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR—My wife first became lame three years ago. Swellings would appear and disappear on her hip, and she was gradually becoming reduced, and her whole system rotten with disease. In 1874 a swelling broke on her hip discharging large quantities, and since that time there are several openings. Have had five doctors an expense of $150, who say nothing will do any good but a surgical operation.

July 16th, 1875, he writes: Since May Wife has certainly received a great benefit from the use of your Discovery, for she was not able to get off the bed and was not expected to live a week when she commenced using it, a year ago. She has been doing most of her work for over six months. Has used twenty bottles and still using it. Her recovery is considered almost a miracle, and we attribute it all to the use of your valuable medicine. I can cheerfully recommend it as a blood purifier and strength restorer.

J. M. ROBINSON.

June 17-1w

THEIR MERIT APPRECIATED.—Brown's Bronchial Troches have been before the public many years. Each year finds the Troches in some new, distant localities, in various parts of the world. Being an article of true merit, when once used, the value of the Troches is appreciated, and they are kept always at hand, to be used as occasion requires. For Coughs, Colds, and Throat Diseases, the Troches have proved their efficacy. For sale everywhere.

duly

ADVERTISEMENTS.

ELGIN WATCHES.
W. B. FARRAR,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND OPTICIAN.

Deals in Swiss Watches, Calendar and ordinary Clocks, Jewelry, Spectacles, Silver and Plated Ware, Bridal Presents, Guns, Pistols, Cartridges, Sewing Machine Needles, Table Cutlery, Ladies' Pocket Knives, IXL Razors, Work Boxes, Walking Canes, &c. TERMS REASONABLE.

No. 7 South Elm Street, Opposite Express Office, Greensboro, N. C.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

What will it do? Is the first inquiry the sick make concerning a medicine. Suppose:

Tarrant's Seltzer Aperient

is the only effectual purifier, regulator, what then? Simply this: it will relieve and cure headache, nausea, flatulence, or queasiness, costiveness, debility, biliousness and indigestion. Sold by druggists everywhere. June 17 2 w

JAMES LEFFLE'S
IMPROVED DOUBLE
Turbine Water Wheel.

POOLE & HUNT, Baltimore,
MANUFACTURERS FOR THE SOUTH AND SOUTHWEST

Nearly 7,000 now in use, working under heads varying from 2 to 24 feet! 21 sizes, from 5¾ to 96 inches.

The most powerful Wheel in the Market,
And most economical in use of Water.
Large ILLUSTRATED Pamphlet sent post free.

MANUFACTURERS ALSO, OF

Portable and Stationary Steam Engines and Rollers, Babcock & Wilcox Patent Tubulous Boiler, Knauch's Brother for Minerals, Saw and Grist Mills, Flouring Mill Machinery, Machinery For White Lead Works and Oil Mills, Shafting Pulleys and Hangers.

SEND FOR CIRCULARS.

Feb 25-6m

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of INDIAN HEMP, which cured his only child; and now gives this receipt free on receipt of two stamps, to pay expenses. HEMP also cures nightsweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in 24 hours. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race St, Philadelphia, naming this paper. June 4-3m

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, AND NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE
In effect on and after Thursday, Jan 9th 1874

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte	11 P. M.	8.35 A. M.
" Greensboro	"	8.20 "
" Salisbury	11 09 "	10.47 "
" Greensboro	35 A. M.	1.15 P. M.
" Danville	5.25 "	3.37 "
" Burkville	1.40 "	5.06 "
Arrive at Richmond	3.32 P. M.	11.02 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond	1.48 P. M.	03 A. M.
" Burkville	4.58 "	8.25 "
" Danville	9.34 "	1.42 P. M.
" Greensboro	1.16 A. M.	4.49 "
" Salisbury	3.56 "	6.33 "
" Air-Line Junct'n	6.22 "	8.51 "
Arrive at Charlo.	6.51 A. M.	9.02 "

GOING EAST AND WEST

STATIONS.	MAIL.	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'	7.05 A. M.	Arrive 12.35 A. M.
" Co. Shops	7.50 "	1.20 "
" Raleigh	8.40 "	2.40 "
Arrive at Goldsboro'	10.40 "	Leave 4.40 "

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

SALEM BRANCH.

Leave Greensboro'	11.30 A. M.
Arrive at Salem	1.30 P. M.
Leave Salem	3.30 "
Arrive at Greensboro	5.30 "
Leave Greensboro'	11 "
Arrive at Salem	8.00 A. M.
Leave Salem	9.30 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro	9.45 A. M.

Mail trains daily, both ways, Sundays excepted.

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond 9.45 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.20 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.50 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, (without change.)

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the schedule of this company will please print as above.

For further information address

S. B. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent.
Greensboro, N. C

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	9.35 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.00 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	4.40 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	8.00 A. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.01 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	5.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and North-west, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and South.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Haywood and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accomodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh the Accommodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division,

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Seaford,	6.25 "
Train leaves Seaford,	6.45 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.20 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	3.05 P. M.
Arrives at Seaford,	8.20 "
Leaves Seaford,	10.15 A. M.
Arrive at Ral'gh	3.40 P. M.

Mail Train making close connection at Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Seaford with the Western Railroad to and from Fayetteville and all points West. Also, Accommodation and Freight Train connect with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Sup rintendent.

M. T. NORRIS, Late with Leo H. Adams.
W. A. MYATT, JR. Formerly with J. P. Gulley & Bro.

NORRIS & MYATT,

(SUCCESSORS TO LEO H. ADAMS)

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

GROCERS, COTTON FACTORS

—AND—

General Commission Merchants.

No. 3 Exchange Place and No. 5 Martin Street,

They offer to the trade a large and well selected stock of first-class groceries at remarkably low figures to suit the times. They are daily receiving, and have to-day in store, a choice lot of North Carolina Hams.

75 bbls Family Extra Superfine Flour.
50 sacks North Carolina Flour.
300 bushels Corn and Rolled Meal.
50 sacks Salt.
10 bbls Extra C Sugar.
10 bbls Extra C Yellow Sugar.
10 bbls Dem Sugar.
10 sacks Rio Coffee.
10 kegs Soda.
10 cases Concentrated Lye.
10 cases Clove Oysters.
10 boxes Adamantine Candles.
25 kits Best Leaf Lard
1000 pounds Pure Assorted Candy
500 bunches Cotton Yarn.
50 kegs Nails.
5000 boxes of Durham Tobacco, and a full assortment of goods usually kept in a first class grocery. I bought my goods very low for cash. Our motto: Quick sales and small profits." Have a list of Beats and Rivers, Flats and Heavy Pants—goods which will be offered at reduced figures. Call and examine our stock before calling elsewhere. Consignments and Country Produce solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

April 1-tf

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

This unrivalled Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of Mercury, or any injurious mineral substance, but is

PURELY VEGETABLE,

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which an all wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine,

is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bill.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION,

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, all diseases and causes of water and food may be faced without fear. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, SOUR STOMACH, COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA

Price, $1.00. Sold by all Druggists,

feb 18-12m

ALADDIN SECURITY OIL

Will prove itself equal, if not superior, to any burning Oil that has been offered to the public—is perfectly safe for use in all Kerosene Lamps. Will give all who use perfect security in doing so. For sale by

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,
Druggists.

jan 14-tf

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

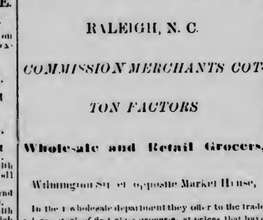
PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS,

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Simpson' ering Store

apr 29 6m.



april 15-3m

VASSERS, send No. of your Lodge and name this paper. We will convince you again with our superb Home Pictures for Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights Pythias, Grangers, Red-men, Mechanics, etc., are making double they could any other way; work pleasanter. J. HALE POWERS & CO., Printers & Fine Art Pubs., Cincinnati, O.

apr 22-13m

JUST RECEIVED

AT

D. S. WAITT'S,

Ready Made Clothing

FOR

SPRING AND SUMMER.

GO TO D. S. WAITT'S

FOR

BOOTS & SHOES.

A full line just opened.

FOR GENTS' FURNISHING

Goods go to

D. S. WAITT'S.

DRY GOODS! DRY GOODS!!

D. S. WAITT'S

Is the place to get them cheap.

R. F. JONES & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS COTTON FACTORS

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Wilmington Street opposite Market House,

In the wholesale department they offer to the trade a large stock of first-class groceries at prices that have and will continue to attract the people. They have in store

1200 Gals. S. H. Syrup.
150 Sacks Fine Liverpool Salt.
1200 Pounds Cut in Cheese.
300 Bushels Bolted Meal.
100 Boxes Cakes and Crackers—fresh.
1000 Pounds pure candy, assorted.
25 Cases mixed Pickles.
40 Doz. cans Fresh Peaches
50 Bbls. Superfine and Family Flour.
3 000 Pounds Family Soap.
25 Boxes Adamantine Candles.
40 Doz. boxes Axle Grease.
72 " Masons Blacking.
50 gross Water Proof Percussion Caps.

Powder, Shot, Snuff, Tobacco Soda, Spice, Pepper Tea, &c, &c

Bulk Meat and Breakfast Strips, and a full assortment of other goods generally sold in a grocery store. Call and examine the quality of their goods and price. Consignment of produce solicited.

oct 15-6m

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is the Place to Buy

French and Plain Candies,

Foreign and Domestic Fruits,

RAISINS, NUTS, etc.,

Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,

Fancy Goods, Childrens' Toys,

Carriages for the Little Folks,

CROQUET SET.

BALLS AND BATS,

Marbles, Tops and Kites,

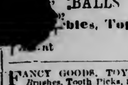
Present MOSELEY'S

FANCY GOODS, TOYS, BASKETS, BROOMS, Brushes, Tooth Picks, School Bags, Feather Dusters, Fish Hooks and lines. A large assortment, At NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13 tf

LEAMON'S Aniline Dye Colors, at PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S Drug Store.

jan 14-tf



Pocket Inhaler AND Carbolate of Iroline Unrivaled.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most prompt and efficient inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumptive it takes in from one. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. A Druggists have it for sale, neatly put up with inhaler enough for two months' use. Price $2 00. Freeels mail on receipt of price. Send for a Circular. by

W. H. SMITH & Co., Prop'r,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Jan 25-6m

A pair of shoes will cost you only 5 cents more with SILVER TIP on toes without, and it will at once the cost of the shoe to their wearing value.

April 8 13-w

Robert T. Gray,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

Raleigh, N. C.

Will give prompt attention to business in the Supreme, Superior, and other Courts of the State.

Refers by permission to

Hon. R. M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Hon. Thos. Settle, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

Hon. I. G. Lash, Pres. First National Bank of Salem.
John G. Williams, " State " " Raleigh
Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, Editor of Raleigh Advocate.
Rev. A. W Mangum, Raleigh, N. C.

JOSEPH KRETH

Merchant Tailor.

OPPOSITE CITY POST OFFICE

RALEIGH, N. C.

Keeps the best quality of Cassimeres and Clothing constantly on hand. Persons wanting suit of every description will find it to their interest to give him a call. Y—27-2m

W. F. KORNEGAY,

Goldsboro' N. C.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer
Foreign & Domestic Hardware,
COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.
Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.

FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are now stock made, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All work is a trial of them. Jan 28-tf

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT Improved Ivory Eye Cups.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, as I can of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight; 3. Amaurosis, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blindness; 4. Amblyopia, or Weak Eyes; 5. Epiphora, Running or Watery eyes; 6. Sore Eyes—especially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or Impart relief from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9 Overworked Eyes; 10. Myodesopsia, or seeing specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12 Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight.

In all of these cases use the Ivory Eye Cups without the aid of a doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles; or if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2 300 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "Dr. Ball, of your city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

And Wm. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 4th, 1868: "Without my spectacles I pen you this note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye."

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. Mrs Henry Clay and myself have been using your spectacles evenly years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT Ivory Eye Cups.

R. P. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT Ivory Eye Cups, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatly, M. D., Silvis Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions. My sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years."

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Michlen, Pa., writes: "After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, I am using Dr. Ball's PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the IMPROVED PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $25 a day. Twelve Agents $300 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address, by immediately by

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 2557. New York City, N. Y.
Sept 6-12m.

Established 1810.

B. W. PAYNE, R. S. PAYNE, D. W. PAYNE

B. W. PAYNE & SONS

Corning Foundry and Machine Shop,
CORNING, STEUBEN CO., N. Y.

Manufacturers of

Stationary Engines, Boilers and

Hems, Braids, Gathers, Tucks, Ruffles, Cords, Binds, Frills, Quilts, Gathers, &c., &c.

park-Arresting Portable Engines
For Plantation Use.

Delivered Free on Board Ship in New York City.

Send for Circular.

Feb 25 12m

PARENTS REDUCE YOUR SHOE BILLS TWO THIRDS BY BUYING

Silver Tipped Shoes.

Feb 18-6m

CANFIELD BROTHER & CO.,

229 Baltimore St.,

BALTIMORE MD.

Gold Watches for Ladies & Gentlemen.

American Watches a specialty.
These Watches have an established reputation.
Silver Watches of every variety.
Diamonds, Rich Jewelery.
Chains, Lockets, &c.
Gold Head Canes.
Clocks, Bronze, Vases.
Fancy Silver-Ware for Bridal Gifts.
Triple Plated Tea Sets, Waiters, Ice Pitchers, Fruit Stands, Castors, Spoons and Forks. A complete stock of new style Plated Goods. Fans, Opera Glass and Rich Fancy Goods.

Our stock is large and prices moderate. Order have prompt attention. Medals and Badges Schools and Colleges.

apr 24—12m.

$5 TO $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, making more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

Sept 18-12m

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
NO. 141 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK.

Assets- - -$1,500,000.00!!

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK, President.
D. P. FACKLER, Actuary.

Wm. M. COLE, Secretary.
DANIEL AYRES, M.D., Med. Director

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH.

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES,

In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium.

THE BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation for FINANCIAL INVESTMENT, ECONOMY OF MANAGEMENT, AND CARE IN THE SELECTION OF RISKS upon which its Policies, each and every year, and it is a certain legal standard of reserve and accumulation must be held by the Companies to meet all their liabilities.

Insurers in looking around for Companies in which to insure, should carefully see for this important safeguard. IT WILL BE FOUND IN THE BROOKLYN LIFE

WM. LITTLE, M.D., MEDICAL EXAMINER

A. W. LAWRENCE,
General Agent for North Carolina,
Office at Raleigh.

may 18-4f

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c.,

Opposite Tucker Hall,

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C

Mar 25-1m

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the Best Hanging, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT.
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

apr 15-12m

Book Agents

WANTED FOR THE

Illustrated Family Bible:

Containing the Old and New Testaments, Apocrypha, in one large and handsome Octavo Volume. Also, Dr. Wm. Smith's complete Dictionary of the Bible, a History of the religious Denominations of the World; Chronological and other valuable Tables

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. | PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. | $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 25. | RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24, 1874. | WHOLE NO. 1,013.

Original Poetry.

For the Advocate.

God.

Why must I model well each limb
Muscle on the Great Creator's will?
Fix every joy to compass me,
Declare and show me used here?

Must I love the best to inherit joy,
Where we can sing in Heavenly love;
Where we shall know as we are known,
When we're perfected and grown.

But why He made a world like this,
Suited so well to human bliss
Then left us free to choose from life
And fall into this d——ed strife."

'Tis this that fills my saddened soul
With anguish deep, beyond control;
But not a Beam of hope and love
Shone brightly on us from above

Let us love the ills of life
Its "cross days," as toil and strife
And after all must moan and die
Ere we depart for realms on high

We study in example see.
Nor can a better world with clear
Its holy will to disobey.
Suggesting we were first aware

It may be that in us I shown
Things that to angels were unknown,
That exceeding love of Heaven
Had we and wicked keeping pace

Father, Thy erring children keep,
Thou God of wonders counsels, deep
And when we put our careers down
In graves of darkness and crown

L. W. B.

Mebaneville, N. C.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Historical Society of the North Carolina Conference organized in Goldsboro, on the 12th of December, 1873 for the purpose of collecting material for the History of North Carolina Methodism.

OFFICERS

President, Rev. Wm. Closs, D. D.
Vice Presidents, Revs. W. H Babbitt, W. S. Black; Recording Secretary, Rev. H. T. Hudson; Corresponding Secretary, Rev. A. R. Raper; Treasurer, Rev. J. B. Bobbitt.

BOARD OF MANAGERS

Revs. A. W. Mangum, C. C. Dickson, O. J. Bacon, P. J. Carraway, J. S. Ervin, S. D. Adams, M. L. Wood, J. P. Moore, L. L. Hendren, W. M. Robey.

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved That the Presiding Elders and preachers be requested to collect from all sources Historical material and forward the same to H. T. Hudson, Recording Secretary, Sandy, N. C.

To give this resolution a definite and practical direction, I will take the liberty of making a few suggestions. Let each Presiding Elder, assisted by his preachers search out all the Historical material, that can be found within the bounds of his District.

Guided by "A Short History of the Methodists in the United States, by Jesse Lee," I will seek out the localities where Methodism was first introduced into North Carolina and ask the P. Elders and preachers to search for material in the specified localities, as they occur in their respective Districts. The first notice, I find of the introduction of Methodism into our state is in the following paragraph of Mr. Lee's History. He says: "In the beginning of this year, 1771, Robert Williams began to form societies in Virginia, and made out a plan for six weeks circuit, which extend from Petersburg to the South over the Roanoke river, some distance into North Carolina. From the Conference, three preachers came to this circuit, John King, John Wade, and Isaac Robbins." A gracious and extensive revival attended the labors of these preachers. The work so far seems to have been mainly work the first ever experienced in N. Carolina in the year of 1776 a year memorial ized by the memorable Declaration of American Independence. Mr. Lee says: in 1776, on the 21st day of May, the fourth Conference was held in Baltimore. At that time four new circuits were added, three in Virginia. The other was called Carolina as it lay in the State of N. C. On this circuit there was a great revival in 1777. At the Leesburg Conference in 1778, this Carolina circuit was divided into three, named Roanoke, Tar River and New Hope. Here we have the date, locality, and persons by whom Methodism was introduced into our State. Can Dr. Closs or any of the preachers, tell us the probable boundaries of the circuit, called New Hope? Any information as to the geographical limits of these circuits, as to the first churches built there or any prominent event or persons connected with them, would be valuable. Whitakers, Lewis, Jones Creek, Tabernacle, Over Banks, Short Gates, Ocopee all Spell meeting, before purchasing goods in Charlotte compare prices and qualities of Goods. Those visiting Salisbury will find it to their interest to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere. Thankful for past favors we hope by fair dealing and strict attention to business to merit a continuance of the same. Yours truly,

J. CULLEY & BRO.

Mebaneville, N. C.

Can be found among the aged of that locality. In 1781, Mr. Lee says: "There was a blessed revival of religion . . . . . in some parts of N. C., but the war was a distressing time in those parts and the preachers could not constantly attend their circuits; and many of the societies were dispersed, and prevented from assembling together."

In 1783 six new circuits were organized; these were Guilford, Caswell, Salisbury, Marsh. (Where was this? Bertie and Pasquotank.

Will Bro. N. H. D. Wilson and J. P. Moore search for material in the localities of Guilford and Caswell? In 1785, Mr. Lee says: "The fourteenth Conference was held at Green Hill's on N. C., on the 20 th of April." This was the first Conference held in N. C. About 20 preachers were present. Beverly Allen was ordained at this Conference perhaps the first ordination of a Methodist minister, that was performed in the State. It was at the house of Rev. Green Hill. Who can give us the locality of this house and any incidents connected with this first of four many N. C. Conferences. Let us hear from Bro. W. H. Bobbitt in whose District, I think, the county is to be found. In 1786, "The seventh in North Carolina once was held at Salisbury in N. C., on the 21st of Feb." At this Conference, the New Bern circuit was formed. Has no Bro. Mangum some valuable Historical material in reference to the early growth of Methodism in Salisbury? In 1788, the Anson circuit was formed. Here is work for Bro. Nelson and his preachers.

In 1780, a Conference was held at McKnight's meeting house on the Yadkin river. Will Bro. L. M Wood search for locality, any incidents, &c? In 1773, the Haw river circuit was formed (Bros Moon and Martin).

Mr. Lee says: "This first class of white people, that was formed in Wilmington N. C. was joined together on the 24th of Dec. 1797. (Bro. Black and preachers—see Dean's Annals of Southern Methodism.) In 1802 a remarkable revival spread through the Yadkin region, ranging Westward, when the Snow Creek Society was formed, Eastward through Guilford down into the Haw river circuit when it culminated in extraordinary power. 'In June, (1804) there was a Camp meeting about 10 miles from Wilmington, where the power of the Lord was present to wound and to heal. . . . The slain of the Lord were many and it is thought that in the space of 3 or 4 months, three hundred souls were converted in and about Baden circuit." In 1805, Conference was held at Edmund Taylor's N. C. Who can give information about locality (Granville) family, incidents? In 1807, Conference was held in New Bern. (Bro. Yates and preachers.) In 1808, the Fayetteville work was taken in. (Bro. Adams and preachers). Our Presiding Elder and his preachers will look after the facts connected with the introduction of Methodism West of the Catawba river. Let us put into practice the stirring motto of Mr. Wesley: 'Act at it and always at it,' and we will soon have the materials for the long desired History of N. C. Methodism.

H. T. HUDSON.

For the Advocate.

Pedo-Baptist Agitations.

I find in the Biblical Recorder, of the 27th of May, an article in the editorial columns under the above heading. The editor sets out by quoting the language of an old Methodist who favorably impressed his mind when "a boy." He calls the sage or aside alluded to "a wise Methodist." I suppose he terms the "old Methodist" wise because he disliked to hear what he considered scriptural injunctions and duties presented and urged for fear promulgated truth might produce error, or out blazing light engender darkness! David reviewed the subject in a different light when he said. 'The entrance of thy words giveth light.' How fervently he prayed: "Oh send out thy light and thy truth." However wise, the editor of the Recorder may deem one who dislikes to hear what he considers scripturally enjoined truths enunciated, we are inclined to the opinion that such timidity savors more of hypocrisy and dissimulation than of christian consistency and firmness. So much for the editor's ideas of wisdom.

The expression of the "wise" and terrified old Methodist, sinking with loaden weight on the tablet of his memory, in manhood years has ripened into the conclusion that the "zeal" of the pastor of the "Methodist church at Oxford" in preaching some who did not hear him from the Methodist to the Baptist church is "commendable!" Well, my brother if the "seeds" sown by the pastor of the Oxford church have been carried by an unseen hand to an absent field and been scattered to bud and "bloom in the Baptist harvest field," while reaping and enjoying such a rich and abundant harvest, ought you to wish to strike down the sower of such precious seeds? If, brother Redd, all transpiring events are in exact accordance with the pre existing decree of infinite wisdom, why talk of the erroneous sentiments of those who are acting out their part in the wonderful plan of human evangelization, to the position wisely assigned them?

Might not the christian churches evince more of wisdom and brotherly kindness by writing their efforts against the arch-enemy of man, instead of prowling about the fold of sister churches, sowing the seeds of disaffection and exulting over a captured sheep? When John tried to prevent a brother from casting out devils because he didn't exactly think as he did, the Master said "Let him alone;" he is doing a good work. And I dont know whether the editor of the Recorder was convinced of sin and brought to reflection under the influence of the Methodist ministry or not. But if he was, it seems that he ought not to attempt to smite his mother to the earth—to lift his hand against a heaven sanctioned influence which is attributed to his mental and moral elevation. If he glories in the blooming beauty, and waving richness of the "Baptist harvest field," why wish to crush the hand that sowed the producing seeds of so rich and desirable a harvest?

The spirit of proselytism is not a thing of modern date. The insidious foe of the church has fomented and encouraged it from its incipiency through all the progressive stages of the church. St. Paul had to combat it in his day. Hear him, ye eager proselytors and sectarian bigots! "If ye bite and devour one another, take heed that ye be not consumed one of another." When a gracious out pouring of God's spirit seems to be uniting christian hearts in one common brotherhood of love, and awakening and pointing the minds of many to the source of light and consolation, in announcing the great result, why evince such a beautiful and excellent spirit over a stray sheep from a sister fold, as if the remaining one of the fold were in the "gall of bitterness, and the bond of iniquity?" With one remark more I will close. We might be more wisely and profitably employed in meeting and vanquishing the enemy of our race, than in turning the weapons of our warfare against the household of faith, and exulting over a few captured and decoyed sheep from a sister fold. Did Saint Paul have any reference to church disturbers, and boasting proselytes when he said, "Let brotherly love continue?"

OXONIAN.

Oxford, N. C.

For the Advocate

Applause

We wish to inquire, Mr. Editor, if it is right in ministers of the gospel to encourage the desire for worldly applause in the bestowment of charities or as the Bible calls it, "alms." At this epoch there seems to be almost a mania to give something to charitable or benevolent enterprises This is well and we make no objection; but that this alms giving should be blazoned to the world in the newspapers is quite another thing, and is entirely at variance with our understanding of the instruction of our Lord Christ in his sermon on the mount, as recorded by Matt. Chap. IV If the alms givers expect and desire only the praise and applause of the world, it is well; our Saviour says "they have their reward." We wish to remind such, that they are not to expect any reward in Heaven for the Saviour says they "have no reward of your Father which is in heaven." And yet that love of worldly applause is appealed to by ministers in order to secure alms, without the caution that with the world ends the reward. Look at the lists of charities and donations in the newspapers; witness the scene at the Conference mission ary collections &c,—in nearly every instance not only "the left hand" but the world knows what the "right hand doeth." It is difficult to do good and keep evil out, but let not the ministers of Jesus, the guardians of morals and religion, lead the people wrong: let not the Shepherds, and especially the chief ones (the Bishops), feed the sheep on rotten fodder. We set this down as one cause of religious decline, for we do say fearlessly that pure and undefiled religion has grown and is growing less every day, with fearful rapidity, without the scope of our observation and knowledge. It is true that we hear and read of religious revivals all over the country, but it is not less true that we do not see any increase of true and vital godliness. We are anxious to see the man who will risk proving that the Methodist church to day (we will have no reference to others now) is possessed of the Spiritual power that she had when her preachers wore homespun shad belly coats on a salary of $100, and the people gladly and joyously assembled in the class room. If any man deny that the coat and salary have anything to do with, or agency in, this matter, we believe we are prepared to demonstrate it; unless our memories and eyes declare it an axiom (To the unlearned we will say, that an axiom is a fact or truth or proposition so plain or self evident that it can not be made any plainer.) If our great grand mother had been a Methodist (she was not) and could to day be resuscitated she would not be able to find a Methodist church without help; that is to say its characteristics, its distinguishing features are gone to her without help. Does the objector say look at the itineracy? We point you to their local habitations and secular employments, farming, banking &c: or at her P. Elders? If they remain in sight long enough, they will have to be pointed out to her. But we are about to demonstrate. Farewell brother but,

LOOK OUT.

For the Advocate.

"Our Missionary."

A NEW PAPER.

The Board of Missions, at a called meeting, June 9, unanimously determined to publish a missionary paper. This is done by authority of the General Conference. It will be edited by the Missionary Secretaries, and will be called "Our Missionary." It will be issued monthly beginning with July.

"Our Missionary" will contain four pages of the same size as the pages of the Sunday school Visitor. The Board has determined to send one copy free to each pastor in our Church, with the confident expectation that our brethren of the ministry will cordially, promptly, and effectively, aid us in securing a very large and general circulation. We ought to have—and, with proper effort, may have—10,000 subscribers by the last day of July.

"Our Missionary" will be devoted to the cause of Missions in general, and to the Mission work of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in particular. The Secretaries will spare no means to make it interesting, instructive, and useful. They will put themselves in position to gather missionary intelligence from the entire Mission field in the world, while keeping prominently before the Church the wants, workings, opportunities, and prospects of our own Mission work. All who understand the subject have long felt the need of such a paper. Let every friend of Missions help us.

We earnestly request our brethren, the editors of the Church papers, and all other editors who delight to help forward a good work like this, to lend us their aid. We ask the Bishops and Presiding Elders to bring "Our Missionary" before each Annual, and District, and Quarterly Conference. We request the Pastors and Superintendents to bring it before each congregation and Sunday-school.

Appoint canvassers at once—selecting the best friends of the cause of Missions. Begin the day you read this prospectus. Let all help, and now.

Terms: 30 cents per annum to single subscribers; to clubs of four, 25 cents; to clubs of ten, or more, 20 cents each

JOHN B. MCFERRIN,
ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD,
Missionary Secretaries.

Send orders to A. H. Redford, Agent. Mission Room, Nashville, Tenn., June 10, 1874.

Plain Talk to Girls

Your everyday toilet is a part of your character. A girl who looks like a fury, or a slovon in the morning is not to be trusted, however finely she may look in the evening. No matter how humble your room may be, there are eight things it should contain, viz: a mirror, wash stand, soap, towel, comb, hair, nail, and tooth brushes. These are just as essential as your breakfast, before which you should make good and free use of them. Parents who fail to provide their children with such appliances, only make a great mistake, but commit a sin of omission. Look tidy in the morning and after the dinner work is over, improve your toilet. Make it a rule of your daily life to "dress up" for the afternoon Your dress may, or need not be anything better than calico; but with ribbon, or some bit of ornament, you have an air of self respect and satisfaction, that invariably comes with being well dressed. A girl with fine sensibilities cannot help feeling embarrassed and awkward in a ragged, dirty dress, with her hair unkempt, if a stranger or neighbor comes in. Moreover, your self respect should demand the decent apparelling of your body. You should make it a point to look as well as you can, even if you know no body will see you but yourself.—Hearth Al.

For the Advocate.

My Choice.

Lord I am weak, and frail, and blind,
Life's hidden paths, I cannot see
Therefore I would, that thou shouldst choose
My earthly path for me.

I would reject the thorns of pain,
And gather flowers of joy, and ease,
I fain would drink life's golden wine
And shun the bitter lees.

I would that not a sigh of care
Should sweep across my mortal heart,
Aye, I would choose, a stormless path
But would that path be lost?

Faith answers me, and gently takes
My weak, and tired hand in hers
And tell me, that the gates of pearl
Are only reached through tears.

She flows to me the white-robed band
Who stand before the great white throne
And whispers they had once their grief
And sorrows like my own.

And so all I ask to choose my way,
While that great multitude I see,
No Father, thou didst choose for them
I pray thee choose for me.

MATILDA E. EDWARDS,

Grape Hill, Norwood, Va.

Love at Home.

BY REV. T. DE WITT TALMAGE, D. D.

When your behaviour in the domestic circle becomes merely a matter of calculation, and the caress you give is merely the result of deliberate study of the position you occupy, happiness lies stark and dead on the hearth-stone. When the husband's position as head of the household is maintained by loudness of voice, by strength of arm, by fire of temper, the republic of domestic bliss has become a despotism that neither God nor man will abide. O, ye who promised to love each other at the altar, how dare you commit perjury? Let no shadow of suspicion come on your affection! It is easier to kill that flower than it is to make it live again. The blast from hell that puts out that light leaves you in the blackness of darkness forever.

Here are a man and wife. They agree in nothing else, but they agree they will have a home. They will have a splendid house, and they think if they have that they will have a home Architects make the plan, and the mechanics execute it—the house to cost one hundred thousand dollars. It is done. The carpets are spread. Lights are hoisted. Curtains are hung. Cards of invitation are sent out. Horses in gold-plated harness prance at the gate. Guests come in and take their places. The flute sounds. The dancers go up and down and in one grand whirl, the wealth and the fashion and the mirth of the great town wheel amid the pictured walls. Ah! this is happiness! Float it on the smoking viands! Whirl it in the dance! Cast it on snow of sculptured Sound it up the brilliant stairway! Flash it in the chandeliers! Happiness, indeed! Let us build in the centre of the parlor floor a throne to Happiness. Let all the guests who come in bring their flowers and pearls and diamonds, and throw them on the pyramid; and let it be a throne; and let happiness, the queen, mount the throne and we will stand around; and, with all chalices lifted, we will say, "drink! O Queen, live forever!" But the guests depart. The flutes are breathless. The last clash of the impatient hoofs is heard in the distance, and the twain of the household come back and see the Queen of Happiness on the throne amid the parlor floor; but, alas! as they come back, the flowers have faded, the sweet odors have become the smell of the charnel house; and instead of the Queen of Happiness, there sits there the gaunt form of Anguish, with bitten lip and sunken eye and ashes in her hair. The romp of the dancers who have left seems rumbling like jarring thunders, that quake the floor and rattle the glasses of the feast, rim to rim. The spilt wine on the floor turns into blood. The wreaths on the plush have become wriggling reptiles. Terrors catch tangled in the canopy that overhang the conch. A strong gust of wind comes through the hall and the drawing-room and the bed chamber, in which all the lights go out; and from the lips of the wine-beakers come the words, "Happiness is not in me!" And the arches respond, "It is not in me!" And the silent instruments of music, thrummed on by invisible fingers, answer, "Happiness is not in me!" And the frozen lips of Anguish break open, and, seated on her throne of withered flowers, she strikes her bony hands together, and groans, "It is not in me!"

That very night, a clerk with a salary of a thousand dollars a year—only one thousand—goes to his home set up three months ago, just after the marriage day. Love meets him at the door. Love sits with him at the table. Love talks over the work of the day. Love takes down the Bible and reads of Him who came our souls to save; and they kneel, and while they are kneeling, right in that plain room, on that plain carpet, the angels of God build a throne—not out of flowers that perish and fade away, but out of garlands of heaven, wreath on wreath, amaranth on amaranth, until the throne is done. Then the harps of God sounded, and suddenly there appeared One who mounted the throne, with eye so bright and brow so clear that the twain knew it was Christian Love. And they knelt at the foot of the throne, and putting one hand on each head, she blessed them and said, "Happiness is with me!" And that throne of celestial bloom withered not with the passing years, and the queen lived on the throne, until one day, the married pair, well stricken in years, heard the voice of Jesus calling them away, and they knew not which way to go; and the queen, bounding from the throne, said, "Follow me, and I will show you the way up to the realm of everlasting love." And so they went up, singing songs of love, to walk on pavements of love, and live together in mansions of love, and rejoice forever in the truth that God is love!

The Press on Methodist Fraternity.

We already begin to hear from the press, North and South, on the proffer of fraternal relations by our delegates and the answer of the Southern General Conference. The Northwestern Advocate sees, as we do, in the whole proceedings a yearning of Southern Methodists for closer fellowship, a yearning in which there is force enough to overcome all opposition. The Baltimore Episcopal Methodist considers the restoration of fraternal relations as now "an established fact." It thinks that "no power on earth can withstand the determination of our (the Southern) people to maintain the closest fellowship, and to celebrate a union of generous and cordial affection with those so near akin." These are very pleasant words to hear from the Southern side, and if this should prove to be the tone of the press of that church, real fraternity will soon prevail. The Methodist Advocate (Atlanta) is of the opinion that the opening of fraternal intercourse will have the happiest effect on both churches. It says: 'That we are gratified with the present aspect of the case may be supposed, but the measure of that gladness is not easy to determine. It is a triumph, not of one Methodism over the other, or of Methodism alone as a whole, but of Christian love over pride of opinion, of principal over prejudice, of manliness over meanness on both sides, and the Church, South, will share in the benefits of the occasion according to the cordiality of the reciprocity given. When this paper was started it was outspoken in favor of opening fraternal relations with the Church, South, and it has never faltered on this line. The end now apparently so near was then seen as plainly as at present, though whether it should be realized now, four years hence, or forty years afterward was uncertain. The principle was right and because right, was sure to win sometime. Of this we have not lost hope for a day."

The Christian Advocate of this city takes a gloomy view of the situation. It thinks that all we can hope for is a cold, diplomatic intercourse. Reticent ambassadors will come to us in 1876, "if they come at all," (we quote), "with a flag of truce, bringing stern and far reaching demands—the ultimatum of an unfriendly power—which it is of course impossible that we shall comply with, and so, of course, the old attitude of unfriendliness must remain." The oracle already scents a coming conflict: "If now there must be a new outbreak of internecine warfare between the two Methodisms, it should be a cause of rejoicing on our part that this state of things is not of our own seeking."

All this would have some weight were it not well known that on this Southern question (and indeed on all leading questions) the Advocate has for years past perpetually blundered. It began with the confident assertion that the destiny of the Southern Methodist Church was "to be disintegrated and absorbed." By what chemical agencies this was to be effected was not shown. Instead of disintegrating, Southern Methodism has become more compact with each successive year, and would now be too big a mouthful for the most voracious absorber. The truth is that, as we said several years ago, the editor of the Advocate has a genius for getting on the wrong side of public questions. His record is a history of verdicts rendered against his positions by ministry and people. In the present instance we attach very little importance to his vaticinations of evil.

Moses saw the Shechinah, and it rendered his face resplendent, so that he covered it with a veil, the Jews not being able to bear the reflected light: we behold Christ, as in the glass of His word, and (as the reflection of a very luminous object from a mirror gilds the face on which the reverberated rays fall) our faces shine too; and we veil them not, but diffuse the lustre, which, as we discover more and more of His glories in the Gospel, is continually increasing.—Doddridge.

We All Have Faults.

He who boasts of being perfect is perfect in his folly. I have been a good deal up and down in the world and I never did see either a perfect horse or a perfect man, and I never shall until two Sundays come together. You cannot get white flour out of a coal sack, nor perfection out of human nature; he who looks for it had better look for sugar in the sea. The old saying is 'Lifeless, faultless.' Of dead men we should say nothing but good, but as for the living, they are all tarred more or less with the black brush, and half an eye can see it. Every heart has a soft place in it, and every heart has its black drop. Every rose has its prickles and every day its night. Even the sun shows spots, and the skies are darkened with clouds. Nobody is so wise but he has folly enough to stock a stall at Vanity Fair. Where I could not see the fool's cap, I have nevertheless heard the bells jingle. As there is no sunshine without some shadows, so all human good is mixed up with more or less of evil; even poor law guardians have their failings, and parish beadles are not wholly heavenly natures. The best wine has its lees all men's fault's are not written on their foreheads, and it's quite as well they are not or hats would need wide brims; yet sure as eggs are eggs, faults of some kind nestle in every man's bosom. There's no telling when a man's faults may show themselves, for hares pop out of a ditch when you are not looking for them. A horse that is weak in the knees may not stumble for a mile or two, but it is in him, and the rider had better hold him up well. The tabby cat is not lapping milk just now, out leave the dairy door open, and we will see if she is not as bad a thief as the kitten. There's fire in the flint, cool as it, looks: wait till the steel gets a knock at it, and you will see. Every body can read the riddle, but it is not every body that will remember to keep his gun powder out of the way of the candle.—John Ploughman.

Anecdote of Wellington.

Lord William Lennox, in a lecture on personal reminiscences of Wellington, relates the following fact:

"After a celebrated victory, the troops were complained of for plundering, and they carried this to such an extent that the Duke said he would hang the first that was caught doing so; and shortly after this order he gave a banquet, during which three men were brought before him for plundering. He ordered them to be hung in a conspicuous place, so that the troops might see their dead bodies the next morning when they went out for their march, and take warning. The officers were very unwilling to execute this order, but the Duke had commanded it, and the next morning three dead bodies hanging on the trees were seen by the troops as they passed. This had the desired effect of checking this evil; but a short time afterward some of his officers told the Duke that they did not like to hang the men when he told them to, and so knowing that there were three dead bodies in the hospital, they went and hung those up, and thus saved the three culprits. When told of this Wellington said he was very glad then that the men were saved."

Transfusion of Blood.

At the last sitting of the Paris Academy of Sciences, an interesting paper was read on an operation of transfusion of blood. At the time the operation was decided upon, the patient (a woman) appeared to be on the brink of the grave; the pulse was imperceptible, her weakness such that she was unable to move, her eyesight all but extinguished; she was unable to speak, and nothing would stay on her stomach. Dr Behier performed the operation in the presence of a number of students. He said it was highly important the blood to be injected should be pure and in its natural state, without being deprived of its fibrine or allowed to cool. Such preliminaries had been considered necessary in order to prevent coagulation in the vein; but there was no need of them if the operation was quickly effected. The blood should not be dead, but living. One of the obstacles that had hitherto caused transfusion to be looked upon with disfavor was the difficulty of introducing the nozzle of the syringe into the vein. The late Dr. Nelaton had proposed to obviate this by an incision of the skin an inch long, in order to bring the vein into view, Dr. Behier prefers opening the vessel with the lance, as in blood-letting; he recommends the injection to be performed slowly, to prevent the sudden repletion of the right ventricle of the heart, which would cause asphyxia and death. The quantity of blood administered in this case was not more than eighty grammes. The possibility of success is now proved beyond a doubt after a controversy which had lasted upward of two centuries.

Children Badly Trained.

Is it not apparent that cruelty is often encouraged by parents in early training, or rather neglect of training? Nothing is easier than to make a child fond and careful of its pet kitten or puppy, yet who has not often seen a wretched little kitten at the mercy of a mere baby, whose chief amusement consisted in throwing it on the floor or pulling out its fur, encouraged by "mamma," who would really only think it "funny." The chief of police of New York says: "Boys are much better than the careless parents, who, seeing habits of cruelty in their children, have never given it sufficient consideration to reprove or correct them." I remember once hearing a mother, tired of the teazing crying of a spoilt boy, tell him to "run away and stone the little lame chicken in the yard." Now what could be expected from a child brought up under such precepts? Now that the subject of animals' rights, for they have rights although disregarded, is being agitated throughout the civilized world, a great reform may be looked for and realized, especially from the system of introducing humanity in schools and among the young, as a part of education. Surely the lesson is more easily impressed in the earlier stage of youth, and to whose part should it most naturally fall than to parents to impress this lesson of gentleness and kindliness towards the weak and help less, on the hearts of their children, influencing their after lives by the infusion of sentiments of mercy and refinement of feeling, which is the true essence of manliness, and without which woman loses her greatest charm.—MENTOR, in Georgia Constitutionalist.

The great social and political forces of the country are moving in the direction of a restored fraternity. These forces move as a mighty tide of feeling, and individual resistance will count as nothing. It is decided that we are to be one people, in fact as well as in outward form. Northern capital is employed upon Southern public improvements; Southern leaders are representatives in Congress and under the inspiration of freedom the South awakens to a new life. A free society with public schools will rapidly make both North and South one in feeling and thought. In the overcoming of bitterness and resentment some natures keep in the advance of others, and that is the whole of the phenomenon. In this case the advance must carry with it the whole body on either side. In the march of every great army there is a van and a rear, and, no matter how slowly the rear manages to maintain itself as a coherent part of the host; and so the Christian Advocate, though lagging away behind, almost indeed out of sight, will in time come slowly along

One of the New York clergymen, who is a fine singer, on a recent visit to a madhouse, approached the cell of a maniac, who rushed for him as his chain would allow, shouting, "I'll kill you!" "I'll beat your brains out!" "Clear out!" Instead of moving, the preacher began to sing "Our Home in Heaven." First, the madman listened; then he stretched himself out to the full length of his chain. First one relaxed and then the other. Tears moistened his eyes. Then he coiled up on his bed of rags as quiet as a child. And when the hymn was ended he looked up, saying, "More, more." The preacher sang till his strength gave way, and then he left.

The Arts.

THE sale of pictures and sketches by Landseer realized about £70,000.

On the occasion of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the beginning of his artistic career, Franz Liszt presented to the Hungarian nation the art treasures he possesses at Weimer, on condition of their being preserved in the National Museum at Perth. According to a Hungarian paper, it appears that, apart from its artistic and historical value, the pecuniary worth of the collection is 400,000 florins. Among other objects the inventory just made includes Beethoven's American piano, Mozart's piano, and Haydn's piano, a number of articles of gold, silver, and platinum jewelry; a conducting-stick set with diamonds; a laurel wreath, silver enriched with emeralds; a solid silver desk, presented by the city of Vienna; and a large silver crown, presented by the town of Hamburg.

THE latest discoveries in the excavation of the arena of the Colosseum, at Rome, are of great interest, and are thus described by a correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette: "The work in the arena and subterranean galleries of the Colosseum is continued under the direction of Commendatore Rosa, Superintendent of Excavation. His conjecture that an ancient basin existed containing water for the mimic naval battles is full confirmed by the discovery just made of five or six square yards of the floor of the basin in the amphitheatre. It is made of small bricks, joining each other very closely, at an acute angle. The mouth of the sewer which drained off the water when the amphitheatre was transformed into an arena, for gladiatorial combats, has also been found. The subterranean galleries discovered correspond with the rest of the immense edifice. The arches and walls are made of colossal blocks of stone, that look even larger than those in the upper part of the ruin. Fea in 1805, began to excavate here but could not continue, on account of the water that accumulated; but Rosa has succeeded in removing it by means of pumps, at which a dozen men are constantly engaged. A winged sphynx of white marble, about three feet high, which evidently formed a part of the interior of the amphitheatre, has been found; also two leaden vases, which the engineers thought at first were the mouths of pipes. Bones of large carnivorous animals have also been discovered and consigned to Prof. Panzi, who will soon lecture upon the subject. In the centre of the arena, are brick arches and walls of more modern origin and inferior construction, which may be removed."

The Christian Advocate

OFFICE—Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

IF ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE,	$2 0
IN MONTHS,	1 25
If payment be delayed six months,	2 50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

RALEIGH, N. C. JUNE 24, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

Methodist Publications.

The following is copied from the Raleigh Christian Advocate, of June 10:

We notice that fifty six ministers of our Conference have purchased $100 worth of books on the publications of the Nashville House. This is very liberal when we consider the price of the books. Our city book-sellers inform us that they can purchase the publications of the Nashville House cheaper in New York or Baltimore, than they can at head-quarters. This is very strange and very unbusiness like. We hoped that the General Conference would have given the North Carolina Conference the largest of all Southern Conferences—a Book Depository. It seems to us that it is not just to expect or require our ministers, the most of whom can barely live, to pay higher for books in Nashville than the same books can be bought elsewhere. Our preachers would do well to protect their own interests, while endeavoring to foster and scatter Methodist literature.

We are not prepared to account for the ANIMUS which the editor displays in this brief editorial. We do not know who the "city book-sellers" are to whom Brother Bobbitt refers, but certainly any statement that the books of the Southern Methodist Publishing House can be purchased cheaper by them in New York or Baltimore than in Nashville, must be received with all due allowance. We sell our publications to the book-sellers in Raleigh at the same rates of discount given to the House in New York and Baltimore. If, however, for ANY REASON, the Houses in New York and Baltimore sell to Raleigh merchants AT A LOSS, neither should our Publishing House nor the Agent he held responsible for this "very strange and very unbusiness-like" procedure.

We cannot but regret the effort made by the editor of the Raleigh Advocate to excite prejudice against the Publishing House. The preachers of the North Carolina Conference have ever been the friends of the Publishing House, and have, in all the trying times through which it has passed, stood faithfully by its fortunes, and been among its most active supporters. We have, however, never dealt unfairly with them, nor charged them higher for books than they would pay elsewhere. The editor-al though HE NEVER PURCHASES ANY THING FROM OUR HOUSE—knows as well as any one this to be true, if he has the business capacity and has taken the pains to examine the question at all. Nor are the preachers of the North Carolina Conference so unable "to protect their own interests" as to need this advice. We love the North Carolina Conference for their manly and Christian devotion to all the interests of the Church—no less than for their ability to distinguish between advice captious in itself, and advice offered for the good of those for whom it is intended.

A. H. REDFORD,
Agent Southern Methodist Publishing House.

We cheerfully insert the above which has been sent us by Dr. Redford for publication in our paper. In doing so, it is our duty to comment some what at length upon his article. We avow that our statement betrays no unkind "animus" towards the agent or the publishing House. Certain city book-sellers gave us the information that they could get the Nashville publications from the North at cheaper rates than from Nashville. The Agent must see, at a thought, that we would feel it our duty to direct our preachers to the best market, and that we would naturally disapprove of any discrimination made against them We are in too good humor to say unpleasant things, and only mean kindly when we say that the statement of our book sellers, who trade both with Nashville and Philadelphia, is, in the nature of things, more reliable than the ex parte statement of Dr. Redford, who is liable to mistakes, with all his integrity and good judgment. We are surprised at the sensitiveness and ill-humor of the Agent, and regret that he should think proper to assail us in the manner he does. We trust he keeps more cool in business transactions than in such dealings with his brethren. Not so excited, Doctor, if you please! We have thought you a man of facts and not of passion.

The following items are given to show that our article was founded upon facts:

Our book-sellers do affirm, and show by their bills, that they buy our Nashville Hymns in Philadelphia at ⅓ off, while at Nashville they get but 30 per cent discount. Dr. Redford only grants this on bills of $100, and upward, while the Northern trade furnishes the increased discount on any amount from one dollar upwards; and this added to the difference in transportation, gives Philadelphia the advantage of considerable per cent. in our favor. We will here incidentally state that one of our book-sellers has recently bought from Nashville, No. 2 Wesleyan Chatechism at 75 cents, while he has some of the same published in neat style by himself in this city, that he can and will furnish at 75 cents retail and ½ off to the trade. The facts being given we do not feel called upon to account for them. It is not our purpose to show that the Northern tradesmen lose or do not lose—nor to contend that the Agent makes disadvantageous trades with Northern houses, and certainly we will not intimate that he is disposed to be unfair to our preachers and section. One thing is sadly true—the books of our church are not circulated here as they once were, and we see difficulties beyond the prices. Nashville is out of the way to us and we shall be in destitution in that regard till we have facilities more direct and convenient for getting books, sending money &c.

The Doctor states in italics that we do not purchase any of his books. In reply we affirm that we have not felt that it was expedient to buy at the prices, when other publishing houses have done what our own has not done—laid so many good books on our table. The Doctor's effort in the last of his article to prejudice our preachers against us and to fasten the odium of improper motives upon us, is unworthy the position he holds and will have a very different effect upon our preachers from what he designs. They know how to appreciate and condemn such a spirit. They are quite capable of distinguishing between exceptions advice" and a simple, well meant statement of facts. They are not in sympathy with the theory that the church and its friends have no right to point out and endeavor to remedy any imperfections in the institutions that belong to the church.

While on this subject, we take the liberty to say that we disapprove the reduction of the price of the Nashville Advocate from $3 to 2 per annum. Others have heretofore complained at this, while we have been silent. If Dr. Redford has the business capacity and has taken the pains to examine the question at all," he must find that, if he uses regular union printers, the cost of bringing out the Advocate,—every expense considered—is not less than $2.50 per year. The reason for our objection is not that it interferes with our circulation. Were he to reduce the price to one dollar, it would not conflict with us, as our people want their home paper, instead of one from another State, with no local interest for them. We object because of the loss that is therein involved to the Southern Methodist Church. Our publishing house is in debt and cannot afford to lose on its best source of revenue.

In our last issue we alluded to a communication which we had received from a layman urging that sermons upon church liberality be preached at all of our District Conferences, and upon each station and circuit in the bounds of our Conference. We have received another letter from the same Brother in which he urges that the Presiding Elders bring this matter to the attention of our people. He says he does not wonder that young men called of God to preach His gospel should draw back and refuse to enter the ministrying field of the itinerancy where their pay is so small as barely sufficient to provide them the actual necessities of life. Nor does he wonder that so many preachers locate—says the mystery is that they do not all quit in consequence of the small pittance received for labor which is often so meted out to them as to be of but little service at all. Our correspondent appears deeply interested in this matter and truly says the clergy are expected to be up to the times in which they live and to do this requires books and study. The minister sits up late at night acquiring knowledge and his brain work should be as well paid for as those of any other profession.

The Commencement exercises of Peace Institute during the past week were of a highly interesting character. The Annual address was delivered by Gen. Prince. of Baltimore. The following young ladies were awarded certificates of graduation: Miss Mary Dewey of Charlotte: Miss Sallie J. Polk of Anson county: Miss Floride C. Rion of Winnsboro: S. C.: Miss Pattie Lawrence of Raleigh: Miss Lizzie J. Herring of Newbern: Miss Sallie B. Towles of Raleigh: Miss Marian Pickard of Raleigh: Miss Grace McPheeters of Raleigh: and Miss Grace Faison of Clinton.

We call attention to the advertisement of the fall term of Greensboro Female College. The President, Dr. Jones and his able faculty are a sufficient recommendation to the public without any words of commendation from us. You cannot do better. North or South, than to send your daughters to Greensboro.

The following are the delegates elected from the quarterly conference of Edenton street station, in this city, to attend the District Conference to be held at Franklinton, N. C.: T. H. Selby, J. C. Palmer, W. J. Young, D. W. Bain: Alternates—J. A. Jones and L. W. Peck.

Rev. W. S. Black the Presiding Elder of the Wilmington district has placed Rev. Jas. Willson in charge of Fifth street M. E. Church, South. in Wilmington, and employed Rev. J. W. Randle to supply the place of Bro. Willson on the Magnolia circuit. This is a capital arrangement.

Matthew Henry, a little before his death, said to a friend, "You have been used to taking notice of the sayings of men; this is mine. That a life spent in the service of God, and communion with him, is the most comfortable and pleasant life that any one can live in this world.

The Southern Bishops.

A correspondent of the Western Christian Advocate writing of the reception of the Northern delegates by the Southren General Conference, takes the occasion to give a graphic description of our Bishops. He says;

"The full Board of Bishops are gathered about the speakers. Senior Bishop Robert Paine is stout, steady, hard-headed, full of the memories of the Committee of Nine in 1844, of which he was chairman; now seventy-five years old, with good, kindly, though imperative face. His hair is heavy, and iron-gray. He trembles a little, but his voice is firm. His rebukes of carelessness and stupidity are fierce.

"Bishop Pierce, of Sparta, Ga., son of Dr. Lovick Pierce, has been episcopating for twenty years, and it suits his nature and constitution. His hair is touched a little with the frost, but is by no means killed. It sticks in and it sticks out. The shape of his head, and his general bearing, remind one of what Andrew Jackson might have been, sanctified by Divine grace. He handles his vast estate and his work in the Church with ease and success. I expect preachers go where he sends them, and rather like it too.

"Bishop Kavanaugh, of Louisville, Ky., is never to be overlooked or forgotten. Short, rotund, jolly, with a stiff upper lip, sharp, penetratiug eyes, perpendicular, nearly black hair, you hardly think him fifty-five years old; but he is seventy-three, and has been making appointments for twenty years. It would be a good use of material to keep him at it for at least twenty years more. He knows how to be cordial, hearty, manly, generous and hopeful.

"Bishop Wightman, of Charleston, S. C., has a Corinthian face, with a hooked nose and mouth. His hair is black, with a few silver threads. His eyebrows are gray, and his whiskers are white, hanging under his shaven chin. He has been a mortal sixty-six years, and a bishop eight years. (He is the idol of a lovely and brilliant wife in middle life.)

"Bishop Doggett, of Richmond, Va. is forty-five years old, and eight years on the bench. He is smooth, gentle, rather elegant, reposeful; expects to have a comfortable time; works easily, and greets one conditionally, with a leaning toward mercy.

"Bishop Marvin, of St. Louis, Mo., is a young looking man, (aged fifty-one bishop eight years,) tall, spare, wiry, elastic. One takes him to be a hard rider and hard driver. His face is thin, sharp, but rather attractive and kindly. His black hair and dark complexion give him a touch of the adventurous in his appearance. He is no coward, but meets friend or foe half way, willing to trust events for the other half.

"Bishop M'Tyeire, of Nashville, Tenn., is one in a thousand. Tall, heavy, hard on the bit; resolute, calculating, stern; a man of affairs; he expects things to go his way—a gentleman and a worker. His face is large, with heavy features; his hair black, edging into gray; mouth wide and solid; nose prominent and usurping. His whole bearing is that of an autocrat; yet he has a natural way with it, so one is never surprised at his authority. Fifty years old, he looks as if he would wear fifty years longer. Endowed, as President of the Board of Trustees of the Vanderbilt University, with a good home and $3000 a year, perhaps he will be slow about moving out.

"Bishop Keener is fifty-five years old, and has been four years a bishop. He is sandy-haired and complexioned; smoothly shaven; long-favored; stands six feet; has a long lease of life.

"The bishops impress a stranger as an able and vigilant body. If the ministry imitate their example, nothing is impossible to them. One can not look at these bishops and not see why the Church South has been growing so rapidly of late."

He adds: "There, on the platform, sits also Dr. Lovick Pierce, ninety years old; clear, sharp as ever; tall, straight as an arrow, elegant, white-headed, princely. He sat in the gallery at the Pittsburg General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church of 1848. No man is now more honored than he, or more justly deserves it One of his sons is on the Episcopal Bench; and one of his grandsons is a lay delegate to this Conference. Three generations in the same body, there must be good blood in them somewhere."

In his farewell sermon Dr. Adams said: "Personally I have paid more for the privilege of preaching the Gospel these forty years than any man in the city has paid for the privilege of hearing it." And that is true of every pastor of respectable talents; We never knew one who did not give each to the propagation of the Gospel more in dollars and cents, or what might be made into dollars and cents, than any one of his parishioners.—Christian Age.

One of the results of the revival in Scotland, in which Messrs. Moody and Sankey are engaged, is a decided increase in the demand for Bibles. The orders received by London publishers from the North since January last will, when filled, give a copy of the Scriptures to one in every five of the population in Scotland.

The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in Canada, will meet in August next.

Trinity Commencement.

The commencement exercises began with the sermon before the Theological Society, June 7th at 11 A M., by Rev. Charles Phillps, D. D., of Davidson College. The text was Heb. 11 chapter 1st verse. The Doctor defined faith in his own inimitable way, and made the capacity of faith in man his highest endorsement; the greatest and most effective element of his nature. The sermon was decidedly original in conception, and mode of presentation. It was eminently attractive and popular. The Dr. used no manuscript at all; he not only set forth a large amount of thought; but he did it with a fervor that warmed the hearts of a very large audience.

MONDAY EVENING.

The following members of the Freshman class declaimed, viz: W. G. Bradshaw, of Trinity, G. W. Dewey, of Goldsboro, J. F. Tanner, Ga., P. L. Groou, Rockingham county, S. B. White, of Randolph, W. P. Mercer, of Edgecombe, and J. H. Small, of Washington, of these, Messrs. Small, Mercer and Groon, attracted the most attention,

TUESDAY EVENING.

Declamation by members of the Sophomore class, viz: N. E. Coltrain, of Trinity, W. D. Turner, of Iredell county, L. S. Gaither, of Lenior, W. G Barkhead, of Shelby, W. E. Sledge of Weldon, G. S. Bradshaw, of Trinity, These were all good, so much so that it is difficult to make distinctions.

WEDNESDAY.

The Annual sermon to the Graduating class was preached at 11 A. M., by Bishop Keener. The text was Matt. 4th 1-11. He said the temptation was addressed to Christ as a man, and as a man he must triumph. The first temptation was to induce him to depart from his human strength and call upon the divine. The devil, is foiled by an answer which he quietly admits, and proceeds to the second—secondly he offers Christ all of this world he ever could get in an easy way, tries to keep the Savior from the Garden and the Cross by surrender ing at once, upon the easy condition of acknowledgement by worship. Again the devil admits his defeat calmly, and seems to say, convince me you are the Christ and I forbear. There is an old prophesy that says, "he shall give his angels charge over thee" now cast your yourself down and convince me by the fulfilment of this prophesy, and I yield at once, But here he is not only answered, but driven away in final defeat. The sermon was the very greatest success,—it was great in every way and made an impression that will never be forgotten by those who heard it.

At 2½ o'clock the Literary address was delivered by Rev. A. W. Wilson, of Washington, D. C. His theme was Religion and Literature. The Address was spoken not read. The object was to show that religion is the foundation of all literature; that religion makes literature possible, that its richness and durability depend upon the religion it has. The whole address was specially distinguished in clearness of statement, elegance of diction, apt illustrations and some passages of thrilling eloquence. It is customary for politicians, lawyers &c. to deliver such addresses, but Dr. Wilson has demonstrated that the Pulpit is equal to the Bar or the Forum, in the most brilliant literary productions.

At 8 o'clock P. M. members of the Junior Class delivered orations, viz: H. W. Spinks, of Randolph, D. B. Nicholson, of Magnolia, B. F. Palmer, of Randolph, J. M. Brown, of Randolph, E L. Kennedy, of S. C., and M. A. Gray, of Kinston.

These orations were good and the audience so divided in opinion, that no one could be pronounced best.

THURSDAY.

The day was fine, and the audience so large that perhaps five hundred persons were unable to obtain a seat in the College Chapel. On the rostrum were sixty gentlemen exclusive of the Senior Class. The Salisbury Band was in attendance. Every thing conspired to make the occasion entertaining and pleasant. The following programme was fully executed.

COMMENCEMENT DAY.

I. Vocal Music—Anthem. II. Prayer, by Rev. Dr. Wilson. Music by the Band. III. Latin Oration—Salutatory, by Wm. Junius Scrogge, Lenoir. IV. Work wins the Race, by Cyrenius Crooks Lowe, Randolph Co. Music. V. The Price of being Great, by Walter Pharr Craven, Mecklenburg Co. VI. The Literature of Love, by George David Tysor, Moore Co. Music. VII. Sectionalism, no longer possible, by Edward Thomas Boykin, Trinity. VIII. Dominion of Thought by John Cooper, Savannah, Ga. Music. IX. The Discipline of Democracy, by William Wesley Staley, Graham. X. Sustaining Force, by Nereus Clark English, Trinity. Music. XI. Material Tendencies, by James Monroe Stockard, Graham. XII. The growth of Individuality, the growth of Man, by Leander Slater Overman, Salisbury. Music. XIII. Northern Populations, by Julius Cassius Black, Randolph Co. XIV, The Ruling force of Passion, by Nathaniel Micajah Jurney, Olin. Music. XV. Report of the President and Degrees Conferred. XVI. Literary Societies represented, by J. M. Rhodes, Hesperian, by W. R. Odell Columbian. XVII. Medals Presented, by R. F. Armfield. XVIII. Bibles Presented, by Bishop Keener. Music. XIX, Valedictory Addresses, by Benjamin Franklin Long, Graham XX. Benediction, by the Bishop.

The speeches of the young gentlemen had various degrees of merit, all were good, some very fine. A distingnished gentleman present said the valedictory was perfect.

When Bishop Keener arose to deliver the Bibles, he said, addressing the President of the Faculty, "Mr. President I desire to express not only my gratification but my surprise. You have a much better Institution than you think you have; yes sir, a much greater Institution than you think you have." After further remarks of a similar character, he turned to the graduating class and in a most appropriate and touching speech delivered to each a handsome Bible.

The distinctions of the classes are as follows. The highest possible grade is one hundred, an average of ninety-five is necessary for first honor, ninety for second, eighty five for third. No one can graduate with less than eighty five. Distinctions are given to those only, who have first honor, and in that there are three distinctions.

FRESHMAN CLASS.

E B. Claywell, of Morganton, has first, W. L Cunninggim, of Aurora, second, G. W. Dewey, of Goldsboro, third.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

O. L. Heitman, of Lexington, first, W. E. Sledge, of Weldon, second, L. S. Gaither, of Tenn., third. B. I. Reynolds, of Leaksville and Mr. Gaither were very nearly equal.

JUNIOR CLASS.

E. J. Kennedy, of S. C., first; Thos. Taylor, of Granville, second; H. W. Spinks, of Randolph, third.

SENIOR CLASS.

The following have first honor and in the order named, viz: B. F. Long, W. J. Scroggs, W. W Staley, John Cooper, J. M. Stockard. J. C. Black, E. T. Boykin, N. C. English, L. S. Overman.

The following have second: N. M. Jurney, G. D. Tysor, W. P. Craven, C. C. Lowe.

Bacielor of Arts was conferred upon all the members of the Senior Class, thirteen in number.

The following gentlemen received the degree of Master of Arts, viz: G. D. Hines of California, J. D. Pemberton of Wadesboro, O. H. Allen of Kenansville, J. L. Davis of Trinity, A. J. Ellington of Wentworth, W. H. Pegram of Trinity, J. W. Mauney of Salisbury, J. L. Tomlinson of California, W. T. Swann of Lexington, John M. Webb of Tennessee.

The degree of Doctor of Divinity was given to Rev. N. H. D. Wilson of Greensboro.

THE ALUMNI.

The meeting of the Alumni was of great interest. Important steps were taken in reference to the College, and the organization was recognized by the Trustees in a way to effect much. The Alumni Association is full of spirit and enterprise, and has in it many influential and rising men.—Their annual meeting and address will henceforth be on Wednesday night of Commencement week.

TRUSTEES.

The meeting of the Board was important. The affairs of the College were thoroughly examined. The plan and work of the new building were strongly endorsed, and the economy in expense specially noted. The earnings of the College for the last year were more than equal to the current expenses. It was resolved to elect a Professor of English Literature some time in September next.—J. W. Young, Esq, late of Portsmouth, Va., was elected Instructor of Law. The Agent, Rev. B. B. Culbreth, reported that he had raised in cash and subscriptions since last commencement $5890.24. The Trustees resolved that the agent be continued, and most earnestly commended him to the church and the public generally.

VISITOR.

Our Female Colleges.

BRO. BOBBITT: It was my privilege to attend the Commencement at Davenport, and also at Greensboro' Female College. Davenport Female College is in the pleasant little town of Lenoir, Caldwell county, N. C. It is surrounded on nearly all sides with the most beautiful mountain scenery. The air is invigorating and wholesome. The water exceedingly good. There is an air of neatness and refinement about the town that favorably impresses a stranger. The College building stands on a hill which overlooks the entire town, and affords a fine view of the mountains. The building suffered some by the soldiery at the close of the war, and needs some repairs and improvements. The grounds can be made very beautiful by a small expenditure. Without any further improvements, however, quite a large number of young ladies can be accommodated with good rooms, and I should judge with a comfortable home.

President Robey has won the confidence of the community, and is esteemed a Christian gentleman, well qualified for the position he holds in the College. He has a prudent and capable faculty, which can be enlarged as necessity requires.

The patronage of this College has been limited since the transfer of this portion of our work from the South Carolina Conference, as it depended upon that Conference for much of its patronage, which, of course, has been turned to other Colleges. Another difficulty which it has to contend with is its remoteness from railroads. This difficulty will quite certainly be removed in a short time, as work is being done on a rail road from South Carolina to the place, which will cross the track of two other roads in its course. There is a necessity for a good Female College in this Western part of the N. C. Conference. Davenport has the advantage, and the friends of education in the M. E. Church, South, should not let it lose the advantage.

The trustees and citizens seem to be determined to make the College a success, and I predict a brighter, better day for Davenport.

GREENSBORO' FEMALE COLLEGE.

What a privilege to be at Greensboro' Commencement! The faces of so many of the old faculty, and of so many of the Alumnae of the old College, really made it seem as if the wheel of time had revolved backwards and thrown us in the days of its greatest prosperity. The spacious building, still incomplete, and the neglected Campus remind us, however that phœnix though risen from the ashes, has not yet regained her plumage, nor entirely recovered from the annihilating conflagration.

The College is in successful operation, and will in a few years be an ornament to North Carolina, as it already is an arm of strength to Southern Methodism. The management of the College is in the hands of one of the ablest boards of trustees in the United States, men who are fully capable of managing finances. These men are managing an enterprise in which their own temporal interests are involved and they will succeed.

Everything depends upon patronage, however, and if the friends of Methodism will persist in patronizing other Colleges and neglect our own, then may we fear for the success of our Colleges and our Church. Who can desire a better education for his daughter than she can obtain in our own Colleges? Why then turn away from the old North State to patronize other institutions?

There are young ladies enough in North Carolina alone to fill to the utmost capacity all our Colleges, and the reputation of the State and the Church would be promoted by the education of all these in North Carolina Colleges.

P. J. CARRAWAY.

The Picnic.

The Tryon St. Methodist Sunday School chose Saturday, the 13th, as the time to have their annual picnic.

A special train was chartered for the occasion, and Limestone Springs, in Spartanburg county, S. C. designated as the place for the festival. At 9 o'clock, A M, the Sunday School, accompanied by quite a number of friends, left the city on the Air Line R R. under the care of Capt S S Pegram. A good rain on the previous day had cooled the atmosphere, and notwithstanding the coaches were filled to their utmost capacity, no one suffered from the heat. Our road did no lead us through a very picturesque country, though some objects of interest presented themselves to the view of those who were not so closely engaged with nearer beauties as to care for nothing outside the coaches. An occasional glimpse at the distant mountains of North Carolina was afforded us by the valleys of the Catawba, South Fork and Broad rivers. King's Mountain, of Revolution memory with its adjacent hills, broke the monotony of the level lands on our left, and gave thoughts of the mighty past and the men of other days.—Without time to think of other days, and of other scenes, we were ordered to leave the train and take the country road to the Springs, a distance of one mile And now, some in carriages, some in buggies, but more on foot, we made our way as comfortably as possible to the point of destination.—On our arrival we were met by the teachers and students of the Seminary and marched with them into the spacious chapel.

After a few pieces of music by the Sunday School and friends, led by Mr J G McCorkle, a brief speech was made by Prof. Petty, the Principle of the Seminary, giving a hearty welcome to the excursionists, and tendering to them the privileges of the entire premises during their brief stay. The Rev P J Carraway, in behalf of the Sunday School, responded in a short speech, after which the liberal offer of the use of the premises was literally enjoyed by the delighted assembly of excursionists and citizens. A sumptuous dinner prepared by the citizens and excursionists, was served on a long table in the pleasant grove, and partaken of, with a zest which indicated a very high appreciation of this part of the entertainment. The time of our stay was too short to see all that was to be seen at Limestone Springs. This was once a popular Summer resort. It was then converted into a Female College which was conducted for twenty years by Dr. Curtis, and was very successful. The Doctor was lost at sea in 1858. A beautiful monument was raised on the premises by his pupils to the memory of their Beloved President. The place is in every respect suitable for school purposes. The Seminary is a brick building, with ample accommodations for 150 young ladies. Prof. Petty is now conducting a Female High School here, numbering about 40 pupils. He has good furniture and ample apparatus for a first rate school, and doubtless deserves an increasing patronage. The property is very valuable. Besides the Seminary, there are other buildings, among them a large hotel belonging to the premises.

The signal was given and we had to leave the beautiful place, and hospitable friends and take the Train for home. At nine oclock P. M. we arrived home in safety. Every one seemed to feel that the day, and the occasion, were among the most ever enjoyed. Dr. Smith the Superintedent, and his fine corps of marshals acquitted themselves handsomely Capt. Pegram received many compliments for his continuous management of the excursion; and the writer never saw better order in so large a gathering of villages, and sexes.

ONE OF THE EXCURSIONISTS.
—Charlotte Observer.

Religious Brevities.

— The sessions of the Canada Methodist Episcopal Conferences have just been held.—Bishop Richardson—now closing the first quarter of his 84th year, and the 50th of his itinerancy—presided.

— Rev. Dr. Wilson of Columbia, S. C., has resigned his professorship in the Theological Seminary, and will take charge of the First Presbyterian Church of Wilmington.

— At the General Conference in the Dominion, Eastern British America is entitled to representation by 18 ministers and 18 laymen. The lay representatives are to be elected at the District Meetings, by the vote of the circuit stewards — We are glad to learn from the London Methodist Recorder that quite extensive revivals have been going on among the Wesleyans in various parts of England, and that many persons have been converted. The revival in Scotland still continues with gratifying results.

— The Preachers' Aid Society of the Baltimore Conference have decided to lend a considerable sum to the trustees of Metropolitan church, Washington.

— Ninety charges in the New York Conference paid their pastors less than eight hundred dollars last year.

— A letter from Bishop Wiley has been read in the Boston Preachers' Meeting to the effect that he is resting in the West and gradually improving in health.

— Notwithstanding the emigration from Ireland, the Wesleyans claim credit for not only preserving their numbers, but adding a few also. Last year 700 were placed on trial, and a few were received into full membership. They have now 20 000 members and six candidates for the ministry.

Haven't you mistaken the pew sir? blandly asked a Sunday Chesterfield to a stranger as he entered it. I beg your pard n,' replied the individual, rising to go out. I fear I though' i was a Christian's'.

Book Notice.

THISTLE EDITION OF THE WAVERLY NOVELS. E. J. Hale & Son, Publishers, New York.

Messrs. E. J. Hale & Son, formerly of Fayetteville, N. C. but now established and popular publishers of New York city, deserve no little credit for the uniformly good character of their publications, and tasty and beautiful style in which they are issued. They are especially to be commended for the THISTLE EDITION OF THE WAVERLY NOVELS of which the first six volumes have been, through the kindness of the publishers, placed upon our table. These are "Waverly," "Guy Mannering" and "Antiquary." The Edition is sold only by subscription and one volume is issued PER month; so that the publication of the Edition will extend over a period of about two years, thus rendering it possible to obtain the valuable series without an outlay of but a small sum each month. The novels are in neat muslin binding, tinted paper and clear type, at $1.50 PER volume—the half-sheep at $2.25.

We are not in the habit of commending novels to our readers, generally. The majority of works of fiction, especially of this day, have done and are doing more harm, perhaps, than good. They vitiate the taste by feeding the imagination with highly-wrought and overdrawn pictures of life, and corrupt the morals by presenting to the mind vice whose frightful mien is hidden by the charm, or forgotten in the interest with which their heroes and heroines are so often invested. Indiscriminate novel reading is, therefore, wisely discountenanced and prohibited by the disciplinary rules of our church; but there is a class of fiction writers who have contributed greatly to the moral and intellectual elevation of men, and without an acquaintance with whom, a person cannot be said to be fully educated. Because the use of fiction-writing as an educator, has been abused, it does not follow that it is wholly to be rejected: because tares will get into a field of wheat, it is not wise or necessary, to cast aside the grains of pure wheat that spring and grow in their midst. Mr. Dickens, for instance, was a great benefactor through his inimitable works of fiction, and by his vivid pictures of prevailing evils and distresses in England, accomplished reforms which no amount of lecturing, prosaic homilies, or dry philosophizing could have brought about.

In the front rank of the best and most useful fiction-writers—high above all, we may say—stands Sir Walter Scott, the "Wizard of the North," whose works will live and be read, and that with profit, as long as the English language is understood. Pure in heart himself, and chaste in thought, his writings are without spot or blemish; vice is painted as it deserves and virtue meets with its reward. A tolerably extensive acquaintance with his works justifies us in saying that in all his novels there is not one which does not teach humanity and morality—not one that is not marked by the purest and most chaste and elegant language which the rich stores of English can furnish.

It seems somewhat strange to be commending, at this late date, an author whose fame is so well established and power so universally acknowledged, as that of Sir Walter Scott. We can safely commend his writings and cheerfully recommend the edition published by the Messrs. Hale.

Messrs. G. H. Haigh & Co., of Fayetteville, N. C., are General Agents for this State to whom persons wishing local agencies, can apply.

We have received the annual catalogue of Randolph Macon College. There have been 235 matriculates during the past collegiate year. Of this number Virginia gives 149. The session closes on the 29th instant.

The Catalogue of Peace Institute of this city for the past collegiate year has been placed upon our table from which we learn that the institution has enjoyed success. The total number of matriculates is 103. Outside of our own church we know of no institution of learning we can more cheerfully recommend to the public. In our Conference we have two excellent Female Colleges, viz—Greensboro and Davenport. These have the first claim upon us as a church, but if any are so situated that they cannot patronize them, we say patronize Peace Institute.

ELEMENTS OF ALGEBRA, by F. A. Shoup, Professor of Mathematics in the University of the South; Late Professor of Logic, Metaphysics, etc. in the University of Mississippi E. J. Hale & Son, New York, Publishers.

We are indebted to the publishers for the above named work. We have not had time to examine fully into its merits, but are pleased with the small compass in which the treatment of the subject is contained. It is intended for beginners and the subjects treated of in the higher course of algebra by other writers are omitted. The author is a Southern educator and we trust his work will receive patronage. The publication is characterized by that neatness and excellence which mark all of the books of the Messrs. Hale.

State and Local

— We call attention to the change in the schedule of the North Carolina Rail Road which appears on our fourth page.

— The Wilmington Journal says,—Quite a number of our people have already left the city for the summer and others are packing up.

— The Shelby Banner thinks the Carolina Central Railway has forfeited its charter, because the road has not been completed to that town within the time in which the charter said it should be.

— At the North Carolina College Mount Pleasant, Cabarrus county, there were 115 students the past session. 9 of them Theologians.

— The 25th annual meeting of the Stockholders of the North Carolina Rail Road Co takes place in Hillsboro on the 9th of July.

— Hon W. M. Robbins has been unanimously nominated for Congress from the Seventh District.

— Wilmington peanuts are quoted in New York at $2 50 to $2 65 per bushel for new.

— Jesse H. Herbert Esq., has been elected Mayor of Battleboro in place of Mr. Taylor resigned.

— The conservatives of Johnston county have nominated the following ticket: For the Senate, Col. L. R. Waddell; for the House E. J. Holt and E. A. Bizzell.

— John Allen Ketchy has been respited until June 26th, by Gov. Caldwell, at the earnest solicitation and request of his spiritual advisers, in Salisbury Ketchey, as it is well-known, is in Salisbury jail under sentence of death for the crime of rape.

— The Observer says: Ripe peaches of this year's growth have made their appearance in Charlotte. They were raised on the farm of Thos. Grier, Esq., near this city, and were not grown in a hot house, either.

— The Hillsboro Recorder says: We learn that in the Flat River section tobacco plants are very scarce, and many that have been set out have perished from the heat. About Cedar Grove and Prospect Hill, the accounts are rather more favorable. As a general thing, the present outlook is discouraging to the planter.

— The Wilmington Star says: Some one anxious to make money at somebody else's expense, has been going about collecting money for the building of the First M. E. Church, of this city. We are requested to say no one has been authorized to do this, and those who give will simply lose their money.

— Our good brother and friend Alex. Walker, of Durham complains that he does not get his paper regularly. We can assure him that the fault is not with this office.

— We call attention to advertisement in another column of the New Jersey Mutual Life Insurance company. The annual statement before us, shows that this staunch company issued 6,977 policies in 1873 with premium receipts of nearly one million dollars. Dr. C. D. Rice so well and favorably known to our people is the, General Agent of this company for North Carolina. We cheerfully recommend this company to the public as titled to patronage.

—A GOOD OFFICER.—John A. McDonald route agent from Raleigh to Fayetteville is said to be one of the most efficient route agents in the State. He is attentive to business, cautious, and gives satisfaction to all.

— In the U. S. Circuit Court the argument in the case of C. Dewey, assignee of the Bank North Carolina vs. Trustees of the University of North Carolina, was resumed. The question involved in this case is how far the Trustees of the University had a right to use the property of the institution, the bill being to foreclose certain mortgages made by the old Trustees of the University.

— Col. R. T. Bennett has been chosen by the Conservatives of Anson county as their choice for Senator, from the district composed of the counties of Union and Anson.

— Henry T. Jordan has been nominated by the Conservatives of Person county for the House of Representatives This is a good selection.

— The Enfield TIMES has been sold to Messrs. P. H. Winston, Jr., and Moses Gilliam, of Bertie county, who proposes establishing at once a Democratic paper at Windsor, to be called THE ALBEMARLE TIMES.

The Christian Advocate

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All the travelling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1 00. Those who send us more will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters on business should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post Office order can be deducted on the amount to send. If money is sent otherwise and such is specified it will be at the sender's risk.

General News.

Hon. Jefferson Davis is said to have left England last week for his home in this country.

— The news from Arkansas is to the effect that all is quiet and things are in a condition favorable to peace and prosperity.

A POLICE OFFICER'S TESTIMONY.—Mr. William E. Dodge recently asked the chief of the New York police, "What would be the effect upon the police of the city if every place where intoxicating liquors can be purchased, were absolutely closed at ten o'clock at night so that after that hour it would be impossible for anybody, in any part of New York, to purchase alcoholic drinks?" He said instantly that it would dismiss one-half of the police of that city, and reduce our police force one-half for the great mass of crime," said he, "those terrible riots, murders, and the great crimes that fill our various police courts in the morning with their almost numberless victims directed during the night, all culminate between the hours of ten at night and two or three in the morning.

Marriages.

At Evertsville, in Warren co. at the residence of D. B. Everitt Esq. May 20th by Rev J. E. Mann, Rev. A. R. Rives of N. C. Conference and Miss Eliza Midyette of Hyde co N. C.

Married, in Morganton, N. C., on 9th Inst. by Rev. J. S. Ervin, A. W. Malone, and Miss. Mamie Bettis.

Deaths.

Obituary notices of twenty lines or less inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines of many words is charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line. Count the lines and allow many words to the line. In this way you may always know the amount to enclose. Resolutions of respect are subject to the same rule.

Departed his life on Pea Ridge, Caswell Co., N. C. May 8th, 1874, of consumptive chill Brother E. Bullock, Holden in the fifty third year of his age. Bro. Holden professed religion and joined the M. E. Church South, in early life and continued an active member up to his death.

His death was sudden but he met it like a Christian. Expressed regret at leaving his wife and children, but said that he was resigned to the will of God. He was a good neighbor, a useful citizen, a warm friend, and a kind and an affectionate husband and father. He leaves a widow and four children, and numerous relatives and friends to mourn their loss. We all miss him and heartily sympathize with his bereft loved ones.

May the widow's and orphan's God comfort, sustain and keep them!

J. W. JENKINS.

Samuel L. Dromond was born in Randolph County N. C. November 11th 1831 and died June 5th 1874, aged 42 years, 6 months, and twenty five days. He joined the Methodist E. Church South, in early manhood, and he lived a consistent member to the day of his death. His house was a home for the weary Itinerant and he truly gave of his means, for the support of the gospel. He leaves a wife, and many relatives, as well as a church, and large circle of friends to mourn his untimely death. But while we drop the tear of sorrow, for our brother, we grieve not as those without hope, she is not lost, but gone before and time, will bring us all together again—we trust, in that better land. Brother Osmond was a great sufferer, for a few days, before he died, but like a true soldier, he never murmured.

How strange are the ways of Providence, when the good die in the midst of their usefulness. But it is our brother's will; may he give us submissive hearts; and be a husband to the heart stricken widow, and give her grace to meet him, whom we all loved in this home where parting is no more.

L. L. NASH.

Died, in Shelby, on the 8th of May, 1874 Jason C. Harris, Esq. aged 58 years. The death of Brother Harris was quite a severe shock to the feelings of his family and the community, both because of the irreparable loss of a man of such estimable qualities and the startling suddenness of his departure.

He arose in the morning enjoying his usual health, was engaged in work until about 10 o'clock, when he began to feel little unwell. He went to his house; the physician was sent for, but in the course of an hour, his immortal spirit had gone to the better land. He was a man of fine intelligence, of neighborly qualities and deep and consistent piety. He was a pillar of the Methodist E. Church, South Randolph County, where he spent the longest part of his life. He moved to this place last fall, and his Godly walk and great worth as a citizen, friend, neighbor, and member of the Church had won the love and esteem of this whole community. The large congregation, and sympathy manifested on the occasion of his funeral, showed how greatly he was beloved. He has gone to the rest of the bright er world and leaves the rich legacy of a pious example to bless the world and cheer the sad heart of a bereaved wife and five children.

H. T. HUDSON.

Departed this life at Thomasville N. C May 31st 1874 Mrs. Alice C. Howerton, in the prime of life.

The deceased was for a number of years a devoted member of the M. E. Church, South, and passed away in great peace and triumph.

Never but once did I witness such triumph in the dying hour. Approaching her bed side a day or two before she died, after asking of her bodily health, I said how are you feeling in your soul? She replied "all right, Jesus is with me." After a pause she said "I dont mind dying at all; I never thought I would feel this way."

These are only a few of the many similar expressions which fell from her lips. I could say much of sister Howerton if it were necessary, but I will say all that need be said in one brief sentence: She was a sincere and genuine christian.

She leaves an aged mother, a devoted husband and child three brothers and so far as we are informed to the contrary, one sister, and a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

Her funeral was preached in the Methodist church to a large and weeping congregation and her mortal remains wait the sound of the resurrection trumpet at Fair Grove. May the Lord comfort and save the surviving friends!

C. M. PEPPER.

MEANS. Died at Belle vue in Cabarrus county, on the evening of the 4th inst. Catherine J. Means, wife of Genl. W. C. Means, in the 50 h year of her age.

She was the daughter of Genl. Paul Barringer, the worthy son of a noble-hearted and honest German who migrated to America previous to the Revolutionary war; during which struggle he was a faithful and devoted friend to American liberty. Her father was noted for his honesty and integrity,—a patriot and defender of the poor and helpless, an advocate of all true progress in moral and civilization, he was a man worthy of admiration and emulation. Her father's immediate family were all christianly and intelligent; and though her brothers have attained great fame in the Church and State, and though one sister adorned by all the virtues of their sex were highly esteemed and respected by all who knew them, as an intelligent christian, as a wife, as a mother, as a woman in the woman's sphere she was the peer of all.

At a very early age she connected herself with the Evangelical Lutheran Church. At SHELBY DISTICT.

3RD ROUND—IN PART.

South Fork, Palm Tree,	July 1 5
Cherry Mountain,	" 11-12
Dallas,	" 18-19
Lincoln Lincolnton Dist. Conf.	" 22 26
Morganton Sardis,	August 1- 2

Shelby District Conference will be held in Lincolnton. The introductory sermon will be preached at 8 P. M., Wednesday July 22d, by Rev. Samuel Leard. The Conference will convene in the Methodist Church at 9 A. M., Thursday July 23d. Let the preachers and the stewards be prepared to make full and accurate reports.

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT

3RD ROUND.

Tryon Street and Calvary Miss.	June 27 28
Monroe ct. Liberty Chapel,	July 4- 5
Pineville ct. at Roan's,	" 11-12
Monroe st.	" 18 19
Mt. Pleasant ct. at Mt. Pleasant	" 25
Concord st.	August 1- 2
Pleasant Grove ct, at Pleas. Grove,	" 8- 9
South Charlotte ct. at Bethel,	" 15 16
Albermarle and Stanley, at Center,	" 22-23
Lillesville ct. at Salem,	" 29-30
Wadesboro' st.	Sept 5- 6
Ansonville ct. at —,	" 12-13
Wadesboro' ct. at —	" 19 20

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Warrenton st.	June 13 14
Warren ct.	" 20 21
Roanoke ct	" 27-28
Williamston ct.	July 1- 5
Columbia ct.	" 11 12
Plymouth,	" 18 19
Bath ct.	" 25 26
Matamuskeet,	August 1- 2
Washington and Greenville,	" 8- 9
Tarboro at Tarboro,	" 15 16
Garrett's Q. M.,	" 22-23

WM. CLOSE, P. E.

NEWERN DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Beaufort,	July 4 5
Straits, Tuesday,	" 7
Wayne, Nahunta,	" 11 12
Jones Trenton,	" 18 19
Trent, Bethlehem.	" 25 26
Lenoir, Woodington,	Aug. 1 2
Newbern ct. Beech Grove, Tuesday,	" 4
Goldsboro,	" 8- 9
Kinston, Tuesday,	" 11
Sconse, Swift cr'k Miss. Smith's Creek.	" 15 16
Snow Hill, Tabernacle,	" 22 23
Wilson,	" 29 30
Mt. Olive,	Sept. 5 6
Newbern.	" 12-13

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort, N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND.

Jones-boro' Poplar Spring	June 13-14
Cumberland, Camp-ground,	" 20-21
Carthage, Bethlehem,	" 27 28
Rockingham, Mt. Pleasant	July 4 5
Robeson, Horeb,	" 11 12
Laurinburg, Laurinburg,	" 18-19
Fayetteville,	" 25-26
Montgomery, Smyrn,	Aug. 1- 2
Poe Dew,	" 8- 9
Ewharie, Concord.	" 15-16
Buckhorn, Buckhorn,	" 22-23

S. D. ADAMS, P. E.

The District Conference will be held at Laurinburg, commencing on Thursday the 16th of July.

A camp-meeting will be held at Concord, Ewharie circuit, in connection with the third Quarterly Meeting commencing on Friday evening Aug. the 14th.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND IN PART.

Granville ct. at Salem,	July 4 5
Tar River ct. at Banks Chapel,	" 11 12
Rolesville ct. at Sidney,	" 18 19
Henderson ct. at Tabernacle,	August 1- 2
Cary ct. at Ebenezer.	" 8 9

The District Conference will be held at Franklinton. To commence on Thursday morning, July 23, at 10 o'clock.

W. H. BOBBITT, P. E.
Cary, N. C

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND—QUARTERLY MEETINGS

Durham at Orange church	June 13- 14
Chapel Hill & Haw River at Ebenezer	" 20-21
Flat River at Walnut Grove,	" 27-28
Person ct. at Providence,	July 4- 5
Hillsboro ct. at New Sharon,	" 11-12
Hillsboro ct. at Clover Garden,	" 18-19
High Rock Mission,	" 25, 26
Yanceyville ct.	August 8- 9
Deep River,	" 15-16
Pittsboro	" 22-23
Leasburg at Leasburg	" 29 30

The District Conference will be held at Leasburg commencing August 27. Rev. W. H. Moore will preach the introductory sermon. Brethren from abroad are invited to attend.

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Mt Tirzah, N. C.

The Markets.

Raleigh Market—Retail Prices
June 23, 1874.

CORRECTED WEEKLY.

COTTON	14 1-2 to 17 1-2
BACON—Baltimore smoked,	10@11
" —unsmoked,	9@10
" —strips,	12 1-2@
" —shoulders,	10@11
" —N. Hams,	15@16
BUTTER—per lb.,	25@30
BEESWAX—per lb.,	25@30
BEEF—on hoof,	10@15
COFFEE—per lb	24@25
CHEESE—per lb.,	20@25
COTTON YARN—per bale,	1 75@1 80
CORN—per bushel,	90@1 00
CHICKENS—per piece,	20@25
EGGS—per dozen,	15@20
FLOUR—per barrel,	8.50@9
HIDES—green, per lb.,	6@7
" —dry, per lb.,	12@15
HERRINGS, N. C.—per barrel,	7 50@8 00
LEATHER—per lb.,	30@40
LARD—per pound,	12@15
MOLASSES—per gallon,	40@50
MEAL—per bushel,	95@1 10
OATS—per bushel,	75@
" —per 100 lbs.,	1 30@1 50
ONIONS—per bush.,	75@1 00
PEASE—per bush.,	90@1 00
" —white,	1 40@1 50
POTATOES—Irish, per bushel,	75@1 00
SUGAR—crushed,	13@16
" —extra C,	15@16
" —P. R.,	12@
" —common,	12@13 1-2
SALT—per sack,	3 50@ 4 00

New Advertisements.

NEW JERSEY MUTUAL LIFE Insurance Company.

HOME OFFICE, NEWARK, NEW JERSEY.

$1,000,000.00 Annual Income $1,000,000.00

6 977 Policies Issued in 1873 6.977

$1.47 Ratio Assetts to Liabilities $1 47

$476,709.91 Surplus for Policy holders $476,709.91

Small losses—small expenses—prompt in payment of death losses—careful selection of risks.

Agents wanted in every county in the State, to whom most liberal commissions will be paid

DR. C. D. RICE,
General Agent,
Raleigh, N. C.

june 24-12m

GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE,

GREENSBORO N C

This institution is again in successful operation and affords all the advantages of a first-class Female College.

The Fall Session will begin on Wednesday, 29th July. For Catalogue containing terms &c., apply to the President, Rev. T. M. Jones.

N. H. D. WILSON,
President Board of Trustees.

June 24-2m

LADIES READ!

Needles for the following Machines: Wheeler and Wilson, Grover & Baker, Wilcox & Gibbs, Howe, Weed, Domestic, Beckeye and Singer. Warranted equal to the best. Only 25 cents per dozen. Sent prepaid to any address in the United States on receipt of price. Address, J. A. STEWART, june 17-1m. Henderson, N.C.

THE MENEELY BELL FOUNDRY.

BELLS for Churches, Academies, Factories, etc., of which more have been made at this establishment than at all the other foundries in the country combined. All Bells warranted. An illustrated catalogue sent free upon application to

MENEELY & CO.,
West Troy, N.Y.

june 10-12m

BINGHAM SCHOOL.

ESTABLISHED IN 1793.

MAJ. ROBERT BINGHAM, Supt.
Maj. W. B. LYNCH,
Capt. T. M. NORWOOD.
W. G. QUAKENBUSH.

Mebaneville, N. C.

The 161st Session opens July 15th 1874. Charges including books $160 per session. No extras.

june 10-2m

THE

New Buffalo Spring,

MECKLENBURG COUNTY, VA.

This Spring is shown by analysis to contain a fraction under three grains of the "Salt of Lithium" to the imperial gallon. This Salt is found in but two of the other Mineral Waters of the State, and in those two as a mere "trace." Professor George B. Wood, of the University of Pennsylvania, speaking of Lithia, says: "There is perhaps no other remedy from which equal efficacy may be expected in the removal of the deposits of the Urate of Soda in the joints and ligamentous tissues in gouty patients, and in preventing the deposits in the kidneys, bladder, and urinary passages." Another writer on the subject says: "It (the Lithia) is peculiarly adapted to the case of persons suffering from or threatened with gout, stone, or gravel. There is perhaps, no other known remedy that produces greater relief in such cases." Applying these authorities to the facts, it may be fairly claimed that no other mineral water in Virginia holds out to the sufferer from the diseases here mentioned a prospect of relief equal to that offered by the new Spring at Buffalo. The appended certificates will show that this Spring, though of very recent discovery, is not without evidence to support the claim which is made for it as a remedial agent.

THOMAS P. GOODE.

May 20, 1874.

GRAVEL AND DYSPEPSIA RELIEVED BY THE NEW SPRING AT BUFFALO.

MECKLENBURG COUNTY, VA., May 20, 1874.

For some five years my wife has been greatly afflicted both with gravel and dyspepsia, being often confined to her bed, and almost entirely nullified for the discharge of any of the duties of life. During the past winter her condition grew worse, and medicine failed to afford her any relief. By the advice of her physician she commenced, some six weeks ago, the use of the water of the "New Spring," at Buffalo which she has continued to the present time.

Improvement was soon perceptible in her condition, and I am thankful to say that she is now restored to a comfortable state of health, and able to attend regularly to her domestic duties.

Very respectfully, WILLIAM OWEN.

CASE OF SEVERE INDIGESTION ATTENDED BY BRIGHT'S AL SYMPTOMS RELIEVED BY THE NEW SPRING AT BUFFALO.

Case of Dolly Suelton, a woman of color.—At the request of Colonel T. P. Tredwell, the proprietor of the Buffalo Springs, we had an interview with Dolly Suelton, a respectable colored woman, living in the immediate vicinity of the Springs, in relation to relief expected of her from the "New Spring" in her suffering condition. Has the New Spring at Buffalo. She makes the following statement: In the month of September last she became a great sufferer from indigestion, not being able to eat the least articles of food. Her health soon became so much as to confine her to bed. The usual things were soon followed by a painful swelling of the body and feet. In the month of October, while still confined to her bed, she began to use the water of the New Spring at Buffalo, the beneficial effects of which was soon manifested, and by the first of April she was so far improved as to be able to leave her bed. She now entertains hopes, and walks about as well as any one of her age could be expected to do. She is a very old woman.

SORRELL COBB.
T. W. J. BAPTIST

With feeling no accurate knowledge of the condition of Dolly Suelton, I know often sickness, of her using the water, and of long standing, and I believe the statement to be correct. T. W. J. BAPTIST.

june 10-6w

DR. WM. HALL'S

BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS,

THE GREAT AMERICAN CONSUMPTIVE REMEDY.

Consumption is NOT an incurable disease. Physicians assume so in this face. It is only necessary to remove the irritation, and the terrible malady can be conquered.

HALL'S BALSAM IS THIS REMEDY.

It breaks up the night sweats, relieves the oppressive tightness across the chest, and heals the lacerated and ulcerated surfaces which the venom of the disease produces.

WHILE IT LASTS THERE'S HOPE.

It may not be too late to effect a cure even after the doctors have given you up.

HALL'S BALSAM is sold everywhere, and may be had at wholesale of the Proprietors, JOHN P. HENRY, CURRAN & CO., at their Great Medicine Warehouse and 3 College Place, New York. Price $1 per bottle.

HALLS BALSAM is also a sure remedy for COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, SPITTING OF BLOOD, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, and all other diseases of the respiratory organs.

Also Proprietors of Dr. Wm. Hall's Blood and Liver Syrup for Scrofula Salves, Ridge's Troches, Oxygenated Bitters, Hall's Liver Pills, &c.

JOHN P. HENRY, CURRAN & CO., 3 and 9 College Place, New York.

June 3-6t-1m

SPECIALTIES

Most lately sold, a very desirable assortment of

Rich Lace Points,

Brussels Point Lace Collas.

Lace Undersleeves.

Real Hand-Made Valencien,

Edgings and Insertings,

Embroidered and Hemstitched

Handkerchiefs,

Together with the remainder of

OUR STOCK.

It is especially desirable that we should close out

THE ENTIRE STOCK

BY JULY OR AUGUST.

Goods Very Cheap and Very Good.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER,
Surviving Partners.

je23-tf

BUY ONLY THE

"ALL RIGHT"

COOKING STOVE.

The CHEAPEST because the BEST.

WE HAVE THIS DAY GREATLY REDUCED OUR PRICES ON

SASH, DOORS AND BLINDS,

Send for Price List.

MACHINE BELTING,

Steam Packing & Engine Hose,

ALSO

ALL OTHER ARTICLES OF

Vulcanized India Rubber.

FARM & CHURCH BELLS

Of Every Description.

Address Hardware House of

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Fisher Building,
Raleigh, N. C.

June 4-tf

THE ALL RIGHT

COOKING STOVE

Is offered as absolutely

Without a Superior.

SOLD AT PRICES AS LOW AS ANY OTHER FIRST-CLASS STOVE, BY

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Fisher Building,
Raleigh, N. C.

June 4 tf

CARY COTTON GIN.

The Latest, Best and Cheapest.

I offer the public the latest improved Cotton Gin, as well as the cheapest. The following certificates from well known gentlemen, will be more satisfactory than any thing I can say:

NEAR CARY, N. C., Nov., 12th, 1873.

This is to certify that I am using one of the Cary Gins made by W. M. Sorrell, of Cary, N. C., and that I am well pleased with it and would cheerfully recommend it to any one wanting a good Gin.

A. B. YATES.

CARY, N. C., May 22nd, 1874.

I take pleasure in saying that the Fifty Saws Cotton Gin I purchased from Mr. W. M. Sorrell, known as the Cary Gin, does far better work than any Gin I have heretofore used, though costing from 50 to 100 per cent. less money. I think any person in want of a Gin will save money by purchasing the Cary Gin. Its performance has been entirely satisfactory to me, I can cheerfully recommend it to others.

A. F. PAGE.

We certify that the Cary Gin has given entire satisfaction to our neighbors, who have tried it, and we think it an excellent gin.

H. P. GUESS,
H. B. JORDAN,
W. C. PAGE,
WM. E. PELL.

PRICE:

For 60 Saw Gin,	$170.
For 55 Saw Gin,	160.
For 50 Saw Gin,	150
For 45 Saw Gin,	140.
For 40 Saw Gin,	130.
For all under 40 Saws,	120

Persons wanting Gins will please send in their orders early in the season so that I may not be crowded in the fall. Send in your orders and I warrant you will be pleased. I do all kind of repairing.

W. M. SORRELL,
Cary, N. C.

Address,

June 3-6m.

FARMERS' EXCHANGE

Thompson & Whitaker

Wholesale Grocers and

Commission Merchants.

MARTIN STREET,

GUANOS.

"Soluble Navassa Guano."
"Navassa Tobacco Fertilizer"

AND

Dissolved Phosphate.

Manufactured by Navassa Guano Company at Wilmington, N. C. Guaranteed to meet all the requirements of law.

Below are the names of a few who will testify to its merits:

Dr. B. Craven, Trinity College; L. H. Sanders, Johnston county; W. H. McMcllaughn, Johnston county; David Wood, Johnston county; J. M. Wilson, Wilson's Mills; E. W. Pou, Raleigh; Willis Avera, Johnston county. For sale by

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.

Raleigh, N. C.

Feb 4-12m.

HORNER & GRAVES' SCHOOL,

Hillsboro,' N. C.

A Classical, Mathematical, Scientific, & Military Academy.

Fall Session begins the 2nd Monday in July.

Board and tuition, including fuel, washing, lights and furnished rooms $157.50 per Session of twenty weeks.

INSTRUCTORS:

J. H. HORNER, A. M.
R. H. GRAVES, A. M.
HUGH MORSON, Jr., University of Virginia.
MAJ. D. H. HAMILTON,
A. W. VENABLE, Jr., Dickeopsis Com. College

Circulars sent on application.

Hillsboro' N. C.

June 10-2w.

GREGG & BOWE

COR. 8TH & ORANGE STS.,

Wilmington, Del.,

Manufacturers of the CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, ROCKAWAYS, CARIOLETTS, VICTORIA'S COACHES, &c., &c.

Also Dealers in cheaper grades of Carriages.

REFERENCE: Col. J. M. Heck, Raleigh; Judge Dick, Thos. B. Keogh and Julius A. Gray, Greensboro. L. E Johnson, Lexington.

apr 29-4t.

THE PEERLESS STEAM WASHER AND BLEACHER!

The Latest, Best and Cheapest Washer made!

That Steam Washers are the best kind is generally conceded. That the PEERLESS is best of its kind will be readily admitted as soon as it is seen and tested.

It cannot all the water to flow up through pipes and start down through the clothes.

The water has not to go to the centre or either end of the boiler to get back where it started, but goes out at any part of the upper bottom, and hence washes all parts of the clothing alike.

the water in sixteen streams, on all parts face of the clothing.

ater rushes through the clothes many times nte, and cleans them in 15 to 30 minutes la-With this machine, any lady who chooses may do the washing of her family in a very short time, with very little work, without slops, without rubbing, or damage to the fabric, with ease and quiet that her husband would hardly know when washday comes!

The cost of the machine soon saved in difference in wear. Soon saved in difference in labor required.

A lea quilt or lace collar—the finest or coarest fabric—a single piece or boiler full, washed with equal ease.

The machine can be made for any stove boiler, or the boiler furnished with the machine can be used for any other purpose.

It sets for less than any other, and will do the work more thoroughly and in less time.

As its name indicates it is

PEERLESS AMONG ALL!

Directions for using go with each machine. They are made of best material, and sold at the following prices:

For washer and boiler (No. 9)	$8.00
For " alone	5.00
For washer and boiler 3) inches long	9.50
For " alone	6.00

Sent anywhere per express on receipt of price by J. A JONES, Proprietor, Raleigh, N. C.

LIVINGSTONE IS DEAD!

For 30 years MILLIONS have intently watched his PERILOUS yet HEROIC STRUGGLES and GRAND TRIUMPHS; and now they eagerly devour the COMPLETE LIFE-HISTORY of this world-renowned HERO and BENEFACTOR which unfolds also the CURIOSITIES and WEALTH of a WILD and WONDERFUL country. We publish JUST THAT HISTORY from his BIRTH to his BURIAL. Now ready 2,000 agents wanted quickly. One agent sold 184 first six days, another, 296 first week. For particulars of this our SUPERB NEW Illustrated BIBLE, and OCEAN'S STORY, Address HUBBARD BROS. at office nearest you, either PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON, or CINCINNATI, O.

Oct 1 1-y

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap. Apply at the ADVOCATE Office.

Sept 10-tf

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Successors to Wyatt, Green & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Cotton Factors,

Commission, Shipping

And Forwarding Merchants,

No. 4 Exchange Place and Martin St.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Cotton and satisfaction guaranteed.

Consignments of all kinds of country produce solicited.

All debts due or against the late firm of Wyatt, Green and Co., will be collected and disbursed as they become due, by us.

WYATT, BINGHAM AND CO.,
Raleigh, N. C.

dc10-tf

GREAT SALE OF

GARDEN HOES.

FOR NEXT 30 DAYS,
FOR NEXT 30 DAYS,
GARDEN HOES 25 CENTS.
GARDEN HOES 25 CENTS.

Garden	Hoes 25 Cents.
Garden	Hoes 25 Cents.
Garden	Hoes 25 Cents.

Warranted Steel,
Warranted Steel,
Garden Hoes 30 Cents,
Garden Hoes 30 Cents,
Great Bargains,
Great Bargains,
Garden Hoes 35 Cents,
Garden Hoes 35 Cents.
Call Early,
Call Early,
Garden Hoes 40 cents,
Garden Hoes 40 cents,
Extremely Low Prices,
Extremely Low Prices,
Garden Hoes 45 cents,
Garden Hoes 45 cents.
25, 30 35 40, 45 and 50 cents.
Call and buy great bargains at

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS.

may 6—tf

OLD NORTH STATE

FIRE

Insurance Company.

OF

WARRENTON, - - - N. C.

Closed its second fiscal year April 1st, in a condition of great prosperity.

A handsome dividend has been declared and a full reserve set aside on the basis of the New York law.

Every legitimate loss has been promptly paid and the Company does not owe

A DOLLAR.

IT IS A

NORTH CAROLINA INSTITUTION,

owned and conducted by NORTH CAROLINIANS, and deserves the liberal patronage it is receiving.

WM. S. DAVIS, President.
N. R. JONES, Vice-President
B. F. LONG, Secretary.
W. J. JOHNSON, Treasurer.
T. C. WILLIAMS, Supervisor.

JNO. DEVEREAUX, Agent.
Raleigh, N. C

May 13-12m

ORGANS! PIANOS!

Organs for Church or Parlor, prices extremely low for CASH, or part cash and balance in

MONTHLY or QUARTERLY PAYMENTS

Second-hand Instruments taken in exchange. A liberal discount to Ministers, Teachers, Churches, Schools, Lodges, Etc.

Agents for Horace, Waters & Son celebrated Organs and Pianos

You can save money by buying from

NAT L. BROWN,
Raleigh, N. C.

may 13-tf

A SECOND HAND PIANO FOR SALE AT NAT L. BROWN'S

may 13-tf

CROQUET SETS, BALLS, BATS, HOOPS, MARbles, Building and Alphabet Blocks, Games, etc., at NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

CONFECTIONARIES, CANNED GOODS, FINE Cigars and Smoking Tobacco at NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES, At NAT L. BROWN'S

may 13-tf

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,

STRINGS AND TRIMMINGS,

may 13-tf at NAT L. BROWN'S.

NATIONAL HOTEL,

Delightfully Situated, next to Capitol Square.

RALEIGH, N. C.

A NEW HOUSE.

Fine Rooms, well Furnished and Fitted up in the best style.

ATTENTIVE SERVANTS.

The Table Daily Supplied with the Best this and other Markets afford.

C. S. BROWN,
PROPRIETOR.

Late of Boyden House Salisbury N C.

Feb. 25—3 mos.

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY

MALE AND FEMALE.

R. P. TROY, A. M., Principal.
Mrs. R. P. TROY, Teacher of Music.

Spring session begins January, 5th 1874.

Board per month, $8.00
Tuition " from 1.50 to 3.00
One half in advance.

ADVANTAGES

Low price of board and tuition, healthy and moral location, Sabbath school and religious service every Sunday.

Access:—By Rail Road to Greensboro, whence free conveyance will be furnished by the Principal, if informed of arrival.

Address the Principal,
Greensboro, N. C.

Nov26-1m

FLOUR! FLOUR!! FLOUR!!!

Leach Brothers,

No. 3 Exchange Place,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We beg leave to call the attention of the Trade in Central North Carolina to our large and well selected stock of

"FAMILY," "EXTRA" AND "SUPERFINE" FLOURS.

We feel confident we can do as well for them as our house in Baltimore or Norfolk, freight and other charges added.

Our Senior Partner and Buyer, who resides all the time in New York, has for the past eight years been connected with the large and well known Grocery House of Messrs. H. K. Thurber & Co., and has recently been connected with the Flour Exchange in that city, as their buyer of Flour, which gives us every advantage of the largest buyer in New York, as well as Baltimore or Norfolk, enabling us to offer Flour in this market for the first time STRICTLY AT FIRST HANDS, and with only one profit to the retailer.

Our facilities for handling these goods being equal to any house South of New York, and buying them at "Hard Pan" price, for cash, we are determined to handle them at as small margin as any house in these Northern cities!

Samples sent upon application and prices guaranteed.

We also offer the same inducements in general

Grocery Stock.

LEACH BROS.

mar 4-tf.

THE WILSON TAKES THE GRAND Prize at Vienna!

AUSTRIA, VIENNA, Aug. 15, 1873.

To W. G. Wilson, President Wilson Sewing Mach. Co., Cleveland, Ohio:

The Wilson Shuttle Sewing Machine was awarded the Grand Prize at the Vienna Exposition, for being the best Sewing Machine.

The above telegram needs no comment. The people can now be assured that in buying the Wilson at the low price of $50 they are getting the best Sewing Machine ever offered to the public. Circulars and Best terms to agents, address

DEHAVEN & WHARTON,
State Agents, Greensboro, N. C.

Sept. 4 - 1. Pd 5.

CAROLINA COTTON GIN.

M'CALLUM, WYCKOFF & HOPE,

SUCCESSORS TO

SEPARKS, HICKS & CO.,

Engineers, Iron Founders and Machinists,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We are manufacturing

THE CAROLINA COTTON GIN.

Awarded a Premium by the North Carolina Agricultural Society in 1873 for the BEST GIN MADE IN THE STATE. It has no superior; is the lightest running, strongest and most durable in market. We guarantee every Gin to give satisfaction. The prices are lower than any First Class Gin sold in the State.

We also manufacture Steam Engines and Boilers, Saw Mills, Grist Mills and other machinery. Prices lower than any other Engine and Boiler in the market.

We also make to order Pea Vine Threshers not excelled by any other.

COTTON GINS, and all classes of machine work, repaired in the best manner.

CASTINGS furnished to order.

april 2-tf

WATSON'S GALLERY

—OF—

PHOTOGRAPHIC ART,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is one of the most complete and extensive Photographic establishments in the South; where every style of Photographic likeness is executed from the smallest minature, to the large Portrait colored in oil. If you have the likeness of a deceased relative or friend, you can have it enlarged and colored to nature. Photographic Albums and Picture Frames always on hand, in great variety, at low prices. When you come to Raleigh, do not fail to call at WATSON'S GALLERY and door above Tucker Hall.

J. W. WATSON.

Dec 18-12

TYSON & JONES,

Carriage Builders,

CARTHAGE, N. C.

Having recently increased our Facilities for Manufacturing, are prepared to furnish Vehicles of the BEST QUALITY on short notice, and at comparatively low prices. Special Engines and Boilers for running Gins and other machinery. Prices lower than any other Engine and Boiler in the market.

We also make to order all kind of Buried Hair, Cotton And Husk, Excelsior and Shuck Mattresses, Old Hair Mattresses renovated and made as clean as good as new.

No trouble to show goods. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

W. H. MORRIS & CO.

April 29 6m.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS!

Fertilizers—Fertilizers.

SOLUBLE PACIFIC GUANO.

Lister's Standard Super Phosphate of Lime.

We are offering the above standard Guanos, per ton, for a bale of (400 pounds) cotton, payable 1st November, 1874, or for $55 cash.

We guarantee all Fertilizers sold by us to be free from adulteration.

Send in your orders early and we will give them prompt attention.

WYATT, BINGHAM & CO., AGENTS,
Cotton Factors and Commission Merchants
april 1-tf Raleigh, N.C.

WIRE RAILING & ORNAMENTAL

Wire Works.

Dufur & Co.,

36 North Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.

Manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, &c., SCREENS, Fronts, Chairs, Sand and Coal SCREENS, Woven WIRE, &c. Also, IRON BEDSTEADS CHILDREN'S CRIBS, &c., &c.

Feb 18-12m

A new work of intense INTEREST and intrinsic VALUE

OCEAN'S STORY.

By the gifted son of the famous "Peter Parley."

A graphic History of Ocean Navigation, Adventure and Discovery since the Ark. Replete with startling incidents, horrid disasters, piracies, perils, &c. &c. ABOUNDING, also the WONDERS BENEATH the SEA, Diving, Dredging, Telegraphing &c., 225 superb Illustrations. Agents just started report 100 orders in four days, 177 in five days, 75 in two days &c., sells wonderfully fast. 3000 Agents Wanted. Send for full description and circulars, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, 723 Sansom St. Phila.

Sept 15-12m.

P. F. PESCUD. P. F. PESCUD, JR

P. F. PESCUD & SON,

General Insurance Agents and Adjustors,

Tucker Hall, Raleigh, N.C.

Losses Promptly Adjusted and Paid. Combined Assets, $30,000,000.

General Agents for

THE NATIONAL LIFE INS. CO., U. S. A. which is the strongest STOCK LIFE INS CO. in America, and insures at lower rates.

Agents for the following Fire Insurance Companies: HOME, New York; FRANKLIN, of Phila.; GERMANIA HOME, Columbus; LIVERPOOL, London & Globe; FIREMAN'S, Penn.; ALBEMARLE, of Va.; AMAZON, Cincinnati, CITY OF RICHMOND.

We have added several more companies to our list, and are prepared to transact business anywhere in N. C. Applications for agencies as well as insurance will receive prompt attention.

P. F. PESCUD & SON.

Feb 12—tf

POPULAR AND USEFUL BOOKS

Royal Hasheesh, 50	35
Amaranth, "	35
Bright Jewels, "	35
Happy Voices, "	35
The Guard "	35
The Morning Star "	35
Pure Gold, "	35
Songs of Salvation, "	35
Wesleyan Catechism, "	35
Wesleyan " No. 2	35
Wesleyan "	75
Bibles, (pocket size), 5 cts. to	1.00
Bibles, Family, Ivy	5.00
Bibles,

Youth's Department.

The Sleepy Little Sister.

I sat, one evening, watching
A little golden head,
That was nodding o'er a picture-book;
And pretty soon I said,
"Come, darling, you are sleepy,
Don't you want to go to bed?"
"No," she said, "I isn't sleepy,
But I can't hold up my head.

"Just now it feels so heavy,
There isn't any use;
He let me lay it down to rest
On dear old Mother Goose!
I shan't shut up my eyes at all,
And so you need not fear;
I'll keep 'em open all the while,
To see this picture here."

And then, as I said nothing,
She settled for a nap.
One curl was resting on the frill
Of the old lady's cap;
Her arms embraced the children small
Inhabiting the shoe;
"Oh, dear," thought I, "what shall I say
For this will never do."

I sat awhile in silence,
Till the clock struck its 'ding, ding,'
And then I went around and kissed
The cunning little thing.
The violets unfolded
As I kissed her, and she said,
"I isn't sleepy, sister,
But I guess I'll go to bed."

The Dollar We Don't Spend.

We have to calculate pretty close at our house, you know; and the whole family are called into council when any important expenditure is to be made. Well, the other evening we were considering the small remnant of the quarter's salary, and Mrs. Dobbs was trying to reckon how it could be made to cover everything. There was her new dress, and a new coat for me, and a new carpet for the best parlor, and a new hat for our (at present) unmarried daughter, besides a great many other things, with which I will not occupy your valuable space. The main point was the new dress, and Mrs. Dobbs was thinking of this shade, and scrutinizing that pattern, wishing she could buy them all, doubting if she could buy any of them and our faces grew longer as the salary grew shorter. Presently, with one of my happy inspirations, I said to her:

"Mrs. Dobbs, there is no dollar that does you so much good as the one you don't spend."

She looked at me a little perplexed and presently she said, "Why, Doctor, I don't understand you."

So I said, "The handsomest dress is the one you don't buy."

"Oh, yes, that's true. The best dress I ever had was the silk that Mrs. Largehead gave me when she came from Philadelphia. She bought it at Homer & Colloday's; it couldn't have cost less than—"

"Mrs. Dobb's said I, interrupting her, "the handsomest and every way the best dress is the one you don't have."

She was more puzzled than ever, and I was forced to explain.

"Mrs Dobbs,' said I, 'all the dresses you ever bought have worn out, haven't they?'

'Yes,' said she, very promptly 'all of them. I haven't a decent thing to my name. There is my bombazine—'

'Wait a moment,' I said, for I was mortally afraid to have her get up that topic; 'and did you ever buy a dress, did you ever have a dress, any way, that you didn't have some misgivings over; that you didn't see some defect in; that you didn't rather wish that you had bought the other!'

'I believe you are right,' she said, thoughtfully.

"But," said I, "the dress that you don't buy has no faults; you never are tired of it; it never grows old, never fades: never wears out: or if you want to change, how easily the change is made!"

"Why, yes," said Mrs Dobbs; "I never thought of that before."

"And so," said I, "of your dollar. You never spent a dollar in your life that you didn't feel at least a doubt as to whether you had spent it wisely. You wished you had bought something else. But the wish was vain; you couldn't make a change. The dollar that you spend you can spend but once, but the dollar that you don't spend you can spend a hundred times. You can buy a hundred things with it every time you go out. If you are dissatisfied with any of your purchases, you can go back and begin all over. And," I continued, "the dollar that you don't spend does you a great deal more good than the dollar that you do spend; and better than all, it brings with it no regrets, no misgivings, even."

Mrs. Dobbs looked as though she didn't know just how to answer me but at the same time as though she wasn't quite convinced. Presently she said:

"Well, Doctor, I don't know that I see through it all, but no doubt you are right, for you are a great deal wiser than I am. And so we will go on that principle. I will take the dollar that we do spend, and you shall have the dollar that we don't spend, which is, as you have shown, so much the better of the two—Vermont Chronicle.

Rural and Domestic.

What Lime Does.

We agree with the American Farmer in the opinion that the chief value of lime as a fertilizer consists in its chemical action upon compounds containing plant food. It says:

"We find from analysis that lime, in some of its combinations, forms a constituent part of nearly all plants, but varying much in quantity in different plants. By direct absorption, it is necessary to the perfect development of vegetation. Its chief office, however, is in its assimilating the properties already in the soil to the plant. Vegetation lives only on digested or decomposed food in the forms of liquids and gases. The soil may contain all the constituent elements of the crop intended to be raised, and yet it may not be in a condition to be appreciated. Most soils do contain carbonates, sulphates and phosphates of potassium sodium and magnesium in combination with silica, in the form of earthy rock, feldspar, &c., but in such a condition as to absorb only as they are slowly decomposed by exposure to the gases of the atmosphere and the rays of the sun. Many of the manufactured fertilizers make a fair showing by analysis, and contain the elements which should sustain the plant, and yet they may be in such combinations as to prove inert, on account of their insolubility. This is one of the beneficial properties of lime. It breaks up these combinations and forms new compounds which are more soluble and are thereby made available nourishment. This result of liming is more perceptible on land containing humus or vegetable mold, which is converted into plant food."

PURE AIR.—That the quantity of pure air absolutely required by an adult is about one pint at each inspiration, or over fifty hhds. every twenty four hours, in order that the blood and body may be kept in a state of health, is proof sufficient that the impressible, sensitive nature of children should also have their rights most sacredly protected all through their tender years. But how many regard these rights as sacred?

CARBOLIC ACID IN SMALL POX.—Dr A. Loiller states, in a Vienna medical journal, that he has treated more than forty cases of small pox by the external copious application, by means of cotton wool, of a solution of one part carbolic acid in twelve of oil. The result in all the cases was, that the cutaneous swelling soon diminished; and that when the application was made early, the course of the disease, in relation to the number of pustules, was milder. He believes, also, that by this treatment the danger of infection was greatly diminished.

REMEDY FOR CANCER.—Col. Ussery, of DeSoto, Louisiana, says that he fully tested a remedy for this trouble some disease, recommended to him by a Spanish woman, a native of the country. The remedy is this: Take an egg and break it, pour out the white retaining the yolk in the shell; put in salt and mix with the yolk as long as it will receive it; stir them together until the salve is formed: put a portion of this on a piece of sticking plaster and apply to the cancer about twice a day. He tried the remedy twice in his own family with entire success. It has also been tried on two cases in Rhode Island with perfect success. Such a remedy is within the reach of every one, and should be known to the whole world.

ROSE FELON.—The London Lancet says: "As soon as the disease is felt, put directly over the spot a fly blister, about the size of your thumb nail, and let it remain for six hours, at the expiration of which time, directly under the surface of the blister, may be seen the felon, which can instantly be taken out with the point of a needle or a lancet."

CORDIAL REMEDY.—Many very bad and distressing coughs may be cured by putting one drop of creosote into a pint of cold water and taking a spoonful thereof two or three times a day. It should be so weak as to be hardly perceptible to the taste.

RHEUMATIC GOUT.—An Englishman writes to one of the scientific journals stating that he has discovered a new cure for rheumatic gout. He has suffered tortures from that disease for several years, but by insulating his bed by means of glass stands and sockets under each foot, he began to improve immediately.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Seeing is Believing.

In this liberal age there are persons to be found who are so blinded by prejudice as not to believe that a medicated stimulant is an item of immense importance in the catalogue of human remedies we should like them to witness the wonderful effects which Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are now producing all over the country in cases of intermittent fever, rheumatism, bilious disorders, dyspepsia, nervous complaints, constitutional debility, mental depression and premature decay. To be sure these efforts are nothing new. The great vegetable invigorant and its cures have been before the people for more than twenty-five years, and in every year of the twenty five its popularity has increased and its sales become larger. Yet there are no doubt many thousands of intelligent citizens who have never had an opportunity of observing for themselves the surprising changes which this unequalled tonic and niter-dive produces in systems which seem to be hopelessly broken, and in cases of disease which are not amenable to ordinary remedies. Probably many of those regard the statements made in relation to the sanitary properties of the Bitters with some degree of incredulity. Would that all such skeptics could see with their own eyes what the medicine is doing for the sons and daughters of every where, what a start of life it is proving to the aged and infirm, what a help in time of trouble to feeble woman suffering from the complaints and disabilities peculiar to the sex, what a protection to health and life to nautical adventurers, what a panacea for languor and depression, what a specific for all diseases in which the system requires to be vitalized and sustained. Of all stimulants it is the purest and safest, of all tonics the most genial, effective and agreeable, of all alteratives the least violent and the most certain in its beneficial results. June 4 1m

TEES MERIT APPRECIATED.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been before the public many years. Each year finds the Troches in some new, distant localities, in various parts of the world. Being an article of true merit, when once used, the value of the Troches is appreciated, and they are kept always at hand, to be used as occasion requires. For Coughs, Colds, and Throat Diseases, the Troches have proved their efficacy. For sale every where.
July

DR. M'LANE'S
Celebrated American
WORM SPECIFIC, OR VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eyelid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE
Will certainly effect a cure.

The universal success which has attended the administration of this preparation has been such as to warrant us in pledging ourselves to the public to

RETURN THE MONEY
in every instance where it should prove ineffectual: "providing the symptoms attending the sickness of the child or adult should warrant the supposition of worms being the cause." In all cases the Medicine to be given IN STRICT ACCORDANCE WITH THE DIRECTIONS.

We pledge ourselves to the public, that

Dr. M'Lane's Vermifuge
DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY
in any form; and that it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

Address all orders to
FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will do well to write their orders directly, and take none but Dr. M'Lane's, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, postpaid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twelve three-cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fifteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

☞ For sale by Druggists, and Country Storekeepers generally.

Children often look Pale and Sick
from no other cause than having worms in the stomach. BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS will destroy Worms without injury to the child, being perfectly WHITE, and free from all coloring or other injurious ingredients usually used in worm preparations.

CURTIS & BROWN, Proprietors,
No. 215 Fulton Street, New York.
Sold by Druggists and Chemical dealers in Medicines at TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A BOX.
3 m9 1w

ADVERTISEMENTS.

ELGIN WATCHES.
W. B. FARRAR,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND OPTICIAN.

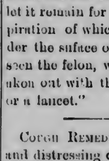
Deals in Sales Watches, Calendar and ordinary Clocks, Jewelry, Spectacles, Silver and Plated Ware, Bridal Presents, Guns, Pistols, Cartridges, Sewing Machine Needles, Table Cutlery, Ladies' Pocket Knives, Ink Erasers, Music Boxes, Walking Canes, &c. TERMS REASONABLE.
No. 7 South Elm Street, Opposite Express Office, Greensboro, N. C

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

What will it do? is the first inquiry the sick make concerning a medicine. Suppose we

Tarrant's Seltzer Aperient
is the subject of the interrogatory, what then? Simply this reply: It will relieve and cure headache, nausea, flatulence, nervousness, costiveness, debility, biliousness and indigestion. Sold by druggists everywhere. June 17 2w

JAMES LEFFLE'S
IMPROVED DOUBLE
Turbine Water Wheel.



POOLE & HUNT, Baltimor,
MANUFACTURERS FOR THE SOUTH AND SOUTHWEST

Nearly 7000 now in use, working under heads varying from 2 to 24 feet 24 sizes, from 5½ to 96 inches.

The most powerful Wheel in the Market,
And most economical in use of Water.
Large ILLUSTRATED Pamphlet sent post free.
MANUFACTURERS ALSO, OF
Portable and Stationary Steam Engines and Boilers Babcock & Wilcox Patent Tubulous Boiler, Rhoads's Cracker for Minerals, Saw and Grist Mills, Flouring Mill Machinery, Machinery for White Lead Works and Oil Mills, Shafting Pulleys and Hangers.
SEND FOR CIRCULARS.
Feb 25-6m

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. JAMES was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of INDIAN HEMP, which cured his only child and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps, to pay expenses. HEMP also cures night-sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in 24 hours. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race St, Philadelphia, naming this paper.
June 18m

ALADDIN SECURITY OIL

Will prove itself equal, if not superior, to any burning Oil that has been offered to the public—is perfectly safe for use in all Kerosene Lamps. Will give all who use perfect security in doing so. For sale by
PESCUD, LEE & CO.,
Druggists.
jan 14-tf

LOW PRICED MUSIC BOOKS
Attractive, Useful, and very Popular.

CLARKE'S DOLLAR INSTRUCTORS,
FOR
REED ORGANS, PIANO and VIOLIN.

RIVER OF LIFE. 35 cts. Best Sabbath School Song Book.

CANTATA of ESTHER. Beautiful. 50 cents. Deservedly popular.

FATHER KEMP'S OLD FOLKS TUNES. 35 cents. Much enlarged. Sung everywhere.

RIVER OF LIFE. 35 cts. Best Sabbath School Song Book.

WINNER'S NEW SCHOOL for Piano, Cabinet Organ, Guitar, Banjo, Cornet, Accordeon, Fife, Flute Bugle, Clarionet. Price of each Book, 75 cts.

RIVER OF LIFE. 35 cts. Best Book for Sabbath Schools.

WINNER'S BANJO FOR $1.00
1st and 2d Violin, Cornet, or Clarionet, and Piano Sent post paid, on receipt. Retail price.
OLIVER DITSON & CO., C. H. DITSON & CO.,
Boston. 711 B'dway, New York.

BASKETS, BASKETS, BASKETS, THE LARGEST assortment in the city, at may 18-tf BROWN'S.

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Sunday, June 14th, 1874

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	1 01 P. M	8 35 A. M.
" Air-Line d'ep't.	7 25 "	8 56 "
" Salisbury.....	9 52 "	10 04 "
" Greensboro'....	2 15 A. M	1 15 P. M.
" Danville.....	6 18 "	5 36 "
" Dundee.....	6 35 "	5 48 "
" Burkeville.....	11 50 "
Arrive at Richmond...	4 22 P. M.	11 01 P. M.

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	Mail.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1 38 P. M.	11 45 P. M.
" Burkeville.....	4 41 "	2 53 A. M.
" Dundee.....	9 25 "	8 33 "
" Danville	9 29 "	8 37 "
" Greensboro'..	12 40 A. M.	11 58 "
" Salisbury.....	3 38 "	2 51 P. M.
" Air-Line Ch'st'n	6 21 "	4 51 "
Arrive at Charlo. St...	6 51 A M	5 20 "

GOING EAST.

STATIONS.	Mail.	GOING WEST Mail.
Leave Greensboro'..	1 8 A. M	Arrive 11 41 A. M.
" Co. Shops....	8 15 "	10 15 "
" Raleigh.....	1 30 "	5 41 "
Arrive at Goldsboro'	10 20 A. M	Leave 2 30 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.
(SALEM BRANCH.)

STATIONS.	Mail	Express.
Leave Greensboro'....	1.50 A. M.	4.05 P. M.
Arrive at Salem	8.00 "	5.50 "
Leave Salem.....	10.00 P. M.	8.40 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'	11.30 "	9.45 "

Passenger train leaving Raleigh at 7.41 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound train; making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Price of Tickets same as via other routes.

Trains to and from points East of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.

Trains daily, both ways.

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9 40 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12 35 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.33 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.58 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, (without change.)

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above.

For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent.
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD, SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE, Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 21, 1873.

On and after Monday, Oct. 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	9.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.30 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	4.45 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.45 A. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.31 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Haywood and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accomodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh with Accomodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE, Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sunday excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6 25 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.45 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.23 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	3.05 P. M
Arrives at Sanford,	5.20 "
Leaves Sanford,	10.15 A M
Arrives at Raleigh	3 .10 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection at Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

Accommodation and Freight Trains connect with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

M. T. NORRIS
Late with
Leo H. Adams.

W. A. MYATT, JR.
Formerly with
J. P. Gulley & Bro.

NORRIS & MYATT,
(SUCCESSORS TO LEO H. ADAMS.)
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
GROCERS, COTTON FACTORS
—AND—
General Commission Merchants.
No. 3 Exchange Place and No. 5 Martin Street,

They offer to the trade a large and well selected stock of first-class groceries at remarkably low figures to suit the times. They are daily receiving, and have to-day in store, a choice lot of North Carolina Hams.

75 bbls Family Extra Superfine Flour.
50 sacks North Carolina flour.
300 bushels Corn and Bolted Meal.
50 sacks Salt.
10 bbls Extra A Sugar.
10 bbls Extra C Sugar.
10 bbls Extra C Yellow Sugar.
10 bbls Dem Sugar.
10 sacks Rio Coffee.
10 kegs Soda.
10 cases Concentrated Lye.
1 case Cove Oysters
10 boxes Adamantine Candles
25 kits Best Leaf Lard
1000 pounds Pure Assorted Candy
500 bunches Cotton Yarn.
50 kegs Nails.
50 boxes of Durham Tobacco, and a full assortment of goods usually kept in a first class grocery. A benefit at very low figures. Our motto: "Quick sales and small profits." A large lot of Boots and Shoes, Hats and Heavy Pants—goods which will be offered at reduced figures. Call and examine our stock before selling elsewhere. Consignments and Country Produce solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.
April 1-tf

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.
This unrivalled Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of Mercury, or any injurious mineral substance, but is

PURELY VEGETABLE,
containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which as all wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine,
is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bill.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION,
Armed with this ANTIDOTE all diseases and causes of watery and foul may be fearlessly met. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, LOCAL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA

IT HAS NO EQUAL.
It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World.

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA
Price, $1.00. Sold by all Druggists.
feb 18-12m

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,
DEALER IN
PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS,

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Simpson's Drug Store
apr 29 6m.

April 15-3m

CANVASSERS send No. of your Lodge, and name this paper. We will convince you agents with our superb Home Pictures for Means, Odd Fellows, Knights Pythias, Grangers, Red-men, Mechanics, etc., are making double the money any other way to work pressmiley. J. HALE POWERS & CO., Fraternity & Fine Art Pubs., Cincinnati, O.
Feb 24-12m

JUST RECEIVED
AT
D. S. WAITT'S,
Ready Made Clothing
FOR
SPRING AND SUMMER.
GO TO D. S. WAITT'S
FOR
BOOTS & SHOES.
A full line just opened.

FOR GENTS' FURNISHING
Goods go to
D. S. WAITT'S.

DRY GOODS! DRY GOODS!!
D. S. WAITT'S
is the place to get them cheap.

R. F. JONES & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C.
COMMISSION MERCHANTS, COTTON FACTORS
Wholesale and Retail Grocers,
Wilmington Street, opposite Market House,

In their wholesale department they offer to the trade a large stock of first-class groceries at prices that have and will continue to attract the trade. They have in store

1200 Gals. S. H. Syrup.
150 Sacks Fine Liverpool Salt.
1200 Pounds Cream Cheese.
300 Bushels Bolted Meal.
100 Boxes Cakes and Crackers—fresh.
1000 Pounds pure candy, assorted.
50 Cases mixed Pickles.
40 Doz. cans Fresh Peaches.
50 Bbls. Superfine and Family Flour.
3000 Pounds Family Soap.
25 Boxes Adamantine Candles.
40 Doz. boxes Axle Grease.
72 " Masons Blacking.
50 gall Water Proof Percussion Caps.

Powder, Shot, Snuff, Tobacco, Soda, Spice, Pepper Tea, &c. &c.

Bulk Meat and Breakfast Strips, and a full assortment of other goods generally sold in grocery stores. Call and examine the quality of their goods and price. Consignment of produce solicited.
oct 15-6m

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY
RALEIGH, N. C.
Is the Place to Buy
French and Plain Candies,
Foreign and Domestic Fruits,
RAISINS, NUTS, etc.,
Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,
Fancy Good. Childrens Toys,
Carriages for the Little Folks,
CROQUET SET,
BASE BALLS AND BATS,
Marbles, Tops, and Kites,
All at MOSELEY'S

FANCY GOODS, TOYS, BASKETS, BROOMS, Brushes, Tooth Picks, School Slate, Feather Dusters, Fish Hooks and Rues. A large assortment.
at
may 13 tf NAT L. BROWN'S.

LEMON & Aniline Dye Colors,
at
PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S
Drug Store.
jan 14-tf

Pocket Inhaler
AND
Carbolate of Iroding
Thalalant.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Ashtma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient Inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption if taken in season. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. A Druggists have it for sale, neatly put up with Inhaler enough for two months' use. Price $2.00. Prepaid mail on receipt of price. Send for a Circular. by
W. H. SMITH & Co., Proprs,
Buffalo, N. Y.
Jan 28-6m

A pair of shoes will cost you only 5 cents more with SILVER TIP on that without, and it will add twice the cost of the shoe to their wearing value.
April 8 13-w

Robert T. Gray,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Raleigh, N. C.

Will give prompt attention to business in the Supreme, Superior, and other Courts of the State.

Refers by permission to
Hon. E. M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Hon. Thos. Settle, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.
Hon. D. G. Lash, Pres. First National Bank of Salem
John G. Williams, " State " " Raleigh
Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, Editor of Raleigh Advocate.
Rev. A. W. Margum, Raleigh, N. C.

JOSEPH KRETH
Merchant Tailor,
OPPOSITE CITY POST OFFICE
RALEIGH, N. C.

Keeps the best quality of Cassimeres and Clothe constantly on hand. Persons wanting suits of every description will find it to their interest to give him a call. May 27-2m.

W. F. KORNEGAY,
Goldsboro', N. C.
Wholesale and Retail Dealer
FOREIGN & DOMESTIC HARDWARE,
COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.
Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.
FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are Western made, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All we ask is a trial of them. Jan 28-tf

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.
Spectacles Rendered Useless.
Save Your Eyes.
RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.
Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by
Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.
Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perfectual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their Sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight diseases, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring. 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4. Epiphora, Running or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specialty treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or imperfect vision from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes; 10. Myiodesia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness for loss of Sight.

Any one can use the Ivory Eye Cups without the aid of a doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate benefical results and never wear spectacles or, if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2 309 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of character and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "Dr. Ball, of unquestioned conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1873: "Without my spectacles I pen you this note, after using the PATENT Ivory Eye Cups thirteen days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK"

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Ky., writes: "Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT Ivory Eye Cups."

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1873: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am telling they are good. I am pleased wit them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatly, M. D., Salvisa Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years."

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYE, many of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worst cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ADJUSTMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlet and certificates—free. Waste no more money by adjusting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face.

AGENTS WANTED

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

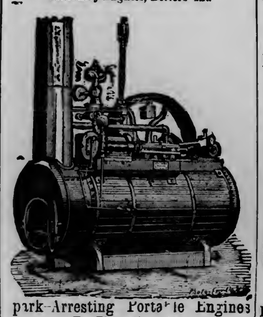
Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 957. NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.
Sept 6-12m.

Established 1810.

B. W. PAYNE, E. S. PAYNE, D. W. PAYNE

B. W. PAYNE & SONS
Corning Foundry and Machine Shop,
CORNING, STEUBEN CO., N. Y.
Manufacturers of
Stationary Engines, Boilers and



Mark-Arresting Portable Engines
For Plantation Use.
Delivered Free on Board Cars in New York City.
Send for Circular.
Feb 25 12m

PARENTS REDUCE YOUR SHOE BILLS TWO THIRDS BY BUYING
Silver Tipped Shoes.
Feb 18-6m
CANFIELD BROTHER & CO.,
229 Batimore St.,
BALTIMORE MD.
Gold Watches for Ladies & Gentlemen.

American Watches a specialty.
These Watches have an established reputation.
Silver Watches of every variety.
Diamonds, Rich Jewelery.
Chains, Lockets, &c.
Gold Head Canes.
Checks, Bronze, Vases.
Fancy Silver-Ware for Bridal Gifts.
Triple Plated Tea Sets, Waiters, Ice Pitchers, Fruit Stands, Castors, Spoons and Forks. A complete stock of new style Plated Goods. Fans, Opera Glass and Rich Fancy Goods.
Our stock is large and prices moderate. Order have prompt attention. Medals and Badges to Schools and Colleges.
apr 24—12m

$5 TO $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, making more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than in anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.
Sept 18-12m

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD
Merit and Success Hand in Hand.
BROOKLYN LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
NO. 141 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK.
Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00!!

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK, President.
D. P. FACKLER, Actuary.
WM. M. COLE, Secretary.
DANIEL AYRES, M.D., L.L.D., Med. Dir.

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees
DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES!
In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium.

THE BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation for judicious INVESTMENT, ECONOMY OF MANAGEMENT, AND CARE IN THE SELECTION OF RISKS, upon which elements of administration the security of a Life Insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of all Policies, each and every year, and in a certain legal standard of reserve

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. | PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. | $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 26. | RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JULY 1, 1874. | WHOLE NO. 1,014.

Original Poetry.

For the Advocate.

We Have Found Jesus.

Ah! we have found Jesus,
In life's darkest hour—
When grief threw her robe
Our evil's sweetest flower;
When sadness o'ershadowed
Our hearts like a pall,
O! then we found Jesus
The best friend of all.

Yes! we have found Jesus,
When day after day;
We have seen that our loved ones
Were passing away;
When the sweet lips were locked,
And the dear eyes grew dim,
To whom could we go
In our grief but to him?

We found him and over,
Your crushed heart and mine
He poured in his tenderness,
Oil and wine.
And while we had his promise
Holy and sweet,
As weeping in silence
We sat at his feet.

And O! when we enter,
Death's dark rolling tide:
May we find our dear Jesus,
Still close to our side.
May he lead us along
With his ever loving hand,
And anchor us safe
In the beautiful land.

MATILDA C. EDWARDS.

Communicated.

Commencement of Greensboro' F. College.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Sermon by Bishop J. C. Keener, D D., subject—Daughter of Herodias. The sermon was replete with plain, pointed gospel truth.

THURSDAY.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Prayer by W. Closs, D. D. Chorus—Morning Hymn. 1. Salutatory Addresses, Miss Alice Smith Heartsfield, Wake County, N. C. Piano Duett—Op. Somnambula, Misses M. Yates and Vic. Hunt. 2. Life is made of Thoughts, not Days, Miss Pauline Reeks, Henderson, N. C. Piano Duett—Jolly Brothers, Misses H. and A. Jones. 3. Holy as Heaven a Mother's Tender Love, Miss Emma Louisa Fife, Thomasville, N. C. Piano Duett—Fifers of the Guard, Misses N. Hill and A. Tilley. 4. Beauties of Nature, Miss Mary Lyndon Sherwood, Greensboro, N. C. Vocal Solo—Alpine Song, Miss E. Barringer. 5. Red Clover Springs from the Earnest Conquest of Ourselves. Miss Emily Meto Jones, Raleigh. Piano Solo—Barcarolle, Miss Corinne Harrison. 6. That which was, Still Is, Miss Mary Julia Reid, Wentworth. Vocal Solo—Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep, Miss Ida Sloan. 7. The Ideal, Miss Endora Duty Jones, Greensboro. Piano Duett—Blossom Waltzes Misses J. Bobbitt and I. Hendren. 8. No one Lives for Herself Alone, Miss Alice Smith Heartsfield, Wake County. Piano Solo—Alpine Bells. Miss Annie Jones. 9. Hannah More and Madame De Staël, Miss Ida Louise Sloan, Greensboro. Vocal Solo—Flee as a Bird, Miss Dora Jones. 10. Valedictory Addresses in two parts. 1. Miss Emily Meto Jones, Wake County, 2 Miss Endora Duty Jones, Greensboro. Piano Duett—Concert Waltz, Misses F. Rountree and E. Barringer.

DEGREES CONFERRED.

Annual Address: Rev. C. F. Deems, D. D, Church of the Strangers, N. Y. Piano Trio—Op. Norma, Misses A. Borden, N. Carter and M. Crowder. Piano Trio—Overture to Figaro, (Mozart) Misses D. Jones, I. Sloan, and M. Jones. Chorus—The Hour of Parting, by the Class.

BENEDICTION.

The Compositions of the young ladies evinced a very high order of intellectual culture and literary merit. Some of them were perfect gems. The character of the musical performances accorded well with the compositions. Where all did so well it would be folly to discriminate. When the eldest daughter of our now sainted brother R came on the stage to read her graduating composition, and when the only daughter of our much loved and now departed brother B., who lost his life trying to bring the building in which we sat to completion, came forward to sing a solo, I saw tears in more eyes than those of the brethren of the conference who sat around them. We could almost feel the same yearning joy of their kindred spirits smiling above the throng.

Eight young ladies were added to the bright and honored constellation of graduates of G. F. College.

THE LITERARY ADDRESS.

By Dr. C. F. Deems, was one of his happiest efforts. The circumstances, the scenes and associations of the past all seemed to gush up in the speaker's heart and render his thoughts a flowing joy. His closing hail and adieu to the spirits of the departed friends of the College, gathering over the the stage was most sublimely eloquent.

THE CLOSE OF NIGHT.

Drew together again an immense audience who crowded the spacious and elegant chapel to overflowing to enjoy one of the best concerts it was ever my privilege to attend. At one time there would be a solo which would be enthusiastically encored by the delighted audience, and then at another there would be from twelve to eighteen young ladies on the stage performing with such exactness that if you closed your eyes you could discover but one touch. The sweet echoes of the sad parting strain are still reverberating in the ears of many who heard it. Such musical result could only be attained by enjoying the rich instruction of the very best musical skill and talent.

The past year of the College has been a splendid success. Its receipts from patronage were sufficient to pay off all current expenses and then more than pay the interest on the entire investment in building. This shows that it is admirably organized and well managed. It is really one of the best investments in the whole land. It has in its Faculty four of the very first instructors in the whole South. Christian gentlemen and scholars of large experience and profound learning, whose ability and fitness as female educators has long since been demonstrated and acknowledged with a large corps of faculty teachers who can not be surpassed to assist them. As an outsider I can say it could I mean no injustice to others where college to this one when I say) any young lady who has graduated elsewhere would do well to complete her education by remaining a year at Greensboro.

The situation, the recommendations, the operations and advantages for social, intellectual and moral culture are very rarely found in one College. The next session opens the last Wednesday in July.

VISITOR.

For the Advocate.

To the Alumni and Old Students of Trinity College, N. C.—Greeting.

The commencement of 1874 came off last week, and it was a most pleasant occasion. Bishop Keener, of New Orleans, preached the sermon, and Dr. Wilson, of Washington City, delivered the address. Both of these productions were well timed and were highly appreciated by the intelligent audience present.

The sermon was profound and full of religion, and all were thrilled with the story of Christ's temptations, and the glorious victory he won for suffering humanity.

I hope never to forget the Bishop's sermon. The address was very fine and high toned and fully met the requirements of the occasion. The College was fortunate in having these eminent gentlemen to represent its interest. The addresses of the Senior Class showed careful culture and training on the part of their instructors, and they were delivered in an easy and graceful style. There were thirteen graduates this year. And I am pleased to say, that the most gratifying thing to me, as the Agent of the College, was that, eleven of the Senior Class of 1874, gave me their bonds for one hundred dollars each—to be paid in four years, each donor paying Twenty five dollars per annum. This is an example worthy to be imitated, and should be perpetuated by succeeding classes. Several of the old Alumni have done the same noble thing for their Alma Mater. I believe that we now have have over one hundred and fifty Alumni of Trinity College, and thousands of old students in different parts of the country.

Dear friends—I take this method of making an earnest appeal to you all in behalf of our Alma Mater. The world and the church are looking to us, and they expect much, and shall we disappoint them? I trust not. We have it in our power to make Trinity College second to none. Let us, then rally around it, and give something to complete the new building which is in course of erection.

Let all of the Alumni give one hundred dollars each, if possible, and as many of the old students as can do the same.

Our prospects are brightening, and if we will do our duty, success will crown our efforts. Who will be the first to respond to this appeal? We want two thousand dollars, in cash right away. God has blessed you with the means, and He requires that you invest it in such a manner as shall most honor his name and do good to the world. May the great head of the Church bless us all! Address me at Raleigh, N. C.

B. B. CURRETH, Agent.

June 18th, 1874

No trait of character is more valuable than the possession of a good temper. Home can never be made happy without it. It is like flowers springing up in our pathway reviving and cheering us. Kind words and looks are the outward demonstration; patience and forbearance are the sentinels within.

The Support of the Ministry.

In the last Advocate there is a suggestion made by a layman "that one of the best preachers be appointed to deliver a sermon at each District Conference on the support of the ministry, and other church enterprises, and that a similiar sermon be preached in every circuit and station."

Now this shows that the wisest and most liberal laymen see, and deplore, the inadequate support of the ministry. It also shows that these liberal sons of the church are convinced that the meagre support of God's ministers is the result of ignorance on the part of the masses of our people, both in regard to the real necessities of the ministry, or the proper sense of moral obligation on the part of the church to meet these necessities.

It further shows a conviction that if proper instruction were given our people, different results might be realized.

These convictions are correct, and well founded. Hundreds of our brethren, who are honest, and pious—who love the ministry, and hear the gospel gladly are sadly ignorant of the real necessities of the ministers of the gospel.

The writer knew a pious, earnest brother who could not believe that it was just, or proper that his preacher should receive more money for a year's hard service on a circuit than he could make by taking his horse on a rented cotton farm and working as a tenant. And yet the same brother did not like for his circuit to be served by an ordinary preacher. The necessities of the ministry did not enter into the calculation at all. He loved to hear good sermons, but did not seem to think that books and time to study are necessary to good sermons. He did not remember that books cost money and that a man could not devote his spare moments to study if he was compelled to devote these spare moments to secular employments to get a living for a dependent family.

As our laymen became better informed in regard to the real demands for money to constitute good preaching, their views are materially changed on the subject of ministerial support. Some, indeed, do not feel under any moral obligation to bear their part of the burden, even when they understand the necessities of the case, which evidently manifests ignorance of moral obligation in a general sense.

Then it follows that instruction is needed. Information in regard to the demands, and the reason for the demands should be fully given. Let our people know why it does cost a minister more to live and devote his whole time to the ministry, than it costs a man to live on a farm, or by a trade. Let proper instruction be given on moral responsibility, so that when one understands the nature of the demand he may also feel it an imperative duty to do all he can to meet the demand.

When this is done we may no longer deplore the meagre support give to a large number of our ministers. How this can best be done is a question of great importance.

Our lay brother suggests that it be done by preaching. It really would seem to be the appropriate work of the ministry. But there are strong objections to this course of preaching particularly on the subject.

This, perhaps, grows out of the fact that the subject is often improperly discussed. The people are sometimes censured instead of being instructed. They are not edified but rather discouraged.

But if the subject is properly discussed many will believe the ministry too exacting and lose interest in the subject rather than increase in zeal.

We have but seldom known a minister's prospects for support increased by his preaching on the subject. We have often known his cause damaged by it.

Can not this matter be managed better by the laymen than by the ministers? Instead of having a sermon at each District Conference, suppose some of our most intelligent laymen should be appointed to deliver addresses on the subject.

And instead of having sermons on the circuits and stations, suppose laymen who are capable, make themselves familiar with the subject and address Quarterly Conferences and public meetings on ministerial support and other benevolent enterprises of the church,

They will be heard with more interest, and I think more good would be accomplished. At least I think it is worty of a fair trial.

MINISTER

A BOAT with a full tide against it does well if it can keep from driving back, and must have strong force, in deed, to get forward. We must estimate grace by the opposition it meets with.

God has ordained that the soul of man shall never be at rest out of Christ. He only is our rest and our peace.

Selected for the Advocate.

Christ at Bethesda.

Around Bethesda's quiet pool
Judea's golden sunlight lay,
And Jewry's suffering sons and daughters
Were watching for the water's play.

"The House of Mercy!" ne'er had seemed Yon hill so beautifully fair
As on that holy Sabbath morn
When our Redeemer entered there.

The glory of the temple's sheen
Fell on each sculptured colonnade,
And the white marble gave it back
Pure as the mercy it portrayed.

A fair young girl, a child of wealth,
Lay on a royal purple bed;
Her eyes were closed, friends watched for her,
As slaves were hovering o'er her head.

The pool was stirred, quick to its brim
They bore their suffering one;
Without a word she sank and lay,
And the angel's work was done.

A sympathetic groan of anguish rent
The silence of the breathing air;
Her burden was the bitter ward
Of more than thirty years despair.

Christ stood beside Bethesda's pool;
He saw the paralytic's form;
He heard that tortured, crystal voice,
And knew the ills that form had borne.

And then the Saviour's voice was heard,
"Would thou be cured?" he asked of him,
"I've no one, when the depths are stirred,
To help me to the water's brim."

"Arise, take up thy bed, and walk!"
Thus was the voice of God that spoke;
The angel softer felt its power,
His slumbering limbs to action woke.

He stood upon his feet once more,
A man among his fellow men;
Life had come from the source of life,
And he went forth to live again.

R. W. SHEPPARD.

Louisburg, N. C., May 18th, 1874

The Drunkard's Wife.

All agree that home happiness is mainly dependent on the character and conduct of the woman who is the wife and the mother. If she be patient, unselfish, loving, and true, she can alleviate the distresses and heighten the joys of the household, past all calculation. If these characteristics be wanting in her, no skill on the part of the other members of the family, no comforts which wealth purchases, can make the hou chold a happy family. The wife is the pivot on which all turns.

These admitted facts ought to make every husband and child do every possible thing to sweeten the temper of the wife and mother, to relieve her as far as practicable of the burdens which press her, to remove all obstacles from her way and surround her with an atmosphere sweet, wholesome, and exhilirating. When we men and boys have done all we can for her who is wife and mother, her lot is a hard one. Coarse natures undervalue womanhood, and its great privations and sufferings. Coarse men and boys think that they have the hard side of life, while "the women," which means wife, mother, and sister, are only recipients of the result of the labors of "the men," which means these great husbands, fathers, and brothers.

It is time for us to learn better. Let Young America know that his sisters can do much better without him than he can without them, although each sex is necessary to the completion of the other. Men are much more helpless beings than women. It is the women who make the atmosphere of home. If they are very dependent on the men. A good husband helps a good woman to be a good wife. A bad husband may cause a good woman to become a bad wife. If a sister disturbs her brother's life, may it not be because he has embittered hers? We steep bitter herbs in a fountain, and then complain that the waters thereof are not sweet. Think of woman's lot. She has to endure all things and keep still.

Reflect up n what a drunkard's wife must endure. She has to attend to all domestic duties, and live without the support and love of her husband. In addition she must bear the mortification which falls to the lot of one whose mate is the slave of a besotting vice. Then she is in constant trepidation lest her husband commit some disgraceful and destructive crime while he is in a state of inebriation. She knows that he cannot succeed in business, and cannot rise in his profession, as a drunkard cannot be trusted, however honest his nature. She knows that it is a down-hill course It may be slower or faster, but it is a constant descent. She must increase her exertions to make and to save, as he increasingly squanders.

Amid all self sacrifice, and most strenuous effort to keep the family together, and to maintain decency of appearance, she knows that all her ingenuities, sacrifices, pains-takings, must go without the reward of appreciation. It is always well for a man to set for himself the rule of doing right, because it is right, and without regard to any rewards it may secure or may miss; yet God has so made us that we desire our virtuous efforts to be appreciated.

Every husband knows how he is sustained and cheered in his work by the reflection that his wife appreciates all his labor in behalf of herself and the family. Women seem to need love's appreciation more than men do. It is only the worst portion of their sex to whom admiration seems more desirable than love. The whole world may be ignorant of what a good wife is doing. If her husband only know it, and admire it, and praise her for it, she is content. How long she will work at a pair of slippers, or a smoking jacket, or a foot-rest, feeding her heart on the delightful expectation of seeing the gratification of her husband when he discovers what she has been doing for him. A drunkard's wife has none of this. He is growing more and more besotted. Less and less he perceives the beauty of her character and behavior, as his sensibilities become blunter and blunter; what is it to him how things are about his house if he be not able to see what is visible or hear what is said?—Rev. Dr. Deems, in "Young America."

To Save Souls.

Matthew Henry was accustomed to say: "To win a single soul from Satan to Christ would afford me more joy than to possess a mountain of silver and gold." Of the godly Alleine it was said: "He was infinitely, insatiably greedy of the conversion of souls."

When Christians all have this mind to work for their Lord, how will the sheaves be multiplied. A great many things we take pleasure in now, we shall find no joy in when the last hour comes. But if we can remember even one poor child God permitted us to lead into his kingdom, it affords us more comfort than coffers of gold.

When Dr. Lyman Beecher lay on his dying bed, a brother minister said to him: "Dr. Beecher, you know a great deal; tell what is the greatest of all things?" Let all ambassadors of Christ mark his answer:

"It is not theology; it is not controversy; it is to save souls."

We must labor and pray for souls as those who must give account to God for every one we might influence, if we would be successful.—We need the spirit of John Welsh, who, on the coldest nights, would rise to pray and wrestle with his God for a blessing on his flock. In reply to his wife's remonstrance, he answered:

"Oh, woman! I have three thousand souls to give account to God for, and I know not how it is with many of them."

Like the blessed Brainard, he needs deny himself, if by it he can better win souls.

"I cared not how nor where I lived," he said, "or what hardships I passed through, so that I could but gain souls to Christ. While I was asleep I dreamed of these things, and when I awaked the first thing I thought of was this great work. All my desire was for the conversion of the heathen and all my hope was in God.—Sunday School Times.

Purity of Character.

Over the outer coat of plum and apricot there grows a bloom more beautiful than the fruit itself—a soft, delicate powder that overspreads its rich colors. Now, if you strike your hand over that, and it is once gone, it is gone forever; it only appears once. The flower that hangs in the morning empearled with dew—arrayed with jewels—once shake it, so that the beads roll off, and you may sprinkle water over it as you please, yet it can never be made again what it was when the dew fell gently on it from heaven.

On a frosty morning you may see the panes of glass covered with landscapes, mountains, lakes, and trees blended into a beautiful fantastic picture. Now lay your hand upon the glass, and by the scratch of your finger, or by the warmth of the palm, all the delicate tracery will be obliterated.

So there is in youth a beauty and purity of character, which, when once touched and defiled, can never be restored,—a fringe more delicate than frost work, which, when torn and broken, will never be repaired. When a young lad or girl leaves the parents' house, with the blessings of a mother's tears still wet upon the cheek, if early purity of character be once lost, it is a loss that can never be made up again. Such is the consequence of crime. Its effect cannot but be in some way felt, though by by God's mercy it may be forgiven.—Early Days.

Among the American artists represented in the present exhibition of the Royal Academy in London are Albert Bierstadt, by "Big Trees of California;" G. H. Boughton, by "Pilgrims Starting out for Canterbury;" T. C. Farrer, by "Early Spring;" G. P. Healy, by a portrait of Thiers;' H. Helwick, by "Country School-master in Ireland," and "Schoolmaster's Leisure Moments;" William T. Richards, by "Coast of New Jersey;" and Alexander Wust, by "Moonlight, an American Forest Scene."

CHRIST SEEKING MEN.—Then, Christ did not sit to receive men but went out after them. He was not the man who would sit at the New Haven House and receive callers, but go into the ways and lanes of society to find them. He did not unite himself to the race in a generic sense only, but joined himself to human wants and weaknesses. It is the nature of divinity to join itself to the lowest human imperfections in order to lift up. If I could have known this years ago, it would have saved me much trouble and anguish. I thought of Christ as standing beyond a line of conditions, and did not hope to enjoy his companionship till I had passed that line. I spent years in endeavors to reach it. Oh, if I had only known it is his nature to come to me, that he was mine already, because I am sinful and need him. Yet this is the nature of Divine, Love, to let himself down to us. Oh, take away my Jehovah, but don't take away my Jesus! I can behold God and venerate and admire him, but his greatness makes me tremble and shiver. Give me a Jesus that knows my trials and weakness, and will treat me just as my mother did—wait till I have grown out of childhood, helping me all the time.—Beecher.

Between the Showers.

BY MRS. ABDY.

There is the rumble that we planned!
The showers descend again,
The weather-glass, with ruthless hand,
Is pointing to "much rain."
We may not through the greenwood shade
Stray to the distant mill,
Nor gather wild-flowers in the glade,
Nor climb the breezy hill;
We may not gaze on winding streams
And rose-encircled bowers;
But we may watch the sunny gleams
That come between the showers.

When first in life's dark days I strove
With gloomy ills to cope,
I never with too warm a love
Wooed the deceiver—Hope!
I knew that calm succeeds to strife,
So drooped not on my way;
I never thought to find in life
A long, bright holiday.
I did not talk of vanished dreams,
Chilled hearts, and wasted powers;
I watched to see the sunny gleams
Return between the showers.

They came; I knew that they must pass,
Yet learnt their lore to bear,
Nor murmur that the weather-glass
Stood not at "settled fair;"
And many on my road I passed
Who, troubling, looked around,
Spoke of the gathering clouds, then cast
Their eyes upon the ground,
To such the world a desert seems,
Where sorrow darkly lowers;
Would they could prize the sunny gleams
That come between the showers!

All may, in seasons of distress,
To some light solace cling,
And feel how much of happiness
From little joys may spring.
Small gifts, if easily, duly stored,
May in the end present
Richer beyond the miser's hoard—
The riches of Content!
And still such looms to us are given,
In this fair world of ours,
While gleams of sunshine, sent from heaven,
Shine forth between the showers.—Christian Treasury.

Science.

A curious phenomenon happened at Belfast recently while some men were sinking a well. A light having been let fall, a flash overspread the bottom of the well; and a pipe about sixty feet long having been conveyed from the bottom of the well to the second story of a building, the gas was ignited, and continued burning all day. The strata passed through in digging the well were osturine clay, gravel boulder clay, and new, red sandstone. The gas has been proved to be marsh gas (carburetted hydrogen) probably generated in the decomposed vegetable matter, which abounds in the lower stratum of the osturine clay, in which were also vast numbers of fossil shells.

An elaborate paper, by M. L. Joulin, containing the results of some original researches on the development of electricity by mechanical action, forms the opening article in the May number of the Annals de Chimie et de Physique. In these experiments, the electricity was generated by the friction of leather bands or belts rapidly moving over metal pulleys, such as are commonly used for the transmission of motion in machinery. The condition of the experiments were varied by employing pulleys of different metals, and belts coated with various substances; whilst the velocity of rotation, the pressure of the bands, and the temperature of the apparatus were variously modified. It has been inferred, especially from some of Peclet's experiments, that neither the rapidity nor the nature of the friction, nor the pressure of the bodies rubbed, affected the development of electricity; but Joulin, in experimenting on electricity of high tension, finds, on the contrary, that enormous influence is exerted on the electric tension by the rapidity of motion and by the mechanical traction of the revolving belts.

A FRENCH builder, M. Ferrand has suggested a method of constructing houses, which is certainly novel. It involves the use of hollow castiron columns for all vertical props, with joints and screws, so that they can be examined; of light hollow brick-arches, resting on iron joists, for floors; the separation of the iron from the stone; and the use of thin hollow bricks for front walls. In favor of this plan, it is urged that the dispensing with partition walls and the use of thin front walls insure considerable saving of space; that the use of cast iron answers every purpose of large stone or brick walls, with, of course, great economy of materials and labor—and, the cast iron pillars being hollow, the air that passes throgh them keeps them from melting in case of fire. In large houses, these hollow pillars may be used for ventilation, chimneys, water pipes, etc., to save the expense of special tubes for such purposes. Floors on hollow brick-arches, resting on iron pillars, are also cheaper and less sonorous than other kinds of floors. These floors are made on two iron beams that rest on cast-iron pillars, and are fastened to them by screws, so as to be easily removed. A girder is placed over the upper wing, on a level with the joists, and fastened by anchors at the ends, so that the floor itself has no braces, ties, or girders; and the space between the joists is filled with hollow bricks, covered with cement. The pressure of the arches on the joists is neutralized by counter pressure.

The Arts.

One of the pleasantest exhibitions of art works now open in Brooklyn is the Cinghora collection of engravings and mezzotints in the Art Association Gallery.

A discovery of a fine fresco, with the date 1317 upon it, has been made in the Church of Santa Maria Maggiore, in Rome. It is allegorical in character and bears evidence of great perfection.

The Paris Temps has commenced the publication of an interesting series of articles on the Venus of Milo, by M. J. Aicard, in the course of which some particulars of very considerable importance concerning the discovery of the statue are given.

A memorial to the late Mr. Owen Jones, the English architect, is to consist of a portrait in mosaic, to range with similar portraits at South Kensington; and if any funds remain they are to be appropriated to the endowment of a prize for art students.

The English Western Morning News, says: "One of the greatest attractions just now at private parties is the "Swedish Nightingales." These are four Swedish girls who sing in part without any accompaniment. They have very different voices, and one of them is almost deep enough to be called bass; in fact, it is difficult to believe that notes so masculine come out of a woman's chest."

Several new engravings of special interests are mentioned by the Evening Post as being on exhibition at the Gopil Gallery. One of the most striking is after Alma Tadema's "Vintage Festival in Ancient Rome." A procession of vineyard laborers carrying fruits, and led by a band of musicians and a virgin carrying a burning censer, is seen passing through the courts of a palace. Another beautiful engraving of a single figure is entitled "Yes or No," after a painting by J. E. Millais, R.A. A girl is seen standing before a writing-desk, upon which lies an open letter. Her face is in profile, and indicates deep thought upon the momentous question. There are also an expressive engraving of Erstine Nicol's famous study of Irish character, "I Missed It;" and "The Age of Innocence," after Sir Joshua Reynolds, and a companion to his beautiful "Strawberry Girl."

Seed Thought.

Is your soul like a withered branch, dry, fruitless and withered, wanting both leaves and fruit? Cleave you to Christ; be joined to him, and you shall be one spirit. You will find it true that Christ is the life; your life will be hid with Christ in God. You will say, I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me; and the life which I now live in the flesh, I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me and gave himself for me.'

AMBITION.—That is the bravest ambition which is vigorous enough to overleap the little life here. The highest aspirations seek not fame. Whatever we can do of good in this world, with our faculties or our affections, rises to God as humanity's song of praise.—Amid the million tongues ever joining to swell the music of that song are those which sound loudest and grandest here, the tones which roll sweetest and purest up to the eternal throne, which mingle in the most perfect harmony, with the anthem of the angel choir! May not the most obscure life be dignified by a lasting aspiration, and be dedicated to a noble aim?

Wilkie Collins.

Whatever you do, never set up for a critic. We don't mean a newspapor one, but in private life, in the domestic circle, in society. It will not do any good, and it will do you harm—if you mind being called disagreeable. If you don't like any one's nose, or object to any one's chin, don't put your feelings into words. If any one's manners don't please you, remember your own. People are not all made to suit one's taste; take things as you find them, unless you can alter them.

The same God who moulded out the sun and kindled the stars, watches the flight of the insects. He who balances the clouds, and hung the earth on nothing, notices the fall of the sparrow. He who gave Saturn his two rings, and placed the moon like a ball of silver, in the proud arch of heaven, gives the rose its elegant tint. And the same Being notices equally the praises of the cherubim, and prayers of the little child.

Clover Crops Near Raleigh.

A few words on the clover crops about Raleigh, intended for our last issue, were crowded out by other matter.

S. G. Hays, R. C. Badger, Geo. C. Taylor and others, we are informed, have been successful in getting good returns this sprnig, of this valuable feed.

But we have succeeded in securing a definite statement as to cultivation and yield in only one case, and that a very small plot of ground.

In the winter of 1872-73, Dr. Jon. H. Crawford, of this city, took a washed hill-side containing one-third of an acre, near the corporation limits, on the Hillsboro' road, and after spreading over it broadcast ten two horse wagon loads of stable manure, turned it over with a two horse plow.

In February, 1873, he scattered over it 60 pounds of guano and turned that under with a single plow. He then sowed one peck of clover seed mixed with oats, over the plot of ground, and harrowed in lightly the mixture of seed.

In the summer of 1873, he got one thousand pounds of good heavy oats from the ground. The clover seed came up well and formed a good stand. The clover was not in any way disturbed until about the 10th of May of the present year, when 1500 lbs. of excellent hay were mowed from it. The plot is now nearly ready for a second mowing.

This land was about as poor as any in Wake county. Its capacity now for making any kind of a crop is greater than it was when Dr. Crawford had just finished manuring it.

The Doctor is satisfied with his clover lot, and attributes his success to an abundance of seed and manure, and to patience in waiting for results.

Watering Horses After Meals.

It is the practice with many horsemen to give their horses no water until after they have eaten their allowance of feed. Concerning this practice a veterinarian writes:

A full drink of water immediately after being fed, should never be allowed to horses. When water is drank by them, the bulk of it goes directly to the large intestines, and little of it is retained in the stomach. In passing through the stomach, however, the water carries considerable quantities of the contents to where it lodges in the intestines. If, then, the food of horses' stomachs is washed out before it is digested, no nourishment will be derived from the feed. In Edinburgh, some old horses were fed with split peas, and then supplied with water immediately before, being killed. It was found that the water had carried the peas from fifty to sixty feet into the intestines, where no digestion took place at all.

Mr. Cassie is quite correct in the views set forth regarding the injurious effect of large quantities of water swallowed immediately after eating. A small quantity of fluid swallowed along with, or immediately after, dry food, beneficially softens it and assists in its subdivision and digestion. An inordinate supply of water, or of watery fluid on the other hand, proves injurious. It dilutes unduly the digestive secretions; it mechanically carries onward the imperfectly digested food, and thus interferes with the proper functions of the canal and excites indigestion and diarrhœa. These untoward effects are especially apt to occur where horses are freely fed and too liberally watered and shortly put to tolerably quick work. There is no more infallible method of producing colic, diarrhœa and inflammation of the bowels. The horse is not peculiar in this effect; dogs, and even their masters, similarly suffer from copious draughts of water immediately after eating much solid food.—N. Y. Herald.

FARMERS, one and all, don't have vicious barking dogs about your steers.

The Christian Advocate

OFFICE—Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE, $2.00
SIX MONTHS, 1.25
If payment be delayed six months, 2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C. JULY 1, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

We are glad to learn that our preachers are being well taken care of, notwithstanding the great scarcity of money. From a number of brethren we learn that they have received their assessment in full to date.

We learn from Rev. H. T. Hudson, whose letter is too late for this issue, that Rev. S. R. Trawick will open a school in Shelby in the month of August. Bro. Trawick is an excellent teacher, and we congratulate the people of that section upon securing his services.

We invite attention to the communication, on our first page, giving an account of the commencement exercises of Greensboro Female College.

The re-election of Dr. Haygood, as Sunday School Secretary and as editor of our Sunday School publications, is hailed with universal satisfaction by the whole church.

We continue to send out bills to subscribers whose subscription to the Advocate has expired. Let all renew promptly. Money is scarce, and a few may not be able to renew, but thus far we have been greatly encouraged with the readiness with which many have responded.

We are now passing through the dull season of the year. Will not our friends both ministerial and lay make special effort just now to increase our subscription? We have many kind words of approval from the brethren, which we fully appreciate but an increased circulation is what we most need to keep out of debt and increase its usefulness.

Journalism and Morality.

The surest way to increase crime is to advertise it. Public hanging increases murder, and notoriety given to any vice multiplies it. In this way the secular press, in some instances, without so intending it, is a powerful patron of crime. The conductors of these papers are exceedingly diligent to collect and publish details of burglary, assault, robbery, horse-racing, degrading amusements, etc., and devote more space to subjects which ought to be buried in oblivion than to plans and labors for human elevation. They know but little and seem to care less, and say almost nothing, of the great moral enterprises of our day, but sneer at or caricature them more frequently than they approve or advocate them. In this way they throw their influence against progress, reform, and the elevation of society. Many of them do it in blind zeal for sensational matter—to give their journals spice and interest in a very cheap way, even at the expense of the best interests of society.

There can be no question but that one of the most important public reforms needed in this country is an improvement in the moral tone of a large portion of the secular press. We do not contend that it should become distinctively religious; nor do we wish it to become pharisaic; but we desire, and the public demands that it shall regard the Christian conscience and feelings of the people, and in its reports of religious news and discourses, cease to burlesque them. We live in a civilized, Christian Nation. What real national virtue we have, it is said by a late writer, "is chiefly among the common solid people, and these constitute the strength of the Christian churches of the land." Whatever may be the anti-Christian tendencies of certain special classes, the mass of the earnest American people adhere firmly to the Christian faith, and will do so whatever may become of the scientists, the philosophic speculators and cultivated sentimentalists. Statistics prove that the increase of evangelical church members is in a greater ratio than that of the national population, notwithstanding the great annual European importation, among whom are skeptics and infidels. Men who stand at the head of cliques of unbelievers, err in supposing that they are taking possession of the land.—They are not doing and never will do anything of the kind. The secular Journals, pledged to no religious partizanship, are, nevertheless, pledged to decorum and dignity in their treatment of the public conscience, and the Christian public demands that they regard this tacit pledge. They will have to regard it, or be forced to retire from the field, and a new class of secular journals will spring up throughout the country. A newspaper is a public teacher, and cannot afford to disregard its obligations as the guardian of good society and morality, whether secular or religious.

Letters and Funds crowded out this week.

Life, Sermons and Speeches of Rev. N. F. Reid, D D.

It gives us great pleasure to announce the fact that a volume of Dr. Reid's sermons is to be published by his sons, James W. and Frank L Reid. The book will contain a biographical sketch of Dr. Reid, with a selection of his ablest sermons and addresses. It will make a volume of about 500 pages, and is to be neatly bound and ready for delivery early in November. Subscription blanks have been sent to all the preachers of our Conference, and we trust they will use every possible effort to give the book a wide circulation. The proceeds are to be applied to the education of the daughters of the deceased. We hail such an object as it is scarcely necessary to say that it is the duty of every Methodist in North Carolina to procure a copy. No man in our Conference ever gained a warmer place in the affections of the people—and no man has ever lived and labored amongst us whose zeal in the work of the church, graces of character, purity of life, and eloquent preaching excited more admiration among all classes of society. He has gone to his reward, but he is embalmed in the memory of all. In this city he had many warm personal friends, and we have no doubt but that one hundred copies of the book, and even more, can be sold to the citizens of Raleigh.

A liberal per cent. will be paid to agents. See prospectus in another column

Still Another

This Brother, a Layman, who in our two former issues urges upon the Methodist church increased liberality, has written another communication, taking as a basis the remark by Dr. Adams in his farewell sermon "Personally, I have paid more for the privilege of preaching the Gospel these forty years than any man in the city has paid for the privilege of hearing it."

Our lay brother expresses the opinion that this assertion is true of nearly every itinerant. At the call of God they have forsaken home abandoned the prospect for ease and wealth and have gone forth at the command of God to sow the precious seeds of the Gospel. Besides giving their time, talents and labor to the church they rarely receive salaries in comparison with other professions; oftentimes their salaries are paid in such sums as to be of no service while frequently with scarcely a dollar in their pockets they are compelled to remove to other appointments, carrying with them notes or promises to pay given them in payment for small salaries and honest labor; and yet with all their sacrifices, with all their poverty the greater part of the monies raised at Conferences come from our preachers. Our Brother says, "may God bless and take care of our preachers until the church is more liberal and shows their appreciation of the Gospel by paying for it as they should do! Our church can not prosper when we are so derelict in paying our preachers."

The Churchman in speaking of the age in which we live says it is wonderfully like the closing weeks of a school year. All the studies are in course of review. What other ages have plodded through!—beginning at the element and going slowly on to conclusions—this age has to take up and recite upon whenever it may be called. In politics, sociology, and religion, every established principle and every wild vagary, has blatant advocates. Not only do Scribes bring out of their treasure things new and old, but they who are not Scribes bring out of what are not treasuries all sorts of glittering counterfeits, which they insist upon passing off as good and true.

It is rather wearisome to be always redetecting and exposing the same errors; and not very satisfactory to be kept always on the surface, answering old questions that could easily be set at rest, if persons could only find, or would take, time to look beneath the outward appearance.

There is probably, however, no help. The "spirit of the age" rules the age. The Church must ride upon the resistless rush of the tide, and wait till Ararat catches and holds her. How pitifully they look who have leaped overboard from the ark, and are yet seen buffeting about in the "crosses seas" of old opinions, newly blown up, and how much sadder will the sight be when the waves they launched on and rowed against with their "little ships" shall have all subsided, and no traces be seen of them on the waters.

We call special attention to the advertisement of Davenport Female College. The prospects for the fall term are bright and the friends of the institution are expecting a large attendance next session. We most heartily commend the institution to our patrons.

EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION.—A meeting of the State Educational Association will take place on the 8th, 9th and 10th days of July. It is important to have a full attendance on the occasion. See notice of Gen. W. R. Cox, Chairman Executive Committee.

We will be obliged to the brethren for items of news from any part of our work.

The Teachers Work.

The June numbers of our Sunday School publications are before us. The opening articles by Bishop Marvin which we quote entire for the benefit of our readers His views upon the teacher's work are sound and practical. No one, he says, "can work efficiently in any calling who does not propose to himself an object to be accomplished. With an end in view—something to be accomplished—work acquires a significance which it cannot have in the case of a mere perfunctory ambulation in a circle of official duties. Effort that is mere effort, exhausting itself in itself, and that does not contemplate achievement, is a dull business. Employment gets its relish from the object aimed at. Work that has no good flavor, moreover, is never done heartily, and work that is not done heartily, is never done well. By a psychological law we demand results, and by virtue of this law, labor that is either hopeless or aimless is a mere weariness of the flesh. In such a condition the full force of the man never goes into his work

Work that keeps an object in view has several very great advantages.

I may name, as first the fact already mentioned in the foregoing introductory remarks. A man who aims to accomplish something, works with a will. He has the animation of hope. A purpose inspires him. It gives him spring and vigor.

A second advantage is, that he who labors for an object has an incentive to study the conditions of success. He is not content simply to perform the task that is set him, and in the prescribed method. He will set himself to think if there be not other means that will conduce to the end. His work, therefore will be done intelligently, and with the spirit of one who understands himself. Work done in this way can scarcely fail to prosper.

There is, moreover, a spirit in man which impels him to success. Having set before himself a definite end, if he is a man of good grit, he is not content to fail. In its excess this spirit makes a man headstrong. Within due limits it is a most excellent natural trait, and is very necessary as an element of force.

In working toward an object, a man takes pleasure in his work. This is a great advantage to him, not only as it contributes to personal enjoyment, but as it inspires enthusiasm, for nothing contributes more to success than enthusiasm when it expresses itself in work.

Let us apply all this. The Sunday-school teacher is in great danger (I suppose) of falling into the perfunctory habit—of simply going through the routine. Those who do this fail essentially.

A distinct end invites every teacher but he is in danger of losing sight of it. No greater object is within the range of human endeavor. He may, with excellent prospect of success, set himself to work for the actual salvation of every scholar in his class. I have good reason to believe that teachers who do this earnestly, in faith, and persist with a sustained enthusiasm in the effort, fail in comparatively few instances.

With this object in view, what a new aspect does the whole business of the teacher take on! What an affection for the scholar grows upon him! With what new interest he studies the lesson! Nor does he confine himself to the terms of the lesson. He talks to the children out of his own heart of Christ, of his death on the cross, of his intercession, of sin, and judgment, and salvation. He will see the scholars, if possible, out of the class, and on other days than Sunday, and manage to leave a word in their hearts that will tend to life. He will be much in prayer for them.

He will tax his mind to find means of contributing to the work of their conversion, and will become more and more in earnest as he sees them stubborn and indisposed to act. And in the end, as the result of prayer and labor united, he will, in many cases, be rewarded by seeing them consecrate themselves to God.

Sunday-school labors end in the salvation of the children, or they end in nothing. There is nothing done where this is not effected. There is no use for Sunday schools if they look to any thing short of this. The teacher who fails to perceive this falls infinitely short of the true spirit of Sunday-school work.

A number of complaints have reached us of late that the Advocate is very irregular in its visits. We assure all that the paper has been regularly sent to each subscriber, and the fault is not with this office. There are some inefficient route agents or post masters some where, and we shall get Bro. Long after them in good earnest if they don't do better.

WEEK OF PRAYER.—The College of Bishops have appointed the week of prayer for this year to begin on Friday, August 21 1874 which day will be observed as a day of special fasting and prayer.

R. PAIRE, Chairman.
H. N. MCTYEIRE, Sec.

The Kinston Gazette says: Rev. Mr. Brooks preached a most able and eloquent sermon on Sunday night, condemnatory of the Sunday Excursion train, which we hear landed by saint and sinner. * * It affords us pleasure to announce that not a single ticket was sold at this office.

Pastoral Life a Pleasant Life.

Rev. Dr. Dowling, in a sermon on the completion of forty years from his ordination, preached on the occasion of resigning his charge at Newark, in order to return to New York, said that his entire pastoral life had been a happy and favored and peaceful one. The pastor's life, he said was not without its trials but to the humble and faithful laborer they were more than counterbalanced by its joys. Upon looking back upon these forty years in the pastor's office, without the intermission of a Sabbath and "remembering all the way the Lord has God led him," he had come to the deliberate conclusion that, all things considered, the pastor's life, unless he brought troubles upon himself by his lack of prudence or of piety, was the happiest life a Christian man can live. "From my very heart," said he, "I thank my blessed Saviour that ever he 'counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry; and could I live my life over again, and could I have the choice of any position in mercantile professional, or political life, there is no conceivable office of emolument, or honor, or trust, that I would not cheerfully reject in favor of that of a preacher of the gospel of Christ, and a pastor of a gospel Church."

TO THE PREACHERS IN CHARGE, SHELBY DISTRICT, N. C CONFERENCE.—DEAR BRETHREN: Our District Conference is to convene in this place July the 22nd and as we want to provide properly for the entertainment of the brethren we desire you to send at once the names of Delegates and Local preachers who will attend. We request also that brethren outside of the District who propose to be with us, will let us know. Direct to the undersigned, J. C. Jenkins, or S. P. Sherrill.

We hope to have a full attendance. Brethren outside of the District who can attend will have a cordial welcome

You Mr. Editor, are specially invited.

Yours &c. V. A. SHARPE.
Lincolnton, N. C.

ROCK SPRING SEMINARY.—The Principal of this institution, D. Matt Thompson, furnishes us the following items touching the closing exercises of his school which came off the 3 and 4 ult:

"Rev. H. T. Hudson, preached a good sermon. W. S. Bynum, Esq., gave us a fine address. We had a very large crowd out—all seemed to enjoy it. I think our prospect is very good for a large school next session, which opens the 12th of August."

Personal

The degree of D. D. has been conferred by Hampden Sydney College on Rev. Alexander Martin of Danville, Va.

The Rev. O. P. Fitzgerald, D. D., has been elected President, and the Rev. E. E. Hoss a professor, in Pacific College, Santa Rosa, California Good men, both, and will do much work.

We learn, says the Episcopal Methodist, from the Charlottsville (Va.) Chronicle that Bishop Keener preached at the University on Sunday morning, June 14, and at night at the Methodist church in that place. On both occassions he was listened to by large congregations, and his sermon at night, on the subject of persistent prayer, made a visible impression upon the minds of his hearers."

Bishop Wightman presided at the last session of the Orangeburg District Conference, South Carolina, giving that direction to business and that counsel and encouragement to the brethren which so acceptably and profitably characterize his presidency in a Conference.

We are glad to learn from the Southern Christian Advocate, that Dr. Pierce has once more rallied from his indisposition, and although quite feeble, has been removed from Macon to Sunshine, the residence of his son, Bishop Pierce.

The Magnolia Monitor says: The pulpit at the Methodist church was filled last Sabbath by the new minister, Rev Mr. Randall.

Pleasant Garden Acadecy.

DEAR BRO. BOBBITT: I am just home from the commencement at this institution which came off on the 17th and 18th inst. Bro. W. C. Norman of our Conference, preached the annual sermon at 11 o'clock on Wednesday. and at 3 P. M., followed the Literary Address by Prof. Johnson, of Trinity College. Both were very very good and worthy, the growing reputation of these two gentlemen. Concert at night, in which all who were engaged acquitted themselves splendidly. Thursday came, and though the contest between wheat harvest and commencement was sharp, the latter triumphed and the crowd was present. The day's exercises reflected great credit on Capt. Troy and his Lady, every student did well, and the large audience was pleased, yea delighted. The training of the girls and boys in this school is all that a christian parent could wish it to be. The institution certainly commends itself to the public on many accounts; it is healthy, it is cheap, it is religious; besides, the Principal and his Lady are highly competent in their respective departments. I know of no first-class Academy superior to this. The fall session begins Sept. 7th. Send on your sons and daughters and be assured you are placing them in good hands.

R. G. BARRETT.

From the Brethren.

Rev. S. Leard in charge of Rutherford circuits writes:

We are getting along comfortably on the circuit. Prospects are flattering for a successful year. I reported at the 1st Quarterly Conference, Bishops claim and Traveling Expenses of the the Delegates paid in full.

By the Divine blessing I shall be able to report to the second Quarterly Conference every dollar of the Conference and Missionary assessments for this circuit subscribed and much of it paid.

We confidently expect, every dollar of every claim on this circuit to be met the present year, and to make considerable, improvement in repairing churches, and paying off old long standing church debts. We have never been more comfortable in our surroundings, than we are the present year. I have eleven appointments, up hill, and down dale, over mountains and rivers, &c.&c. But the climate is fine, the fare excellent, and the people as clever and warm hearted as one could desire.

Rev. H. B. Maness writes June 15:

The glorious work still goes on in my charge. I held a series of meetings embracing the 2d Sunday in May, at Trent which resulted in about 25 conversions and 15 accessions. At our 2d Quarterly Meeting which was held at Chickamacomico the 3d Sunday in May there were 4 conversions and 5 accessions to the church. There have been conversions and accessions at every appointment on the circuit Up to the present for the year there have been 75 conversions and 74 accessions. There were 21 conversions and 14 accessions at the Cape instead of 10 or 12 conversions and 9 or 10 accessions as I reported in my last. The Lord be praised for all this glorious work.

DEAR BRO. BOBBITT: Please say through the Advocate for the information of your many readers that the good Lord is reviving his work on the Dallas circuit, my field of labor. I commenced a series of quite interesting meetings at Lineberger's Factory on Saturday night before the first Sunday in this month, and continued till Tuesday night following. The Lord was with us to own, and to bless during every appointment. We had the best of the wine at the last of the feast. The results of the meeting were as follows: 18 were added to the church and 12 professed faith in Christ.

Bro. McElhaney, a blind preacher from Spartanburg District S. C. was with us during the meeting. He labored for us as a bold Soldier of the Cross, that needeth not be ashamed. He baptized 25 infants and Adults for me while the meeting was in progress May God bless him in all his labors.

I preached last night in a stand near Tiddy's paper mills to a large congregation. 3 joined the church and three were converted.

In short, Bro. Bobbitt, the Lord has been reviving his work at nearly every appointment on the circuit. Up to date 55 have joined our church and 15 have professed faith in Christ. The people are paying up their assessments promptly. Our congregations are large on the Sabbath, and listen to the word attentively. We hope to have 3 new churches and one arbor done by conference.

We are having some very interesting Sabbath Schools. I hope we will be able to report a large number of Sabbath School scholars than has been reported for several years previous to this. There is one School at the weakest appointment on the circuit, conducted by two young ladies, whose names permit me to mention, Leanora Johnson, Frances Gantt. Those young ladies began under very discouraging prospects, but their school now numbers 51 scholars. They made up money enough to get them a library. May God bless them in their efforts to train up the young for the church.

To God be all the glory both now and forever. Brethren of the North Carolina Conference, pray for me, that the Lord may give me great success, even in my first year's labors.

P. F. W. STAMEY.

Dallas N. C.

Wesleyan Female College Commencement.

MR. EDITOR: I had the pleasure of attending the closing exercises of the commencement of this College. I did not arrive in time to hear the sermon, the annual address nor the address to the Theta Delta Society, but understood they were good and gave general satisfaction. The address to the M. P. S. Society, was sound and practical, and was well received.

The essays of the graduating class were very fine, indicating taste, culture, and talent.

The valedictory poem by Miss Ruth Vernon Hope, was well written and gave exhibition of a high order of talent.

The concert at night was a success. The music was well selected and well executed. The college under the presidency of Rev. Wm. G. Starr, is enjoying a success hitherto unknown. Bro. Starr, is a young man, but he possesses the elements of a successful and popular president. He has occupied the position he now holds only twelve months, but since that time the school has more than doubled its patronage. He is mild but firm in his government, strict enough and not too strict, and spares no pains to improve his pupils, both mentally and spiritually. They have recently had a gracious revival of religion and many of the girls were converted.

I predict a prosperous future for the College. It is situated in a healthy community, has a fine corps of teachers, and is perhaps the cheapest college in the State.

Yours &c., F. D. S
Plymouth, June 19 a 1874.

Religious Brevities.

— The diocese of Florida has, according to the latest reports, 14 clergymen, including the bishop; 749 communicants, 122 Sunday school teachers and 871 scholars. The contributions for the ecclesiastical year amounted to $20,959,91.

—The Sixth avenue Baptist church, Brooklyn, has entered the communion campaign. Its pastor, Rev. J. B. Cleaver, has preached liberal sentiments on the question, and three of the deacons have cited him to a trial before the church for the alleged heresy.

— The late Presbyterian General Assembly authorized the election of elders in local churches for a term of years (not less than three) instead of for life, as heretofore the law required. Many churches had ignored the law and practice, and their acts have now been legalized.

— REV. BISHOP MERRILL will preside over the Pacific Conference, of the Methodist Church during the ensuing year.

— REV. P. A. Stroble, has been elected President of the Mount Pleasant Female College. He has had large experience as a Teacher, and will make the College a success.

— The United Presbyterian Mission in Egypt has nine stations. The total number of communicants is 508. The native Christians contributed $2,952.

— The members of Dr. Swing's Church, Chicago, propose to erect a tabernacle to seat 3,000, and cost about $100,000.

— Rev. Dr. Eddy, Presbyterian, has received and accepted a call to the pastorate of the new Union Free Church in Jersey City, at a salary of $3,000 per annum.

— The Wesleyan Conference, while in session at Hamilton, Canada, was visited by the Methodist New Connection delegation. They were received with enthusiasm, and the conference accepted the interpretation of the basis of union given by the New Connection Conference. This remains the only obstacle to union.

— There are said to be about 250,000 Friends in the United States, 12,000 of whom reside in New York City and Brooklyn, and worship in less than half a dozen meeting houses.

— The American Board has found two men to take the place of the martyred Stephens in Mexico.

— The Episcopal Convention in session in Milwaukie elected Dr. Edward R. Wells Bishop of that diocese.

ST. JOHN'S DAY IN RALEIGH.—The celebration of this Masonic festival day way held in this city last Wednesday, the 24th inst. Preparations had been made on an extensive scale for an ominum gatherum of the various fraternities of the State and as the object to which the proceeds of the occasion were to be applied, was one which addressed itself to the kind and benevolent spirit of our people, a large attendance was naturally expected. Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Temperance Organizations, Military and Fire Companies and Base Ball Clubs, all united in the demonstrations of the day. A chartered train from Fayetteville brought up the two Military Companies and the Cornet Band of that place, besides other visitors. The military men with their handsome uniforms, fine physiques and excellent drill, made a most striking appearance. The famous Salem Band (said to be the finest in the State) had kindly offered their services and were here to discourse some of their splendid music.

The procession formed and marching to the foot of Hargett Street. was conveyed, together with a large crowd of citizens, to the Fair Grounds where the celebration proper took place. Rev. A. W. Mangum, was the orator of the day, and delivered an address in which good sense and rhetoric, logic and pathos were most excellently blended. Mr. Mangum is well and widely known as an eloquent speaker, always ready with something sparkling, stirring and touching, but I regard his speech of last Wednesday as one of his grandest successes. His presentation of the duties that the State and individuals owe to the unprotected and helpless, was convincing, and his vivid portrayal of the sufferings of orphanage and the glorious work that was being done at the Oxford Asylum to remedy and alleviate those miseries, was full of striking beauty and moving pathos. Many of the audience were moved to tears, and all pronounced the address in every way worthy of the man and the occasion which called forth his eloquent utterances.

A large collation was spread in the Exhibition Halls, on which nearly a thousand persons fed, and of which "many baskets full" remained and were taken up, packed, and sent to the Orphan Asylum at Oxford. In the afternoon various amusements were engaged in until near the going down of the Sun, when all returned to the city, satisfied with the events of the day. The weather was exceedingly warm, and that fact prevented many from attending who would, otherwise, have patronized and countenanced the occasion.

I have not learned what amount was realized from the celebration, but am assured that it resulted well. G.

The Degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon Hon W. N. H. Smith, of this city, last week at Wake Forest College commencement.

Paragraphs.

— THE proposed celebration of the Four Hundredth Anniversary of the introduction of the art of printing into England, has been postponed.

— THE bell-ringers at Leamington, England, recently struck for higher wages, and on the refusal of their demand, locked the belfry door, and took possession of the key.

— DURING some excavations at Ilkley, England, an ancient burying-ground, containing several urns, filled with charcoal and calcined bones, has been discovered. There was also disclosed a vault, apparently used for interments, in which ornaments, beads, and broken glass were found.

— IN his "Reminiscences of Scottish Life and Character," Dean Ramsay says that the answer of the old woman under examination by the Minister to the question from the Shorter Catechism, "What are the decrees of God?" could not have been surpassed by the General Assembly of the Kirk, or even the Synod of Dort: "Indeed, sir, He kens that best Himsel."

— THE title of Duke of Connaught was conferred upon Prince Arthur, on the last birthday of Queen Victoria. The cable despatch announcing the event, stated that this is the first royal title ever associated with Ireland, whereupon a correspondent of the New York Evening Post states that the Prince of Wales is Earl of Dublin, and the Duke of Edinburgh, Earl of Ulster.

— AN immense steam hammer has lately been completed for the Royal Arsenal, Woolwich. It is described as a thirty-ton hammer; but the weight of the falling portion is really within a few pounds of forty tons, and the force of the falling weight is accelerated many times by the use of the steam to drive it down from the top. The hammer is 45 feet in height, and covers with its supports a base of about 120 feet square. Above the ground it weighs 500 tons, and the iron used in the foundation below weighs 665 tons. It has cost altogether about $250,000.

— IT is said that a Greek Priest was recently caught in the act of smuggling tobacco into Bucharest, in a coffin which was followed by a number of weeping women, who on being told to hold their noise, and asked why they made it, whimpered out they were paid to do so, and conscientiously went on howling and whining, even after the fraud was found out. A short time back a discovery was made of some more Priests engaged in making counterfeit coin, and in partnership with Jews, who were actually carrying on their frauds in the cellars of the palace of the Archbishop without his knowledge.

— WRITING in the SUNDAY AT HOME, "A Retired Indian Chaplain" says: "A collection in church in India is not made as with us at home—in money. Indian people do not carry money in their pockets; they intrust it to their servants—a custom we should hardly like to follow in England: and these servants, be it remembered, are Hindoos or Mussulmans. After the sermon plates or bags with small pencils and cards in them are carried from seat to seat, and each person writes on the card what sum he intends to give, and sends his servant with the amount to the Clergyman's bungalow during the week."

— By the removal of several old buildings, a longhid portion of the ancient Abbey of Paisley has just been brought to light. This consists of a portion of the south wall of the structure measuring 19 feet in length by 30 in height, and permits the original plan of the building to be much more distinctly visible than formerly. It has been found that much ruthless destruction of fine moulding had been accomplished by the builder of the accretive structure just removed, but enough remains to mark the whole building as one of the finest specimens of Gothic architecture in the west of Scotland. The abbey was founded in the twelfth century, and is believed to have been long a royal burial-place.

State and Local

— STATESVILLE LANDMARK.—We have received the first number of this candidate for public favor. Messrs. Hussey and Mallard are the editors and proprietors. We wish the enterprise much success.

— John Allen Ketchey, the notorious character of Rowan was hung in Salisbury on Friday the 26th. He made a lengthy statement in regard to the crime for which he was about to be executed, and to the last protested his innocence, saying that it was owing to the prejudices of John Louis Ketchey, and the false testimony of the girl, Millie Bascherar, that he was convicted. He denied the charges of barn burning and admitted to several wrongs committed by him on several individuals of the county.

— GRAHAM HIGH SCHOOL.—We call attention to the advertisement of this excellent school, presided over by Rev. D. A. and W. S. Long. One of the pupils who had been prepared at this Institution graduated with the first distinction at Trinity College at the last commencement.

— Mrs. Sarah J. Adams, wife of Lynn Adams, Esq., of this city, died on the 26th inst., after a brief illness. She was some 35 years of age — The following is the ticket nominated by the conservatives for this county:

Senate—C. M. Busbee.

House—G. V. Strong, M. W. Page, L. D. Stevenson and M. Whitley.

Superior Court Clerk—J. Q. Williams.

Sheriff—S. M. Dunn.

Register of Deeds—Jos. Goodwin

Treasure—David Lewis.

Commissioners—Robert Nowell, Adolphus Jones, Lynn Adams, W. D. Turner, Solomon J. Allen.

Coroner—J. M. Jones.

Surveyor—George W. Atkinson.

— There are 139 children under instruction in Oxford Orphan Asylum.

— A fire company has been organized in Statesville and a cistern sunk.

— A little colored boy had one of his wrists nearly sawed off at the saw mill of Mr. W. J. Staton, in Tarboro, on the 6th inst.

— Maj. Bingham's lecture in Fayetteville, netted $70 for the benefit of the Oxford Orphan Asylum.

— Mr. K. Newman, of Person county, aged 87, has ploughed all of his ground and planted all of his corn this spring.

— The honey crop in Iredell is excellent.

— A new Republican Campaign paper is to be started in Wilmington. It is to be issued either tri-weekly or daily.

— There are 405 Granges in the State,

— R. F. Armfield and B. Z. Linney have been nominated for the Senate by the Conservatives of the 35th district — Eighty miles of the Wilmington and Weldon railroad has been laid with new iron, and it is contemplated to lay the entire line likewise.

— Ripe peaches and pears are offered for sale in Newbern.

— Two cargoes of corn in Newbern, 92 cents was offered but 84 was asked.

— The Governor commuted the sentence of the Johnston murderers, Bissett and Collins, who were to have been executed last week.

— The question of a new cemetery is being agitated in Salesville.

— Whooping cough is raging in Greensboro.

— Gen. Vance has succeeded in having a daily mail established between Asheville and Greenville, S. C.

— The town fathers of Shelby, have been legislating in the interest of the dogs. They ordained that no tin or paper boxes should be tied to the tails of the curs.

On the 4th inst. an election was held in Asheville, to determine whether license should be granted to retail liquor in that place. "No License" received 126 votes. So Asheville goes it dry for the year.

— The Atlantic Hotel, at Beaufort, has passed into the hands of Capt. Graham, who has remodeled and refurnished it for the present season

— J. Lenoir Chambers has been appointed clerk to the Assistant Auditor of the N. C. Divison, R. & D. R. R., with headquarters at Company Shops.

— Prof. Genth, in his mineralogical report of Western North Carolina, speaks in high terms of the valuable iron ore beds in Burke and Catawba counties.

— THE SWAZEY AND SELF SUIT DECISION.—The following is the substance of the decisions rendered by the Chief Justice Waite in the Swazey and Self suits:

— Swazey vs. N. C. R. R. &c. In this case the Court decides;

1. That the Circuit Court of the United States has jurisdiction over cases involving the interest of the State when the State is not a party of record, and when the subject matter of the action is within the jurisdiction of the Court, or when the Court can deal with the party through an agent.

II. That the stock owned by the State in the North Caolina Rail Road having been pledged for the "redemption" of the bonds of the State issued to assist in constructing the road, the holders of the bonds are entitled to have so much of the stock sold as may be necessary, and the proceeds of the sales applied to payment of interest now accrued. But the sale is postponed until the State shall have an opportunity of protecting its stock by a levy of taxes, or by otherwise raising funds sufficient to pay the accrued interest.

Self vs. D. A. Jenkins. The Court stating that while the powers of the Court might have been properly invoked to prevent any application of the money raised, by the special levy to provide payment of the interest on the bonds issued to various railroads since the war, to purposes other than those for which the money was raised; yet, such application not having been made the Court now has no power to interfere with money in the treasury raised for general purposes of government.

— Col E. B. Liles has become one of the editors of the Wadesboro Argus. He is a gentleman of very superior talent.

— A house belonging to Capt. W. H. James of Wadesboro was burned down last Saturday night through carlessness.

— Newton, Catawba county, will on the 27th of July on the proposition whether or not the town will subscribe $10,000 to the Chester and Lenoir Narrow Gauge Railroad.

— We are indebted to Hon. A. S. Merrimon for a copy of his able speech, delivered in the United States Senate May 22nd, 1874, on the subject of Civil Rights.

General News.

— Bayard Taylor describes a child's plaything in Egypt which is 4 000 years old. Children ought to give up playthings when they arrive at that age.

— The New York Hearth and Home and the weekly Graphic have been consolidated and will be published by the Graphic company under the former name.

— One of the rules of the order of Enoch at Salt Lake is that every girl so soon as she reaches fourteen must immediately get married.

— The soldier who captured J. Wilkes Booth is now practicing law in Illinois.

— Six young ladies are announced to be studying for the bar in London.

— London will shortly have a Sorosis, with "bib-boards" hall attached.

— A negro named Tisdale was hung at Boydton, Va., the 12th. It was his second hanging. The first time was just after the close of the war when he was hung for stealing by a Bureau agent and left for dead on the field.

— The new issue of twenty-five cent currency has made its appearance in general circulation. All the fractional currency—twenty five and fifty cent notes—look so much alike on a hasty glance that many mistakes are liable to be constantly made. It is a serious fault with the new issue that there is so much similitude.

— THE CURRENCY BILL.—The bill reported by the Conference committee fixes the maximum greenback circulation at $382,000,000, abolishes the reserve on national bank circulation, requires the banks to keep five per cent. of their reserves on deposit in the Treasury for purposes of redemption, and provides for the withdrawal of $54,000,000 of national bank currency from the States which now have an excess, and its redistribution to the States that have less than their quota, on the basis of the population and wealth of States by the returns of the census of 1870, but not more than thirty millions shall be withdrawn and circulated during the fiscal year ending June 30 1875.

— Hailstones measuring eight inches in circumference fell in Morris county, N. J., on Tuesday, June 9.

— Corn is selling at one dollar and forty cents per bushel in Sumter.

— The young men of Winnsboro are about to organize a rifle club.

— The London Times has a telegraph wire between London and Paris for its exclusive use, and for which it pays $15 000 a year.

— A New York man who believes in advertising paid a bill of $78 000 the other day for a year's work, but it was money well spent, for the earnings resulting from the advertisement, which were divided among four persons footed up $650 000.

At a called meeting of Chalmers Lodge No. 151, held may 19th 1874, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased the supreme Architect of the univerce to call from earth our Brother Elias Harrington after about two hours illness on the 18th day of May 1874.

Therefore be it

Resolved, 1st That in the death of our Brother this lodge has sustained a great loss as well as the neighborhood a quiet and peaceful citizen.

Resolved, 2nd. That we tender to the family and friends of our deceased Brother our warmest sympathies in this hour of their sad bereavement and hope their and our loss is his eternal gain.

Resolved, 3rd That the Members of this lodge wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, 4th That a copy of these Resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the lodge and that one be sent to the bereaved family of our deceased Brother and one to the Christian Advocate for publication with request that the Gazette of Fayetteville please copy.

A. W. JONES,
G. L. NEWBY,
DR. W. A HAYS. } Com.

The Christian Advocate

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All the travelling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $4.00. Those who send us more will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters on business should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount sent. If money is sent otherwise and be lost in mail it will be at the sender's risk.

the Election Law.

The following is the act passed by the last Legislature concerning the election to be held in this State this year;

SECTION 1. THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY of North Carolina do enact, That there shall be an election held for the following officers on the first Thursday in August in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, 1874) and every two years thereafter; Members of the General Assembly for their respective counties and districts; a county treasurer, register of deeds, county surveyor, five county commissioners, a coroner and sheriff for their respective counties, and also for members of the House of Representatives of the United States Congress for their respective districts.

SEC. 2. That there shall be an election held on the said first Thursday of August, and every eight years thereafter for the following officers; six Superior Court Judges for their respective judicial districts in and for the following districts, to wit: the first third, fourth fifth seventh and ninth.

SEC. 3. That there shall be an election held on the first Thursday of August in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six (1876) and every four years thereafter, for the following officers, to wit: Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Instruction and Attorney General.

SEC. 4. That there shall be an election held on the first Tuesday of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight (1878) and every eight years thereafter, for the following offices: Five Supreme Court Judges for the state, and six Superior Court Judges in and for the following judicial districts, to-wit: second sixth, eighth tenth, eleventh and twelfth.

SEC. 5. That whenever any vacancies shall exist in any of the above offices, by reason of death, resignation or otherwise the same shall be filled by elections to be held in the manner and places and under the same regulations and rules as is prescribed for general elections, the first general election thereafter, except as otherwise provided in the constitution.

SEC. 7. That the sheriff or other returning officer of every county shall, within thirty days after the election in Supreme Court Judges, transmit by mail or otherwise, if by mail in a registered letter, to the Secretary of the state, statements of the votes taken in his county for each office, which by this agreement shall be in force in term prescribed in sections twenty-three and twenty four, chapter one hundred and eighty five, acts of one thousand eight hundred and seventy one and one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, which so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this act, are hereby re-enacted. Provided, That any officer shall be eligible as registrar for their several town-ships in all such elections, and any provision of chapter one hundred and eight five, laws of one thousand eight hundred and seventy one and one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, inconsistent with this proviso is hereby repealed. That when a voter is challenged at the polls, upon demand of any citizen of the State, it shall be the duty of the inspectors of the election to require said voter, before being allowed to vote to prove by the oath of some other person, known to these judges, the fact of his residence for thirty days previous thereto in the county in which he purposes to vote.

SEC. 13. That at all elections for Judges of the Supreme court, Judges of the Superior Court and Solicitors, there shall be provided a separate box for each Supreme Court Judges and a separate box for each Superior Court Judges and Solicitors.

SEC. 14. That the members of the General Assembly, elected under the provisions of the first section of this act shall assemble on the third Monday of November following the date of their election.

SEC. 15. That act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

Ratified this 11th day of February, A. D. 1874.

Marriages.

Married, on the 11th of June, at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. B. F. Pamplin, Dr. W. A. Dalrymple to Miss R. A. Harrington.

Married—On the 24th inst, at Monroe, Union county, N. C., by the Rev. Mr. Nelson, Mr. W. F. Askew, Jr., of Raleigh, N. C., to Miss Emma McBailey, of Monroe N. C.

Deaths.

Mrs. Martha J. Williams, wife of Dr. Richard Williams, Greenwood S. C. departed this life June 3rd 1874, aged 24 years. She had been in very feeble health for several months previous to her death.

She had never united herself with any branch of the church of Christ; but, when occasion required, expressed a decided preference for the M. E. Church, South, cherishing such preference, not only from the force of a religious education, but also from an intelligent conviction of the superior claims which that church presented to her choice. She gave satisfactory testimony upon her sick bed, as to a preparation for her solemn change, to the writer of this, and to deeply anxious friends who sought to do all that lay in human kindness and in human power to profit by her valuable life expressing the hope that she should soon be with her sainted father, having some years since died in the faith, and with her first born, whom God called in early infancy to join the family above.

She leaves a devoted husband, whom she urgently requested, to meet her in Heaven, and a large circle of relatives and friends, to mourn her departure. She has also left a precious babe in full assurance that it would be committed to the tenderest and the most considerate keeping. May they all meet her where we trust her disembodied spirit has gone—in that land where death is not feared, where sickness is not felt, where no farewell sound is ever heard;

"Where the saints of all ages in harmony meet,
Their Saviour and brethren, transported to greet;
While the anthems of rapture unceasingly roll,
And the smile of the Lord is the feast of the soul."

M. C. THOMAS.

Snow Hill, June 17th 1874

The Goldsboro Messenger will please copy.

Robert Joseph Foushee, M. D. was born in Chatham county April the 5th 1818 and died suddenly at Cedar Creek N. C. 1st of June 1871 aged 53 years 1 mo and 27 days.

In early life he made a profession of religion at Cedar Creek church in Cumberland county, and his life of thirty-six years, was illustrated by his consistent walk and godly conversation, and his death was in every way in accordance therewith. He chose the profession of medicine and for 30 years, was recognized as a successful practitioner in the above He was a kind physician. Being ever ready and willing to administer to the suffering humanity in the time of sickness, he took a deep and abiding interest in every thing that tended to promote the moral, social and national interests of the country, and always aided every thing that tended therewith liberally, and perhaps there is no physician he was a more kind and loving husband and father, leaving some years since died in the faith, and with her first born, whom God called in early infancy to join the family above.

He leaves a devoted husband, whom she urgently requested, to meet her in Heaven, and a large circle of relatives and friends, to mourn her departure. She has also left a precious babe in full assurance that it would be committed to the tenderest and the most considerate keeping. May they all meet her where we trust her disembodied spirit has gone—in that land where death is not feared, where sickness is not felt, where no farewell sound is ever heard;

"Where the saints of all ages in harmony meet,
Their Saviour and brethren, transported to greet;
While the anthems of rapture unceasingly roll,
And the smile of the Lord is the feast of the soul."

M. C. THOMAS.

Snow Hill, June 17th 1874

The Goldsboro Messenger will please copy.

Robert Joseph Foushee, M. D. was born in Chatham county April the 5th 1818 and died suddenly at Cedar Creek N. C. 1st of June 1871 aged 53 years 1 mo and 27 days.

In early life he made a profession of religion at Cedar Creek church in Cumberland county, and his life of thirty-six years, was illustrated by his consistent walk and godly conversation, and his death was in every way in accordance therewith. He chose the profession of medicine and for 30 years, was recognized as a successful practitioner in the above He was a kind physician. Being ever ready and willing to administer to the suffering humanity in the time of sickness, he took a deep and abiding interest in every thing that tended to promote the moral, social and national interests of the country, and always aided every thing that tended therewith liberally, and perhaps there is no physician he was a more kind and loving husband and father, leaving some years since died in the faith, and with her first born, whom God called in early infancy to join the family above.

Appointments

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND.

Warrenton st.	June 13 14
Warren ct.	" 20-21
Roanoke ct.	" 27-28
Williamston ct.	July 4- 5
Columbia ct.	" 11-12
Plymouth	" 18-19
Falls ct.	" 25-26
Mattamuskeet,	August 1- 2
Washington and Greenville,	" 8- 9
Tarboro at Tarboro,	" 15 16
Garrett's Q. M.,	" 22-23

Wm. CLOSS, P. E.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT
3RD ROUND—QUARTERLY MEETINGS

Durham at Orange church	June 13 14
Chapel Hill & Haw River at Ebenezer	" 20-21
Flat River at Walnut Grove,	" 27-28
Person ct. at Providence,	July 4- 5
Hillsboro at New Sharon,	" 11-12
Manuance ct. at Clover Garden,	" 18-19
High Rock Mission,	" 25 26
Yanceyville c't.	August 8- 9
Deep River,	" 15-16
Pittsboro	" 22-23
Leasburg at Leasburg	" 29 30

The District Conference will be held at Leasburg commencing August 27 Rev. W. H. Moore will preach the introductory sermon. Brethren from abroad are invited to attend.

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Mt Tirzah, N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND IN PART.

Granville ct. at Salem,	July 4 5
Par River ct. at Banks Chapel,	" 11-12
Dixie ville ct. at Sidney,	" 18 19
Henderson ct. at Tabernacle,	August 1- 2
Dart. ct. at Ebenezer	" 8- 9

The District Conference will be held at Franklinton, To commence on Thursday morning, July 23d at 10 o'clock.

W. H. BODDITT, P. E.
Cary, N. C

GREENSBORO DISTRICT.
3RD QUARTERLY MEETING.

Thomasville & H. Point at H Point	June 26-21
	" 27 28
Winston,	July 4- 5
Greensboro,	" 11-12
North Guilford,	" 18-19
Wentworth, at Wentworth	" 25-26
Trinity and Franklinsville,	Aug. 1- 2
Davidson, at Shady Grove,	" 8- 9
Madison at Mt. Hermon,	" 15-16
Forsythe at Clemmonsville,	" 22-23
Stokes at Danbury,	" 29-30
South Guilford at Pleasant Garden,	" 29-30

The District Conference will be held at Lexington, commencing on Thursday morning, September the 9th at 10 o'clock.

N. H. D. WILSON P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

SHELBY DISTICT.
3RD ROUND—IN PART.

South Fork, Palm Tree,	July 4 5
Cherry Mountain,	" 11-12
Dallas,	" 18-19
Lincoln Lincolnton Dist. Conf	" 24-26
Morganton Sardis,	August 1- 2

Shelby District Conference will be held in Lincolnton. The introductory sermon will be preached at 8 P. M., Wednesday July 22d, by Rev. Samuel Leard. The Conference will convene in the Methodist Church at 9 A. M. Thursday July 23d. Let the preachers and the stewards be prepared to make full and accurate reports.

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT
3RD ROUND.

Tryon Street and Calvary Miss.	June 27-28
Monroe ct. Liberty Chapel,	July 4- 5
Pineville ct. at Roan's,	" 11-12
Monroe st.	" 18-19
Mt. Pleasant ct. at Mt. Pleasant,	" 25
Concord st,	August 1- 2
Pleasant Grove ct. at Pleas. Grove,	" 8- 9
South Charlotte ct. at Bethel,	" 15 16
Albermarle and Stanley, at Center,	" 22-23
Libesville ct. at Salem,	" 29-30
Wadesboro' st.	Sept 5- 6
Ansonville ct. at	" 12-13
Wadesboro' ct. at	" 19-20

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

NEWERN DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND.

Beaufort,	July 4 5
Straits, Tuesday,	" 7
Wayne, Nahunta,	" 11 12
Jones Trenton,	" 18 19
Trent, Bethlehem	" 25-26
Lenoir, Woodington,	Aug 1- 2
Newb ern't. Beech Grove, Tuesday,	" 4
Goldsboro,	" 8- 9
Kinston, Tuesday,	" 11
Neuse, Smith's Creek,	" 15 16
Swift cr'k Miss	" 22 23
Snow Hill, Tabernacle,	" 29 30
Wilson,	Sept. 5 6
Mt. Olive,	" 12 13
Newbern,	" 15

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort, N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
3RD. ROUND.

Jonesboro' Poplar Spring	June 13-14
Cumberland, Camp ground,	" 20-21
Carthage Bethlehem	" 27 28
Rockingham Mt. Pleasant	July 4- 5
Robeson, Hopely,	" 11 12
Laurinburg, Laurinburg.	" 18-19
Fayetteville,	" 25-26
Montgomery, Smyrn,	Aug 1 2
Pee Dee,	" 8- 9
Cedar, Concord,	" 15 16
Buckhorn, Buckhorn,	" 22-23

S. D ADAMS, P. E.

The District Conference will be held at Laurinburg, commencing on Thursday the 16th of July.

A camp-meeting will be held at Concord, Fayette circuit, in connection with the third Quarterly Meeting commencing on Friday evening Aug. the 14th.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND

Statesville, ct. at Bethlehem,	June 20 21
Mt. Zion, ct. at Mt. Zion,	" 27-28
Yadkinville, ct. at Elkin,	July 4 5
Statesville ss. (Dist. Conf.)	" 9-12
Mt. Airy st at Salem,	" 18 19
Surry ct. and S. Mis. at Newhope,	" 25 26
Mocksville ct. at Smith Grove, (C. M)	Aug. 1- 2
Salisbury st	" 8- 9
Salisbury ct. at Lebanon,	" 15-16
Alex'der ct. at Rocky Spring, (C. M)	" 22-23
Wilks ct. and Mt. Mis. at Union,	" 29-30
Iredell ct. at Macedonia,	Sept. 5- 6

Camp-meetings at Smith Grove and Rocky Springs to commence at both places on Friday night. Brethren invited to attend. District Conference commences in Statesville Thursday, 9 o'clock a m. before the second Sunday in July. Preaching Wednesday night. Preachers and delegates earnestly requested to be present at the opening. Brethren in the ministry, and friends generally invited to attend.

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Olin, N. C

The Markets.

Raleigh Market—Retail Prices
June 29, 1874.

CORRECTED WEEKLY, BY
Wyatt, Bingham & Co.,
GROCERS, COTTON FACTORS
AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS
EXCHANGE PLACE,
RALEIGH, N. C.

COTTON	11 1-2 to 16 1-4
BACON—Baltimore smoked,	10@11
" —unsmoked,	7@10
" —sides,	12 1-2@
" —shoulders,	12 1-2@
" —N. Hams,	15@16
BUTTER—per lb,	25@35
BEESWAX—per lb,	25@30
BEEF—on hoof,	6@7
COFFEE—per lb	26@30
CHEESE—per lb,	20@25
COTTON YARN—per bale,	1 40@
CORN—per bushel,	12@
CHICKENS—per piece,	17@30
EGGS—per dozen,	10@
FLOUR—per barrel	7.50@9
HIDES—green, per lb,	6@
" —dry, per lb,	18@15
HERRINGS, N. C.—per barrel,	7 50@8 00
LEATHER—per lb,	30@40
LARD—per pound,	12@15
MOLASSES—per gallon,	40@50
MEAL—per bushel,	@1 20
OATS—per bushel,	90@1.00
" —per 100 lbs,	1 20@1 50
ONIONS—per bush,	@1 00
PEASE—stock,	1 25@
" —white,	1 40@1 50
POTATOES—Irish, per bushel,	@2 00
SUGAR—crushed,	12@16
" —extra C,	10@11
" —P. R,	15@
" —common,	12@12 1-2
SALT—per sack,	2 75@

New Advertisements.

PROSPECTUS.

A NEW BOOK.

Life, Sermons, and Speeches
OF
Rev. N. F. Reid, D. D.
LATE OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.
BY HIS SONS
James W. and Frank L. Reid.

This book will contain a fine steel engraving and biographical sketch of Dr. Reid, with a selection of his choicest sermons and addresses, making a volume of about 500 pages, neatly bound in cloth, and will be ready for delivery in November next.

PRICE TWO DOLLARS.

Sold by subscription only. Persons wishing a copy should subscribe at once. Agents wanted, to whom liberal commissions will be allowed.

Address, REV. F. L. REID, Louisburg, N. C. or JAS. W. REID, Wentworth, N. C.

Davenport F. College,

LENOIR, N. C.

The Fall Term begins Monday 17th August and ends Friday 5th January 1875.

The Spring Term begins Monday 11th January and ends Friday 28th May.

Commencement, Thursday, 27th May.

Expenses per Term, including everything, about $125 to $300

Charges for board and regular tuition $100 must be paid in advance. Other charges at the end of the Term.

Circular sent and particulars given on application to REV. W. M. ROBEY.

July 1 4m

Graham High Shcool.

Rev. D. A. Long, A. M. }
Rev. W. S. Long, A. M. } Principals.

MRS. H. A. BADHAM, INSTRUCTRESS in MUSIC.

The next session begins August 24th and continues 40 weeks.

Board $7 to $10 per month. Tuition $3 to $4 per month. Music on piano $4. Location very healthy. Send for a circular,

july 1-1w

Olin High School.

Iredell County, N. C.

I. J. Cheely A. M. Principal.

Miss Lucy Journey, an accomplished, experienced and popular Teacher, will take charge of the Female Department.

Fall Session of 1874 will open July 20th, and continue Twenty weeks.

EXPENSES:

Tuition, per Session, half in advance. $7.00 to $30.00
Contingent Fee, 50
Board per month $8.00 to 10.00

Extras in Female Department at usual rates.

Nearest R. R. Station is Statesville, W. N. C. R. R.

Address the Principal

Olin, Iredell Co. N. C.

July 1-4w.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

THE BEST IS THE

Averill Chemical Paint,

BECAUSE

1st. It has been thoroughly tested by chemists, and over 250,000 owners of residences throughout the United States for the last seven years, and pronounced by them to be the most durable paint known.

2d. For beauty and retention of color it stands far ahead of any other. Buildings have been painted with it in part and partly with the best of other paints, both in the interior and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been excelled for beauty or permanency of color.

3d. It is economical, and its cost is no more than the best lead and oil, and being far more durable (it wearing about twice as long as the best of any other,) and beautiful, warrants the assertion that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

4th. It is liquid form and all ready for use. Parrot Yellow or any desire shade, can be obtained without subject to the buyer to the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread and does freely from the brush, clings strongly to every substance it may be laid upon. For wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required it stands unrivalled. Though composed of the most indestructible materials known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint shows it to be purely linseed and best of the other paints free from poison. It will not blacken or discolor by the action of the sulphurous gases so prevalent on our marshy rivers and coasts.

5th. No skilled labor required.

Anybody can apply it.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Raleigh, N. C.
Sole Agents

Refer to Capt. A. B. Andrews, Supt. of R. & G. R. R. who has used upon his road 10,000 gallons with in the last three years.

Write for card of color and prices.

GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE,

GREENSBORO, N. C.

This Institution is again in successful operation and offers all the necessary requisites of a first-class Female College.

The Fall Session will begin on Wednesday, 29th July. For Catalogue or building Lots &c., apply to the President, or to

R. H. WILSON,
President Board of Trustees.

June 24-2m

NEW JERSEY MUTUAL LIFE Insurance Company.

HOME OFFICE, NEWARK, NEW JERSEY.

$1,000,000.00 Annual Income $1,000,000.00

6,977 Policies Issued in 1873 6,977

$1.17 Ratio Assets to Liabilities $1.17

$476,739.91 Surplus for Policy holders $476,739.91

Small losses, small expenses—prompt in payment which all has contributed to the success of the Company.

Agents wanted in every county in the State, to whom most liberal and steady employment will be given.

DR. C. D. RICE,
General Agent,
Raleigh, N. C.

june 24-13m

BINGHAM SCHOOL.

ESTABLISHED IN 1793.

MAJ. ROBERT BINGHAM, Sup't.
MAJ. W. R. LYNCH,
CAPT. T. M. NORWOOD,
W. G. PEACE, Esq.

Mebaneville, N. C.

The 161st Session opens July 15th 1874, Charges including books $150 per session. No extras.

June 10-2m

DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS,

THE GREAT AMERICAN CONSUMPTIVE REMEDY.

Consumption is NOT an incurable disease. Physicians assume and tell this, but it is only necessary to have the right kind, and the terrible malady can be conquered.

HALL'S BALSAM IS THIS REMEDY.

It checks up the night sweats, relieves the or persistent cough, allays inflammation, and heals the lacerated and excoriated surfaces which the venom of the disease produces.

WHERE LIFE LASTS THERE'S HOPE.

It may not be too late to reflect a cure even after the doctors have given up hope.

HALL'S BALSAM is sold everywhere, and may be had at wholesale of the Proprietors, JOHN F. HENRY & CO. & CO., at the Great Medicine Ware-house, 2 and 3 College Place, New York. Price $1 per bottle.

HALL'S BALSAM is also a sure remedy for COUGHS, COLDS, PNEUMONIA, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, SPITTING OF BLOOD, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, and all other diseases of the respiratory organs.

Also Proprietors of Sewall's Blood and Liver Syrup Chevalier Seltz, King's Pectoral, Oxygenated Bitters, Mott's Liver Pills, &c.

JOHN F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO.,
8 and 9 College Place, New York.

June 16-1m.

SPECIALTIES

Must be sold, a very desirable Assortment of

Rich Lace Points,

Brussels Point Lace Collas,

Lace Undersleeves.

Real Hand-Made Valencien,

Edgings and Insertings,

Embroidered and Hemstitched

Handkerchiefs.

Together with the remainder of

OUR STOCK.

It is especially desirable that we should close out

THE ENTIRE STOCK

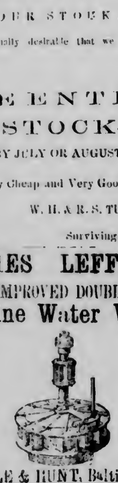
BY JULY OR AUGUST.

Goods Very Cheap and Very Good.

W. H. A. R. S. TUCKER.

Surviving Partners.

JAMES LEFFLE'S IMPROVED DOUBLE Turbine Water Wheel.



POOLE & HUNT, Baltimore,
MANUFACTURERS OF THE NORTH AND SOUTHWEST

Nearly 7,000 now in use, working under heads varying from 2 to 250 feet! 21 sizes, from 5½ to 96 inches.

The most powerful Wheel in the Market,
And most economical in use of Water.
Large ILLUSTRATED Pamphlet sent post free.

MANUFACTURERS ALSO, OF

Portable and Stationary Steam Engines and Boilers, Babcock & Wilcox Tubes, Paterson Boiler, Klamath's Crusher for Minerals, Saw and Grist Mills, Flouring Mill Machinery, Machinery for White Lead Works and Oil Mills, Shafting Pulleys and Hangers.

SEND FOR CIRCULARS.

SASH, DOORS, BLINDS, &C.

GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.

Write for Book of Prices,

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Raleigh N. C.
Dealers in Hardware of Every Description.

CARY COTTON GIN.

The Latest, Best and Cheapest.

I offer the public the latest Improved Cotton Gin, as well as the cheapest. The following certificates from well known gentlemen, will be more satisfactory than any thing I can say.

NEAR CARY, N. C., Nov., 12th, 1873.

This is to certify that I am using one of the Cary Gins made by W. M. Sorrell, of Cary, N. C., and that I am well pleased with it and would cheerfully recommend it to any one wanting a good Gin.

A. B. YATES.

CARY, N. C., May 22nd, 1874.

I take pleasure in saying that the 55ty Saws Cotton Gin I purchased from Mr. W. M. Sorrell, known as the Cary Gin, does far better work than any Gin I have heretofore used, though costing from 50 to 100 per cent. less money. I think any person in want of a Gin will save money by purchasing the Cary Gin, its performance has been entirely satisfactory to me, I can cheerfully recommend it to others.

A. F. PAGE.

We certify that the Cary Gin has given entire satisfaction to our neighbors, who have tried it, and we think it an excellent gin.

H. P. GUESS,
H. B. JORDAN,
W. C. PAGE,
Wm. E. PELL.

PRICE:

For 60 Saw Gin,	$170.
For 55 Saw Gin,	160.
For 50 Saw Gin,	150
For 45 Saw Gin,	140.
For 40 Saw Gin,	130.
For all under 40 Saws,	120

Persons wanting Gins will please send in their orders early in the season so that I may not be crowded in the fall. Send in your orders and I warrant you will be pleased. I do all kind of repairing.

Address, W. M. SORRELL,
June 3-6m. Cary, N. C

FARMERS' EXCHANGE

Thompson & Whitaker

Wholesale Grocers and

Commission Merchants.

MARTIN STREET,

GUANOS.

"Soluble Navassa Guano."
"Navassa Tobacco Fertilizer"
AND
Dissolved Phosphate.

Manufactured by Navassa Guano Company at Wilmington, N. C. Guaranteed to meet all the requirements of

Below are the names of a few who will testify to its merits:

Dr. B. Craven, Trinity College; L. H. Sanders, Johnston county; W. H. McCullough, Johnston county; David Wood, Johnston county; J. M. Wilson, Wilson's Mills; E. W. Pou, Raleigh; Willis Avera, Johnston county. For sale by

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.

Raleigh, N. C.

Feb 4-12m.

GREGG & BOWE

COR. 8TH & ORANGE STS.,

Wilmington, Del.,

Manufacturers of fine CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, ROCKAWAYS, CABROLETTS, VICTORIA'S COACHES, &c., &c.

Also Dealers in cheaper grades of Carriages.

REFERENCE: Col. J. M. Heck, Raleigh; Judge Dick, Thos. B. Keogh and Julius A. Gray, Greensboro L. E Johnson, Lexington.

apr 29-1f.

THE PEERLESS STEAM WASHER AND BLEACHER!

The Latest, Best and Cheapest Washer made!

That Steam Washers are the best kind is generally conceded. That the PEERLESS is best of its kind is all be readily admitted as soon as it is seen and tested.

It causes all the water to flow up through pipes and start down through the clothes.

The water has not to go to the centre, or either end or bottom to get back where it started, but goes out at any part of the upper bottom, and hence washes all the clothing alike.

The water is sixteen streams, on all parts face of the clothing, after raising through the clothes many times ate, and cleans them in 15 to 30 minutes!—this machine, any lady who chooses, may do the wash herself with very little work, without steps, without rubbing, or damage to the fabric, with such ease and quiet that her husband would hardly know when washday comes!

The cost of the machine soon saved in difference in wear. Soon saved in difference in labor required.

A bed quilt or lace collar—the finest or coarsest fabric—a single piece or boiler full, washed with equal ease!

The machine can be made for any stove boiler, or the boiler furnished with the machine can be used for any other purpose.

It sells for less than any other, and will do the work more thoroughly and in less time.

As its name indicates it is

PEERLESS AMONG ALL!

Directions for using go with each machine. They are made of best material, and sold at the following prices:

For washer and boiler (No. 9)	$8.00
For " alone	5.00
For washer and boiler 30 inches long	9.50
For " alone	6.00

Sent anywhere per express on receipt of price by J. A JONES, Proprietor, Raleigh, N. C.

LIVINGSTONE IS DEAD!

For 30 years MILLIONS have intently watched his PERILOUS yet HEROIC STRUGGLES and GRAND TRIUMPH; and now they eagerly desire the COMPLETE LIFE-HISTORY of this world-renowned HERO and BENEFACTOR which unfolds also the CURIOSITIES and WEALTH of a WILD and WONDERFUL country. We publish JUST THAT HISTORY from his BIRTH to his BURIAL. Now ready 2,000 agents wanted quickly. One agent sold 184 first six days, another, 126 first week. For particulars of this, our SUPERB NEW illustrated BIBLES, and OCEAN'S STORY, Address HUBBARD BROS. nt office nearest you, either PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON, or CINCINNATI, O.

Oct 1 1-y

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap.

Apply at the ADVOCATE Office.

Sept 10-tf

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Successors to Wyatt, Green & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Cotton Factors,

Commission, Shipping

And Forwarding Merchants.

No. 4 Exchange Place and Martin St.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Cotton and satisfaction guaranteed.

Consignments of all kinds of country produce solicited.

All debts for or against the late firm of Wyatt, Green and Co., will be collected and disbursed as they become due, by us.

WYATT, BINGHAM AND CO.,
de10-tf Raleigh, N. C

LADIES READ!

Needles for the following Machines: Wheeler and Wilson, Grover & Baker, Wilcox & Gibbs, Howe, Weed, Domestic, Buckeye and Singer. Warranted equal to the best. Only 25 cents per dozen. Sent prepaid to any address in the United States on receipt of price. Address, J. A. STEWART,
June 17-1m. Henderson, N. C.

THE MENEELY BELL FOUNDRY.

BELLS for Churches, Academies, Factories, etc., of which more have been made at this establishment than at all the other foundries in the country combined. All Bells warranted. An illustrated catalogue sent free upon application to

MENEELY & CO.,
West Troy, N.Y.

June 10-13m

GREAT SALE OF GARDEN HOES.

FOR NEXT 30 DAYS,
FOR NEXT 30 DAYS,
GARDEN HOES 25 CENTS.
GARDEN HOES 25 CENTS.

Garden	Hoes 25 Cents.
Garden	Hoes 25 Cents.
Garden	Hoes 25 Cents.

Warranted Steel,
Warranted Steel,
Garden Hoes 30 Cents,
Garden Hoes 30 Cents,
Great Bargains.
Great Bargains,
Garden Hoes 35 Cents,
Garden Hoes 35 Cents,
Call Early,
Call Early,
Garden Hoes 40 cents,
Garden Hoes 40 cents,
Extremely Low Prices,
Extremely Low Prices,
Garden Hoes 45 cents.
Garden Hoes 45 cents.
25, 30, 35, 40, 45 and 50 cents
Call and buy by great bargains at
T. H. BRIGGS & SONS.

may 6—f

OLD NORTH STATE FIRE Insurance Company.

OF

WARRENTON, - - - N. C.

Closed its second fiscal year April 1st, in a condition of great prosperity.

A handsome dividend has been declared and a full insurance reserve set aside on the basis of the New York law.

Every legitimate loss has been promptly paid and the Company does not owe

A DOLLAR.

IT IS A

NORTH CAROLINA INSTITUTION,

owned and conducted by NORTH CAROLINIANS, and deserves the liberal patronage it is receiving.

W. S. DAVIS, President.
N. R. JONES, Vice-President
B. F. LONG, Secretary.
Wm. J. NORWOOD, Treasurer,
T. C. WILLIAMS, Supt. Prior.
JNO. DEVEREAUX, Agent.
Raleigh, N. C

May 18-12m

ORGANS! PIANOS!

Organs for Church or Parlor, prices extremely low for CASH, or part cash and balance in

MONTHLY or QUARTERLY PAYMENTS

Second-hand Instruments taken in exchange, & liberal discount to Ministers,

Teachers,
Churches,
Schools, Lodges,
Etc.

Agents for Horace, Waters & Son celebrated Organs and Pianos.

You can save money by buying from

NAT L. BROWN,
Raleigh, N. C.

A SECOND HAND PIANO FOR SALE AT NAT L. BROWN'S

may 13-tf

CROQUET SETS, BALLS, BATS, HOOPS, MARBLES, Building and Alphabet Blocks, Games, etc., at NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

CONFECTIONARIES, CANNED GOODS, FINE Cigars and Smoking Tobacco, at NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES, At NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,
STRINGS AND TRIMMINGS,
At NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13-tf

NATIONAL HOTEL,

Delightfully Situated, next to Capitol Square,

RALEIGH, N. C.

A NEW HOUSE.

Fine Rooms, well Furnished and Fitted up in the best style.

ATTENTIVE SERVANTS.

The Table Daily Supplied with the Best this and other Markets Afford.

C. S. BROWN,
PROPRIETOR.,
Late of Boyden House Salisbury N. C.
Feb. 25—3 mos.

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY

MALE AND FEMALE.

R. P. TROY, A. M. Principal.
Mrs. R. P. TROY, Teacher of Music.

Spring session begins January, 5th 1874.

Board per month,	$8.00
Tuition " from	1.50 to 3.00
One half in ad vance.

ADVANTAGES.

Low price of board and tuition, healthy and moral location, Sabbath school and religious service every Sunday.

Access.—By Rail Road to Greensboro, thence free conveyance will be furnished by the Principal, if informed of arrival.

Address the Principal,
Greensboro, N. C.

Nov26-1m

FLOUR! FLOUR!! FLOUR!!!

Leach Brothers,

No. 3 Exchange Place,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We beg leave to call the attention of the Trade in Central North Carolina to our large and well selected stock of

"FAMILY," "EXTRA" AND "SUPERFINE" FLOURS.

We feel confident we can do as well for them as any house in Baltimore or Norfolk, freight and other charges added.

Our Senior Partner and Buyer, who resides all the time in New York, has for the past eight years been connected with the large and well known Grocery House of Messrs. H. K. Thurber & Co., and has recently been connected with the Flour Exchange in that city, as their buyer of Flour, which gives us every advantage of the largest buyer in New York, as well as Baltimore or Norfolk, enabling us to offer Flour in this market for the first time STRICTLY AT FIRST HANDS, and with only one profit to the retailer.

Our facilities for handling these goods being equal to any house South of New York, and buying them at "Hard Pan" prices, for cash, we are determined to handle them at as small margin as any house in these Northern cities.

Samples sent upon application and prices guaranteed.

We also offer the same inducements in general

Grocery Stock.

LEACH BROS.

mar 4-tf.

THE WILSON TAKES THE GRAND Prize at Vienna!

AUSTRIA, VIENNA, Aug. 15, 1873.

To W. G. Wilson, President Wilson Sewing Machine, Cleveland, Ohio:

The Wilson Shuttle Sewing Machine was awarded the Grand Prize at the Vienna Exposition for being the best Sewing Machine.

The above telegram needs no comment. The people can now be assured that in buying the Wilson at the low price of $50 they are getting the best Sewing Machine ever offered to the public. Circulars free. Best terms to agents. address

WHARTON & WHARTON,
State Agents, Greensboro, N. C.

Sept 4—tf. Pd 5.

CAROLINA COTTON GIN.

M'CALLUM, WYCKOFF & HOPE,

SUCCESSORS TO
SEPARKS, HICKS & CO.,
Engineers, Iron Founders and Machinists,
RALEIGH, N. C.,
We are manufacturing
THE CAROLINA COTTON GIN.

Awarded a GOLD MEDAL by the North Carolina Agricultural Society in 1873 for the BEST GIN MADE IN THE STATE. It has no superior in the lightest running, strongest and most durable Gin made. We guarantee every Gin to give entire satisfaction. The prices are lower than any First Class Gin sold in the State.

We also manufacture Corn Mills, Screw Engines and Boilers for running Gins and other machinery. Prices lower than any other Engine and Boiler in the market.

We also make COTTON PRESSES not excelled by any other.

COTTON GINS, and all classes of machine work, repaired in the best manner.

CASTINGS furnished to order.

april 2-tf

WATSON'S GALLERY
—OF—
PHOTOGRAPHIC ART,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is one of the most complete and extensive Photographic establishments in the South, where every style of Photographic likeness is executed from the smallest minature, to the large Portrait colored in oil. If you have the likeness of a deceased relative or friend, you can have it enlarged and colored to nature. Photographic Albums and Picture Frames always on hand, in great variety, at low prices. When you come to Raleigh, do not fail to call at WATSON'S GALLERY 2nd door above Tucker Hall.

Youth's Department.

Jesus' We Cling to Thee!

O'er, only Saviour, Friend unseen,
Since on thine arm thou bidd'st us lean,
Help us throughout life's changing scene
By faith to cling to thee!

Blessed with this fellowship divine,
Take what thou will, we'll not repine;
For, as the branches to the vine,
We only cling to thee!

Though far from home, fatigued, opprest,
Here we have found a place of rest;
And tho' still yet not unblest,
Because we cling to thee!

Wh' l though the world deceitful prove,
And earthly friends and hopes remove,
With patient, uncomplaining love
Still can we cling to thee!

Though oft we seem to tread alone
Life's dreary waste with thorns o'ergrown,
Thy voice of love, in gentlest tone,
Whispers, "Still cling to me!"

Though faith and hope are often tried,
We ask not, need not, exight beside.
So safe, so calm, so satisfied,
The soul that clings to thee!

They fear not Satan nor the grave,
They know thee near, and strong to save,
With thee all danger they can brave,
Because they cling to thee!

Blessed is our lot, whate'er befall,
Who can affright, or who appall?
Since as our Strength our Rock, our All,
Jesus, we cling to thee!

Gertie Graham's Experience.

Gertie Graham was a sweet, lovable little girl—one everybody felt drawn toward at once on seeing her; but with all her attractions, she had one grave little fault that marred the many beauties and virtues she possessed.

It was this: She did not like to mind when first spoken to, but would have to be told over and over s' many times to do this or do that it was fast making her a disagreeable and unlovely little girl.

"Come, Gertie dear, it is bedtime," her mamma would call to her from the head of the stairs when the clock struck eight. Gertie would answer, 'Wait a minute," and go on playing with her blocks or cards.

Pres ntly mamma would call down again: 'Gertie, come right up stairs to bed; I cannot wait any longer for you,"

"But, mamma, can't I finish my game first?" Gertie would reply, petulnantly, making no offer to stir.

"No, come directly."

"But, mamma, I want to;" and still the little feet would not go.

"Gertie, I shall have to punish you if you do not obey me immediately," mamma would call down after a few minutes more. Then perhaps Ge tie would make an effort to begin to obey by going round the sitting-room to each one who was endeavoring to read the evening papers through all the noise, and kissing them good-night over and over again, making as long a delay as she possibly could by that means, until one more impatient call from mamma would finally send her up stairs. And just so in many other things. If grandma asked her not to make a noise when her head ached, or told her to stop teasing baby, Ger ie would heedlessly go on with her racket and worry, not seeming to hear kind grandma's request; and when grandpa even sometimes spoke to her in his gentle way, she would pay but little attention, and continue doing what she had been told to cease.

She did not wilfully mean to be naughty, but she had gotten into the habit of not minding at the first word, and it was growing into nantghtiness.

It was a very grave fault, and one that made her mamma feel very sorrowful to see, for a little girl who will not obey those who are nearest and dearest to her in all the world will be apt to grow up into a woman, for whom nobody will care.

Her mamma finally decided she would teach and punish her by other means than whippings and scoldings, and said to her one day: "Gertie, you must learn to mind me when I first speak, or bear it in mind you will be punished;" and so Miss Gertie was to be taught her first lesson in life by that best of all teachers, experience.

Not long after this warning given her by her mamma, Gertie was dressing for dancing school, where she clear'y loved to go, but she was so full of antics and capers that her nurse could scarcely dress her. Her mamma noticed how unmanageable she was, and said:

"Gertie, stop your dancing now, and let Annie dress you. Mind me at once, or if you are not ready when the other little girls stop for you, you shall not go."

But Miss Gertie, as usual, did not heed her mamma's word, and kept on hindering her nurse from making her ready. When the bell rang, there fore, and her mamma called to her from the parlor, Gertie was not dressed. She came down, however, shortly, with her little white astrachan cap and muff, quite ready to start. Her mamma looked at her gravely, and said:

"You did not mind me when I spoke to you, else you would have been ready the minute I called you. You may take off your things now; you cannot go to dancing school to day."

Poor Gertie burst into tears.

"Mamma, you always called me two or three—times—before," she sobbed.

"But I shall never speak to you but once after this, you know; you must mind me then, or you will be punished, you see. I want you to remember."

Gertie's grandma thought it was hard, and grandpa too would liked to have taken his darling right off to dancing school, but mamma was firm in her determination to make her little girl obedient, and would not allow them to palliate the punishment.

When bedtime came, as usual mamma's pleasant voice called down:

Gertie dear, it's bedtime; kiss all go odnight and come up stairs."

But Ger ie was reading her picture-book ab n "Little white Lily," and answered, "Wait a minute," wea ily sting.

Presently mamma came down stairs and took up her sewing. Gertie looked up surprised.

"Why, mamma, who'll undress me?" she asked, anxiously.

"You must undress yourself to-night," answered mamma, going on with her sewing. "I called you when I was ready, and you did not come."

"But, mamma dear, who will tuck me in?" faltered Gertie.

"Little girls who will not mind their mammas through the day must not expect to be tucked in by them at night," replied the mamma.

"Who'll I say my prayers to, then?" sobbed Gertie.

"Say your prayers to God, Gertie, and ask him to help you to be a better and more obedient little girl," her mother answered, kissing her good night.

Gertie cried bitterly, and begged her mamma to go up stairs with her again, but it was of no use; she was obliged to go alone and undress herself that night.

Next morning, when her mamma called, Gertie did not come right up from the breakfast table to have her clean apr n on and her curls brushed in time for school; and when she started at last, it was ten minutes past nine, and her mamma gave her a little note for the teacher.

Dinner was all over when Gertie came home that day with red eyes and a cres'fallen look.

"What ails my darling?" asked grandma, when she saw the pretty face all dark with shame.

"I was kept in," stammered Gertie.

"What for?" asked her mamma.

"For being late."

"Ah, Gertie, Gertie!" said her mamma; "you see the fruits of your disobedience are coming fast. If you had minded me when I first called you this morning, you would have had ample time to dress and get to school early, and would then not have had the shame and mortification of being kept in."

Gertie held her head down to hide her tears. She felt the truth of her mamma's words She was just beginning to see by experience that in not minding when first spoken to she would be the sufferer and loser always.

Grandma felt grieved to see her darling troubled, and so she thought she would try a method too to cure Gertie of her fault. She got a little book and wrote "Gertie's Behavior" on the outside.

"Now, Gertie," said she, when she showed it to Gertie, "every night before you go to bed, I will write in this little book 'Good' or 'Bad' whichever name you deserve. If you do not mind mamma or any one else who bids you do anything through the day, I will write down 'Bad' at night; but if you try to be obedient and obey when first spoken to, I will write 'Good;' and the day you are seven years old, if there are more 'Goods' than 'Bads' in the book, I will make you a present; but if there are more Bads,' I shall feel very sorry and grieved."

Gertie looked at the little book, and heaved a heavy sigh, then answered:

"Well, grandma, I'll try very hard to be good always, so as you can write it down every night;" and she did try.

Of course, at first it was very hard for her to remember and always mind directly she was spoken to; but grandma knew how Habit holds us all in her tight grasp, and so made due allowances for her little granddaughter's shortcomings, seeing that she was really striving to do better.

Time went on, and little Gertie struggled and strived with all her heart to merit the 'good' name that grandma would put down at night time with so much pleasure. After a while it grew to be as easy for her to obey at once when her mamma or grandma or grandpa spoke to her as it used to be to dally, and not listen and not mind. And so at last, when her birthday came, Gertie's "behavior book' contained more good marks than bad ones; and when she woke up the day she was seven years old, she found sitting beside her bed, in a little chair, a beautiful French doll, with a trunk full of pretty dresses—a present from grandma—and a beautiful cup with "For my Good Little Girl" on it in gold let ers from her mamma, and the loveliest little pocket book with money in it from grandpa.

And now she says she wants to tell all those little girls who do not mind their mammas that she finds it just as easy to do things when first told as it was to say, "Wait a minute," and put off obeying until the last moment, as she used to do. And she hopes all such little girls will try to break themselves of that bad habit, for it grieves their mammas and makes everybody think them unlovable.—Children's Hour.

Children often look Pale and Sick from no other cause than having worms in the stomach BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS will destroy Worms without injury to the child, being perfectly WHITE, and free from all coloring or other injurious ingredients usually used in worm preparations.

CURTIS & BROWN, Proprietors,
No. 215 Fulton Street, New York.
Sold by Druggists and Chemists, and dealers in Medicine at TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A BOX.
July 9 1y

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Brilliant Record of Cures.

An American humorist tells us that it would have been money in his pocket if he had been born without a stomach, and then proceeds to figure up the cost of a chronic dyspepsia, to which he is smartly, and which he says it is impossible to cure. On this point, "Josh Billings," for he is the party referred to) is mistaken. Unless his stomach differs from all other dyspeptic stomachs, Hostetter's Bitters will cure him in less than three months. This it would be safe to guarantee under any penalty. There are a few, a very few, of the specifics for disease in existence, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be set down as one of these. In cases of indigestion it never fails. Persons who had suffered for many years almost every conceivable species of torture from this agonizing complaint, have been permanently cured with the Bitters in six weeks. Hundred of such instances are current authenticated by the testimony of prominent men in every walk of life, eminent physicians among the number. But this celebrated vegitable preparation is something more than a stomachic and bowle. It is also an alternative of wonderful virtue. In liver complaint its calomel or blue pill, and far more salutary; and in all diseased condition of the bowels, notably in cases of constipation it is regulating properties are in the highest degree efficacious. The new settlements in the west and all sickly-lying tracts of country infested with miasmatic exhalations, so fruitful at this season, of the various types of intermittent fevers, should be always well stocked with this incomparable ehologue, which will cure any case of fever and ague in a period varying from three days to three or four weeks, according to the violence of the complaint. Nervous disorders which are always aggravated by the adulterated humors usually prescribed by physicians, are readily cured by a course of this admirable combination medicine in which the properties of a stimulant, a tonic and alterative are happily blended.

July 1 1-m.

DR. C. M'LANE'S
CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS,
FOR THE CURE OF
Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,
DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

Address all orders to
FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros. will do well to look to their interest, as we do not employ Peddlers, or Pedlers, in the sale of Dr. C. M'Lane's preparations, in Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to give them a trial, we would say, mail, post paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twenty-five cents in postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen cents in stamps. All orders from the trade must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

Sold by all respectable Druggists and Country Stores, keeping Patent Medicines.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge

Should be kept in every nursery. If you would have your children grow up to be healthy, strong, and vigorous MIX Sand Worm seeds them a few days of

M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE,
TO EXPEL THE WORMS.
BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

ELGIN WATCHES.
W. B. FARRAR,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND OPTICIAN.

Deals in Gold Watches, Chronos and ordinary Clocks, Jewelry, Spectacles, Silver and Plated Ware, Bridal Presents, Guns, Pistols, Cartridges, Sewing Machine Needles, Table Cutlery, Ladies' Pocket Knives, Pen Knives, Razors, Razor Straps, Walking Canes, &c. TERMS REASONABLE.

No. 7 South Elm Street, Opposite Express Office, Greensboro, N. C

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

What will Relief is the first inquiry the sick make concerning a medicine. Suppose.

Tarrant's Seltzer Aperient

is the subject of the following story, what then? Simply this: Speedy Relief and sure headache, nausea, flatulence, nervousness, costiveness, debility, biliousness and rheumatism. Sold by druggists everywhere.

June 17 2-w

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. JAMES was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of INDIAN HEMP, which cured his only child and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps, to pay expenses. HEMP also cures night-sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in 24 hours. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race St., Philadelphia, naming this paper.

June 4 3m

ALADDIN SECURITY OIL

Will prove itself equal, if not superior, to any burning Oil that has been offered to the public—is perfectly safe for use in all Kerosene Lamps. Will give all who use perfect security in doing so. For sale by PESCUD, LEE & CO., Druggists.

jan 14-tf

LOW PRICED MUSIC BOOKS

Attractive, Useful, and very Popular.

CLARKE'S DOLLAR INSTRUCTORS,
FOR
REED ORGANS, PIANO and VIOLIN.

RIVER OF LIFE. 35 cts. Best Sabbath School Song Book.

CANTATA of ESTHER. Dramatized. 50 cents Immensely popular.

FATHER KEMP'S OLD FOLKS TUNES. 35 cents. Much enlarged. Sung everywhere.

RIVER OF LIFE. 35 cts. Best Sabbath School Song Book.

WINNER'S NEW SCHOOL for Piano, Cabinet Organ, Guitar, Banjo, Cornet, Accordeon, Fife, Flute Flageolet, Clarionet. Price of each Book, 75 cts.

RIVER OF LIFE. 35 cts. Best Book for Sabbath Schools.

WINNER'S BAND OF FOUR. $1.00
1st and 2d Violin, Cornet, or Clarionet, and Bass
Send post paid, on receipt of retail price,
OLIVER DITSON & CO., C. H. DITSON & CO.,
Boston. 711 B'dway, New York.

BASKETS, BASKETS, BASKETS, THE LARGEST assortment in the city, at may 18-tf BROWN'S.

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Sunday, June 14th, 1874.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	1.31 P. M.	8.35 A. M.
" Air-Line Junc'n	2.25 "	9.56 "
" Salisbury.....	3.52 "	10.54 "
" Greensboro'....	5.15 A. M.	1.15 P. M.
" Danville.....	8.18 "	3.36 "
" Bandee.....	8.35 "	3.48 "
" Barkville.....	11.30 "
Arrive at Richmond...	2.22 P. M.	11.01 P. M.

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1.55 P. M.	11.45 P. M.
" Barkville.....	4.41 "	2.29 A. M.
" Dundee.....	9.35 "	8.33 "
" Danville.....	9.29 "	8.37 "
" Greensboro'....	12.40 A. M.	11.36 "
" Salisbury.....	3.33 "	2.51 P. M.
" Air-Line Junc'n	4.31 "	4.04 "
Arrive at Charlo'te...	6.30 A. M	5.11 "

GOING EAST.		GOING WEST
STATIONS.	MAIL	MAIL
Leave Greensboro'....	1.15 A. M.	Arrive 11.40 P. M
" Co. Shops....	2.45 "	10.15 "
" Raleigh.....	7.30 "	5.41 "
Arrive at Goldsboro'	10.20 A. M.	Leave 2.30 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.
(SALEM BRANCH.)

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Greensboro'....	1.30 A. M.	4.05 P. M.
Arrive at Salem.....	5.00 "	7.50 "
Leave Salem.....	10.10 P. M.	5.00 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'	11.30 "	9.45 "

Passenger train leaving Raleigh at 3.31 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound train; making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Price of Tickets same as via other routes.

Trains to and from points East of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.

Trains daily, both ways,

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9.42 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.05 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.55 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, without change.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above.

For further information address

S. K. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. E. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD.
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	9.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	3.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.40 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	4.45 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	9.35 A. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.20 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City. To and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Haywood and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accomodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh with Accommodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.25 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.45 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	10.21 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	3.05 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	8.20 "
Leaves Sanford,	10.15 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.40 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection at Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

Accommodation and Freight Trains connect with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

M. T. NORRIS
Late with
Len H. Adams.

W. A. MYATT, JR.
Formerly with
J. P. Gulley & Bro.

NORRIS & MYATT,

(SUCCESSORS TO LEN H. ADAMS.)

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

GROCERIES, COTTON FACTORS

—AND—

General Commission Merchants.

No. 4 Exchange Place and No. 5 Martin Street,

They offer to the trade a large and well selected stock, of first-class groceries at remarkably low figures to suit the times. They are daily receiving, and have to-day in store, a choice lot of North Carolina Hams.

75 bbls Family Extra Superfine Flour.
70 sacks North Carolina Flour.
500 bushels Corn and Bolted Meal.
50 sacks Salt.
10 bbls Extra A Sugar.
10 bbls Extra C Sugar.
10 bbls Extra C Yellow Sugar.
10 bbls Dem Sugar.
10 sacks Rio Coffee.
10 kegs Soda.
10 cases Concentrated Lye.
10 cases Cove Oysters.
10 boxes Adamantine Candles
25 kits Beef Leaf Lard.
1000 pounds Pure Assorted Candy
500 bunching Cotton Yarn.
50 kegs Nails.
25 boxes of Durham Tobacco, and a full assortment of goods usually kept in a first class grocery. A bound at very low figures. Our motto: "Quick sales and small profits." A large lot of Boots and Shoes, Pats and Heavy Pants—goods which will be offered at reduced figures. Call and examine our stock before calling elsewhere. Consignments and Country Produce solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

April 1-tf

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

This unrivalled Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of MERCURY, or any injurious mineral substance, but is

PURELY VEGETABLE,

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine,

is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bill.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials as to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, all climates and changes of water and food may be faced without fear. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA

Price, $1.00. Sold by all Druggists, eb15-1 2a

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM

Is a Wonderful Remedy! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient Inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption if taken in Season. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. A Druggists have it for sale, neatly put up with inhaler enough for two months' use. Price $2.00. Pre-paid mail on receipt of price. Send for a Circular. by

W. H. SMITH & Co., Prop'rs,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Jan 26-6m

A pair of shoes will cost you only 5 cents more w SILVER TIP on toes without, and it will ad twice the cost of the shoe to their wearing value.

April 8 13-w

Robert T. Gray,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Raleigh, N. C.

Will give prompt attention to business in the Su preme, Superior, and other Courts of the State.

Refers by permission to
Hon. E. M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.
Hon. Thos. Settle, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.
Hon. I. G. Lash, Pres. First National Bank of Salem
John G. Williams, " State " " Raleigh
Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, Editor of Raleigh ADVOCATE.
Rev. A. W. Mangum, Raleigh, N. C.

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS,

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Simpson's String Store.

apr 29 6m.

FLORENCE

The Long-contested Suit of the FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE CO. against the Singer, Wheeler & Wilson, and Grover & Baker Companies, involving over

$25,000,

Is finally decided by the Supreme Court of the United States in favor of the FLORENCE, which alone has Broken the Monopoly of High Prices.

THE NEW FLORENCE

Is the ONLY machine that sews backward and forward, or to right and left. Simplest—Cheapest—Best.

SOLD FOR CASH ONLY. SPECIAL TERMS TO CLUBS and DEALERS.

April, 1873, Florence, Mass.

apr11 15-3m

CANVASSERS send No. of your Lodge will continue to operate with our superb Home Pictures for Masons, Odd-Fellows, Knights Pythias, Grangers, Red-men, Mechanics, etc., are making double the coin as for other war-work pleasanter. J. HALE POWERS & CO., Fraternity & Fine Art Pubs., Cincinnati, O.

Feb 22-12m

JUST RECEIVED
AT
D. S. WAITT'S,
Ready Made Clothing
FOR
SPRING AND SUMMER.

GO TO D. S. WAITT'S
FOR
BOOTS & SHOES.
A full line just opened.

FOR GENTS' FURNISHING

Goods go to

D. S. WAITT'S.

DRY GOODS! DRY GOODS!!

D. S. WAITT'S

is the place to get them cheap.

R. F. JONES & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS, COTTON FACTORS

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Wilmington Street, opposite Market House,

In their wholesale department they offer to the trade a large stock of first-class groceries at prices that have and will continue to attract the trade. They have in store

1200 Gals. S. H. Syrup.
150 Sacks Fine Liverpool Salt.
1200 Pounds Cream Cheese.
300 Bushels Bolted Meal.
100 Boxes Cakes and Crackers—fresh.
1000 Pounds pure candy, assorted.
25 Cases mixed Pickles.
40 Doz. cans Fresh Peaches.
50 Bbls. Superfine and Family Flour.
3000 Pounds Family Soap.
25 Boxes Adamantine Candles.
40 Doz. boxes Axle Grease.
72 " Masons Blacking.
50,000 Water Proof Percussion Caps.

Powder, Shot, Snuff, Tobacco, Soda, Spice, Pepper Tea, &c., &c.

Bulk Meal and Breakfast Strips, and a full assortment of other goods generally sold in grocery stores. Call and examine the quality of their goods and price. Consignment of produce solicited.

oct 15-6m

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY
RALEIGH, N. C.
Is the Place to Buy
French and Plain Candies,
Foreign and Domestic Fruits,
RAISINS, NUTS, etc.,
Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,
Fancy Good. Childrens' Toys,
Carriages for the Little Folks,
CROQUET SET,
BASE BALLS AND BATS,
Marbles, Tops, and Kites,
All at MOSELEY'S

FANCY GOODS, TOYS, BASKETS, BROOMS, Brushes, Tooth Picks, School Bags, Feather Dusters, Fish Hooks and Lines. A large assortment. At NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 13 tf

LEMON & Aniline Dye Colors, at PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S Drug Store.

jan 14-1

Pocket Inhaler AND Carbolate of Iron for Malaria.

A Wonderful Remedy! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient Inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption if taken in Season. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. A Druggists have it for sale, neatly put up with inhaler enough for two months' use. Price $2.00. Pre-paid mail on receipt of price. Send for a Circular. by

W. H. SMITH & Co., Prop'rs,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Jan 26-6m

A pair of shoes will cost you only 5 cents more w SILVER TIP on toes without, and it will ad twice the cost of the shoe to their wearing value.

April 8 13-w

Robert T. Gray,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Raleigh, N. C.

Will give prompt attention to business in the Su preme, Superior, and other Courts of the State.

Refers by permission to
Hon. E. M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.
Hon. Thos. Settle, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.
Hon. I. G. Lash, Pres. First National Bank of Salem
John G. Williams, " State " " Raleigh
Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, Editor of Raleigh ADVOCATE.
Rev. A. W. Mangum, Raleigh, N. C.

JOSEPH KRETH
Merchant Tailor,
OPPOSITE CITY POST OFFICE.
RALEIGH, N. C.

Keeps the best quality of Cassimeres and Clothe constantly on hand. Persons wanting suits of every description will find it to their interest to give him call.

May 27-2m.

W. F. KORNEGAY,
Goldsboro', N. C.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer
FOREIGN & DOMESTIC HARDWARE,
COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.
Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.
FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are Western made, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All we ask is a trial of them.

Jan 28-tf

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, as I cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight dness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring; 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4. Epiphora, Stumming or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or Imperfect vision from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overwatched Eyes; 10. Muscæ volitantes—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Partially Lost Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight.

Any one can use the Ivory Eye Cups without the aid of a doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles; or, if using now, lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,500 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29, 1870, Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or misrepresentation."

Prof W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1869: "Without my spectacles I can put you this note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirty days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye. "Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT Ivory Eye Cups, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age.

Wm. Bently, M. D., Salvisa Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years.

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored to my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYESIGHT, of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worse cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlets and certificates—free. Waste no more money by adjusting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face.

AGENTS WANTED

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 957. NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.
Sept 6-12m.

Established 1840.

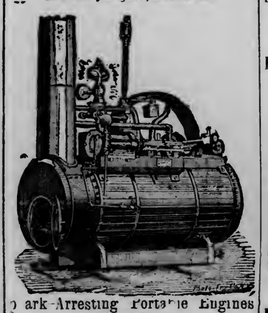
B. W. PAYNE, E. N. PAYNE. B. W. PAYNE

B. W. PAYNE & SONS

Corning's Foundry and Machine Shop,
CORNING, STEUBEN CO., N.Y.

Manufacturers of

Stationary Engines, Boilers and



Mark-Arresting Portable Engines

For Plantation Use.

Delivered Free on Board Cars in New York City.

Send for Circular.

Feb 25 12m

PARENTS REDUCE YOUR SHOE BILLS TWO THIRDS BY BUYING

Silver Tipped Shoes.

Feb 18-6m

CANFIELD BROTHER & CO.,
229 Baltimore St.,
BALTIMORE MD.

Gold Watches for Ladies & Gentlemen.

American Watches a specialty.
These Watches have an established reputation.
Silver Watches of every variety.
Diamonds, Rich Jewelery,
Chains, Lockets, &c.
Gold Head Canes.
Clocks, Bronze, Vases.
Fancy Silver-Ware for Bridal Gifts.
Triple Plated Tea Sets, Waiters, Ice Pitchers, Fruit Stands, Castors, Spoons and Forks. A complet stock of new style Plated Goods. Fans, Opera Glass and Rich Fancy Goods.

Our stock is large and prices moderate. Order have prompt attention. Medals and Badges Schools and Colleges.

apr 24—12m

$5 TO $20 per day! Agents wanted! All either sex, young or old, making more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than in anything else. Particulars free. Address G Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

Sept 18-12m

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
NO. 141 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK.

Assets--- -$1,500,000.00!!

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK, President.
D. P. FACKLER, Actuary.

Wm. M. COLE, Secretary.
DANIEL AYRES, M.D., L.L.D., Med. Director.

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES!

In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium.

THE BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation FOR JUDICIOUS INVESTMENT, ECONOMY OF MANAGEMENT, AND FAIRNESS IN THE SELECTION OF RISKS—upon which elements of administration the security of a Life Insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to cal

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 27. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JULY 8, 1874. WHOLE NO. 1,015.

Original Poetry.

For the Advocate.

My Father.

It seems to me I can again see
The cabin door and vine drawn in the green earth on,
Where I sat close to your breast,
And there heard a south's bright spring song,
With its budding flowers and warbling notes,
Its balmy winds and its bright skies,
But what I think of the blessed words,
You spoke ere you went to rest.

The valley was full of light, you said,
And under your weary aching head,
Was a stronger hand than mine;
And you called to me to dry my tears,
For after a few short changing years,
I should join the glad angel band;
And meet with you in that cloud as land,
Where the palm of paper shine.

And now, when my soul is the depths is bowed,
Bow fears and sorrows around me crowd,
I think of my home on high,
When walking over the streets of gold,
So sweet within the fold,
I will be with you on the shining shore,
Never to sorrow and suffer more,
Never to sigh and die.

O, then if I can not and weep to-day,
When all my comforts all pass away,
Like the light of a summer even,
Like the dear dark cloud and friends be few,
I can see the mansions of the blest above,
I can see all evils and pains,
A rest for the people of God to come,
Secure of entire bliss and love.

These stanzas I will sweetly render and dear,
After Lizzie's doom day is gone,
Most gladly part no more.
No more we shed in that lovely land,
No mourners over the dying stand,
No midnight watches, no dreary fears,
And prayer is lost in a psalm of praise
While lasts while the heavens endures.

MATTHEW G. EDWARDS.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

To the members of the North Carolina Conference—Patrons and friends of Trinity College throughout the State.

DEAR BRETHREN: We invite your attention to the following action of the Committee on Education at the last Annual Conference.

"The Committee being deeply impressed with the vital necessity of furnishing such ample facilities as will give our sons—in this age of seductive infidelity—the highest order of a finished and thorough Christian education, take pleasure in recommending the passage of the following resolutions:

Resolved 1st. That we do all earnestly desire to unite all practicable influence in North Carolina to enlarge, endow and build up Trinity College, so that it may take its place among the very first denominational institutions of learning in America.

Resolved 2nd. That we do most sincerely recommend Trinity College to the patronage of our people, and earnestly commend all parties concerned, and the public of North Carolina generally, to confide in the Board of Trustees and co-operate with them in all necessary measures to achieve this most desirable result."

In pursuance of the trusts committed to them as set forth in the above resolutions, the Board of Trustees at their late annual meeting, in connection with the commencement exercises of Trinity College, appointed a special committee on the buildings at Trinity—subsequently the entire Board were requested to inspect the new building, its plan, arrangements, progress, the amount of material on hand, &c. They found a very large, commodious and specially arranged brick building, joined to and forming a wing to the main original edifice—the walls of which are two thirds finished - the partition walls and much of the interior work also completed—and all the lumber necessary to complete the whole on hand. The Committee as well as the Board were much gratified to find so far advanced the erection of the new building, as well as the eminent fitness of its arrangements to the purposes of the institution, and this too, with so small an expenditure, much of which they feel is due to the personal oversight and labor of the President of the College.

Gratifying and satisfactory however, as were these developments, the Committee and Board regretted to find all work on the new building now suspended. The President of the College in concert with the Trustees and executive committee, have hitherto avoided—studiously—involving the institution in debt, and in pursuance of this policy, having carried forward the building as far and as rapidly as their means justified—they now find themselves compelled to suspend the work—at least until further means and aid can be procured. They do this the more reluctantly because of the trusts reposed in them, and because of the fact that the present and prospective patronage of the institution renders the completion of this new building indispensable—the Board feels that the College has already suffered great inconvenience and loss on account of too limited accommodations.

The Board of Trustees, feeling as they do, the importance of the confidence and trusts reposed in them by the Conference and friends of the College, and earnestly desirous to become co-workers with them in mutual efforts to promote harmony and success, are keenly alive, as they trust, to the importance of completing this new building—and it was in obedience to these convictions as well as of the fact that the work is now suspended, that they appointed the undersigned a committee to prepare and publish an appeal to the public in behalf of the College, urging such liberal and prompt response as shall insure the early completion of the new building, a consummation urgently demanded, not only to prevent damage to what has already been done, but also to more thoroughly prepare the institution for a career of success and prosperity, they have reason to believe awaits its future.

In furtherance of the duties assigned us, we beg leave to state that the Board of Trustees of Trinity College at their last annual meeting, elected a tutor in the department of Natural Sciences—an instructor in the department of Law, and elected to fill the chair of English Literature as soon as a suitable man can be found. This action of the Board had in view not only the meeting of the wants of the Institution, but also the relief of the present Faculty, who have hitherto been greatly over-taxed by extra labors and duties.

This action of the Board, however, demands and must necessarily involve additional expense, which taken in connection with its unfinished buildings, appeals, in urgent words, for prompt and liberal assistance from the friends and patrons of the College everywhere.

The undersigned committee are aware that there is an agent for the College, the Rev. B. B. Culbreth, in the field, whose industry and zeal in the interests of the Institution are not only endorsed, but warmly commended by the Board Trustees for him and his work—we bespeak the liberal favor of the public, while to that very large proportion of the public upon whom he cannot wait, and among whom we feel assured there are many warm friends and patrons of Trinity College we appeal with all the earnestness of the great interests we represent, for help both in means and patronage. Come Brethren, Friends, let us make Trinity College what the Board Trustees and its Alumni desire it shall be, not only one of the first class colleges in the State, but in the United States.

Contributions or donations may be sent to Prof. O. W. Carr, Secretary and Treasurer of the College, at Trinity College, Randolph co., N. C.

L. S. BURKHEAD.
W. H. BOBBITT.
A. A. SCROGGS.

For the Advocate.

A Letter From Shelby.

MR. EDITOR: All quiet around Bald Mountain. Crops in this section are very fine. The fields are burdened with the golden shocks of reaped grain. The corn is rushing on to full ear. The cotton in breadth and stand promising, fruit and vegetables abound. The salubrious air, sparkling cool water and rosy health bless our people.

OUR SCHOOL INTEREST

is improving in this immediate locality. Rev. S. R. Trawick, who achieved in your city such a fine reputation as a successful teacher, will open a School in Shelby in the month of August. The prospects of a large and well patronized school are very promising. We need a good Methodist Seminary here very much. The children of Methodist families in the town and country are numerous. There are about 1800 Methodist communicants in this county. And yet other denominations have had almost the entire control of the educational enterprises of the town and county. But we mean now to have our children educated in Methodist schools. We don't mean to erect a college here, but to establish a first-class seminary preparatory to college, and capable of imparting a thorough academical education to those who choose to finish their course here. The building is ample and arranged for taking boarders. The mineral waters in and around the town the remarkable healthiness of the place, the orderly habits and intelligence of the community, the competence of the teachers insure the success of the school. Shelby is growing daily in the elements of prosperity. Many new houses are going up. We expect to build a handsome new Methodist church soon. Many are gathering at the Cleaveland Springs two miles East of the town. It is a beautiful summer resort, having medicinal waters, said to be equal to any in the United States. If a moral and intelligent population, salubrity and pleasantness of climate and a productive cotton soil, make a section of country desirable, we have it.

ROCK SPRING SEMINARY

closed its session a few weeks ago This is in Lincoln county located within a mile of the famous Rock Spring Camp Ground. It is in the charge of Bro. Thompson and lady. About 70 students enrolled. Bro. Thompson is a capital instructor. He is energetic, polished, scholarly, thorough and painstaking in teaching—knows how to inspire his pupils with desires for noble manhood and ripe scholarship. It is a most excellent school and is making a profound impression for good on that community. O, for such schools all over this land; then how our western wilderness would rejoice and blossom as a rose! A new parsonage is being built at the place and will soon be occupied by Bro. Puett. With the educational facilities of the seminary and the comfort of a neat new parsonage, Rock Spring circuit will be one of the most desirable in the West. Our preachers are all working hard. The season of protracted and campmeetings is drawing nigh. This is the main season of revivals in this country. Dr. Burkhead since his return from the General Conference, has been working hard and successfully. He is one of the Presiding Elders who knows how to stay away from home a long time, and hold a protracted at nearly every Quarterly meeting. A man, who travels over as many long, rough but roads as he, preaches so often to vast crowds and labors so faithfully to make his Quarterly meetings productive of all possible good, ought to have the bones of steel, the lungs of brass and the patience of forty Jobs. However, he looks remarkably well, is quite cheerful, and as his buggy rocks over gullies and jolts over rocks, sweeps down the declivity of a young mountain and crawls up the steep ascent of another, he sings (in minor tone) the good old Methodist song—"Any thing for the good of the work."

H. T. BRISON.

"OUTLIVING MY USEFULNESS."

The Christian Life Always a Useful Life.

BY EZRA M. HUNT.

"Outliving my usefulness." Don't say that. You might as well talk of outliving yourself. The Christian, in his modesty, may put a low estimate on his usefulness, but must never consent to the idea of outliving it. I knew a minister who, from thirty to seventy, had asthma so badly that he could preach but little, and thought himself useless, but the motion with which he used to say, "I thank God, nevertheless, that He counted me worthy of putting me into the ministry," was, of itself, a utility. I remember a blessed revival in which his fervent piety did more than other men's talks.

A white-haired Methodist minister moved in our midst, past eighty, as he thought, worn out. But his fatherly hand on the heads of children, and his kind words as he walked cheerfully homeward to heaven, were a great blessing to many. Dr. McDowell started the Spring Garden Church enterprize, and many shook their heads as at one too far past his prime; but he brought forth fruit in old age. We see too many ministers and laymen who seem to feel they are nearing the time when they must retire from work for the Master. Men of business are rarely satisfied with long retirement on a competency.—The Christian had better not try it this side of the rest that remaineth.

You may well change methods and adapt yourself to change of age and circumstances, but the usefulness is not to be thought of as past. I verily know some men who just seem to have enlarged their usefulness as they thought they had finished it. We believe in active grandfathers and the blessed halo of aged matrons.—Sprightly piety amid grey hairs, and the precious words of ripe experience, how they seem to us like fruit fresh from the bough, and luscious. You know not how useful you are yet to be or ought to be. God is sparing you for influence and impression, if not for what you call active service—There may be less of physical stir, but more of spiritual exercise. Be sure to have your usefulness outlive you, but don't ever think of outliving your usefulness.

Faith and love have come to abide with you, and are inside vital forces; and the Holy Spirit, the life principle, abides also. You might as well talk of outliving your heart and lungs as outliving your usefulness.

Honesty And Piety.

On a certain occasion a father, speaking of his two sons, said, "John is the more honest man, but James is the better Christian." How could this be? Can true piety exist without honesty? We apprehend there are some persons who think it can, but if so they are mistaken. The consistent Christian is a man of his word, a man of integrity, an upright man, in all his business transactions. There may be honesty where there is no piety, but where there is piety there will be found honesty. Says Longfellow: "Morality without religion is only a kind of dead reckoning, an endeavor to find our place on a cloudy sea by measuring the distance we have to run, but without any observation of the heavenly bodies."

Selections.

The Maid And The Angel.

"White bird, and white bird!" sighed a pensive maid,
Sitting by the sunset in the lattice shade;
Round the trellised vines made a glow and grace,
But the richest thing there was the maiden's face.

Past there went an angel; "Grieved thou?" he said.
"Yes, I weep, the white bird down the thicket fled,
Could I but have caught him I had then been blest;
I my white, my white bird, let me find thy nest."

From her side the Adversary seemed to turn the land,
Came again, the white bird perched upon his hand,
Loosed the happy maiden, clapped her hands in glee!
"Come pretty white bird, come and fly with me!"

"White bird, sweet white bird, so she sighed once more
Sitting in the sunset as at before.
Over once came the Angel, "Why that pensive cheek?"
"O, I need the white bird to build my nest for peace."

"White bird, my white bird!" the angel, while his nest
White bird and wild bell—then I shall be blest."
So he brought the wild bell from the dreadful peak!
Gave peace came to her eyes and cheek.

"Pink cloud, soft pink cloud!" on the morrow eve
Went the little heart again to grieve,
Yet still you grieved
"What will make you bless?"
"Heaven is very close, cloud nothing in the West."

The cloud brought the pink cloud; but when morning came
From the town bell died out a little leaden flame,
Less a little speckle wreath on the air it lay,
Whitened was the white bird, the bird had flown away.

"Bright star, and bright star!" wept the maiden sore,
Then again the Angel stood by the door,
"Bring me yonder bright star something from above, Earth I see has nothing that will do for love."

Down he brought the bright star. O and how it shone
But before the day rose all its light was gone.
Ay, before the day rose in the open day,
All the silver bright star was changed to clay.

When the Angel passed again she was sitting pale;
Earth gave up, but failed her, and her heart went fail!
Said the Angel, "One thing one thing alone is real!
Who is love with one thing, he is loved is blest."

"God's love, and God's love!" sighed the maid again
Waited for the Angel, waited not by vain.
Lo, the gift of God's love bare help in her breast;
"God's love, and God's love!"—here at last is rest.'

—Wade Robinson in Good Words.

Solomon's Temple

Some interesting facts are given in an article in the Edinburgh Review respecting Solomon's temple. In size, the great pyramid of Egypt is the only structure on the earth which could be compared with it.

"The Great Pyramid demanded, indeed, a large amount of naked human labor; but in Moriah there is a compulsion of the features of Nature herself to the service of the builder. In actual bulk, the Great Pyramid is to the Temple rock as five to nine, if we descend; but as far as the sills of the five double gates of the mountain of the house. If we carry the comparison down to the level at which the lowest foundation of the walls is inlaid in the rock at the angles of the enclosure, the bulk is three times that of the Great Pyramid. The cubic contents of the mason's work may not amount to a tenth part of that piled up by Souphis. But the hill has been honeycombed with chambers and galleries; and the declining part to the south covered with vaults and arches, to which Gizeh can show no parallel. The length of the eastern wall of the sanctuary is rather more than double that of one side of the Great Pyramid. Its height from the foundation on the rock at the south and near the northern angles was nearly a third of that of the Egyptian structure If to this great height of 152 feet of solid wall be added the descent of 114 feet to the bed of Kedron, and the further elevation of 160 feet attained by the pinnacle of the temple porch, we have a total height of 426 feet, which is only 59 feet less than that of the Great Pyramid The area of the face of the eastern wall is more than double that of one side of the pyramid. Thus the magnitude of the noble sanctuary of Jerusalem far exceeded that of any other temple in the world. Two amphitheatres of the size of the Coliseum would have stood within its colossal girdle and left room to spare."

It is estimated that the temple, when all its parts were filled, would hold two hundred and ten thousand persons. A careful examination of the probable site of the brazen altar has led to the discovery of an apparatus for furnishing a current of air to the fires, on which the best devices of modern science can suggest no improvement. In connection with this fact, "it is remarked by the rabbinical writers as a matter partaking of the nature of miracle that, during the whole continuance of the first temple, not only were the three fires that burned day and night on the hearth of the Great Altar mextinguished, but that whatever was the current of the wind, the smoke always rose straight toward heaven."

The sanctuary is neither square nor rectangular, but trapezoidal in shape. The inquiry is suggested as to what circumstance determined its form. The question is answered by the survey. The north and south lines correspond with the meridian. The east and west lines do not run exactly east and west, but with a variation of 10 9 north of east. The line points to the place where the sun rose on the morning of the day the temple was founded.

LAUNT THOMPSON is modeling in clay a portrait medallion of the late John F. Kensett. It is to be cast in bronze, and is intended to form part of a monument for Mr. Kensett's tomb. Mr. Thompson will also make a statue of late Dr. Nott, of Union College, to be presented to that institution.

Every Man His Own Lawyer.

Books setting forth forms for deeds, mortgages, notes and contracts are no doubt valuable. It should be a part of every young man's education to know something of these. We cannot for the small business transactions of life be hunting up the "Attorney at law" or the village Squire. But economy in the transfer of property or in the making of wills is sometimes a permanent disaster. There are so many quirks in the law, so many hiding places for scamps, so many modes of twisting phraseology, so many decisions, precedents, and rulings, so many JOHN DOES who have brought suits against RICHARD ROES that you had better in all important business matters seek out an honest lawyer. "There are none such!" cries out the reader. Why, where have you lived? There are as many honest men in the legal professions. Many a farmer, going down to attend Court at the county-seat, takes a load of produce to the market, carefully putting the specked apples at the bottom of the barrel, and hiding among the fresh ones the egg which some discouraged hen after five weeks of "setting" had abandoned; and having secured the sale of his produce and lost his suit in the "Court of Common Pleas" has come home denouncing the scoundrelism of attorneys.

You shall find plenty of honest lawyers if you really need them: and in matters involving large interests, you had better employ them.

Especially avoid the mistake of making your own "Last will and Testament" unless you have great legal skilfulness. Better have no will at all than one inefficiently constructed. The "Orphan's Court" could tell many a tragedy of property distributed adverse to the intention of the Testator. You save twenty to a hundred dollars from your counsel writing your own will, and your heirs pay ten thousand dollars to lawyers in dispute over it. Perhaps those whom you have wished especially to favor will get the least of your estate, and a relative against whom you always had especial dislike will get the most, and your charities will be appointed differently from what you anticipated — a hundred dollars to the Bible Society, and three thousand to the "Hook and Ladder Company," and the gratuitous circulation of Wilke's Spirit of the Times.—Christian at Work.

History of Early American Colleges

Prof. Moses Coit Tyler delivered an address recently before the New York Historical Society on "The Early Colleges and the College Builders of America." He said that before the Revolution there were nine established colleges in this country, all of which are still in existence. Harvard stands first, it having been built in 1636. The second college was built in Virginia in 1692, and called William and Mary. Yale college was built in New Jersey in 1746, and is now known as Princeton College. In 1754, Kings College in New York City was erected. On the top of the building was placed a huge iron crown, which was torn down after the Revolution, when the building was rechristened Columbia College. In 1756, the University of Pennsylvania was erected in Philadelphia. Next came Rhode Island College, built in 1764, and which forty years later was renamed Brown University. Later the Rev'd Eleazer Wheelock opened a school for Indian children in Lebanon, Conn., which in after years led to the erection of Dartmouth College in New Hampshire. The ninth college was founded in 1770 in New Jersey, and was called Queens College, but this name was changed in after years to Rutgers College. The lecturer then described the action of the Pilgrims in 1636, only eight years after their landing on the continent, in beginning work on Harvard College. He said that almost as soon as they were safely landed they began to think of the future and make appropriations for the work. Their motives were to provide for themselves a succession of learned ministers and rulers from among themselves

A new drug from Brazil has appeared in France, under the name of Jaberandi. It consists of the leaves and small branches of a shrub growing in the interior of some of the northern provinces of Brazil, and from specimens which have come into the hands of Prof. Baillon, it seems that the plant is the Pilocarpus pinnatus Linn., belonging to the Rutaceæ. It is stated that this drug has been used with great success in France, and that it is looked upon "as an incomparable diaphoretic and sialogogue." Dr. Gubler expresses the belief that it "will be the first indisputable example of a diaphoretic truly worthy of the name: that is to say, a medicine having the power of provoking directly by an electric action the secretion of perspiration."

Japan se Houses.

Each house is built of wood, with out an atom of paint. It is a pleasure to see the roofs, so light and yet so strong, supported by walls which are made, like the sidescreens in a theatre of thin strips of wood, over which are pasted sheets of a cottony, transparent paper. In the evenings, when the lanterns dispense their soft light round the inside of these white buildings, the spectator seems to be looking at a magic-lantern. During the daytime the sides of the house are slipped out, as side scenes are, and the house becomes only a roof resting on the four light corner posts, the whole interior being thus opened to the air. Every part of the house is exposed to view, and everything done in it can be seen, while behind it appear the charming verdure, the cascades, and the diminutive plantations of the little gardens situated in the rear.

The great luxury of the Japanese consists in their mats made of plaited straw. They are perfectly rectangular in shape, about three inches thick, and soft to the touch. They are never stepped on with shoes, since the Japanese go about their houses always barefooted. Of furniture they have next to nothing; a small furnace in one corner, a closet made of side-scenes like the sides of the house, and intended to contain the mattresses, a small set of shelves, on which are arranged the lacquered plates for rice and fish—this is all the furnishing for these houses, in which they live, as it were, in the open air. In the middle of each house are two articles of general use among all classes—the "chitai" and the "tobacco-bon," that is, a brazier and a box for tobacco. Being great tea-drinkers, great smokers, and great talkers, the Japanese pass their days around the brazier; there they can be seen, in groups of seven or eight, seated on their heels around the tea-table. —Lippincott's Magazine.

Milton's Daily Life.

Milton lived in a small house in London, or in the country in Buckinghamshire. Of all consolation, work is the most fortifying and the most healthy, because it solaces a man, not by bringing him ease, but by inspiring effort. Every morning he had a chapter of the Bible read to him in Hebrew, and remained for some time in silence grave, in order to meditate on what he had heard. He never went to a place of worship. Independent in religion as in all else, he was sufficient to himself. He studied till mid-day; then, after an hour's exercise, he played the organ or bass violin. Then he resumed his studies till six, and in the evening enjoyed the society of his friends. When any one came to visit him, he was usually found in a room hung with old green hangings, seated in an arm-chair, and dressed quietly in black. He had been very beautiful in his youth, and his English cheeks, once delicate as a young girl's, retained their color almost to the end.

Few men have done such honor to their kind. Amidst so many trials (a scrivener caused him to lose $10,000; at the Restoration he was refused payment of $10,000 due from the excise office; his house was burned in the great fire; when he died he only left $7,500, including the produce of his library) a pure and lofty joy, altogether worthy of him, had been granted to him: the poet, buried under the Puritan, had re appeared, more sublime than ever to give to Christianity a second Homer.—Taine.

SCIENCE.

The Dresden papers report that seventeen experiments have been made during the present year, with invariable success, in the hospitals of that city to infuse lamb's blood into the human subject. In the first case tried, the patient had long suffered from pulmonary disease, and the immediate effect of the operation was to raise the pulse and impart a sense of greater strength.

A new process has been patented for obtaining dyes from sawdust.—The sawdust is heated with caustic soda, and flowers of sulphur. A sulphide of sodium is thus produced, which, reacting on the organic matter, dehydrogenates it with the evolution of sulphuretted hydrogen. The resulting material is a dye stuff, said to have a strong affinity for organic fibres; and, by varying the proportion of the materials, different tints are produced.

A writer in the Medical Record cites a number of cases in which borax has proved a most effective remedy in certain forms of colds. He states that in sudden hoarseness or loss of voice in public speakers or singers, from colds, relief for an hour or so, as by magic, may often be obtained, by slowly dissolving and partially swallowing a lump of borax, the size of a garden pea, or about three or four grains, held in the mouth for ten minutes before speaking or singing. This produces a profuse secretion of saliva or "watering" of the mouth and throat, probably restoring the voice or tone to the dried vocal cords just as wetting brings back the missing notes to a flute when it is too dry.

A valuable paper, by Dr. Edward Jarvis, on the "Political Economy of Life," in the Fifth Annual Report of the Massachusetts Board of Health, gives, with other useful information, many interesting facts bearing upon the duration of life under various conditions. Among these are the following: In ancient Rome, in the period 200 to 500 years after the Christian era, the average duration of life in the most favored class was 30 years. In the present century the average longevity of persons of the same class is 50 years. In the sixteenth century the average longevity in Geneva was 21.21 years; between 1814 and 1833 it was 40.68, and as large a proportion now live to 70 as lived to 43 three hundred years ago In 1693 the British Government borrowed money by selling annuities on lives from infancy upward, on the basis of the average longevity. The treasury received the price and paid the annuities regularly as long as the annuitants lived. The contract was mutually satisfactory and profitable. Ninety seven years later, Mr. Pitt issued another tontine or scale of annuities, on the basis of the same expectation of life as in the previous century. These latter annuitants, however, lived so much longer than their predecessors, that it proved to be a very costly loan for the Government. It was found that while 10,000 of each sex in the first tontine died under the age of 28, only 5,772 males and 6,416 females in the second tontine died at the same age one hundred years later. The average life of the annuitants of 1693 was 26.5 years, while those of 1890 lived 33 years and 9 months after they were 30 years old.

Professor John Wise read a paper recently, before the meteorological section of the Franklin Institute, in relation to the storm which passed over the city of Philadelphia, on the afternoon of the 25th of May. We extract a portion, as reported for the Evening Bulletin, in which he strongly maintains the inutility of lightning rods: "The most marked and destructive thunderbolt discharge brought to my notice, was that which struck the building of Mr. Reeh, on the southeast corner of Girard avenue and Eighth street. This building is provided with an extensive arrangement of lightning-rods. It is gravel roofed, and round the whole circumference of this roof there runs an iron and conductor. From this horizontal iron bar there are perpendicular high ninging-rods at sixteen different equi distant places. It has, in fact, sixteen lightning rods pointing to the clouds. Upon the roof and centering the avenue front, and about twenty feet from the front edge of the building, there stood a flag-staff. A branch of the circumferential conductor ran across to this staff and up it about twelve feet, where it ended and was fastened to an iron band around the pole. The thunderbolt, in disregard of the sixteen lightning rods, struck the flagstaff, and completely shivered it down to within four feet of the iron band, and where the branch conductor ended. Why did this bolt prefer the wooden pole to the lightning rods? Simply because it was in the path of the descending bolt. Now, if as is claimed by eminent electricians, the rod does its silent work of discharging the cloud when it is yet afar off, why did it not quietly disarm this nimbus artillery in this case? Certainly the garrison was well fortified with these barbed protectors, expressly stationed there to prevent an explosion of electricity, by drawing the surcharge from the cloud, if not when yet afar off, at all events when the pending cloud passed over the protected building. The lightning rod man claimed that the branch conductor carried off harmlessly the remainder of the bolt. No doubt it did, since that residue was of little momentum and energy being only what was left of the bolt after having made splinters and kindling wood of a thirty-feet flagstaff. While this is the third flagstaff shattered by lightning in this city that I have examined within a few years, and where the mechanical effects of the bolt were little beyond that of rending the pole, it is the only one on a building where it was surrounded by a cordon of lightning rods, or in proximity to a rod; it is one of the most conclusive evidences of the inultility of lightning-rods that could possibly be presented. If the rod would do what it is intended for, to wit, draw the surcharge of electricity from the storm-cloud silently, disarm it of its force by drawing in a silent stream to its point, as the charge from the prime conductor of an electrical machine is drawn by any kind of a pointed material, glass as well as metal, there should not be a bolt ever to descend upon a building in Philadelphia, with its thousands of lightning rods peering toward the cloud region. The only protection from thunderbolt that has yet been proved to be efficacious, is the metal roof. The greatest damage done to a building thus protected, is the perforation of the metal at the point where the bolt strikes, and this is, in the heaviest discharges, not over from a half to an inch in diameter. Such has been the result of my observations through more than a quarter of a century. In all these observations I found the mechanical effects of the thunderbolt about the same in buildings that were struck, and with rods upon them, as those without rods, with this difference, that nearly all the cases of ignition were upon those buildings with rods. Such are the facts of the case, all the theories to the contrary notwithstanding. Metal has no more attraction for lightning than sponge has for water. In either case it may be viewed as an absorbent. Neither has a metal point an attractive power to draw electricity on it. Points act as recipients of conduction, or as entering wedges to the bolt, as a point would act in perforating a soap bubble of hydro-oxygen gas, or any other film of attenuated matter. The attraction of positive for negative, as laid down in electrical science, proves nothing more that that there is present an unbalanced condition of electrical matter, and then necessarily a disposition to electrical equilibrium, which always follows, just as two drops of water will coalesce when their atmospheres come in contact."

THE ARTS.

A bronze statue of General Israel Putnam, by Mr. J. C. A. Ward, was unveiled in Hartford, on Wednesday, June 17th. It was presented by the late Joseph P. Allyn, and is an excellent specimen of Mr. Ward's work. It represents General Putnam standing in a graceful attitude, in the uniform of a major-general of the period of the revolutionary war. The statue is placed upon a pedestal of granite, and is a beautiful ornament of the city and a valuable addition to a class of art works which is much too small in this country.

The Musee de Cluny has just made the acquisition of a monument of great historic interest,—an equestrian statue of Joan of Arc, in armor, and holding in her hands the French standard. This statue, which is a work of the beginning of the fifteenth century, is of wood, painted in colors and heightened with gilding. It is above four feet high. She is on horseback, her head covered with a helmet, of which the visor is raised so as completely to uncover the face. Her armor is precisely similar to that of the bronze statuette of which the mould is preserved in the Musee de Cluny. The harness of the horse, the bit and bridle, present the same characteristics. This statue has been preserved in the family of a drawing master at Montereau, who, at the request of M. du Sommerard, has given it up to the Museum. The base which supports the horse shows marks of fastenings, which leads to the supposition that it was carried in solemn procession.

The Journal de Rouen mentions a discovery in an hospital at Chartres of great interest to the art public. The authorities of the hospital, wishing to adorn the hospital chapel, requested the curator of the Chartres Museum to select from among the old canvases relegated to the hospital lumber-room, those which, after some repairs, might be used for the purpose. The curator accordingly applied himself to the task, and found four of from 9 to 13 feet in height, strong enough to be hung up, and representing saints. He proceeded to clean them, and, while carefully washing them, noticed that new paintings had been laid over the more primitive ones. He removed the false beards and additional draperies, and finished by exposing to light four magnificent canvases of Veronese, which are said to be genuine chefs d'oeuvre. The authorities of the hospital, not being able to make a present of these paintings, have lent them to the town of Chartres, and they are now placed in a favorable position in the museum, where they attract daily crowds.

POSITIVE GRACE.—A man might have a garden without a single bit of purslane in it, not a single Canada thistle, not a pig-weed, nor any weed, and yet have nothing in it worth caring for. There may be nothing bad in it, but there is nothing good either. It was all right to clear out the weeds, but you should fill up then with worthy plants. The positive graces of character all grow from the love center. To all these elements of our being, love is what the sunshine is to the flowers; it makes them blossom.—Beecher.

The Christian Advocate

OFFICE—Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

FOR ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE,	$2 0
SIX MONTHS,	1 25
If payment be delayed six months,	2 50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the EDITOR of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C. JULY 8, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

Dr. Redford's Rejoinder.

Just as we go to press we receive a copy of the Nashville Advocate containing Dr. Redford's rejoinder to our article of June 24th. The Doctor has moderated considerably in his tone, since his first article, but he has totally failed to make good the statement that our publications are supplied at Nashville upon as good terms as they can be had of Northern houses. The only point he does establish beyond doubt is, "that Nashville is no farther from Raleigh than Raleigh is from Nashville," but that has nothing to do with the controversy in question. We have letters from our city booksellers substantiating every word we have said touching the difference, in price, of our publications in Nashville and Philadelphia. Our reply, which cannot appear to day, will contain facts not yet given to the public, but we shall endeavor to say nothing which can in any way reflect personally upon Dr. Redford or damage the publishing house. In the mean time, our readers will bear in mind that the mere statement of the fact that our publications can be purchased cheaper from Northern houses than from Nashville, cannot withdraw any patronage from our publishing house.—The more of our books the people buy of Northern houses, the more books these houses buy of Dr. Redford, since these publications cannot be had from any other source.

District Conferences.

The season for holding these meetings is upon us. Only two, thus far, have been held: an account of one of these appears in this issue of the Advocate. The Salisbury District Conference is next in order. It will commence at Statesville on the 9th inst.—then comes the meeting on the Fayetteville District on the 16th. The Raleigh and the Shelby Districts hold their meetings on the 23rd inst. The Raleigh District meets at Franklinton and the Shelby at Lincolnton. They both convene the same day. Leasburg is the place for holding the Conference of the Hillsboro District, to commence on the 27th of August.—The Greensboro District to be held at Lexington does not meet until the 4th of September. The announcement for the time and place of holding the Charlotte District is yet to be made. We trust these meetings will be largely attended and result in great good to the church. We should be glad to attend them all—mingle with the brethren, and participate in the delightful exercises, but necessity will compel us to forego that pleasure. The last Richmond Advocate in an article upon this subject says:

"Some direct, practical plan ought to be matured for bringing to the attention of our people the publications of the Church. Our people will perish for lack of knowledge if we cannot devise some means by which the literature of the Church can be placed within their reach. Nashville and Richmond are well enough, but they are too far off from the mass of our Church-members. Are there not mind and means enough, with heart enough to use them, to devise some practical plan for a system of colportage that will reach all classes and conditions of our people. If the papers, books, and periodicals of the Church, were in every family, as they might be, we should have great hope of a speedy consummation of our grand educational plans and purposes.

The District Conference holds one of the great working oars of the Church. It is nearer the Church than any other body, except the Quarterly Conference. Let these bodies this summer devise grand things. Don't cry poverty and inability. Let the people have a chance to speak. We hope all our Conferences will be filled with the best men of the Districts, and that they will stay till the work is done, that they may carry back with them to their people a new inspiration of work, sacrifice, and self-denial, so that the cause of Christ may move forward with new life."

We trust our friends will renew their subscription without undue delay. In sending out bills it is possible errors may have occurred in a few instances as to dates. Any person finding a mistake in his account will do a favor by informing us so that we may make the proper correction. We apprehend however that they are generally correct.

The St. Louis Advocate says: Bishop Marvin, after his return from an episcopal tour in Western Virginia, spent a few days in the city, and left last week to perform some ministerial work in Alabama.

Get Rid of Your Doubts.

The Southern Churchman says that when Bishop Wilberforce was Bishop of Oxford, he preached and printed sermons entitled, "The Revelation of God, the Probation of Man." In one of these sermons he exhorted his hearers to fling doubt from them at its first entrance, like a loaded shell." As it is evident to any thoughtful person that doubt cannot be got rid of in this manner, that by so doing it will only return to plague the possessor—that it is opposed to the teaching which bids us "prove all things," it is no wonder his sermons were severely criticised. Doubt may be sinful or innocent—depending much on the reasons for doubt. To doubt the Christian religion because we want to live in sin with an easy conscience is the worst of crimes.—To doubt its truth, because it seems too good to be true, may indicate the holiest of tempers. Hence no one should cast his doubts away as a loaded shell. He ought rather to examine them, look at them wisely and well, and like ghosts, they will disappear with the light of day. In the world of beliefs, as in the world of facts, "No man liveth to himself." In both worlds, we are dependent upon our neighbors. If no one had ever believed the Christian religion, no one now could believe it. But as it has been believed by so many millions for so many centuries, this is one argument for its truth. And so with any particular doctrine of religion. If a man discovers some doctrine never before believed, it is likely to be false. We depend, in some degree, even in our beliefs of mathematical problems, upon the beliefs of Mathematicians. We would be mad to attempt to work out a new Euclid, without the aid and beliefs of others, and yet there are men who essay to do this in religion. What all christendom has believed goes with them for nothing, it is no wonder if little by little they make shipwreck of faith.

Our lay brother addresses another communication to us in which he expresses delight that we are to be favored with a volume of the life, sermons and speeches, of the lamented Rev. N. F. Reid, D. D., but says if the motive which prompts its publication is the education of his daughters, that it is a shame upon the church, whose pleasant duty should be to provide for the family of one whose life was given to the church. He says truly, that if Dr. Reid, with his brilliant talents, had devoted his life-time and attention to the pursuit of some other profession, he would have left a competent support to his family who survive him.

He gives as his opinion that a Presiding Elder of our Conference has received less than one fifth of the assessment, on account of his salary, and yet this Presiding Elder is faithfully laboring and is punctual in his attendance upon all the duties of his office. Our brother propounds the question how does the church expect that Presiding Elder to support his family and pay traveling expenses? Must he embarrass himself with debt and impair his influence for good by debts which he is unable to meet upon maturity, because the church does not fulfill her obligations to him? He urges every one to calculate how much they have paid their preacher and for church enterprises, to ascertain if they have done what they could the present conference year and if they have given as the Lord has prospered them. He says truly this question has not only to be acted upon in this life, but may have to be settled at the bar of God, and that as we esteem our christian privileges and would regret to be deprived of them, we should in like manner contribute to their support."

The University of Missouri at its recent commencement, conferred the degree of LL. D. upon Rev. B. Craven, D. D., president of Trinity College. The St. Louis Advocate in announcing the fact says:

"The University of Missouri, at its late commencement, conferred on "our excellent friend" the honorary degree of LL.D., and thereby manifested an appreciation of true merit and real worth. Dr. Craven is, and has long been, President of Trinity College, N. C."

EXPEDIENCY.—Dr. Sears, says the Herald, in his late speech before the American Baptist Home Mission Society, on the subject of education in the South, gave a definition of expediency which is worth remembering. "It is what is prompted by benevolence, approved by wisdom, and not opposed by justice."

Local Ministers Conference for 1874 meets at High Point, on Thursday, the 16th of July, at 10 o'clock, A. M. R. L. Abernethy will preach the opening sermon on Thursday night.

There will be preaching at 11 o'clock and at night on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Sacramental services at 3 o'clock on Sunday evening.

Friday, the 10th of July, is set apart as a day of fasting and prayer for the prosperity of the Conference.

The Rail Roads will give return tickets for one fare.

L. BRANSON, Sec.

THE Methodist Advocate, Atlanta, Ga., had a leading editorial last week on the subject of "Slavery," and with the aid of an Encyclopædia, a Bible Dictionary, and several Commentaries, managed to get through a column with great self satisfaction.—St. Louis Advocate.

The Tilton-Beecher Scandal.

This is the topic of discussion, generally, in both the secular and religious press. The Baltimore Methodist gives the following account of this great scandal, which we reproduce in our columns, so as to give our readers a true status of the case as it now stands:

Mr. Theo. Tilton is out with a long letter to Rev. Dr. Leonard Bacon, moderator of the Congregation Council recently held in Brooklyn, in reply to what he states to be unintentional misrepresentations made by Dr. Bacon in an address at New Haven. Mr. Tilton says that he chose prolonged absence from the services of Plymouth church as the means of severing his connection, which was determined on by him in consequence of the knowledge that the pastor had committed against him "an offense which he forbears to name or characterize." Referring to the statements of Dr. Bacon on the manner of his (Tilton's) retirement from Plymouth Church, he gave an extract from a letter of Shearman, clerk of the church, in which that gentleman states that Tilton had informed himself and several others that he had withdrawn and that his name ought to be struck from the roll.—The next point touched on is the assertion of Dr. Bacon that either a malicious heart or crazy brain, which is stated by Tilton and endorsed by the affidavit of a newspaper reporter to have been uttered as well as the assertion that Mrs. Tilton had occasioned the whole trouble while in a half crazed condition, in a mediumistic trance, by Shearman, clerk of the church. A full written apology for the calumny thus circulated was demanded from Shearman and promptly presented by that gentleman to Tilton in the presence of Beecher. Among the correspondence included in the letter to Mr. Bacon is the following under date of May 4, 1874:

"Sir: Mr. F. B. Carpenter mentions to me your saying to him that under certain conditions, involving certain disavowals by me, a sum of money would or could be raised to send me, with my family, to Europe, for a term of years.

"The occasion compels me to state explicitly that so long as life and self-respect continue to exist together in my breast, I shall be debarred from receiving either directly or indirectly, any pecuniary or other favor at your hands.

"The reason for this feeling on my part you know so well that I will spare you the statement of it.

Yours truly,
"THEODORE TILTON."

This letter was forwarded through Dr. Bacon to Mr. Beecher, and no attention was paid to it.

It is now between two and three months. Mr. Tilton adds, since I received from you the foregoing letter, and as I have not heard that Mr. Beecher has made a reply, either to you or to me, I am at last forced to the disagreeable necessity of borrowing a reply in his own words, as follows:

"BROOKLYN, January 1, 1871.—I ask Theodore Tilton's forgiveness, and humble myself before him as I do before my God. He would have been a better man in my circumstances than I have been. I can ask nothing except that he will remember all the other breasts that would ache. I will not plead for myself. I even wish that I were dead.

"H. W. BEECHER."

These are the statements as Mr. Tilton gives them, the immediate cause of publication being that Dr. Bacon in his speech had characterised Tilton as a dog and bringing dishonor on the Christian name. To set this right he publishes a letter from Mr. Beecher. The thing has gone so far now that a full exposure of the whole truth seems inevitable. Mr. Tilton owes it to himself to tell what he is talking about and state fact instead of innuendo.

Mr. Beecher is at Peekskill, N. Y., near which his farm is located, and where he habitually passes his summer vacations. He addressed a crowded audience in the Dutch Reformed Church, June 25th, on the subject of "Sunday-schools," speaking in his old-time eloquent and powerful manner.

In answer to a query as to what course he will pursue in view of the recent statement of Mr. Tilton, published in the Golden Age, Mr. Beecher says he will not break the silence he has hitherto observed.

As matters now stand, it seems that Mr. Beecher's lips will remain sealed with regard to the Tilton scandal. He said last Friday night that he would explain nothing unless requested to do so by the examining committee of Plymouth Church. If they desired he would speak out. This committee held a regular business meeting last week, but we are not advised that the subject was brought up at all. The general opinion outside appears to be that Mr Beecher cannot afford to keep silent any longer for his own sake and that of his church.

The public, we are assured, now know the worst of the Beecher-Tilton scandal. Gen. Tracy declares that the Tilton letter discloses nothing for which one gentleman could not apologize to another and have the apology accepted. Mr. Beecher presided over the regular weekly meeting at Plymouth church on Friday evening last, but declined to say anything in his vindication. The only allusion to the scandal was in a prayer offered by Prof. Raymond. He prayed for a blessing "on our beloved pastor, and also "he might be enabled to bear his trials as a Christian soldier."

He who gives a trifle meanly is far meaner than the trifle.

Historical Society of the North Carolina Conference.

BRO. BOBBITT: I was very much interested in Bro. Hudson's communication in reference to the early History of Methodism in North Carolina. A great many important and interesting facts and incidents might be obtained from old persons, which if not obtained speedily will be irrecoverably lost. When Dr. Doub was writing his "Sketches of Methodism in North Carolina," in 1865, I was travelling the Alexander circuit. There was then living in the bounds of that circuit old sister Norton, widow of Nicholas Norton, in the 90th year of her age, and in the full possession of her mental faculties. She joined the Methodist church in her 15th year, and remained in it 75 years. I witnessed her peaceful, triumphant death the following year, and preached her funeral discourse. Her recollections of early Methodism were very distinct. From her I obtained some facts, which I prepared and sent to Dr. Doub. He informed me at the subsequent conference that he had passed over those dates before he received the communication, but said that if he re-wrote his History he would include these facts. Sister Norton's maiden name was McKnight. Her father lived on the Yadkin River, in what is now Forsythe county. His house was the "McKnight's meeting house," alluded to by Bro. Hudson, where the conference was held in 1789. She had a distinct recollection of that Conference, and gave me the names of all the preachers. Her father's house was Bishop Asbury's home. I have not the data from which I compiled the communication sent to Dr. Doub. Perhaps it is among his papers, and might be worth preserving. The names of the preachers who attended that conference, together with several facts and incidents connected with the early history of Methodism in that country, are given. I see, however, from Bro. Hudson's communication that she was mistaken in one thing. Her impression was that that was the first conference held in North Carolina.

M. O. SHERRILL.

From the Brethren.

BRO. BOBBITT: I have the pleasure of saying through your excellent paper, to the lovers of Zion, that the Lord is still blessing us.

We closed a protracted meeting at Bath last Friday night, after a week of revival, during which ten professed conversion and joined the Church. The spirit of revival is general on my work, and I am happy to say the time honored class-meetings and love feasts are well attended.

We are improving in many respects on the Bath Circuit, and I believe the day is not far distant when the preacher who is appointed to Bath will not feel himself the most unfortunate of men.

We have lost two of our best members, and several others have dropped off from various causes, but our gain this year, considering losses by death, proselytism and expulsion is sixty, while our financial condition is improving. May the Lord continue his blessings, not to us only, but to all who love his appearing.

Yours in Christ,
L. L. NASH.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING.

Heroic Efforts of a Young Man.

MR. EDITOR: There is in the events of human life a tidal wave of fortune upon which, even amidst the tempestuous sea of earthly existence, when life would seem extinct, some loved one is caught up and borne back to the dear ones at home. So it was in the case of Miss Mary Thurston of High Point—one of our most estimable young ladies—who, on her return from Trinity Commencement a few days since, with heart gay and happy, little suspected the terrible fate which awaited her at the deep swollen waters of Mordecai's Creek—in whose angry current of unsuspecting depth this fair delicate form was seen going down, until as if forever lost to the affrighted gaze. At this moment, and when all hope had fled, the strong arm of a noble youth reached forth and bore her almost lifeless to the shore. Thanks to the merciful interposition of that Being who rules the destinies of all men, she now rests quietly in the hands of loved parents, whose hearts, doubtless, go up in thankfulness to God for the restoration of their child and the fond hope cherished of her speedy recovery of new health and vigor.

D. L. CLARK.

High Point, N. C., June 19th, 1874.

A Gentle Hint.

It is said of the Rev. Mr. Robinson of Cambridge (Robert Hall's predecessor), that, being asked to take part in the ordination of a young minister, he thought he saw certain tendencies to foppery, and, among others, a strong disposition to exhibit a brilliant ring on the little finger of the candidate's right hand. In the course of his charge he gave him this hint:—"My young friend, as a Christian minister, you must consider yourself as a mere servant, occupied in holding up to visitors some masterpiece of portrait-painting. All that you should desire to do is to exhibit it in the best light, and with as little intrusion of yourself as possible. You will be anxious to be entirely hidden behind the picture-frame. As you hold it up, you will not allow even a little finger to be seen."

Religious Brevities.

—A tornado swept over the Sterling campground on last Tuesday week, wrecking the National Tabernacle and doing considerable damage to cottages and tents.

—The Christian Advocate states that seven or eight hundred men are needed every year to meet the losses sustained by death, and in other ways to the Methodist Church.

—The Northern M. E. Church has in the South 21 Conferences, 1,886 traveling ministers, 340,479 members. The Church property is valued at $7, 212, 671.

—The Methodist Chinese Mission on Washington street, San Francisco, affords an asylum for seventeen Chinese females, varying from 15 to 20 years of age.

—Three Bishops of the M. E. Church—Haven, Simpson and Bowman—are avowed advocates of women suffrage.

—It is proposed to hold the session of the Evangelical Alliance in the city of Rome. Some of the managers of the Alliance are in favor of going to Jerusalem, and it is suggested as a compromise that the meeting shall begin at Rome and adjourn to Jerusalem, with as many members as may be able to take the journey thither. So says the Evening Post.

—According to the American Mail of Rio de Janeiro, the first Presbyterian Church in Brazil was dedicated in that city on the 29th of March.

—The Protestant Episcopal Convention of Maryland has taken a stand against Ritualism, in refusing, by a vote of 119 to 52, to permit the organization of the Church of the Holy Communion, composed of Ritualistic members.

—Considerable excitement was occasioned in Rome, June 25, by an anti-papal demonstration. Several of the leaders of the disorders were arrested, and quiet was restored.

—It is announced that all the lectures that the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher will be able to deliver in New England next season, have already been engaged at from $300 to $1,000 a night.

—A foreign exchange says the Established Church of Scotland (Presbyterian) still opens its General Assembly with what the London Freeman describes as "the ridiculous royal procession," headed by his grace the Lord High Commissioner and six city policemen, and closing with a small detachment of dragoons.

—Rev. A. D. Hepburn, of Pennsylvania, has been elected Professor of Latin and French at Davidson College.

—Baltimore has been fixed on as the place for the meeting of the next National Sunday school Convention, which will meet in the Spring of 1875.

—It is computed that within the last sixty years 25,000 Jews have been converted to Christianity, and Christian missionaries are welcomed to every house in Jerusalem.

PIEDMONT SPRINGS.—This favorite watering place is now ready for the reception of visitors. The new Hotel just completed affords ample accommodations for visitors. No springs in the State have a better reputation, and there is no better summer resort for those in search of health.

Upon Our Table.

The July number of Scribner's has been received. It is one of the best magazines extant. Published by Scribner & Co. 654 Broadway N. Y. $4 per annum.

We have received a catalogue of Greensboro Female College, from which we gather the following summary in regard to the number comprising the different classes:

Fifth year's course 2; Senior class 8; Junior class 22; Sophomore class 40 First class 12; preparatory class 40—Total 154. Pupils in Music 99. In Latin 69—French 32—Fine arts 32. We congratulate the trustees and faculty upon the good success which has attended the institution the past collegiate year, and bespeak for it a more liberal share of patronage the approaching session.

"Thoughts on Missions" by W. G. E. Cunningham D. D. of the Holston Conference, and "Mission work," by Rev. Homer S. Thrall of the Texas Conference, published by the Board of Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, edited by Thos. O. Summers D. D. These essays supply a place on the question of missions, long needed by our church. The pamphlet by Dr. Cunningham is invaluable for its general information on the subjects of missions.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.—This is emphatically a literary Magazine, Published every Saturday by Littell & Gay No. 17. Bromfield Street Boston. Price $8 a year.

Schoolday Magazine, for July published by J. W. Daughaday & Co. Nos. 436 Walnut Street Philadelphia, has been received. This is a neat publication and well suited for the little people.

A GOOD LAW.—The commissioners, in compliance with an act passed by the last legislature have appointed wood and coal inspector for this city. Mr. Jas. J. Lewis has been elected Inspector and he will enter upon his duties July first. The Commissioners at the same time passed an ordinance defining the duties and fixing the tariff fees of that officer. He is required to inspect and measure all wood and weigh all coal that may be sold within the city limits, except such as is exempted by the act creating said office. The office hours of said inspector will be from sun rise to sun set each day, except Sunday. The ordinance giving full particulars is being distributed to-day throughout the city.

State and Local

—We invite attention to the advertisement of Thos. H. Briggs & Sons. They have a most excellent stock of Hardware of every description and of other goods usually kept in their line.

THE GREAT ESTEY ORGANS!—We call the attention of our readers to the fact that our friend Nat. L. Brown, of Raleigh, is the General State Agent for these celebrated instruments. The widespread reputation of the firm of Estey & Co. is a sufficient guarantee of their work. It is proper to state that Mr. Estey has furnished a large amount of capital to erect a building in this city—showing that he returns to the State as well as asks for its patronage. The agent, Mr. Brown, is known to us as a man of pure high-toned charater—just the sort to give good bargains and thoroughly honest trade.

Send to him for Illustrated catalogue.

PIEDMONT & ARLINGTON LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.—This Institution has a record which should be a source of pride to all our Southern people. It is well and favorably known in N. C., and continues to grow in popularity every day. We hope this splendid Southern Co., will continue to receive the liberal patronage it has heretofore had, at the hands of our people. Parties desiring protection for their families, would do well to look into the merits of the Piedmont & Arlington, before insuring elsewhere.

—SAD ACCIDENT.—DEAR BRO. BOBBITT: On Friday the 24th of April 1874, a few persons had met to work the road, some four miles S-W-from Troy, in Montgomery County. Among the company, were one John C. Yarbrough, and Franklin Davis. Some time previous to this, Yarbrough had visited the house of Davis, one night at a late hour, (knowing that Davis was absent,) and grossly insulted his wife, with indecent, unbecoming vulgar words, and improper actions. Davis was living immediately on said road; and when they arrived at his house, he went in to get a snack, to take with him on the road for his dinner, (for it was now early in the day.) While in the house, he asked his wife if she wished to speak for herself, before Yarbrough's face, as to the treatment she had received from him on that night, (as Yarbrough had denied it.) She said she would face him, and accordingly went out, and stated before him, how he treated her, and he, then, denied and contradicted the statements made by Mrs. Davis, when, the husband, Mr Davis, said to him, "do you say that it is not so? do you say that you did not take hold of her? he denied, it and Davis, unfortunately, in the heat of passion, struck Yarborough with his shovel on the head, knocking him down both speechless and senseless. The unfortunate man was carried home, and remained in a stupor, until he died, about 12 o'clock in the night of the same day. Davis was the first man to try to administer aid; he took hold of Yarbrough, tried to raise him up, washed his wound, and with the assistance of a young man present, walked him about some. He (Davis) sent to a neighboring house, for some spirits, to rub the wounded man about the head and face with, hoping thereby to bring him to his feelings, and senses. But all to no purpose. After sending for the spirits, Davis went immediately off to secure a person to go for a physician; the Doctor was sent for, but was himself, sick, and could not attend.

Davis went the next morning, and voluntarily surrendered himself to the custody of the law, to await his trial.

It is but justice to state that the prisoner, Davis, is a member of the Baptist church.

JAMES B. BALLARD.

June 18th 1874.

THE HON. W. M. ROBBINS' SPEECH AT RANDOLPH MACON COLLEGE.—The Hon. W. M. Robbins, of this State, delivered the address this week before the alumni of Randolph Macon College of Virginia, which is thus spoken of by a correspondent of the Richmond DISPATCH:

"He announced his subject, "The perpetual revolutions in human government, and the operations of this principle on our own system." The address was one of great power and eloquence, and deserving of a more lengthy report than we are able to give, owing to the pressure of other matters upon our columns. Naturally following up the subject, the speaker called attention to the inevitable turning of the wheel, the inherent revolutionary influences of which Polybius wrote—the tendencies and ultimate effects and results of the new revolutions in England and America. The Queen is but a symbol of power, where no power exists—the power at last rests with the people. British phlegm makes the wheel turn slowly, but it does turn, and the democracy in form will be established.

"He then considered the American situation, tendencies social and political, and the future outlook—noting the progress that had been made towards pure and simple democracy since 1789. The Demos rules, and no longer deigns to rule through intermediaries. Manhood suffrage now, woman suffrage soon. What is the end of all this? Lord Macaulay thought that our political institutions had never been, and would not be subjected to a supreme test until the vast western domain was thickly populated; then would begin the fierce encounter between the classes. Already the labor strikes indicate the uneasiness of the situation between labor and capital. Then the speaker, turning to the other side of the picture, with great pathos and eloquence pointed out certain safeguards unknown to ancient Republics, its diffusion of intelligence, the influence of the Bible and Christan religion.

"Finally, the grand fact stands out above all question that we have, and shall continue to have, on this continent a great people full of energy and vitality. There is nothing effete here. There is fierce conflict of opinions, but no decay. Enough of virtue and practical vigor will be left to re establish what may be overthrown. The innate power and vitality of so noble a race cannot ultimately fail to achieve a splendid destiny.

"The address was heard by the crowded house with unusual attention and profound gratification. And when a motion was offered to request a copy for publication, Rev. A. T. Bledsoe L. L. D., who was on the rostrum, stated that Mr. Robbins had just promised a copy for publication in the SOUTHERN QUARTERLY REVIEW."

—Maj John W. Dunham, late Senator from Wilson county, is announced as the political editor of the Raleigh News. We congratulate the proprietors upon this selection. Maj. Dunham is a cultivated gentleman and a good writer.

WESLEYAN FEMALE INSTITUTE STAUNTON, VA.—We take pleasure in calling attention to the advertisement of this popular Seminary for the education of young ladies. A writer speaks thus of the Institution: Located in the city of Staunton in the centre of the Ancient Shenandoah Valley [illegible] every facility for [illegible] mental and physical health of its pupils. It presents attractions unsurpassed if not unequalled in the South. The buildings are spacious and [illegible] and [illegible] the grand and picturesque scenery of mountain and valley which [illegible] side, [illegible] the beautiful Valley stretching [illegible] North and South. The grounds [illegible] are well [illegible] with [illegible] flowers and trees constituting a delightful healthful promenade and pleasure resort for the pupils. The Board of Teachers and officers is composed of over twenty, each [illegible] carefully fitted for education and [illegible] for the position he or she holds. Over [illegible] and [illegible] young ladies from fifteen Southern States enjoyed the advantages of this Institute during the past year.

We cordially commend it to the favorable attention of our readers.

We have laid on our table by Col. W. S. G. Andrews, of this city, a nugget of gold from a mine in Anson county, which assays 24 carats fine and is most beautiful gold. It was taken out by a negro, who did so in a very short time.

This mine is situated in a field which has been in cultivation for over one hundred years. The tract of land embracing the mine is rich in all parts with the same precious metal, and is offered for sale as the owner has not means to work it to advantage, though with an old tin pan only it pays good wages.—WILMINGTON JOURNAL.

— The Charlotte Southern Home says: We have been shown some heads of white wheat averaging 75 full grains to the head and one head having 90 large size grains—clear, clean and pretty enough for an ornament in a young lady's hair net. This wheat was raised by T. B. Henry on lands owned by J. H. Carson, Esq.

— The Cherokee Herald says: F. P. Alexy, Esq., has just brought to our office some very rich gold bearing rock and argentiferous galena, found in Cherokee county. Where these are found there are more of the same sort. Oh, for a few enterprising miners to look up and work our mines, and we would not mind the panic!

— The Monroe Enquirer says: The wheat crop in this county has not turned out so well as it was thought it would owing to the rust getting into it, but from all we can learn we are satisfied that an average crop will be made. Cotton and corn, although they got a late start are doing finely. The stand of cotton is very good. We have been having splendid seasons, and it is sincerely hoped that the farmers may be blessed with abundant crops.

— EXCURSION TO MOREHEAD.—There will be an excursion from Charlotte to Morehead and Beaufort on the 14th inst., returning on the 17th. Five splendid coaches will be put on, and every effort made to conduce to the comfort and pleasure of the excursionists.

The following are the very low rates for round tickets:

From Charlotte and Harrisburg, $8.00.

From Concord, China Grove, Hickory, Tavern and Statesville, $8.75,

From Salisbury, Linwood, Lexington and Danville, $8.00.

From Thomasville, High Point, Jamestown and Kernersville, $7.50.

From Greensboro, McLean's and Gibsonville, $7.00.

From Company Shops, Graham, Haw River and Mebaneville, $7.00.

From Hillsboro, Durham and Morrisville, $6.50.

From Carey, Raleigh, and Clayton, $5.50.

From Wilson's Mills, Selma and Princeton, $5.00

Contributions to the Orphan Asylum, in June, 1874

IN CASH.

Paid $121.09, Loch Lomond Lodge No 242. Paid 50, Hon Kemp P. Battle. Paid 40.97, First Presbyterian Sunday School Wilmington. Paid 30.80, Mt Lebanon Lodge No 117. Paid 30, Widow's Son Lodge No 75. Paid 29.15, Lee Lodge No 253. Paid 27.55, Exhibition at Wake Forest College. Paid 28, Roanoke Lodge No 203. Paid 25, each, Hon B F Moore, George Allen & Co. Lebanon Lodge No 207, Salisbury Dramatic Club, and White Stone Lodge No 155. Paid 24.88 Castalia Lodge No 286. Paid 22.25 Collection by J. M. Beasley. Paid 21.65, R. W. Hardie's Fair Ground Collection. Paid 18.25, Adoniram Lodge No 149. Paid 15.26 St. Albans Lodge No 114. Paid 15 each, Fair Bluff Lodge No 190, Cleaveland Lodge No 202, and Winston Council Friends of Temperance. Paid 13, Hiram Lodge No 40. Paid 12.50 each, Lenoir Lodge No 233 and Bagwell the Lightning rod man. Paid 11. Davie Lodge No 39. Paid 10. each, A Wilmington Lady. Rev J P Mason. Gunter Lodge No. 232. Zion Lodge No 81. J C R Little, & Mocksville Lodge No 134. Paid 9.75 Antioch Presbyterian Church. Paid 8.50 McCormick Lodge No 228. Paid 7, Centre Grove Lodge No 183. Paid 6, each, Henderson Lodge No 229. Radiance Lodge No 132 and Theo Joseph. Paid 5.55, Fork Baptist church. Paid 5. each, Cary Grange No 262. Mr Russell, Tally Ho Congregation, E H Wilson, Jno Prigge, C G Smith, T M Thomas. Major B T Atkinson, American George Lodge No 17, Patterson Lodge No 307, An insurance agent, Rev R B Anderson, Shady Grove Congregation (Warren) and Dr C D Rice. Paid 4.85 Berea Lodge No 201. Paid 4. Mattamuskeet Lodge No 328. Paid 3.25 each. Stonewall Lodge No 296 and Abbott's Creek Baptist Church. Paid 3.02 Rountree Lodge No 243. Paid 3, each, Mrs M A Stradley and Miss Sue C Taylor. Paid 2.75 Four visitors. Paid 2.50 Edwin Brace. Paid 2. Each, Two children, Miss A E Taylor, Mrs E Taylor, Hester's Church, B J Blackley, and J B Burwell. Paid 1.10 W G Hill Lodge No 218. Paid 1.50 each, E G Brown and a Goldsboro Friend. Paid 1.00 each. Rev J A Stradley, Charlie Webb, an Elitor, Mrs O Walters, Dr Seth Montague, L L Hardy, John Taylor, two Doctors, J W Bell, Anchor Lodge No 234, J A Keesler and H E Robertson. Paid 50 cts each, A P Tyer, W M Bagley, M C Smith, C C Benham, E F Eaton, A H McMahan, M C Macky, C H Gwin, G E Franklin, P O Tatum, Suisie Webb, Alex Webb, Leroy Wagstaff, a Boy, G W Charles, Capt Tate and W O Raper. Paid 30cts John Lowe. Paid 25cts each, Lydia Walter and W Climard, N Massey, W D Mason, B K Mason.

IN KIND.

1 barrel flour each, J K Clement and Mrs T L Hargrove, 1 barrel of corn, W H Thomason and Fielding Knott. Half barrel of corn, J H Cozart and Lawson Knott. Fourth barrel flour, W D Kimball, 1 bushel meal, T J Smith, 1 bushel of peas, J A Crews, Half barrel of flour, Pinckney Meadows and Capt Landis, Ice and Peanuts, T D Crawford & Co., 1 clock, John C Palmer, 1 bundle of dry goods, John Murphy, 2 kegs of fish, unknown friend, 1 head and foot stone, W O Wolfe.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All the traveling preachers in the bounds of the ... Conference are our authorized Agents. ... and us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1.00. Those who send us none will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully ... and on but one side of the sheet. All letters ... should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post office order can be deducted ... from the sum in remit. If money is sent otherwise ... at the sender's risk.

Marriages.

Near this city on the 20th of June, by Rev. A. W. Mangum, Mr Henry C. Watkins and Miss Louisa E. King. All of Wake county.

In this city on the 1st of July, by Rev. A. W. Mangum, Mr. John Murphy of Greene county, N. C., and Miss Mollie A. Jones of Raleigh.

At Madison, N. C., on the 25th of June, by Rev. W. C. Norman, Mr H. W. Barlow, of Person N. C., and Miss Nannie Cardwell, of Madison.

Deaths.

Obituary notices of twenty lines are inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines of ordinary size is charged for at the rate of ten cents per line. Count the lines and allow eight words to the line. In this way you may always know the amount to enclose. Resolutions of respect are charged to the same rate.

Mrs. Caroline E. Keith died in the city of Raleigh on the 7th of June 1874. She was born in Chester, S. C., on the 15th of Sept. 1838. She was the daughter of James Lowrie. Esqr. She was the only surviving child of the Chester who was for so long the editor of the Chester Reporter. On the 16th of May, 1860, she was married to Mr. Leonidas S. Keith. She was awakened to a sense of her duty to God under the ministry of Rev. H. T. Hudson and converted during a meeting conducted in Edenton St. Church by Rev. Burkhead in 1870. From that time to her death she exhibited many beautiful Christian qualities. She gave herself wholly and kindly visited the afflicted. Possessed of a warm, genius nature and a frank and positive cast of mind she was a devoted and excellent wife, a pleasant and generous neighbor and an unwavering supporter of any cause she espoused. A sincere and exemplified friend and a persevering and faithful member of the Methodist Church. She read the Bible through repeatedly and was deeply versed in secret prayer. As a true wife she was long anxious for her husband's conversion and was blessed at last to see the gracious fulfillment of their so very hopes and prayers. Since March 1872 their hearts, prayers, almost, as one. After 6 of which in the anticipation of Heaven she had still not ... ill health for many months and was sorely tried in her last illness, and was called to ... under such circumstances. Though all ... we would not ... pattern and be signed—showing the meekness of a true child of the Lord. She was often very happy to her last days and most impressively displayed the sufficiency and prosperous ... grace to the soul in all seasons of the final ordeal. Her heart would overflow with prayer and song and praise even when the active life could only faintly whisper. She rebuked to the last in her knowledge the ... as it, and urged to all around that she was ... Many ... of glorious love. May her comfort ... and may her kind husband and her ... parents and other ... ones!

A. W. M.

Died in Concord N. C. July 2nd 1874 Eileen Ramseur, daughter of Maj. Wm. J. and Mrs. Lou Montgomery, aged 1 year, 3 months and 23 days.

Died of typhoid pneumonia at her father's ... residence in Raleigh, on N. C. June the 3rd 1874 Mr. Cornelius M. Culbreth, aged 24 years, after a sickness of two weeks. He was well beloved by all who knew him. He made no public ... profession of religion but was an earnest ... seeker for the last two years. It was a pleasing ... thing during the Sunday school. He leaves an aged father and mother and brother and sister and a large family connection and friends to mourn his loss. But the sorrow not as those who have no hope for he gave satisfaction to his mother and those around him before he departed that all was well and sang several verses and fell asleep to awake not until the general resurrection at the last day.

J. A. B. K.

Died, in Wake Co March 9th Nellie Florence infant daughter and only child of Sumner C. and Bettie J. Hobby, aged 1 year 3 months 18 days. In the death of this lovely, interesting little girl, two fond and devoted parents have sustained a loss which can not be easily repaired; but God in the dispensation of his all-wise Providence, has seen fit to afflict them by this sad bereavement. Little Nellie is gone, but weep no more dear parents for tho' your little one can not return to you, you can go to her, where separation never takes place. Farewell, sweet Nellie! till we greet you in a brighter and happier clime, in which, surrounded by the angelic choir, thou art now, with thy infantile voice, ... the praises of a crucified Redeemer.

"Take this little lamb says the
And lay her on my breast;
Protection she shall find in me,
In me be ever blest."

A FRIEND.

President Grant's only daughter has ... her new home in England, his oldest ... is absent on military duty, his second ... Ulysses in finishing his course at Harvard ... and the youngest, Jesse, is at a boarding ... school in or near Philadelphia.

Letters and Funds,

Rev F D Swingle. Rev F L Reid, Rev R ... Bompass, Rev V A Sharpe, Rev M C ... Thomas, Wm McNaught & Co. M E Myrick ... paper changed. D Matt Thompson sell $2 ... to J Bullard. L J Cheely, Rev. Dr. Burkhead, Rev W D Lee. L E Stacy paper sent. Jacob Joyner. B J Powell for adv 3. Rev J ... Wheeler for J Staunton 2. Rev W S Black ... for H F Walker 2. Mrs Nancy Black 2. on ... 1, Rev Jas Willson. A W Jones. Rev ... D Swindell for Mrs G 3 H D LeQueux. ... Leard. Wm Taylor Jr for Blanks 2. ... J P Williams 2. E Pasam for A Rhyne 2. ... H Merritt sell 2. Miss E C Boddie. Rev ... C Dodson all right. Rev W H Cunningham ... sent. Rev R G Barrett for J W Britt ... 2. Rev W M Robey. Rev. J S Nelson paper sent. Rev J T Harriss for H Baily ... W Jordan for G Daniel 2. Mrs H C ... Howard 2. Rev L H Gibbons for circulars 2. ... H Worthy 2. Ann Bryant, G Hardison ... A J Moore sell 2. H G K Cabel, Rev N ... Kivett sell 1. Jonathan Smith it was a ... Rev P L Herman for D Hines 2. D ... Hoover 1. Marion Perry, paper regularly ... Mrs H G Sykes sell 2. P R Means. ... Rev Burkhead. Rev V A Sharpe for R ... sell 2. Thos Wells 2. A W Clark 2 J A ... Fisk 2, other paper sent. Rev H T Hudson ... J M Ware 2. Jas H Wells 2. John H ... Thomas sell 2. Rev F L Reid. H Dixon ... Thomas sell 1 50. Rev S of Trawick. E K ... Schuler. D M Thompson, Miss A J Sharpe, ... N Stock sell 2. G P Bowell & Co. C W ... Gregory. A of Harris for sell 2. C H Scott. ... H Bennett sell 2. R G Pace M C Wilson. ... T Johnson sell 2 all right. J E Daniel. ... B Bingham paper changed. M G. Britton. ... A A Seybert. C G Montgomery. J H ... Buchanan. Rev W M D Moore paper sent. ... Cagles & Co. D J Leak sell 2. S H ... Carlisle was crowded out—shall be ... to hear from him. H N Woodson all ... Mason books. Miss M Shaw. Rev E W ... Sparks. Rev Mrs A W Steele 2. W's paper ... J F Ledbetter for Miss M E Ledbetter 1 ... Jones. Rev L L Mast. for J W Harris 2 ... sell 2. D H Miller. John Moore • ... F L Reid. G E Brooks Miss Pattie J ... Wyatt, thank you. Rev N H D Wilson, ... J Jackson. Jas W Lee. S E Allred. ... Jackson. J J Ormand sell 2. Rev S D ... Jones, son J Saddoris, all right. A Holt ... Rev A R Raven. Rev R O Burton. ... appear in my next. J H Mills. Prof O ... Carr, E R Gwynn. S S Carter sell 1. Rev M V Sherrill. Rev Dr Lee Creel. A S ... Webb for Postage. W H Yarborough. W A ... Jones. Rev D J Brake. Pan H Means ... Dr R V Pierce for nos. 24. J A Gibson. ... Allen sell 2. Rev W H Culbreth. Mrs T J ... is the paper sent.

At a London police station one Hardwich, aged seventy-four years, was brought up the other day for begging in the streets, and it was proved that he had been a professional beggar since 1836.

Appointments

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT
3RD ROUND.

Tryon Street and Calvary Mc	}	June 27 28
Monument, Lithonia Chapel,		July 4– 5
Pineville ct. at Rocky S.		" 11-12
Mt. Pleasant,		" 18 19
Mt Ple sant ct. at Mt Pleasant,		" 25 26
Concord, st.		August 1 2
Pleasant Grove ct. at Pleas Grove,		" 8 9
South Charlotte ct. at Bethel,		" 15 16
Albemarle and Stanley.	} at Center,	" 22-23
Libsville ct. at Salem,		" 29-30
Wadesboro st.		Sept 5– 6
Assonville ct. at		" 12-13
Wadesboro ct. at		" 19-20

J. S. WILSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT
3RD ROUND—QUARTERLY MEETINGS

Person ct. at Providence,	July 4 5
Hillsboro ct. at New Sharon,	" 11-12
Hunt ersville, at Beaver Golden,	" 18-19
High Rock Mission	" 25 26
Yanceville ct.	August 1– 2
Deep River.	" 15 16
Pittsboro	" 22-23
Louisburg at Louisburg	" 29 30

The District Conference will be held at Louisburg commencing August 27 Rev W H. Moore will preach the introductory sermon. Brethren from abroad are invited to attend.

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Mt Tirzah, N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND IN PART.

Granville ct. at Salem,	July 4 5
Tar River ct. at Banks Chapel	" 11 12
Cedarville ct. at Shiner,	" 18 19
Hendersonville ct. at Tabernacle,	August 1– 2
Asbury ct. at Elbon ger	" 8 9

The District Conference will be held at Hendersonville, Tuesday commencing on Thursday morning, July 23 at Hendersonville.

W. H. ROBERTS, P. E.
Cary, N. C.

GREENSBORO DISTRICT.
3RD QUARTERLY MEETING.

Greensboro	July 4– 5
North Guilford,	" 11–12
Wentworth at Wentworth	" 18 19
Trinity and Franklinsville,	" 25 26
Davidson, at Shady Grove,	Aug. 1 2
Madison at Mt. Herman,	" 8 9
Forsythe at Clemmonsville,	" 15–16
Stokes at Danbury	" 22–23
South Gu ilford Pleasant Garden,	" 29 30

The District Conference will be held at Leaksville, commencing on Thursday morning, September the 10th at Burkhead.

S. H. D. WILSON P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND

Yadkinville, ct. at Ebbie,	July 4 5
Statesville ct. (Dist. Conf.)	" 9-12
Mt. Airy st. at Salem,	" 18 19
Surry ct. and S. Mis. at Newhope,	" 25 26
Rocky Ville ct. at South Rivers, (C. M)	Aug. 1– 4
Salisbury ct. at	" 8– 9
Salisbury st. at Lebanon,	" 15–16
Alexander ct. at Rocky Spring (C. M)	" 22–23
Wilkesboro ct. at Mt. Union.	" 29–30
Bethel ct. at Woodleaf,	Sept. 5– 6

Camp meetings in Guilford Grove and Rocky Spring, to commence on both places on Friday night. People invited to attend. District Conference commences in Statesville Thursday, July 23rd such is the order. Let the second Sunday in July Preaching Wednesday night, Preachers and delegates earnestly requested to be present at the opening. Business in the ministry and friends generally invited to attend.

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Olin, N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT
3RD. ROUND.

Magnolia,	June 27–28
Clinton,	July 4– 5
Wilmington Fifth Street.	" 11-12
Kenansville,	" 18–19
Whiteville,	" 25 26
Wilmington front street.	August 1– 2
Smithville,	" 8 9
Tabbsville,	" 15–16
Waccamaw,	" 22–23
Whiteville,	" 29–30
Columbia ct.	Sept 5– 6
Plymouth,	" 12-13
Bath ct.	" 19–20

J. R. BRITT, P. E.
Mt. Olive, N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND.

Williamston ct.	July 4– 5
Columbia ct.	" 11-12
Plymouth,	" 18–19
Bath ct.	" 25–26
Mattamuskeet,	August 1– 2
Washington and Greenville,	" 8– 9
Tarboro at Tarboro,	" 15–16
Garrett's Q. M.,	" 22–23

Wm. CLOSS, P. E.

SHELBY DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND—IN PART.

South Fork, Palm Tree,	July 4– 5
Cherry Mountain,	" 11–12
Dallas,	" 18–19
Lincoln Lincolnton Dist. Conf.	" 22–26
Morganton Sardis,	August 1– 2

Site by District Conference will be held in Lincolnton. The introductory sermon will be preached at 8 P. M., Wednesday July 22d, by Rev. Samuel Leard. The Conference will convene in the Methodist Church at 9 A. M., Thursday July 23d. Let the preachers and the stewards be prepared to make full and accurate reports.

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.

The Markets

Raleigh Market—Retail Prices
July 7, 1874.

CORRECTED WEEKLY, BY
Wyatt, Bingham & Co.,
GROCERS, COTTON FACTORS
AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS
EXCHANGE PLACE,
RALEIGH, N. C.

APPLES, green	1 50 to 2 00
dried	7@10
BEEF, MEAT, Rib Sides	10 3-4@11
C. R. "	11
BACON, N. C. Sides	12 1-2
N. C. Shoulders	12@13
N. C. Hams	15@16
BEEF—in bbls	6@7
BEESWAX	25
BUTTER—per lb.	20@30
CHICKENS	17 1-2@30
CHEESE	20@25
CORN	1 20
COTTON, Ordinary	11 1-2@12
Good Ordinary	13
Strict good ordinary	13 1-2@14
Low middlings	15 1-4
Middlings	16 1-4
COTTON YARN	1 50
COFFEE	25@30
EGGS	15@20
FLOUR, Western	7 50@12 50
North Carolina	8 50@9 00
HAY	1 50
HIDES, dry	12@13
green	6
LEATHER, upper	60
Harness	40
Sole	25
LARD	12 1-2@15
MEAL	1 25@1 35
MULLETS	1 50
HERRINGS	7 00@8 50
OATS	75@80
ONIONS	1 00
PEACHES, dried	10@15
PEANUTS	2 00
PEAS	1 12@1 40
PORK	9@10
POTATOES, sweet	1 00@1 15
Irish	2 00
RAGS	2 1-2
RICE	11@12 1-2
SALT	2 25
ROSIN	1 70
SUGAR, Standard A	13 1-2
Extra "C" white	9@10 1-2
"C" yellow	10@11
TALLOW	7@8
TAR	2 50@3 15
TURPENTINE	29

New Advertisements.

WESLEYAN FEMALE INSTITUTE,
Staunton, Va.

Will begin its 25th annual session Sept 17th, 1874. Rev W. A. Harris, D. D., President, with an ... corps of twenty-three Teachers and Officers. All ... languages taught and spoken by European Teachers. Music by seven Professors and Teachers.

This is one of the healthiest climates in the world. Its marked effect is the rapid promotion of the physical health and vigor of our pupils. Those who come here from the South, with feeble constitutions, colds and climate diseases, are entirely restored.

Buildings elegant—famed by the purest ... and commanding the most magnificent rural and mountain scenery, ranking it one of the most delightful College homes in the Union.

The last session, one hundred and eleven young ladies attended this school, as boarding pupils from fifteen Southern States.

EXTRACTS FROM TESTIMONIALS.

From Bishop H. S. Doggett, D.D.

The Wesleyan Female Institute, or, as it is in Staunton, Virginia, under the Presidency of Rev. W. A. Harris, is, in my judgment, one of the best institutions, for young ladies, in the South. I have occasion to know and appreciate its value by the ... enjoyed by one of my daughters, now a pupil there. It possesses all the facilities of a thorough female education, its personal accommodations are all that can be desired for health and comfort, or taste. No location could be more eligible; none more healthy, salubrious; no atmosphere more pure. It is now in a state of great prosperity. I do not hesitate to recommend it to the patronage of all who wish their daughters to receive the benefits of a useful and commendable ...

D. S. DOGGETT.

From Bishop E. M. Marvin, D. D.

The Wesleyan Female Institute is so favorably known to Methodist families throughout Virginia, that a high ... in music, advantages are offered of very high order. The most talented Professors are employed, and neither labor nor expense are spared to make this department excellent. The School is very ... persons, and deserves to be so.

From Prof. F. H. Smith, M. A. L. L. D. University of Va.

The Wesleyan Female Institute, at Staunton, deserves the confidence it enjoys. It has a good ... corps of teachers, a beautiful situation, and excellent management. Having had a daughter under Mr. Harris' care, during the past session, my observation leads me to believe this school to be one of the best Female Seminaries which adorn our State.

F. H. SMITH.

TERMS FOR THE ENTIRE COLLEGIATE YEAR:

Board and Tuition in the College ... Course $210.00
Music and other extras on moderate terms.
For catalogue of pages, address
REV. W. A. HARRIS,
Staunton, Va.

PIEDMONT SPRINGS,
STOKES COUNTY, N. C.
Opened on the 20th of June for the Reception of Visitors.

These justly celebrated Springs, whose waters give Anemia, Dyspepsia Angerula, Diseases of the Skin, General Debility and Neuralgia, and wonderfully restorative in diseases peculiar to females, have become the resort for invalids for years. The hotel and cottages are undergoing ... and will be ready for the beautified—the grounds ornamented—the walks and drives extended.

The new BILLIARD, just established, has every accessory from which all the beautiful scenery which surrounds these Springs can be seen. "Moore's Knob" and "Hairy Rock," spurs of the Sauratown Mountains, with their deep gorges and lofty boulders, loom up grandly amongst the clouds. Immediately in front are the Hotel buildings.

Horses and carriages will be in readiness for visiting the many places of interest on the railroad at trifling cost.

The Springs are only 5 miles, being only a short drive for a good line of stages, from Sal—sbury, the terminus of the N. W. N. C. R. R., which connects at Greensboro with all the trains going North or South.

ATTRACTIONS.

The Springs are supplied with Billiard, Bowling Saloon, Bath Room, experienced Lauudresses, and well to Servants.

BOARD:

Per Day	$2 50
Per Week	15 00
Per Month	40 00

The Proprietors will spare no effort to render the sojourn of their visitors both profitable and pleasant, and they take great pleasure in announcing to the public they have obtained the services of an experienced Hotel Keeper, who will supply the tables with the best the county affords.

W. E. WILLIAMS,
C. M. FINNS,
R. G. PACE,
Proprietors.

Capt. S. B. Taylor, Manager.
July 1-tf.

Rock Spring Seminary,
MALE AND FEMALE.
D. Matt Thompson, A. M., Principal.

The next Term of this Institution opens Wednesday, August 12th, 1874. Instructions thorough, and based upon the latest and most approved Normal Methods.

Board, per month, $8.00
Tuition " from $1.00 to 1.00

Location, Dry Ponds, Lincoln co., N. C., twenty-seven miles northwest of Charlotte, twelve miles west of Davidson College, ten miles north of Iron Station, Virginia Central Rail Road, and near the famed "Rock Spring Camp Grounds," in the midst of a fine agricultural district, as remarkable for quietude and morality, as it is noted for pure water, and good health.

Advantages: Low price of Board and Tuition, healthy and moral location.

For circular, &c., address the PRINCIPAL,
July 1 2w Dry Ponds, N. C.

SCOVILL'S
BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP!

All diseases originate in the fact or in the ... AN IMPURE CONDITION OF THE BLOOD, and this may, or may not be Scrofula; but in either case the discipline is nothing more than an ... poison that as it courses through the veins, scaring seeds of death with every pulsation.

BURNS LIKE A TERRIBLE FIRE,

In this condition of things something is needed as ONE, TO CLEANSE THE BLOOD; and SCOVILL'S BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP.

will positively effect this desideratum, expelling every trace of disease from the blood and system, and leaving the skin

SOFT, FAIR AND BEAUTIFUL.

Hundreds of certificates attest its value, Price $1 per bottle.

JOHN F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO., Proprietors,
8 and 9 College Place, New York.
ALSO PROPRIETORS OF
Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, Carbolic Salve, Riley's Carbolic Troches, Oxygenated Bitters for Dyspepsia, Dr. Mott's Liver Pills, Dr. Rogers' Vegetable Worm Syrup, Dr Bennett's Sure Death to Rats, Mice, and Vermin, Roman Hair Dye, Etc., Etc.
FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
July 8-1m.

NAT L. BROWN,
RALEIGH, N. C.
General Agent for the Celebrated ESTEY COTTAGE ORGANS.

Always abead, always reliable. The largest manufactory of Reed Organs in the world.
Prices low—payments easy. Illustrated catalogue mailed free on application.
Also dealer in all kinds of Musical Instruments, Strings and Trimmings, Fancy Goods, Toys, Buckets, Grooved Sets, Childrens Carriages, Pipes, Cigars, Tobacco, etc. Orders solicited. Prompt attention given.

"A NEW WHEELER & WILCON Sewing Machine—silver plated—for sale. Price very low.
NAT L. BROWN'S.
July 8-tf

Two second hand Pianos. Price very low.
July 18 tf. NAT L. BROWN.

$600 Mason & Hamlin Organ. Double bank of keys, (second hand) in good order. A great bargain.
NAT L. BROWN.
July 8-tf

New Advertisements.

Olin High School.
Iredell County, N. C.

L. J. Cheely A. M. Principal.
Miss L. C. Journey, an accomplished, experienced and pupil of Teacher, will take charge of the Female department.
Fall session of 1874 will open July 20th, and continue Twenty weeks.

EXPENSES:

Tuition, per Session, half in advance,	$7.00 to $20.00
Contingent Fee,	50
Board per month	$8.00 to 10.00

Extras in Female Department at usual rates.
Nearest R. R. Station is Statesville, W. N. C. R. R.
Address the Principal.
Olin, Iredell Co. N. C.
July 1-4w.

BEST COOK STOVE.

It is a strictly First Class Stove;
It is the most popular and convenient;
It has all modern improvements;
It has large flues which give a quick draft;
It has large and splendid ovens;
It has a deep Ash Pit;
It has a Slide Grate;
It has Reversible Cross Pieces;
It has a National reputation for excellence;
It can be used for Wood or Coal;
It bakes Quickly;
It is the best Baker known;
It is Plain, Strong and Simple;
It has a pleasant, great Beauty in Design;
It never fails in operation;
It has a long Fire Door;
It has Tin Lined Oven Doors;
It uses a small quantity of Wood.

This Stove is well and widely known, no Stove ever made having received from the public a more flattering endorsement.

Under the charge of the undersigned, in this Stove has ... for ... a position in the estimation and hearts of ... second to none. No Stove ever ... a larger sale, or ... greater ...

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

THE BEST IS THE Averill Chemical Paint,
BECAUSE

It has been thoroughly tested by chemists, and ... of practical masters throughout the United States for the last seven years, and pronounced by them to be the most durable paint known.

2d. For beauty and retention of color it stands far ahead of any other. It has also been painted with ... in part one year and part two years, and looks perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

3d. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

4th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

5th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

6th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

7th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

8th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

9th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

10th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

11th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

12th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

13th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

14th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

15th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

16th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

17th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

18th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show. Unlike (and far superior to) most of the other paints, but perfectly clear and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been ... to any degree or permanency of color.

19th. It is economical, as 2 lbs can be mixed to cover one ... and being far more durable (it ... lasting as the best any other), and beautiful, will save the ... that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

It is now in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Will be of any desire shade, can be obtained without adding to the buyer in the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread ... from the brush, clings firmly to ... substance (it may be applied upon ... wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required), is durable. Though composed of ... it is entirely unlike the ... known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical

Youth's Department.

Safe

Not on the mother's bosom,
Held by her clasping arm;
Not o'er the cozy fireside,
Guarded by her from harm.

Not by her side, how kneeling,
Asking the Shepherd's care;
Not in the crib so sweet sleeping,
The wee lamb was not there.

Watch the father, playing,
Laughing with childish glee;
Now on his shoulder shouting,
Now on the father's knee.

Up in that cheerful family
Which hath no need of the sun;
Safe, on the Savior's bosom,
Beneath the little one.

How to Be Polite.

1. Girls should rise when an older person of either sex enters the room.

2. If a gentleman calls upon you, do not hesitate once in a while to ask him into the family room, or give your parents to understand that you want them to come into the parlor to see your company. The young gentleman who does not wish to be occasionally in the company of your parents is not worthy of your society.

3. If a friend, of either sex, call upon you when it is your duty to be at family worship or at the prayer meeting, let it be known. A true gentleman or gentlewoman will not be offended.

4. Be a true lady at home, especially at the table, else you will forget to act the lady abroad. Sit straight; eat deliberately. Don't bow your head too low to eat or drink. Don't go to work picking your teeth or paring your nails after the meal in the presence of others. Some gentlemen spend two hours a day picking their teeth. Don't rock or put your feet on another's chair, or look at a person's manuscript while he is writing, or take a book from him, or ask him what he has in a package. Every exhibition of idle curiosity is annoying to a refined person.

5. Do not address a person without speaking out the name. Some persons will take hold of your arm, or touch your shoulder, or look at you. This is impolite. Speak out the name —Mrs. ——, or Mr. ——, or Miss ——, or the given name.

6. Don't speak in a loud tone unless your friends are deaf. Do not whisper in company unless it becomes necessary to say something of importance to your mother. If an old gentleman offers you his easy-chair, do not take it; and be sure not to let your mother do anything for the comfort of visitors, if you can do it yourself.

7. You will of course never look behind you to notice a person who has passed, nor stare at any one on the street, or in the stores. If you have fine clothes, do not be ambitious to display them on the streets or in the church. The drawing room offers opportunities sufficent for the wearing of extra jewelry and an expensive apparel.

8. Fix on an hour for retirement, and do not deviate from it except under an extraordinary pressure of circumstances. You need not hesitate to tell your friends that you must be at home at ten o'clock. They will excuse you, for you must have rest, and have it regularly in order to pass the coming day cheerfully and profitably. —United Baptist.

Counting the Fingers.

"Day dear, your fingers hold,
Listen till my story's told.

"Pounds a plague, and whispers Come,
Let us steal the sweets," says Thumb.

"Straight First Finger bends to hear,
She's a rogue when Thumb is near.

"Second Finger says, 'I'll go.'
Cries Third Finger, 'Count me too.'

"Little Finger stands alone,
Says, 'The sweets are not our own.'

"Thumb says, 'Let no Finger say
Where the sweets have gone to-day.'

"First Finger cries out, 'No, no!
Not a word from me shall go.'

"See and Finger shakes her head,
'She would suffer death instead.'

"Finger Third is full of fear,
Lest the marks of guilt appear.

"Little Finger cries, 'For shame!
I shall tell where lies the blame.'

"So we all are made to smart,
With the rest I'll bear my part.'

"And I think that through and through, Little Finger's right don't you?"

An Unavailing Present

The London Court Journal gets the following story from Scotland:

A parish in the kingdom of Fife had for a minister a good man, remarkable for his benevolent disposition. Meeting one of his parishioners one day, he said:

"Jeanie, what way do I never see you in the kirk?'

"Weel, sir," said Jeanie, "to be plain wi' ye, I hacna a pair o' shoon to gang wi.'"

"A pair o' shoon, Jeanie! Jeanie, I'll not let ye stay at hame for that: what would a pair cost?"

"About four shillings, sir."

Putting his hand into his pocket, he gave Jeanie the money and went his way. Some time after, meeting her again, he said:

"Dear me, Jeanie, I've never seen ye in the kirk yet. Wat way is that?"

"Weel, sir," said Jeanie, "to be plain wi' ye, when the weather's guid, and I hae time, I prefer gaun to Dunfaukin to hear Mr. Gillespie."

"Oh! in deed, Jeanie, lass, that's the way o't, is't? Ye might hae gi'en me the first day o' the shoon, ony way, d'ye no think?

Rural and Domestic.

Whistle and Hoe

There's a boy just over the garden fence
Who is whistling all through the livelong day;
And his work is not just a mere pretence,
For you see the weeds he has cut away.
Whistle and hoe,
Sing as you go,
Shorten the row
By the songs you know.

So I'm weed of hearing his tuck I hear;
He has one air only that I know,
For his whistle sounds so merry and clear.
He must find some pleasure in every row.
Whistle and hoe,
Sing as you go,
Shorten the row
By the songs you know.

But then while you whistle, be sure that you hoe,
For if you are idle the briars will spread;
And while the above to the end of the row
Was due but the weeds, but is bad for the bread.
Whistle and hoe,
Sing and go,
Shorten the row
By the songs you know.

—Rural New Yorker

Live Stock Farming.

We believe strongly in a diversity of farm productions as an insurance against all kinds of agricultural disasters. Consequently, it was with great satisfaction that we learned, a few days ago, from a tobacco raiser of Granville county that considerable interest was now being felt by himself and his neighbors in the subject of sheep husbandry.

From the cotton county of Edgecombe we also saw a cotton planter, who makes many bales of the great staple, earnestly inquiring for blooded bucks to place among his sheep. We could refer him to one man only in the State who we supposed could furnish the stock desired.

This gentleman informed us that he had shipped lambs, this Spring, from Edgecombe to New York City, and had obtained for them $7 per head nett. This, he remarked, was better business than making cotton. His lambs were shipped three weeks ago and were in good order.

Seven dollars a piece would be thought a big price for turkeys; but we are sure Spring lambs can be put on the market at a smaller cost per head than turkeys. The gentleman alluded to thought he could raise a lamb with as little expense as he could a chicken.

We know one other gentleman who is experimenting on thirty-five acres of sweet potatoes for the Northern market.

We have received a communication requesting us to re publish a long article on the cultivation of sumac. The original appeared in a Northern paper, and the opinion is given that the cultivation of sumac would be found very profitable in North Carolina. We will give a portion, if not the whole, of this article next week.

We need diversified industry. We want manufactories of all kinds; but in their absence, we need the more to diversify our crops as fast as we can find markets.

What Some of Our Canadian Emigrants are Doing.

From a gentleman who has, this week, visited the Canadian settlement near the line of Warren and Granville counties, we learn that the recent emigrants express themselves as well pleased in their Southern homes. Their crops of corn, cotton, wheat, oats and clover are very promising. All of them, without exception, raise clover, and the gentleman we speak of showed us a couple of stems of Alsike clover, from the farm of Mr. Robert Amos, that were four and a half feet long. Mr. Amos, who has been farming thirty years or more, in Canada, reports that he has now a field of Alsike superior to any clover he has ever seen in Canada. He has in wheat about ten acres, from which he expects to get three hundred bushels.

Mr. Amos has recently shipped stock [horses, Leicester sheep and poultry,] from Canada, and had them delivered at Henderson in the same car on which they were put in Canada.

Of the sheep three fleeces yielded 37½ lbs. of wool—worth a little more than five dollars a piece. The sheep were only twelve months old.

It is the purpose of Mr. Amos to import blooded sheep and cattle next fall.

Mr. Amos is invited to tell our readers fully his experience with clover, stock, or anything else, in North Carolina. We are pleased to chronicle these successes of emigrants to our section. We bid them all a hearty welcome to the Old North State.—Agricultural Journal.

POPULAR COLLECTIONS OF ORGAN MUSIC!

For Pipe Organs.

Organist's Home, Dayspoint	$2 50
Bird's Organ Voluntaries	2 50
50 Pieces for Organ. Rubini	2 50
Turle's Short Voluntaries	1 00
Organist's Portfolio. Rinkhardt. 2 Vols., ea.	3 00
Hile's Short Voluntaries. 9 Nos., each	50
Zundel's Voluntaries. Complete.	5 00
Dr. Lee's Voluntaries. Zundel	2 00

NEW CHURCH MUSIC BOOK NEARLY READY.

For Reed Organs.

Organ at Home	2 50
Clarke's Reed Organ Voluntaries	1 50
Clarke's Reed Organ Companion	2 00
Fine collection of Pieces, Songs and Tunes, may also be found in Emerson's New Method, Clarke's New Method and in Reed's School for Cabinet Organs.

NEW CHURCH MUSIC BOOK.—IN ADVANCE.

Either of the above books sent, postpaid, for retail price.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston. C. H. DITSON & CO., 711 B'dway, New York.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Brilliant Record of Cures.

An American humorist believes that it would have been money in his pocket if he had been born without a stomach, and then proceeds to figure up the cost of a chronic dyspepsia, to which he is smarter, and which he says it is impossible to cure. On this point, "Josh Billings," (under in the party referred to) is mistaken. Unless his stomach differs from all other dyspeptic stomachs, Hostetter's Bitters will cure him in less than three months. This it would be safe to guarantee under any penalty. There are a few, a very few, actual specifics for disease in existence, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be set down as one of them. In cases of indigestion it never fails. Persons who had suffered for many years almost every conceivable species of torture from this agonizing complaint, have been permanently cured with the Bitters in six weeks. Hundred of such instances are on record authenticated by the testimony of prominent men in every walk of life, endorsed by physicians among the number. But this celebrated vegetable preparation is something more than a stomachic and tonic. It is also an alternative of wonderful virtue. In liver complaint its colonel on blue pills, and bar room solutary; and in all diseases of the bowels, notably in cases of constipation, its operation proves it in the highest degree reliable. The new settlements in the west and all sickly districts of country infested with miasmatic exhalations, as a habitual thing, or the various tropical fevers, should be always well stocked with this incomparable shologue, which will cure any case of fever and ague in a period varying from three days to three or four weeks, according to the violence of the complaint. Nervous disorders which are always aggravated by the adulterated liquors usually prescribed by physicians, are readily cured by a course of this admirable combination medicine in which the properties of a stimulant in tonic and alterative are happily blended

July 7-1m.

DR. M'LANE'S

Celebrated American

WORM SPECIFIC, OR VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eyelid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE

Will certainly effect a cure.

The universal success which has attended the administration of this preparation has been such as to warrant us in pledging ourselves to the public to

RETURN THE MONEY

in every instance where it should prove ineffectual: "providing the symptoms attending the sickness of the child or adult should warrant the supposition of worms being the cause." In all cases the Medicine to be given IN STRICT ACCORDANCE WITH THE DIRECTIONS.

We pledge ourselves to the public, that

Dr. M'Lane's Vermifuge

DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY

in any form; and that it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will do well to write their orders distinctly, and take none but Dr. M'Lane's, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. Testimonials to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, post-paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twelve three-cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for thirteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

☞ For sale by Druggists, and Country Storekeepers generally.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

ELGIN WATCHES.

W. B. FARRAR,

WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND OPTICIAN.

Deals in Swiss Watches, Calendar and ordinary Clocks, Jewelry, Spectacles, Silver and Plated Ware, Bridal Presents, Guns, Pistols, Cartridges, Sewing Machine Needles, Table Cutlery, Ladies' Pocket Rules, INK Razors, Muzzle Boxes, Walking Canes, &c. TERMS REASONABLE.

No. 7 South 41st Street, Opposite Express Office, Greensboro, N. C

May 13-6m

If The Stomach

is wrong, all is wrong. FARRANT'S EXPERIENCE WITH SEALTZER APERIENT, while acting as a corrective upon that organ, gently expels all morbid matter from the alimentary canal, and imparts a healthful activity to the sluggish liver. Sold by all druggists.

July 8-2w.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of INDIAN HEMP, which cured his only child and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps, to pay expenses. HEMP also cures nightsweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in 24 hours. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race St. Philadelphia, and mention this paper.

june 1-6m

ALADDIN SECURITY OIL

Will prove itself equal, if not superior, to any burning Oil that has been offered to the public—is perfectly safe for use in all Kerosene Lamps. Will give all who use perfect security in doing so. For sale by

PESCUD, LEE & CO., Druggists

jan 14-tf

THE WILSON TAKES THE GRAND

Prize at Vienna!

AUSTRIA, VIENNA, Aug. 15, 1873.

To W. G. Wilson, President Wilson Sewing Machine Co., Cleveland, Ohio:

The Wilson Shuttle Sewing Machine was awarded the Grand Prize at the Vienna Exposition for being the best Sewing Machine.

The above telegram needs no comment. The people can now be assured that in buying the Wilson at the low price of $30 they are getting the best Sewing Machine ever offered to the public. Circulars free. Sewing machines on trial. Agents wanted.

Address

H'HARTON & H'HARTON,

State Agents, Greensboro, N. C.

Sept 4—tf. Pd 5.

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY

MALE AND FEMALE.

R. P. TROY, A. M., Principal.
Mrs. R. P. TROY, Teacher of Music.

Spring session begins January, 5th 1874.

Board per month, $8.00
Tuition " from 1 50 to 3.00
One half in advance.

ADVANTAGES

Low price of board and tuition, healthy and moral location, Sabbath school and religious service every Sunday.

Access—By Rail Road to Greensboro, whence free conveyance will be furnished by the Principal, if informed of arrival

Address the Principal,

Greensboro, N. C.

Nov26 1m

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Sunday, June 14th '874

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte	4 01 P. M.	8.35 A. M.
" Air-Line Depot	7.25 "	8.56 "
" Salisbury	9.52 "	10.54 "
" Greensboro'	1.15 A. M.	1.10 P. M.
" Danville	3.13 "	3.36 "
" Dundee	5.25 "	5.48 "
" Burkeville	11.30 "
Arrive at Richmond	1.32 P. M.	11.01 P. M.

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond	1.58 P. M.	11.45 P. M.
" Burkeville	4.41 "	2.34 A. M.
" Dundee	9.25 "	6.33 "
" Danville	9.49 "	8.37 "
" Greensboro	12.01 A. M.	11.08 "
" Salisbury	3.36 "	2.51 P. M.
" Air Line Depot	4.31 "	4.34 "
Arrive at Charlotte	4.54 A. M.	5.10 "

GOING EAST.

STATIONS.	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'	2.15 A. M.	Arrive 10.45 P. M.
" Stoneville	5.45 "	10.15 "
" Raleigh	7.50 "	5.41 "
Arrive at Goldsboro	11.20 A. M.	Leave 2.51 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Greensboro'	8.30 A. M.	4.05 P. M.
Arrive at Salem	5.00 "	5.55 "
Leave Salem	10.01 P. M.	8.10 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'	11.30 "	9.45 "

Passenger train leaving Raleigh at 7.41 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound train, making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Price of Tickets same as via other routes.

Through tickets to and from points East of Greensboro can be procured at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.

Trains daily, both ways.

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9.42 A. M. arrive at Burkeville 12.55 P. M.; leave Burkeville 4.55 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.18 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, without change.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the schedule of this company will please print as above.

For further information address

S. R. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C

T. M. R. TALBOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 13, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 20th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (except on Sundays) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	2.35 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon,	5.30 P. M.
Leave Weldon,	5.55 A. M.
Arrive at Raleigh	8.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	4.45 P. M.
Arrive at Weldon,	3.45 A. M.
Leave Weldon,	4.0 A. M.
Arrive at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamer via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg Richmond and Washington City to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Haywood and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accommodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh 11th Accommodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air Line and Richmond and Danville 74th and North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Portdale,	6.25 "
Train leaves Same'l,	6.45 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.2 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN

Leaves Raleigh,	3.15 P. M
Arrives at Sanford,	5.23 "
Leaves Sanford,	10.15 A M
Arrives at Raleigh,	2.10 P. M

Mail Train and Freight connection at Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

Mail Train and Freight connection at Sanford with the Western Railroad to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

Accommodation and Freight Trains connect with accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Sup'rintendent.

M. T. Nowell, Late with Ben H. Adams.

W. A. Myatt, Jr. Formerly with J. P. Briggs & Bro.

NORRIS & MYATT,

(SUCCESSORS TO BEN H. ADAMS.)

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

GROCERS, COTTON FACTORS

—AND—

General Commission Merchants.

No. 3 Exchange Place and No. 5 Martin Street,

They offer to the trade a large and well selected stock of first-class groceries at remarkably low figures to suit the times. They are daily receiving, and have to-day in store, a choice lot of North Carolina Hams.

75 bbls Family Extra Superfine Flour.
20 sacks North Carolina Flour.
300 bushels Corn and Bolted Meal.
50 sacks Salt.
10 bbls Extra A Sugar.
10 bbls Extra C Sugar.
10 bbls Extra C Yellow Sugar.
10 bbls Dem Sugar.
10 sacks Rio Coffee.
10 kegs Soda.
10 cases Concentrated Lye.
10 cases Cove Oysters.
10 boxes Adamantine Candles
25 kits Best Leaf Lard
1000 pounds Pure Assorted Candy
500 bunches Cotton Yarn.
50 kegs Nails.
5 boxes of Durham Tobacco, and a full assortment of goods usually kept in a first class grocery. A bundle at very low figures. Our motto: "Quick returns and small profits." A large lot of Boots and Shoes, Hats and Heavy Pants—goods which will be offered at reduced figures. Call and examine our stock before selling elsewhere. Consignments and Country Produce solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

April 1-tf

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA

Price, $1.00. Sold by all Druggists,

oct8-1l a

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

This unrivalled Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of Mercury, or any injurious mineral substance, but is

PURELY VEGETABLE,

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which an all wise Providence has placed in countries where chills and fever most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine,

is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bill.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION,

Armed with this ANTIDOTE all climates and changes of water and food may be faced without fear. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, BILIOUSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA

Price, $1.00. Sold by all Druggists,

oct8-1l a

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS,

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. As an actual of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Burgett street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms or Simpson's Drug Store

apr 29 6m.

FLORENCE

The Long contested Suit of the FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE Co. vs. et al the Singer, Wheeler & Wilson, and Grover & Baker Companies involving over $25,000,

is finally decided by the Supreme Court of the United States in favor of the FLORENCE, which alone has Broken the Monopoly of High Prices.

THE NEW FLORENCE

Is the ONLY reversible feed sews backward and forward, or to right and left. Simplest—Cheapest—Best.

Send for CASH ONLY Special Terms to CLUBS and DEALERS

April 15-3m Florence, Mass.

CANVASSERS read No. of your Lodge and name this paper. We will mention you agents with our superb Home Pictures for Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights Pythias, Grangers, Red men, Mechanics, etc., are making double their cost, and offer easy work pleasanter. J. HALE POWERS & CO., Personality & Fine Art Pubs., Cincinnati, O.

Feb 25-12m

JUST RECEIVED

AT

D. S. WAITT'S,

Ready Made Clothing

FOR

SPRING AND SUMMER.

GO TO D. S. WAITT'S

FOR

BOOTS & SHOES.

A full line just opened.

FOR GENTS' FURNISHING

Goods go to

D. S. WAITT'S.

DRY GOODS! DRY GOODS!!

D. S. WAITT'S

Is the place to get them cheap.

R. F. JONES & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C

COMMISSION MERCHANTS, COTTON FACTORS

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Wilmington Street, opposite Market House,

In the Wholesale department they offer to the trade a large stock of first-class groceries at prices that have and will continue to attract the trade. They have in store

1200 Gals. S. H. Syrup.
150 Sacks Fine Liverpool Salt.
1200 Pounds Cream Cheese.
300 Bushels Bolted Meal.
100 Boxes Cakes and Crackers—fresh.
1000 Pounds pure candy, assorted.
25 Cases mixed Pickles.
40 Doz. cans Fresh Peaches.
50 Bbls. Superfine and Family Flour.
3 000 Pounds Family Soap.
25 Boxes Adamantine Candles.
40 Doz. boxes Axle Grease.
72 " Masons Blacking.
500 " Wafer Proof Percussion Caps.

Pocket, Shot, Snuff, Tobacco, Soda, Spice, Pepper Tea, &c., &c

Bulk Meal and Breakfast Strips, and a full assortment of other goods generally sold in grocery stores. Call and examine the quality of their goods and price. Consignment of produce solicited.

oct 15-6m

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY

RALEIGH N. C.

Is the Place to Buy

French and Plain Candies,

Foreign and Domestic Fruits,

RAISINS, NUTS, etc.,

Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,

Fancy Good. Childrens' Toys,

Carriages for the Little Folks,

CROQUET SET,

BASE BALLS AND BATS,

Marbles, Tops, and Kites,

All at MOSELEY'S

FANCY GOODS, TOYS, BASKETS, BROOMS, Brushes, Tooth Picks, School Bags, Feather Dusters, Fish Hooks and lines. A large assortment. at NAT L. BROWN'S.

may 18 tf

LEMON & Aniline Dye Colors, at PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S Drug Store.

jan 14-tf

Pocket Inhaler AND Carbolate of Iroline Inhalant.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption if taken in Time can. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. All Druggists have it for sale, neatly put up with Inhaler enough for two months' use. Price $1.01. Prepaid by mail on receipt of price. Send for a Circular. W. H. SMITH & Co., Prop'rs, Buffalo, N. Y.

Jan 28-6m

A pair of shoes will cost you only 5 cents more with SILVER TIP on toes without, and it will add twice the cost of the shoe to their wearing value.

April 8-18-w

Robert T. Gray,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

Raleigh, N. C.

Will give prompt attention to business in the Supreme, Superior, and other Courts of the State.

Refers by permission to

Hon. R. M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Hon. Thos Settle, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

Hon. I. G. Lash, Pres. Firs. National Bank of Salem
John G. Williams, " Sale " " Raleigh
Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, Editor of Raleigh ADVOCATE.
Rev. A. W Mangum, Raleigh, N. C.

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS,

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. As an actual of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Burgett street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms or Simpson's Drug Store

apr 29 6m.

JOSEPH KRETH

Merchant Tailor,

OPPOSITE CITY POST OFFICE,

RALEIGH. N. C.

Keeps the best quality of Cassimeres and Cloths constantly on hand. Persons wanting a suit of every description will find it to their interest to give him a call. N 7 27-2m

W. F. KORNEGAY.

Goldsboro', N. C.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC HARDWARE.

COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.

Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.

FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are Western made, constructed of the very best material. As light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All we ask is a trial of them. Jan 28-tf

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes.

BEFORE YOUR SIGHT, THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent personages, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and Cured of the following diseases:

1. Imperfect Vision. 2. Presbyopia, or Farsight'd ness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurred. 3. Suffusion, or Weak Eyes. 4. Epiphora, Lachrymal or Watery Eyes. 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranty. 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve. 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or imperfect vision from the effects of Inflammation. 8. Pearl, Cataract, or Interior of Eyeball. 9. Overwrought Eyes; 10. Muscæ volitantes, specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Paralysis of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight.

Any one can use the Ivory Eye Cups with the greatest ease, no medicine or application is required to obtain immediate beneficial results and cover our spectacles; or, if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2 500 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 23 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man and he is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof. W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 6th, 1868: "Without hesitation I recommend your invention, after many years' experience in the treatment of eye diseases, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, all with the unassisted eye."

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles exactly 7 years; I am seventy years old."

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness at 18 years of reading, became minister, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salvisa, Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the creation of all knowledge, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years."

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my unexpected amusement your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the Illustrated Phrenological Anatomy of the Eye, containing over one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No. 21 Liberty street. New York City, N. Y.

For the worse cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlet and certificates—free. Waste no more money by wearing huge frame spectacles. Your face and disfiguring your face.

AGENTS WANTED

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $25 A DAY. To live Agent. $8 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 21 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 957. NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.
Sept 6-12m.

Established 1816.

B. W. PAYNE, E. S. PAYNE. D. W. CA NE.

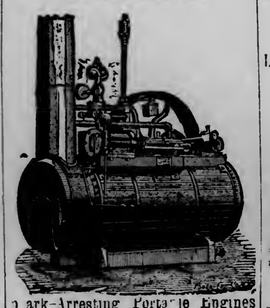
B. W. PAYNE & SONS

Corning Foundry and Machine Shop,

CORNING, STEUBEN CO. N. Y.

Manufacturers of

Stationary Engines, Boilers and



Hoisting Engines, Mill Gearing, Shafting, Pulleys, Hangers, Boxes, Couplings, Clutches, Saw Mills, Iron Frame Buildings, Tanks, Penstocks, Propeller Wheels, Gas Machines, Retorts, Purifiers, Gasometers, Exhausters, Meters, Governors, Valves, Fittings, Columns, Girders, Roofs, Sugar Mills, Vacuum Pans, Filters, Bone Black Kilns, Bone Crushers, Sugar Coolers, Sugar Drainers, Sugar Tanks, Molasses Tanks, Water Wheels,

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. | PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. | $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 28. | RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JULY 15, 1874. | WHOLE NO. 1,016.

Communicated.

For the Advocate

The Late Erasmus H. Coston.

Some write of the splendid achievements of the warrior, others of men of genius in the literary world, and again, others of men of noble birth and of world wide renown. I write of one of humble origin, of limited education, of an excellent spirit and vastly useful in the community in his day—the late Erasmus H. Coston, of Onslow county, N. C. An obituary notice of this, in many respects, remarkable man, appeared in the N. C. Christian Advocate of Feb. 1st, by Rev. R. P. Bibb. I subscribe to all therein stated. I feel unwilling that nothing more be said. It was about the last of the year 1854 in making my first round upon the Onslow circuit, and when about 30 miles from Newbernie making a little turn in the road, which was of deep sand, and on each side wire grass was growing, which no animal had ever seen fit to appropriate to its own use, and round and about reaching far up toward the ethereal regions grew tall pine trees, ready in summer to receive the dreadful shock from clouds surcharged with lightning, or in dreary winter to act as ten thousand harps when chilly winds sweep their cold and delicate fingers athwart their chords, reminding one of the last and sad requiem of departed worth. It was there and then I first beheld the humble residence of this devotee to the cause of God and truth. I soon felt myself at home, though far from where parents and friends cared and prayed for me.—Kindred spirits seem to live each other's lives, and listen with rapt attention while each to other relates the simple story of his life thus far is past. But for such homes as this, few good men would ever want to leave home long. Let me describe the residence and its surroundings. Embosomed in trees of different kinds it stood, a two story wooden building of moderate dimensions. The main building having four rooms and a shed on the North contained a sleeping apartment and dining room. In front or on the South side was a piazza. In the sitting room in the west end stood a large table on which lay some of the standard works of our church—in one corner a case for smaller volumes, and here and about lay copies of the old Richmond Christian Advocate. We had no Raleigh Christian Advocate then. In the west end of the piazza was the water board. Up stairs over the sitting room, was the preacher's room. Never when there did I sleep in any other. In the east end below was Mrs. and Mr. Coston's sleeping room. John D. Coston and Martha, his sister, occupied the other rooms.—These were step son and daughter of Mr. Coston. Mary Coston, wife of Erasmus H., was an estimable lady full of faith and good works. She was quiet and unassuming, but strong in the principles that make a good Christian mother. West of the dwelling was the cook room. South-west corner of the house lot was the meat house. Propriety and good sense had been consulted in the location of barn and stables, and industry had seen to it that there was good provender near by. North-east of the dwelling and outside the small house lot was the well, and between that and the lot grew a large scuppernong grape vine. No one ever complained of its position or of the curve that was to be made in reaching the well. Rare gifts may be given to some persons, cultivation of a mental order may be necessary for all, but whoever heard of an acquired taste for scuppernong grapes?

About the middle of September the air for some distance around this vine was redolent with the fragrance of this luscious fruit. Chills and their concomitant fevers may prevail for a time to keep one away from such surroundings, but as to whether he will break over all restraint is a mere matter of time, and not long at that.—Noon day sun is oppressively hot—not good to be exposed to it when chills have taken the freshness from your physiognomy, but just as the evening shades spread over the lawn and over the vine, you will imagine that you are better and throwing off all reserve, rally out, look up, reach up and be a man. While supper was being prepared on my first visit I was sometimes left alone. The fire glowed beautifully upon the hearth, and there was a solemn stillness about the house. The breath of prayer seemed to linger there.

Without being specific supper was such as rarely ever fails to please an itinerant preacher. Some folks prepare nothing for you at any meal but what is strictly fashionable, others prepare food for you to eat. There was not a great variety; so much the better for that—yet there was plenty. what more could we want? There was no apology—that was a relief. It was "food convenient for me."

The subject of these reflections was rather below medium size, fair complection, auburn hair, head well developed, gray eyes, but large and brilliant, forehead fine, and a more retentive memory I never knew a man to possess.

With some men a retentive memory is about all the redeeming trait they have. Not so with the subject of these memoranda. With his varied knowledge of men and things, this characteristic was very important.—His manner was easy and graceful—he appeared well in any company that he would keep. Had no affectation, and seemed instinctively to know how to act in any circle

He was well posted in county matters, but the church and her progress was his delight—his chief joy. He spent most of his days in her service. From the time he began to feel an interest in the church till the close of life, he could tell who preached in his circuit, and when, as well as with what success his ministry was attended. He was a co-worker with the preacher for the promotion of good and worked with a definite end in view.

He was very generous, and for the church did what he could. He was often told by men of less liberality that he was doing too much for the benevolent enterprises of the church,—that he would not be able to stand it. His reply would be that he believed it was an advantage in a temporal point of view rather than injurious to his prosperity. He would carry a little specie to church sometimes when he would fail to collect from some cause, thinking an emergency might arise when the preacher would need money, and having no other, would bring that. As a steward, he was found faithful, as a class leader, ardent and candid; as a trustee of church property, he guarded it well. When a politician had no more reverence for a house of worship than to ask it in order that therein he might, more to his own advantage, press his claims, he was promptly denied so far as he, being one of the trustees, was concerned.

Of the action of the Southern delegates in the General Conference of 1844 he was far from being ignorant. At their compact he did not demur.—He was equally acquainted with the action of the Northern delegation. The proceedings of this remarkable Conference seemed to be indelibly fixed upon his memory. He could point out the quibbles of the Northern delegation and laugh heartily at the sharp things said by Southern delegates in reply to labored speeches on the other side Coming nearer home he was well acquainted with Revs. D. O. Shattock, Alfred Norman, Philip Anderson, Daniel Culbreth, Wm. E. Pell, D. B. Nicholson, &c. Some of these preached both before and after the date of which I speak, in that country.

In his government at home he seemed not to govern, and yet his household was a model of a Christian family. When there I could retire to my room at 9 or sit with him till 11 and he would entertain me. He nearly always assumed, too, to be the learner in conversation. He would anticipate my wants, question me as to how I would have my horse cared for; interrogate me as to how I had rested when he would meet me in the morning, and in winter always kept a good fire. From the more sublime subjects of Dick's Philosophy, he would come down without abruptness to speak of the more ordinary objects in nature, animate or inanimate, at his fireside philosophising, wondering, believing He believed the most inferior orders of beings were designed for a purpose and in some way sound their Maker's praise, but as for rational man he must glorify God in his body and spirit which are his, or be recreant to his trust. With equal interest and fluency he would dwell upon the rill that ran through his field or the mighty Atlantic whose thunderous roar he had been familiar with all his life.

I have been blessed with his company at my house. We highly appreciated his visits, and he, when visiting us, seemed to feel unworthy the attention we paid him. For about 19 years, when not on his circuit, we kept up a correspondence. His letters nearly or quite always closed with a benediction and prayer that he might meet me in heaven. Last September, ere the last letter I ever wrote him reached its destination, his hands were palsied in death and his pleasant eyes that once danced with new brilliancy on the reception of news from a friend and brother were closed to all things earthly by our last enemy. The many friends and relatives of the deceased, if their eyes perchance should ever read these lines, may know that nothing but strong affection for their departed relative ever prompted me to express what is here set forth. And further, if I am so highly favored as to reach that land of fadeless light, I hope to see Erasmus H. Coston with many others of the name fond of each other's company there, as they were here, headed by Rev. James Coston who had gone to his reward before I ever saw him, and whose funeral sermon was preached by Rev. D. B. Nicholson from these words: "And Enoch walked with God, and he was not, for God took him."

D.

Hickory Slope, N. C., July 1, 1874.

For the Advocate.

DEAR EDITOR: Sometime since there appeared in the Advocate a well written article on the subject of raising the support of preachers; in which the writer quotes that much quoted and sometimes mooted text "They that preach the gospel shall live of the gospel." I presume the brother quoted it right as he is a preacher and supposed to know, and I wish to add (if you will allow) a few thoughts from a plain old man as they come to mind on the same text.

Now, is the preaching of the gospel one of the pursuits or avocations of life which God has ordained man shall follow, under the great fiat "in the sweet of thy face shalt thou eat bread" Gen. III. 19.? It is, or it is not. If it is not, then the matter is ended and all the outcry about "preacher's pay," "quarterly collections," "contributions" &c. is foolish and useless. If it is, then I have a little more to say: and it is this: By what law, or right, or rule, is man authorized to separate it from the laws and customs which prevail in all the other avocations of life? Let us paraphrase it and apply it to some of the common things of life, for that suits plain men best.

Paraphrase 1st, He who is an employe shall live of that in which he is employed. Would that mean, if a man is a locomotive runner, he shall live of his locomotive? Eat it, for instance? Pretty hard job he would have!

Paraphrase 2nd, They who are book-keepers shall live of their books. Literally, eat, drink, be clothed, they and their families, with ledgers and day books? Pretty dry and tough old food!

Paraphrase 3rd. They who are Doctors of medicine shall live of their medicine. How long would they live on salts and calomel, croton oil and camphor, opium and hyposulphites, potassa and bromo-chloro-calcium comp? Yet the above represent the position, absurd as it is, that many of the church take on the employment of a gospel-teacher or preacher. He goes to an appointment under the rules—he dare not refuse—and he is met by a board of stewards who deliberately sit down and plan how small a promise they can put him off with.

I am heartily tired and sick of hearing of such disgusting proceedings. What is the real meaning of the apostle in the passage quoted? It is this, the church shall make such provision for those who preach the gospel that they shall have a support from that as an employment. Just like any other man, engaged in any of the other employments of life—he shall have his pay—his living. It is a pity that men will urgue, even ministers, and in the public prints, as if this was a matter of voluntary contribution on the part of the church and not an obligation; entered into by every individual member when he joins the church at the altar before his God and gives his assent and makes his vow to support the Discipline. These things, pay and preaching, must be separated. The pay is not a contribution, a gratuity, a donation for preaching—no such thing! It is a debt due a person employed by the whole church (as the body of Christ) who is sent to minister as a pastor to a particular society; the church looking to that society or collections of societies to pay him his living. The pay is a pure matter of business devolved by the church on the stewards and they are required to inquire what is a suitable living (I use the term living as covering the gospel idea) for a man of his qualifications together with his family and dependents. It should be a matter of conscience with the stewards in making the estimate, as it is to become a contract, that it should be made on this basis, and the preacher should always be present to assent or dissent, as in fact it cannot become a contract with out his assent The contract being made then the plan whatever it may be for paying it should be faithfully carried out by every steward. I do not propose to enter into plans here, nor to give my opinion of them. Another time for that. Now, stewards, being a plain old man as I said before I want to speak to you plainly. There is your contract, it has to be fulfilled. Here is your plan, go to work and collect the pay. Please bear in mind the word I italicise, collect. You are not called upon to go out and beg it, but to collect it. How sneaking it would be of you to approach a brother and say, "brother can't you give me a little contribution for the preacher this year?" Don't you see you have lowered your calling by using two words which convey a false idea viz, "give" and "contribution." Come at him in this way: "brother the church has contracted to pay our preacher (not the preacher) so much; your share is, so much, please let me have one fourth of it now and I will call again next quarter &c."

That puts it on the right footing and looks like business. That leaves the preacher free to preach the gospel and not "serve tables" and that is the way he lives of the gospel. No begging! Don't lower the dignity of your holy office in the church. You are the executive officers of the church, called of the church (which in most instances is the direct call of God) to this labor. Go forth boldly and demand for the Lord Jesus and not for men. Can the experience of one like myself aid and encourage you: here it is: during many years service as a steward I have followed the rules here laid down and have always got the amount my book or list called for. May the Lord prosper and keep you, prays your friend!

O. L. E. STYLES.

Ebenezer July 4th 1874.

Selections.

Theory Of Sound.

The accepted theory in sound is this, that it is caused by those vibrations of any sonorous body which are capable of awaking a responsive vibration in our organs of hearing; this motion is communicated to the surrounding medium, and by the medium in its turn to the tympanum of the ear, and thence to the seat of sensation, the brain We can only follow it through its physical existence. When the nervous tremor of the auditory nerve comes to the brain, that wonderful laboratory which is receiving a thousand such tremors every moment, and instantly transmitting them into pain or pleasure, beauty or distortion, harmony or discord, we can only wonder; not explain.

It is necessary to understand thoroughly how motion may be propagated while the medium which transmits it remains comparatively still. This point may be proved by an experiment so simple that any child may try it for himself Place half a dozen marbles in a row, confining them by two books or two strips of wood so they can move freely in one direction only. Roll against the end of the row, with some little force, another marble. The line scarcely seems to move, but the force conveyed from marble to marble is sufficient to drive the last one in the row quite a distance from the others. It only makes itself manifest in this one because it alone has no companion to whom it can transmit what it has received. There are many familiar illustrations of this communication of motion; the most common is to be found in the ripples of water.

How many times in our childhood do all of us remember dropping a pebble into still water and dreamily watching the slowly-widening circles? The particles of water do not move except to a very short distance, but the motion extends itself as far as it is permitted: each little particle of water makes its appointed excursion, delivers its message, and returns to its former position, waiting for further commands.

Better still may the point be illustrated by the waves that a breeze causes to sweep over a field of grain. In this instance we know that none of the grain is uprooted, that after the breeze has passed it each stock stands in its place: the motion communicated to the stock, after carrying it as far as it will go, is delivered up to those next it The ripple would move as a single wave sweeping across the field if the breeze gave but one puff and then died out; but as puff succeeds puff, or as the air is steadily moved in one direction, the effect is but intensified and continuous. A piece of twine fastened firmly at one end and shaken at the other will show the motion is carried forward, while each little particle of the string only moves up and down. Just so each particle of air transmits to all those in contact with its own motion. These, like all illustrations, must not be pushed too far or they will fail of their purpose. The vibration of the string, the undulation on lake or field, represent a wave of sound. The media through which they pass are free on one or many of their surfaces; hence the waves in water express themselves as hollows and heaps alternately, while the waves in air, being equally pressed upon in every direction, and the medium being highly compressible, go out from the sonorous body not in circles, but in spheres; not as depressions and elevations, but as rarefactions and condensations.

From February Home and School, Louisville, Ky.

Mr. George Smith, of the British Museum, has just arrived at home from the expedition to Assyria, undertaken on behalf of the Trustees. Mr. Smith's collections are following by steamer, and include, it is said, some curious and interesting objects of antiquity.

What Shall we do With our Boys?

We are getting a large crop of boys. They are growing up everywhere. We find them in the drawing-room; we run against them in the street. We do not see so many of them in church as we should like to. But what shall we do with them? The vast majority of them cannot have a collegiate education, nor get further than the common school, and we are not sure that they are the worse for that. But they are growing up, and the question is, "What shall we do with JOHNNY?" JOHNNY wants to be a great sculptor, or he wants to write "JOHNNY pinxit" on an acre of canvas, or he wishes to be an author. But he does not wish to work on the farm, nor is he willing to engage in mercantile life. He does not like business, and the law is not to be thought of. And so JOHNNY lounges about the farm, doing odd chores at times, working on his marble, or his canvas, or rewriting his essay on the Relation of the Infinite to the Intangible. But what shall we do with him? We suppose there are few families where the problem is not awaiting solution, and nothing regarding which more mistakes are committed. Let us say right here to each incipient PRAXITELES and RAPHAEL that the road to fame in this country lies through the workshop, the store, or the farm. Nothing is more difficult in this country than the early pursuit of literature or the fine arts. If you buy has these tastes, and even talent, thank God for it; but do not let them prove his ruin. Let him learn well and thoroughly some trade, or else make a farmer of him, or put him in a store, and then, when he shall have acquired the means of earning his own livelihood, let him at his leisure develop his tastes.

This, indeed, is the history of the success of our two greatest sculptors, one of whom is no longer living One was an apprentice, and a good worker he was. The other went into mercantile business and employed his odd leisure moments in fashioning bits of statuary. But now his reputation is world-wide, and orders come in upon him as thick as the summer leaves. Put JOHNNY to work. Whether he likes it or not, make him work; but if possible give him work which he goes at willingly. A boy who will do nothing but chisel, or paint, or write poetry, or write essays, will scarcely, if ever, succeed at it. First the farm, the workshop, the counting-house; after that the marble bust, the painting, the epic, or the essay. Boys need discipline, the hard discipline though it be of life: and it is better they should have their real hard knocks at first than that they should lose their manliness and the respect of others in the pursuit of that idleness which is as pernicious as it is disgraceful. —Christian at Work.

Conscience.

When a very little boy, I remember reading of a child who was in the habit of going to an upper room or loft where there was a store of apples; but as she went from time to time to steal these apples, she met something that greatly troubled her, for there happened to have been placed in that store room an old oil-painting.

It was a large face, the eyes of which, go to what part of the room the little girl might, seemed to follow her: and they appeared to be saying to her, as she stooped down to take up the apples, "Ah! I see you. It is very naughty. I'll tell upon you. You are sure to be found out."

Well, this so annoyed the little girl, from time to time, that she was determined to put a stop to this speechifying of these two great staring eyes; so she got a small knife, or a pair of scissors, and struck them out.

Ah! but there were still two large holes in place of the eyes, and she never could look at them without thinking of the eyes, but she had not, nor could she, get rid of her conscience. Moreover, the very means she had adopted for sinning without rebuke only served to discover her guilt; for when what had befallen the painting came to be found out, it led to such inquiries as at last to reveal the whole truth.—Episcopalian.

An important paper has been communicated by M. Boussingault to the Annales de Chimie et de Physique, in which he traces the origin of the acids occurring in the thermal waters which rise in the volcanic districts of the Cordilleras. These waters contain free sulphuric and hydrochloric acids. The author also describes the geological structure of some of the volcanoes of the Andes, and gives analyses of certain rocks. He concludes that at temperatures between a dull red and a cherry red heat the vapor of water acting on a mixture of chlorides and sulphates in contact with a rock rich in silica, such as trachyte, develops hydrochloric and sulphuric acids, whence the origin of these acids in the thermal springs under discussion.

Interviewing as a Business.

It is now customary, when you want to find out a man's opinions on any subject, to send a reporter to draw him out. This is right and honorable. Let the interlocutor sharpen his pencil and take down all that the politician or author, or clergyman says, and let the public know it, if it be worth knowing. But there is a herd of newspaper men who spend their time in going about to misrepresent public men The dinner of the literary vagrant depends on his making up an article, and make it up he will, reckless of truth and decency. Here is a chapter of our own sufferings last week. Door bell rings. Gentleman of the press says he must see us. We send word to the door that it is impossible till six o'clock. Word comes again that it is a case of absolute necessity. We reply that our rule is inexorable. A bang at the door again; says that it will be a great disadvantage to us if we do not appear. At last we go down and accost the newspaper man.

Ourselves: Good morning. What is it?

Interviewer: Excuse me, but I have called to see what you think about the trouble in a neighboring church.

Ourselves: We know nothing about it.

Interviewer: You have read the newspapers on the subject, and must have some opinion.

Ourselves: No; we have been out in the country two days, and have not read up on the subject.

Interviewer: Well, what is your opinion of the subject in general?

Ourselves: We have nothing to offer either in general or in particular.

Interviewer: What is your opinion of the Rev. Dr. Blank's preaching?

Ourselves: We do not care to express any opinion.

Interviewer: Then you decline to express yourself on the subject?

Ourselves: We are so busy that we have no time to discuss anything; besides, it is too hot.

The interviewer retired, and the next day there was a half column of newspaper article containing our views on the subject about which the reporter had quizzed us. He gave whole paragraphs of denunciation on our part of the neighboring Church and their pastor.

Now, what shall be done with such literary vagrants? It is high time that this prevailing nuisance be abated. We give fair warning of our mode of procedure hereafter. When a newspaper man comes to interview us, we shall first ask his name, what paper he represents, and what is his residence. Then call in a witness. If his mission is a good one, and he reports just what we say, all right; but if he lies in his public statement, we shall send a police to look after him. If there be some concert of action in the matter, we shall soon have the line drawn between honorable and infamous interviewing.—Talmage, in Christian at Work.

SCIENCE.

A cholera conference will be held in Vienna, in the autumn.

The Rev Dr. Fairbairn, Warden of St. Stephen's College, Armandale, New York, has discovered a comet in the vicinity of Jupiter.

A resin embedded in the lignite of Dux, in Austria, has been analyzed by Herr Fischer, and appears to be a new species, for which Dr. Doelter proposes the name "Duxite."

The comet now visible, will make its perihelion passage about July 7th. When nearest the earth, about July 23d, its distance from us will be nearly 27,000,000 of miles.

By wetting a mass of freshly broken coal, and putting it into a warm cellar, the heap is heated to such a degree that carburetted and sulphuretted hydrogen are given off for long periods of time, and pervade the whole house. The liability of wet coal to produce mischievous results under such circumstances, may be appreciated from the fact that there are several instances on record of the spontaneous combustion of wet coal when stowed in the bunkers of holds of ships.

The French Association for the Advancement of Science has voted a sum of money to M. W. de Fonvielle in order to encourage him to recommence his course of systematic balloon ascents. M. de Fonvielle intends to study the differential direction which it is possible to give to an aerostat, in varying the altitude, for taking advantage of several directions of winds. It is not known yet whether he will practise his method for travelling in Europe or in America.

In notice of a pamphlet on "Agricultural Schools and Experimental Farms," Nature says that the author, Mr. David Milne Home, points out very forcibly how far behind all the rest of the world is England so far as the teaching of scientific agriculture is concerned. For many years, in Germany and Austria, institutions supported by the State have been at work, not only for giving those who intend to follow agriculture as a vocation a thorough education in the scientific principles of that art, but also for scientific education in the principles and material of agriculture in all its branches. Other continental countries are following the example of Germany and Austria, and, more recently, numerous institutions of a similar kind, partly aided by Government, have been established on the best models in this country. The consequence is that Britain is being outdistanced in a department which used to be deemed peculiarly British; and the only means by which she can regain and keep her place as an agricultural country is by getting Government to take the initiative in founding agricultural institutions similar to those of the countries named.

A RECENT paper of Dr. Liebreich contains an explanation of the origin of short sight and curvature of the spine. He demonstrates that the two evils, both so much more frequent among the educated classes than the uneducated classes of society, are developed by the unnatural posture usually enforced in schools. During childhood the eye possesses a great power of accommodating itself to distance, and if in reading and writing the desks are so arranged that the eye instead of being twelve to fifteen inches distant, is kept at seven or eight inches from the book or paper, the eye adapts itself to the near object, and permanent short sight is the result. Moreover, as the predisposition to the disease is hereditary, short sight is constantly on the increase in highly civilized countries. The bad posture adopted at writing-desks is also the chief cause of lateral curvature of the spine. In extreme cases, says Dr. Liebreich, the copy book is pushed forward, so that its lower border is inclined at an angle of forty-five degrees with the edge of the table. The head is lowered and so much twisted that the left eye is only a few inches distant from the book; the left cheek almost touches the left hand, or even leans upon it; the ribs of the left side are pressed against the edge of the desk, and the taller children slip backward on the forms, so that only the lower part of the thighs rest on the narrow bench. In many schools the pupils maintain the unnatural position for several hours daily, until at last the muscles are overtired, and permanent distortion of the spine is the inevitable result. To avoid these evils, desks should be so constructed that when the pupil is seated the shoulders should be even, the spine straight, the head balanced on the top of the spine, the elbows on a level with each other, and only the hands and part of the forearm resting on the desk. In order to effect this, Dr. Liebreich recommends a desk in which the angle is twenty degrees, for writing, and which, by turning up a flap, gives an angle of forty-five degrees, for supporting a book for reading. He strongly condemns the absurd, unanatomical notion that straight spines can be insured by making children sit up straight without support for the back, thus overfatigning the muscles, and producing the very effect desired to be avoided.

Why, it is often asked, do astronomers attach so much importance to the transit of Venus? The answer is this: because it furnishes the most accurate means of determining the sun's horizontal parallax. And why is the sun's parallax of so much importance? Because we thus ascertain the distance of the earth from the sun, and by the application of Kepler's law, the distance of all the other planets. The three great truths, called Kepler's laws, are regarded as the sum of all observations which have ever been made upon the heavenly bodies. This "legislator of the skies" proclaimed them as facts, and they were afterward demonstrated mathematically by Newton, who proved that they were necessary results of the law of universal gravitation. Kepler's three laws are as follows: 1. The orbits of all the planets are ellipses, the sun occupying the common focus. 2. The radius vector of any planet describes areas proportional to the times. 3. The squares of the periodical times are as the cubes of the major axes of the orbits. The duration of the transit of Venus is estimated at different places quite distant from each other in order that the difference of duration may be as large as possible. It is one hundred and five years since the last transit, which occurred in 1769, and two of the most favorable places then selected for observation were Wardhuz in Lapland, and Tahiti, one of the South Sea Islands. The John Bull of June 6th thus alludes to American enterprise, as well as to that of other nations, in preparing for the forthcoming transit. The distance of the sun from the earth, it may be remarked, is now regarded as ninety-one instead of ninety five millions of miles: "It is to be hoped that the English astronomers are making good preparations for the great event of December 8-9. The Americans are, and have already arranged to place a band of observers from Vladivostock, in the sea of Japan, to Kerguelen Island, in the far Southern Sea. They will be stationed also in Pekin, in Hobart Town, Tasmania, and several other points.... The Governments of England, France, and Germany are going to send out observers, and Lord Lindsay is going on his own account to Mauritius. Father Secchi, the celebrated Jesuit astronomer, intends to use a special adaptation of the spectroscope in order to watch the planet's approach to and contact with the sun."

THE ARTS.

A statue of John Bunyan has been erected at Bedford, England.

The annual exhibition of the Royal Manchester Institution, is announced to open early in September.

The number of visitors to the British Museum last year, was 576, 019, a great increase over the preceding year.

A committee, has been formed, consisting of an equal number of Englishmen and Italians, with the object of erecting a monument to Lord Byron, in some suitable spot in Venice.

An exhibition of the works of living artists, open to all countries, is to be held in Amsterdam in September. It will include paintings, sculpture, architectural designs, engravings, drawings, and lithographs. Six gold medals, of the value of one hundred florins each, are to be awarded to exhibitors whose works a jury may consider worthy of the prize.

The Federation Artistique states that a Venetian founder, named Giodani, has discovered a new process of casting, by the operation of which and at a single flow of the liquid metal, not only large statues, but groups of most elaborate complexity, can at once be produced, and with so fine a finish that no supplemental chiselling is required. He has exemplified this in a statue of Leda with perfect success.

The London Art Journal records as a melancholy in memoriam the statue which it is intended to erect as a monument to the unfortunate Emperor Maximilian of Mexico, and which comes from the atelier of the celebrated sculptor Schelling of Leipsic. It is now in the imperial foundry of Vienna, and will be erected, it is anticipated, in one of the chief squares of Trieste, in the month of August or September of this year.

The following paintings have recently been purchased by the English Government, for the National Gallery: Vivarin's "Virgin and Infant Saviour;" C. Tura's "Madonna;" B. di Siena's "Madonna and Infant Saviour;" Crivelli's "SS. Catherine and Mary Magdalen," and "Madonna in Ecstasy," P. della Francesca's "Nativity," socalled, L. Signorelli's "Triumph of Chastity;" B. Pinturicchio's "Three Illustrations of the Story of Griselda;" and Botticelli's "Mars and Venus."

In the last number of the Albany Law Journal, a correspondent makes the following interesting assertion concerning the rights and relation of artists: "When the owner of a family portrait employs an artist to make a copy, the copy during all its stages belongs to the employer, subject only to the lien of the artist for his labor. The right to make a copy inheres in the ownership, and the artist making a copy for the owner is in the same position as the owner making a copy for himself. Consequently the copy cannot be levied upon under execution as the property of the artist."

Breeding Stock.

It is not an unworthy ambition for any farmer to cultivate—to establish by careful breeding and judicious crossing a breed of animals of his own—of cattle, sheep or swine—adopted to his locality and wants, filling his ideal of what his experience may have taught him a desirable animal should be for his locality. Of course in making such an effort he should study thoroughly the different existing breeds and have their merits and demerits well defined in his mind; and the objects he is to attain by his breeding experiments should be equally well defined. But there is so little effort made to improve upon or retain the good qualities of our native breeds and yet add to them those desirable in the imported, that we really have few or no independent original breeders—that is, men with original ideas that have been formulated from the generalizations of experience and knowledge of the needs of this county, with its varied climates, soils, and conditions of animal growth. There is a wide field here for some enterprising young American farmer to occupy. It will require years of patient labor, study and experiment; but it will pay.

The Christian Advocate

OFFICE - Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

FOR ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE. $2.00
SIX MONTHS. 1.25
If payment be delayed six months, 2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C. JULY 15, 1874.

OUR VACATION.—Under the advice of a Physician, we take leave of our office for a few weeks to visit the Springs in the Western part of this State. With a short period of rest from the labors of our office, we hope to regain our health, and return to our post fresh for the duties devolving upon us. We leave our office in the hands of one whose acquaintance with its inside operations and competency, justify us in saying that the paper will not suffer for the lack of proper care and attention.

We were pleased to have a visit the past week, from Dr. Jones, the popular president of Greensboro Female College. He gives a most gratifying account of the financial success of the college the past collegiate year, and the prospects, we are glad to learn, are flattering for the fall session which begins on the 29th of the present month. The President and faculty are two well known to require a word of commendation for us. Send your daughters to Greensboro and they will be thoroughly taught in all that pertains to an accomplished and thorough education.

Bro. Nelson announces elsewhere the time of the meeting of the Charlotte District Conference. Rev. J. P. Simpson the pastor at Mount Pleasant, at which point the Conference is to be held, desires the preachers on the District to send him the names of all the delegates elect to the Conference. Bros Nelson, Simpson and Brnton, will accept our thanks for their kind invitation to be present and participate in the exercises of the Conference. It would give us great pleasure to attend and mingle with the brethren, but we think it more than likely we shall be deprived of this privilege.

Dr. Craven, President of Trinity College, was in the city the past week in attendance upon the State Educational Association. His address, "on tests of scholarship" before the association, as we see from the city press, and learn from those who were present, was a very fine production.

The brethren will accept our thanks for the kind greetings sent us in regard to the Advocate. No one appreciates words of approval more than we do. Our position is one of toil and great responsibility, and nothing gives us so much encouragement as to know that our conduct of the paper gives satisfaction.

We are indebted to Rev. T. P. England for a club of fifteen new subscribers. We hear of others who are making up clubs. Now is the time to press the canvass. The season for protracted and camp meetings is at hand and a good opportunity will be afforded to present the claims of the paper.

We are gratified at the promptness with which so many to whom bills were sent last week, have responded. A goodly number have sent us the cash and others have requested us to continue their paper and they would forward their money at an early day.

Rev. Jas. Wilson, in charge of Fifth street Church, Wilmington, writes: "The Church here is becoming reconciled and things are beginning to work. I am very hopeful of success."

DEATH OF GOV. CALDWELL.—We are called upon to chronicle the death of Gov. Tod R. Caldwell, the chief executive officer of the State. He departed this life at 6:25 P. M. on Saturday the 11th. He had gone to Hillsboro to attend the meeting of the Stockholders of the North Carolina Railroad. He was taken suddenly ill soon after reaching that place, and survived only two days.

The Central Methodist says: The editor of the Methodist Advocate is quite sorry that our General Conference did so much against our own interest, on the fraternity question, and so much for the Northern Church. If it is in the interest of the Northern Church to publish, in an authenticated form, the misdoings and duplicity of that church, in contrast with the steadfast adherence to principle and fraternity by our own church, they are welcome to it.

There are about 35,000 Germans in the Methodist Episcopal Church. The Apologist, the only Methodist paper printed in German, has 16,000 subscribers, or about one to every two members.

The Raleigh District Conference will be held at Franklinton commencing Thursday morning, July the 23d, at 10 o'clock.

The Rev. H. P. Cole, of Raleigh, will preach the introductory sermon Wednesday evening, July the 22d, at 8 o'clock.

W. H. BOBBITT, P. E.
July 9th 1874.

Dr. Redford's Article.

In the Nashville Advocate of June 20th, Dr. Redford saw proper to assail us, rudely, as we thought, for a brief, well meant statement of fact, which appeared in our paper of June 10th. We replied to his article, which the Doctor had the kindness to reproduce in the columns of the Nashville Advocate of July 4th, in answer to which he occupies nearly the whole of the first page of that paper.—We should be glad to lay before our readers the entire article, but our limited space will not allow us to do so. In the outset, we desire to state that the Doctor does us but justice in placing us on the long list of friends of the Publishing House. It must be remembered, however, that faults are sometimes discovered in cherished institutions of the church as well as in personal friends, and it is the part of true friendship to point them out, and use all proper means to correct them.

In our last we stated that Dr. Redford had signally failed to sustain the position he has assumed all the while, that our publications could be purchased as cheap from "our Publishing House" as from Northern houses.—To show how far he failed in making good his statement, we copy from his catalogue, revised and published this year, his rates of discount to all book dealers, and leave the public to decide the question. In these rates, by which alone we are to be governed, he says:

"On all bills of One Hundred Dollars or under, Twenty-five per cent. discount; over One Hundred and not more than Two Hundred, Thirty per cent.; over Two Hundred and less than Five Hundred, Thirty-five per cent: Five Hundred Dollars and over, Forty per cent."

In our former article our statements were based upon these rates as sent out by Dr. Redford himself. We affirmed then, and do affirm now, that according to the Doctor's own rates, and taking the bills now in possession of our book dealers, that the publications of Nashville can be purchased cheaper in Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York in quantities to suit the buyers of this city and the preachers of our Conference, than from headquarters. The Doctor is unwilling to admit this statement, and says:

"In order to be set right on this question we addressed letters to the several Houses in Raleigh who have purchased books from us at any time, calling their attention to the editorial in the Advocate, and requesting them to furnish us with the prices at which they can purchase our books at New York or Baltimore, and the names of the Houses where they can be bought at lower rates than from us. We have as yet received a reply from only one House. This gentleman writes: "I purchased your publications from you, when I ordered a considerable quantity, at four-tenths off. I could purchase them in any quantity from J. B. Lippincott & Co., or Claxton, Remsen & Haffelfinger, of Philadelphia, or E. J. Hale & Son, and D. Appleton & Co., of New York, at one-third off. Hence, unless buying a large lot, it was preferable to get them in Philadelphia or New York, from whence the time was much shorter, the freight much less, and other goods could be ordered and received at the same time."

Since reading the above, we have called upon all "our city book sellers," three in number, to know if either of them wrote what the Doctor quotes as coming from "one House" in Raleigh, and they all deny writing what the Doctor says is in reply to "letters addressed to the several Houses in Raleigh." We have no doubt but that our good brother and friend, Dr. Redford, has received a letter from Raleigh containing the language which he quotes, but it is not from any of "our city book-sellers." We propose to give their statements just as they have been given to us in writing. One of them says: "I have been purchasing the Hymn Books of our church from Philadelphia at ⅓ off retail prices, in small quantities. I purchase North because the time is much quicker, the freight only a little over half, and I get ⅓ off, whereas the Nashville Catalogue (latest) only allows 25 per cent off on anything less than one hundred dollars." From the evidence of this book seller, it will be seen that he can buy books cheaper in Philadelphia, get them quicker, and with a little over half the cost of transportation from Nashville to this point.

Another "city book seller" says: "I have been buying our Nashville Publications in Philadelphia, in such quantities as I desired at ⅓ off. On bills of the same amount, according to Dr. Redford's catalogue of prices, only 25 per cent discount is allowed on retail prices. Some time since I purchased over a hundred dollars worth of Books from the Methodist Publishing House in Nashville, for the especial accommodation of one of our ministers, upon which I received only 30 per cent discount, and on catechisms no discount at all."
This is a plain, simple statement of fact, that a city bookseller did buy books of Dr. Redford amounting to more than one hundred dollars, upon which he received only 30 per cent discount and none on the catechisms, when the same bill of books could have been purchased in Baltimore at ⅓ off, the express charges being only one half.

A third city book seller says: "I have been in the habit of purchasing the Southern Methodist Hymn Books in Baltimore at a discount of ⅓ on the retail price." The same book seller further states: "I have recently purchased a bill of these books from * * in Baltimore amounting to $63.70 at ⅓ off.

Let us take this bill for illustration. In Baltimore our Methodist Hymns are bought, (not the run of the catalogue,) to the amount of $63.70—at ⅓ off, $21 23⅓ is the discount on the bill. On the same bill purchased of Dr. Redford in Nashville, only 25 per cent, according to his published rates of discount, would have been allowed, amounting on the whole to only $15.92½—making a difference of $5.31 and $1.25 in freight in favor of Baltimore. Total difference in favor of Baltimore, on this small bill, $6.56. It is true he could have sent to Nashville and purchased $500 worth of our publications, and perhaps entirely of Hymns, at 40 per cent discount, but he did not wish to buy a bill of that amount at one time. Nor do any of "our city book-sellers" buy our publications in amounts as large as that at any one time. Hence the statement that they can buy books of Northern Houses cheaper than they can direct from headquarters. Now we hold that as the Publishing House is the property of the Southern Methodist Church, having for its object the dissemination of Methodist literature among our people, the very largest per cent given to any class of buyers should be allowed our preachers. To require them to buy $500 worth in order to obtain 40 per cent off is unreasonable, and to require or expect them to buy in bills of $100 and upwards in order to get 30 per cent off, when they can buy in Baltimore or from other Northern cities at ⅓ off in small amounts with the saving of one half in transportation, is likewise unreasonable. Would it not be more in accordance with the avowed sentiments of the agent to say to them 'buy our publications wherever it is to your interest pecuniarily or otherwise.' Methodist preachers are the hardest worked, poorest paid, most self-sacrificing, and the most liberal of any other class of people in the land, and therefore they are entitled to the most liberal discount in the purchase of our publications. North Carolina preachers are not behind those of any other conference in their heroic devotion to the Methodist Church and all her institutions, and they will stand by the Publishing House in all things right and proper, but they will not long be willing to pay higher for our books than other dealers. Adopting the language of Dr. Redford, "we appeal in loss to his sense of justice than to the magnanimity of his character, and to the responsible position he occupies" as book agent of the Southern Methodist Publishing House, to so change his rates as to allow our preachers, on hard circuits and stations, as large discount as he does "our merchants" and other book dealers. "Certainly he will take pleasure in" doing this, as "alike due himself and the church of which he is an honored minister." So much for the information Dr. Redford received from "a city book-seller."

He next places us upon the stand, and attempts to prove something, though we do not know what, nor does any one who has read his article, with whom we have conversed. He says:

"We have, however, another witness, who, although an interested one, we take the liberty of placing on the stand. Our readers will not be surprised when we say that we refer to Brother Bobbitt himself. He says: "Our city book-sellers do affirm, and show by their bills, that they buy our Nashville Hymns in Philadelphia at one-third off, while at Nashville they get but 30 per cent discount."

After giving his reasons for not sending out our publications on commission or sale, stating that "such a policy would be fatal," which has nothing to do with the controversy in question, he then says:

"In order to accommodate the Church, and place our publications at accessible points, wherever we could do so, we have encouraged merchants to keep such supply on hand as the demands of the Church in their vicinity required. To induce them to do so we proposed to sell to them at nearly per cent discount on books of General Catalogue, that they might be able to supply the preachers at our regular rates of discount. * * *

With these plain facts before our readers, we ask them whether or not our good friend and brother was justifiable in stating that our books can be purchased by "our city book-sellers" at a lower price elsewhere than in Nashville."

In answer to the Doctor, the witness would respectfully state that he does feel justified in making the statement, based upon his published rates, that our books can be purchased by "our city book-sellers" at a lower price elsewhere than in Nashville.—He claims that it is due all parties concerned, and especially our preachers who buy and sell those books, that the fact should be made known that even in the purchase of a small bill of our Methodist books in Baltimore, amounting to only $63.70, a sacrificing laborious Methodist preacher can save to his wife and children $6.56; and upon reflection we believe the Doctor himself will agree with us that we are right in giving this information of which he himself claims to be ignorant.

Upon the question of the price of the Nashville Advocate to which we alluded in a former article, our friend and brother, Dr. Redford, has this to say:

"We cannot close this article—already longer than we expected it to be—without referring to the criticism the editor makes on the price of our Advocate. He says: 'We disapprove of the reduction of the price of the Nashville Advocate from $3 to $2 per annum.' We would not like to say that this is the cause of the attack made on the Publishing House, Brother Bobbitt is too magnanimous to try to bring discredit on our Publishing interests because he disapproves of the reduction of the price of the Advocate from $3 to $2. But why does he disapprove? Is it because it interferes with the circulation of his paper? He affirms that it does not conflict with his paper at all. Why then does he disapprove? We allow him to answer this question himself. He says: 'If Dr. Redford has the business capacity, and has taken the pains to examine the question at all, he must find that, if he uses regular Union printers, the cost of bringing out the Advocate, every expense considered, is not less than $2 50 per year. We object, because of the loss that is therein involved to the Southern Methodist Church. Our Publishing House is in debt, and cannot afford to lose on its best source of revenue.' We are not certain that we fully understand our brother's difficulty. If he intends to make the impression that, if we 'use regular Union printers,' and embrace every expense that enters into the publication of the Advocate, we cannot, with our large subscription and advertising patronage, publish the paper at a less cost than $2 50 per annum, then we must demur to his declaration. We do employ 'regular Union printers'—we include every expense in getting up and publishing the Advocate, and after deducting all the expenses, the net profits resulting to the Publishing House from the Advocate, for the four years preceding the late General Conference, were $13,331 32, while the subscription-list during the same period has increased from 4,500 to more than 11,000."

The statement we made that the Nashville Advocate could not be published for less than $2.50 at a fair profit to the Publishing House, all expenses considered, is no new idea at all. It is the accepted opinion of hundreds and we might say thousands of our people. It is likewise the opinion of some occupying the highest official positions in the Church, and of large experience in the conduct of newspapers, that the Nashville Christian Advocate, to yield a profit to the Publishing House, cannot be published at lower figures than $2.50 per annum.

We now propose to give in detail the expenses of the Nashville Advocate, based upon the standards which obtain among publishers generally.

There are in the Nashville Advocate, according to the measurement of one of the best 'Union Printers' in the city of Raleigh, who is thoroughly conversant with the business, and has been connected with some of the largest houses in the country, North or South, three hundred and twenty-five thousand ems, which, at 50 cents per thousand, (the regular price of Union printers in Nashville) amounts to $162.50 per week for type-setting.—In the aggregate this amounts, in twelve months, to $8450. The paper, per week, for 11000 subscribers, which he claims, will weigh 1512 pounds. We give the Doctor the benefit of a deduction of the 12 pounds, which reduces it in round numbers to 1500 pounds. This, at 14 cents a pound, will cost $210 per week,—for the year, the paper costs $10.920.—On 11000 subscribers, the press-work at 50 cents per token, (which is one half the price paid the Public Printer by our State Legislature) amounts to nearly $46 dollars—We can afford to be generous and will put it at $45 per week. For the year the press-work amounts to $2340.—Editor's salary, as we are informed, $3000 a year, a book-keeper $1000, mailing clerk $500, mailing paper $350, stationery and postage on paper and letters $350; ink $300, lights and fuel $500; city-carrier $150; mail and other books for use of office $50; rent $1000. Estimating that 3000 preachers, traveling and local, receive the Advocate at one dollar there will be a loss on regular subscription of $3000; papers to weekly exchanges say $400; to dead heads $400; loss sustained on subscription and advertising $2000; wear and tear of type, &c., $500 per year; interest on investment $320; insurance $100. Thus we find the total cost of the paper for one year to be $35.630.

Now let us consider the receipts of the office. On 11000 subscribers at $2 each, the receipts would be $22.000. Taking the two last issues of the Advocate as criteria, we consider that 17 columns of paying advertisements is a fair average, the receipts from which, according to papers of like circulation, will amount to $5000.—Thus we find the total receipts of the office to be $27.000. The excess, then, of the expenses over the receipts is $8.630. We consider it is but fair to make a reduction of expenses of $2000 in consideration of "standing matter" in the paper. This makes the expense account exceed receipts by $6.630. If the paper were published at $2.50 per annum, the receipts would be $5.500 more, which would still make receipts less than expenditures by $1130. We will again be generous to the Doctor, and give him $1130, so that the receipts and expense accounts of his paper, at $2.50 a year, may balance, and nothing be lost or made to the Publishing House. We do not include the expense to the office of five copies of the issue containing Dr. Redford's labored rejoinder, sent, as we learn, to the subscribers of the paper, which, if sent to all, would be at an expense of about $2000. Nor do we include in our estimate the salary of the Book Agent, proof reader, or any of the expenses which belong to the book department. Neither do we include the expense of publishing the Sunday-school papers. We have made the estimate separate and distinct from any expense connected with the Publishing House, which is the only way to arrive at the cost of the paper. We do not claim to give the exact figures paid for clerical force, but the estimate is based upon our knowledge of prices usually paid for such labor, and we believe the figures to be substantially correct.

Having submitted the above facts and figures, we now appeal to Dr. Redford and all who earnestly desire the prosperity of our Publishing House, to say whether or not we were justifiable in making the statement that the Nashville Advocate could not be published for less than $2 50 a year, and whether we have not made that statement good. We have received a large number of letters from brethren both in the ministry and laity, approving most heartily of our course in this matter, from which (following the example of the Doctor) we might make quotations if it were at all necessary to do so. We submit, however, that it is in rather bad taste to introduce extracts from private correspondence into a controversy of this character or any other.

In concluding this article, already too long, we wish again to assure Dr. Redford and the whole church that we are loyal in every particular to the Publishing House. To state facts which go to show the unfortunate policy of the agent is not an attack on the Publishing House. We have been influenced by the best motives in the statement we have made, and conscientiously believe good will be the result. We are now through with the subject, and so far as we are concerned, the matter is at rest, unless some new issues are made.

The Comet---Startling Statement.

Prof. Henry M. Parkhurst, of New York, says that on the 25th of June the tail of the comet (Coggia's) now seen in the northern heavens, was 3,000 miles in length, and he assumes an increase of one-tenth each day, arriving at the startling result that on the 20th of July it will touch the earth. On Thursday, July 2, says the Episcopal Methodist at half-past 9 o'clock, the comet was easily seen by the naked eye in the northwest by the citizens of Baltimore. Its tail indicated six degrees in length. Prof. Parkhurst says:

"On the 14th of July the head of the comet will have reached the horizon in northwest at the end of twilight, so that it will not easily be visible after that date; but the tail will extend nearly to the polar star.

"Donati's comet had a retrograde motion, and when the earth met it, and the tail was most brilliant, it was placed nearly at right angles with the line of vision. On the other hand this comet whose perihelion distance is very little greater, coming just within the orbit of Venus, moves in the same direction with the earth, and nearly with the same velocity, (reduced to the plane of the equator,) in consequence of which the tail, which is now nearly at right angles with the line of vision, will gradually turn towards us, still apparently pointing nearly in the same direction. It will be remembered that Donati's comet was curved like a soldier's plume; but Coggia's is now and will remain nearly straight, because the curvature will be directly from us, and therefore imperceptible. Another striking difference from the tails of comets generally is that it will be so foreshortened as to be remarkably wide at the end.

"On July 16, the tail will extend far beyond the pole and develop a new characteristic, tapering off rapidly toward the end. Within three or four days after the 16th, the tail will have become expanded in the neighborhood of the pole as to fill a large part of the northern heavens. Yet it will not be a conspicuous object, because it will be so faint as to look rather like an immense cloud, or a new milky-way, than what it really is. By this time we shall have solved the question whether the tail is hollow, or has a radiated structure, or what is its constitution.

"Of the way in which this will end it is not safe yet to speak with definiteness; for although, if the tail were straight, we should be almost certainly near the middle of it on July 20th, yet its curvature will probably delay it two or three days, and even until the earth has passed beyond its path. Taking the best value I can from the records of previous comets, I should expect the earth on July 22 to be wholly within the east ern edge of the comet's tail; and I will assume this to be the case. The comet will then disappear to us; but then the inhabitants of the Southern Hemisphere, who may be ignorant of the cause of the luminosity of the evening sky, will see it gradually rise and pass away, and will be amazed by the sudden apparition of a comet of extraordinary size and unusual brilliancy, which will burst upon their vision as unforeseen as the great comet of 1861. The gradual diminution and final disappearance of the comet will be so nearly the converse of what we shall have witnessed here that it needs no description.

"What will be the effect upon the earth? I dare not predict the effect upon the minds of men, especially of the ignorant: but I do not anticipate any appreciable physical effect further than possible electrical phenomena like the aurora. It will, of course, leave us a portion of its atmosphere when it departs, but, probably, not enough to affect the barometer, or to come within the cognizance even of scientists."

DEAR BRO. BOBBITT: Please publish the following for the benefit of those attending the Shelby District Conference at Lincolnton, July 22nd:

Those coming by Rail Road will be met at the Depot, and those coming by private conveyance will call at the Store of J. C. Jenkins or S. P. Sherrell—both on main street three doors East of the Court House.

P. C. please report the names of Delegates, and Local Preachers, and especially the names of those who will not attend.

V. A. SHARPE.
Lincolnton, N. C. July the 9th 1874.

From the South Mountain Mission.

BROTHER BOBBITT: This work lies in the South-western part of the State, embracing a part of Burke, and Cleaveland counties, and almost wholly in the Mountains. I entered upon this work under very embarrassing circumstances. In the midst of winter, while snow and ice covered the mountains, and a bleak December wind blew its chilling blast, I started for my first, and nearest appointment, some fifteen miles from my home. Weather extremely cold, with almost every breath fresh icicles accumulated upon my beard. Night found me in a house, but by no means comfortable. On the evening of the next day I rode some six miles. My road led me between too large mountains, and with the meanderings of a river, and crossing it many times—I crossed it eight times within less than two miles. It was with difficulty that I crossed the river at all, it being frozen completely over in many places, and several feet in from the banks at the fords, and thick enough to bear my horse's weight. This ride brought me near one of my next preaching places, near as three miles. But in consequence of snow and ice, I was compelled to ride some ten or twelve miles around the mountains to reach it. Many times would I have walked and led my horse, had I been able, for in many places if he had made a misstep or slipped, we both might have gone down together, fifty or a hundred feet, into the depths below. Having sustained the loss that I did during the late war—the loss of a leg, my suffering from cold was intense, none but those who have suffered in like manner from amputated limbs, in extreme cold weather know what mine was.

I have given you a brief outline of some of the country over which I travel. And of the hard trials that I have had since I began the work, trials and temptations peculiar to the first year of a Methodist Itinerant preacher's life, my older brethren in the Conference know perfectly well. But, "by the grace of God I am what I am" to-day.

As for my labors, they have not been as efficient as I had desired they would be; but they have not been altogether in vain. To God be all the honor. I have had, during the year, ten accessions to the Church, and some prospects of still better results in the future.

I have been laboring under very great preaching embarrassment. More than half the year has past, and what will my brethren in the Conference think when I tell them for my labors to the present, I have received only ten dollars and ten cents? This has been a year of special trials to me. I know that we are all inclined to think our trials peculiar, so I will not say mine are such. I hail them with joy, so I but finish my course the same, and accomplish the work where unto I am called. Brethren pray for me that my faith fail not. I take this occasion to ask a special interest in the prayers of the Preachers and of the Church. If St. Paul so much needed the prayers of the people of God in his day as to ask them to pray for him, how much more do we need the prayers of the Church in our day? Then pray for me!

D. P GOODE.
Happy Home July 6th 1874.

The Missionary Society.

In reference to the action of the late Conference on this subject, the Nashville Advocate contained the following in its editorial columns:

The modification of our missionary system is not altogether to our mind: but the Constitution will be found flexible enough for our own use, and in such cases, "That which is best administered is best." The liberty granted to the Board by the General Conference, to elect an Associate Secretary, was a good prudential measure, and the election of our excellent confrere to that office will give universal satisfaction. The Associate Secretary will not only do good service as a bureau officer, but also in visiting Annual and District Conferences, etc., which he will be able to do in connection with his duties as Sunday school Secretary. The one class of duties will chime in well with the other. Then the Constitutional Secretary, Dr. McFerrin, and the Associate Secretary, Dr. Haygood, understand each other, and will operate in perfect harmony. We predict that they will devise and execute plans which will bring into the Treasury the sixty thousand dollars assessed by the Board for the support of the Missions which will be under its care during the next year. This expedient, adopted by the Board, will commend itself to the Connection, in that it secures the services of an additional Secretary, without the expense of another salaried officer.

The Pittsburgh Christian Advocate says that the claim that the first Protestant church building on the Pacific coast was the Presbyterian Church in Bonner, Cal., in 1849, is a mistake. That distinction belongs to our Church, the first having been erected at Oregon City, which was begun in 1842, and completed in 1844, through the active labors of Rev. Alvin F. Waller, missionary of the M. E. Church.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE.—The Charlotte District Conference will convene at Mt. Pleasant July 23rd, at 10 A. M. The opening sermon will be preached at 7½ P. M. Wednesday July 23rd, by Rev. M. V. Sherrill. A full attendance is desired. J. S. NELSON, Monroe, N. C.

Religious Brevities.

—The Maryland German Lutheran Conference recently resolved that all the German pastors of the General Synod should be asked to unite in the organization of one German Synod, and appointed a committee to carry out this resolution.

—The union of the different Presbyterian bodies in Canada is now virtually accomplished. It is believed that every minister and congregation will come into it.

—The Congregational Church in Columbus, Ohio, is to receive about $20,000, a portion of the estate of Captain Comstock, a member who has recently died, which is to be invested as a permanent fund.

—At North Tarrytown, Rev. Geo. Pratt, pastor, the corner-stone of the new Methodist Episcopal church (St. Paul's) was laid with appropriate services, Tuesday, June 9th. Addresses were delivered by Bishops Janes and Simpson and Rev. Dr. Deems. Estimated cost of the church, $35,000.—Christian Age.

—A monument to Martin Luther, to be set up in Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, during the centennial year, is talked of by the Lutherans.

—The Church of England synod and two Presbyterian synods are meeting at Halifax. The question under discussion is on the Episcopal Church unions with each other and with the Canadian Presbyterian Church.

—Roman Catholics in Wisconsin are leaving the Granges, the Bishop of Milwaukee having issued a pastoral against them.

—The Jews of Nashville are about to invest $40,000 in a synagogue.

—The number of pilgrims who visited Mecca this year is said to have been 160,000, and, owing to the precautions adopted by the Egyptian Government, health has been unusually good.

—The Catholic Review says, in its issue of July 4, "that Catholics have determined with great unanimity that they will educate their own children" and that no means likely to be resorted to in this county would have the effect of making them reconsider this question."

—A note in the Sunday School Times states that at the Jumna Presbyterian Mission in Allahabad, Northern India the Sunday school of the native Hindustani Church comprises every member of the congregation, either as a teacher or a scholar. Parents and children all love and prize the Sunday school.

A BEAUTIFUL RECEPTION.—A Wesleyan Missionary in West Africa relates the following: "On the way, I was met by the people, and conducted to the mission house of the Church Missionary Society, where the school children and people surrounded the house, so that nothing would do for them but I must come out, that they might see me and conduct me to the church. On arriving at the church, an immense body of people struck up singing a hymn in Yoruba, and with tearful eyes and throbbing heart I entered the vestry, where I could not but lift up my heart to God in thankfulness and implore Divine help in the service. It was a glorious sight; the church inside and outside, windows and doors, was one vast sea of faces, and the singing was the best I heard in Africa, and could not but move the hardest heart. And while I preached from 2 Tim. iv., 6-8, through an interpreter, the utmost attention was given. I was safely conducted back to our mission house by some of the native gentlemen, amid blazing torches to light us on the rough road."

State and Local

—See advertisement of Davidson High School, also of land for sale near Trinity College.

—The Tobacco crop of this section is doing finely.—DAN. REPORTER.

See advertisement, "Read This," by B. I. Powell of Warrenton N. C.

—Watermelons have made their appearance in Fayetteville, at 75 cents apiece.

—Capt. and Mrs. Taylor have taken charge of the Hotel at Piedmont Springs for the season. Their reputation as Hotelists is a sufficient guarantee of attention and comfort to all who may visit that delightful watering place.—DAN. REPORTER.

—DEATH ON THE BENCH.—James F. Babcock, Judge of City Court, New Haven, Conn., entered the court room Thursday morning and began the business of the session in apparently good health. At the adjournment of the court, and as he was about to leave the bench he was attacked with paralysis, which was succeeded by fits of apoplexy, from the effects of which he died. Mr. Babcock has been well and favorably known for forty years.—STATESVILLE AMERICAN.

—We call special attention to the advertisement of Shelby Seminary, Rev. S. R. Trawick, A. M. Principal, assisted by Mrs. Bettie V. Trawick and others. We commend the school to our readers. Bro. Trawick has had many years experience in teaching.

D. P. Higgs, well known as a member of the late firm of Higgs & Higgs, dry goods dealers in this city, was murdered at Mullen's Depot, N. C., on Friday. We have none of the particulars of his death save that given.

—A colored girl died in Wilmington a short time since from drinking concentrated lye.—STAR.

—We learn that a Mrs. Morton, of Anson county, residing about five miles from Wadesboro, was struck by lightning and instantly killed during the severe thunder storm which prevailed last Sunday afternoon. We could not learn any of the particulars of the sad accident.—WIL. JOURNAL.

—Mr. F. E. Keehln showed us a hen's egg measuring 7½ inches round the long way, and 6¼ inches round the other way, weighing nearly four ounces.—Tar PEOPLE'S PRESS.

—THE CHARLOTTE DEMOCRAT says: We regret to learn of a serious accident to young Mr Van Bell, son of A. Chas. Bell of this county. On Tuesday last the young man was caught in a wheat thresher and mangled so that one leg had to be amputated, which Dr. Gibbon of this city did on Tuesday night. The unfortunate young man (who is about 18 years old) was otherwise injured —At the commencement of Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., Mr. John Caldwell Buxton, of Asheville, N. C., delivered the Latin Salutatory, and was awarded the Prize Gold medal for the best Essay.

This young gentleman is the son of the Rev. Jarvis Buxton, D. D., one of the finest scholars and most distinguished divines in North Carolina.—HILLSBORO RECORDER.

—It is reported says the Era, that several prisoners from the Penitentiary are lurking in the vicinity of the village of Oberlin. On Tuesday, the 7th inst., a party scoured the woods, and fired on them, but none far they have not been caught. It is due to the people of that section that the prison authorities should put forth strenuous efforts for their capture.

—The Wilmington post office will be completed this month.

—A man named Gooch has been swindling the boarding house keepers of Washington, N.C,—says the ERA.

—Says the Charlotte OBSERVER: We have, during the past few weeks, received letters from 25 towns around our city enquiring about ice and desiring to buy it in quantities large and small. Such is the case with the carload. Our position for the sale of ice is an enviable one. We are remote from the North and from steamboat transportation, and we can sell cheaper than any other company who may offer to compete with us. Our ice will cost very little. We can sell at 40 cent per pound and make a large profit. Our well will yield from 1,500 to 2,000 gallons of water per hour, and the water is so cold that it takes comparatively little to meet the requirements.

General News.

—Hon. R. W. Walker died in Huntsville, Ala., on the 25th. Judge Walker had been Solicitor, Legislator, Judge of the Supreme Court, Confederate Congressman and Senator.

—At a farewell benefit given to J. J. Higgman in Atlanta, a beautiful silver service was presented to him by the Grand Lodge of Templars of Georgia. He has been in the State for the past five or six months and has rendered very great aid to the temperance cause. He returns to his home in Baltimore. Mr. Hickman has been elected Right Worthy Grand Templar of the World.

—Steam is successfully used on London street-railroads. The machinery is quite hidden from view, no heat is felt, no noise is heard, and stoppages are effected more readily than with horses.

The bill to make an appropriation to pay the mail contractors South for service performed prior to the 31st of May 1861, failed to become a law, but it will come up again at the next session of Congress.

—Philip Phillips sang for the first time in Quebec, on the evening of June 1st. The Quebec Morning Chronicle compliments Mr. Phillips as a vocalist of great power and skill, and says that the audience was very large, the programme was listened to with great interest.

—The Oregon election last week, resulted in the election of Grover, Democrat, for Governor, and Williams, Republican for Congress.

—It shows the magnitude of the paper cotton business that at the Lowell Bleachery in a month seven hundred and thirty-nine miles of cotton cloth for the manufacture of cloth-covered collars were finished.

—The temperance crusade is still in active operation in many sections, and with cheering results. The methods of work have been materially modified in some localities, but the general work goes on with great energy. The results promise quite as well as in the earlier stages of the movement. There is less parading and singing in the streets, but more in the churches in the family and in the closet, and there is an intensified push of effort to prevent the licensing of liquor dealers.

The New Bankrupt Law.

The following are the most important provisions of the new Bankrupt Act, which has been approved by the President:

1st. No proceedings can be taken in involuntary or compulsory bankruptcy excepting by the action of one-fourth in number of creditors and one-third in value of claims against the debtor. 2d The provision of the present law requiring that the assets of an involuntary bankrupt shall be equal to fifty per cent of the indebtedness (proved) is repealed without limitation.

3rd. In voluntary bankruptcy the bankrupt may be discharged if his assets equal thirty per cent. of debt proved against him which he owes as principal.

4th. A composition may be effected without regard to the proceedings in bankruptcy, by a vote of a majority in number of creditors who shall adopt a resolution to that effect at a meeting duly called, on due notice, as such creditors as may be present or represented by proxy: said resolution to be certified to court, to be signed by a certain number (five-eighths) of the creditors, representing a certain proportion (three-fourths are believed to be the proportion) of the indebtedness, which, if that such composition may be enforced upon the non agreeing creditors.

5th. The two periods of four months and six months, prescribed as limits of remaining and voiding processes are reduced to sixty days and four months respectively, but this is not to take effect for 2 months after passage of act.

6th. The expenses of all officers, agents, etc to be reduced to one-half the present rates: the old rules to remain in force until the Supreme Court shall arrange the new tariff of charges.

In estimating the number of creditors in certain cases no debt under $50 is counted in the number, though it may be computed in whole.—NEW BERNE TIMES.

Judge Dick has issued an order fixing the rates for printing notices in bankruptcy as follows, after June 21, 1874:

First Meeting 2 time	$2.25
Appointment of Assignee 3 times	2.00
Final Notice 3 times	2.25
Notice of second and third meetings, once a week 2 weeks, each,	.25

All notices of sales by assignee or officers of the court Shall be published once a week for 3 successive weeks in one of the newspapers heretofore designated by the court to publish bankruptcy notices. Such notices shall be paid for according to the published rates of such newspapers. The following is from the members of the Greensboro Bar:

"In consideration of the reduction of all fees in bankruptcy to one half what they have been heretofore, we the undersigned members of the Greensboro Bar, agree to establish a minimum fee of $25.00 for filing petitions in bankruptcy, and attending to the matter until final discharge.

Dillard & Gilmer Mendenhall & Staples, Ralph Gorrell, W. S. Hill, Scott & Caldwell, D. A. Caldwell, Wm. S. Bell, Scales and Scales.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All our traveling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Preachers and all subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $4.00. Those who send us nine will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written and on but one side of the sheet. All letters on business should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, of Post Office order can be deducted from the money remitted. If money is sent otherwise and lost or stolen it will be at the sender's risk.

Marriages.

Married on the 2nd inst., by Rev V. A. Sharpe, at Green on Island in Boston, Mr. James M. Parker to Miss Sallie Warnick.

Married at the residence of James Gaither Esq near Eagle Mill Iredell Co. N. C., Thursday evening 25th ult., by Rev. T. Page Ricaud, Mr W. G. Bennett and Miss. Mary E. Tomlinson.

Deaths.

☞Obituary notices of many lines are in general without charge. The excess over two hundred words is charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line. Count the lines and allow seven words to the line. In this way you may always know the amount to enclose from friends of respect or sympathy to the same rule apply.

Departed this life in her 69th year, Mrs. Mary Lockhart Carson on the 3rd day of May last. She was the daughter of Payson and Rebecca Tunstall. She was twice married first to David Nicholson and again to Rev. Rob. Joyner Carson. The recollections survive her, two by her first marriage and one by the second. Born and raised in the most polished circles of society, she was well suited to the position she occupied, by the sweetness of her disposition, the refining influence of education on her mind, and manners. When young, she was admired for the attractiveness of her person, and for her captivating manners, and the ingenuousness of her spirit. Superadded to this she possessed the "meek and quiet Spirit" of a true christian. In all the relations of life she was model and her name will be given in the memory of her acquaintances, and fragrant as incense until their reunion in the home of the good. The death of her last husband at her age pressed heavily on her heart and in sorrow she slowly, bent toward the home whither he had gone. In her life to live was for Christ, and when death came she was ready. In the hour of the last conflict she said, "Glory Hallelujah, the victory is almost won."

So pass away our pious friends! It is sad to feel they have left us! Thy joyful to know we shall meet them again!

B.

On the 25th day of June in Warren Co. N. C. the citizens of the neighborhood were called together to witness the last scenes to be paid to one of our best and most respected members of society. The key note of death was sounded and Mr. Richard Gibbs was summoned from this world to a home of peace and happiness in heaven. The heavy hand of dire affliction crushed out the heart) rested upon him for about a month, and he bore his affliction without a murmur. He was perfectly conscious of his condition and from the first said he knew he could never recover, and with the same calmness of mind resting upon him, he call of his family around his bedside and spoke calmly of his death, and told them he would rather be buried in a little grave in the rear of his dwelling house, provided they had no objection. This was a beautiful spot he had chosen for his grave several years before his death as I was informed. This he spoke with as much self command and composure as if he was only going on an earthly journey, to return to his family and friends.

Death was then shocking at his coming door," but he feared not, for he knew when it did enter that his soul would wing its flight to a spirit land to a home above in Heaven.

Mr. Gibbs had been for many years a strict member of the M. E. Church, and was noted for his strict adherence to all christian principles. The funeral discourse was preached by the Rev. Mr. Hoyle from Chap. 12. of Eccles 7 verse. "Then shall the dust return to the earth as it was; and the spirits return unto God who gave it."

The large congregation of people who attended the funeral conclusively show the esteem and respect in which the people held the deceased. After the funeral the corpse was conveyed to the grave by pall bearers chosen from the Patrons of Husbandry (of which order he was a worthy member,) and there buried with the funeral ceremony and honors pertaining to that organization.

In the death of Mr. Gibbs the church has lost one of its best and most influential members, Society one of its best supporters and his dear family a father who was devoted and tender and protector to them while he lived. He has left a widow, two daughters and a son to mourn his departure from them. Weep not for him but remember that ONE greater than man has died and will be a Father to the fatherless and a husband to the widow." We must all sooner or later be carried to our last resting place and if our friends can only have the assurance that we died in the faith that this man did with the praise of God and Salvation upon our lips they need be none but tears of joy and gratitude shed upon our graves. Yes, a few more days of toil and a few sad farewells a few more tears eternal our hearth.

"And we shall see it heaven's own high
The glories of the eternal dawn."

Yes, he is better off—he cannot return to us all, but you can go unto him. So live as the sweet consolation, that you have it in your power to meet him in a better world. Remember he is not dead.

He is sleeping a peaceful dreamless sleep.
He rests from labors past.
Beneath the mound where myrtles creep,
In sunshine and in blast.

O, let him sleep, for oft have pressed
His brow the thorns of care!
O let him sleep forever blest,
On Eden's shore so fair.

Twas Jesus called him in come home,
In bliss he laid the down,
A wanderer no more to roam,
He fought and won the crown.

He left his treasured ones behind,
To mourn in bitter tears
But Jesus can each lone heart bind
And drive away all fear.

A FRIEND.

Bro. James Hooker, Greene Co. N. C., departed this life June 11th 1874, aged 73 years. Bro. Hooker is the father of Rev. N. A. Hooker of the N. C Conference. He was for many years a uniformly consistent member of the M. E. Church, South.

He cherished an intelligent appreciation of her claims upon his preference, loving her doctrines—being, as he considered them, the doctrines of the Bible; heartily admiring her polity—holding it to be the most efficient for practical piety; honoring her grand system of ministerial economy, believing that it had been, and would continue to be, under God, a mighty power for good in the world. He was a man who through life, stood high in the estimation of his neighbors. He died as he had sought to live.

We che ish a well founded hope that he is now in Heaven.

May the entire circle of relatives, who survive his when called to go the way of all the earth be prepared to leave the testimony which he has left—"For them to live is Christ, to die is gain."

M. C. THOMAS.

Cross Hill, N. C. June 15th 1874

The Gold-boro Messenger will please copy.

Little Fora very precious bird of ten months daughter of Rufus and Mollie Rodenbury was taken from her fond parents in July—and a home sweetly sleeps till he resurrection morn. "Suffer the little children to come unto me."

J. P. SIMPSON.

Rev George Stewart was born March 27th 1789, and died at his home in Jones Co. June the 22, 1874. He joined the M. E. Church in 1816. He has served as Presiding Elder between forty and fifty years. It may truly be said of him that he was a great man and especially in the world. We have the phrase but what is to be written by no such hero as a good man." So correct was he in business transactions and general intercourse with the people that no one ever laid aught to his charge. He died full of years and like a ripe sheaf ready for the garner. He was long and slowly afflicted, and patiently did he endure. Whether in the pulpit or in the family or on a sick bed, he could say in the language of the master, "I have given you an example." He is gone to the grave. His funeral was preached from the language of the Lord to Abraham, "thou shalt go to thy father in peace; thou shalt be buried in a good old age." He leaves a widow and a host of children behind still in the vale of tears.

A FRIEND.

Died suddenly in Eagle mills, Iredell Co. N. C. Wednesday night the 24th inst. Lizzie Wilson infant daughter of John E. and Isabella E. Simpson, aged 1 months and 16 days.

The sweet bud of promise has been plucked from the earthly plant, but it has been planted in a more genial clime, where the warm rays and never bright sun it shall never wither.

The parents though deeply stricken are consoled with the thought that though their child shall not return, yet they will one day go to it.

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord"

T. Page Ricaud

Died at her residence in Jones County, N. C. on the 11th 1874 Mrs. Catherine McDaniel, wife of Enoch McDaniel, Esq. in the 65th year of her age, leaving a husband, ten children and sixteen grand children.

Sister McDaniel was a member of the Methodist E. Church some fifty years. For a short time before her death, she was confined to her bed, and at the near approach of death, she expressed great faith in the atonement of Christ and into his hands she resigned her spirit encouraged by the promise of a better life when on the ide that now is was ebbing to a close.

In what a smiling serenity did her sun go down! when her flesh and heart failed. How reviving was the remembrance of an act's efficient Rock me! But she is gone, hastening goes of inherent nature are over, the body sleeps in death the soul rests with God; and on the aged husband and dear children, she sends back a smile from the spirit land and bids "come on."

Dearest sister, thou hast left us,
Here thy loss we deeply feel;
But in heaven we hope to meet thee,
When the storms of life are o'er.

I attended the funeral service of the deceased

JAS A. SUTTON

Letters and Funds,

H T Jordan self $2; Rev L H Gilder 2 paper sent. Rev J S Nelson Bruce & Company. Rev V A Sharpe. Rev T P Ricaud for John Schlather 2 D D White. A Dixon. S Collins & Co. U S Publishing Co. J E Perry all right. Rev M C Thomas for Mrs M C Barnes 2 Mrs N Maze 2. Rev A B Getts for B Brissell 2 R F Tyson 2 other papers sent. E W Pou self 50 cts. Miss Mary Perger on self 1.25 A J Johnson. J J Blake. Col W S J Andrews. J M Hartsell. Rev John Jones for C W Averett 2. Mrs A Armstrong 2, all right on books. Horner & Graves J F Brinson for adv 3. J R Self 2 Rev H T Hudson. Rev V A Sharpe. Rev C S Pepper. A S Smith paper continued. Rev S D Adams. J H Lyon self 1. Rev Jas Wilson. Rev J P Simpson. Alex Walker. Rev D P Getts. Rev P J Carraway for J E Eagle 2. G L Moody 2. W H H Horton 2. C D Ford 2 Mrs M Wright 1. J H McGlon 2 A R Barwell 18. B S Gray self 2. L E Thomas self 50 cts. E G Bowles. Rev J T Harris. S J Hines self 2 Rev W M Jordan. Rev J R Scott 2 Rev J W Lewis. L E Ashley self 2. also Sue Dudley $7.50. Rev Archibald Robinson & Pratt Margaret Houston self 2. Rev L Shell papers continued. J P Simpson. Rev W H Pegram self 1. Amos Grayson self 2 Elizabeth Julian 2. Rev W H Bobbitt. Rev Dr. Closs all right. Rev J H Allred all right his paper has never been stopped. J Weaver & Co. A K Leonard self 2 W R Bryan. R W Heane Joel Lyon 2 W M Cogen paper continued. R M Martin. Rev V A Sharpe. J B Lippincott & Co. Rev R F Bumpass paper changed Pender & Co. Rev T P England, thank you—papers sent. J Williams 2 N A Patterson self 1

Appointments

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT

3RD ROUND.

Lryon Street and Calvary Miss.	July 26	27
Concord ct. Liberty Chapel.	July	1- 5
Pineville ct. at Rosh's,	"	11-12
Mount ct.	"	18-19
Providence ct. at Mt. Pleasant.	"	25-26
Concord st.	August	1- 2
Pleasant Grove ct. at Plains, Grove.	"	8- 9
South Charlotte ct. at Bethel,	"	15-16
Abernethy and Lander,	"	22-23
Stanley,	"	29-30
Lilesville ct. at Salem,	Sept	5- 6
Wadesboro' st.	"	12-13
Ansonville ct. at —,	"	19-20
Wadesboro' ct. at —

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT

3RD ROUND—QUARTERLY MEETINGS

Person ct. at Providence,	July	4- 5
Hillsboro ct. at New Sharon,	"	11-12
Hillsboro st. at Clover Garden,	"	18-19
High Rock Mission	"	25-26
Yanceyville c't.	August	8- 9
Dan River,	"	15-16
Pittsboro	"	22-23
Leasburg at Leasburg	"	29-30

The next Conference will be held at Leasburg commencing August 27 Rev. W. H. Moore will preach the introductory sermon. Brethren from abroad are invited to attend.

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Mt Tirzah, N. C.

GREENSBORO DISTRICT.

3RD QUARTERLY MEETING.

Greensboro,	July	4- 5
North Guilford,	"	11-12
Wentworth, at Wentworth	"	18-19
Trinity and Franklinsville,	"	25-26
Davidson, at Shady Grove,	Aug.	1- 2
Madison at Mt. Herman,	"	8- 9
Forsythe at Clemmonsville,	"	15-16
Stokes at Danbury,	"	22-23
South Guilford at Pleasant Garden,	"	29-30

The District Conference will be held at Lexington, commencing on Thursday morning, September the 4th at 10 o'clock.

N. H D. WILSON P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND

Yadkinville, ct at Elkin,	July	4- 5
Statesville st. (1st. Conf.)	"	9-12
Mt. Airy st. at Salem,	"	18-19
Surry ct. and S. Mis. at Newhope,	"	25-26
Mocksville ct. at Smith Grove, (C. M)	Aug.	1- 2
Salisbury st	"	8- 9
Salisbury ct. at Lebanon,	"	15-16
Alexander ct. at Rocky Spring, (C. M)	"	22-23
Wilkes ct. and Mt. Mis at Union.	"	29-30
Iredell ct. at Macedonia,	Sept.	5- 6

Camp-meetings at South Grove and Rocky Springs to commence at both places on Friday night. Brethren invited to attend. District Conference commences in Statesville Thursday, 9 o'clock a m. before the second Sunday in July. Preaching Wednesday night, Preachers and delegates earnestly requested to be present at the opening. Brethren in the ministry, and friends generally invited to attend.

M. L. WOOD, P. E
Olin, N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT

3RD. ROUND.

Clinton,	July	4- 5
Wilmington Fifth street,	"	11-12
Kenansville,	"	18-19
Whiteville,	"	25-26
Wilmington Front street,	August	1- 2
Smithville,	"	8- 9
Cokesbury,	"	15-16
Topsail,	"	22-23
Elizabeth.	"	5- 6
Onslow,	Sept	29-30
Bladen,	"	12-13

W. S. BLACK, P. E.
Magnolia, N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND IN PART.

Granville ct. at Salem,	July	4- 5
Tar River ct. at Banks Chapel.	"	11-12
Rolesville ct. at Sidney,	"	18-19
Henderson ct. at Tabernacle.	August	1- 2
Cary ct. at Ebenezer,	"	8- 9

The District Conference will be held at Franklinton. To commence on Thursday morning, July 23, at 10 o'clock.

W. H. BOBBITT, P. E.
Cary, N. C.

NEWERN DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Beaufort,	July	4- 5
Straits, Tuesday,	"	7
Wayne, Nahunta,	"	11-12
Joces. Trenton,	"	18-19
Trent, rethlehem	"	25-26
Lenoir, Woodington,	Aug.	1- 2
Newb ern, Beech Grove, Tuesday,	"	4
Goldsboro,	"	8- 9
Kinston, Tuesday,	"	11
Neuse, Smith's Creek.	"	15-16
Swift cr'k Miss	"	22-23
Snow Hill, Tabernacle,	"	22-23
Aurora,	"	29-30
Mt. Olivet, Falling Creek,	Sept.	5- 6
Newbern.	"	12 13

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND.

Rockingham Mt. Pleasant	July	4- 5
Robeson, Horeb,	"	11-12
Laurinburg, Laurinburg.	"	18-19
Fayetteville.	"	25-26
Montgomery, Smyrn,	Aug.	1- 2
Poe Pee,	"	8- 9
Lisbonic, Cumcord.	"	15-16
Buckhorn, Buckhorn.	"	22-23

S. D ADAMS, P. E.

The District Conference will be held at Laurinburg, commencing on Thursday the 16th of July.

A camp-meeting will be held at Concord, Lisbonic circuit, in connection with the third Quarterly Meeting, commencing on Friday evening Aug. the 14th.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Williamston ct.	July	4- 5
Columbia ct.	"	11-12
Plymouth,	"	18-19
Bath ct.	"	25-26
Matamuskeet,	August	1- 2
Washington and Greenville.	"	8- 9
Parkton at Tarboro.	"	15-16

Quarterly Meeting of Garrett's church 22-23

Wm. CLOSS, P. E.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND—IN PART.

South Fork, Palm Tree,	July	4- 5
Cherry Mountain,	"	11-12
Dallas,	"	18-19
Lincoln Lincolnton Dist. Conf	"	22-26
Morganton Sardis,	August	1- 2

She'by District Conference will be held in Lincolnton. The introductory sermon will be preached at 8 P. M., Wednesday July 22d, by Rev. Samuel Leard. The Conference will convene in the Methodist Church at 9 A. M., Thursday July 23d. Let the preachers and the stewards be prepared to make full and accurate reports.

L. S BURKHEAD, P. E

The Markets

Raleigh Market—Retail Prices July 14, 1874.

CORRECTED WEEKLY, BY

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.,
GROCERS, COTTON FACTORS
AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS
EXCHANGE PLACE,
RALEIGH, N C.

APPLES, green,	1 50 to 2 00
dried,	50@60
BULK MEAT, Hib Sides	10 3-4@11
C. R. "	11
BACON, N. C. sides	14
" Shoulders	12 1-2
N. C. Hams,	15@16
BEEF on hoof,	(@7
BEESWAX,	25
BUTTER—per lb.	20@30
CHICKENS,	17 1-2@20
CHEESE	15
CORN	1 25
COTTON, Ordinary	11 1-2@ 12
Good Ordinary	13
Strict good ordinary	13 1-2@14
Low middlings	15 1-2
Middlings	16 1-4
COTTON YARN,	1 50
COFFEE,	27@30
EGGS,	15@20
FLOUR, Western	7 50@13 50
North Carolina	8 50@13 50
HAY,	1 40
HIDES, dry	12@15
" green	6
LEATHER, upper	40
Harness	30
Sole	25
LARD,	12 1-2@15
MEAL,	1 25@1 50
MULLETS,	4 50
HERRINGS,	7 00@8 50
OATS,	75@80
ONIONS,	1 00
PEACHES, dried	4@5 15

New Advertisements.

LAND SALE NEAR TRINITY COLLEGE.

On the 12th day of August next, with a credit of six months, I will sell at auction upon the premises a tract of land containing three hundred acres, lying west of Trinity, and known as the Brown place. The land comes near the College Campus, has one hundred acres of wood-land, dwelling house, barn, stable and other out-land buildings. This is a very valuable tract, and offers a rare opportunity for a good investment to any man who wants a producing farm, or desires to live near the College. The dwelling is about three-fourths of a mile from the College Campus.

B. Craven.
Commissioner.

July 15th 4 w.

PIEDMONT SPRINGS,

STOKES COUNTY, N. C.

Opened on the 20th of June for the Reception of Visitors.

These justly celebrated Springs, whose waters cure Anæmia, Dyspepsia Anorexia, Diseases of the Skin, General Debility and Neuralgia, and wonderfully reparative in diseases peculiar to females, have been the resort for health for years. The hotel and cottage accommodations have been greatly out-lged and beautified—the grounds ornamented—the walks and drives extended.

The new HOTEL, just completed, has an observatory from which all the beautiful scenery which surrounds these Springs can be seen. "Moore's Knob" and "Hanging Rock," spurs of the Sauratown Mountains, with their deep gorges and lofty beeches, loom up grandly amongst the clouds, immediately in front of the Hotel buildings.

HORSES AND CONVEYANCES, for visiting the many places of interest can be obtained at a trifling cost.

The Springs are easy of access, being only a short drive by a good line of stages, from Salem—Winston, the terminus of the N. W. N. C. R. R. which connects at Greensboro with all the trains going North or South.

ATTRACTIONS

The Springs are supplied with Billiard, Bowling Saloon, Bath Room, experienced Laundresses, and polite Servants.

BOARD:

Per Day	$2 50
Per Week	15 00
Per Month	50 00

The Proprietors will spare no effort to render the sojourn of their visitors both profitable and pleasant, and they take great pleasure in announcing to the public that they have obtained the services of an experienced Hotel Keeper, who will supply the tables with the best the country affords.

W. K. WILLIAMS, C. M FLINN, K. G. PAGE, } Proprietors.

Capt. S. B. Taylor, Manager.

July 1-3t.

DAVIDSON HIGH SCHOOL,

Male and Female.

Fall Term Opens August 3rd, 1874.

J. F. Brinson and C. A. Basinger, Principals.
Mrs. K. D. Frazer, Music Teacher.

Tuition per term of 2 months, $2 50 to $16 00
Music, 17 00
Board—table fare—per month, 8 00

For particulars, address principals at July 15-1m Abbott's Creek, Davidson Co., N. C.

SHELBY SEMINARY,

Shelby, Cleveland co., N. C.

Rev. S. R. Trawick, A. M., Principal

Mrs. Hettie V. Trawick and other competent aids. Fall term of 20 weeks will begin Aug. 4th, 1874.

This school has a department for young ladies and one for young men. Each conducted separately and in the most approved style. Terms low, apply for circular. The mineral springs, mountain air, the refined society, and remote area from useless extravagance, make this a most desirable educational locality. Thorough, English course. Mathematics, Latin, Greek, French, Music and ornamentals carefully taught.—Entire expense need not exceed $100 per term.

July 15-2m

READ THIS.

I will give any person an opportunity to make from $3 to $5 per day to work for me. Work easy. A boy 12 years old can fill the bill.

Send Stamp for particulars.

Address
B. I. P O WELL.
Warrenton N. C.
July 15-1m.

Olin High School.

Iredell County, N. C.

L. J. Cheely A. M. Principal.
Miss Lucy Journey, an accomplished, experienced and popular Teacher, will take charge of the Female Department.

Fall Session of 1874 will open July 20th, and continue Twenty weeks

EXPENSES:

Tuition, per Session, half in advance,	$7.00 to $20.00
Contingent Fee,	50
Board per month	$8.00 to 10.00

Extras in Female Department at usual rates.

Nearest R. R. Station in Statesville, W. N. C. R. R. Nine miles to the Principal.

Olin, Iredell Co. N. C.

July 1-4w.

BEST COOK STOVE.

It is a strictly First Class Stove;
It is the most popular and convenient;
It has all modern improvements;
It has large flues which give a quick draft;
It has large and splendid ovens;
It has a deep Ash Pit;
It has Side Grates;
It has Rover the Cross Pieces;
It has a National Pattern or excellence;
It can be used for Wood or Coal;
It is Back and Quickly;
It is the best Baker known;
It is Plain, Strong and Simple;
It has ornaments great Beauty in Design;
It never fails to operate;
It has Sliding Feed Door;
It has Tin Lined Oven Door;
It uses a small quantity of Wood.

The Stove is well and widely known. No Stove ever made having received from the public a more flattering endorsement.

Guarded by the characteristics obtained by long trial, this Stove has won for itself and entirely upon its merits a position in the estimation of all housekeepers second to none in the world. No Stove ever made has so large a sale, or deservedly so high.

P. H. BRIGGS & SONS.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

THE BEST IS THE

Averill Chemical Paint,

BECAUSE

1st. It has been thoroughly tested by chemists, and over fifteen years of experience throughout the United States, for the last seven years, and pronounced by them to be the most durable paint known.

2d. For beauty and retention of color it stands far ahead of any other. Buildings have been painted with it in New York and Brooklyn, and after years, both in the immediate and on the seacoast, and in no case has it shown a deviation in purity or permanency of color.

3d. It is economical, and its cost is no more than the best lead and oil, and being far more durable (it usually lasting about as long as the best of any other) and beautiful, warrants the assertion that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

4th. It is in liquid form and all ready for use. Paint Mixers or any desire shade, can be obtained without supplying the buyer in the emergence of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is ready spread, floss freely from the brush, clings firmly to every surface it may be applied upon. For wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are required, it stands unrivalled. Though composed of the most indestructible materials known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint will show it to be just as healthful and free of the other pernicious poison. It will not blacken or discolor by the action of the sulphurous gases so prevalent on our marshy rivers and coasts.

5th. No skilled painter required.

Anybody can apply it.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Raleigh, N. C.
Sole Agents.

Refers to Capt. A. B. Andrews, Supt of R & G. R. R. who has used upon his road 1000 gallons with in the last three years.

Write for card of color and prices

NEW JERSEY MUTUAL LIFE Insurance Company.

HOME OFFICE, NEWARK, NEW JERSEY.

$1 000 000.00 Assets income $1,000,000.00
6,977 Policies Issued in 1873 6,977
$8,147 Ratio Assets to Liabilities $147
$876,799.91 Surplus for Policy holders $876,799.91

Small losses—small expenses—prompt in payment of claims—liberal and careful selection of risks.

Agents wanted in every county in the State, to whom excellent terms and salaries will be paid

DR. C. D. RICE,
General Agent,
Raleigh, N. C.

June 24-12m

THE

New Buffalo Spring,

MECKLENBURG COUNTY, VA.

This spring is shown by analysis to contain a fraction under three grains of the "salt of Lithium" to the pint of gallon. This salt is found in but two of the other Mineral Waters of the State and in those in a much smaller degree." Prof. Geo. H. Wood, of the University of Pennsylvania, speaking of Lithia, says "there is perhaps no other remedy from which equal efficacy may be expected in the removal of the deposits of the Gout of Stone in the joints and tissues of the system, and in preventing the deposits in the kidneys, bladder, and urinary passages." Another writer on the subject says: "If Lithia is peculiarly adapted to the cure of persons suffering from or threatened with gout, stone, or gravel. There is perhaps no other known remedy that produces a greater relief in such cases." Applying these authorities to the facts, it may be fairly claimed that no other mineral water in Virginia holds out to the sufferer from the diseases here mentioned a prospect of relief equal to that offered by the new Spring at Buffalo. The unsolicited certificates will show that this Spring, though of very recent discovery, is not without evidence to support the claim which is made for it as a medicinal agent.

May 25, 1874. THOMAS F. GOODE.

GRAVEL AND DYSPEPSIA RELIEVED BY THE NEW SPRING AT BUFFALO.

MECKLENBURG COUNTY, VA.,
May 20, 18 74.

For some five years my wife has been greatly afflicted with gravel and dyspepsia, being often confined to her bed, and almost entirely debilitated by the discharge of the calculi of life. During the past winter her condition grew worse, and medicine failed to afford her any relief. By the advice of her physician she commenced, some six weeks ago, the use of the water of the "New Spring," at Buffalo, which she has continued to the present time.

Improvement was soon perceptible in her condition, and I am thankful to say that she is now restored to a comfortable state of health, and able to attend regularly to her domestic duties.

Very respectfully, WILLIAM OWEN.

CASE OF SEVERE INDIGESTION ATTENDED BY DISTRESSING SYMPTOMS RELIEVED BY THE NEW SPRING AT BUFFALO.

One of Belly Shelton, a woman of color.—At the request of Colonel T. F. Goode, the proprietor of the Healing Springs, we have had an interview with Polly Shelton, a highly respectable colored woman, living in the immediate vicinity of the Springs, in relation to relief experienced by her when in a very suffering condition, from the New Spring at Buffalo. She makes the following statement: In the month of September last she had become a great sufferer from indigestion, not being able to eat the simplest articles of food. Her limbs soon became feeble as to confine her to her bed. This state of things was soon followed by a painful swelling of her legs and feet. In the month of February, while still confined to her bed, she began to use the water of the New Spring at Buffalo, the beneficial effects of which was soon manifested, and by the first of April she was so far improved as to be able to leave her bed. She now cooks, washes, and walks about as well as any one of her age could be expected to do. She is a very old woman.

NORVELL COBB,
T. W. J. BAPTIST

While having no accurate knowledge of the condition of Polly Shelton, I know of her sickness, of her using the water, and of improvement, and I believe her statement to be correct. T. W. J. BAPTIST.

June 10-6w

PROSPECTUS.

A NEW BOOK.

Life, Sermons and Speeches
OF
Rev. N. F. Reid D D.
LATE OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
BY HIS SONS
James W and Frank L. Reid.

This book will contain a fine steel engraving and biographical sketch of Dr. Reid, with a selection of his choicest sermons and addresses, making a volume of about 500 pages, neatly bound in cloth, and will be ready for delivery in November next.

PRICE TWO DOLLARS.

Sold by other agents only. Persons wishing a copy should subscribe at once. Agents wanted, to whom liberal commissions will be allowed.

Address REV. F. L. REID, Louisburg, N. C. or JAS. W. REID, Wentworth N. C.

CARY COTTON GIN.

The Latest, Best and Cheapest.

I offer the public the latest Improved Cotton Gin, as well as the cheapest. The following certificates from well known gentlemen, will be more satisfactory than any thing I can say.

NEAR CARY, N. C., Nov., 12th, 1873.

This is to certify that I am using one of the Cary Gins made by W. M. Sorrell, of Cary, N. C., and that I am well pleased with it and could cheerfully recommend it to any one wanting a good Gin.

A B. YATES.

CARY, N. C., May 22nd, 1874.

I take pleasure in saying that the fifty Saw Cotton Gin I purchased from Mr W. M Sorrell, known as the Cary Gin, does far better work than any Gin I have heretofore used, though cotton from 50 to 100 per cent. less money. I think any person in want of a Gin will save money by purchasing the Cary Gin, its performance has been entirely satisfactory to me, I can cheerfully recommend it to others.

A. P. PAGE

We certify that the Cary Gin has given entire satisfaction to our neighbors, who have tried it, and we think it an excellent gin.

H. P. GUESS,
H. B. JORDAN,
W. C. PAGE,
WM. E. PELL.

PRICE:

For 60 Saw Gin,	$170.
For 55 Saw Gin,	160.
For 50 Saw Gin,	150.
For 45 Saw Gin,	140.
For 40 Saw Gin,	130.
For all under 40 Saws,	120

Persons wanting Gins will please send in their orders early in the season so that I may not be crowded in the fall. Send in your orders and I warrant you will be pleased. I do all kind of repairing.

Address, W. M. SORRELL.
Cary, N. C.

June 3-6m.

FARMERS' EXCHANGE

Thompson & Whitaker

Wholesale Grocers and

Commission Merchants.

MARTIN STREET,

GUANOS.

"Soluble Navassa Guano."
"Navassa Tobacco Fertilizer"
AND
Dissolved Phosphate.

Manufactured by Navassa Guano Company at Wilmington, N. C. Guaranteed to meet all the requirements of

Below are the names of a few who will testify to its merits:

Dr. B. Craven, Trinity College; L. H. Sanders, Johnston county; W. H. McMullough, Johnston county; David Wood, Johnston county; J. M. Wilson, Wilson's Mills; E. W. Pou, Raleigh; Willis Avera, Johnston county. For sale by

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.

Raleigh, N. C.

Feb 4 12m.

GREGG & BOWE

COR. 8TH & ORANGE STS.,

Wilmington, Del.,

Manufacturers of the CARRIAGES BUGGIES, ROCKAWAYS, CABROLETTS, VICTORIA'S COACHES, &c., &c.

Also Dealers in cheaper grades of Carriages.

REFERENCE: Col. J. M. Heck, Raleigh; Judge Dick, Thos. B. Keogh and Julius A. Gray, Greensboro L. E. Johnson, Lexington.

apr 29-1y.

BINGHAM SCHOOL,

ESTABLISHED IN 1793.

MAJ. ROBERT BINGHAM, Supt.
MAJ. W. H. LYNCH,
CAPT. T. M. NORWOOD.
W. G. QUAKENBUSH.

Mebaneville, N. C.

The 161st Session opens July 15th 1874. Charges including books $160 per session. No extras.

June 10-2m

MOTT'S

LIVER PILLS!

An old physician once said that nearly all diseases originate from A DISEASED CONDITION OF THE LIVER and this statement is true, although it may at first seem like an exaggeration. When the Liver is out of order the whole system and every organ and function suffer more or less in consequence. In the incipient stages of the disease a man DOES NOT KNOW WHAT AILS HIM.

He is moody, restless and despondent; and that is the time to take a SIMPLE REMEDY that will restore him to health and prevent a whole train of diseases that may follow. MOTT'S LIVER PILLS cure torpidity of the Liver. MOTT'S LIVER PILLS give tone to the stomach. MOTT'S LIVER PILLS cleans the system of bile. MOTT'S LIVER PILLS drive out febrile affections. MOTT'S LIVER PILLS strengthen the whole system.

IN A SINGLE DAY,

MOTT'S LIVER PILLS regulate the Liver, and are more reliable as a Liver medicine than any of the mineral preparations that are now more in vogue. For Sale by all druggists. Price 25 cents per box.

JOHN F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO., Proprietors
8 and 9 College Place, New York.

July 15 1m.

Rock Spring Seminary,

MALE AND FEMALE.

D. Matt Thompson, A. M., Principal.

The next Term of this institution opens Wednesday, August 12th, 1874. Instruction thorough, and based upon the latest and most approved Normal Methods.

Board per month, $8.00
Tuition " from $1.00 to 1.00

Location, Dry Ponds, Lincoln co., N. C., twenty-seven miles north-west of Charlotte, twelve miles west of Davidson College, ten miles north of Iron Station, "Carolina Central Rail Road," and near the favored "Rock Spring Camp Ground." In the midst of a fine agricultural district, as remarkable for quiet and good morality, as it is noted for pure water, and good health.

Advantage: Low price of Board and Tuition, healthy and moral location.

For circular, &c., address the PRINCIPAL
July 1 2w Dry Ponds, N. C.

WESLEYAN FEMALE INSTITUTE,

Staunton, Va.

Will begin its 25th annual session Sept. 17th, 1874. Rev W. A. Harris, D. D., President, with an able corps of twenty-three Teachers and Officers. Modern languages taught and spoken by European Teachers. Music by seven Professors and Teachers.

This is one of the healthiest climates in the world. Its marked effect is the rapid promotion of the physical health and vigor of our pupils. Those who come here from the South, with feeble constitutions, colds and climate diseases, are entirely restored.

Buildings elegant—fanned by the purest breezes, and commanding the most magnificent rural and mountain scenery, making it one of the most delightful College homes in the Union.

The last session, one hundred and eleven young ladies attended this school, as boarding pupils from fifteen Southern States.

EXTRACTS FROM TESTIMONIALS.

From Bishop D. S. Doggett, D. D.

The Wesleyan Female Institute, located in Staunton, Virginia, under the Presidency of Rev W. A. Harris, is, in my judgment, one of the best Institutions, for young ladies, in the South. I have occasion to know and appreciate its value by the advantages enjoyed by one of my daughters, now a pupil there. It possesses all the facilities of a thorough female education. Its personal accommodations are all that can be desired for health and comfort, or taste. No location could be more eligible; no scenery more magnificent; no atmosphere more salubrious. I is now in a state of great prosperity. I am not hesitate to recommend it to the patronage of all who wish their daughters to receive the benefits of a useful and ornamental culture.

D. S DOGGETT.

From Bishop E. M. Marvin, D. D.

The Wesleyan Female Institute is an honor to the Conference to which it belongs. All classes stand high. In music, advantages are offered of very high order. The most talented Professors are employed, and neither pains nor expense are spared to make this department small one. The school is very prosperous, and deserves to be so.

From Prof F. H. Smith, M. A. L. L. D. University of Va.

The Wesleyan Female Institute, at Staunton, deserves the liberal success it enjoys. It has a good corps of teachers, a beautiful situation, and excellent management. Having had a daughter under Mr. Harris' care, during the present session, my observation leads me to believe this school to be one of the best of Female Seminaries which adorn our State.

FRANCIS H. SMITH.

TERMS FOR THE ENTIRE COLLEGIATE YEAR:

Board and Tuition in the College, or Course $240.00. Music and other extras, moderate.

For catalogue of 64 pages, address

REV. W. A. HARRIS,
Staunton, Va.

OLD NORTH STATE

FIRE

Insurance Company,

OF

WARRENTON, - - - N. C.

Closed the several fiscal years April 1st, in a condition of great prosperity.

A handsome dividend has been declared and a full reinsurance reserve created for the benefit

Youth's Department.

Wait and See.

When my boy with eager questions,
Asking how and where, and when,
Taxes all my store of wisdom,
Asking o'er and o'er again
Questions oft to which the answers
Give to others still the key,
I have said, to teach him patience,
"Wait my little boy, and see."

And the words I taught my darling
Taught me a lesson sweet;
Once, when all the world seemed darkened,
And the storm about me beat,
In the "children's room" I heard him,
With a child's sweet mimicry,
To the baby brother's questions,
Saying wisely, "Wait and see."

Like an angel's tender chiding
Came the darling's word to me,
Though my Father's ways were hidden,
Holding me still safe and free.
What are we but restless children,
Ever a king what shall be?
And the Father, in his wisdom,
Gently bids us, "Wait and see."

The Coast Wreckers

In the days of old, before lighthouses were built, the coast of maritime nations was lighted at night by beacon fires, which blazed out on the steepest cliffs to show the homewardbound mariner his way into port. When their red flames were seen through the mist and storm, the anxious seamen were sure of their position, and steered fearlessly on their course to the safe haven that was thought to be near. Not always wisely, for there were false beacons as well as true,—beacons that were as fatal to the vessel trusting them as the candle is to the moth; beacons that were kindled by villains to lead her astray and on to the reefs and hidden rocks that she might be plundered of her cargo.

Wreckers these wicked men were called, and at one time they existed in such numbers, and were so bold, that the mariners of England dreaded them as much as they dreaded the noted buccaneers of the Spanish main. The more desperate of them inhabited remote caves on the roughest part of the coast, and were without laws and without hearts. After alluring some vessel into their stronghold, they never attempted to save the lives of the poor wretches on board, for had they done so their guilt might have been revealed; and the worst of them, with their own merciless hands, did not scruple even to hasten the death of those struggling sufferers who were washed ashore.

Many of these wreckers lived in disguise as honest fishermen, like wolves in lambs' clothing, and at night went forth from their slumbering villages to decoy ships to destruction. Even in our day, the people of English fishing villages considered all wrecks that came to their shores as their rightful prizes, and assisted in despoiling the cargo. They complained bitterly when new light-houses were built; and an anecdote is told, that one of the constructing engineers was traveling near the Orkney Islands in a small boat, and observed to the captain that his sails were in a bad condition. "Had it not been God's will that you should come here with your light-houses," the old fellow answered, "we should have had better sails to our boats and more of other things." Happily, all the wreckers of this kind have passed away; only their name remains, and that is changed in meaning. Instead of causing wrecks and robbing them, as of old, the new wreckers prevent them, and, failing in that, protect wrecked property from the ravages of the waves at sea and from thieves on shore. The cargo is not all they aim at. There are many vessels afloat now, staunch as the staunchest, that have been engulfed in fathoms of water and raised, with their treasure, by the wonderful appliances of modern wreckers.

The large wrecking companies have depots at New York, Boston, New Orleans, Norfolk, and at various ports on the great Lakes, where they have vessels and apparatus for raising sunken ships and removing the cargo. Some of them also employ agents along the coast, whose duty it is to telegraph information of all wrecks that occur within their districts to the chief offices, from which assistance is sent. You wonder, no doubt, as you reach this point, what motive the wreckers have, and may be accrediting them with unusual kindness, but, though many of them have very kind hearts, theirs is really a business enterprise, and, while it requires courage and skill, it is only pursued for the sake of gain. The wreckers are entitled to salvage, which, as most of you know, means a part of the value of whatever property they may save. The amount is fixed by a tribunal called the Admiralty Court, and is large or small, according to the risks borne by the wreckers in their work, the value of the property saved, the condition of the vessel or cargo when saved, the skill displayed, and the time and labor expended.

But no claim is entertained unless the wreckers prove that the passengers and crew were removed out of danger before any attempt was made to rescue the vessel or her cargo. Thus the wreckers are encouraged to assist the life-saving men, and many instances might be given of the good work they have done in that way. Sometimes the salvage amounts to one-half the value of the property saved, and occasionally it is more. But often the salvage is abandoned, and a trade made between the wreckers of the wrecked ... sum of money shall ... her and bringing ... from "The Coast-Riding," in St.

Rural and Domestic.

Improving Seed Wheat.

We have often insisted that if farmers would take the same pains to save the largest grains and heads of wheat for seed that they do to save the best ears of corn for seed, there is no reason why wheat should deteriorate by years of cultivation any more than corn. The following from a writer in the Rural New Yorker, proves our theory: Sow none but the largest and most perfect kernels. It has been my practice for the last sixteen or eighteen years to run my wheat for seed over a very coarse seed screen, so as to sow none but the very largest kernels. By so doing I have improved my wheat so that I have sold nearly all my wheat at home for seed. But in 1871 I hit upon a new plan. I had a piece of Treadwell wheat that was injured by insects in the previous fall and killed by freezing in the winter, so that there were spots not worth cutting. After harvest I observed a few scattering heads of unusual size. It occurred to me that there was wheat that had withstood the ravages of the insects and the rigor of the winter. I gathered enough to sow one rod square, from which I realized twenty pounds of unusually large, even berry, which was at the ratio of over fifty bushels per acre; last harvest had twenty bushels which weighed sixty six pounds per bushel. It is my opinion that we realize the best crops from the best and most perfect seed in the vegetable as well as the animal kingdom.

The Most Profitable Fertilizers.

A correspondent sends the U. S. Agricultural Department an account of a discussion by an agricultural association in the parish of Catahoula, Louisiana, respecting the relative advantages of purchasing fertilizers in the market, or producing them on the farm. After interchanges of views, illustrated by statements of experience in trying the one and the other theory, it was decided that for the soil of that parish the manure derived from its productions is not only the cheapest as to cost, and most profitable for the crop to which it is first applied, but is more permanent than foreign fertilizers in its good effects. The principal reason assigned was that it returns to the soil the very ingredient taken from it by the crops from which it is derived. Hence it was recommended that measures be taken to economize manures on the farm in all practicable ways, among which were specified the free use of litter and other absorbents in stables and yards for horses, cows, and hogs, so as to save all the liquid manure; and the saving of all the bones from beef, pork, and every other source, breaking them up, keeping the fragments in a water tight receptacle until dissolved by ashes or other solvent, and then compositing them.

GRAVEL IN HORSES.—For gravel in horses, give two thirds of a tables poonful of saltpetre in a little salt for three consecutive days; or take a pint of watermelon seed and boil it in two quarts of water, till reduced to nearly one-half, and drench two mornings in succession: your horse will be cured.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Brilliant Record of Cures.

An American humorist tells us that it would have been money in his pocket if he had been born without a stomach, and that proceeds to figure up the cost of a chronic dyspepsia, to which he is martyr, and which he says it is impossible to cure. On this point, "Josh Billings," (for he is the party referred to) to mistaken. Unless his stomach differs from all other dyspeptic stomachs, Hostetter's Bitters will cure him in less than three months. This it would be safe to guarantee under any penalty. There are a few, a very few, medicinal specifics for disease in existence, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be set down as one of them. In cases of indigestion it never fails. Persons who had suffered for many years almost every conceivable pain of torture from this agonizing complaint, have been permanently cured with the Bitters in six weeks. Hundreds of such instances are recorded authenticated by the testimony of prominent men in every walk of life, eminent physicians among the number. But this celebrated vegetable preparation is something more than a stomachic and tonic. It is also an alterative of wonderful virtue. In liver complaint its control over bile, pure and in once salutary, and in all diseased conditions of the bowels, notably in case of constipation, its regulating properties are in the highest degree serviceable. The new settlements in the west and all ... where irregularity of country, interest with miasmatic ... constitutions, so liable at this season, of the various types of intermittent fevers, should be always well provided with this incomparable chologue which will cure any case of fever and ague in a period varying from ... days to three or four weeks, according to the violence of the complaint. Nervous disorders which are always aggravated by the adulterated liquors usually prescribed by physicians, are readily cured by a course of this admirable combination medicine to which the properties of a stimulant, a tonic and alterative are happily blend.

July 11-m.

THE WILSON TAKES THE GRAND Prize at Vienna!

AUSTRIA, VIENNA, Aug. 15, 1873.
To W. G. Wilson, President Wilson Sewing Machine, Cleveland, Ohio:
The Wilson Shuttle Sewing Machine was awarded the Grand Prize at the Vienna Exposition for being the best Sewing Machine.
The above telegram needs no comment. The people can now be assured that in buying the Wilson at the low price of $50 they are getting the best Sewing Machine ever offered to the public. Circulars free. Best Terms to agents. address
WHARTON & WHARTON,
State Agents, Greensboro, N. C.
Sept 4—tf. Pd 5.

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY

MALE AND FEMALE.
R. P. TROY, A. M. Principal,
Mrs. R. P. TROY, Teacher of Music.
Spring session begins January, 5th 1874.
Board per month, $8.00
Tuition " from 1.50 to 3.00
One half in advance.
ADVANTAGES
Low price of board and tuition, healthy and moral location, Sabbath school and religious service every Sunday.
Conveyance by Rail Road to Greensboro, whenever free conveyance will be furnished by the Principal, if in Greensboro' on arrival.
Address the Principal.
Greensboro, N. C.
Nov 26-1m

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption all remedies having failed, and Dr. R. James was experimenting, by accidentally made a preparation of INDIAN HEMP, which cured his only child and since gives this receipt free on receipt of two stamps, to pay expenses. HEMP also cures nightsweats, nauseat the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in 24 hours. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1058 Race St, Philadelphia, naming this paper.
June 4-3m

DR. C. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF
Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,
DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weakness and debility; he is easily startled, feels [illegible] cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; [illegible] although he is satisfied exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he omits every remedy. Several of the symptoms here named attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the liver to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASE OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are troubled with this disease to give them a fair trial.

Address all orders to
FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.
[illegible] Dealers and Physicians in Genuine Fleming Bros. will find it to their interest to [illegible] Pittsburgh, and not to [illegible] Eastern cities, as [illegible] Pittsburgh is the largest [illegible] part of the United States, and [illegible] Pittsburgh Drugs, or any of the [illegible] from Pittsburgh, are fully equal to [illegible] for purity and genuineness. Sold by all [illegible] and Country Store keepers generally.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge

Should be kept in every nursery. In a few days you will know whether your children are to be wormish, sickly, and Yeomens Men and Women, or, gay, active and healthy.

M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE,

TO EXPEL THE WORMS.
A CERTAIN REMEDY.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

ELGIN WATCHES.

W. B. FARRAR,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND OPTICIAN.
Deals in Swiss Watches, Calendar and ordinary Clocks, Jewelry, Spectacles, Silver and Plated Ware, Bridal Presents, Rings, Pistols, Cartridges, Sewing Machine Needles, Table Cutlery, Leather Pocket Knives, INK Erasers, Match Boxes, Walking Canes, &c. TERMS EXCEEDINGLY LOW.
No. 7 South Elm Street, Opposite Express Office, Greensboro, N. C.
May 13-6m

If The Stomach

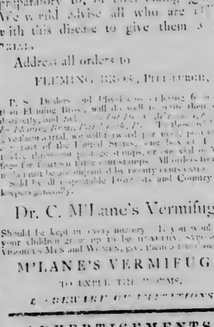
is wrong, all is wrong. TARRANT'S EFFERVESCENT SELTZER APERIENT, while acting as a corrective upon that organ, gently expels all morbid matter from the alimentary canal, and imparts a healthful activity to the sluggish liver. Sold by all druggists.
July 8-2w.

ALADDIN SECURITY OIL

Will prove itself equal, if not superior, to any burning oil that has been offered to the public—is perfectly safe for use in all Kerosene Lamps. Will give all who use perfect security in doing so. For sale by
PESCUD, LEE & CO.,
Druggists
jan 14-tf

NAT L. BROWN,

RALEIGH, N. C.
General Agent for the Celebrated
ESTEY COTTAGE ORGANS.



Always ahead, always reliable. The largest manufactory of Reed Organs in the world.
Prices low; payments easy. Illustrated catalogue mailed free on application.
A dealer in all kinds of Musical Instruments, Strings and Trimmings, Fancy Goods, Toys, Baskets, Croquet Sets, Children Carriages, Pipes, Cigars, Tobacco, etc. Orders solicited. Prompt attention given.
April 1-tf

"A NEW WHEELER & WILSON" Sewing Machine—silver plated—for sale. Price very low.
NAT L. BROWN.
July 8-tf

TWO second hand Pianos. Price very low
NAT L. BROWN.
july 18-tf.

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Successors to Wyatt, Green & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Cotton Factors,

Commission, Shipping

And Forwarding Merchants,

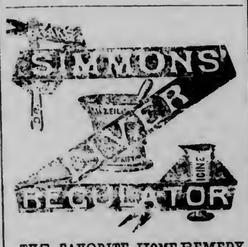
No. 4 Exchange Place and Martin St.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Cotton and satisfaction guaranteed.
Consignments of all kinds of country produce solicited.
All debts for or against the late firm of Wyatt, Green and Co., will be collected and disbursed as they become due, by us.
WYATT, BINGHAM AND CO.,
Raleigh, N. C.
dec9-tf

LADIES READ!

Needles for the following Machines: Wheeler and Wilson, Grover & Baker, Wilcox & Gibbs, Howe, Weed, Domestic, Buckeye and Singer. Warranted equal to the best, only 25 cents per dozen. Sent prepaid to any address in the United States on receipt of price. Address,
J. A. STEWART,
Henderson, N. C.
june 17-1m.



THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

This unrivalled Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of MERCURY, or any injurious mineral substance, but is

PURELY VEGETABLE,

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine,

Is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bill.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility, eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Armed with the ANTIDOTE, all climates and changes of water and food may be borne without fear. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, SOUR SL. OMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA
Price, $1 qt. Sold by all Druggists, eb-15-12m

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Sunday, June 16th, 1874

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	1 01 P. M.	8.35 A. M.
" Air-Line J'nct'n	7.25 "	9.56 "
" Salisbury.....	9.52 "	10.54 "
" Greensboro'....	2.16 A. M.	1.10 P. M.
" Danville.....	5.13 "	3.56 "
" Danbe.....	5.35 "	5.45 "
" Burkville.....	11.30 "
Arrive at Richmond....	1.23 P. M.	11.04 P. M.

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1.36 P. M.	11.45 P. M.
" Burkville.....	4.41 "	2.03 A. M.
" Dundee.....	9.25 "	6.43 "
" Danville.....	9.99 "	8.37 "
" Greensboro'....	10.40 A. M.	11.56 "
" Salisbury.....	2.35 "	3.51 P. M.
" Air-Line J'nct'n	6.14 "	4.04 "
Arrive at Charlo. Ce...	6.31 A. M.	5.20 "

GOING EAST. GOING WEST

STATIONS.	MAIL	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'..	7 15 A. M.	Arrive 11.45 P. M
" Un. Shops....	8.15 "	10.15 "
" Raleigh.....	7.30 "	5.41 "
Arrive at Galdsboro'	10.20 A. M.	Leave 2.30 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.
(SALEM BRANCH.)

STATIONS.	MAIL	EXPRESS.
Leave Greensboro'...	1.30 A. M.	4.35 P. M.
Arrive at Salem	5.00 "	5.50 "
Leave Salem.....	10.30 P. M.	8.00 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'	11.00 "	9.45 "

Passenger train leaving Raleigh at 7.41 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound train, making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Price of Tickets same as via other routes.
Trains to and from points East of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.
Trains daily, both ways.
On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9.42 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.35 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.25 A. M.
Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, (without change.)
Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above.
For further information address
S. B. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent.
Greensboro, N. C.
T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

:o:

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27, 1873.
On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	9.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	4.40 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.45 A. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.10 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	1.40 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.
And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Haywood and Fayetteville.
Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accomodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.
And at Raleigh with Accommodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division.
A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

:o:

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.
On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.20 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.45 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.21 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	2.05 P. M
Arrives at Sanford,	8.20 "
Leaves Sanford,	10.15 A. M
Arrives at Ral'g	3.40 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection at Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.
And at Sanford with the Western Railroad to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.
Accommodation and Freight Trains connect with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.
A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

Save Fifty Dollars!

THE NEW FLORENCE.

PRICE, $20 below } any other first-class Sewing
VALUE, $30 above } Machine.
SAVED, $50 by buying the Florence.
Every machine warranted.
Special terms to clubs and dealers.
Send for circulars to the Florence S. M. Co., Florence, Mass., or 29 Union Square, New York.
april 15-3m

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,
DEALER IN
PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS,

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the
REPAIRING AND TUNING
of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Simpson's Drug Store sep 9 6m.

CANVASSERS

send No. of your Lodge and name this paper. We will convince you agents with our superb Home Pictures for Manos, Odd-Fellows, Knights Pythias, Grangers, Red-men, Metlasite, etc., are making double their cost any other way; work pleasanter. J. HALE POWERS & CO., Fraternity & Floe Art Pubs., Cincinnati, O.
Feb 24-12m

JUST RECEIVED

AT
D. S. WAITT'S,
Ready Made Clothing
FOR
SPRING AND SUMMER.
GO TO D. S. WAITT'S
FOR
BOOTS & SHOES.
A full line just opened.
FOR GENTS' FURNISHING
Goods go to
D. S. WAITT'S.

DRY GOODS! DRY GOODS!!

D. S. WAITT'S
is the place to get them cheap.

R. F. JONES & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C.
COMMISSION MERCHANTS. COTTON FACTORS
Wholesale and Retail Grocers,
Wilmington Street, opposite Market House,

In their wholesale department they offer to the trade a large stock of first-class groceries at prices that have and will continue to attract the trade. They have in store
1200 Gals. S. H. Syrup.
150 Sacks Fine Liverpool Salt.
1200 Pounds Cream Cheese.
300 Bushels Bolted Meal.
100 Boxes Cakes and Crackers—fresh.
1000 Pounds pure candy, assorted.
25 Cases mixed Pickles.
40 Doz. cans Fresh Peaches.
50 Bbls. Superfine and Family Flour.
3000 Pounds Family Soap.
25 Boxes Adamantine Candles.
40 Doz. boxes Axle Grease.
72 " Masons Blacking.
50,000 Water Proof Percussion Caps.
Powder, Shot, Snuff, Tobacco, Soda, Spice, Pepper Tea, &c. &c.
Bulk Meat and Breakfast Strips, and a full assortment of other goods generally sold in grocery stores. Call and examine the quality of their goods and prices. Consignment of produce solicited.
oct 15-6m

NORRIS & MYATT,

(SUCCESSORS TO LEE H. ADAMS.)
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
GROCERS, COTTON FACTORS
—AND—
General Commission Merchants,
No. 3 Exchange Place and No. 5 Martin Street,

They offer to the trade a large and well selected stock of first-class groceries at remarkably low figures to suit the times. They are daily receiving, and have to day in store, a choice lot of North Carolina Hams.
75 bbls Family Extra Superfine Flour.
50 sacks North Carolina Flour.
500 bushels Corn and Rolled Meal.
50 sacks Salt.
10 bbls Extra A Sugar.
10 bbls Extra C Sugar.
10 bbls Extra C Yellow Sugar.
10 bbls Dem Sugar.
10 sacks Rio Coffee.
10 kegs Soda.
10 cases Concentrated Lye
10 cases Cove Oysters
10 boxes Adamantine Candles
25 kits Best Leaf Lard.
1000 pounds Pure Assorted Candy
500 bunches Cotton Yarn.
50 kegs Nails.
50 boxes of Durham Tobacco, and a full assortment of goods usually kept in a first class grocery. All bought very low for Cash. Our motto: "Quick sales and small profits." A large lot of Boots and Shoes, Hats and Every Pants—goods which will be offered at reduced figures. Call and examine our stock before calling elsewhere. Consignments and Country Produce solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.
April 1-tf

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY

RALEIGH, N. C.
Is the Place to Buy
French and Plain Candies,
Foreign and Domestic Fruits,
RAISINS, NUTS, etc.,
Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,
Fancy Good. Childrens Toys,
Carriages for the Little Folks,
CROQUET SET,
BASE BALLS AND BATS,
Marbles, Tops, and Kites,
All at MOSELEY'S

LEMON'S Anilline Dye Colors, at
PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S
Drug Store.
jan 14-1

Pocket Inhaler AND Carbolate of Iroding Chalulunt.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient Inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption if taken in season. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. A Druggists have it for sale, neatly put up with inhalers enough for two months' use. Price $2 00. Freeis mail on receipt of price. Send for a Circular. by
W. H. SMITH & Co., Prop'rs,
Jan 28-6m Buffalo, N. Y.

Robert T. Gray,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Raleigh, N. C.

Will give prompt attention to business in the Supreme, Superior, and other Courts of the State.
Refers by permission to
Hon. R. M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court,
Hon. Thos. Settle, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court,
Hon. I. G. Lash, Pres. First National Bank of Salem
John G. Williams, " State " " Raleigh
Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, Editor of Raleigh ADVOCATE.
Rev. A. W Mangum, Raleigh, N. C.

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap.
Apply at the ADVOCATE Office.
Sept 16-tf

JOSEPH KRETH

Merchant Tailor,
OPPOSITE CITY POST OFFICE,
RALEIGH, N. C.
Keeps the best quality of Cassimeres and Clothe constantly on hand. Persons wanting suits of every description will find it to their interest to give him a call. May 27-2m

W. F. KORNEGAY,

Goldsboro', N. C.
Wholesale and Retail Dealer
FOREIGN & DOMESTIC HARDWARE,
COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.
Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.
FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.
Our wagons are Western made, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All we ask is a trial of them.
Jan 28-tf

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes.
RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eyes successfully treated by
Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.
Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.
Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Incalculable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.
Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, as I cured of the following diseases:
1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight; 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4 Epiphora, Humidity or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or Imperfect Sight from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes; 10. Myiodesopia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight.
Any one can use these Eye Cups without the aid of a doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles; or, if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.
2,309 CERTIFICATES OF CURE
from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.
Under date of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "I, Ball, of your city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."
Prof. W. Merrick, of Washington, D. C., wrote, April 24th, 1869: "Without my spectacles I pen you this note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this morning peruse the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye."
"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.
"Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."
Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.
E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, writes us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age."
Wm. Beatly, M. D., Salvisa Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years."
Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by precipitation of the optic nerve, to my unexpressible joy the PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."
All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYE, of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.
For the worse cases of MYOPIA OR NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC A TACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.
Send for pamphlets and certificates—free. Waste no more money by adjusting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face.
AGENTS WANTED
Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $24 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.
Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to
DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 957. NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.
Sept 6-12m.

Established 1846.
B. W. PAYNE, E. S. PAYNE, D. W. PAYNE
B. W. PAYNE & SONS
Corning Foundry and Machine Shop,
CORNING, STEUBEN CO., N. Y.
Manufacturers of
Stationary Engines, Boilers and

Mill Gearing, Shafting, Pulleys and Hangers.
Delivered Free on Board Steamboat in New York City.
Send for Circular.
Feb 25-12m

PARENTS REDUCE YOUR SHOE BILLS TWO THIRDS BY BUYING Silver Tipped Shoes.

Feb 18-6m

CANFIELD BROTHER & CO.,

229 Baltimore St.,
BALTIMORE MD.
Gold Watches for Ladies & Gentlemen.
American Watches a specialty.
These Watches have an established reputation.
Silver Watches of every variety.
Diamonds, Rich Jewelery.
Chains, Lockets, &c.
Gold Head Canes.
Clocks, Bronzes, Vases.
Fancy Silver-Ware for Bridal Gifts.
Triple Plated Tea Sets, Waiters, Ice Pitchers, Fruit Stands, Castors, Spoons and Forks. A complet stock of new style Plated Goods. Fine, Opera Glass and Rich Fancy Goods.
Our stock is large and prices moderate. Order have prompt attention. Medals and Badges Schools and Colleges.
apr 24—12m.

$5 TO $20

per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, making more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.
Sept 18-12m

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE

INSURANCE COMPANY,
NO. 141 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK.

Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00!!

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK, President.
D. P. FACKLER, Actuary.
WM. M. OGLE, Secretary.
DANIEL AYRES, M.D., Med. Exam.

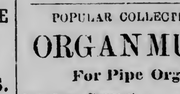
POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH;
The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees
DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES!
In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium.
THE BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation for PROMPTNESS, INVESTMENT, ECONOMY OF MANAGEMENT, AND CARE IN THE SELECTION OF RISKS,—upon which elements of administration the security of a Life Insurance Corporation depends.
The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of its Policies, each and every year, and in a certain legal standard of reserve and accumulation to be held by the Companies to meet all their liabilities.
Insurers in looking around for Companies in which to insure, should carefully see to this important safeguard. IT WILL BE FOUND IN THE BROOKLYN LIFE.
WM. LITTLE, M.D., MEDICAL EXAMINER
A. W. LAWRENCE,
General Agent for North Carolina,
Office at Raleigh.
may 18-tf

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c.,
Opposite Tucker Hall,
FAYETTEVILLE STREET,
RALEIGH, N. C.
T. W. GUTHRIE, Rockingham, N. C.
GEO. A. NEWELL, Wilmington N. C.

"BLEES"

Link-Motion Lock-Stitch Shuttle
NOISELESS



Hems,
Braids,
Gathers,
Tucks,
Ruffles,
Cords,
Binds,
Frills,
Quilts,
Gathers,
&c., &c.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

Uses the straight needle, and will do the greatest range and variety of work of any machine ever before offered to the public.
Challenges the world in perfection of work, strength and beauty of stitch, durability of construction and rapidity of motion.
Reliable agents wanted in every county in the State, to whom liberal terms will be given.
NEWELL & GUTHRIE, General Agents
No. 5 South Front Street,
Wilmington, N. C.
nov 26-tf

ODELL, RAGAN & CO.,

Wholesale Dealers in General Merchandise,
GREENSBORO', N. C.

We call the attention of the merchants of North Carolina to the fact that we have opened our large wholesale house, and that we are prepared to sell them goods, as cheap as they can buy in any market. We are the agents for Cedar Falls, Deep River, Cardleman and Altamance Manufacturing Co's. Sheeting, Yarns, Plaids and seamless Bags. Parties ordering these goods will find them as cheap from us as if they order directly from the factory. We also sell Sabin Jeans a fact

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 29. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JULY 22, 1874. WHOLE NO. 1,017.

Selected Poetry.

Nobility.

BY ALICE CARY.

True worth is being, not doing;
In doing, we may find good by
Some fine deed, not in the dreamy
Or great things we do by and by
For character must act in boldness,
And spite of the mockers of mouth,
There's nothing so truly sublime,
And nothing so truly as truth.

We set back our watches by seasons,
We cannot the wrong and feel right,
Nor can we give pride and get pleasure,
For justice avenges each slight.
The air for the wing of the sparrow,
The bush for the robin and wren,
But always the path that is narrow
And straight for the children of men.

To-day in the pages of story
The heart of all ills to be stilled,
Though he who makes courtship to glory
Gives all it can hold for her dower.
For when from the heights he has won her,
Alas! it is only to prove
That nobly given sacred as honor,
And nothing so truly as love.

We cannot make bargains for blessing,
Nor catch them, like fishes, in nets;
And sometimes the plan we make for it are,
Helps more than the gift we asked for.
For get it how we may, remember,
No act of a pure life is lost,
But good shall come of it somewhere,
To-day in the shadow, or cost.
As we would be done by, to all.

Through envy, through malice, through hatred,
Against the world, early and late,
No jot of our courage abating
Our part is to work and to wait.
And slight is the sting of his trouble
Whose winnings are less than his worth;
For he who is honest is noble,
Whatever his fortune or birth.

Communicated.

For the Advocate

Our New York Letter.

It is a little curious that while we have any number of missionaries to send out into the by-ways and hedges there has been no way as yet discovered for reaching the, perhaps less vicious, but no less ungodly, fashionable classes. The city missionary or Bible reader, while he has no fear in mounting up into the highest garret or going down into the foliest cellar, feels a natural shrinking against pulling the bell-handle of a Murray Hill residence. In the first place the answering servant would probably shut the door in his face if he did not send up his name and business, and if he did, it is more than likely that the lady of the house would send down word that she was "engaged." Then there is another class of the community that is even more difficult of approach: we refer to the occupants of our large hotels and fashionable boarding houses. The majority of these people are not church-goers, and make Sunday a sort of fete day. It is their carriages that one sees rolling out Fifth Avenue towards the Park on Sunday, and they are the patrons of the many club houses and semi-country hotels that line our suburbs.—Sunday is to them what a Saturday afternoon is to the working classes; they make it a holiday and enjoy it to the best of their ability. The up-town restaurants do their best business on Sunday, and their patrons are, as we have said, the boarding population of the city. There is no way of getting these people to church unless they may go some time just for a change, and then perhaps they may hear something that will arouse their interest and take them there again. A good choir has often acted as an inducement in drawing outsiders into the church. By way of example, quite recently, a young man belonging to the fashionable world was attracted by curiosity to enter an up-town church; he did not expect to stay but a few moments, but something in the sermon interested his attention and he remained an attentive listener through out the services. He came again and again, and finally experienced a change of heart, joined the church, and is now studying to enter the ministry. This young man said that he had not been brought up to attend church, and that his parents never thought of such a thing. This is but one case in hundreds. It is the word in season that saves the soul, and it is only for the want of some plan of action that these cases we have spoken of are not attended to at once. There is a little plan now at work which cannot fail of meeting with good results. A few words, just sufficient to call to mind the fact that in the midst of life we are in death, are tastefully printed on the handsomest and most ultra-fashionable of tinted note paper and placed in an elegantly gotten up envelope. These are then sealed with postage full paid, so that they will not be thrown out as circulars by prying servants, and directed by name to the gentleman or lady of the house. The contents are easily read, seldom covering more than half a sheet of the paper, and it is for time to tell the result. There is more hope for the conversion of the vilest reprobate than there is for the easy-going thoughtless man or woman of the world. The former, when spoken to on the subject of his mad career, sees very plainly that he is outraging the laws of both God and man. There is more to take hold of in his case. The latter will say to you, "what have I done that you should talk to me in this way."—It is the sin of omission in this case. The man may be the best husband and kindest father, and honorable and upright in all his dealings with men. And there he thinks his duty ends, he acknowledges no higher power and thinks himself a rather exemplary fellow. And so he is as far as the world goes, and his case is next to hopeless.

The city mission, which has been in successful operation since 1829, meets every want connected with the reformation and conversion of the poorer classes. This society is connected with the various evangelical christian denominations and is founded upon the catholic principles of christian union and co-operation. Until about 1832 the work of the society was entirely voluntary. At that time it was deemed expedient to employ a paid agency in connection with the volunteer department. In 1861 the society took rooms in the Bible House and appointed Mr. Lewis E. Jackson corresponding secretary. In 1866 the society was re organized and incorporated, and an executive committee of fifteen pastors and laymen, headed by the Rev. Howard Crosby.

During the ten years past, in which the society has been running on its new basis, over $400,000 have been raised for the support of the missionaries and the general work, and more than $100,000 for the erection of mission chapels. The society now have four commodious chapels and one good parsonage, and own real estate worth $100,000. The reach of the city mission, as at present organized, may be seen in the following schedule of its plan of operations:—Mission churches: there are four of these, with the Apostles creed as the symbol of faith, with pastors and officers, and with the ordinances and government approved and in use by the majority of evangelical christians. There are thirty missionaries, men and women, who devote all their time to the work of christian charity; then there are mission Sabbath Schools, Temperance societies, Helping Hands, Lodging Houses, Reading Rooms, Employment Bureaus, and various other auxiliary agencies. In addition to the regular services, there are given occasionally tea meetings, temperance meetings, lectures, musical and other entertainments calculated to cultivate the taste as well as amuse. The idea of the city mission is that self-help is the best help for the poor. The scenes and incidents brought constantly before the city missionaries would, if written out, fill volumes of the most interesting reading, and would contain plots for many novels. Many unfortunate men, who would have in all probability died unrepentant sinners, have been led into another life through this mission, and to day hold positions of honor and trust.—One of the men saved by this means, was taken through a course of study, and is now an eloquent and successful preacher, and a professor in a theological seminary. One of the most useful missionaries in China is a converted Jew, who ten years ago, was an itinerant glazier in the streets of New York. There are ten others who, through the labors of the City Mission, have been directly introduced into the work of preaching the Gospel. From the investigations of the city missionaries accurate statistics of poverty and ignorance have been gathered and the city's sins and sorrows have been gauged, and as the exigencies of the case demanded, new appliances and agencies have been set in motion. Out of the early missionary efforts, and mainly through the agency of Mr. A. R. Wetmore, and others who stood by him, have arisen the Association for improving the condition of the Poor, the Juvenile Asylum, the Hospital for Ruptured and Crippled, the Woman's Hospital and many others. How great the gain in the manner of giving, during the period covered by the history of the City Missions, may be seen by the following encouraging figures: In the year 1827, the year in which the City Mission was founded, the receipts of the American Bible Society were $30,000; last year the Society reported a revenue of $600,000. The City Mission received during the first year of its existence, $2,000; for the ten years past it has received on an average of $50,000 a year. There were in 1827, probably about fifty benevolent societies, with an aggregate revenue of $500,000; there are now more than three hundred of these societies, whose receipts foot up nearly $10,000,000 a year.

Notwithstanding all that has been and is being done to ameliorate the condition of the poor of this city, begging was never carried on to a greater extent than at present. To be sure we have been relieved of some of the most offensive creatures who exhibited their deformities to the public along the side-walks between Broadway and Sixth Avenue on Fourteenth Street. Still there are enough left there to make that walk exceeding disagreeable. There is the crippled man in his little cart, and the man who walks about on the stumpy legs, women with drugged babies, and dryed up old women who mutter short prayers when you give them a penny, and something else when you don't, and any number of armless ex soldiers who torture familiar tunes and the public at the same time with played out hand organs. There used to be a woman, a model to her craft, who ground an organ on Union Square that was entirely without sound. That this woman made money, there can be no doubt, for who would refuse to encourage such an example? The pin boys and girls who are nothing more or less than beggars, are the most importunate of their class. They will follow a lady for several blocks, and unless she threatens to have them arrested, will cling to her skirts and insist upon her purchasing their wares. One boy who haunts the neighborhood of Tenth Street is the most pertinacious of the lot. His favorite expression is, "Lady, I'm grub-struck, won't you buy some pins?' If he is refused, he tells the lady that she is too lazy to put her hand in her pocket. As for being "grub struck," as he calls it, that seems to be his normal condition, for month in and month out he makes the same appeal. If there was no place for the care and support of these unfortunates, we would accept their appearance on our thoroughfares as a necessary evil and make the best of it, but as there are any number of places for just such persons, we cannot help protesting against their importunities.

The funeral of Mrs. Charles Davis, the lady rider, who was fatally injured at Barnum's Hippodrome on Friday of last week, took place on Wednesday from St. Stephen's Church, where a requiem mass was celebrated and her remains were borne to the grave by eight of the employes of the Hippodrome. With this frightful warning before them, the women continue to ride and the people to look on and applaud. The riders are not so much to blame, for they are only doing their best to earn a livelihood. It is the people who are to blame: it would seem that the greater the danger to human life, the greater the attraction. Almost every day one or more of these poor creatures are thrown from their horses or chariots and severely injured. In the chariot races they are compelled to stand up, and it is often more than they can do to manage their horses and keep their balance at the same time when turning the short curves of the track. It does seem as though the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals might have some jurisdiction in this case. If no one interferes to prevent these exhibitions we may prepare to hear of more horrors.

That part of a recent article by Mr. James Parton, in Harper's Magazine, relating to the execution of the Italian Ensignani at Morristown last year, has created considerable excitement and indignation among the journalists of this city. Those who have read Mr. Parton's statements, without prejudice, admit that there is too much truth in what he says; but the trouble is that he has written his article without making sure enough of his facts. There certainly is more drinking done by reporters just before an execution than is beneficial to the accuracy of their reports, although it may steady their nerves in a measure. If Mr. Parton's article will only have the effect of doing away with the sensational in reports of executions, we cannot be too thankful. The bare facts in the case of hanging a man are bad enough, without calling up imaginary atrocities.

Instead of the influential journals of our great cities pandering to a corrupt taste in reading they should do all they can to elevate it, but alas, they do not. There are papers in this city whose whole tone is that of scoffing at every good thing and smoothing over the bad, so as to make it as palatable as possible. It does not hurt the circulation of these papers that they gibe and jeer at every pure sentiment, but it decidedly injures their reputation among all right-thinking people, and if there is any good left in the community will finally end in their downfall. Yellow-covered literature of the highly sensational school we knew how to avoid and keep the taste out of our houses, but it is a long while before the bad in the daily paper is discovered. It is read for the news, and the poison scattered through its columns in many cases has its effect before its presence is discovered. A father can not be too careful in the selections of the papers he carries home in the evening. The afternoon papers published in this city are, with perhaps one exception, eminently respectable, and no man need have any fear in bringing them into his house. It is among the morning papers that we find the most sensationalism. Of course there are notable exceptions to this rule, and some of our morning journals are the welcome friends in thousands of christian homes. The press of this country has a great opportunity before it; let us hope that it will not abuse it.

Selections.

The Reformed Episcopal Church.

On the 10th day of November, 1873, the assistant bishop of Kentucky resigned his jurisdiction and withdrew from the Protestant Episcopal Church. Within a month of this time, on the 2nd of December, at the call of Bishop CUMMINS and several laymen, the Reformed Episcopal Church was organized, and its first General Council held in the city of New York. At the second General Council which convened May 13th, 1874, and before the young church was six months old it had upon its list of ministers the names of seventeen clergymen, including two bishops, and upon its list of churches, ten organized congregations. These parishes are not confined to any particular section but scattered over the country: two of them are in Chicago, two in Canada, two in Philadelphia, one each in Peoria, New York, Brooklyn, and Colorado. Other churches are in process of formation. The communicants at present connected with this church number at least one thousand souls. At the closing meeting of the late General Council, nearly $19,000 was pledged for the missionary and publication work of the ensuing year.

These mere details of an outward growth afford but a very inadequate insight into the results, which the new organization has already effected, both for its own membership and the Protestant Episcopal Church. For example it has secured for itself a liturgy which retains the well nigh universally acknowledged beauties of the Book of Common Prayer, in use in the Protestant Episcopal Church without its very manifest defects. The computation is thoroughly Protestant, the germs of Romanism scattered through the older formulary, having been carefully eradicated. The word priest and altar nowhere occur in it. The offices for baptism and the Lord's Supper have been so carefully guarded, that it is hoped that they cannot by any Jesuitical ingenuity be tortured into teaching sacramental grace, or the presence in the elements the Lord's table. It has been the aim of the revisers, to expunge from the book whatever might seem to give color or support to the sacerdotal theory. Their work, which was reluctantly undertaken, was fearlessly and thoroughly, yet withal reverently, prayerfully, and lovingly performed. The revision thus effected is the fruit not of a week's discussion, but of years of careful thoughtful study, on the part of many of those engaged in it. If the Council was free from an Elizabethian spirit of compromise, it was also free from a spirit of ruthless iconoclasm. Whole sections of the old liturgy remain untouched, and it is confidently believed that the verdict of the impartial examiner will pronounce the new book not a mutilation, but a purification and enrichment of the old. Perhaps it may even be said with truth, that the services of this liturgy are more clearly scriptural in phraseology, than the formularies in use in many other Protestant churches.

A PURE AND SCRIPTURAL LITURGY,

Again, the young church has boldly asserted that liberty wherewith Christ has made His people free. No territorial boundaries restrict her clergy, who may preach Jesus anywhere, everywhere, and to every creature under heaven. No given canon excludes the ministry of other churches from her pulpits,—denies the right to officiate at her communion-tables, or in any way depreciate their office and authority as true ambassadors of Christ. Indeed, so Catholic is her spirit and so ready is she to say "Grace be with all them that Love our Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity," that she does that which

NO OTHER CHURCH HAS EVER DONE.

She requires ministers to invite to the Lord's table orthodox Christians of every name. The Reformed Episcopal Church does not demand, as does the Protestant Episcopal Church, the reordination of non-Episcopal clergymen who may desire to officiate within her fold, and she stands ready to dismiss with her benediction such of her ministers as may prefer to labor in other churches. Besides this, her clergy have large discretionary liberty in the use of the liturgy and are allowed and encouraged on all appropriate occasions in the practice of extemporaneous prayer.—REV. DR. SABINE, in Christian at Work.

Chief Justice Chase, who administered the oath of office to Lincoln in 1865, to Johnson soon after, and twice to Grant, made a practice of sending to the wife of the President the Bible on which the oath was taken, marking the passage therein pressed by the President's lips. Andrew Johnson, we are told, kissed the twenty-first verse of the eleventh chapter of Ezekiel, and Grant, in 1869 the one hundred and twenty first Psalm.

A Christian Hero

The brief code of rules adopted by Dr. Kane, the Arctic explorer, for the government of the Grinnell Expedition in search of Sir John Franklin and his men, was characteristic of his moral heroism and religious principle. They were these: 1. Implicit obedience to the instructions of the commander. 2. Total abstinence from intoxicating liquors unless medically prescribed. 3. Entire disuse of profane language by every member of the expedition.

The restless daring of his nature, his scientific ardor and skillful training for great emergencies, were blended with those gentler impulses a refined sensibility which fitted him to govern rougher men, and to triumph over obstacles few would have willingly encountered. Humanity and science wept together over his early grave. But he went down to his deep sleep without a fear and without regret. He had climbed the steep of fame, and from its summit looked calmly out upon an admiring world. And when, after long illness, his time had come, he breathed his life away to the sweet music of the twenty third Psalm of David, and passed "through the gate into the city," while his tender mother was reading our Savior's words: "Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions." What a Pisgah was that death-bed to his departing spirit!

The power of his example shines amid the noblest records of human heroism. To American youth it may well become an inspiration in these times of fast living and of profane unbelief. He seemed almost afraid lest the Arctic snows and solitudes should be desecrated by the drunkenness and oaths of any of his men.

And nobly did he lead where he asked them to follow. Materialism, in which some modern scientists find their last retreat from a personal God had no place in him who thus wrote:

"I have trodden the deck and the floes when the life of earth seemed suspended, its sounds, its colorings, its companionship; and as I looked on the radiant hemisphere circling above me, as if rendering worship to the unseen center of light, I have ejaculated in humility of spirit: "Lord, what is man, that thou art mindful of him?"

And again: "A trust based on experience, as well as on promises, buoyed me up at the worst of times. Call it fatalism, as you ignorantly may, there is that in the story of every life which teaches the inefficiency of human means, and the presence control of a Supreme agency. See how often relief has come at the moment of extremity, in forms strangely unsought, almost at the time unwelcome; see still more how the back has been strengthed to its increased burdens, and the heart cheered by some unconscious influence of an unseen Power."

We commend this testimony of the Christian hero to every young man whom it may reach, both to rescue the tempted and to stimulate those who are trying to follow the bright example. Moral courage and simple faith in God makes the highest type of manhood.—Christian Intelligencer.

Mr. Spurgeon, the leading Baptist clergyman in the world, is a strong advocate for open-communion.

In his publication the Sword and Trowel, he recently said:

"Our American Baptist friends are continually challenging us to fight them on the communion question, but really we feel so sure of our ground, and see so little force in their arguments, that we do not feel any inducement to enter the conflict. We would, however, advise them to be reasonable occasionally. One valiant champion says, in the Examiner and Chronicle, 'When Spurgeon invites to the communion all members of Pedo-baptist churches, he invites men who are unconverted.' Our only reply is, 'And what would he do if he invited all members of Baptist churches?' The writer must know that he misrepresents us. We cannot judge the hearts of members of churches whether baptized or unbaptized; we are in communion with the whole visible Church of our Lord Jesus Christ as such, and if any have entered that church who are not regenerated persons, we are not able to cease from fellowship with the wheat because the tares have sprung up therewith. We will ask our opponent one question, 'If among the living members of the body of Christ there be unimmersed believers, how can he cease to have fellowship with that one, seeing that all the members of one body must, of necessity, have fellowship with each other?' Will he deny the existence of such members? Or will he say that he gives them the substance of such fellowship but dares not give them the sign?

It is said that in the Paris gardens one may find every kind of roses, even including rhinoceros-roses.

Modern Jerusalem.

The City of Jerusalem fills such a large space in the imagination on account of the surpassingly wonderful events of which it has been the theatre, that its insignificant size and population at the present time strike one with a sort of surprise and incredulity. We learn from a recent paragraph in the Academy that the population is only that of a small English town, namely 18,000 of whom 5,000 are Mohammedans, 8,000 Jews, and the rest Christians. Considering that a large number of Christians, especially in this country, believe that the Jews will ultimately return to the Promised land and considering that the Jews themselves, at any rate nominally, maintain the same conviction, it is singular that nothing practicable has hitherto been attempted towards the furtherance of this object. In proportion to their numbers the Hebrew community scattered over the world are unrivalled in wealth and energy, while the Turkish Empire is feeble, and always in want of money. Why should not the Jews make a bid for their ancient dominions? Palestine cannot be worth much to the Moslem, whereas if the Jew were established there with full liberty to do as he pleased, he might, judging from his business capacity in London, New York, and Melbourne, restore the country within a few years to such a state of prosperity as it has not enjoyed since the days of the Herods. If such a demand were made, with reasonable conditions attached, the great European powers would probably support the claim. But perhaps the modern Jews do not want to go to Judea! Perhaps the old fable of the sun and the wind is verified in their case. When the blasts of insult and persecution blew keenly, the Jew wrapped himself in his cloak of national exclusiveness, and, as he sat by the waters of Babylon, thought of, and wept over his native Zion: but now, when the genial sun of toleration shines forth, the prosperous Hebrew inclines to reverse Lord Beaconsfield's formula by saying, 'A Jew, if you please, but an Englishman first of all.'—London Graphic.

Sky-Windows.

Sky windows! Would to God that our souls had more of them! Would that the dear sunlight of His smile, and the caressing warmth of His love could flood down upon us and draw our eyes from the low scenes on which we have learned to dwell. We have grown familiar with the narrow courts and confined ways of this life, while the full range of the heavens of grace is unknown to us. Most of our windows open downward, and we forget that the clear sunlight is shining above, while we gaze into the fog and smoke which have settled around us! Oh! if we only knew how much fairer and sweeter the life is than we have imagined we would lose no time in reaching the top-story of our being, that we might get a broader view of the whole and see its wondrous proportions!

Do we not too often live down in the basement where life seems too sad, too unexplainable to be borne? Then rising a little, mayhap, we come into the second story of our being where we think we are wise, see that the shadows that once affrighted us down there were but born in that low plain and could have no power above it, learn a self sufficiency of trust by seeing that we are on a level with our neighbors. By and by, when the soul has grown out of these earth tendencies and longs through pain and loss for surer rest, we reach the upper rooms with the upper openings, its sky-windows! Then how the glory drifts around us! Below is the throbbing, restless life of sense! Above the calm, measureless peace of Heaven!

Hold up a Little.

We have just now been reading a column of obituary notices. They read well, but we stopped several times to ask ourselves whether all this was true. When our acquaintances die we are apt to remember only their good qualities, and taking pen in hand to sketch them, we make a picture all sunshine and no shadow. Let us be a little more cautious in our eulogiums. When you are in funeral sermon praising the deceased Christian man, who was in his life time fond of trading horses, there may be in your audience a man who got from the aforesaid saint a horse with "the heaves," the disease not discovered until a week after the bargain. Therefore do not make out the departed man too angelic. Hold up a little in obituaries and funeral orations. We know and have felt the temptation to lie on the favorable side of our departed friend's character, but do not let us yield to the temptation. False hood on tomb-stones and "In Memoriam" is as reprehensible as anywhere else. If we want a complimentary notice of ourselves after we are dead, let us by a decent and upright life prepare the way for such obituary.—Talmage, in Christian at Work.

How to Make Mischief.

Keep your eye on your neighbors. Take care of them. Do not let them stir without watching. They may do something wrong if you do. To be sure, you never knew them to do anything very bad, but it may be in your account they have not. Perhaps if it had not been for your kind care, they might have disgraced themselves a long time ago. Therefore no not relax any effort to keep them where they ought to be. Never mind your own business—that will take care of itself. There is a man passing along—he is looking over the fence—be suspicious of him; perhaps he contemplates stealing, some of these dark night; there is no knowing what queer fancies he may have got into his head.

If you find any symptoms of any one pressing out of the path of duty, tell every one else what you see, and be particular to see a great many. It is a good way to circulate such things, though it may not benefit yourself or any one else particularly. Do keep something going—silence is a dreadful thing: though it was said there was silence in heaven for the space of half an hour, do not let any such thing occur on earth; it would be too much for this mundane sphere.

If after all your watchful care you cannot see anything out of the way in any one, you may be sure it is not because they have not done anything bad; perhaps in an unguarded moment you lost sight of them. Throw out hints that they are no better than they should be; that you should not wonder if the people found out what they were after a little, while they may not hold their heads so high. Keep it going, and some one else may take the hint, and begin to help you along after a while; then there will be music, and everything will work with a charm.

A good action is not distinguished from a bad action by marks so plain as those which distinguish a hexagon from a square. There is a frontier where virtue and vice fade into each other. Who has ever been able to define the exact boundary between courage and rashness, between prudence and cowardice, between frugality and avarice, between liberality and prodigality? Who has ever been able to say how far mercy to offenders ought to be carried, and where it ceases to deserve the name of mercy and becomes a pernicious weakness? What casuist, what law-giver, has ever been able nicely to mark the limits of the right of self defense? All our jurists hold that a certain quantity of risk to life or limb justifies a man in shooting or stabbing an assailant; but they have long given up in despair the attempt to describe, in precise words, that quantity of risk.—Macaulay.

IT IS GREEK TRADITION that when ADAM was dying, he sent his son to the Garden of Eden to request that the angel who kept the way thereto would send him some of the fruit of the Tree of Life, that he might taste and live. The angel denied the request, but gave to the son of ADAM three seeds. "Place them," said he "in thy father's mouth; and when they shall have grown into trees he shall be freed from his sickness." The son returned, and found that ADAM had already expired. Taking the three grains, he placed them in his father's mouth, and buried him thus. From these grains, in process of time, sprang three trees, of which the wood of the Cross was made.

Out it is a glorious fact, that prayers are noticed in heaven. The poor broken-hearted sinner, climbing up to his chamber, bends his knee, but can only utter his wailing in the language of sighs and tears. Lo! that groan has made all the harps of heaven thrill with music; that tear has been caught by God, and put into the lachrymatory of heaven, to be perpetually preserved. The suppliant, whose fears prevent his words, will be well understood by the Most High.

